Editorial Contributor, F. A. EGAN.

BOSTON, 17 JULY, 1891.

THE name of Edward Burgess was last Sunday added to the roll of the vast majority. He died of typhoid fever at his residence in Boston after a somewhat prolonged illness. Mr. Burgess was in no way connected with the sport of cycling, but his name in connection with yachting, a sister sport of cycling, has reached a world-wide reputation. Where is there an American wheelman who has not heard of the Puritan, Mayflower and Volunteer? A trio of boats, the like of which the world never saw or is likely to see again. As a yacht designer Mr. Burgess stood unequalled, and in his death yachting interests have sustained a great loss. Mr. Burgess was buried from Trinity Church, Boston, July 15.

OUR good friend "Tertius" has an article in another part of the paper on the amateur question, and he sharpens his stick with which he pokes some very pointed questions at us.

It would be a cold-blooded falsehood to say that there is not honesty or respectability in the professional ranks; there is, and lots of it; but the temptation to be "a little off" in professionalism is so frequent and so hard to resist that it is well for the good of the sport not to entirely throw down the fence and make us all professionals. We know some professionals who we would trust to the same extent as we would any amateur; and on the other hand, we have heard of others whose dealings have been anything but square. The same may be said of some of us "amateurs," but it must be remembered that what in professional circles would be winked at would not be tolerated among amateurs. The influences as a whole, of professionalism, are not on a par with amateurism, and for this reason we are not yet ready for any scheme which will allow amateurs to compete for cash prizes.

"Tertius" says "swap" and "sell" are synonymous. To swap is to exchange or barter for another article, and is used specially to indicate that the exchange is not one made for cash.

If "Tertius" were to advocate the admission of professionals to the League as professionals, subject to rules which can be made by that organization and entirely separate from the amateur "branch of the family," we might say amen; but to make us all alike, with no restrictions, we most decidedly say no.

We wish "Tertius" would come oftener; his writings are always bright and entertaining.

IT is pretty safe to say that in the majority of cases where one sees ungraceful lady riders that the fault is due to careless teaching, and we think our several correspondents have struck the true keynote when they take that position. We noticed the other day while riding on the boulevard a lady mounted on a machine with the saddle low down and the handle bars away up. The lady was riding with a knee action which was most ungainly, and the hollow of the foot was on the pedals. Her escort was a well-known rider, and also one well known in "the trade," and his failure to correct the awful habits of riding was reprehensible in the extreme. If the lady's escort, who no doubt sold her the cycle, had a conscience commensurate with his desire for "business at any cost," he would never have allowed the lady to present such an ungraceful appearance in public. "Sell the machine and never mind anything else," that's the motto of too many, and it's a shame that some dealers are allowed to do this kind of a thing without being called to account for it. Of course the so called teachers are not responsible for all similar cases, but the particular one under notice is not an unusual case by any means, and had he done his duty as an expert cyclist and one of the trade he would have advised the lady politely that she had better learn how to ride before making an appearance on the public highways. It is downright wrong to a lady for a teacher or one of the trade to allow her to contract bad habits in riding without an honest attempt to correct same. Ladies as a rule are more graceful than men, and there is no reason under the sun why they should not excel in grace as riders of the wheel. The plain truth is this, some dealers are too anxious to sell machines, and not conscientious enough to do their whole duty towards their patrons in properly teaching them how to ride.

IT would be absurd to use a hundred ton gun to kill a sparrow, and even the powder and lead used in a little twenty-two calibre rifle is thrown away if we place it in comparison to the value of the "game" killed. Still we cannot refrain from having a shot at a certain little Chicago cock-sparrow even at the cost of a twenty-two cartridge. There is one thing; we must credit the youth who masquerades as "an authority" and a very lion among editors, for showing some common sense in not using his vast brain and swinging his mighty pen more than he does. His editorial (?) efforts are happily very few and far between; but when he does express himself on cycling matters as an "Authority" he invariably makes a mess of it. The lion's skin may for a time deceive the unobserving; but when "The Authority" gives voice, the illusion is dispelled, for the voice bears a much closer resemblance to the other quadruped than it does to that given forth by the king of beasts.

"WHOM the gods would destroy they first make mad." The alleged "Authority" published in Chicago, exasperated at its repeated mistakes, pitiably flounders about in its mass of misinformation. Unable to substantiate its false assertion, it thinks to hide its ignorance and unreliability by abusing us, but only gets deeper and deeper into the mire of inaccuracy and falsehood. It accuses us of "refusing to publish Mr. Randall's manly apology for the closing words in his last official announcement. That was absolutely the most contemptible act we ever knew a journalist (?) to be guilty of. For shame, Mr. Editor! You acted the part of a coward and trickster." If we were to descend to the same low plane of journalism ("Heaven save the mark"), we would tell the person who wrote the above that he lied. As it is we only say to our contemporary that it is wrong, as he always is. Mr. Randall's letter was not published because Mr. Randall requested us not to do so. He wrote:

"My dear Fourdrinier—I enclose a copy of letter sent Mr. Dunn, not for publication, but to show how I feel in this matter. * * * "

Who now is the coward and trickster? Which is the most contemptible journalist? Which paper is the authority? Which editor is the gentleman and which the hoodlum?

WE are pleased to present in this week's issue a letter from Mr. Randall exhaustively reviewing the controversy between himself and the Executive and Rights and Privileges Committee. In justice to Mr. Randall we hope that all those interested in this controversy will carefully read his letter.

"SUMMER VACATIONS AWHEEL," from the pen of our valued correspondent "Ariel," is an article which will command attention at the hands of those who are desirous of spending a few days or weeks touring on the wheel. What more sensible or delightful way can be devised to spend one's vacation? Men of different temperament will get their pleasure out of touring in different ways. The energetic, nervous man will find delight in being able at the close of day to say, "I have covered so many miles," while the man who really desires to seek solace and rest from the world's cares will find his pleasure in ohne hast. In the latter case the tourist is on the look out for a shady nook, a soft grassy bank and a wide spreading elm, where the sound of the purling brook mingles sweetly with the sound of insect life and the song of birds; a spot for a lounge, a reverie and a smoke. The poet sings: "Nature can soothe if she cannot satisfy." Yes, she "soothes" and for the time being she can "satisfy," for what greater satisfaction can be imagined for the overworked, office-imprisoned man than to linger in some such ideal spot, far from the carking cares of business and hard practical life; soothed and satisfied by the great peace of nature! What matters it if we do not do our "40 to 70 miles per day?" Twenty is good enough for us if the district is charming and the face of nature is fair to look on. Our idea of touring is to ride "just about" fast and far enough to ensure good appetite and sound sleep. The tired city merchant or clerk will find more health and rejuvenating powers in a lazy week's cycle tour than in weeks at some fashionable resort, where he meets the same tiresome people, talking on the same tiresome subjects he encounters in his city home and place of business.

Let a man get away from the weary environments and influences incident to artificial city life, and let him make the close acquaintance of nature herself, for "To him who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language." A language in which stocks, bulls and bears, bills payable, and the hundred and one other brain burning and heart destroying matters has no place.

Do not be in a hurry if you would skim off the cream of touring; take things easy and allow the steam to run down a bit. For outfit carry a change of underwear, a flannel touring shirt, stockings, knee breeches, half a dozen handkerchiefs and a light pair of slippers. All the toilet articles needed are tooth brush, hair brush and comb. A Kodak is a good companion, and one that will recall many pleasant scenes when the tour has long passed into history.

One thing above all that a tourist should do and that is he should see that his wheel is in perfect shape before he starts, and then he should see that his tool bag is properly stocked and his oil can filled.

As for a human companion in touring, look to it that the number be restricted to one, and have a care that he is congenial every way. The scorchers and the ohne hast man make poor touring companions. In fact in cases of such a combination one or the other is doing violence to his feelings all the time; irritation and indigestion naturally follow in sequence, and what should be a pleasure tour is turned out a "demnition hard grind," as our friend Mr. Mantelina would say. Do not try to carry a whole wardrobe on your cycle, but if you must "dress up" occasionally send on your steamer trunk or valise by express, and from this you can replenish your stock of underwear, et cetera.

Rational touring will enhance your love for your wheel, but scorching tours and exhaustingly long tours are apt to dull the edge of enjoyment. They both are excesses, and excess soon causes the desire for cycling to pall.

WHAT was the burning necessity of the Chicago tournament manager fixing dates for their tournament the same as those already selected by the Springfield Club? This clashing of dates is bound to work to a disadvantage to both meetings, but we think that Chicago will fare the worse of the two. Unless there is some reason we know not of we think the Chicago men have not done just the right thing for themselves or Springfield in selecting dates already bespoken.

The Referee is right in saying that as the Springfield Club was first in the field its selection of dates should have been respected as a matter of courtesy and policy.

"TERTIUS."

I never meddle in League affairs, but I want to ask a few questions in the manner of a seeker for wisdom.

Is the League run for racing men or for the rank and file?

If racing men have the call, then why should any Miss Nancy restrictions be placed upon the flyers? The great American public doesn't care a continental whether a man is a professional or an amateur, provided he "gets there," and certainly nobody cares a rap about the "nicey nice" distinctions between amateurs and professionals.

Now look at it. In your issue of the 10th inst., you hold that there would be no impropriety in a rider swapping any prize for some other article he would prefer.

Correct, say I.

But supposing that "other article" was a fat gold piece or a luscious greenback? Ah! There's the rub. "Swapping" then becomes "selling," and the unfortunate flyer is at once under the ban. Yet the words "swap" and "sell" are synonymous, meaning exactly the same.

The fact is, these rules defining amateurs are just the thing for a "League of American Dudes," but not at all right for "American Wheelman."

I would like to see the rules of the League so broad and liberal that every bicycle rider in the United States would be proud to belong to the League, and to feel that the aim of the order was simply and purely to foster cycling.

Perhaps I take a wrong view of things. Perhaps we ought to foster the dudes first and last.

If so, would it not be best to change the rules so that every member of the League should be compelled to wear a monocule, to play baccarat, to abhor the letter "R," to have nothing to do with "wude, wough wacing widers;" to wear divided skirts and to ride only ladies' safeties?

I would like your opinion, Mr. Editor, also that of "Hawkshaw," "Secretary," and other sharp writers. TERTIUS.

REV. DR. WILLIAM A. SCHUBERT, of Washington, D. C., left his house and started to walk across the street to where his little daughter was playing. Owing to his age and feebleness he was not able to move quickly, and stopped to allow two boys on bicycles to pass. As the boys reached the spot where the doctor was standing, one of them, eleven years old, took a header. He fell against Dr. Schubert, and knocked him down. The old gentleman fell on his back on the asphalt pavement and was unable to rise. He was picked up and carried into his house, and died about midnight. Dr. Schubert was sixty years old.

FOR a wager of $30 cash, Mr. Andrew Gibbs of Norwich, N. Y., rode a distance of eight miles between Norwich and Oxford in 35.40. The wager was that he could not do it in or under 38m.

ALL our Chicago news in this columns will hereafter be furnished by "The Lounger," and not by "Wayne Scott."

MESSRS. HAY and WILLETT of Indianapolis, Ind., have issued a most excellent map of Central Illinois, giving the gravel roads in red ink for that district, with Indianapolis as a centre. The map covers about 38 counties.

N. H. Van Sicklen of Chicago will ride in the Waukesha road race August 25th, and try to break Terry Andrae's twenty-five mile record of 1 hour 21 minutes and 32 seconds.

SAYS "Hexameter" of Los Angeles: "The new Chief Consul, Dr. Hill of San Francisco, is evidently doing his best to give Southern California a fair shake; and if he keeps his promises he will always get a warm commendation from Southern California men."

NEW quarters have been secured by the Lake View Cycling Club of Chicago at 59 James Place, a three story and basement house, but 150 feet from the mineral water spring in Lincoln Park. The Freemont Cycling Club and North End Cycling Club will consolidate with them. These together with seventeen applications will swell their membership to over a hundred. The club is booming.

"JASPER," our live Buffalo correspondent, who sends in all the news from that section used in these columns, sends us a clipping from the Commercial, in which it alludes to the possible "death-blow" the League will receive on the occasion of the Constitutional Convention at Hartford, September 8th, has this to say about the death blow business. "Whatever may be the result of the meeting at Hartford this September, it cannot but be for the good of the L. A. W., and we think it a mighty shaky and feeble bark that cannot withstand such a tempest in a teapot. Oh, no, Mr. Commercial, the L. A. W. has done, is doing, and will do much that is beneficial to wheelmen before it dies. It is destined to rise higher in the public estimation and be more fully appreciated after the struggle. We will all gather under the tattered battle flags and sing; 'We will rally round the flag, boys, rally once again,' etc. Why, the L. A. W. is only just beginning to feel its strength, to know what it can do, and to be appreciated. As to its "death blow." I hope, dear Commercial, you understand slang when I say, "rats."

CHICAGO has in the Ravenswood Cycling Club an example of the push and energy of the Great West. When organized but one month the club was nicely located in an eight room flat, and had fifty-two members, twenty of whom were ladies.

ST. LOUIS WHEELMEN will doubtless be glad to hear that at last a conviction has been secured of persons who have trampled on our rights. Val and Herman Fath were the plaintiffs, and Willard Johnson, Jack Mehan, and Joe Raumstein, the defendants; and they were fined $20 and costs each for perpetrating an outrageous assault on the Fath Brothers some weeks ago.

APPLICANTS for membership in the Century Road Club of Chicago are many, and "Chief Centurion" Herrick is kept busy securing the badges. A century on the road is necessary for a bar, one of which is added every time a century run, properly certified is made. Forty names are now on the list.

SAYS "Linneus" of St. Louis: "Every wheelman is aware of the softness of a new kangaroo shoe, and how soon the leather loses its elasticity when worn for some time. The reason for this is that the shoes are blacked too often, and that the limestone dust which is picked up on a run is allowed to remain on the leather much longer than it should. Kangaroo leather must be oiled often to keep it in good condition. I have tried the experiment and my shoes last three times as long as formerly.

MEMBERS of the Chicago Cycling Club who have done 2.50 or better and are therefore members of the two-fifty club are Charlie, Jim, George, and W. C. Thorne, four brothers and Howard Tuttle, N. H. Van Sicklen, Geo. K. Barrett, E. C. Bode, E. W. Ballard, C. P. Root, Wm. Young, Herbert A. Githens and Birdie Munger. Bob Thorne, the fifth of the brothers did 2.50 1-2 in trial.

FORTY-ONE applications at one meeting is not a bad record for a St. Louis club to show; and if the applications continue to pour in the Missouri Bicycle and Athletic Club will have to enlarge their quarters. The reduction in dues and the introduction of new features is doing wonders for this organization.

TWELVE members of the Farrugut Club of Chicago attended the club run to Oconomowac last Sunday.

THE Cycling Club of St. Louis have determined to give a race meeting at Alton, Ill., on August 15. The programme will consist of ten events. The races will be run on the half-mile track situated in the Alton fair grounds. E. F. Barnard, the erstwhile ('89) local champion, promises to make his re-appearance on the path at these races.

FIVE members of the Kenwood Road Club of Chicago, all members but two of which are under eighteen years of age, rode from Toledo, Ohio, to Chicago in five days.

LAST May an offer was made to wheelmen who were attending the Pike County tour to hold a race meeting at Louisiana, for which the Fair Association would guarantee $100 in prizes. To date, nothing official has been heard from them in spite of repeated letters, and it would be well to send a representative to Louisiana to arrange matters. A one-day's race meeting on Saturday followed by a century run over the fine roads of Pike County on Sunday would be sure to draw a large crowd, and would also very acceptably fill the open dates in August.

TWENTY League members have been secured in the Ashland Cycling Club of Chicago, and Captain Harry Ambler elected a delegate to the State Board of Officers.

COMING home from the Division meet at Carthage, the St. Louis delegation was agreeably surprised to see a home-made bone shaker resting against a barn near "Jasper." The owner stood near and was heartily cheered by the delegation.

MEMBERS of the Illinois Cycling Club of Chicago appointed President Sloan a committee of one to call upon Mr. Hankins, and induce him to put a half-mile track inside the mile track at the West Side driving park. Should he win suits now pending in law, he will aid the wheelmen in the good cause. Then will the Illinois Club live in clover.

"WHILE other Divisions are going down into their treasuries to pay up the losses occasioned by a Division meet, the meets of the Missouri Division have always more than paid expenses in spite of the lavish entertainment. Rain made the financial outlook rather dubious at Carthage, but I am pleased to state that latest advices say 'Carthage is all right,'" writes "Linneus."

THE Oak Park Cycling Club of Chicago held their annual field day July 11th. Several bicycle races were run on the streets.

THE Boston office employees of the Pope Mfg. Co., with friends, took a picnic outing to Downer Landing last Saturday. The party consisted of between 40 and 50. The 12.30 boat was taken, and after the provender had been disposed of, the Pope Mfg. Co. Athletic Association held a series of games. The 100-yard foot race was won by Mr. Harden; the three-legged race by Messrs. Benson and Corcoran; the boat race by Messrs. Walker and Benson; the hop, step, and jump, by Mr. Harden. Mr. A. D. Peck, Jr., was on hand with his Kodak, and he shot all the sights of the picnic. It was a jolly party, and the conception and success of the affair is due to Messrs. Leinhard and Walker.

THE new club house of the Æolus Cycling Club of Chicago, at 174 Evergreen avenue, was formally opened Friday evening last. It is a handsome structure. A pleasant social entertainment was given.

ALL action relative to the ordinance regulating the pace of the wheelmen in and about Buffalo, also to the use of signals, has been laid over for two weeks, that other cities may be heard from on this question.

A TEN year old son of Captain Stimpson, of the Oak Park Cycling Club, Chicago, was killed by a base ball bourth of July. The club drafted resolutions of sympathy for their captain.

IT was a fact that several Buffalo wheelmen anticipated attending the races at Syracuse on the 10th and 11th, had they been able, as per last week's WORLD, to have obtained half rate or reduced fares, but inquiry of all in authority and at the Central's main ticket office, elicited nothing; they knew absolutely nothing whatever about any reduced rates. This certainly shows a lack of proper management and advertising; will the same trouble be continuous all the season? We hope not. We ask the proper authorities to see to it, not only that we, of Buffalo, get reduced rates, but that it will be properly advertised, that the consuls at least may know something about it.

WHEELMEN are requested to notify F. Ed. Spooner at once if they would take part in the annual cyclists' camp at Nagowicka Lake, Waukesha County, Wisconsin, the first two weeks in August. He has figured the expense at $25.00 dollars.

THE Wanderer's Bicycle Club are displaying considerable energy. They have been making some changes for the better, having elected Geo. M. Bower, Captain, vice Albert Buse, resigned. J. H. Christian was appointed First Lieutenant, J. J. Sheffler, Second Lieutenant, and George R. Walter, bugler. They have formed a foot ball team with Henry Adams as Captain. This club will have the fourth of their series of club races for members only on Tuesday July 14th on the Williamsville track. This is the only club in Buffalo with the enterprise to continue and make successful a scheme of this kind. Well done Wanderers, may you succeed and multiply.

EARLY in August the Douglas Cycling Club of Chicago will hold a club tournament. The races will be: The annual twenty-five-mile race for the Wachter medal; a five-mile race for a silver medal; one-mile club championship, and several handicaps. These races will be held at Parkside track.

BICYCLE STOLEN—Victor model B, No. 14843, was stolen from W. E. Middlekauff of Lake Roland, Md., the other day. Keep a look out for it.

THE bicycle section of the Iroquois Athletic Club have appointed Justus Bier, Captain, vice John Pauly, who has resigned the office, as he is going to be married soon.

A NEW club has been formed at Dunkirk, N. Y., with a membership of forty-five. The veteran, Dr. Geo. E. Blackham, is President of the club.

THE Neenah (Wis.) Cycle Club is a new organization. On the 4th the members held some good races and then rode over to Appleton and enjoyed an afternooon in the society of the wheelmen of that city.

A RECEPTION to the cast (local) of the opera, Chimes of Normandy, given July 2 by the Oak Park Cycling Club, was given by that club July 14th. Nicolet gave an exhibition of trick riding.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

THERE has been a great many jokes, and even sneers, aimed at the bicycle lamp, some of which were merited and some were not. True it is that the lamp supplied the wheelmen is not perfect; but then, for that matter, what is, that owes its product to human hands and brains? The recent action of the New York Park Commissioners compelling riders to carry a lamp upon both wheels of their machines, is not as idiotic as at first sight it appears. This is really an official notice by laymen of a radical error that exists in the present form of lamp, that both the rider and the maker have both long known existed. The lamp of to-day is practically the same, with a few minor improvements as to the attachment to the wheel, as was supplied to wheelmen of ten years ago, the sole aim of the makers being to supply a strong light for the rider, that the rough shaking it meets with on a machine will not cause it to be extinguished. To this end larger oil-receivers, perfected reflectors, and improved springs to prevent vibration have been introduced, and in the narrow lines the makers have thus kept their improvements, the present lamp is very nearly perfect. But in all these they seem to have lost sight of the almost complete change that has occurred in the form of wheel the lamp is intended to be used upon. In the days when a demand first existed for cycling lamps, and hence called them into existence, only the varied forms of the ordinary, and later on the tricycle, were the wheels used. The lamp was in consequence first attached to the hub of the driving wheel inside of the spokes, and later on to the side of the fork by an arm extending below the pedal, few riders using the head lamp, owing to its being of too great a height from the ground to be of any practical advantage. When the safety, like a cyclone, swept over cycling and in a moment changed the entire face of wheeling, the lamp-maker simply changed the attachment that held the lamp to the wheel, and made what had formerly been a hub lamp into one he called a safety head-lamp. In some respects the rider, from the standpoint of having a lamp that illuminated the road in front of him, was really no loser by this change. But the duties of a lamp are two-fold; it does not consist solely in illuminating a narrow spot of roadway in front of the rider's wheel so he may avoid obstructions in his path, but it is also intended to notify other riders of the highway upon which he is travelling of the existence of the silent vehicle he is riding. With the removal of the lamp from the axle to the head of the wheel, this latter and important point of its need seems to have been entirely overlooked. As it is now, the side and rear lights of the lamp are completely blanketed from the sight of any one approaching from the rear of the rider by the body of the wheelman, and in consequence he becomes in danger of being run down. In the hands of an ordinary rider who, to use a nautical expression, keeps his wheel "upon an even keel," the rider is almost invisible by those overtaking him until they are almost upon him, and it was this fact that caused the New York Park Commissioners to pass the law compelling riders to carry a lantern upon each wheel of their machines. Now that this radical defect in the present form of lamp, and the position it occupies upon a wheel, has been called to the attention of the makers, I hope they will take account of the change in cycle form and construction that has taken place since lamps for wheels were first introduced, and take some steps to bring so important an essential to cycling comfort and safety as a good lamp is, up to the requirements of the present condition of cycling needs.

I am afraid I am no longer "in the swim" in cycling. It is the little things that cause a man to learn the unpleasant fact that he is growing old and standing still while the great world rushes on and leaves him but a moss-covered monument of the past. The little thing that has convinced me that I am no longer holding my own in cycling, or in the journalism thereof, was the non-receipt of one of the papers devoted to it, to whose columns I have been a contributor for over ten years, the larger portion of which period my pay was in receiving each issue a gratuitous copy of the periodical containing the products of my pen. So used had I grown to receiving each week this courtesy at the hands of the editor that, as varying changes brought new proprietors to the paper, it never struck me as strange that my copy of it should reach me each week as it always had. Last week, and the week before, for the first time in years, this did not happen, and I called at the office of the paper, and asked if I "was no longer one of the people," and the editor thereof informed me that I was not "in that office." The surprise was not a pleasant one. I saw that I must be drifting out of even the journalistic part of cycling which, as the oldest writer upon the subject in America, I had thought I had fairly earned a place. But when the young editor of a journal upon which I had worked long before he had ever known what a bicycle was, long before he was even a clerk in its office, informed me that I was suspended from the courtesies of the free list, an honor that had been paid me for so many years, I knew that he as a critical and just judge had condemned me as a "back-number." I am well aware that a newspaper is as much the property of the proprietor thereof as is the money he makes off of it, and that he is as free to deny to any one the free use of one as of the other, but I had perhaps grown too used to the honor of receiving a free copy of the paper; and the editor determined that I should be taught the value of it; this, I was informed, was one dollar per annum, payable in advance; and as the paper is really worth much more than this sum, I considered the honor of being reinstated to a position in that office of "one of the people" as worth the price asked, and gladly paid it. Now I once more receive the paper. But it is not a pleasant lesson I have learned, though, perhaps, in the eyes of the young editor, I may have merited it.

SUMMER VACATIONS AWHEEL.

THE season when the tourist spreads himself over the highways and byways from Maine to California is now upon us, and numerous requests having been received from Eastern riders for routes for summer tours, a few general ideas on the subject may prove suggestive. In the first place decide definitely upon your party (and here it may be well to remark that from three to six is about as many as it would be wise to arrange for) and be sure that the members are all congenial, otherwise many unpleasantnesses may result. Next lay out your route, pack up the impediments (an excellent idea is to forward by express, from place to place, the heavier luggage, thereby avoiding weighting the machine with an extra load), and before starting overhaul the machine thoroughly. Attention to this important point may save serious accident and delay. Plan for from forty to seventy miles per day, dependent upon the country and roads; utilize the early morning and cool of the afternoon for riding, and exercise ordinary discretion in diet. These are axioms. Now for the available territory and routes, always bearing in mind that it is for the Eastern rider that we are writing, and that the scope of this article is not intended to cover the short tours which are available for wheelmen in the Boston, New York, Orange, Philadelphia, or Baltimore and Washington riding districts.

IN A GENERAL WAY

there may be said to be three long distance routes which have been oftener traversed by the wheel of the tourist than any other. The first of these is from Boston westward, through the charming Berkshire Hills to Albany, going via Worcester and Springfield, a distance of one hundred and thirteen miles to the latter city; thence by way of Pittsfield, Hoosick Falls and Glens Falls to Albany, embracing some of the finest roads in the country and also some very poor ones, but with a diversified landscape and fine scenery. Springfield to Albany gives a two-hundred-and-nine-mile ride, or a total of three hundred and twenty-two from Boston.

DOWN THE HUDSON.

Combined with the tour just described more frequently is the run from Albany down to New York city, although many an exit is made out of the Massachusetts hills from North Adams, west to Williamstown, thence by side path and road where practicable, southward along the windings of Green river, through Hancock valley, meeting Kinderhook creek on the way to Lebanon Springs, twenty-seven miles. Thence through New Lebanon, Brainerd, and Malden to Kinderhook. The hills are steep—there is no mistake on that point—but the road evades the grade in a wonderful manner, hardly a foot of the way being unrideable.

The Hudson river road from Albany to New York is a two-days' ride that has been covered more frequently than any other in America, and it certainly is the most celebrated. The scenery is undoubtedly the most picturesque of any of the travelled routes, unrivalled indeed in the Eastern States. The first ten miles out of Albany rise over one thousand feet, and all the way down the river alternate climbs and coasts mark the way. Near Hudson the road is rather poor, but from Red Hook to Poughkeepsie comes a most enjoyable twenty odd miles, with the road often in full view of the river and far above it. Near Tarrytown the scenery is even grander, but the grades are heavier over the Highlands, thence through Peekskill, Tarrytown, and Yonkers to the uptown boulevards of New York. Crossing the city at 125th street to the west of Harlem river, Riverside drive is entered, running south to 72d street. The tomb of General U. S. Grant is located on the highest elevation of Riverside drive, and is a point of interest that should be visited. Through Central Park to 59th street will bring the rider to the asphalt, which now extends well down into the city; or should he wish to reach the lower ferries the Belt Line horse-cars can be taken, which carry bicycles on the front platform.

THE VALLEY OF THE SHENANDOAH.

For the wheelman whose home is in the Southern Middle States, the famed ride to Staunton will suggest itself. With either New York or Philadelphia as the starting point, two routes are at the wheelmen's command. He can go via the Reading pike to Reading, 60 miles, an easy day's ride; to Harrisburg, 113 miles; then down through Carlisle, Shippensburg, Chambersburg, and Greencastle to Hagerstown, 188 miles; or, bearing westward over the magnificent Lancaster Pike—sung in song and story—through Paoli, Downington and Lancaster, 64 miles, to Columbia, York and Gettysburg, 120 miles. A day should be arranged for at this point to visit the famous battlefield, which is about the only attraction for the wheelmen's visit, the roads being poor. A run of 38 miles will then place the tourist in Hagerstown, from which point he has the national pike at his feet.

Through Martinsburg, Winchester (200 miles) Newmarket and Harrisonburg, Staunton is finally reached, the cyclometer showing two hundred and ninety miles from Philadelphia. No more enjoyable tour exists than this. Through a region replete with historical recollections—this having been the scene of some of the most spirited contests of the Civil War, almost every foot indeed being historic ground—with magnificent scenery and a most hospitable population, it affords a trip which can never be regretted and whose recollections will linger long. The Natural Bridge and the Caverns of Luray are side excursions that suggest themselves naturally.

AN OCEAN VOYAGE

offers a pleasant change from the monotony of a land tour, and by taking steamer at Baltimore on one of the Boston boats, this can be enjoyed at very little expenditure of time and money. Leaving Baltimore on Monday, a night is spent on the noble Chesapeake, Norfolk being reached the next morning, where the steamer remains until afternoon, an opportunity being given to visit Fortress Monroe and Old Point Comfort. Out into the broad Atlantic the steamer heads that evening, and when morning dawns there is nothing in sight but the tossing waves. Boston is sighted all too soon on Thursday afternoon, unless indeed a return is made by the same route, the fare of which is cheap enough in all conscience—eighteen dollars for the round trip, including a table which is unsurpassed by any shore hotel.

These long straight-away trips can be changed to suit the individual taste, many variations being feasible, but in general a two weeks' trip can enjoyably be put in on one of them and no vacation will yield a greater return of pleasure for the outlay.

Philadelphia, July 13, '91. ARIEL.

MR. RANDALL'S REPLY.

THERE appeared in the BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN of June 26, over the signature of G. Carleton Brown, Secretary, a statement concerning the existing disagreement between President Dunn and myself, purporting to give "the facts in the case," but which in reality did nothing of the sort. I desire to place before League members the other side of the story, believing I have the support of a large majority of those members.

In the first place it has become clear to me that the Executive Committee does not understand the intention of rule G as adopted at Cleveland and subsequently strengthened at Chicago. "It is a fundamental principle of the L. A. W." says Mr. Brown, "that its membership shall be made up of amateur wheelmen." Section 9 of the Constitution, referring to the eligibility of persons to become members is here quoted, and then I find this, "The rule and its six explanatory clauses should be familiar to all, but it is clear from this section 9 that the Membership Committee and Racing Board must both be controlled by the plain provisions of the rule, neither can change it nor add to it, nor in any way can they assume to deprive a member of any rights unless the rule authorizes such action." This is of course entirely true, but in what way does rule G conflict? It does not deprive any man of his membership in the League, and does not make him anything but an amateur. It does provide for punishment, provided a certain rule is broken. Whether such rule is desirable does not enter into the question. It is absurd to say that such punishment is contrary to the spirit or letter of the Constitution. No one questions the rights of the Racing Board to punish a man for indulging in ungentlemanly behavior, for disobedience on the track, for competing in unauthorized races, or for the many other things forbidden by the Racing Rules and which are not mentioned in the Constitution; nor is the right of the National Assembly to inflict penalties in cases not covered by the same authority disputed. It is left to the National Assembly to make rules for the League's good; the only power which can annul such rules, is a Constitutional Convention. Similarly the Racing Board is given charge of "all matters pertaining to racing and the championships," and permitted to make such rules as it may deem proper. No power except the National Assembly or a Constitutional Convention has the right to annul such rules. I speak advisedly, not only from the standpoint of common sense, but after the advice of lawyers who stand well up in their profession. It will be remembered of course that after the gentlemen from the A. A. U. had addressed the National Assembly at Washington it was moved by Mr. Post of Hartford that the settlement of the proposed alliance be referred to a committee composed of the Executive Committee and Racing Board. It is naturally to be presumed that the Racing Board referred to was the one then in office, indeed this is quite certainly the case, for when some one enquired how soon action would be taken, Mr. Dunn, turning to Messrs McMillan and Matthewson said, "I presume within the next twenty-four hours," or words to that effect, to which the gentlemen addressed assented. "Delays are dangerous," and so it has proven in this case. The matter was not settled in twenty-four hours, nor in as many days, the Racing Board intrusted with the work was not consulted in any way, and thus the very first condition of this unfortunate affair was broken. My point is this—that Messrs. Davol, Collister, Garden, DeGraaf and Gideon had already had an abundance of experience with Union men and methods, were thoroughly familiar with the ins and outs of the trouble, and were therefore very much better able to take care of the matter and arrive at a satisfactory settlement than an almost entirely new Board, composed largely of men who knew nothing of the existing trouble than any fairly posted League member would be. Now to the result of this and to show how the President a second time disobeyed instructions. I again quote Mr. Brown: "At the meeting that was duly warned, President Dunn, Vice Presidents Burdett and Brown, Chairman Randall and Secretary Bassett of the Racing Board were present, making five out of a total of eight. A full expression of opinion from every member present resulted in the acceptance of the following articles of alliance between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U."

The meeting, it is stated, was "duly warned." Let us see. The By-laws state that the Racing Board shall consist of at least five members. At the time the meeting was "duly warned" the Board had but four members, certainly nobody's fault but the President's. I was not notified of the appointment of Messrs. Bassett, Atwater and Collister until a few days before the meeting in New York on March 24.

Mr. Dunn wired Messrs. Collister, Atwater and myself to be in New York to attend a conference on March 27. Regardless of inconveniences I left for the East in due course, arriving on the morning of the appointed day—Friday. Meanwhile a second telegram was sent me, dated March 26, so that it could not possibly have reached me, stating that the meeting had been postponed (no reason given) until Saturday. Delay No. 1. Saturday Mr. Atwater went to New York, called at Mr. Dunn's office, failed to find him, and departed again for Washington. Delay No. 2. I had previously suggested to the President, that, if he would hold the meeting Sunday, Mr. Collister could also be present, but he declined. Monday came and further delay was threatened, until I, having been away already four days, insisted on leaving for the West that night. The meeting was held that morning, and even then Mr. Dunn, although reported present, found his business so important that he could not leave it, and dropped in only occasionally, while I was forced to sacrifice mine for just six days. Up to this time I had not seen a single member of the Racing Board, excepting Mr. Collister, for about five minutes while my train stopped in Cleveland. Then appointments had been so long delayed that I had had no opportunity even of communicating with them by mail, yet I was expected to voice the sentiment of the Board. I may here remark that on March 18, at the request of Mr. Dunn, I joined with him in a telegram to Messrs. Atwater and Collister, asking them to serve on the Board I was not consulted as to the other members. Arrived at the meeting I found that the President was fully determined that the alliance must be formed. Major Burdett agreed on the ground that if it proved a failure, it could be dissolved on thirty days' notice, to the best of my recollection. Mr. Brown had no decided opinion. I, wandering in the "slough of despond," recollecting Mr. Bassett's stand in the case of the pro-mateurs some years ago, and knowing that, having been a member of the Conference Committee during the fall he was well posted, (but forgetting that in the pro mateur days no salary attached to any office he held) concluded that he would be the man whose opinions would be valuable. To this, in a great measure, my attitude at the meeting was due. I had as little to say as possible, but objected to a number of clauses in the articles of alliance submitted and proposed substitutes, some of which were adopted.

When the articles were submitted to the A. A. U. representatives, they objected to my suggestions, and the articles were changed again. When the vote was finally taken I remained silent, but subsequently, in this, as in a number of other cases, voted on request, to make the vote unanimous. It is claimed by Mr. Brown that Mr. Randall agreed that the Racing Board should adopt the following rule, under the power given it, to make rules for its government:

"The Racing Board of the L. A. W., on receipt of the written decision of the tribunal provided for in Clause 3, of Article of Alliance between L. A. W. and A. A. U., shall confirm that decision and make it final."

This is erroneous. The Racing Board was instructed to adopt the rule, and did so at its Cleveland meeting. Contrary to the statement of Mr. Brown the question of what should be done with the suspended men, was introduced by Mr. Bassett, and the question whether the amateur rule had been broken by the suspends, and whether clause D was broad enough to prohibit the payment of expenses by clubs, was referred to Major Burdett for his legal opinion, it being the opinion of all that they could not be held under Rule G, which stated that members of A. A. U. clubs were not liable under the rule. The Major decided that under none of the rules named could they be held. It was further the opinion "that to expel a man from the L. A. W. for doing what the Constitution allowed him to do was certainly not right nor within the power of any committee. No vote was taken on this question, nor were any instructions given to the Racing Board in regard to it, as it was tacitly admitted that they should judge as to the suspensions."

What bearing has this on the question? The item corroborates my belief, stated above, that the Executive Committee does not understand Rule G, which has no effect whatever on any man's League membership or amateur status. Shortly after the meeting I received two or three telegrams from Mr. Dunn, requesting me to remove the suspensions, in accordance with an agreement made by the old Racing Board. Knowing of no such agreement I declined, until the Board meeting at Cleveland. There were then present Messrs. Collister, Miller, and myself. I need not go into details of the arguments; suffice it that it was not until 4 A.M. that the men were finally reinstated, much against the will of the members present, because there was no rule under which they could be held, and not because Rule G was considered unconstitutional, as stated by Mr. Brown. The Board has never so decided; on the contrary it was considered then, and the opinion was affirmed at the Chicago meeting, that Rule G both in the old and new form was entirely constitutional. This fact effectually disposes of the fallacy entertained by the Executive Committee and very many other persons.

It is the height of absurdity to imagine the Board would decide a rule unconstitutional one moment and pass it again the next. By the way, I wired Mr. Dunn directly after this meeting not to promulgate the articles of alliance until he had seen the new rules. Says Mr. Brown: "Mr. Randall's attention was called to the point that Rule G was possibly unconstitutional." True. President Dunn submitted the question to the Rights and Privileges Committee. I submit these extracts from letters received from Mr. Dunn, to show that his opinions vary with circumstances. The italics are mine:

May 23. "I believe the matter of constitutionality of Rule G has been referred to Rights and Privilege Committee. * * *. I am in hopes that it will be decided constitutional, but am quite doubtful as at present it does not appear to be in line of past decisions."

June 3. "I should be very glad to be convinced that the rule was proper and lawful."

The latter was contained in the letter which notified me that Rule G had been declared null and void by the Executive Committee. The latter action was taken without even notifying the Board of the opinion of the Rights and Privileges Committee, and was considered by me then, as now, an insult to every member of the Board. It was while smarting under the publication of this that I wrote Mr. Dunn a letter, some parts of which I have since deeply regretted, and for which I duly apologized. Mr. Brown says: "On the 11th an apology was sent by Mr. Randall to President Dunn for the personalities in the proclamation, but on the 13th a formal letter repeating the personalities word for word was sent to the Executive Committee and received by them at noon on the 15th. This I desire to most emphatically deny. The letter containing the personalities was sent the BICYCLING WORLD June 7; a copy (my official reply to the Executive Committee's letter) was sent the Committee June 11; my apology was sent June 12, a copy going by same mail to the BICYCLING WORLD and the Executive Committee. A letter accepting the apology was written by Mr. Dunn June 15, and the same mail brought me notice, under same date, of my removal from office. These are facts and susceptible of proof. A little explanation is due as to the conduct of other members of the Board.

At the Cleveland meeting I was the only member who opposed the adoption of new rule G, Mr. Miller being strong in its favor. Messrs. Bassett and Atwater then asked for another meeting which was called. Mr. Bassett was not present. In the meantime I had discovered that the rule passed at Cleveland did not cover the payment of expenses while in training, and the rule which has caused all the trouble was passed unanimously. Mr. Atwater was the first man to suggest that in case the Executive Committee interfered, the three members present should at once resign. He further stated his belief that neither Mr. Dunn or Executive Committee had power to interfere with the Racing Board's work.

A number of members of the National Assembly being desirous of testing the powers of the various committees, a request bearing the requisite number of signatures was sent the President to call a meeting of the Assembly at Detroit. I have ample reason to believe that this was received in time, but the request was ignored. A second request asking that a meeting be called for Detroit or Cleveland, August 8 or 15, and bearing about forty signatures has since been forwarded, but despite all this, I am informed that a meeting will be held in Hartford, and not until September. There can be but one inference, viz: that Mr. Dunn is not sufficiently confident of his position and is willing to ignore forty of the men who elected him rather than face an opinion of the National Assembly, which would, I believe, be opposed to him. By the time the meeting occurs the racing season will be practically at an end, and the expense abuse will have been carried on for another season.

In conclusion I have but to say that the opinions of League members whom I meet are overwhelmingly in favor of Rule G. And it may be relied upon that when a meeting finally occurs, an effort will be made to have such an expense rule inserted as will forever do away with opportunities for such tactics as Mr. Dunn has lately pursued. Respectfully,

CHAS. E. RANDALL.

THE MEDFORD AND THE WALTHAM CLUBS.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I note in your last issue, in the account of the Inter-Club road race of June 27th last, that you say that the Medford Club was dissatisfied with the result, and desired to challenge the Waltham Club to a decisive battle with teams of three men each.

In justice to both clubs it seems necessary to make this matter a little plainer. It is quite true that the Medford Club was dissatisfied with the result of the race, but that dissatisfaction exists through no fault of the Waltham Club, and no possible cause of complaint lies as between Waltham and Medford. Through a most unfortunate misunderstanding as to the time of starting of the race, the Medford Club was not represented in its entire strength. Whether or not the result of the race would have been different if the whole team had been present, is something which nobody can tell. The Waltham Club was the winner of the race, however, and we have no one else to look to for any satisfaction which was denied us by the misfortune referred to.

The matter of another race between Waltham and Medford was almost immediately discussed by representatives of the two clubs, and it was quickly learned that nothing of the kind could occur at the present time, owing to the absence of a few members of the Waltham team. If a race does occur later in the season it will undoubtedly be between the full teams of the two clubs, probably seven men each.

I think in justice to Waltham it should be said that its club is entirely willing to meet us, and quite confident as to the result. I wish in the most emphatic terms to negative the idea that there is the slightest ill feeling between Waltham and Medford. Such is not the case. The cup was won fairly, and if Medford was not represented as well as it might have been, the Medford Club can blame nobody but its own hard luck, and its captain.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE H. PERRY,
Captain Medford Cycle Club.

THE TEACHERS ARE TO BLAME.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Referring to your recent criticisms on the bad form in which many ladies ride, permit me to say that perhaps they are not wholly at fault in the matter. It is mainly due to her teacher. To facilitate her riding and mounting he places the saddle somewhat lower than she would have it ordinarily. And it does help; the machine steers easier, is easier to mount and dismount, especially if it is involuntary. But the result is bowed knees, stooping shoulders, and too much knee motion in pedalling. Of course these defects should be remedied as soon as the pupil has mastered the art of riding, but by that time she has passed out of the hands of her teacher and is left to her own devices; and she keeps on riding as she has been taught and knows no other or better way. Therefore scold the teachers more and the pupils less.

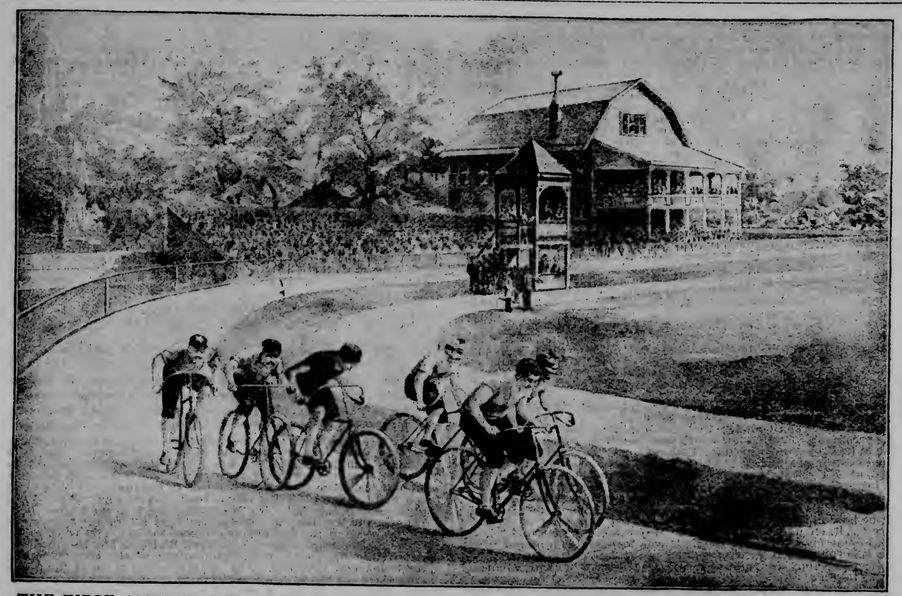
TIRE LITIGATION.

Gentlemen: The Thomas Inflatable Tire Co., of Philadelphia, have commenced suit against Alfred Featherstone, of Chicago, for infringement of their patents covering inflated or pneumatic tires for bicycle and tricycle wheels. The bill of complaint in this suit was filed Monday, July 6th, in the Circuit Court of the United States, Northern District of Illinois, and notice of same served on Mr. Featherstone.



Yours truly,
GEORGE R. BIDWELL CYCLE CO.
A. C. D. LOUCKS, Sec'y.

THE AIR TIRE WAR.

A. FEATHERSTONE, of Chicago, has commenced suit in equity in the U. S. Circuit Court, Southern District, N. Y., vs. the Geo. R. Bidwell Cycle Co., for alleged infringement of the Dunlop pneumatic tire patent. Mr. Featherstone, through his attorneys, asks for an injunction restraining the Bidwell Cycle Co. from manufacturing the pneumatic tire as they now make it.

WILLIE F. HADDOCK, the thirteen-year-old son of Maj. Wm. H. Haddock, of Dorchester, made quite a run for a rider of only two weeks' experience. On Wednesday, July 1st, at 7.30 A. M., he mounted his Singer Intermediate Safety at the corner of Norfolk and Washington streets, Dorchester, and at 7 30 P. M. arrived at Portsmouth, N. H., having covered a distance of 69 miles—ten of which he had to walk, pushing his wheel through heavy sand.

THE FIRST AMERICAN BANKED TRACK.

The above is from a photograph taken during a race on the track as it existed in its old form, and will serve to give the reader an idea of the the surroundings. The grounds contain ten acres situated on the Illinois Central Railway, near Parkside station, and is bounded by 71st street on the North, 72d street on the South. On gala days the Illinois Central trains stop at the gate, thus making it possible for one to reach the grounds and return without the usual long tramp between station and grounds.

The club proposes to hold a National Cycle Tournament on the new track September 11th and 12th, and the cycling world is assured of their intention to make it the equal of any meeting in the country both as regards prizes and fast time.

The committee in charge of the track expresses it as their firm opinion that in spite of the dates clashing with Springfied, the Chicago meet will surpass it in every manner. In view of the fact that the meet of last year did not come up to their expectations, they do not want to be guilty of making any promises or assertions that cannot be realized.

If you want to ride on the fastest track in the world, come to the Chicago meet.

THE FIRST AMERICAN BANKED TRACK.

NATIONAL CYCLING TOURNAMENT.

THE Chicago Cricket and Athletic Club have decided to rebuild the quarter mile oval built by them last year; it is not up to the standard desired by them, and consequently they have advertised for bids on the work of rebuilding it.

The surface of the new track will probably be brick dust, which is known to make a firm and extremely fine top dressing. The track will be, as now, 24 feet wide on the winning straight, and 20 feet elsewhere, with the turns banked 3 1-2 inches to the foot, making the outside 5 feet 10 inches above the curb. The banking will extend about 25 yards into the straights and gradually falling, merge into the level.

An investment of $100,000 is represented in the grounds of the Chicago Cricket and Athletic Club, and the club has decided that the track must be made as fast as any in the world, bar none.

HARTFORD TOURNAMENT OF 1891.

THE Hartford Wheel Club has announced the programme of its eighth annual Fall Tournament, to be held at Charter Oak Park, Monday and Tuesday, September 7th (Labor Day) and 8th. There are twenty races on the list, judiciously arranged for the accommodation of all classes and conditions of riders. There are seven races open to the fast men, seven to the slower middle class of riders, and two only are for local men especially, and but four "ordinary" events will be run at Hartford.

The club will have exclusive control of the track after the third week in August and a great many of the flyers will go to Hartford to complete their training. The park is beautifully situated four miles out of the city. Being thoroughly in the country, and with excellent accommodations in its immediate neighborhood, racing men find it an ideal training ground.

The track at Charter Oak Park has long been famous as a cycling path, and a Hartford tournament seldom passes without the creation of several important records. It was here in 1884 that Sellers rode a mile in the then unheard of time of 2.39. Later on, Wood, from scratch, passed every other competitor, in a mile handicap race, finishing in 2.33, and establishing a competition record which remained unbroken for years. Again, at the Columbia Club's meet on July 4th of this year, W. F. Murphy rode the fastest mile ever ridden in a race, crossing the tape from scratch in the wonderful time of 2.26 1-5, and Hoyland Smith broke the two mile record at the same meet. Murphy and Smith earned distinction for the track as well as themselves, for their great work was done under conditions of wind and weather unfavorable to fast time.

The annual gathering of the Connecticut Division of the L. A. W. will occur at Hartford on the same dates as the tournament. There will be the usual big parade and various entertainments in addition to the races, and one thousand dollars, raised by appropriation and subscription, will be expended in entertaining wheelmen. A rare season of cycling jollity and festivity is anticipated.

Wheelmen who are disposed to arrange their vacations this year with a view to attending the fall tournaments, can take in five days of racing out of seven. The tournament circuit in the East starts in at Narragansett Park, Providence, September 5th. Then follows the great Hartford event of the 7th and 8th, and Springfield's two days of racing on the 10th and 11th. Following is the list of races to be run at Hartford:

FIRST DAY, SEPTEMBER 7th.

One mile novice, safety; quarter-mile L. A. W. San Francisco, Cal., July 4, 1891.

THE Y. M. C. A. Bicycle Club of Birmingham, Conn., will give their first annual field the fifth day of September, 1891. The events will consist of bicycle races, sprinting, etc., etc. The prizes will be numerous and costly, ranging in price from $10 to $50 each.

Not Only Honestly Constructed, But Mechanically Sound.

THIS is what we have said of the Rambler. Did you stop to consider exactly what it meant? Possibly not. Possibly you have never thought it worth while. You purchased your wheel without weighing the matter and being satisfied, a bicycle to you is simply a bicycle—nothing more. Its finer points are hardly of even passing interest. But in these days, when it is charitable, at least, to grant that most bicycles are honestly constructed, mechanical superiority goes a long way and is not lightly considered by those who are seeking the best results and best value for their outlay.

We will take spring frames and spring saddles as affording a fair study. Take this wheel: Note where and how the spring is placed; where but little weight of the rider is sustained; note that when it yields there is a tendency to force the feet off the pedals, and that you find the steering affected. Now take that wheel: Just look at its complications; note the bundlesome appearance of it, and the number of bolts, nuts and parts which go to make up its anti-vibration appliance. And here is still another: Notice that when the saddle or spring yields that the pedals remain rigid; that is, do not "give" correspondingly as they shou'd, and that in every case your length of reach is constantly shifted. Surely it is plain that these wheels are mechanically faulty. You can see that even if you are are not versed in mechanical principles, you begin to see what we mean by the term "mechanically correct." Do you?

Now take the Rambler: Observe the simplicity of its spring frame; note that the spring is in the right place and where the best results are to be obtained; notice that it can not in any manner affect the steering, and that when the spring yields the saddle and pedals "give" correspondingly (due to the hinged joint over crank axle), and that there can be no forcing of feet off pedals nor any inconveniencing and wearing, shortening your reach.

You do not have to be a mechanic to judge of these things, and, as in the case of the spring frame, so it is in many others—the mechanical superiority of the Rambler crops out at every point—every feature sound, practical, in the right place, there for a purpose, and fulfilling that purpose in the proper manner.

He (and she) is wise who stops to consider.

MISSOURI DIVISION MEET.

THE big meet has passed and gone, and history will record it as a success. The Springfield men were the first to arrive, and then came the St. Louis men in a special car arriving in state. Quickly followed delegations from "all over," and they were well received by Representive Garner and his committee. The early part of the day was spent fn getting acquainted, and promptly at three P. M. the hill climbing contest came off on South Garrison avenue hill in the presence of fully 2000 spectators. The starters were: Richard Hurck, M. B. and A. C.; H. M. Weaver, A. G. Harding, S. and L. C. C.; H. P. During, Carthage; S. L. Thompson, Topeka, Kas. The other entries backed out when they saw the terrific grade of the hill. H. P. During was the first man to try, and his performance was a magnificent one, but as he claimed the crowd closed in on him, he was given a second trial, and the same concession was made to all other contestants. None of the riders came within balling distance of During's work on the first trial, but on the second one Hurck put on steam and fairly set the crowd crazy by passing During's mark by a foot. During was given another trial, but the best he could do was to equal his former mark, and the judges therefore declared Richard Hurck the winner. Time 11 3-4 seconds. The prizes were a $25 gold medal and a silk umbrella. After the contest short inspection runs were taken over the smooth city streets. At 8.30 P.M. the smoker and musicals were announced at the Carthage armory and thither the cyclists went marching two abreast. "League tickets, please" was the cry of the door keeper, and the experiment of keeping out the "unwashed" was a big success. Once inside the hall the enjoyment of the participants flowed fast and furious. The music was rendered by the Carthage Light Guard Band and was loudly applauded. The Cycling Club came forward and sang a number of club songs, boxing by two African imps followed, and then came an exhibition of some very fine single and double fancy ridling on safeties by two members of the Solid City Wheelmen of Fort Scott, Kas. At ten P. M. supper was announced. Refreshments were served in abundance as well as good cigars. This part of the entertainment was the most enjoyable one, and it will doubtloss become a fixture with future Missouri meets.

The glorious Fourth opened up badly, and the worst fears of the management were realized when it rained—yes, poured—for three hours. Many of the participants thought the day's sport ruined, but they did not know what the drainage system amounted to, for as soon as it stopped raining the fine gravel roads were in even better shape than before. This was a silent argument for the immense advantage of rock roads, and doubtless set many of the visitors a thinking about road improvement. The band appeared at this juncture in full uniform, and forming in the rear of the reception committee, marched to the depot to receive the balance of the St. Louis delegation, which came down 25 strong. Rain prevented the holding of the parade in the morning, and it was postponed till 2 P. M. The annual business meeting was called to order at 10.45 A. M. by Chief Consul Holm. The rain drove everybody under cover, and hence the attendance was large. Just as all the members were seated the Carthage band was announced, and by request played several airs which were well received. The Chief Consul read his annual report, which was accepted, and after transacting routine business, nominations were made for officers to serve during the year commencing December 1, as follows: Chief Consul, W. P. Laing, Geo. H. Lucas, Robert Holm, all of St. Louis; Vice Consul, W. M. Jaccard and J. P. Sidwell of Kansas City; Secretary-Treasurer, Joe L. Douglas of Columbia; Representatives, R. W. Garner, Carthage; R. H. R. Warren, Kansas City; W. A. Todd, St. Louis, and G. A. Graves, Joplin. The members of the Cycling Club tried hard to declare nominations for Chief Consul closed after their men were nominated, but Douglas W. Robert, of St. Louis, balked their little game, and when the question was put to a vote, it was snowed under. The meeting adjourned at 12 M. After dinner the parade was formed at the Public Square, and being proceeded by the pace makers, band, and Harry Gordon on a unicycle, made a circuit of the principal streets and thence to the Fair Grounds. The prizes offered for the parade were won as follows: To the club having the most League members in line, St. Louis Cycling Club; to the club making the best appearance in line, the Solid City Wheelmen of Fort Scott, Kan.; the third prize offered for the club having the best representation was also won by the St. Louis Cycling Club. On arriving at the Fair Grounds the track was found to be heavy, and it was decided to have a half hour's intermission to allow it to dry. Promptly at 3.30 P. M. the races were started, and the following is the summary:

One mile ordinary, novice—J. H. Borgess, M. B. and A. C., first; Geo. M. Wilder, St. L. C. C., second. Time 3m. 28 3-8s. Borgess made the novices sick and fairly romped away from the field on the last lap.

One mile safety, novice—This was a pretty race, and the Cycling Club's men came out with flying colors, and the result was: H. J. Fath, first; Gus. Loeffel, second. Time, 3m. 18s.

One half mile ordinary, open—The result was a genuine surprise, as O. L. Rule, St. Louis C. C., finished first, beating A. G. Harding by two yards. Time, 1m. 34 1-4s.

A large number of entries were strung around the track in the one-mile safety handicap, and the varied colors of the clubs made a pretty picture. The first lap was ridden in good time, and the cheering of the crowd made the riders put forth their best efforts, with the result that the best time of the day for safety events, 2m. 55 1-4s., was made. The order of the finish was: R. M. Tidd, 75 yards, M. B. and A. C., first; W. A. Todd, 35 yards, St. L. C. C., second; R. Hurck, 30 yards, third.

One mile ordinary, Missouri Division championship—All but three of the entries backed out of this race, and the knowing ones were on the tiptoe of expectancy to see a red-hot race between Rule and Harding. For the first lap the result was a disappointment; but as the bell sounded both men got down to work, and when they came down the home stretch neck and neck the excitement had reached its climax. The judges decided the race a tie; but as Harding waived his claim, first place was awarded to Rule. Time 3m. 21 1-2s.

Three-mile safety, Missouri Division championship—Milford, Harding, and Hurck were the only starters in this race, they alternated in setting in the pace, and on the last quarter came on with a rush, R. M. Milford, St. L. C. C. finishing first; A. G. Harding, St. L. C. C., second; R. Hurck, M. B. and A. C., third. Time 10m. 26 1-4s.

One-mile ordinary, handicap—A good field of entries furnished excellent sport in this race, and it was free from loafing tactics of any kind. G. E. Tivy, 75 yards, first; J. H. Borgess, M. B. and A. C., 100 yards, second; P. L. Tyler, 150 yards, third. Time 2m. 56s. On the last lap J. R. Pomarede ran into Jno. Bowman, who was coaching, and narrowly escped serious injury.

The one mile safety, Missouri Division championship was well contested throughout. All the fast men started. A. G. Harding, first; R. M. Milford, both St. L. C. C., second; R. Hurck, third. Time 3m. 11 1-2s.

The Carthage Light Guard band here gave a unique band drill which was greatly admired. This was followed by trick riding by Master Elmer Caughenbaugh of Carterville, Mo., and his performance, considering his youth, was marvellous.

Two-mile safety, handicap—This race had eleven starters and, barring accidents, was one of the best contests of the day. On the second lap E. W. Sanders changed machines, and coming down the stretch on the third lap, endeavored to take a sponge from his trainer with the result that he took a bad fall. The finish was: W. A. Todd, St. L. C. C., 75 yards, first; R. M. Tidd, M. B. and A. C., 120 yards, second; H. J. Fath, St. L. C. C., 175 yards, third. Time 6m. 1-4s.

Ten-mile ordinary, Missouri Division championship—This is the classic event which has always been hotly contested, and again was the rivalry between Harding and Rule exemplified by a red-hot finish: A. G. Harding, first; O. L. Rule, second. Time 35m. 50 1-2s. A time limit of 40m. was placed on the race.

One mile safety, consolation—C. M. Hutton, M. B. and A. C., first; J. W. Bowman, M. B. and A. C., second. Time 3m. 17 1-2s.

One-mile ordinary, consolation—H. R. Warren, K. C. R. C., first; Will Nichols, M. B. and A. C., second. Time 3m. 45 1-4s.

The banquet was held at the Harrington Hotel after the races, and with the exception of the late hour at which the doors were opened, was a success. Eighty-two men attended and the tables were beautifully decorated with flowers. After the good things had been placed beneath the cyclists' belts, cigars were lighted and the following toasts were responded to: Welcome, Major W. R. Lewis of Carthage; the L. A. W., Chief Consul Holm; The Ladies, C. Roach of Carthage; Cycling in relation to health and recreation, C. A. Devinne, Topeka, Kan. Several impromptu speeches were made after the regular toasts, and it was during the wee small hours that the banquet was ended. Sunday, July 5, was pleasantly spent in making runs to Joplin, Webb City, and Jasper. After partaking of an early supper adieus were hastily said, and the St. Louis delegation was soon aboard their special cars. Just before the train pulled out three cheers were given for Carthage, and her progressive cycling club, and the sixth annual meet was at an end. The thanks of all the participants are due to Representative Garner, and Messrs. Deal and McMillan for making the meet the success it was. A vote of thanks was also extended to the Missouri Pacific Railway for providing the excellent transportation facilities.

MEET OF INDIANA DIVISION, L. A. W.

THE first annual meet of the Indiana Division, L. A. W., occurred on Saturday, July 11th, at Indianapolis, and was a grand success in every particular. The festivities commenced at 1 P. There was an audience of about 2000 present, who were more than delighted with the entertainment given.

The next race was for the smaller riders of safeties, the wheels being limited to twenty-six inches in diameter or under, and age of boys, fourteen years or under. Five entries were in this race, one-half mile, and Thomas H. Davis came in first; time, 1.50; Hugh Raymond was second and Charles Atkins third.

The last race, the free for all, was won by Thomas Hay, who made the mile in 3.11 2-5; Howard M. Stout of New London came in second, Oscar Harmann, third.

The races were for the most part exciting throughout, and the prizes were all worth working for, most of them being very valuable. H. C. Tuttle, of Chicago, carried away two bicycles. The prizes were delivered to the winners at the Board of Trade Hall, where an informal reception was held by the Zig Zag Club. Lemonade, cake and cigars served to refresh the inner man, and everybody had an enjoyable time.

A NEW HAVEN correspondent writes us: My son, Wm. Howard Ainscoe and George Larom, both 16 years of age, started from 57th street and Eighth avenue, New York City at seven A. M. the other day and arrived here at 7.20 P. M., same day, and as I understand the distance is ninety miles by road and very sandy. They got on a wrong road having to go back, losing nine miles. Thereby I thought this might be of enough importance to apprise you of."

A NEW RECORD FROM HARRISBURG TO PHILADELPHIA.

PARK AVENUE'S President—O. S. Bunnell—is about the greatest enthusiast on century runs the country holds, not even excepting the indefatigable McDaniel. On Thursday of last week he accomplished his thirteenth one hundred miles of the season, and at the same time breaking the record of 16 hours from Harrisburg to this city. He was accompanied by J. C. Detwiler, and the two riders covered the one hundred and thirteen miles in twelve hours. That they let no grass grow under their feet may be judged from the fact that one stretch of fourteen miles was covered in fifty-five minutes. Mr. Bunnell accompanies the Park Avenue delegation to Detroit to-morrow, and while there will be but few compared with Hagerstown, they will be as conspicuous as usual. "ARIEL."

THE DOUBLE CENTURY (BUFFALO-ERIE) RECORD LOWERED.

LOCAL bicycle circles of Buffalo were greatly surprised at the remarkably good performance of Peitsch, of the Press C. C., in making a double century run over the Erie course in exactly 24 hours, and it was confidently prophesied that it would be a long time before local riders would be able to break this record. On Saturday, however, at 1.15 P. M. Messrs. Kane, Klipfel, Weinig and Kayser of the Ramblers' Bicycle Club, started in the attempt to beat Mr. Peitsch's record. The roads were rough for nearly the entire distance, having recently been worked, and night riding was exceedingly difficult without lamps or moonlight. Kayser quit at Angola, and Kane.s wheel broke down a short distance out of Westfield. But Klipfel and Weinig kept bravely on, reaching Erie at 11.15 P. M., where they were met by members of the Erie Wanderers under Captain Crane, who escorted them into the city. After a hearty supper the two Ramblers left Erie at 12.05 for the return trip and reached Buffalo at 10.55 A. M., making the total time for the full 200 miles, 21 hours, 21 minutes. Undoubtedly better time could have been made, but as the men were over four hours ahead of the record at Bay View the finish was made at an easy pace. The actual riding time was about 18 hours.

NEW ENGLISH TRACK RECORDS.

WHILE record breaking seems to be getting very fashionable on this side of the water, yet the cyclists on the other side are hard at it, and below will be found a few new records, which have been made since the opening of the riding season:

Quarter-mile safety—flying—S. Beduin, 31 1-5s. May 9th, Paddington, Eng.

Quarter-mile safety—starting—F. G. Bradbury, 33 4-5. May 23, 1891, Herne Hill.

Quarter-mile tricycle—flying—W. G. H. Bramson, 34s. June 20, 1891, Herne Hill.

Quarter-mile tricycle—starting—W. G. H. Bramson, 37 1-5. June 18, 1891, Herne Hill.

Half-mile tricycle—W. G. H. Bramson, 1.16. June 25, 1891, Herne Hill.

Three quarter mile tricycle—W. G. H. Bramson, 1.54 4-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

One mile tricycle—W. G. H. Bramson, 2.31 3-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

Quarter-mile tandem tricycle—Crump and Beduin, 39 2-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

Half-mile tandem tricycle—Crump and Beduin, 1.15 4-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

Three-quarter mile tandem tricycle—Crump and Beduin, 1.54 3-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

One mile tandem tricycle—Crump and Beduin, 2.31 2-5. June 25, Herne Hill.

With one exception all of these records have been made on the track at Herne Hill, and every indication points to this race track as a grand record breaker in the future. In addition to these track records the performance of R. L. Ede in the 50-mile road race from Peterboro to Hitchin is worthy of more than passing notice; he covered the distance in 2h. 24m. 44s. beating the best previous by 7m. and 51s., and also beating the world's track record for that distance by 42 2-5 sec.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT SYRACUSE, N. Y.—The bicycle races given by the Syracuse Cycling Club on July 10 and 11, closing the week for the National Cantonment I. O. O. F. saved that event from being one of the greatest fizzles ever witnessed in Syracuse. The races were the only successful feature in the whole week's programme, aside from the stereotyped parade. Weather excellent, track fair, although not as fast as at State meet time last year. One record was smashed, the events were exciting and the finishes in almost every instance very close. Referee Prial prevented loafing, by putting limits that compelled riding to make a race stand. Buffalo fought New York's team, and not without some reward. The Buffalo men took the one mile tandem State championship away from the Murphys, and so will go to Detroit. That man Dorntge is a fast man and a coming rider. Hoyland Smith was cheated out of one day's riding because of the failure of his wheel to reach here from Hartford. Both he and the crowd were disappointed. Watch out for a young rider named Servis from Rochester. He will be very much in it, a little later on. He is a credit to his club. The races were successful in every way. The summary for the Half-mile tandem, open—Zimmerman and Hoyland Smith, first; Banker and Brinker, second. Time 1.15. Dorntge and Penseyres started but their tandem broke down, compelling them to drop out.

SECOND DAY.

The event of the day was the one mile safety handicap in which W. F. Murphy placed the half-mile starting record at 1.11 flat. The track might have been better, and a slight wind was blowing at the time. Dorntge had seventy yards start on Murphy, who did not lessen the distance to any great extent at the close of the race. Dorntge's time for the mile was 2.33; Murphy's 2.31 4-5. The club championship resulted as on the previous day, Geo. C. Penn winning, time being bettered two seconds, or 3.10.

One mile ordinary novice—H. R. Peck, S. C. C., first; R. Abrams, Syracuse, second. Time 3.05.

One mile safety State championship—W. F. Murphy, first; Dorntge, second. Time 2.52. (Murphy's last quarter 33 sec.)

Three mile tandem open—Zimmerman and Hoyland Smith, first; Penseyres and Dorntge, second. Time 8.57.

One mile tandem State championship—W. D. Banker and F. M. Brinker, first; Dorntge and Penseyres, second; W. F. and C. M. Murphy, third. Time 2.58 1-2 (last quarter 32 sec.).

Half-mile ordinary, open—A. A. Zimmerman, first; C. M. Murphy, second. Time 1.20.

Two mile safety team—Buffalo, Penseyres, 23 points; W. D. Banker, 12 points; F. M. Brinker, 18 points; total, 53 points. Syracuse, Geo. B. Penn, 17; Fred W. Penn, 6; F. J. Higbee, 7; total, 30 points. Time 6.38 1-2.

One mile ordinary handicap—C. M. Murphy, 60 yards, first; F. T. Servis, 100 yards, second; A. A. Zimmerman, scratch, third. Time 2.42 1-2.

Two mile safety handicap—C. W. Dorntge, 130 yards, first; Hoyland Smith, scratch, second. Dorntge's time, 5.35; Smith, 5.36.

The New York team was joined by "Sid" Bowman Sunday, and in the evening the entire party left for Detroit. The Buffalo men will "ride a lung out" they say to make a showing at the National meet races. All the racing men expressed themselves as well pleased with the treatment received here, and more than satisfied with the prizes, which they say were the best they had seen this year, Hartford excepted. Several of the New York team say they will give Syracuse a call for a day or two on the way home from Detroit. They will rest from the National meet until time for Springfield, when they say some of the records will have to go. Murphy will ride the race of his life there, if his words here amount to anything, and everything he does is pointing to Springfield. He is in perfect condition and capable of better things than he has ever done. The man who wins the mile at Springfield will have to ride in 2.24.

AT DENVER, COL.—The second annual tournament of the Denver Cyclists' Union, held on July 4 and 5, at Sportsman's park, was a big success. The grand stand and bleachers were closely packed by a large audience, who all took a hand in encouraging their favorites to their best efforts. Summary:

AT DES MOINES, IOWA, July 4.—The Des Moines (Iowa) Cycling Club had a gala day on the Fourth, the managers of the Zoo having built a track, and guaranteed the Club $200 on condition the boys would give a half-days races, which they did with vim, placing the club on a sound financial basis. Everything went "off" smoothly except Posner when his seat rod snapped and Perkins' sudden somersault in the hands off quarter. DeVore was not seen before, but says he will keep up a "chase" for the trick riding Hullsizer. Bilz pneumatic failed to clinch on first place. The D. M. C. C. still lives, so think the hearers when the D. M. C. C. yell is yelled. If Sioux City wants club quarters, she may gain them in some of the many buildings going up here, twelve and fourteen blocks for business. The following were the events of the day:

Quarter-mile on safeties—Seth Perkins, won; A. B. Edmonds, second; F. Kessler, third. Time 47 seconds.

Half-mile on ordinaries—Fratz won; Garrett, second. Time 1.42 1-2.

Sack race, eighty yards—Chase won; Kessler, second. Time 12 seconds.

Fourth race, one mile safety—Edmonds, won; Bennington, second; Bilz, third. Time 3.25.

Illinois Division.

Business meeting. Chief Consul Davis presiding; called to order at 2.45 P. M.

Chief Consul Davis introduced Mayor Starr, who delivered an address of welcome to the members of the Division in a very cordial manner.

Mr. Davis responding for the Division.

The minutes of the 7th Annual Meeting, which was held at Bloomington, July 4th, 1890, and the minutes of the Constitutional Convention held in Chicago, February 7th, 1891, were read and approved.

The Chief Consul made a brief verbal report, showing something of the condition of the Division, with suggestions for the future.

The Secretary-Treasurer's report was read, and ordered spread on the minutes of the meeting, as follows:

Secretary's Report.

Chief Consul and Members:

'Tis said that "brevity is the soul of wit," and if ever this saying is applied, it should be at our Annual Meeting, where pleasure rather than business dominates.

A summary of what has been accomplished by our Division in the past year is as follows:

A gain of 66 per cent. in a total membership of 1531, with nearly two-thirds of our members residing outside of Chicago, which formerly had a majority.

Able recruiting work which speaks for itself

A new Constitution and By-Laws which provides for the distribution of League and Division work in a systematic manner.

A Handbook of the Division, which is but the starting point for an efficient Road Book.

A list of two hundred Local Consuls, forming the largest and most efficient consular service in the League, and through whose exertions we will have a membership of 3000 this present year.

A start in the matter of Highway Improvement, by the introduction of several bills in the 37th General Assembly.

The burying of a bill known as "The White Bill," which was aimed at the welfare of cycling.

The locating of the 8th Annual Meet at Rockford.

The appropriation of $250 for the entertainment of Division members at the Peoria tournament, September 17th and 18th this year, which is, frankly speaking, nothing more or less than good missionary work.

Larger inducements to L. A. W. Clubs in paying their Representatives' railroad fares to the Board meetings.

A census of the cycling population outside of Chicago, which has taken up the better part of a year, and is still incomplete, but shows not more than 10 per cent. of the riders in our organization.

Programme for '91 and '92.

Compilation of and publication of a reliable Road Book.

Further efforts to promote the efficiency of League Clubs.

Further and continuous efforts in the matter of Road Improvement.

Connecticut leads us about 250 in a grand total, therefore I would ask all to hustle and help reverse these figures, that the "World's Fair State" be not hidden by "A Nutmeg."

Thanking the Local Consuls particularly, and members generally for their generous help and co-operation, I am,

Sincerely,
THOS. F. SHERIDAN, Treasurer.

THOS. F. SHERIDAN, Treasurer.

The Treasurer's report was approved on recommendation of the Finance Committee.

A motion was made and seconded that the Division bear the expense of printing and mailing the programmes to the eighth annual meeting. Carried.

It was moved by Dr. J. C. Wachter of the Douglas Club, and seconded by a great number;

That it be the sense of this meeting that Rule G of the National Racing Board is constitutional, and that Mr. Charles E. Randall was correct in his statement of it, and that the Chair appoint a committee of three members of this Division to draw up a suitable set of resolutions to that effect; after a little discussion the motion was put and declared carried.

The Chief Consul appointed as that committee, Messrs. S. A. Miles of Chicago, J. M. Irwin of Chicago, H. G. Rouse of Peoria.

The commi tee retired and after the expiration of an hour's recess reported the following resolutions, which were adopted unanimously:

Whereas, A difference of opinion has arisen among officers of the League of American Wheelmen on the following question, to wit:

1. The right of the Racing Board to make Rule G, as adopte l at the last meeting of the Board at Chicago, or similar rules and regulations.

2. The right of the President and Executive Committee, to declare said rule or any other rule void, under advice of the Rights and Privileges Committee, or otherwise, and,

Whereas, Certain allusions of a personal nature were made by Mr. Randall, while Chairman of the Racing Board, to the President, which remarks have been apologized for, and the apology accepted, and

Whereas, Mr. Randall has been removed from the Chairmanship of said Board, by the President, and

Whereas, The present alliance between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U. has been productive of results not beneficial to the League of American Wheelmen, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Illinois Division L. A. W. is of the opinion that it is within the province of the Racing Board to pass and sustain Rule G, or any similar rule; that the President and Executive Committee or either of them, do not possess the right to annul said rule or any other rule of the Racing Board; that said Rule G is, and will remain in effect until repealed by the Racing Board, and that, while the personal allusions referred to are regretted, the action of the President in removing Mr. Randall was ill advised, particularly as no reason was given therefor; be it further

Resolved, that Rule G is for the best interests of the L. A. W., and that in the opinion of this Division Mr. Randall should be at once reinstated; that the Alliance in its present form is detrimental to the interests of the League and a usurpation of its powers, be it further

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Illinois Division, actuated solely by a desire to benefit the League that the present controversy does not and cannot partake of the nature of a sectional quarrel between the East and the West, but rather of a difference between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U.; that this Division particularly disclaims any such feeling of hostility toward any other section, that the strength of the League is such that it can and should maintain its own independence, and that any alliance with any organization should be of such nature as to be favorable to the League of American Wheelmen.

A motion was made and seconded that the foregoing resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, and a copy sent to the President and Executive Committee of the L. A. W.—carried.

Motion made and seconded that a rising vote of thanks be tendered the Rockford Club and the citizens of Rockford for their hospitality in entertaining the Illinois Division—carried.

Adjourned "sine die." THOS. F. SHERIDAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

REPORT OF CHIEF CONSUL HOLM.

Gentlemen—It gives me great pleasure to state that all things considered our Division is in a fairly prosperous condition, and the outlook is exceedingly bright for widening its usefulness. Since making my semi-annual report the membership has increased to 540 members, which the Secretary-Treasurer's report will show are distributed among 43 towns in the State. There are still a large number of wheelmen who do not belong to our organization residing in the State and to each one of these a new and revised recruiting pamphlet has been mailed, which will shortly be followed by a personal letter of inquiry. Returns from a few places are coming in satisfactorily, but the balance need a big stirring up to open their eyes to the advantage of League membership.

Recruiting.

It seems to me that no regular plan of recruiting has been adopted by either our Local Consuls or by the members of this Division. It is necessary for our welfare that this important matter by systematically looked after, and that a committee be appointed, who shall act as aids to the Chief Consul in distributing League literature and in making a personal canvass among the wheelmen residing in their city. A personal call does more good than all else combined in obtaining new members, and I would thank the members present for suggestions which can be cheaply carried out to insure a large increase in our membership.

Fifty-one Local Consuls have been appointed during the year, an increase of nine over last year, each one of which is a worker in his own district. As recruiting comes nearer the line of a Local Consul's duty than anything else, I have endeavored to appoint only such men who have promised me in writing to give this matter their best attention. A Local Consul is a very important officer, as the growth of the Division depends on them almost entirely, and for this reason I think it but just to compliment Local Consuls C. F. Johnston of Aurora, and H. B. Guerrant of Sedalia, for largely increasing the membership in their respective cities. In my own city the cycle dealers, who elsewhere are good recruiting agents, have shown a remarkable apathy to our growth, with the exception of one or two firms, notably Wilder & Laing, whose work deserves the highest praise.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Officers it was voted to present a League pin, costing $5, to the L. C. securing the most new members by May 1, and a similar prize, costing $3 to the L. C. who stood second in this respect. The first prize was won by Local Consul Guerrant of Sedalia, and the second by L. C. Johnston of Aurora. It was further agreed at this meeting to award a League pin to the member securing 20 new members during the year ending December 1, but strange to say not a single pin has been presented to date. In most of the large Eastern Divisions the large increase in members has been traceable to such prize contests, and I cannot account for the lack of interest our members have shown in this work.

Official Hotels.

There are now fifty official hotels in the State who have made a contract with us to grant reduced rates to our members only on presentation of League ticket. Each hotel has a framed cer-

AT HOLYOKE, MASS, JULY 11, 1891.—The ten-mile handicap road race of the Holyoke Bicycle Club was run on the afternoon of July 10. The course was the usual one on the Springfield road, half way down and back. Excellent time was made and much satisfaction is felt here over the result. The prize for best time, a valuable gold medal set with diamonds, was awarded to Scott Williamson, who finished in fine style in 34m. 50s.; Merriam second in 35m. 36s.; Ratcliffe and King following. Ratcliffe, who was given a three minute handicap, was given first prize, a valuable ring. The English system was adopted, all starting from the scratch, the handicapping known only to the judges. The club is well pleased at Williamson's success, as it was practically his "debut," and much pressure is being used to induce him to enter the Springfield tournament. Ratcliffe and Merriam will probably enter. Consul E. C. Clarke had charge of the race, and so everything went well. It may interest the League to know that the brethren here scored a good point July 4. The city government voted to celebrate the Fourth in good style, and some appropriations were made. The feature of the day, the parade, was led by the Holyoke Bicycle Club, augmented by one hundred other riders, including twenty-five ladies. The wheels were mostly trimmed at the club's expense. The club was highly complimented. The prize for the best trimmed wheel was awarded to Miss Kate Taylor, whose appearance, beautifully attired, caused much favorable comment. A large wheel, about Belanger's size, with L. A. W. attached in League fashion, neatly trimmed, formed part of the club's decorations. The members donned their new League uniforms, and altogether the day was a grand success for the wheelmen of Holyoke. M. F. D.

AT LOS ANGELES, CAL.—Our first annual road race came off the "Day we celebrate." Everything worked nicely except the railroad company, who delayed the train half an hour, so that it arrived 15 minutes after the finish. The programme was carried out. Dinner was served, "special," at the Hotel Arcadia. The usual few jokes, etc., prevailed, and a glorious time was had. The course is 18 miles, a heavy headwind was blowing, and the track, or road, rather, was pretty bad in places. Tufts, winner of the time medal and also the first prize, is a small sized phenomenon. His brother John, in the State meet three years ago, won the mile novice (his first race) under three minutes. Will was then in the class for boys under 18, being only 15 years old, and won the half-mile for boys easily. He is short and heavy set, but has fine staying qualities. His work on the 4th shows that there is the making of a Pacific Coast champion in him and perhaps better. Considering the roads and head wind, which means much in this country, the time was excellent: 18 miles; time 1.17. It was evident from the start that Tufts, Allen, and Jenkins were in for blood, although almost every one conceded the time medal at least to D. L. Shrode. Abel can hardly be said to have been in it; his wheel broke down about four miles from town, and he "trained" it in. Simpson and Talbot both met with accidents, but managed to capture prizes, Simpson getting 8th place and bric-a-brac, and Talbott last man in and got a ham. The summary:

No. of finish.	No. of time.	Handicap.	Start.	Finish.
1—W. A. Tufts,	1	2	9.18	10.35.00
2—W. M. Jenkins,	4	9	9.00	10.35.20

AT JOHNSTON, R. I.—(The following was omitted from last week's issue by oversight.—Ed.) "The Neutakonkanut Wheelmen of Johnston, R. I., held a hill climbing contest last Friday (June 26) night, and the next day the Providence Journal contained the enclosed account of it. Unfortunately for us, the initials of the Neutakonkanuts and Narragansetts are the same, N. W., and this has caused a great deal of misunderstanding. The first and second prizes were won by L. S. Randall and F. L. Bowles of the Narragansetts, while the fourth prize was taken by J. Foster of the Neutakonkanuts. There were 22 entries in the open contest, and four prizes offered which were first, nickel-plated bell, rat-trap pedals, donated by Campbell & Co.; second, double alarm bell, from Rankin & Bruce; third, one-half dozen cabinet photographs, from Arthus Swindell; fourth, 100 cards from C. P. Johnson. The winners with their time were first, S. L. Randall, N.W., 1m.; second, S. Bowles, N. W., 1.03; third, J. Hull, A. B. C., 1.05; fourth, J. Foster, N. W., 1.05 1-4. But you will see by the clipping that each of the three winners belong to the N.W., and as the contest was under the auspices of the Neutakonkanuts, a great many people have given them the credit of taking all three prizes when they really took but one and that was the fourth. If you will kindly make this understood through BICYCLING WORLD you will confer a great favor on the Narragansett Wheelmen of Providence, R. I. F. W. R.

THE Y. M. C. A. Bicycle Club of Birmingham, Conn., will give their first annual field day the 5th day of September, 1891. ACCOUNTS of several minor races were received too late for this week's issue.

TRADE NOTES.

A NEW JERSEY CITY CYCLE DEPOT.

THE demand for light, high grade safeties has increased so rapidly among the members of the Hudson County Wheelmen and the local athletic clubs, that an enterprising and well known rider, Mr. A. T. Neilson, has opened a complete cycle depot for the sale, repair, and rental of safety bicycles and sundries, making a specialty of cushion and pneumatic wheels of light weight.

Mr. Neilson handles the well known Premier line of safeties, embracing sixteen different patterns, and has also obtained the agency for the "King of the Road" clamps and other Lucas, "Cyclealities." His store is at 159 Monticello avenue, opposite the club house of the Hudson County Wheelmen. We wish him all possible success.

MACHINES IN THE GREAT CENTURY RUN.

IT was the intention of the promoters of the recent Century run to secure an accurate report of the various styles of all the wheels that were carried through the run, but complete statistics could not be made. There were 453 badges given to starters, and the report of but 327 machines has been handed in. As far as ascertained, 178 safeties started and 124 finished, and of the 43 ordinaries to start 30 finished. The styles of machines ridden in the run, minus 131 not accounted for, according to the report submitsed by Chairman Fuller, are as follows:

Columbia, number started, 129; number finished, 104. Victor, 58; 45. Quadrant, 28; 23. Tourist, 10; 9. Referee, 9; 8. Commonsense, 8; 7. Ormonde, 9; 7. Rover, 6; 4. Warwick, 14; 6. Catford, 6; 5. New Mail, 5; 3. Eagle, 8; 6. Regent, 3; 2. Sparkbrook, 1; 1. Crescent, 1; 0. Success, 1; 0. Royal Mail, 1; 0. Ajax, 2; 2. Rapid, 1; 0. Swift, 2; 2. Star, 4; 2. Union, 4; 4. Rambler, 6; 3. Apollo, 1; 0. Rudge, 1; 0. Psycho, 3; 3. Hartford, 1; 1. Greyhound, 1; 0. Premier, 2; 2. Spaingfield, 1; 0. Roulette, 1; 1."—Sporting Life.

ROUSE, HAZARD & Co., Peoria, Ill., are always on the lookout for bargains for their customers. They have just secured a large lot of Acme safeties for boys and girls, and are making liberal discounts to the trade. See their advertisement on page 370 of this issue.

IN the double century record-breaking ride by Messrs. Klipfel and Weinig, of Buffalo, Mr. Klipfel rode an Ormonde cycle and Mr. Weinig rode an Isham roadster, made by the Buffalo Cycle Works.

MESSRS. HOWARD A. SMITH & Co., Newark, N. J., announce that although the soles of the Featherstone Pneumatics and the Victor Safety bicycles have been surpassingly large in New Jersey, they are now prepared to fill their constantly increasing orders promptly. Agents are requested to bear this in mind, as they will not be troubled with the delays heretofore experienced. They also desire agents in every town. See advertisment on page 397.

To Strengthen the Muscles.

To Strengthen the Muscles.

It is a marvellous preparation for Strengthening the Muscular System. With Anti-Stiff there is no faith required; it goes straight for the muscles, and you can feel it at work. It has a peculiarly warming, comforting and stimulating effect on all weak or stiff muscles and sinews. Quick in action, cleanly and pleasant in use. Rub it into the muscles every night for a fortnight, and you will be pleased at its supporting and strengthening properties. There is not, nor has been, anything like it till now. It differs from all Oils, Embrocations, and Liniments, both in substance and effect. Some athletes are so fond of it that they rub it all over them.

COLUMBIA LADIES' SAFETY.

PRICE, $135.00.

THIS INTERESTS THE LADIES.

BUT THE GENTLEMEN NEEDN'T READ IT.

Ladies:--Do you know that we make a Safety Bicycle especially designed for yourselves---light, graceful and strong? You need no longer look with envy at your brother, for you may have a machine all your own, made in every way as good as his, but intended for your ease and comfort.

Study carefully the above illustration. Notice the graceful frame with plenty of room between the steering-head and saddle, yet bringing the handles back far enough to insure an upright position. Observe the saddle, a "Kirkpatrick" (which means the best), made particularly for you. Mark particularly the complete dress guard covering rear wheel and chain

Doesn't this interest you to know more about it? We have a full description of it in our catalogue, and a little pamphlet on "The Cycle for Women," which we will send you upon application.

THE DETROIT ROAD RACE,

25 MILES,

At the National League Meet, Detroit, July 16, was won by B. J. Graham of Detroit, who rode a Victor Model B, fitted with the celebrated Victor Cushion Tire—the only Cushion worth mentioning.

VICTORS MAKE THE PACE

And generally win the race.

Our Detroit agents couldn't begin to supply the demand for Victors after the race. It seemed as though nothing but Model B Victors were worthy of notice.

Without a doubt, there were more favorable comments among the wheelmen at Detroit regarding Victors than all other makes combined. Merit will tell!

OVERMAN WHEEL CO.,

BOSTON. WASHINGTON. DENVER. SAN FRANCISCO.

PERSPIRATION MISTAKEN FOR INSPIRATION AGAIN.

While I was in Detroit last week "the boys" tried to be very funny. I knew what ailed them the minute I saw that picture. They were jealous because I went to Detroit and left them at home to saw wood.

I don't think those boys appreciate the real dignity of advertising. The only wonder to me is that they didn't put whiskers on Lydia Pinkham and use her picture instead of Douglass'. It's bad enough to wear $3.00 shoes and take anti-lean without having them both thrown up to me at once in this way. I don't object to the boys having a little fun now and then, but when it comes to this "before and after" business, I must draw the line.

But I am glad I went to Detroit. We had a fine time. It almost made me feel young again. The Hickory Bicycle business runs just the same when I am away, and I am mighty glad of it for, do you know, if I thought it wouldn't I should hate to die.

There seems to be a steadily increasing demand for those genuine old Hickory Wheels. I tell you it is a comfort to see how many people are beginning to look interested when we say Hickory. Why, a few years ago it looked as though I might not be able to win the human race over to my way of thinking, but a little sticktoitiveness has done the business, and here we are, recognized, yes sir! actually recognized in the bicycle trade. The only thing that bothers us now is to decide whether we will return the compliment. According to current rumors we shall have several imitators next season. What could be more interesting? How do we know but that some day Hickory wheels may be handicapped in the races? And then would we mention it? Well, probably not.

Oh! by-the-way, did you get one of those pins? We gave them away at Detroit, and we still have a few of them left which we will mail to League Members. If you enclose a stamp we can use it, but if you feel too poor to do that, and still want the pin, just send a postal card. We would save you even that trouble if we could only know what you are thinking about.

COTTAGE CITY MEET.—Official Notice.

To whom it may concern:

Whereas, I have been appointed by the proper authorities as Chief Officer, with power to preserve the peace at all hazards during the coming visit of the Massachusetts Wheelmen at Cottage City. And I hereby give due notice that the riding of metal wheels will be considered a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $65 or more than $135. No one will be permitted to ride in the parade except on Hickory Wheels. Those not otherwise provided for will find a neat line of Hickories to let at Hickory Hall, under the Hotel Metropolitan, cor. Hickory Avenue and Rue de Hickory.

No person will be permitted to run at large on the Island without wearing one of those nickel Hickory pins. These may be had by all League members who apply to me at police headquarters.

No loud talking will be tolerated, except for the Hickory Wheels. The Somerville Club will not be allowed to sing any of their "rub-a-dub-dub" business, nor go through the streets with brooms stuck down the backs of their necks.

STERLING ELLIOTT,
Provost Marshal.

P. S.—Orders for Hickory wheels can now be filled promptly at the factory, or by
W. W. STALL of

"STILL THERE'S MORE TO FOLLOW."

WE HAVE said a good deal lately about the merits of our Three-part Frame, but we have not said as much as we have thought. The Sylph Three-part frame is a way ahead article, and will bear talking about. Still, we have some others features. Our tangent wheel is a beauty, and no mistake, and it is as good as it is beautiful. It has no large holes in the rim to weaken it; no nipples at the rim to get wet and rust; no crossed spokes to get loose and rattle if not resoldered; no spokes to break off in the hub, and no large repair bills. It has sheet steel flanges and wide bearings. Our front wheel is an ordinary direct wheel with double butted spokes. It will stand more abuse with less repairs than any other form, and for running purposes only is better than a tangent wheel. We don't cry "all forgings." Forgings are good in their place and we use them, but we have used sheet steel wherever possible, for we consider it better than forgings. Examine it and see if it is not.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER. J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 24 JULY, 1891.

THE evident misconstruction and lack of knowledge among the Western contingent as to the exact terms of the alliance between the A. A. U. and L. A. W. was made very plain to us during our visit to Detroit last week, and we desire to correct a wrong impression now obtaining among those gentlemen.

As the terms of alliance were printed back as far as April 24, we take occasion to print the terms again for reference.

In clause 5 we italicise the part we particularly wish to call attention to, as it is on the construction of these words that the misunderstanding is evidently founded.

1. All cycling events in the championship or other meeting of the A. A. U., or of its associations or clubs, shall be given under the rules of the L. A. W.

2. Every cyclist shall be subject to test as to his amateur standing exclusively by the provisions of the Constitution of the L. A. W., defining an amateur.

3. Charges against any cyclist shall be tried by the L. A. W. except that a member of an A. A. U. club shall be tried by a committee of three, one of whom shall be named by the A. A. U., one by the L. A. W., and the third member by the two so chosen, providing the accused shall within twenty days after the receipt of a copy of such charges submit to the Racing Board proof of his A. A. U. membership, and claim trial by such committee.

4. The League of American Wheelmen shall annually, or at such time and for such periods as it may deem advisable, elect a delegate, who shall act with and constitute one of the board of governors of the A. A. U., and shall have a vote upon all questions coming before said board, and a right to sit upon committees and take part in all the actions thereof, as fully as members of said board elected from the several associations of the A. A. U., and to the same extent and in like manner as the delegates from the North American Turnerbund.

5. These articles of alliance shall be terminable by either party upon thirty days' written notice to the other.

In case of disagreement between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U. upon any point covered by these articles, the same shall be submitted to the board of governors of the A. A. U., including the member of the board appointed by the L. A. W., Turnerbund, and any other associations in alliance with the A. A. U., and having a delegate upon the said board.

G. CARLETON BROWN, Secretary Executive Committee.

The construction wrongfully put on the italicised words has been, that an amateur, whether A. A. U. or L. A. W. or both, could be tried by the Board of managers "in case of disagreement," etc. This is not so. That part of article 5 in the alliance becomes operative only when there is a "disagreement" as to the meaning of any of the other four articles. For instance, a question by the A. A. U. is raised as to what rules shall govern cycle races. The matter is referred to the Board of Governors, etc., and the meaning and intent of Article 1 is discussed, and it will be decided whether, under the terms of the alliance League rules are to govern or not. Again; a dispute arises as to what test shall be applied to prove an amateur's standing? Article 2 is brought in evidence, and spectacles are not necessary to discern the import of that article. Finally; before what tribunal shall an A. A. U. man or an L. A. W. man, or a man who is member of both organizations, be brought in cases where charges are preferred? Article 3 makes this plain to any man who can read, and cannot be twisted into any such *mis*construction as to make it possible for a man to be tried by other methods than those plainly laid down.

There is no ambiguity in any one of the articles; they are all plain and simple; and when any man states that under the terms of the alliance an L. A. W. member can be tried by the A. A. U. Board of Governors, he is either wofully ignorant as to the terms of the alliance or he deliberately misrepresents.

THE A. A. U. has been and is to-day constantly being charged with bad faith by those who are opposed to the Alliance. The charge is not well taken. Mr. Curtis, a member of the Board of Governors of the A. A. U., did personally all he could to ignore on technical grounds the agreement made with the L. A. W. over a year ago. The Board of Governors of the A. A. U., however, came right up to the mark, and held the agreement was made in good faith, and that the A. A. U. recognized it. It will be seen by this that Mr. Curtis' personal opposition has been warped into false report of "bad faith" on the part of the A. A. U. as a body.

"THE sources of information" must be very unreliable or the animus in circulating certain reports be malicious as to the League giving $1000 to the Seaboard Association. Yet such reports were rife in Ohio on the occasion of the late meet at Columbus. This absurd report has had a postscript lately added to the effect that not only $1000 has been paid but that $2000 more has been promised by the L. A. W. to the Seaboard Association! This is simply a deliberate falsehood, and the man who started and spread the report, lays himself open to the charge of dense ignorance as to facts, or deliberate malice.

DETROIT seemed much pleased with her visiting wheelmen last week, and the Free Press of that city has these pleasant words to speak in commendation of the cyclers and the sport of wheeling:

"There are still some people who cling to the old-fashioned idea that it is a waste of time for boys, youths, and men, to practice athletics. They regard it as mentally dissipating, as an interruption to the serious business of life, and some of them even doubt its moral influence. These good people should make it a point to walk the streets of this city while the wheelmen are here and study the visitors who crowd the streets. Their ruddy complexions, erect figures, elastic movements, and general appearance of royal good health are pleasant to look upon. Then, too, while they are off for a holiday and so many of them gather together with no restraint upon them, there was never a better behaved company of men in this city. The fact is, that the practice of athletics directly antagonizes dissipation, and the man who has ridden a twenty-five mile road race and then put in a ten-mile parade in addition, is not the one who is apt to make the night hideous and himself irresponsible by reason of drinking. The wheelmen were welcomed because they came as our guests, and the selection of Detroit as the place of holding the meet was an honor to the city. They are now doubly welcome, for our people have found of what stuff they are made and both respect and like them."

THE Racing Board has removed handicaps from pneumatic and cushion tires. The Board decided to do this after the first day's racing at Detroit, and had the rain not interfered with Saturday's racing the races would have been run under the new rule. We however think that the position taken on this decision by Mr. Miles was correct. (It is pleasant to be able to agree with Mr. Miles once in a while.) The point made by Mr. Miles was that the entries had been received and closed by the managers when the handicapping of the air and cushion tires was in force, and that the Racing Board could not change existing "contracts" (if we may use the word in this connection.) Had the races been run on Saturday the objection would have been made in case the Racing Board had attempted to put the new rule in force at once, and there would have been further occasion for wrangling and fuss. As it is we believe in the non-handicapping of the tires, for the man who enters a race to-day on a solid tire machine should no more have a handicap than the man who enters a race with a heavy roadster against a competitor on a light racer.

J. S. DEAN has been retained as counsel in the case of a cyclist vs. city of Boston, alluded to in our editorial column.

ALMOST every issue of the English cycling papers has something about a new air tire.

RULE G is responsible for the use of much ink, and has caused more tongues to waggle than anything except the amateur rule itself.

THE judges of Massachusetts courts have been good enough lawyers to accord wheelmen the rights they were entitled to. Cyclers have been treated as the drivers of other vehicles, having the same rights and subject to the same duties and obligations. We remember back in the early days when Charles E. Pratt expressed the determination of suing the city if injured by a fall resulting from a palpable defect in the highway. There should be no question about the law in such a case, but we are not aware that the matter has ever been before the courts. There is some prospect now, however, that the liabilities of cities and towns for injuries sustained by wheelmen by reason of the unsafe condition of a highway may be litigated. A Boston rider recently ran into an open, ungraded and unlighted trench in a highway, and sustained injuries. Final notice of a claim for damages has been given the city, and unless settled the matter will be fought in the courts. Of course the obligation of towns and cities in this Commonwealth to keep in repair their public ways is well settled. It will, however, be interesting to see how far the courts will lay down the law that cities and towns must recognize this new mode of travelling and repair their roads to meet the new demands.

IT is worth noting that Holbein in his recent remarkable twenty-four hour ride was mounted upon a tricycle fitted with some arrangement for thoroughly lubricating and protecting from grit the chain and gears. One of the drawbacks to safeties and tricycles is the tremendous friction caused by the chain and cogs. Exposed to dirt, mud and dust, to say nothing of the mere wearing parts themselves the friction is enormous. We believe that devices to overcome this will add materially to the speed of these machines. Holbein speaks in the highest terms of that which was fitted to his machine, and we can readily believe that his success is not a little due to it.

SPRINGFIELD takes off her hat and bows acknowledgements to Chicago for the latter's courtesy in changing the dates of the meet in the Great Western Metropolis. By this change we hope to see a large delegation of Western men at the Eastern meets, and a full representation of Eastern flyers at Chicago and Peoria. It did seem last year as though the apex of munificence had been reached in the value represented in the prizes offered by the race meet managers, but when we read of the vast amounts to be expended in prizes at the fall meetings we begin to think there is no limit to the financial resources of the large race promoting clubs.

ON the tracks this fall the familiar figure of W. Windle will appear, as also will that of the old timer, George Hendee. Both these men we understand have avowed their intention to ride at Springfield, and as they will appear there, we suppose it will not be improbable that they will also ride at the other big meets. Springfield and George Hendee! really this sounds like the "good old days."

IN speaking of the good old days it warmed the hearts of the "Forty-niners of Cycling" to see the way that veteran E. P. Burnham rode in that one mile open at Detroit, which by the way was one of the finest races we ever witnessed. That race was a most instructive object lesson, showing the improvement made in racing cycles since the days when Hendee first flashed into prominence. Just think of a field of eight men starting from scratch, the winner doing the mile in 2.32, and everyone of the others doing 2.34 and better!! The men of course have improved, but we doubt if the same field all mounted on solid tired wheels could have done the distauce better than 2.38 or 2.40. They all rode pneumatics excepting Tyler of Highlandville, and he got 20 yards on a cushion, a lead he didn't care to take advantage of further than to secure and hold his position at the pole.

"THE CYCLING AUTHORITY OF AMERICA" will come closer to filling the bill as an authority now that Mr. Berger is to be responsible for its editorials. Mr. Berger is a well posted man, and he has a grand chance to fill a long felt want in Chicago, that of a thoroughly posted and unprejudiced cycle editor. We do not expect to be compelled to call attention to many blunders in "The Authority," now that Berger is in the editorial chair.

THAT wonderful machine which was to paralyze us by running 85 miles an hour has not yet materialized. We cannot express astonishment that it has not yet whirled between Worcester and Boston at a 49 second per mile gait, but we must express our sympathy for the inventor who now comes on the scene with a machine which he claims can go a beggerly 45 miles an hour!! Six weeks ago we might have been astonished at 45 miles an hour, but in eager anticipation of the Worcester flyer we can only scoff at the modesty of the 45 miler's claim.

It is claimed that Harris was riding rapidly down Broad street, and when near Columbia avenue the mother and infant crossed the street. Before Harris could turn out his wheel struck the woman and run over her.

ON Sunday, July 12, Henry Brill of Southington, Conn., in company with two other young men, started off on their bicycles to spend the day at Shuttle Meadow Lake. On the return trip Brill was thrown from his machine with fearful force, striking his stomach against a tree. He was a very popular young man, and his family have the sympathy of the entire community in their great loss.

PRESIDENT AVERY C. COPELAND of the Bay State Bicycle Club of Worcester, Mass., was presented with a diamond scarf-pin and a pair of gold sleeve-buttons on the evening of July 15 by the members of the club.

"ONE of those bicycle chaps who persist in rididg on the sidewalk came to grief recently. He ran against something he could neither run over or scare into the gutter. It was an ox. He was not only badly injured himself by the impact, but the indignant bovine held a war dance on his machine. Both are now laid up for repairs."—Exchange.

ARRANGEMENTS are under way for a 25-mile road race for the championship of Bridgeport, Conn., the contest to be decided the latter part of September. The club championship of Bridgeport has never yet been decided in an open contest, although it is quite generally conceded that the Bridgeport Wheel Club legitimately holds that title at the present time.

THE suburban wheelmen who have joined the new Union Bicycle Club of Boston are highly pleased with the convenient accommodations for storing their wheels during business hours. The membership of the organization is growing rapidly, ten new members joining at the last meeting. The club is the most active L. A. W. organization in Boston, holding regular weekly runs, and Capt. Otis has called a run to Portland for Saturday, July 25, and taking dinner Sunday with the Portland club. A cordial invitation is extended to all wheelmen to join the club, as it is the intention of its promoters to make it the banner club of the State. He was accompanied throughout his long ride by a favorite dog. The intrepid wheelman, who covered altogether more than 3000 miles, seemed greatly exhausted by the fatigue he had undergone, and was some twenty pounds lighter than when he started, but he was otherwise none the worse for his protracted exertions. In the course of his expedition he had to endure many privations, and was at one time laid up with an illness which lasted six weeks. The rate at which he travelled varied from thirty to sixty miles a day, according to the state of the weather and the condition of the roads. From St. Petersburg, Baron Kelleskrauss was to continue his bicycle ride to Moscow.—Exchange.

SOME weeks ago a number of the East Orange (N. J.) cyclers visited New York and Westchester County as guests of the actors of the N. Y. Casino Co., and were royally entertained by them. In return the Casino people were invited to visit East Orange. The invitation was accepted, and on Sunday morning, July 5, Messrs. Jefferson De Angelis, Ed. Stevens, Max Figman, Ed. Smith and Gus Kirke were met at the Erie station in East Orange by about twenty-five of the East Orange cyclers, among whom were Harry Macdonough of the Casino, and Chas. Plunkett of the Francis Wilson Co., who are residents of East Orange and members of the Cyclers. After visiting the club-house the party rode to the Bend View Hotel on the Passaic, along the beautiful River road. After all hands had indulged in a swim in the river they partook of an elaborate dinner, after which they adjourned to the hotel parlors, where the members of the Casino Company entertained not only the cyclers, but also a good sized audience of other visitors. Messrs. DeAngelis and Stevens rendered solos from "Poor Johnathan," and Macdonough, Smith and Figman gave "The Dude's Trio," from "Apollo," to piano accompaniment by Mr. Kirke, the musical conductor of the Casino orchestra. On the return to East Orange a lunch was served at the St. Boniface. The visitors returned to New York at about 9 P. M. All the roads are more or less sandy, but sidepaths are numerous and good. GEO. R. COMINGS, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE Middlesex Cycle Club, organized in 1888, was amicably disbanded at the final meeting held in Maplewood at the home of the Secretary-Treasurer, Tuesday evening, July 21, 1891. Lack of interest was the cause of dissolution, the club having 25 members in good standing, also a balance in the treasury. All business of the club was finally arranged and the balance of cash on hand equally divided between the members.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

"THE ladies, God bless 'em!" The brightest jewels in the crown of cycling; but even the brightest jewel is often marred by a flaw so small that it is invisible to any but an expert, and so it is with many of the fair converts to the wheel. Reams of paper and columns of space have been used in an endeavor to teach women some of the errors they are guilty of, but all to no avail; they pursue the even tenor of their way undisturbed by any of the remonstrances that may appear in print against what they consider to be fashionable. For example: Have all the articles that have appeared against woman's wearing those stage obscuring hats ever caused one single woman to don a hat smaller than the fashion called for? I should say not. Despite all of this, and the knowledge of the fallacy of trying to change the female mind from what it deems proper in dress and deportment, I am unwise enough to once more lift up my voice in feeble protest against a few practices of wheelwomen that are the flaws in wha would otherwise be the perfect diamond of female beauty. Some feminine writer upon the subject, made the wonderful discovery that tan shoes showed oil stains less than black ones did, and now many wheelwomen have accepted this as gospel, despite the proof of their own senses to the contrary, and are wearing light colored shoes for cycling. How very foolish this is? These shoes make the feet of the rider conspicuous and cause them to look much larger than they really are; and if for no other reasons than these, I should think women would discard them and adopt the only proper shoe for cycling, a black one. Another unwise fashion that seems upon the increase is the wearing of costumes, the sleeves of which are made in the form of a ham; that is, they increase in size from the rider's wrists to her shoulders, and there assume a balloon like expanse. Nothing could be more inappropriate or unbecoming than this, for as the rider rushes through the air the sleeves become inflated until they cause the fair wheelwoman to look like a female Sampson. I know all of this protesting on my part will not do one single bit of good. It will not cause one single woman to discard "yaller" shoes or "ham" sleeves; but then it is a duty I felt called upon to perform, and have therefore done so.

If you ask the average weelmen to explain why it is that cycling is so much easier than walking, you will usually be allowed your choice of the following: Because it is virtually walking while sitting down; because the rider propels himself as much by an automatic displacement of his weight as by the employment of muscular exertion; because each revolution of the pedals carries you over a greater amount of space than a step does when walking, and demands no more exertion than it does. All of these are in a measure true; in fact the sum total of them very nearly expresses in terms that are not scientific the reasons for cycling excelling pedestrianism, and yet few of these would-be explainers of the supremacy of wheeling stop to think that the bane of walking and of cycling, vibration, is less in the latter than in the former, and that therein lays much of the cause for the latter's supremacy. In the usual conditions in which we walk on the pavements and stones of cities and roads, each step is marked by the heel striking the surface over which we progress. This blow, which is the mechanical result of the transformation of a portion of the muscular strength exerted by the pedestrian and avoided by the wheelman, is useless for progression, and constitutes a loss in the return by diminishing the useful result, as in the case with friction in a wheel. Besides this mechanical drawback, the shock of the heel reacts on the entire organism, to which it transmits a perceptible vibration by means of the bony structures. Though this vibration passes unnoticed, on account of the relatively short distances that the pedestrian travels in a day as compared with the wheelman, it becomes on the other hand very marked when the walker attempts to perform afoot what the rider does awheel. This blow of the heel produces headache, and is a serious factor in the complex condition known by the name of fatigue. The lessson of the bicycle and its rubber shod wheel has not been lost upon those who study, and as a result Major M. A Collin advocates in a recent memoir to the French War Department the equipment of the foot soldiers of the French army with rubber heels to their shoes, when the infantry are called upon to take part in long marches. This is the nearest approach to the non-vibratory qualities of the modern bicycle that a pedestrian can hope to attain, and the fact that the lesson taught by the wheel has met with attention from so eminent an authority as the foregoing is indeed no small feather in cycler's cap.

Cycling enthusiasts will do well to study the ethics of the sport they adore. In the great craze for cycling among both men and women, the truth of the aphorism, "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing," has been verified repeatedly. So-called trainers and teachers, understanding little of the physiological effects of cycling, and less of its scientific principles, have been the cause of actual harm to the beginner in many cases. Physical training is nothing more than a course of systematic living, and success and safety in cycling depends upon proper sleep, diet, clothing, and ventilation, more than upon overstrained muscular effort. In cycling, as in mental work, one should cultivate his powers along the line of least resistance, and study wherein kind nature meant him to excel.

THE NATIONAL MEET AT DETROIT

THE 25-MILE ROAD RACE IN RECORD TIME OF 1.25.11!

THE first real event of importance was the 25 mile handicap road race held Thursday afternoon. The day was fine and the roads in superb condition. The special train to Pontiac only had about 200 men on board when it was expected that at least three times that number would go out. A great many of the wheelmen had gone out on wheels, and the starting point had a big crowd gathered to see the men off. The distance from Pontiac to Detroit is 22 miles. and so the contestants had to run 1 1-2 miles out on the Rochester road and return to make up the other three miles. The time set for the limit man's start was 3.30, and exactly at that hour B. J. Graham, D. W., with a handicap of 20 minutes was started. At 3.35 C. T. Alward and F. T. Peitch, both of Buffalo, were sent along, and then at the regular intervals followed J. Kettinger, Buffalo Press Club; J. M. Keenan, W. L. Marks and J. Truesdell, all three Detroit Wheelmen, then H. Dickinson and L. W. Schimmell on pneumatic tires; E. W. Ballard, Chicago; C. H. Christ, Buffalo; L. A. Lafferty, Detroit Wheelmen; H. D. Osborn, pneumatic tire, W. Crane and H. E. Putnam and W. B. Young also on air tires. Van Sickien and C. S. Merrill of Chicago then appeared on air tires, and brought up the rear of the starters. The history of the race as seen from the observation train is as follows:

The party waited at the corner a short time to see several of the riders return from the trip out the Rochester road and get under headway for Detroit. Then the train pulled out and served the purpose of a moving grand stand. The road, or nearly all of it, was visible from the coaches, and as a wheelman was passed everybody yelled or whistled to cheer him up. At a point near Royal Oak and nine miles from the finish the train stopped and allowed the party to go over to the road and see the men ride by. A pail of water and dippers were secured at a farm house, and as the first rider, Graham, came in sight, a man ran alongside of him with a dipper of water. He took a couple of swallows, and in his haste to throw the dipper to the ground gave a couple of the party a shower bath. Each one of the riders was treated with like hospitality and all returned it in the same manner by throwing it into the crowd.

Following Graham in two and a half minutes came Kittinger, who was just thirty seconds ahead of Dickinson, Keenan, Trudell, Marks, Schimmel, Osborn, Young, Lafferty, and Alward went by in the order named, less than ten minutes separating them. Van Sickien had not appeared and the train could not wait for him, so the journey to Detroit was resumed. The train pulled around to the Woodward avenue crossing, and one of the first ones to leave started on a run for the finishing point. Seized by the same impulse, whatever it was, the rest joined in the running, and arrived at the finish about a quarter of an hour before the first one of the road riders. It was an awfully hot walt, too.

The crowd was a lively one and not composed of men solely, either. Ladies had turned out by the hundreds, and they were as anxious to be in the front rank as were the male portions. There was a profusion of ribbons and badges, and every State in the Union east of the Mississippi river was represented.

Shortly before 5.10 o'clock, word was passed down the lines that a rider was coming, and policemen and race officials ran up and down the narrow opening to keep it clear until he should have passed. The shouting began at the northern end of the lines and continued along through the gauntlet, while the bending form of B. J. Graham, of this city, sped along on a pneumatic tired safety, winner of first prize.

A momentary wait, and another demand to clear the way, for Kittinger, of Buffalo, was coming. Then came Dickinson, Marks, and Schimmel, three local riders, and each received an ovation.

The sixth man was spied far down the road, and his legs were observed to be going like the piston of an engine.

"Look out for Van Sickien," yelled Capt. Abel, and in an instant the flyer went by, moving almost as fast as though he were in a half-mile dash.

Osborn, Keenan, Lafferty, Trudell, Crane, Alward, and Christ followed in the order named, and the judges then deserted their posts to figure up. Owing to a difference of three seconds in the watches it took an nour to prepare the actual time, which was as follows:

Name.	Start.	Finish.	Actual time.
Graham	3.30	5.10.23 3-5	1.40.23 3-5
Kittinger	3.38	5.10.46 3 5	1.34.46 3-5
Dickinson	3.37	5.12.02 2 5	1.34.32 2-5
Marks	3.37	5.13.13	1.36.13
Schimmel	3.39	5.14.44 2-5	1.35.44 2-5
Van Sickien	3 50	5.15.11	1.25.11
Osborn	3.41	5.16.08 1-5	1.35.08 1-5
Keenan	3.37	5.17.19	1.40.19
Lafferty	3.41.30	5.18.50 3-5	1.37.20 3-5
Trudell	3.36	5.23.54 2-5	1.46.54 2-5
Crane	3.45	5.24.57	1.30.57
Alward	3.35	5.25.07 3-5	1.50.07 3-5
Christ	3.40	5.29.08 2-5	1.49.08 2-5

The time made by Van Sickien, 1.25.11, is the best American record. In one place the riders had to dodge a house which was being moved down the road. Marks took a tumble near Royal Oak but was not badly hurt, and Osborn's wheel broke at Highland Park, delaying him five minutes until Mr. Barrett came along and he loaned his wheel to Osborn.

Van Sickien wins the gold time medal for pneumatics, and Kittinger for solid tires. The prize winners are as follows:

B. J. Graham, first; J. Kittinger, second; H. Dickinson, third; W. L. Marks, fourth; L. W. Schimmel, fifth; N. H. Van Sickien, sixth; H. D. Osborn, seventh; J. M. Keenan, eighth; L. A. Lafferty, ninth.

THE PARADES.

THE lantern parade which occurred on Thursday evening, July 16, in connection with the meet at Detroit, was a grand success, a conservative and probably correct estimate placing 1200 wheelmen in line, and everybody, it appeared by the looks of things, was out to witness the affair, and the streets were fairly jammed with people. At a low calculation it is estimated that 50,000 people witnessed the parade.

The street car lines were totally inadequate to handle the business, and some of the cars carried 140 and more passengers. The route of the parade was along Larned street, to Beaubien street, to Jefferson avenue, and along the avenue to Belle Isle bridge and park. As the head of the line reached the park fireworks were set off, which added much to the brilliancy of the scene. Many of the wheels were beautifully decorated, some carrying as many as twenty lanterns. Altogether the affair must be considered a success, although the accommodation of passengers before and after the affair must come in for censure as being, as we said before, totally inadequate for the occasion, many people not being able to reach home before two o'clock the following morning, for no other reason than the poor transportation accommodations furnished.

THE parade on Saturday was a failure, the heavy rains and threatening weather combined with the miserable condition of the streets all itending to that result, as compared with the lantern parade on Thursday evening.

THE RACES.

FIRST DAY—FRIDAY, JULY 17.

THE weather was simply delightful Friday afternoon, but the attendance was not by any means what it should have been, not over 1500 people being in attendance. But what they lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm, cheering their favorites upon any and all provocation. The East captured all the championships to-day, and forbodingly Chicago looks forward to the morrow, for unless all signs fail, the bold, bad, amateurs of the athletic clubs are going to repeat last year's lesson, and carry off all the League medals. Summary of the races:

One mile novice, safety—L. W. Schimmel, Detroit, first; by award of foul, H. A. Cossitt, Owosso, who finished first having cut across him. Time 3.08 3-5.

One mile novice, ordinary—W. L. Marks, Detroit, first; O. W. Slocum, New Haven, Mich., second; C. H. Christ, Tonawanda, N. Y., third. Time 3 06 2-5. These three were the only starters, Marks and Slocum having it out all the way. Christ rode a cushion tired machine and was handicapped 20 yards. This handicapping of cushions and pneumatics in the scratch events was one of the bad points of to-day's events. We do not believe in handicapping tires at all, any more than in handicapping racing wheels when run in competition with road machines.

One mile club handicap, safety—J. M. Keenan, Detroit, 50 yards, first; L. A. Lafferty, Nashville, Tenn., scratch, second; H. Dickinson, Detroit, 70 yards, third. Time 2.52 2-5. The men strung out rapidly, and Keenan looked like a winner at the three quarters, but Lafferty made a splendid effort, nearly catching him on the tape.

Half-mile L. A. W. championship, ordinary—A. A. Zimmerman, N. J., first; H. A. Githens, Illinois, second; W. W. Taxis, Penn., third. Time 1.18 3-5. At the pistol shot Githens, who rode a pneumatic ordinary—the first appearance of the balloon tires on a high wheel in competition in America—rushed front, followed by Taxis and Zimmerman, going all the way on a spurt. Two hundred yards from home the men were bunched, but here Zimmerman forged ahead, and Taxis could not hold the pneumatic, while the Chicago flyer was not quite equal to the Jerseyman's long strokes. Score one for the East.

One mile safety, open—George K. Barrett, Chicago, first; H. C. Tyler, Highlandville, Mass., second; E. C. Bode, Chicago, third; E. P. Burnham, Boston, fourth. Time 2.32 1-5. By all odds the finest race of the day. started besides those named above: Geo. A. and W. D. Banker, Pittsburg and Buffalo; F. M. Brinker, Buffalo; W. C. Thorne, Chicago; J. R. Hazle on, Philadelphia. With the exception of W D. Banker, whose saddle came off, the men could have been covered with a blanket from start to finish. Tyler got 20 yards on a cushion, but waited for the field who were on pneumatics to a man, and then cut the pace all the way. 50 yards from the tape Barret let her out and collaring Tyler won by inches all close up.

Half-mile ordinary, open—A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., first; H. A. Githens, C. C. C., second; W. M. Carman, Woodstock, third; V. J. Kelly, A. C. S. N., fourth; G. W. Dennison out. Time 1.20 2-5. Githens went back 20 yards with his balloon, but made it up finely. Half way down the straight Zimmerman spurted, and took the race handily, by three lengths.

One mile L. A. W. championship safety—W. F. Murphy, New York, first; F. H. Tuttle, I. C. C., second; J. M. Worden, Boston, third; S. B. Bowman, N. Y. A. C., fourth. Time 2.56 3-5. Murphy made his first and only appearance on the track to day, and as an exponent of headwork came near drawing the line too fine, nearly lost to Tuttle. The race was next door to a loaf, and Murphy hung back until the last hundred yards. Then he came up on the outside and beat Tuttle out by a foot.

One mile ordinary, handicap—Eight started, but Bliss fell and the starter endeavored to call the field back, but uselessly, and they rode the race out only to be informed that it was "no race." It was ridden off after the tenth event, resulting as follows: E. W. Ballard, Chicago, 105 yards, first; J. H. Draper, A. C. S. N., 85 yards, second; J. R. Hazleton, A. C. S. N., third Time 2.31 4-5. This was a practical gift of the handicapper to Ballard, who was never in any danger of being caught.

Quarter-mile safety, L. A. W. championship—W. W. Taxis, A. C. S. N., first; W. C. Thorne, C. C. C., second; E. P. Burhham, Boston, third; P. J. Berlo, Boston, fourth; Hoyland Smith, N. Y. A. C., fifth. Time .36 4-5. One false start and then down the straight came six flashing wheels, with the riders doing all they knew how. Philadelphia was in this, however, and Taxis was a length ahead over the tape, with Thorne, Berlo and Burnham in a bunch on his heels. From the Press box it seemed as though Berlo were up with Thorne, but the judges gave third to Burnham.

Three mile lap ordinary—Zimmerman, Githens and Carman started, Githens going back 50 yards, with his pneumatic and Zimmerman 20 yards with a cushion (beautiful for a lap of all races!) The first two kindly let the Woodstock man do the donkey work, Githens doubling up and spurting a hundred yards from the tape, only to have Zimmy go over first for two laps, scoring 6 points to Githens 4. On the finish Githens used his head, and rode as near the tape as he dared, waiting on the Jerseyman, and when the latter began his spurt, the ordinary swung into its stride like a flash, Githens getting across first by six inches. As this gave eight points to each man it was decided to run the last mile off, but finally the two men tossed it off, the Chicago man getting it.

A half-mile ride against time was then made by W. D. Banker and F. M. Brinker on a pneumatic tandem who, as the straight was bad, took the back stretch, starting at the first quarter and finishing at the three quar-

Another Transcontinental Tour on the EAGLE.

Nelson A. Bradt finishes his trip to San Francisco on his Eagle. Riding days, 62; distance travelled, 4420 miles; average, 71 1-5 miles per day.

What he says about his wheel:

San Francisco, Cal., July 13, 1891.

Eagle Bicycle Co., Stamford, Conn.

Gentlemen:--Having finished my tour of 4420 miles across the country (from New York to San Francisco), I desire to inform you of the present condition of my "Eagle" after such a trip.

Were it not for a broken side brace (which I broke by a heavy fall on a rock in the Rocky Mountains) the wheel would be as good and as staunch as it was the day I left New York City. The nickelling is as fine as ever it was, and the spokes are as firm as can be.

All in all I assure you that the Eagle is considered by me to be the most durable, easiest riding, handsomest and best wheel on earth.

With this 4420 miles covered while on my recent trip, I have ridden the Eagle over 7000 miles since January 1st last, as I am endeavoring to ride 10,000 miles during 1891.

Respectfully yours,
NELSON A. BRADT,
The Trans. Continental Cyclist, New York to San Francisco, April 1 to July 4.

The Eagle has won a reputation as a wheel for speed and for scorchers.

It has also won a reputation as a wheel for solid, every-day riding, and the trip of Mr. Bradt is an illustration of its touring qualities.

For all around use it cannot be beaten.

ter. The men got a fine start, and moving like clock work took the first quarter in 33 seconds. The half was done in 1.08, knocking the previous record (1.131-5 made at Peoria last fall)by over five seconds.

The wind blew strongly up the straight preventing very fast time, but nevertheless some excellent work was done, as the times will show.

THE RACING BOARD

have held a meeting this evening at which it has been decided to remove all handicaps of whatsoever description on tires of all kinds, and to-morrow's events will be run to the satisfaction of spectators, officials and contestants alike. This is a move in the right direction, and the Board deserves credit for taking the stand they have done.

SATURDAY'S RACES

had to be postponed on account of Friday night's rains, which made the track too heavy to do any racing. But what was Detroit's loss is the gain of the other cities. The deferred championships, it was decided at the Saturday night's meeting of the Racing Board. are to be divided between Hartford, Providence, Philadelphia, and Peoria, the Park Avenue Wheelmen of Philadelphia getting the mile tandem, to be run at their race meet on Saturday, September 12th, following Springfield's tournament.

Another most important action of the Board was the abolishment of all penalties on tires, and this is a change which cannot fail to meet the approval of all racing men.

THE EXHIBIT OF CYCLES

held in the Detroit Rink (which was used as the L. A. W. headquarters as well) was a very creditable affair, although not up to the Philadelphia A. C. C. cycle show.

SERCOMBE & BOLTE MFG. CO.,

of Milwaukee, Wis., occupy the first space on entering the hall, all the exhibits being ranged around the walls of the building. They have samples of their S. & B. spring fork safety, their spring fork saddle, and the new Bolte pneumatic tire, which they are selling at $25 a pair. Of these the complete tires and sections of the same are shown. Mr. Sercombe looks out for the interests of the company.

GEO. R. BIDWELL CYCLE CO.,

New York and Chicago, are next door, and have a handsomely decorated enclosure, in which they are showing Tourists, Warwicks, Psychos and Kenwoods; a sample '91 Warwick and Psycho being shown, each of which is fitted with the Thomas pneumatic tires. They also show all the special sundries manufactured and handled by them, including the Bidwell cyclometer, Perfection tire heaters, Perfection alarm bells, and their new triangular rubber pedals. The space is carpeted with handsome rugs and palms have been used profusely. The Thomas tires, of which several are shown, both entire and in section, attract a great deal of attention. The company lay great stress upon their tire as perfected, claiming that the pneumatics which have been condemned have been faulty in construction, but that their new tire, as now constructed, will give as good service, with reasonable care, as a solid or cushion, the air tube being guaranteed against all "blow" holes, which cause leakage; the non-expansible tube being made seamless, rendering it less liable to part; the new valve being an automatic one of brass, and being vulcanized to the air tube, rendering leaks impossible, while its construction permits deflation whenever desired, by simply unscrewing the cap; and the outside cover being made under hydraulic pressure in such a way as to permit of a stretch lengthwise but not sideways. Mr. Frank N. White was in charge, with Mr. A. A. Taylor, manager of the Chicago branch.

THE PRESS BOX

space was nicely arranged for the convenience of the fraternity, and for this courtesey they are indebted to the Geo. R. Bidwell Cycle Co., who paid for and furnished it.

HARTFORD CYCLE CO.

came next, also carpeted and decorated with palms, in common with the Pope Mfg. Co.'s space, next on the right. They show the Hartford in nickel and enamel, as well as the ladies' wheel, Mr. D. J. Post being in charge.

embraced all the various styles of these "old reliable" wheels, there being the men's and ladies' machines in nickel and enamel finish, and one of their new racing safeties, fitted with pneumatic tires, together with the Expert on which Thomas Stevens belted the globe, looking as natural as when it was exhibited in Boston; in the window of the World office, New York; and at the Philadelphia cycle show. Likewise Lallement's original velocipede, which attracted the attention of many of the curious. A double space was occupied by the Columbias, the following gentlemen being among those of the force present: Messrs. E. W. Pope, Jr., R. D. Garden, C. F. Joy, L. E. Hickok, H. Leinhardt, from Boston, and W. A. Richwine and Mr. Carlisle from Hartford, with H. B. Handford and E. S. Shemway, of the travelers.

THE DETROIT WHEELMEN

occupied a booth in the central part of the northern side, where all the visitors registered. Adjoining them was the who showed (place of honor and the only one in the show) a good old ordinary, Light Champion, rational pattern, fitted with cushion tires; one of the new diamond framed Ramblers, and a nickeled ladies' Rambler, both of which were beauties. They also had a full line of the Rambler family, and in addition exhibited an Ideal single and an Ideal tandem tricycle, also the only ones shown. Of course their complete line of sundries specialties were exhibited, including all their lamps. Mr. R. G. Betts represented the company, well assisted by Messrs. J. L. Pratt, D. L. Bridgman, and Tom Roe; while in emergencirs Editor Barrett threw himself into the breach.

held the first space at the eastern end with three pneumatics of his standard make, and four cheaper wheels,whose points were well explained by Mr. Bowbeer. They are now able to furnish from stock, but the demand for the balloons has been so heavy that the orders were far in excess of their expectations. Mr. A. du Cros was also a prominent personage, and he created an excellent impression.

THE WESTERN WHEEL WORKS

With a complete line of their wheels, the Rush, Crescent, Juno, Junior and Pet, in all their varied assortment of prices and qualities, occupie the space between Featherstone and the who showed the Clipper Safeties fitted with solid and cushion tires, t latter being their own special cushion. Mr. L. T. Wilmarth, the Secreta represented them.

THE ELLIOTT HICKORY CYCLE MFG. CO.,

had on view several of their Hickories, as well as a Hickory wheel i parts, showing the spokes, hubs, etc. Especially deserving of mentior the fact that they presented the first bicycle made with seamless st tubing of American manufacture, the tubing being made by the Shelb ville Seamless Steel Tube Co., in which Mr. Lozier is interested.

ROUSE, HAZARD & CO.,

Of Peoria, were on hand with their Sylph spring frame safety, and th also had a line of Ormondes and Salvators, with Fred Patee in charge the whole. What time Mr. Patee did not devote to his wheels was put booming the Peoria tournament.

THE C. F. STOKES MFG. CO.

occupied a double space on the south side, which was set off by palms a decorations. The Unions were shown in all the various styles of spr and stiff frames, with ladies' and mens' wheels in nickel and enar finishes. Thirteen machines was the sum total of one of the handsom exhibitions in the hall of the UNION CYCLE MFG. CO.

Messrs. J. B. McCune, J. C. McDonnell and W. Measure were presc while Messrs. C. F. Stokes and Tillotson held up the Chicago represen tion. The Stokes people have the novelty of the show in the Ster Safety, a new wheel which they are building of handsome appearan

The wheels are 30 inches in diameter, with tangent spokes, which are butt-ended in the hub flanges and fitted into the rims by means of nipples, admitting of perfect adjustment. The rims are the crescent pattern, rolled to such section as to give the greater amount of material in the centre, where the rim is pierced for the spoke nipples. The sprocket gears and chain run within the frame and are braced in the strongest and simplest manner, thereby dispensing with the chain guard. The gears are a specially large size, both front and rear; driving the wheel much easier and faster than the ordinary gearing and requiring really less effort, and both sprockets are easily detachable, while the chain is of a special light pattern, double pitched and milled, a simple and effective adjustment being provided.

Ball bearings of the most improved design, adjusting laterally, are fitted to all the bearings through the machine, and they are dust-proof and oil retaining. All cones are turned from cold steel and are then ground until they are positively accurate, while the balls are not rolled, but turned. Each bearing is covered with a dust-proof washer. The cranks are extremely light and tough with a throw of from 5 1-2 to 6 1-2 inches. A specially large ball bearing is provided for the steering head.

The frame is a double diamond pattern, thoroughly well braced, its construction being such that every part acts as a brace against the other, making a strong, as well as a handsome frame. Another special, patented feature of the Sterling Safety is the Duplex Balance Spring Fork, a device to absorb all vibration usually transmitted to the arms and chest of the rider. The axle of the front wheel is so constructed that it cannot get out of line, or permit the wheel to vary its running or change its position in the forks. This spring fork acts much like a perfect scale, when the front springs yield, the rear springs are compressed, and vice-versa. The steering is in no ways affected and the wheel may be ridden hands off with but little practice.

Each machine is finished in lustrous black enamel, baked on to a finely polished surface and the nickeling is the very best quality.

The machine weighs with solid tire, all on, 48 pounds, and it was very much admired by the numerous visitors to the rink. Mr. Stokes has bought a controlling interest in the New Era Co., and the Sterling is being manufactured by them.

In a booth gaily festooned with yellow drapery are found the

with Thomas Kane & Co. their general Western agents. Mr. J. F. Palmer was in charge, representing the latter firm while Mr. R. C. Lennie did the honors for the Stover Co. They showed the Phœnix fitted with pneumatic and cushion tires, the Paragon for both ladies and men with solids and cushions, and the Iroquois convertible, also with solid and cushion tires. Various parts of the machines, in the shape of hubs, cranks, ball rolls, cones and other forgings were set out for inspection.

High up along the railing surrounding the galleries, in the last space nearest the door was the name,

OVERMAN WHEEL CO.,

while immediately in the centre of their space was hung a broad black sign, with the legend "Victors," the letters being formed of Victor wrenches. The Victor line was all there. Models B, C, D, E and 1 the Victorias. A full nickeled model C was a beautiful specimen of workmanship. One noticeable absence was that of the Victor Light Roadsters, nor was this confined to the Overman exhibit; for with the exception of G. & J's Light Champion no other ordinary was visible. It was safeties, safeties, everywhere. The Overman space was unquestionably the most handsomely furnished in the building, they having couches and easy chairs provided for the benefit of the weary. The Overman band was stationed here on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and rendered among other things the overture to William Tell and a Hunting Chorus that were peatedly encored. Mr. C. R Overman (as ever, the pink of courtesy) was the "head of the house," assisted by Messrs. W. C. Overman, the Boston manager, and C. L. Pepper, Superintendent, C. E. Hadley, G. H. Powell and C. C. Morgan.

The exhibition was one of the features of the meet and formed a general rendezvous for all the wheelmen. Besides the regularly assigned spaces there were various novelties shown, among them being two or three machines.

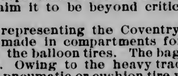
THE BUFFALO CYCLE WORKS

had one of their new Buffalo Light Roadster safeties at the meet, owned by Mr. Brinker, who used it in his races. It was fitted with pneumatic tires, and is not only a genuine light weight safety, but is exceedingly graceful. Of true diamond frame pattern, the tubing is lap brazed at the joints and the wheels are tangent-spoked, with Warwick's hollow rims. Altogether we have not seen a more graceful or taking safety in a long while and it is no wonder that they are behind their orders. The tandem ridden by Banker and Brinker, in breaking record on Friday, was one of their manufacture and design, and it is of such original design and bracing that although it weighs but 55 pounds, with pneumatic tires, it is perfectly rigid. Of this the wonderful time made by the two Buffalo riders is the best proof. The Buffalo Cycle Works is a new concern, started this spring, Mr. B. D. Harris being the superintendent. They have a limited capacity at present, but expect to enlarge this fall.

D. PETTIT & CO.

Philadelphia, also had one of the Common Sense safeties, at the meet, which was curiously gazed at. Mr. A. G. Powell, their superintendent, is the designer of the wheel, and it is a very easy runner, and should prove a seller. The wheels are hickory with roller bearings, but the frame and forks are of the best seamless steel tubing. The present pattern is a drop frame, but they will shortly put on the market a diamond frame of higher grade. $75.00 with solid, and $80 with cushion tires, are the prices of the machines.

NOTES.



The Stover people are going to bring out a non-stretchable chain.

The Shelbyville Seamless Steel Tube Co. had their representative circulating among the trade, with samples of their new tubing, the first of American manufacture, and which it is sincerely hoped will fill a long-felt want. It seemed of excellent quality and appearance, being in looks fully up to the best Credenda.

Circulars relative to a pneumatic bicycle seat for attaching to saddles are distributed by a representative of the Pneumatic Bicycle Seat Co., of Toledo, Ohio, who claim it to be beyond criticism so far as comfort is concerned.

Mr. Percy Harris, representing the Coventry Machinists' Co., shows a pneumatic tool bag made in compartments for holding all the needed utensils for repairing the balloon tires. The bag can be carried either on handle bar or saddle. Owing to the heavy trade, the Swift people were unable to exhibit any pneumatic or cushion tire wheels.

Kennedy-Child showed us a cushion tire with which the Warwick Co. have been experimenting quite successfully. The face of the tread is something like this—

On hard roads the tread will be about the same as on a solid tire, but on soft roads the bearing or tread surface would be extended the full width of the tire. The tire has no hole in it, but the cushion depends on a space between the inner surface of the tire and the inner surface of the rim. Mr. Child said that the front tire had been run 2000 miles, and then it showed very little signs of wear.

Messrs. Sercombe and Bolte showed a pneumatic tire, the section of which was a flat U shape with the top closed. The inner coat was of fine rubber, and this was strengthened by wrapping strip after strip of tire tape around same. We found it almost impossible to puncture same with a pin; in fact we did not succeed in putting a pin through it. The claims are that this tire is easy of repair, as the tire tape can be stripped off at any point, a patch placed on the puncture, and then the tire tape is wrapped over in place again. The idea seemed a good one, and if in use the tire has the resilience of the regular pneumatic. We think that Messrs. Sercombe & Bolte have got a good thing. We noticed fitted to this tire one of the best air valves we ever saw. It was strong, simple, and sightly. "ARIEL."

NOTES GARNERED AT DETROIT.

THE C. F. S. C. C. U. S.A. held a banquet Friday evening at Swan's parlors. Nineteen prominent men enjoyed a most excellent supper, among whom were Walter Measure, President; C. F. S. Stokes, Chicago, Second Vice-President; Jack Robbins, Chicago, First Vice-President; Wm. Herrick, Chicago, Marshal; Kennedy-Child, Boston, Grand Orator; J. E. Poorman and Mr. Smith of Indianapolis. Following the "feed" came the wine and speeches. Kennedy-Child, in his own inimitable style filled nobly the position of toast-master. From the frequent and mighty bursts of applause was learned the popularity of the sentiments evolved. The C. F. S. C. C. U. S. A. was organized last year at Niagra Falls and has steadily increased in membership ever since. Its objects are known to the members, and they are all right. The club's cap, by its prominence, is remembered by all who have attended the big meets of the country the past two seasons.

The badge fiend was there in full force and he thought not of the meet nor of being social, he did not care a rap for anything but "what badge you had to trade" and where you get this or that badge.

There were several good runs, and as many points of interest around Detroit, but nary a wheelman could be found who was ready and willing to conduct you around. Belle Island Park was discovered early Friday morning by accident. Arrangements had been made by the Detroit Wheelmen with the steamship companies so that League tickets were good for a passage to the island with the jaw breaking name. Few knew this, however. The moonlight excursion was postponed, owing to the inclemency of the weather. Where were the reception committees at the trains? Where were the reduced rates at the hotels? Where were the thousand and one things promised and not fulfilled? Detroit wanted the meet and she got it!

Messrs. Simon, Holthoefer, and Walker of Chicago were members of the Hunt touring party from Grand Rapids, and had an excellent time and splendid tour.

The newsboys, boot blacks, and "wheel cleaning boys" deserve to get rich. They wouldn't take no for an answer, and consequently plied a lively little business.

The members of the Springfield(Mass.) Bicycle Club who were present were hustlers. They prevailed upon the Chicago Cricket Club members to change the date of the Chicago tournament and come down to Springfield September 10th. From one of the Springfield members I learned that N. H. Van Sicklen had promised a party of thirty. This party will be easily made up, and journey to and live at Springfield in the car. Hartford and Springfield will be taken in, and the party joined by the Eastern contingent could come direct through to Peoria or Chicago, according to which is first. In this way a very enjoyable trip would be the result.

H. A. Githens would have done much better had he ridden his solid tire.

Bodes' defeat of W. C. Thorne in the mile open safety was as much of a surprise as was his first defeat of the "King" at Rockford, July 4th. Bode was third and Thorne fifth.

THE call by President Dunn for an informal meeting of the Chairmen of the Committees and the Chief Consuls to discuss ways and means, did not bring out a very large attendance. A few of the invited responded, and an exchange of ideas was made. There was nothing done of sufficient importance to report.

On Friday evening at the rink, President Dunn, Vice-President Burdett, Sterling Elliott, and others addressed the audience. Mr. Dunn thanked the Detroiters for their hospitality, and facetiously remarked that the visiting wheelmen had captured every thing there was in Detroit, even the hearts of the fair ladies of the City of Straits. Major Burdett spoke of the work of the League, and Sterling Elliott spoke—well, spoke in the way that only the Hickory man can speak. Dan Canary gave an exhibition of fancy riding which brought down the house. Mr. Griffith spoke very nicely, and in a few well chosen words welcomed the visitors to Detroit and thanked them for being there. The occasion was enlivened by music from the local band, and also melody from the Overman Wheel Company's band.

Every man, woman and child that Sterling Elliott saw was decorated with one of his Hickory badges, and the inhabitants along the line of the G. T. R. R. where the train stopped were presented with one of those attractive little nickel souvenirs. Elliott came near being killed at the rink on Friday night in the mad rush made by the people for one of these badges. He had to ignominiously fly and cail in re-inforcements in the persons of Stall and Peck for protection. It was a very funny sight to see Mr. Hickory rushing round the rink and calling wildly for assistance.

Mr. Lozier was arrested on Thursday night on the grave charge that "he did steal (steel) tube." He promptly plead guilty, but as the accusers wanted a trial, his attorney, Mr. A. Kennedy-Child, feelingly appealed to the judge to bring in a verdict of not guilty, on the plea of insanity. This touching appeal, together with the testimony given by one for the defence, the prisoner was acquitted, and the trial degenerated into a dispute as to who should pay for the soda water.

Mr. C. R. Overman was also arrested on a very grave charge, and at one time it looked very blue for the prisoner. It came out, however, on the evidence for the defence that one of the witnesses for the State "wore pants," thus an alibi was proven, and Judge Bassett dismissed the case and was promptly sat upon by the jury, the lawyers and the prisoner.

Among the missing we would like to have seen Messrs. Mott, Bidwell, Luscomb and Bull.

Ned Oliver was there as was also Mr. Garden. The Boston contingent had among its representation Lon Peck and W. W. Stall, Mrs. Stall also. That jolly good fellow, C. C. High of Ohio, added the sunlight of his cheerful countenance, and George Atwater and Pop Brewster were on hand, the merriest of the merry. By the way Brewster thinks Dan Canary the greatest man on the top of the footstool, and he does not base his opinion on his skill as a trick rider either.

It was too bad that proper provisions were not made so that Banker and Brinker's splendid half-mile tandem performance of 1.08 could go down as a record. The timers were a quarter-mile away from the start and finish. If care had been taken a record would have been made.

H. C. Tyler of Highlanville has established himself as a first class man. In the first place a race in which Tyler appears will not be a loafing race. He has speed, endurance and a determination to make his competitors hustle. Barrett of Chicago has come out wonderfully strong this spring. Murphy, Barrett, Tyler, Worden and H. Smith, what a quintette!

To see Zimmerman slowly push those levers down and forge to the lead is a sight that stirs the blood in the heart of the lover of sport. It is done so easily, don't you know?

The initiation to the Hickory Club was severe, and the Corey Hill bounce, one of the features was enjoyed muchly—by the spectators.

It was a funny mistake that put E. P. Burnham, Newton, Mass., as a novice on League racing programme at Detroit. It was suggested by a Western man that perhaps the veteran had been born again.

There was an undoubted undercurrent of resentment against the administration on the part of certain of the Western contingent. We wonder why it is that Sam Miles is so everlastingly down on the A. A. U. There must be some reason.

While in Detroit we met Mr. Robbins of the Review face to face. We found Mr. Robbins a large, muscular man, therefore instead of denouncing him in unmeasured terms we suggested an adjournament to a soda water(?) fountain, and then and there we mutually agreed to fight it out—on paper—until death relieved the earth from the incubus of a hated presence.

The Overman Wheel Co.'s band did much to enliven the proceedings at the exhibition and at the races. One sweet aria they played especially recalled tender recollections and almost brought tears to our eyes.

Dan Canary cannot only ride a bicycle upside down and every which way, but as a dialect story teller he is also a grand success. His imitations of English, Scotch and Irish dialects were the best we ever heard off the stage.

Mr. Alf du Cros was at Detroit. Mr. du Cros will make the States his permanent home. He is quite a young looking man to have such a wonderful racing record. It is doubtful if Mr. du Cros will take to the path in this country.

In the one-mile championship the decision that Worden did not get first place was a surprise. Of course the judges knew what they were about, but a marvellous number of outsiders (ourselves included) thought that Worden got there first. He is riding in great shape anyway.

THE OVERMAN WHEEL CO. AT DETROIT.

A SPECIAL Wagner car left Springfield, Mass., Tuesday evening, July 14, containing the following representatives of the Overman Wheel Co., Chicopee Falls, Mass., and invited guests: W. C. Overman, manager Boston Branch; C. L. Pepper, Supt.; C. E. Hadley, master mechanic; G. H. Powell, advertising manager; C. C. Morgan, Supt. Agencies; A. B. Barkman, bicycle manager; A. G. Spaulding & Bros ,New York, Robert Thornson, Rochester, N.Y., Geo. C. Sweet, Buffalo, N. Y., John W. Drown, Sec'y. Springfield Board of Trade, and A. O. McGarrett, clerk of Common Council, Springfield Mass.

The Overman Wheel Co. band, 25 pieces, accompanied the party, and at the principal stops en route played several choice selections. Detroit was reached late Wednesday evening, but all were enthusiastically greeted by a delegation of wheelmen, who escorted the party to the club headquarters.

The services of the band were placed at the disposal of the meet managers, and to say that they were fully appreciated is to put it mildly. It was a stroke of enterprise on the part of the Overman Company.

D. J. Canary was also present, and performed many of his difficult feats with his Victor safety.

The return trip commenced Saturday evening, July 18, and a more genial and tired party than the one that rolled into Springfield Sunday afternoon, would be hard to find. The Overman Wheel Co., do nothing by halves. Even President Overman, who was fishing down East, unable to be present, kept up his end (of the line).

A CANNIBAL'S INQUIRY.

Written for the Bicycling World.

A wondrous thing passed through our town,
The town of Kilucan;
It flashed like lightning down the street,
As after it we ran.

Its upper half, resembling man,
Looked firm as bolt of steel.
Its lower half, the whole town swears
Was a revolving wheel.

The women fainted, children screamed,
Men started in pursuit,
But with alarming ease it sped
Along its rapid route.

It looked so much like man, we thought
We wouldn't have to kill
Our people, if its upper half
Our appetite could still.

Can you who dwell in Christian lands
And all things seem to know,
Inform us whence this strange thing came,
Or whither did it go?

June 23, 1891. CHAS. MCCARTY, Providence, R. I.

A BOSTON VETERAN OF TWO WHEELS.

It seems odd to consider myself a veteran, for I still feel as young as when I first mounted a wheel, but I suppose I must lay claim to the title of a veteran wheelman. The youthfulness of my spirits is doubtless largely due to the fact that I am a wheelman. We early devotees of the wheel have been singularly constant in our allegiance to the sport. We were attracted to it by the opportunities it promised for healthful exercise, for a pleasant and speedy means of passing from place to place, for enjoying the delights of fresh air and sunshine and the manifold attractions of the wayside and the rural landscape. We have been tempted to no excesses of speeding or trick riding, and consequently have not lost our zeal through over indulgence.

We have pursued the sport moderately and leisurely. Cycling has been a means and not an end. We have used our wheels as we would use horses; for the promotion of enjoyment out of doors, not merely for the sake of wheeling, after the manner of the horse fancier who only cares to get behind a fast nag and is oblivious to all else on the road. Therefore the same motives that made us wheelmen have kept us wheelmen. Therefore we still see, as in those early days, gliding over the suburban ways and over the almost literally sandpapered roads of the parks that have come into existence since then, apparently for our especial benefit and delight, the familiar faces of Col. Pope, Hodges, Weston, Pratt, Dean, Ipsen, E. W. Pope, Chandler, and even good old Dalton pedalling gravely along with mental vision apparently intent upon somebody's horoscope, and the progress of age arrested by the alchemy of the cycle.

Looking backward over the eleven years of my experience it does make me feel a bit like a veteran to think of the changes that have taken place since that first meet at Newport when Pitman and I started out adventurously together on the bright morning of Memorial Day in front of Trinity Church and wheeled gaily southward through the blossoming freshness of late May, over the fine roads that carried us beyond Sharon and changed to wearisome sand thereafter—bringing us into Providence at dusk hungry and thirsty, but by no means exhausted; the steamboat trip through the rain to Newport the next day, and the pleasures of the meet and the first wheelmen's convention so gracefully presided over by Pratt. Of the cordial greetings of wheelmen on the road, as they met or overtook each other, recognizing in the wheel a bond of fraternity and giving rise to a mutual regard and pleasant bit of courtesy which men in carriages would never think of showing as they passed—a custom that happily has been handed on and on and promises to remain an established usage. Of the charming informal acquaintances thus made in these chance championships of an hour or a day. Of our jolly old Middlesex Bicycle Club in Malden, with its nightly gatherings of happy young fellows, now dashing up to Melrose or over to Medford and Arlington, like a flock of fireflies with our hub-suspended lanterns; or speeding down to Revere beach in the summer evening and in a state of nature, taking an after dark plunge in the surf. Of that memorable moonlight parade in Malden, when we of the Middlesex took a notion to put an item in the Boston papers to the effect that we were going to hold one the next evening and inviting other clubs and wheelmen to join us; how, to our astonishment, they gathered by scores at the rendezvous, turning up from all directions. What a long line we made, and how half the town turned out to see the show and people drove in carriages from neighboring towns to look on; it was altogher a great success.

In those first days a wheelman was a novelty; everybody turned to look as he passed, and further out in the country the eyes of passers usually stuck out like saucers. Thomas Stevens caused hardly more of a sensation in mid-Asia than we occasionally did in those days in some places within a score of miles of Boston. But how rapidly our ranks were recruited! In 1885 it seemed as if about everybody had become a wheelman, though where there were dozens then there are hundreds now.

I can hardly reconcile myself to some of the changes. Particularly in the roads. The car tracks seem to run about everywhere, and many of our favorite old sandpapered thoroughfares have now been made well nigh impassible. The car tracks have forced the wagon and carriage traffic into the comparatively narrow spaces at the sides, so that the wheels, keeping the same lines, rut the surface and the horses tear up the remainder with their hoofs, making most villainous roads. With the best of attention from the authorities it is next to impossible to keep most of these roads in decent repair where the cars run. Happily the movement for good roads now becoming formidable, thanks to the most public spirited of men connected with wheeling interests, promises soon to give us an abundance of good ways everywhere, with enlightened methods of construction and maintenance.

This occupation of the highways by car tracks has, however, largely been compensated for by the beautiful parks that have been created. To the south of the Charles the growth of the splendid Boston park system is adding year by year to the enjoyment of wheelmen, beside which are to be reckoned the noble boulevards of the Beacon street improvement and the Commonwealth avenue extension. Improvements like these are invaluable in promoting the growth of wheeling, for, say what you will, there is little pleasure in riding over rough roads, with the nerves continually on a strain to guard against mishaps and the attention diverted from the wayside sights and scenery by the necessity of keeping a constant eye upon the ground.

To the northward of Boston we have also been fortunate in gaining the great boon of that noble public forest, the Lynn woods, established by the city of Lynn, and forming the next to the largest municipal public pleasure-ground in the Unites States, coming second only to Fairmount Park in Philadelphia. It is a delightful place; a wild expansion of wooded hills and glens, with four beautiful lakes, and something like six miles of fine, smooth roads, mostly newly constructed through the most picturesque portions. The ways thither from the northern suburbs of Boston, and nearly all the neighboring cities and towns, are for the most part admirable.

The most marked change that has come during my wheeling career is that of the advent of the "safety." But what a run the tricycle had for a while? It brought women into the sport and gave us a deal of charming companionship. Some of them used to sigh for the freedom of the bicycle, however. That wish then seemed hardly possible of realization, but now the safety has driven out the tricycle almost completely, and the wheel-women have become, almost without exception, confirmed bicyclers! The new form of wheel seems to be carrying everything before it. Old men and young boys and girls alike use the safety tandem as well as single.

As for myself, I am still a conservative in this matter. I yet cling fondly to my old high wheel, and fancy that on the safety—which I have never yet tried—one must miss much of that free flying motion, almost birdlike in its sensation. Possibly I may come to it yet, for there are certain compensating advantages in the ability to venture into various difficult places and pass various obstacles without fear of a header. And as years pass, the desire to do this naturally increases with a wheelman.

In another matter, I suppose there are not many wheelmen who have had a parallel experience. In all my years of bicycling I have possessed but two machines. I am apt to form attachments for the things that I use, and hate to part with them. What a pity, for instance, that just when a pair of shoes is feeling the most comfortable they get worn out. I had a watch given me on my sixteenth birthday, and I wore it until it was stolen from me last year. The finest gold watch had not the value of that silver one in my eyes. SYLVESTER BAXTER.

THE PEORIA MEET, AND AN OPINION ON THE ALLIANCE.

PROSPECTS for a successful Peoria Tournament were never brighter, and we feel confident that the tournament of '91 will far surpass its predecessors. The Prize Committee is now actively at work, and judging from the list of valuable prizes already secured, it is evident that last year's $3500 list will be far surpassed. The committee is determined to excel the $1000 piano offered by the Springfield Club, and to maintain the past reputation of the Peoria tournament, of giving the most valuable prizes of the year. This does not look very much as if we were opposed to Rule G. The fact of the matter is that our club is very much on the fence in regard to that matter, as we feel that if that rule is enforced it will hit the smaller tournaments very much harder than our own, as the really fast men, and men who ride for glory more than prizes, will be very sure to compete at the Hartford, Peoria, and Springfield tournaments, even though they attend no others. Our club here has practically the same feeling in regard to the present Dunn-Randall difficulty that, practically, all wheelmen in this part of the country seem to have. It seems to us that while the Alliance between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U. is in the main good, nevertheless, article five, wherein it is stipulated that "in case of disagreement between the L. A. W. and the A. A. U. upon any point covered by these articles, the same shall be submitted to the Board of Governors of the A. A. U., including the member of the Board appointed by the L. A. W.," etc., is a very jug-handled affair, and places the L. A. W. entirely in the hands of and at the mercy of the A. A. U. in the event of a disagreement.

Past experience goes to show that disagreements are pretty sure to arise, hence it appears to us here that while the Alliance without this clause is most excellent, that with it it is quite the contrary. This, together with President Dunn's methods, and the arbitrary manner in which Rule G was declared unconstitutianal, are the points objected to, and are the real reasons, as I understand it, for the resolution adopted at Rockford at the meeting of the Illinois Division, July 4th. However, be all the above as it may, as long as other clubs are permitted to offer valuable prizes, our club does not propose to be behind hand in offering inducements for all the fastest men in the world to compete upon our record breaking track. A very handsome photogravure advertising this year's tournament has just been issued. It is a very fine reproduction of a photograph taken at the close of the record breaking contest of last fall. The group contains 30 of the world's fastest men with their trainers, together with some of the officials of the meet. The group includes such faces as Windle, Zimmerman, Laurie, Murphy, Lumsden, Berio, Rich, Prial, etc. It also shows "Birdie" Munger in the position which he assumes when announcing the result of a race; also the amphitheatre filled to overflowing as it appeared on one of the days of the tournament, etc. This interesting souvenir will be sent free to any address on receipt of five cents to cover postage and packing. Address C. V. Oden, Secretary of Peoria Bicycle Club. A feature of this year's tournament will be a road race, but whether it will be for 50 or 100 miles, has not yet been fully decided upon. The course will be the famous Chillicothe road which runs along the Illinois river, with the river on one side and high bluffs on the other, with scarcely a grade in its entire length of 20 miles. It is a gravelled pike, and can be depended upon to be in good condition at all times. Elegant prizes will be offered; and as some of the fastest road riders in America have not only promised to compete, but are taking great interest in the matter, a most interesting contest can be depended upon. It has not yet been decided whether this race will be conducted as a scratch or a handicap affair. A most elaborate and attractive programme for the entertainment of visiting wheelmen is now being prepared, and as Peoria's hospitality is now well known, every wheelman that comes can do so with the full assurance that no effort will be spared to make his stay pleasant and one to be long remembered.

Yours truly,
H. G. ROUSE.

TO BISHOP COXE.

So Bishop Coxe, our conduct shocks
Your finer moral senses?
But do not grieve, and pray believe
We'll stand the consequences.

We trust that use will change your views
And cycling seem less shocking;
Don't make a law because you saw
Suspicions of a stocking.

MISS * * * *.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS IN FRANCE.

AFTER spending a pleasant week and several francs in the gay metropolis, taking in the many attractions to which their varied inclinations led, the tourists left Paris on the morning of June 27, under the guidance of Mr. Ramelot of the Singer Cycle Co., who had kindly offered to escort the party out of the city. Mr. Collins, who had met us at Havre, remained in Paris, and Mr. Elwell left us also at that place as the business engagements of these two gentlemen made it necessary for them to leave the party. They are both "jolly good fellows, well met," and we bade goodby to them with a feeling of reluctance. From Paris the tourists are under the guidance of Mr. Higgins, who takes as good care of his little band of wheelmen as any old hen of her brood of chicks. After four or five miles of the pavement had been passed, we came upon good roads again and we sped away, feeling that the gaiety of Paris had not taken the delights out of wheeling, and that the week's gaiety had made us rather anxious to get on the roads again.

So fine was the road as it stretched away in the distance between rows of shady trees that the fast ones of the party were in their glory, and could not resist the temptation to do some scorching. The more conservative riders took their time, enjoyed the good roads and the scenery, and in the evening all had arrived at Fontainbleau. Many thanks are due Mr. Ramelot for his kindness snd hospitality. He extended his kindness in procuring a guide to the great forest Sunday afternoon, and we rode fifteen or twenty miles through the shady retreats of the old hunting grounds of the Kings of France. Hard smooth roads led in all directions and we enjoyed the ride immensely. The tower of Benecourt was visited, and from its top we beheld a vast area of the grand old forest, and had a glimpse of the Eiffel tower, thirty miles away. The palace was visited, which great edifice was commenced by Francis I. in the 16th century. It is the theatre of some of the most remarkable events in French history. Here the revocation of the Edict of Nantes was signed by Louis XIV., and Napoleon I. signed his abdication to the throne in the presence of "The Old Guards." The great carp in the pond looked tempting to the tourists who had patiently fished along the streams at home. The carp would doubtless be tough eating anyway, for they were placed in the pond a century or more ago. Fontainbleau is an interesting place in its historic value, and no tourist can expect to fill his notebook who does not visit that spot.

Monday morning we started out in a light rain which had the effect of dampening our spirits and our clothes, but not enough to cause any great delay, so we wheeled along amid the drops of rain and to the sound of growling thunder—the tourists furnishing some of the growling. We stopped under the old arched gateway of a little town and waited for the "clouds" to "roll by." They finally "rolled," and we took our wheels again. Here lies one of the beauties of the French roadways; they are hard and smooth, and the rains do not convert them into impossible quagmires, but within half an hour after an ordinary shower they are in perfect condition for wheeling.

The old town of Sens was reached in the evening; and as it was market day, some of the tourists found it a difficult matter to ride through the narrow streets crowded with people, hay carts and vegetable trucks. After dinner we adjourned to the large open square and played a game of ball. A large crowd soon collected, soldiers with red pantaloons and glittering swords, gentlemen with silk hats and canes, children with wooden shoes and bare heads, women with arms akimbo, all stood around to watch the progress of the game and the antics of the players. It was difficult to keep the spectators at a safe distance, and Jock, who was making tracks for first base ran into a portly individual with more forge than is conducive to a continuation of friendly relations. The language which resulted and came from the mouth of M'sieur could not be found in the dictionary which we carry, but judging from the exclamation points thas were made in the air with his fists it must have been quite harsh. There is one beauty in not knowing the language; one's spirits are not ruffled when he is sworn at in French.

The route for several reasons had been changed from that given in the itinerary, and it made the trip rather more enjoyable, for it led us into new and unfrequented parts, while the roads and the scenery continued superb. On the evening of July 1st a day's ride through an ever changing panorama of natural grandeur, past well cultivated fields and meadows, where the new mown hay made the air redolent with its perfume, we reached the top of a hill, and there we saw the little town of Auxerre where we were to remain for the night. We coast down the long winding grade over a quaint old bridge, an undoubted Roman structure, facing an ancient castle, the brick tower of which showed a gaping crack from top to bottom, and the old tile shingles were overgrown with moss. We were the objects of considerable interest that evening, for an American had not been seen in the town for four or five years, and some of the people had never seen one of our nationality. We enjoyed the novelty of the situation as much as the people did.

Since the rain of Monday night it has rained every night but the days have been pleasant. We wondered at this, but came to the conclusion that it was Spiel's necktie that was the mascot. Monday he did not wear it, and it rained; after that day he wore it and no matter how wet the outlook, when he came out in the morning the clouds rolled away—scared, probably, at the sight of that tremendous necktie.

But few accidents have happened along the road, and those have been of no importance. "Tutt e" in coming down the four mile coast just outside of Dijon was stopped midway by an obstinate donkey that persisted in occupying the whole width of the road. Now no one enjoys a long coast better that Tuttle and he does not like to be stopped half way down, much less unseated from his wheel. The stop was sudden and without accident, but the language that Tuttle uttered can only be expressed in these columns by * * * * * ! ! ! On the same hill, down which we were all speeding, Cutter scared a cow, and she went over the steep bank with more haste than grace and rolled, goodness knows where, for the incline ended only in the valley half a mile below. As we reach the foot hills of the Jura mountains the scenery becomes more diversified, the monotonous level roads are relieved by easy up-grades and long coasts, and vine clad hills take the place of low garden patches. But the whole country is a paradise for wheelmen, and at the end of each day's ride we are filled with a gladness and experience a hunger we have seldom felt before. Dijon was reached July 2 and we remained there until the fourth.

GOODRICH.

CARDS received announce the marriage of Mr. H. G. Priest, of the Quadrant Tricycle Co., to Miss G. M. Curzon. The marriage took place July 14th at Harborne Parish Church. Mr. Priest has many personal friends in this country, and they will join us in extending our sincere congratulations.

THERE is a terrible lot of sore cuticle in Canada to-day, and the cause of it is the initiation ceremonies to the Hickory Club. Scott, Lon Peck, and Elliott, were chief initiators.

HULETT'S CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

IN the last issue of the BICYCLING WORLD I notice a challenge issued by Mr. Burt Hulett for a road race on solid tired machines and for the championship of Michigan. Now if Mr. Hulett will kindly wait until some time in August I will gladly accommodate him and race him over the fifteen mile course from Birmingham to Detroit, and meet him any time he wishes to arrange details. Respectfully,

W. C. RANDS, Detroit, Mich.

THE ROCHESTER (N. Y.) MEET.

How long shall it be thus? Are these wheelmen demi-gods that they should be thus feted and "meet" ed? the cities from the East to the West vying with each other in showering upon visitors pleasure, hospitality, and prizes.

"The best of the wine for the last of the feast."

Now comes Rochester, where the oracles have been consulted and the omens are all propitious for the grandest feast of good things it has ever entered the hearts of wheelmen to conceive. Nature will contribute her share to make the Flower City a bed of roses for wheelmen on the 19th and 20th of August, and the Rochester wheelmen will lay out to do the rest.

"Runs" to view the far-famed scenery; the finest track in the country. Minstrels? Well, yes, we will smile! in the new ground floor theatre "The Lyceum." The original dissolving view Riding School. Barber to the front. Dancing at the other end of the seven-mile cinder path, on the borders of Ontario, kissed by the gentle breezes of the lake. Banquet, smoker, moonlight excursions, and so on ad infinitum.

They're all coming, and the Rochester League, six hundred strong, stands ready with open arms to greet you.

"FLOWER CITY."

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE?

THE Boston Globe states that a cablegram has been received giving the intelligence that F. J. Osmond has ridden a mile in 2.16, half-mile in 1.07 1-5, three quarters in 1.42. His distance for the hour is given at 23 miles, 1260 yards. We shall look for the verification of these figures by the English papers with a great deal of interest.

100-MILE TRICYCLE RECORD.

M. A. HOLBEIN on July 11 made a new 100-mile record for the tricycle doing the distance in 6h. 5m. 26s., beating record by 4m. 42s. The route was from Peterborough to Hitchin and return.

MORE RECORDS GONE.

EACH week's paper from across the pond brings fresh news of broken records. The season young as yet it is hard to imagine to what point the records may fall before the season of 91 ends; the latest grand record

Not Only Honestly Constructed, But Mechanically Sound.

THIS is what we have said of the Rambler. Did you stop to consider exactly what it meant? Possibly not. Possibly you have never thought it worth while. You purchased your wheel without weighing the matter and being satisfied, a bicycle to you is simply a bicycle—nothing more. Its finer points are hardly of even passing interest. But in these days, when it is charitable, at least, to grant that most bicycles are honestly constructed, mechanical superiority goes a long way and is not lightly considered by those who are seeking the best results and best value for their outlay.

We will take spring frames and spring saddles as affording a fair study. Take this wheel: Note where and how the spring is placed; where but little weight of the rider is sustained; note that when it yields there is a tendency to force the feet off the pedals, and that you find the steering affected. Now take that wheel: Just look at its complications; note the bundlesome appearance of it, and the number of bolts, nuts and parts which go to make up its anti-vibration appliance. And here is still another: Notice that when the saddle or spring yields that the pedals remain rigid; that is, do not "give" correspondingly as they shou'd, and that in every case your length of reach is constantly shifted. Surely it is plain that these wheels are mechanically faulty. You can see that even if you are are not versed in mechanical principles, you begin to see what we mean by the term "mechanically correct." Do you?

Now take the Rambler: Observe the simplicity of its spring frame; note that the spring is in the right place and where the best results are to be obtained; notice that it can not in any manner affect the steering, and that when the spring yields the saddle and pedals "give" correspondingly (due to the hinged joint over crank axle), and that there can be no forcing of feet off pedals nor any inconveniencing and wearing, shortening your reach.

You do not have to be a mechanic to judge of these things, and, as in the case of the spring frame, so it is in many others—the mechanical superiority of the Rambler crops out at every point—every feature sound, practical, in the right place, there for a purpose, and fulfilling that purpose in the proper manner.

He (and she) is wise who stops to consider.

breaking performances of which we have received particulars are the work of M. A. Holbein, who on Tuesday June 30, beat the 24 hour tricycle record by between 20 and 30 miles—the distance covered being estimated at from 315 to 317 1-2 miles; best previous record was 289 miles, held by Bidlace.

Holbein now holds the double honor of being the first man to exceed 300 miles on a tricycle as well as on a safety.

Also on July 13, P. C. Twentyman succeeded in breaking the 12 hour safety road record held by M. A. Holbein over the course from Hitchin to Wiesbich, making 181 1-2 miles in 12 hours, against 177 1-2 miles Holbein's record.

THE OHIO DIVISION MEET.

THE eleventh annual meet of the Ohio Division at Columbus on July 13—15, was a complete success in every respect. It was better attended and brought together more of the notables than any other meet in the history of the Division. The register contained over 700 names, ten per cent of whom were ladies, "God bless 'em."

Chief Consul High was there in all his glory, as was George Collister, who took great delight in referring to the former as the Chief Scoundrel. The wise and witty Dr. Griffin, the sedate "Merg.," the æsthetic Meyer and the urbane Dr. Maxwell beamed on the assembly. As to the Columbus riders they were so numerous and ubiquitous that time and space forbid their mention.

President Dunn and Vice President Burdett were also present, as were Post and DeBlois of the Nutmeg State, which has had the audacity to roll up a larger membership than Ohio.

The programme for the entertainment of the visitors was elaborate indeed, runs to the various State institutions, among which was the penitentiary, occupied the first day.

In the parade on Tuesday there were over 500 wheels in line, fifty-one of which were ridden by ladies, and formed the principal feature of the affair. The line of march was through the principal streets to the park, where lemonade was served, and from there to the State House where a picture was taken.

The Dayton Bicycle Club carried off the banner offered for the club having the largest number in full uniform in the parade.

In the official columns will be found a full report of the business meeting of the Division.

While waiting for the man to get his camera ready the cyclers amused themselves by shouting their club war cries till some impatient ones sang out in imitation of them; R-A-T-S, RATS!!! which effectually ended the war cry business.

At the races in the afternoon there were fully 3500 people present, and as to the races they were even a greater success if possible than the races at the tournament of the "Porkopolis" Wheelmen in Cincinnati on the Fourth of July. The races had barely concluded when the rain which had been threatening all day came down in torrents. It is believed that this fortunate delay in the rain storm was all owing to the fact that the genial Dr. Probst is the President of the Columbus Safety Cycle Club.

In the evening the members of the Buckeye Ladies' Cycle Club gave a reception at the armory that was a fitting climax to the meet, and which recalled the lines from Burns:

"Auld nature swears, the lovely dears,
Her loveliest work she classes, O;
Her 'prentice han' she tried on man,
And then she made the lasses, O."

One mile safety, Division L. A. W. championship—A. L. Baker (c), Columbus, first, 2.44 4-5; C. H. Roth (c), Cincinnati, second. 2.46 2-5; J. S. Shobe (c), Columbus, third. Seven starters.

Half-mile ordinary, open—G. W. Dennison, Chicago, first, 1.28 4-5; C. Aszman (c), Cincinnati, second, 1.29. Two starters.

Quarter-mile safety, Division L. A. W. Championship—J. S. Shobe (c), Columbus, first, 42 2-5 sec.; H. Serodino (c), second, 42 3-5; L. H. Bannister of Youngstown, O., third. Seven starters.

Two mile safety, open—This was the great record breaking race as will be seen later on. Chief Consul High, the referee, set a time limit on this race of six minutes. F. H. Tuttle (p), Chicago, first, 6.44 3-5; G. Minturn Worden (p), Boston, 6.44 4-5; G. W. Dennison (p), Chicago, third. Three starters. The time limit being exceeded the referee decided that it was "no race." The race was therefore run over again after the other races were run and with the same time limit with the following results: A tie for first in 6.26 1-5 by Tuttle and Worden, Dennison, third. The referee decided that if they would run off the tie he would call it a race. They both agreed and started like an unwilling scholar on his way to school. The crowd jeered, and even the band caught on, for they struck up that lively tune called Auld Lang Syne and played it over several times before the race was concluded. Tuttle crossed the tape first in thirteen minutes, twenty-six and one-fifth seconds (I have written it out so that their can be no mistake.) It is believed that this is an international record. It is at least a wonderful exhibition of head work, and should entitle the contestants to leather medals, suitably embossed.

Half-mile ordinary, Division championship—Aszman (c), first, 1.25 3-5; E. C. Johnson, second, 1.29; Jas. E. Schenck, Cincinnati, third. Five starters. It will be observed that Aszman made much better time in this race than in race 8, when he was defeated by Dennison.

One mile safety, open—In this race pneumatics were started 3 seconds later than cushions. H. C. Tyler (c), first, 2.41 4-5; P. J. Berlo second, 2.39; actual time; Tuttle (p), third. Six starters. Handicaps—cushions 20 yards, pneumatics 50 yards to the mile.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT BIRMINGHAM, CONN.—The bicycle races held at the park on Saturday, July 11, proved an interesting event. The first race was a one-mile handicap, in which there were six starters. The race was well contested, but two of the riders collided and somewhat marred the pleasure of the event. The race was won by W. Gould of Birmingham, 65 yards, in 3.03; J. Brewster, second, scratch; W. Hubbell, third. On account of Bradley being hurt in the collision, the special race for the silver cup between he and Brewster was not run, but a race was arranged in which Bradley and Brewster, both at scratch, and Plumb, 175 yards, started. The race was closely contested and was won by Bradley.

AT DENVER, COL.—The races given by the Denver Cyclists' Union at Sportsman's Park on Sunday afternoon, July 12, brought out the usual large attendance, and the excitement was at a high pitch all through the contests; especially was this the case in those races in which Dobson and Block contested for the supremacy. The following is a summary of the events:

One-half mile race for boys—Won by Kenneth Matthewson.

AT FALL RIVER, MASS., July 18.—The first bicycle tournament of the Fall River Cycle Club was held on the North end grounds last Saturday. The weather was threatening and kept many away from the sport, yet there were fully 600 persons present.

AT MARLBORO, MASS.—Last Saturday the 20-mile road race under the auspices of the Marlboro Rubber Company, through Berlin, Northboro, Westboro, Southboro, to Marlboro, was run this afternoon. The course measured 22 miles.

Clif Walcott won first place, making the trip in 1h. 22m., Fred St. Louis took second, James Sheehan third, Fred Osgood of Hudson fourth, and Frank Dewey, fifth.

Gold medals were presented to the first two men, and bicycle sundries to the others.

AT NASHVILLE, TENN.—The handicap road race which had been for some time the chief topic of conversation among the cyclists of Nashville and vicinity, was decided on July 11, and, like many other races, was a surprise to the knowing ones as the winner proved to be a "dark horse." Much interest was shown in the race, and long before the start the streets were crowded with people, all of whom were anxious to get a look at the wheelmen as they passed. There were 23 starters in the contest, and the difference in time between scratch and limit man was 15m. The race was hotly contested from start to finish, and was won by C. W. Woodward in 1h. 8m. 30s. by about 10 yards. The medal for the best time in this contest goes to Chas. O. Thomas of Murfreesboro, who made the distance in 1h. 2m. 15s. C. W. Woodward, the winner of the race, made second best time having completed the journey in 1h. 2m. 36s.

AT ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN—The ten-mile road race between members of Hunt's tourists took place at Ann Arbor on July 14. There were ten starters in the event, but of these only four finished. The result was Edward Staebler, first, 38.42; Geo. Wright, 40.38, second; Chas. Salisbury, 40.57 and Edw. Moore, 44.30.

AT CORTLAND, NEW YORK—The first road race to Little York and return for the scorcher championship was run on the evening of July 15. There were three contestants, and the distance, 15 miles, was covered by G. W. Houk in 1h. 7m., who thus gains and holds the title of champion scorcher of the Cortland Wheel Club until it is wrested from him in future competition.

AT NATICK, MASS.—The first bicycle tournament under the auspices of the Natick Bicycle Club took place at Elm Park on Saturday, July 11, and was a well attended and very successful affair. The Natick Cadet Band was in attendance and enlivened the occasion with music. The following is a summary of the events:

Half mile safety, novice—F. E. Yeager, first, 1.24; C. Clark, second, 1.29.

NEW ENGLISH RECORDS.

R. L. EDE (the "Pocket Hercules") on the Paddington (England) track on July 16 made the following wonderful records:

One hour—22 miles, 1450 yards.
Two hours—44 miles, 450 yards.
Three hours—63 miles, 49 yards.

He rode the 50 miles in 2 hours, 17 min. He also broke all records from 6 miles to 60 miles. The machine ridden was an Ormonde Model B.

HALF A MILE IN 1.08 ON A TANDEM.

F. M. BRINKER and W. D. Banker in their grand performance at Detroit of 1.08 for the half-mile on a tandem, no doubt covered the distance in the time specified, though through neglect of certain technical detail the Racing Board cannot recognise it as a record. The half was undoubtedly in 1.08 or 1.09. The timers were quite a distance from the finish, but the time could not possibly have varied over one second. We must therefore give Messrs. Brinker and Banker credit for the performance even if the record cannot officially be allowed. The machine ridden was a very handsome double diamond frame made by the Buffalo Cycle works, fitted with pneumatic tires and is, we believe, the first of the kind ever made in the country. The machine all on weighs only 55 pounds.

A $135 ORDINARY machine for $50!! If you want a bang up bargain just look at W. Read & Sons' advertisement on page 404.

THE CYCLIST, the leading paper of England, is a well-filled newspaper, containing the earliest, the best and fullest reports of all wheel matters. No other paper covers the ground as THE CYCLIST does, and it is not only the largest in size, but has by far the largest circulation of any wheel paper. Edited by Henry Sturmey. $2.50 per year, including postage. Office: Coventry, England.

VICE-CONSUL PERKINS and W. J. Newman of the Referee fame, took a very pleasant trip together last Sunday, and talked over old club matters, and it may be that they will once more take steps to revive the once well-known Cambridge Bicycle Club, of which Mr. Perkins was president and Mr. Newman captain. Mr. Perkins rode a Referee cushion wheel, and says he never rode a nicer or easier running machine. Newman of course rode a Referee.

THE Marlboro Club was the machine on which M. A. Holbien made his wonderful 24 hour tricycle road record of 317 miles. The machine was fitted with pneumatic tires. Mr. Holbien and the Coventry Machinists' Co. have our congratulations.

W. J. NEWMAN, the Referee agent for New England, is opening another new store in Cambridge in addition to his present quarters at 46 Columbus avenue, Boston, and Harvard square, Cambridge. He is now receiving daily Referee cushion tired machines, and has in stock a handsome Pneumatic safety, Humber frame; a beauty, sells for $150. Mr. Newman has ordered a 30 pound Referee pneumatic for his own special use, which will be seen at the Cottage City meet.

A UNIQUE testimonial for the "Premier:" In these days when physicians, clergymen, everybody extol the health promoting qualities of the wheel, a letter like the following guaranteed to be "unsolicited," has at least the refreshing characteristic of novelty: "Premier Cycle Co.: Dear Sirs—Mr. ——, my son, who attends to the bicycle business, was taken suddenly ill after ordering a wheel of you yesterday, and is now unable to ride and cannot tell how soon he will be out. Yours respectfully, ——."

IT isn't safe to try to smuggle fans bought in Canada into the United States. Especially is it unsafe to suggest out loud that "a good place to hide them is under the seats." A custom house officer may be in hearing.

THE Rouse-Duryea Cycle Co., Peoria, Ill., had samples of the 1891 Sylph on exhibition at the Detroit League meet last week. They were the subject of the most favorable comment, as they are built very light, yet are amply strong for heavy riders. These machines have many new features, the principal one being in the application of the springs to the frame. Intending purchasers will do well to investigate their many merits before purchasing.

CAPT. BENJ. SMITH of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, one of the hardest road riders in New England, rode 150 miles on Sunday, July 13th. He started from Providence at half-past 3 A. M., and at 7.30 P. M. he was receiving the congratulations of his club mates at the club house. His trip was Providence to Boston, thence to Worcester and back to Providence. On this ride he mounted his new model E Swift Safety with inch cushion tires, weighing 36 pounds, which he pronounces to be the easiest wheel he has tried yet, and Ben Smith is a rider who tries them all.

HUMBERS for $100!! Attention is called to advertisement of Wright & Ditson on page 428. There is only need to call attention to the fact that these $135 wheels are being offered for $100 to bring about a deluge of orders for this splendid wheel. What a bargain!!

THE Ormonde is getting into the records in great shape. R. L. Ede on this machine established a new set of track records from 6 to 60 miles. He does the hour record to the tune of 22 miles 1400 yards and the 50 miles in 2h. 17m., a good eight minutes faster than ever before. Bravo Ede!! Well done Ormonde!!

MR. F. C. WESTON of Bangor, Me., a practical wheelman of many years' experience, has invented and applied for a patent on a cyclometer which is especially adapted to safety bicycles. It is fastened to any fixed part, preferably the front left fork, and actuated by the running gear, the advantages claimed are, simplicity, lightness, accuracy, reliability, easily read from the saddle, and last but not least, moderate in price. We shall have cuts and full specifications of this cyclometer, which will be published soon.

CYCLISTS, ATTENTION.

WE are just in receipt of a communication from W. J. Morgan, better known as the "Senator," the well known cyclist who has settled in Portland, Oregon, which he says is the coming State of the Union, and having raced and travelled in every State in the Union he is well qualified to judge.

Having entered into partnership with Arthur G. Burns, well and favorably known in Portland real estate and financial circles, he is doing a splendid business in real estate and general advertising. He handles all kinds of properties in Oregon: farms, fruit, lands, city and suburban properties. They say that the opportunities for a man to grow rich in a few years by the judicious investment of a few dollars have never been equalled in the history of real estate. Among the many bargains is good land in Southern Oregon from $2.00 to $5.00 per acre.

A few choice building lots in Stewart's addition to Baker City, within three blocks of the depot, lots 25x100 feet, 20 foot alleys, in each block, each $50.00, can be bought on instalments. Baker City has 8000 inhabitants, and is the centre of the gold mining district of the West.

Lots in Astoria, the seaport of the North-west coast, size of lots 36x108 feet, $125 to $150 per lot, also on easy instalments.

We are also offering the best property in Portland, known as "Hawthorne 1st addition," at $650 to $850 per lot, size 50x100 feet. This is very choice property, and can be bought on easy terms. This is a rare speculation. Lots in this tract will be worth $2000 in two years.

People who invested $500 in Portland propetty four years ago can now sell for $3000. For instance, the deceased actress Emma Abbott's property she bought three years ago for $30,000, she was offered $60,000 for same just before her death.

All who have had the opportunity of seeing Portland invest readily. Portland is now a city of 90,000 people. Any one thinking of making Portland or any part of Oregon their future home, will find it to their interest to write to us, as we are in a position to give any information regarding this part of the country. Respectfully submitted, 65 Washington street, Portland, Oregon. MORGAN & BURNS.

412—Missouri Division—500.

To Members:

"Poor old Missouri" is perhaps an apt phrase to use in connection with our big loss in members caused by non-renewals, and it should be every present member's duty to personally assist in recruiting until the loss is made up. Last year 255 members renewed out of 350 or a percentage of 72. This year 312 members renewed out of 475, or 67 percent. All things considered this is a poor showing, but it can be easily wiped out by energetic recruiting. Ten applications per week are necessary to do the business, and a gold League pin will be presented to every member who obtains 20 new members by Jannary 1. Fraternally yours, ROB'T. HOLM, Chief Consul.

Minnesota Hotels.

The following League hotels have been appointed: At Mankato, The Saulpaugh, regular rates $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00; L. A. W. rates $1.75. Single meals or lodging 50 cents. At Minneapolis, The Holmes, regular rates $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50; L. A. W. rates 15 per cent discount from regular. A cafe is run in connection with the Holmes, at which the same discount from regular prices will be allowed. T. M. SLOSSON, Chief Consul.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING.

The meeting was called to order by Chief Consul M. A. High, in the Armory at Columbus, Ohio, at 8 P. M., on July 13, 1891.

When the assembled multitude had simmered down, the Chief Consul gave way to the Vice Consul and then read the following report:

Report of Chief Consul.

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Members of the Ohio Division League of American Wheelmen.

It again becomes my pleasant duty to welcome you as brothers and co-workers in this grand body, viz., the L. A. W. One year ago, time seems so short, it was my privilege to bid you welcome in behalf of the wheelmen of Hamilton County and to enjoy the hospitalities of the Queen City of the West, and now for the Columbus Wheelmen permit me to extend to you the welcome hand shake and the greetings of the Washington, D. C., of the West, viz., Columbus, O. Here we find the Capital of Ohio, with her grand asphaltum streets, beautiful buildings, broad avenues, and last, but not the least, the princes of entertainers of the Ohio Division. We have just passed through another eventful year and in reviewing the work of our Division for this period, I desire to call your attention, first, to the question of road improvements. Actuated by the belief that the times were not yet sufficiently ripe to justify any attempt, on our part, to secure legislation looking to the improvement in the method of making and keeping our highways, our efforts at first were directed wholly towards cultivating a public sentiment in favor of such measures. After much correspondence a partial list of road supervisors in the State (of whom there are over sixteen thousand) was secured, and a copy of the pamphlet, "Improvement of Highways," mailed to each of them, as well as to all others who might be interested in the subject. While engaged in the work, it was learned that the citizens of Washington County were on the point of having a road bill introduced in the State Legislature.

As this bill, while not all that could be desired, was a step in the right direction, it was referred to the Rights and Privileges Committee of our Division, who sent out copies of it to all parts of the State and endeavored to bring sufficient pressure to bear on the Legislature to secure its enactment. Their labors, however, were in vain, as the bill was never introduced.

Some time since, Chairman Potter, of the National Improvement of Highways, sent out circulars offering prizes for the best set of photographs of bad roads. It was indeed a capital idea and very practical, but to what extent the request was observed we are unable to say.

Whilst considerable attention was given to Road Improvements the necessity of increasing the membership of the Division was not overlooked, for at the September Board Meeting the State was sub-divided into twenty-four districts, each of which was placed in charge of a Representative, who was to select candidates for the position of Local Consul and do all in their power to secure recruits, and to whom all questions concerning the District should be referred. That the plan has worked satisfactorily, is shown by the rapid increase in the membership during the past year.

At its September meeting the Board also authorized the issue of an addenda to the "Hand Book." When this was mailed a circular was enclosed urging each individual to co-operate with the Officers and Representatives in their efforts to place the membership of the Division way above high water mark. Although we have not yet reached the coveted two thousand, yet I think the patriotism of the Division was not over estimated when the mark was put on that number. The season is not yet at an end. There is still abundant material to work on, and it is to be hoped that each and every one will see the necessity of renewed and redoubled efforts in this direction. We are anxious to see our State pre-eminent, and hope that our membership will soon reach such a height that its contemplation will make the members of some of the other Divisions dizzy. As the Hand Book we have has long since outlived its usefulness, the Division Board was urged to authorize a committee to get out a new one; but the Board did not deem it expedient. In the meantime, the value of the old Hand Book has not increased, nor has the demand for a new one grown less clamorous. I would suggest, therefore, that if it is the desire of the Division that a new book be issued, that a committee be authorized to commence now, so that it will be ready for distribution by the beginning of the riding season of '92, and further, that it will either be presented to the members of the Division or be sold to them at a very nominal price.

Our State is behind all the other states as regards the Road Book. It is essentially necessary to the increase of our membership. I am continually in receipt of inquiries regarding a good road book. We have now a goodly sum on hand, and why not devote a part of it to this object in order to build up and educate our Division to the highest standard.

Again and again permit me to direct your attention to the vast amount of work done by our Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. William D. Kempton. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon him. He has indeed been the most valuable of assistants. No State in the Union ever had a better Secretary-Treasurer. A glance at his books will at once satisfy experts that they cannot be improved upon, and that they are a model of neatness. Night after night you will find him in his library poring over League manuscripts, attending to League correspondence, and for his faithfulness to the Division I would recommend to them that he be rewarded in the sum of one hundred dollars.

In conclusion, allow me to thank you, one and all, fellow members, for your kindly co-operation and assistance during the past year, and in years to come it is my sincere wish and hope that our glorious Division will roll up its membership into the thousands. All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. A. HIGH, Chief Consul.

The report was received and adopted, and the Secretary instructed to express in writing to the Chief Consul the appreciation of the members of the Division for the good work he has done for the Division.

We certify above statement to be correct:

GEO. COLLISTER,
K. D. WOOD,
W. C. MUNRO,
Auditing Committee.

At the conclusion of this report Chief Consul High resumed the chair and appointed the following auditing committee: K. D. Wood, Columbus; W. C. Munro, Cincinnati; and Georgie Collister of Cleveland.

Later in the evening this committee made the report appended to the report of the Secretary-Treasurer and both reports were adopted.

The committee on the revision of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Division then made the following report:

Your committee on Constitution and By-Laws beg leave to recommend the following changes and additions to the By-Laws:

1. In accordance with Article 2, Section 2, of the Constitution of the League of American, said constitution is adopted as a basis for the organization of this Division.

2. The Board of Officers, consisting of the Chief Consul, Vice-Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and Representatives, shall be nominated by ballot at the regular Annual Meeting of the Division.

There shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting, a Board of Electors, consisting of three members, none of whom shall be candidates for either of the offices before specified.

Should there be an increase in the Division membership, or a vacancy in the ticket nominated at the annual meeting, the Chief Consul shall forward, on October first, to the Board of Electors, nominations for such officers and additional representatives as the Division shall be entitled to.

Prior to October 15 it shall be the duty of the Board of Electors to mail a printed report of the nominations at the annual meeting, together with the additional nominations made by the Chief Consul, to each member of the Division, together with a ticket in accordance therewith, with the instructions that said ticket must be mailed, sealed, to the Chairman of said Board of Electors before November 15th. On that date the Board of Electors shall meet and count the ballots, after which they must certify the result to the Secretary-Treasurer, who shall publish the same in the L. A. W. BULLETIN.

Any League club, or any ten members of the Division may also place in nomination any candidates they choose, and report same to the Board of Electors prior to October 1st. Such nominations shall be forwarded to the membership of the Division, in connection with the printed report of the Board heretofore specified.

3. The Chief Consul shall have general management and oversight of the affairs of the League in this State; he shall call and preside at all State meetings, shall approve and appoint one Consul for each locality that in his judgment is entitled thereto, and shall appoint League hotels.

4. The Secretary-Treasurer shall receive and account for all moneys belonging to the Division. He shall keep a record of all applications for and renewals of membership from this State, and perform such other duties as the office requires. He shall give bond in such amount as the Board of Officers may determine. He shall receive a salary of one hundred dollars a year.

5. Representatives shall recommend to the Chief Consul names of members of the League to serve as Consuls, and shall recommend hotels for appointment as League Headquarters.

They shall, in connection with the Chief Consul, have power to decide all local matters in the State and shall have general over-sight of the affairs of the League in their immediate districts.

6. The Chief Consul shall have power to appoint additional Representatives as the increase of membership may warrant; and also to fill vacancies which may occur in any and all offices or committees.

7. The Annual Meeting of the Division shall be held upon call of the Chief Consul between the dates of May 1st. and September 1st. Special Meetings may be called by the Chief Consul upon written request of not less than five members from each of five districts of the Division; such calls to state the business to come before the meeting and no other business shall be considered.

8. Any member present at the annual, or at any special meeting of the Division, will be entitled to cast the ballots of not more than ten absent members upon presentation of proxies duly signed by such absentees and accepted by the Committee on Credentials.

The delegate of any League Club having credentials signed by the President and Secretary of his club, shall be entitled to cast one vote for each absent member of his club.

9. The Annual Dues shall be One Dollar.

10. The expenditure of all funds of the Division shall be subject to the direction of the Board of Officers; provided that the Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer shall be authorized to draw upon such funds for the expenses of their offices; an itemized report of such expenditures to be made at the next meeting of the Board.

11. An Auditing Committee of three shall be appointed by the Chief Consul at the regular annual meeting to examine the books and accounts of the Secretary-Treasurer.

16. These By-Laws may be altered or amended by a majority of members voting in person or by proxy at any regular Annual Meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

A. E. MERGENTHALER,
GEO. COLLISTER,
F. B. EVERETT.

The report was received, acted on section by section, and then adopted as a whole.

Vice-Consul Mergenthaler, taking the chair, announced that nominations for Chief Consul were in order.

Wm. A. Skinkle of Cleveland, in a fitting speech, placed the name of M. A. High in nomination. As there were no other names presented, Mr. High was nominated by acclimation.

The Chief Consul then resumed the chair, called for nominations for Vice Consul, and Dr. Probst, of Columbus, in his usual happy manner, lifted his voice in favor of A. E. Mergenthaler. There being no other nominations, "Merg." was also nominated by acclimation.

Dr. C. H. Griffin, of Ravenna, then caught the speaker's eye long enough to tell him all about the liver of our Secretary-Treasurer, and to place him in nomination for a third term. As no one had the temerity, after the doctor's witty remarks, to place any one else in nomination, the present incumbent was also nominated by acclimation.

The chair then appointed the following committee to nominate representatives and a Board of Electors:

Wm. A. Skinkle, Cleveland,
Dr. C. O. Probst, Columbus,
H. Otto Barth, Cincinnati.

When this committee retired, and while they were deliberating over the knotty questions before them, Georgie Collister moved that an appropriation of $100 be made from the treasury, to be donated to the Secretary-Treasurer as a testimonial of the appreciation of his work. The motion prevailed.

It was then moved by Mr. H. Serodino of Cincinnati that the recommendation of the Chief Consul in regard to a new road book of the Division be acted on, and that the Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer be constituted a committee to prepare and issue a road book with suitable maps, a copy of which to be presented to each member of the Division. The motion was seconded, and after some discussion, prevailed.

Vice President Burdett then favored the meeting with some remarks on roads, road books, &c., for which he received the thanks of the meeting.

Dr. Probst, of the Improvement of Highways Committee, then stated that that committee were not quite ready to report, and asked further time. It was therefore decided to hold an adjourned meeting at 10 A. M. on Friday, July 17 to hear the report of this committee.

The Nominating Committee then brought in the following report:

Representatives at Large—
Wm. A. Skinkle, Cleveland.
F. B. Everett, Columbus.
T. J. Kirkpatrick, Springfield.
Dr. C. H. Griffin, Ravenna.
Dr. F. S. Maxwell, Steubenville.
Dr. F. C. Meyer, Canton.
Herman I. Hahn, Toledo.
W. C. Munro, Cincinnati.
Hiram B. Klum, Cincinnati.
B. V. H. Schultz, Zanesville.
Elmer H. Houck, Dayton.
Parker G. Reed, Chillicothe.
W. P. Harmony, Sidney.
J. H. Julian, Troy.
Georgie Collister, Cleveland.

Board of Electors—
Charles G. Smith, Columbus.
Fred. J. Bowen, Dayton.
Oscar L. Graeser, Cincinnati.

Mr. Wm. A. Skinkle brought in a minority report substituting the name of J. P. Petty of Cleveland for that of Wm. A. Skinkle, but the meeting adopted the majority report, and ordered the Secretary to cast the ballot for the fifteen representatives at large. The Secretary complied, and the fifteen were unanimously nominated.

The Secretary was then instructed to cast the ballot for the three members of the Board of Electors. The Secretary did as ordered, and they were elected without opposition.

The meeting then gave the Columbus Safety Cycling Club and the Buckeye Ladies' Cycling Club a rousing vote of thanks for the royal manner in which they were entertaining the Division, and then adjourned to meet on the following Friday at 10 A. M.

WM. D. KEMPTON,
Secretary-Treasurer.

WHAT IS COVERED?

We have many times said of Columbias (and have had it said by thousands of discerning wheelmen) that they are "unequaled in design, construction and finish."

Enamel and nickel may, like charity, cover a multitude of sins in a wheel.

In a Columbia, however, the enamel and nickel serve to enhance virtues and not conceal faults.

That is, Columbias do not depend on the sheen of enamel or polish of nickel for their beauty, but are thoroughly made before a bit of finish is applied.

Incidentally, the finish that serves to bring out the virtues of Columbias is the best, (the best enamel, the best nickel) that has yet been found.

Is it not wisdom to choose a machine with honest work beneath the polish?

Our Cushion Tires are receiving the highest commendations on all sides. Remember what we have said about them before.

THE DETROIT ROAD RACE,

25 MILES,

At the National League Meet, Detroit, July 16, was won by B. J. Graham of Detroit, who rode a Victor Model B, fitted with the celebrated Victor Cushion Tire—the only Cushion worth mentioning.

VICTORS MAKE THE PACE

And generally win the race.

Our Detroit agents couldn't begin to supply the demand for Victors after the race. It seemed as though nothing but Model B Victors were worthy of notice.

Without a doubt, there were more favorable comments among the wheelmen at Detroit regarding Victors than all other makes combined. Merit will tell!

OVERMAN WHEEL CO.,

CHICOPEE FALLS, MASS.

BOSTON. WASHINGTON. DENVER. SAN FRANCISCO.

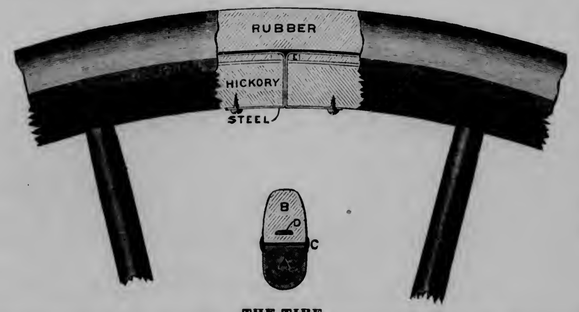
THOSE HICKORY PINS.

League members are divided into two classes. First: Those who attended the annual distribution of badges at Detroit; and lastly, those who didn't.

While at Niagara Falls last year, the writer noted the fact that badges were in great demand and that everybody was doing their best to take home as large a collection as possible. Many came well supplied, while many more didn't realize the need of badges until they had arrived at the Falls, with the result that the Job Printing Offices were kept busy, while the haunts of those who sold ribbon were continually haunted. We noticed that all this multiplicity of badges had to be fastened on with common pins, the safety predominating over the ordinary in pins as well as bicycles, and for much the same reasons.

A little use of the prophetic instinct with which we are so unfortunately endowed, led us to the following conclusion, to wit: That at the '91 meet there would be a largely increased number of badges, both impromptu and premeditated, but we further argued that no particular attention would probably be given to pins, for this reason. Our experience with man is, that being created in the image of his maker, he resembles his maker in at least one particular, viz: He is loth to depart from established customs. He wears two buttons on his coat tails because other men do, and likewise on his sleeves, for no better reason. So when his neighbor has a bicycle made of metal, he becomes sore afraid lest material other than metal should "dry up and squeak." If his friends make badges of ribbon, it is safe to say that he will turn naturally to that time honored millinery. Thus we reasoned that a pin would be novel. But bless you, we didn't think it would become indispensable. Our daily mail contains hundreds of letters asking for those pins, of which we still have a few, and of which we shall have more to say later.

"Don Salambo" says: "The man who will invent a liquid tire cement which will keep liquid so long as it is tightly corked, but dry quickly as soon as used, is going to make a fortune" Don reminds us of an old lady who, for some reason unknown to the deponent, was given by "a good fairy" (also unknown) the privilege of having granted any wish she might make. The dear old soul knew what trouble was, although unlike Don she didn't ride a cemented wheel.



She looked out of the window, and seeing a few of her children sliding down a plank (no matter what kind of a plank), she promptly wished for a "barrel of patches," the idea of new clothes being too remote to even occur to her.

Now Don, when you come to think of it, what is the matter with wishing for a tire that would stay on without cement? Such a thing is quite within the possibilities, and we have it to sell. The procession is now moving Don; why are you not in it?

STOP THIEF. $25 REWARD.

STOLEN from the corner of Main and Erie Streets, Buffalo, N. Y., on Tuesday July 21st, at about 3.30 P. M., a Columbia Light Roadster Safety Bicycle, No. 14825, of the 1891 pattern, the property of Chas. E. Hayes, care Cosack & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The lamp bracket and tool bag had been taken off and the machine was fitted with a spring seat rod and had a Lakin cyclometer of 1889 pattern on front wheel which registered thirteen miles at the time wheel was taken. The nickel on handle bar had been worn off in two places where a wire carrier had rested. Spokes enamelled and nickel plated at hub.

Connecticut.

A meeting of the Board of Officers of this Division was held in the parlors of the Hartford Wheel Club, Hartford, July 3d, 1891.

Meeting was called to order by Chief Consul Dean at 8.45 P. M., eighteen members being present.

Mr. F. L. Hughes of Rochester, N. Y., and ex-Chief Consul C. G. Huntington were invited to sit with the Board.

Reading minutes of last meeting was omitted.

On motion it was voted to appropriate $300 to be expended in entertaining Division members at Hartford September 7 and 8th, and the Chief Consul was instructed to appoint a committee of five who should have the power to spend that amount to the best advantage.

It was moved by Henry Goodman that: The chair be instructed to appoint a committee of five to select any winners of State championships to represent the Connecticut Division in National championship races at Detroit; car fares both ways only to be paid by Division. Carried.

Mr. Calhoun Latham, chairman of the Rules Committee introduced a new set of By-laws which were adopted.

Mr. F. H. Crygier, chairman of committee appointed to transport Division members to Detroit reported that owing to lack of support he hardly thought it would pay to charter a special car. stated that a special railroad fare had been obtained, and that arrangements had been made for the party to stay at the Russell House.

The advisability of getting out country road maps of the State was discussed, and a committee of three was appointed by the chair to consider the matter.

As no further business was presented the meeting was adjourned at 11.45.

J. BRESLER,

To the Officers and Committees of the Various State Divisions:

The National Committee on Improvement of Highways is in receipt of a communication from the Department of State, at Washington, stating that a compilation of the reports of the United States Consuls and Ministers on the streets and highways in foreign countries is now passing through the hands of the printer, and will be soon ready for distribution. The Secretary states that this will be one of the most interesting public documents ever issued by the Government, and that the Department is anxious that it reach the proper parties. We are requested to send to the Bureau of Statistics of that Department the names of such persons connected with our work as will be likely to make the best use of these reports.

As the obtaining and printing of these reports was first suggested by this committee in a letter to the Secretary of State written last year, we are naturally anxious that they should be widely distributed in quarters where they are likely to do the most good. We therefore request that you will send the chairman of this committee at an early day the names of such prominent citizens (wheelmen and others) resident within your State, who are interested in the work for improved roads or whose activity in behalf of reform in public affairs would be likely to induce an interest in the subject matter of these reports.

It is perhaps unnecessary to add that too much care cannot be given to the work of placing these reports, and that the powerful influence which they accomplish will depend in a large measure upon the persons into whose hands they are placed. Fraternally yours,

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chairman.

Missouri Division.

To members:

It is the intention of the officers of this Division to publish a hand book which will contain the new Constitution and By-laws which was adopted at Carthage, a complete list of members, League hotels, repair shops, and such other matters as are of use to our members. Members and Local Consuls who reside in cities having repair shops are requested to forward the name and address of owner to the undersigned at once so that it can be published in the book. Fraternally yours,

ROB'T HOLM, Chief Consul.

N.B. Missouri is still way behind the 500 mark. Each and every member is requested to do his duty in aiding in the work of recruiting.

Who Lost It?

A member of the League came across a farmer in Pennsylvania the other day who had in his possession a watch chain and charm having inscribed on the links of said chain, "L. A. W. Meet." The farmer bought it for $6, and has been offered $100 for it. Any member who may have lost such a chain can find a clue to its whereabouts by writing the Secretary.

California.

The Pacific Ocean House of Santa Cruz is hereby appointed the Division Hotel. Rates per day, $2.00; meals, 50 cents; to L. A. W. members only.

THOS. L. HILL, C. C.

Nebraska.

H. H. Meehan is hereby appointed Local Consul for O'Neill. Fraternally, C. B. NICODEMUS,

Fremont, July 21, 1891. Sec.-Treas.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. We have not as yet received any official notification of UNION CUSHION TIRES being penalized more than any other make of cushion. FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

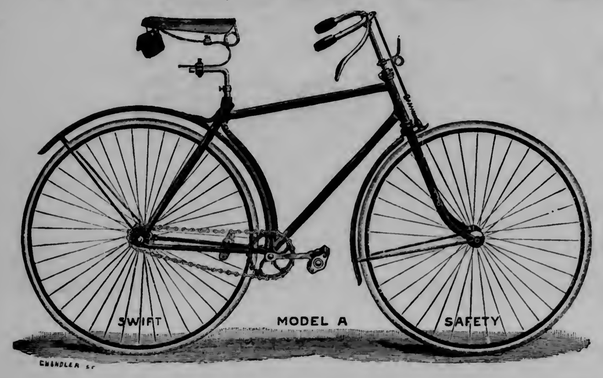
THE Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.



We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction. We have adopted a new patent valve which will permit the letting out of the air when desired. The method of inflating our tire next year will be a much simpler matter on account of its improved construction, and any child will be able to inflate it.

No other had the great improvement of the Perfection Tapered Tubing, being thicker metal at top end of backbone under the rider and tapering to small end; also tapered forks; also only wheel with Trigwell's Ball Head. To reduce stock we offer a few of these Superb Ordinaries of certain sizes, at

Many of best riders still prefer Ordinaries. Also some second-hand New Mails at $30 and $35.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

NOTICE—We desire to call attention to the fact that proposed amendments to the Constitution to be acted on at the Convention at Hartford September 8th must be published in this paper not later than the next issue, of August 7th. Members therefore who desire to present amendments must see that they are in the hands of the Secretary-Editor not later than August 4th.

IT is a fact that the mile has been covered in 2.16 by Mr. F. J. Osmond. We announced the performance in our last issue, the news having come by cable, but we wanted verification before accepting as final. The English papers come to hand, giving particulars, and also verify the statement that the one-half and three-quarter-mile record went to the same man on the same occasion in 1.07 3-5 and 1.42. Osmond had such men as Ede, Stroud, Crump and F. P. Wood to assist him. There is one thing in these record performances that we criticise, and that is as a rule "Pem" Coleman alone is reported as the timer. We have no doubt as to Mr. Coleman's ability or honesty, but the record would be much more unassailable if two or three watches had been held. Mr. Coleman we know is the official timer and is competent in every way, but he is human, and consequently liable to err. He should have assistants who should likewise hold watches, and thus do away with all possible chances of mistake.

NOT only has the mile, half-mile and three-quarter track record received a knocking, but the full particulars of R. L. Ede's wonderful slaughter of all records from 6 to 63 miles have come to hand. Twenty-two miles 1395 yards were covered within the hour, and forty-four miles 450 yards within the two hours. Sixty-three miles and forty-nine yards were finished in three hours. Here we have an average speed of over twenty-one miles per hour. Taking into considerntion that Ede weighs a bit over 100 pounds, he is well named as the "Pocket Hercules." Since this was done we have telegraphic information that Osmond has covered 23 miles 126 yards within the hour. The papers have not yet been received giving particulars of this claim. It will be seen from the above that the record breakers across the pond have set a pretty fast pace for this early in the season, and the question is where is the limit? Rowe's wonderful records for any machine from one mile up to the hour stood quite a long time, but one by one they have been wiped out, and now not one of those marvellous records stand. The thorn that has rankled in the side of Mr. Lacy Hillier for so many years has at last been withdrawn, and now that "the Yankees'" records have been demolished, he will probably admit that they were bona fide.

OUR editorial note of last week in re the suit being brought vs. the city of Boston for damages in consequence of injuries received by a cyclist falling into an unguarded trench, has brought out the fact that a similar case is pending in Washington, D. C. In this case the cycler rode into a hole in the concrete on a dark night, the hole being unguarded and unlighted. It is well for our readers to know that corporations are liable for damages in such cases as these, where negligence to properly guard and mark by a light any hole, trench or obstruction in the public highway, and for the existence of which the corporation is responsible.

WE never have been in sympathy with the unreasonable opposition made by certain cyclists to the use of lamps on cycles after dark. In several instances a great uproar and cry of injustice has been raised by riders residing in cities where an ordinance has been talked of compelling riders to use lamps after dark. It does seem that as a matter of self-defence and preservation from accident, cyclists would be willing to conform to what, in our mind, appears to be a very reasonable law. If, however, cycles are compelled to carry lights the ordinance should likewise be enforced as to other carriages, and riders would be taking an honorable stand and one that would command respect if they accepted the law and lived up to it, but likewise insisting that other vehicles be compelled to carry lights. The only possible reason for the opposition is found in the paltry expense and trivial bother involved; but what are these when compared to the increased protection against accident and the almost sure success of securing damages in cases where the other fellow is to blame? In the name of common sense and the increased immunity against broken limbs and perhaps fatal accidents, cyclists, withdraw your opposition to ordinances compelling the carrying of lighted lamps after dark!

GOOD common horse sense is shown by the Commonwealth, of Covington, Ky., in upholding the idea of convict labor on the highways:

"Tennessee, like Kentucky, has many thousand acres of fertile land which are rendered worthless on account of the poor roads over which the produce must be hauled to find a market. To put convicts' labor on these roads would put bread in the farmers' mouths and improve the value of the land many fold. This plan would throw no workmen out of their positions, but would open up a new country, which would demand the attention of many."

Convicts ought to be kept at some sort of work, so that the financial load on the public to maintain the penal institutions be lightened. There has been a great cry against convict labor and not without cause, for while the output of every prison in the way of manufactured goods is but a drop in the great national bucket, it has effected local enterprises so as to bear hard on "honest labor." Certainly in the employment of convicts as suggested by the Covington paper, would not only be no detriment to "honest labor," but an actual help.

The scheme is worth the experiment, and we do not doubt but that after a fair and systematic trial, convict labor on the highways would be accepted as a solution of the difficult problem as to "what shall we do with our convicts?"

OUR St. Louis correspondent "Linneus" sends in the following note:

"As a direct outcome of the antagonism of the A. A. U. caused by their prohibiting Sunday games, the Western Association of Amateur Athletes was reorganized recently, and every local club of any prominence has joined the organization. The only local club which the A. A. U. has now left in the West are the Pastimes of this city, and the chances of their giving games are very slim. The W. A. A. A. championships will be decided on September 8th, and a meeting will be held to-morrow to decide on the events."

It will be observed that the reason given for the formation of the W. A. A. A. is because of the antagonism of the A. A. U. to Sunday games. We do not hesitate to record ourselves as being in perfect sympathy with the Eastern association in its antagonism to Sunday games, and it is to be regretted that any organizatian of amateur athletes should formally place itself on record as being in favor of same. Of course public opinion may in the West be in favor of "liberality" in the matter of observing Sunday, and a large proportion of the Western people and a small proportion of the Easterners undoubtedly look on those who do object to Sunday racing as being "Puritanical," "narrow minded" and "behind the times." We are however, glad that the two leading athletic associations, the A. A. U. and L. A. W., are shoulder to shoulder in the matter of opposing Sunday games and races. The vast majority of the English speaking people, the wide world over are against it. In the West you see more plainly than in the East, the reflex of Continental customs in the use of Sunday, and while we do not for a moment desire to have it understood that we who oppose Sunday events imagine ourselves any better or holier than those who believe in them, we do believe that the principle involved is one that cannot be lightly treated. The West is apt to look on the East as being old fogy and conservative, and without discussing the pros and cons of this question we think that the word "conservative" can be applied to the West with equal force, inasmuch as the rushing business habits of the early days of settlement still control. Holidays are not frequent enough in the West, and business hours are too long; as a community in the large Western cities the rich, prosperous business men work hours which to a New Yorker, Philadelphian or a Bostonian are unknown. The Western man "hasn't time" to play during week days, and so he crowds all his pleasure into Sunday, and he doesn't see any way out of it. Herein he is "conservative," and herein the difference between the Western man and the Eastern; the Westerner is for "business" every day in the week, and long hours at that, while the Eastern man realizes that the human machinery needs a let up from "the grind," though none can question his ability to dispatch business. Time will work the change so that the West will be able to take more breathing spells during week days, and when that time comes we shall not hear any more about the necessity of using Sunday as a day for race meets, base ball games and other public sports.

It is to be hoped that our Western readers will not take offence at our views, but we would ask them to reflect and see if they cannot find some grains of reason in the few words we have written on this matter?

For generosity in money matters and wholesouled hospitality the Westerners have a world wide reputation; there is nothing mean or small about a Westerner. Now if he would be more merciful to his own brain and body and follow the lines of the English and Easterners by taking more recreation on week days, he would gain physically, and not be one bit poorer.

WE note with regret the growing tendency of certain cyclers to abuse the privileges enjoyed by Boston wheelmen in the use of the reservoir driveways for record breaking purposes. The authorities of Boston have always been exceedingly generous in extending courtesies to wheelmen in allowing the use of the Park system and the public highways for road racing purposes. The same courteous privileges have been extended by the authorities of the suburban districts, and it is therefore with regret that we notice a disposition to abuse these privileges.

There is only one result that can come of the persistent use of the driveways of the reservoir for record breaking purposes, and that is, the patience of the authorities and the public will become exhausted, and the use of the park driveways will be forbidden to cyclers. It seems too bad that the enjoyment of the many should be jeopardized by the thoughtlessness of the few, and we hope that before the matter becomes too great a nuisance the authorities will take steps to stop this record riding business even at the risk of disgruntling some score of our fast riders. We believe that the misuse of the park driveways for this purpose is the outcome of thoughtlessness, and it is only necessary to give the word to have the practice stopped at once.

TO some minds it seems absurd to suppose that the time will ever come when cash prizes at race meetings will take the place of the present kind of prizes awarded amateurs. There are, however, many in this country who to-day favor such a change, while in Australia we are informed that the establishment of cash prize system has proven a great success. Our informant states that in Victoria alone since the adoption of the new order of things in November 1890, over 3000 sovs. cash have been awarded in prizes, as against 1300 sovs. value in prizes for the season of 1889-90. The sport has increased in popularity, and during the great Austral meeting the attendance for the two days reached the enormous number of 43,000. The expenses of this meeting alone were 1400 sovs. As to the moral effect of this new departure our informant claims that it has "brought about straight riding, and has entirely done away with the faking up of races!" Here we have claims which entirely upset all our preconceived ideas, and when we repeated the conclusions to a well known cyclist citing above as coming from our Australian friend, he remarked, "Well, the Australians must be a different breed of human beings than what we have on this side of the globe." We must say we think so too, and while the first trial in Australia may seem to prove a big success, we want to see the test of time applied before we acknowledge our mistake in opposing the idea of cash prizes for amateurs.

THE appointment of a Chicago man on the Racing Board gives the Western metropolis and hence the West at large another representative on that Board. With Mr. Collister and Mr. Street on the Racing Board the West ought not to feel that it is left out in the cold.

"THE SEABOARD ASSOCIATION" has raised Cain with some cyclers because of the false report emanating from an enemy of the administration to the effect that the League had paid $1000 cash to the said association. In the first place permit us to throw a bomb into the enemies camp by stating that the Seaboard Association does not exist and never has existed. How's that for a pill for a so called well posted cycling editor to swallow? Whether it is malice or ignorance that will be put in evidence to explain the mistake we care not. The individual has impaled himself on the horns of a dilemma, and presents the ridiculous appearance of being absolutely unreliable. Now as to the shadowy existence of the Seaboard Association. Some months ago a party of gentlemen cyclists and engineers who are interested in the repair and renovation of the old post roads running along the coast from New York to Boston met, and after much preliminary talk it was decided to form an association to be known as the Seaboard Association, providing fifty names could be secured to the articles of incorporation or formation. At that time fifteen names were signed, and since then we are advised that not another name has been added, hence according to the conditions the association never has assumed concrete form!

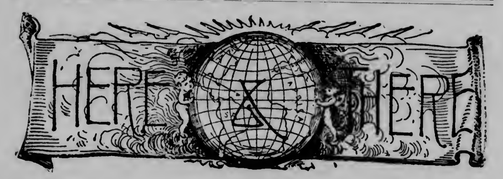
We ask our readers to form their own opinion of a man who poses as an authority on cycling matters, and who could have gotten the facts in the case if he had so chosen, going round and deliberately distributing the false statement that the League had paid $1000 to an organization which only existed in imagination.

THE inventor of the machine which is to carry a man at the rate of eighty miles an hour (?) makes very light of the problem of "windage." We remember we asked him how he expected to overcome this very important point, and he answered us much in the same way that he is reported by the Worcester Telegram "by affirming that the wedge shaped front of the wheel formed by the narrow rubber tire and three inch wide sprocket wheel will break the force of the air and send it whizzing by on each side of the rider." This is a very pretty theory as far as it goes, but we doubt if it goes far enough. It may be of interest to note that no less an authority than the American Machinist has figured that it would take a power equal to about 50 H. P. to overcome the resistance of a body equal to the size of a man when propelled at the rate of eighty miles per hour. If this calculation is correct can we conceive of a man being able to stand the air pressure or drive any wheel at the rate of seventy-three miles per hour? a speed and distance Mr. Beranger claimed to us he had accomplished in Montreal.

"HAWKSHAW" comes out heavy this week in a letter addressed to "Tertius" on the "Crock" vs. cash prize question. "Hawkshaw" must have been innoculated with some of the Australian virus, as he comes out boldly in favor of the adoption of the cash prize system.

METROPOLITAN MUSINGS.

THE carelessness which riders hereabouts are displaying in their abuse of the privileges accorded them by the authorities of the small towns which are weekly visited on club runs is causing some stringent rules to be framed in reference to bicyclists. Until last season there was very little objection brought to bear against the use of the sidepaths on Long Island, but early in '89 the Jamaica Town Board promulgated an ordinance forbidding the continued use of the village sidewalks. A few other towns followed this example also. The wheelmen were naturally incensed. Some openly disobeyed the mandate, and narrowly escaped a serious fine. But to cap the climax the Jamaica people, it is now asserted, have become indignant at the continued disregard for their laws, so have concluded to fine any bicyclist the sum of five dollars if found even wheeling his machine along the walks. While this is pushing things to the limit, it is only what could be expected. Week after week on Long Island and in other places riders continually ignore pedestrians while utilizing the walks. If men will persist in using the paths, which in many cases are much preferable to the roads, a polite request to a person or persons on foot for room to pass will invariably be granted willingly. This rushing at a tremendous speed close on to the heels of pedestrians and giving a rough demand for roadway causes at times an unexpected fright, naturally makes pedestrians indignant and prejudices them against wheelmen.



There are rumors of steps being taken this fall by the New York clubs to hold a parade on a plan similiar to the recent Brooklyn tournament. Such a venture should prove a big success. The Brooklyn parade was a big boom for the dealers and a gain of many new members for the city clubs. Let the New York clubs attempt the scheme. They are sure to meet with success.

The Manhattan Bicycle Club in losing J. A. Clairmonte as president will miss an energetic officer. Mr. Clairmonte has occupied the presidential chair of the club for some years. He has watched and lent his aid for fostering the growth of the organization for years so that he can now retire from the head of the club positive that he is leaving it in a good condition. The Manhattans since moving into their new club house some months ago have been adding new members to their roll quite rapidly, so that they bid fair to become the leading organization in the city.

The Athletic Club racers are taking a brief rest from their arduous training duties. The New York's men are scattered in different sections. Early in August they will go up to Travers Island and commence training for the fall circuit. It is expected that the circuit will be a record breaker so that the men will train diligently and I think that Hoyland Smith will be the speediest man on the N. Y. A. C. team this fall.

There seems te be no end of discussion on that troublesome Rule G. Both sides, viz., the East and West, bring up some strong facts which strengthens the cause of both. But why not let the matter rest? There will be plenty of time for wrangling at Hartford in September. There are plenty of cosy spots in Hartford where persons can peacefully discuss the points of both sides of the story to their hearts content. The men in this section are not letting the matter cause them one bit of annoyance, let the West put an end to this nauseous discussion. Reserve everything for the Hartford meeting, for considerable breath that is now being wasted will I think, be required then.

WORDS of wisdom from an exchange: "The cycle was invented to help us, not to make us work. Ride at a decent pace, walk bad hills, have a siesta under the trees or by the river occasionally, use your wheel sensibly, and you will be happier, wealthier and heavier."

Two young riders of Providence, R. I., Roger W. Polk and Albert T. Lenan, started for New York city, June 29, Monday morning, arriving on Brooklyn bridge at 5 o'clock the following Wednesday evening, taking three days for the trip. They went by the way of New London, crossing to Long Island, finding some very good and very bad riding.

THE Misses Fitts of Plainfield, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Green, Master Volney Green, and John Crawford, lately took a week's trip through the hills of North New Jersey. The Misses Fitts are counted as the most expert lady riders in Plainfield.

A CLUB of ladies in Toledo, Ohio, has organized under the name of the Toledo Ladies' Bicycle Club. The charter members will number some 30 to 40. Miss Grace Gifford is the prime mover in the organization.

A SUIT for $10,000 damages has been brought vs. F. A. Berry by M. A. Syphax, both of Washington, D. C., for damages on the charge that defendant Berry, while riding a bicycle, carelessly ran into M. Syphax July 11, '90, and so injured him that he was confined to the house until the day of his death, June 15, '91, and that death resulted from the said injuries inflicted.

OAKLAND, Cal., has a new bicycle club, the third one in that city. It was organized June 20, and starts in with a charter membership of 18. The name chosen is the Alameda County Wheelmen.

J. JAY ROSS, an ex-member of the Wanderers Bicycle Club of Toronto, is forming an ex-members club in Chicago. Twenty names will shortly be enrolled. Mr. Ross was for eight years a popular member of the Wanderers.

MR. GRIFFITH of Detroit sends us the following: "A number of wheelmen made application while in Detroit for membership to the L. A. W., and in making out the blank omitted their addresses. It is impossible for me to send their applications until I get their addresses. Will all those persons please send their name and address to A. H. Griffith, Detroit, Mich."

THE members of the Maanexit Cycle Club of Webster, Mass., had a very enjoyable lantern parade on the 23d instant, being assisted by wheelmen from Grosvenordale, Conn., Oxford, Mass., and riders in town who do not see the superior advantage of a membership in the above mentioned club. The parade was in charge of Capt. Capron of the Maanexits. Special mention should be made of the decorations on the wheels of our visitors from Grosvenordale who spared no pains to help the affair along to a successful termination. After the parade the wheelmen took a run to Lake Chaubungamaug, where refreshments were served, after which all hands embarked for a steamer ride around the lake.

FIFTY-SIX miles is not much of a run when the distance is made over a good road, but it must stand as a big feat when accomplished over a route via Fenton, High Ridge, Morse's Mill, Hillsboro, and Victoria to DeSoto. P. M. Kramer and W. P. Lath of the Missouris, of St. Louis, accomplished the ride last Sunday and hold the record for the longest run of the season

Outing for August is rich in interesting matter. Where the publishers manage to find such a wealth of delightful information about travel, sports, and pastimes is a mystery; but they do find it month after month, and that it can be found is a great credit to our people. The love of nature and the intimate acquaintance with every gentlemanly amusement displayed by the contributors to Outing's pages is an encouraging indication of a national leaning toward a healthier style of literature and toward those beneficial exercises which tend to build up a stalwart nation and assure for Americans a proud position among the great powers of the world.

THE New Hampshire Division hand book is out, and we are indebted to the compiler, MR. R. H. SCOTT, Secretary-Treasurer of the Division, for a copy of same.

AUGUST first will see the Oak Park Cycling Club of Chicago occupying the basement of their new club house now being built for them. September first they will take possession of the entire house.

"JASPER" of Buffalo says: To Detroit Buffalo sends greeting—Well satisfied with its treatment in the City of the Straits, and feels with the very limited experience of the projectors of the meet that they have accomplished wonders; therefore we extend a hearty vote of thanks to all the officers of the Detroit meet from the genial "Griff" down to "Griff's" Chinaman.

FOR some reason the cyclists of Chicago will not conduct their annual camp this season. A number of them will stop at the Nagowiesea cottage, Waukesha County, Wisconsin, the first two weeks in August.

WE are afraid Sam Miles will feel a bit lonesome in his opposition to the Alliance and his fidelity to the famous Rule G. A good deal of light was let in as to the untruthfulness of certain statements that had been flying round unchallenged for some time and we think that such men as High, Brewster, Betts and Garden went away from Detroit feeling that the L. A. W. had not gone to the "demnition bow wows," and had not been sold out to the A. A. U. absolutely. We, however, look forward with pleasure to the "dance" promised us at Hartford, but as MR. MILES promises to furnish the music we do not expect that our feet will have to move to a very lively tune.

INCIDENT observed by "Jasper" at the terminus of the 25-mile road race at Detroit, July 16th: mother and small child with the crowd awaiting the appearance of the road racers.

Child—"Mother, how will I know them? Will they look like Indians!"

Mother—"No, child, they will look worse than Indians."

LAFFERTY, the Detroit wheelman from Nashville, Tenn., is now very much interested in the latest novelty in cycle saddles. Ask him.

"JASPER" says: "Thanks, Messrs. Overman for the music of the band; also for the pleasure of witnessing Dan Canary's excellent display of "Corio."

DIED at Buffalo, N. Y., July 16th, 1891, Frank W. Potter, M. D., aged 32 years. In the death of DR. Frank Potter we mourn the loss of a well educated man, a cultured and refined writer, an enthusiastic wheelman, and a scholarly specialist. He will long be missed from amongst his friends. He leaves a wife and two young children who will miss a kind and affectionate husband and an indulgent father.

THE L. A. W. now outnumbers the C. T. C. of England by several hundred.

MR. H. G. ROUSE of Peoria was in Boston a few days ago. He paid the WORLD office a visit.

STOLEN, Wednesday, July 22, 1891, one black Diamond safety bicycle, marked with figure 8 on handle bar, and factory No. 1737 has rear mud guard broken off at frame, and minus front mud guard. The hirer gave the name of Frank Wilson, 42 Columbia street, Brooklyn, was well dressed, spoke with a German accent, medium height, wore a Derby hat; wheel was hired from J. W. Bate & Co., 324 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn.

CLARENCE E. VAUPEL, Wm. O. Mathews and Ed. D. Hester, of Cleveland left Detroit Monday to tour to Niagara Falls through Canada. They spent Sunday riding about town. They will ride back by the way of Buffalo and Erie.

JOSEPH C. PERROTT and R. K. Higgins, of the Oswego (N. Y.) Wheel Club, touring from Rochester reached Detroit last Sunday. They left Rochester on the 21st and had a pleasant run through Canada. They will tour back, going to Toledo, Cleveland, and then Buffalo, via the Erie course.

THE younger cyclers of Detroit have a cycle club on the West Side, with headquarters on Cass avenue. They call the club the Wolverine Wheelmen.

CYCLING has been lying dormant for some time at Kansas City, just because that city did not have a first class club. On July 16 the Kansas City Cyclists were organized with twenty-five charter members, officers elected, and it will not be many moons before the membership will include every League member in that city.

REPORTS are that MR. HANKINS of Chicago has agreed to put a good track in his west side grounds, the bicycle track to be placed inside the enclosure of the horse track. A grand stand opposite the main one and outside both tracks is to be built, and races run every Saturday afternoon for prizes under Hankin's management.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., has long been a favorite stopping place with our wheelmen, but in spite of her good streets she did not boast a single cyclist until this year. A number of wheels were sold there in the spring, popular prejudice was downed, and now the city has over a dozen riders who will shortly form a club.

JAMES M. MCGINLEY of the Roxbury Bicycle Club has made arrangements to join the touring party of New York wheelmen in the proposed ride through the Shenandoah Valley. The party will start August 8 from New York for Richmond, Va., via Philadelphia, Coatsville, York, Gettysburg, Winchester to Luray Caverns and Staunton, Va. The return trip will be made by steamer of the Old Dominion line, leaving Point Comfort, Va., for New York City. The riding distance is about 380 miles.

MR. ROBBINS, in his report in the Review of the Detroit meeting, speaks of Mr. A. D. Peck, Jr., as being the captain of the "Old Boston Club. Error, Mr. Robbins. Mr. Peck never was a member of the old Bostons, but he is and has been captain of the Massachusetts Club of Boston.

THE Algona (Iowa) Cyclers thirst for the scalps and the lucre of other Iowa wheelmen, and they want to plank down any amount of hard cash that Bert Edmunds can beat any live man in Iowa that straddles a cycle!

THE handicapper's lot is not a happy one, and yet the man who kicked at Detroit because an opponent got twenty minutes start in a twenty-five mile handicap race should not be blamed. It really means about a five-mile start over scratch man.

THE train on the G. T. R. R. that brought the Eastern contingent home from Detroit was detained some fifty minutes at London, Ont. "The crazy Yankees" amused themselves by walking up and down the platform with their trousers turned up, and on being asked the reason asserted that "it rained in London."

Two Louisville, Ky., cyclers went out the other day for a short ride. On the road they espied a nice plum orchard. One of them offered to ride over the field, get some plums and return. The other fellow agreed to the plan and seated himself on the fence to await the return of the forager with the plums. The owner of the orchard also owned a bull dog and that bull purp seeing the marauder started for him. The dog was under full headway when discovered, and a very exciting race for the fence ensued. Part of the ground was quite rough, and the man was at a decided disadvantage. The dog was rapidly overhauling his game when the waiting cycler, from a safe perch on the fence, called out: "Ride, d——n it, ride!" As the flying wheelman made a last desperate leap for safety, he cast a look of infinite disgust upon his companion, and shouted: "Ride! d——n it! do you think I am selling this race?

THE Connecticut Division, L. A. W., has just revised its road book of the State, which is as useful as it is neat and comprehensive. It is gotten up in pocket size, with leather binding, and gives separate maps of all the counties of Connecticut and West Chester, N. Y. Bicycle roads reported are shown in red lines, and their condition stated by a system of grading.

A WRITER in the Picayune of New Orleans says: "Ladies hereabouts are puzzling their brain to know what to wear on a wheel, as the heavy goods worn North are too warm in this climate. If any lady can suggest a becoming and suitable costume for the Southern wheelwomen, she will confer a great favor upon many of her sex who ride the wheel."

THAT youth, E. McDuffee, of West Everett, Mass., promises a speed which will make him second to none in this country. Last Sunday Berlo, Burnham and McDuffee for fun tried the quarter-mile stretch at the reservoir. Berlo did it in 34 1-5, Burnham in 34 1-2, and McDuffee something less than 34. Their watches were held and two made it 33, while the other stopped at 34. The timing though faulty showed that McDuffee was moving very fast. There is no doubt they covered the quarter, but there is doubt as to the exactness of the timing.

THOSE views taken at Schweinfurth's "Heaven," near Rockford, last Fourth, on the occasion of the Illinois Division, L. A. W. Meet, are pronounced excellent by the Rockford members, Chicago riders have seen none of them as yet.

IF a Boston man hasn't enough pelf to buy a first-class ticket to the abode of his dearly beloved he just mounts his wheel and gets there. Such a man started from Boston for San Francisco, where his lady love lives, some two months ago, and the last heard of him he was at Lyons, Kansas.

THE Danish Government has decreed that cycles in the cities can not exceed the speed allowed to cabs.

R. L. EDE, the wonderful road record breaker, is well named the "Pocket Hercules." He weighs less than 110 pounds. Van Sickien has also a new name which is "Van Cyclone."

THOS. G. ALLEN of Ferguson, Mo., and Wm. Sachtleben of Alton, Mo., are riding round the world on cycles. The latest advices from these intrepid tourists are dated from the village of Eutram, on the borders of Persia and in the vicinity of Mt. Ararat.

AS a result of the Illinois Division meet at Rockford, the Rockford Cycling Club will have a brown stone front club house of ample dimensions. Financially they fared well, but they regret exceedingly the absence of programmes at the race track and the editor's ourageous work in maligning the Chicago ladies.

IT is amusing to notice the glib way in which the general press speaks of mechanical inventions. They speak of gears and cogs and speed as freely as though there was no such thing as friction, ratio of power to speed, and a hundred and one mechanical laws which are as unchangeable as the earth's movements. Still, when we think that Keeley fooled hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the pockets of apparently hard headed men of business by his claim that he made something out of nothing, can we wonder that the general newspaper man is ready to swallow stories to the effect that a speed of 40 to 85 miles per hour is an easy possibility on a cycle?

OUR New York contemporary is a bit premature in preaching a funeral sermon over the supposed corpse of the Livingston Cycle Co. The company is pretty sick, yea sick unto death, but there is a faint glimmer of hope that the patient may get well. On Thursday, July 30, a meeting of creditors will be held in Boston, and at that meeting there will be developed some facts which will create a good deal of interest among the creditors and others. In the mean time such information as we have is held in confidence until the creditors' meeting, which will take place as above noted.

S. A. MILES, official handicapper, was presented with a handsome gold-headed cane as a memento of his work in superintending of Green Bay and Wisconsin Division races Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

THE general tone of the press in regard to the meet at Detroit is not complimentary. Are we getting to be chronic grumblers or is there really reason for complaint?

LAST Tuesday evening the Ravenswood Cycling Club, Chicago, but three months old, gave the opening reception at its elegant club rooms in the Holcomb building. The ladies of the club had done their best and the rooms were elegantly decorated. Roses were banked in nooks and large bouquets placed on all the tables. Works of art adorned the wall. Two hundred and fifty people inspected the rooms and were served with ice cream and cake.

MR. F. E. WEAVER of New Haven was the means of capturing a cycle thief. A machine was stolen from H. C. Curtis of Buffalo, N. Y., June 30th by a man named Russell, who shipped it to his brother, R. E. Russell, in New Haven. This man presented the wheel for sale to F. E. Weaver of New Haven, who suspecting something wrong had the man arrested, and the above facts were brought out. Mr. Weaver is to be congratulated on his acuteness.

RALPH TEMPLE has received many flattering offers to give trick riding exhibitions this fall. Sunday evening last he showed something of his old form and delighted a large audience of a performance of "A Night in Pekin" at South Park, Chicago.

N. H. VAN SICKLEN'S time medal at Detroit was very flimsy and not of enough account to carry home. He received, however, from J. E. Poorman of Cincinnati a fine easy chair, and now feels better.

EARLY in September the Washington Cycle Club, Chicago, will run a ten mile road race over Washington boulevard from Robinson avenue West.

HARRY LEEMING, the famous English trainer, is now located permanently in Chicago. He is employed by the Coventry Machinists' Co., and will train a number of racing men for the fall races.

AT a special meeting held by the Oak Park Cycling Club of Chicago this last week it was decided that the new club house should have no stage in the large hall, thus making the room 80x40 feet, and gladdening the hearts of the indoor base ball enthusiasts. Thirty-two members were present, and many personal remarks were passed and as promptly squelched.

H. C. KNISELEY, one of the oldest and most popular members of the Illinois Cycling Club of Chicago, extended an invitation to his club mates to visit his house last Sunday. Little did he know how popular such an invitation was. The Illinoisians turned out in force and overflowed his pretty home at Hinsdale. Later they rode to Brush Hill, a quaint little suburb of Chicago.

PICTURESQUE Music's Ferry, Mo., was the scene of a gathering of Missouri Club members of St. Louis recently, and the hostess, Mrs. Warren, not only entertained the club in fine style but also furnished a complimentary dinner. On the way home it was decided to present Mrs. Warren with a token of the club's esteem, a committee was appointed to attend to the matter, and last Saturday an elegant silver water service, suitably engraved, was presented to Mrs. Warren with the compliments of the Missouri Bicycle and Athletic Club.

"SPEAKING of Bishop Coxe," observed the exchange editor, loosening his collar, "why doesn't he say something about that notorious female rider in Germany?"

The financial editor braced himself firmly, seized a paper weight, and inquired:

"What female rider?"

"Em Bargo on the American hog," answered the exchange editor.

The financial editor laid down his weapon, put on his hat, and went sadly out. It was the worst one he had ever heard.—Chicago Tribune.

THE Lake View Cycling Club of Chicago has quarters at 59 St. James place. As this is their first club house in their two years of existence, they have a nice tidy little sum to furnish the house.

MESSRS. H. L. ROBERTS, Gilbert F. Wiese and A. H. MacOwen, members of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, with Mr. Chester Roberts, brother of the first named gentleman, have just completed one of the longest tours ever indulged in by Philadelphia Wheelmen. The trip was to the White Mountains via New York, Newport, Boston, thence to Plymouth (Mass.,) back through Boston, Salem to Portsmouth, to Plymouth (N. H.), Woodstock, through the Franconia Notch to the Profile House, thence to Fort Ticonderoga, Saratoga Springs, Albany, and down the Hudson to New York and home. A total distance of over 1000 miles.

EVERY once in so often we hear of a cycler being run away with because of the lack of brake. We think it about as safe to ride a bicycle without a brake, as it would be to drive without a bit a horse which had the bad habit of running away.

BUFFALONIANS complain of the fast riding of bicycles in the park and the use of obscene language by loafers afoot. The City Government has taken the matter up, and it will go hard with the fast riders and the other gentry.

S. J. BLACK of Cleveland, Ohio, is said to be touring from that city to San Francisco on a wager of $1000 that he can do the trip on money he receives en route from exhibitions that he proposed to give. At last accounts he had ridden as far as Tremont, Neb.

A MIXTURE of a little pepper and salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of lemon juice beaten with a couple of eggs is taken by Swedish cyclists when they cecome tired and thirsty. The name they give the conglomeration is "forlorn oysters."

THAT 85-mile per hour machine of Mr. Belanger's is reported as almost ready for the public trial.

ISAAC B. POTTER, Esq., acknowledging the receipt of a copy of the Maine road book, wrote as follows: "It appears to be most admirably gotten up, both as to design and arrangement, and the addition of descriptive foot notes and memoranda of side runs is a feature which places it at the head of the list."

ROUTE THROUGH LONG ISLAND.

SEEING by your paper that MR. R. P. JENKS of Providence asks for the route through Long Island by way of the South Shore, I send you this as I took nearly the same route last year. I went from New York to Greenport by way of College Point, because I was told, by Capt. Nisbett of the New York Bicycle Club, that it was the best way for me to go. For Mr. Jenk's benefit I will reverse my tour.

Taking the steamer Manhansett from New London across the Sound, I reached Greenport; I think the steamer leaves New London at 9 A. M. Twenty-two miles southwest of Greenport is Riverhead. The sidepaths are very good, and I used them nearly all the way, and when there was none I found the road good. Only having learned to ride a year before I took my time about it, and it took me three hours, but it has been done in two. I passed through Southold, Mattituck and Franklinville. At Riverhead I turned South and go through New Hyde Park to Little Neck. But I guess your route will be to Brooklyn by way of Jamaica (18 miles.) The map I used is one published by Gustav Kobbe, 251 Broadway, N. Y., at a cost of ten cents.

I left College Point at 11.30 A. M. Wednesday. At eight that night I reached Islip, 50 miles. Leaving Islip at 9.30 the next morning, I reached Riverhead at 7.30 P. M., (50 miles;) 8.30 Friday found me in the saddle again, and I reached Greenport at 11.30 A. M., just two days from College Point, and a distance of 122 miles.

Another Transcontinental Tour on the EAGLE.

Nelson A. Bradt finishes his trip to San Francisco on his Eagle. Riding days, 62; distance travelled, 4420 miles; average, 71 1-5 miles per day.

What he says about his wheel:

San Francisco, Cal., July 13, 1891.

Eagle Bicycle Co., Stamford, Conn.

Gentlemen:--Having finished my tour of 4420 miles across the country (from New York to San Francisco), I desire to inform you of the present condition of my "Eagle" after such a trip.

Were it not for a broken side brace (which I broke by a heavy fall on a rock in the Rocky Mountains) the wheel would be as good and as staunch as it was the day I left New York City. The nickelling is as fine as ever it was, and the spokes are as firm as can be.

All in all I assure you that the Eagle is considered by me to be the most durable, easiest riding, handsomest and best wheel on earth.

With this 4420 miles covered while on my recent trip, I have ridden the Eagle over 7000 miles since January 1st last, as I am endeavoring to ride 10,000 miles during 1891.

Respectfully yours,
NELSON A. BRADT,
The Trans. Continental Cyclist, New York to San Francisco, April 1 to July 4.

The Eagle has won a reputation as a wheel for speed and for scorchers.

It has also won a reputation as a wheel for solid, every-day riding, and the trip of Mr. Bradt an illustration of its touring qualities.

For all around use it cannot be beaten.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS IN FRANCE.

THE glorious Fourth—the birthday of our National Independence, the day of Fireworks and Freedom—has come and gone again, and all that is left are a few empty glasses, scraps of a big dinner terribly dealt with, and many pleasant recollections. The tourists were called early this morning and it was probably the first time for any of us to awaken on that day and not hear the noise of fire-cracker or the boom of cannon, the usual American demonstration. There was a sort of lonesomeness in the very atmosphere as we walked down to an early cafe au lait, but we resolved to make the best we could of it. The evening before, arrangements were made for a game of base ball, in which all the tourists were to take part. Spielman and Cutter had been appointed captains, and they selected their men as follows: Spielman, Higgins, Hoffman, Tuttle, Swan, ReQua, Miller, and Rupp; Cutter, Gilbert, Goodrich, Marquard, Shockley, Huggins, Eldridge, and Baker; Linn, umpire, and McCutcheon, scorer. It was a good selection, and bets ran high—so high they all vanished above the clouds.

A coach was procured and we repaired to the ground selected for the contest. We did not adhere to the rules governing the national game, for we had to take into consideraton the inability of the other side to successfully compete with us, and we did not wish to take any undue advantage of them. Perhaps the other side had the same consideration for us, but we overlook it if they did. There was to be no curving of the ball, no calling of strikes, no crippling of the man at bat, and a ball put over the fence was out. And this last rule was a good one, I must say; for when we could not get the other side out on scientific playing we let them knock the ball over the fence. Cutter's side went to the bat first. Great consternation filled us when we were put out without a tally, and not a ball had gone over the fence. We revived, though, when the other side retired with the same good score. However, the fellows began to get down to business and the scorer had more work to do. So fierce was the pitching that it required three men behind the bat to stop the ball, and even then a stone fence did most of the stopping. The umpire did excellent work, he kept quiet. It was an exciting game; the ball got lost in the grass, the pitchers and catchers were changed as often as they became paralyzed beneath the awful strain upon their system. The result of the game when we retired for lunch was eight to seven in favor of Spielman's side. Our dark horse that we had hoped to spring on them and defeat them proved one of a different color, and we accepted the defeat. We rode back to the hotel inside the coach, while the victorious party rode on top, hung their legs over the side and yelled. As we enjoy cushions instead of hard seats we gladly rode inside. After lunch our wheels were made ready, and after decorating them and ourselves with red, white and blue ribbon, in honor of the day, we started for Dole. A rainstorm had made the road slippery, and we kept up a good speed to escape a coming shower. However, Spiel had his necktie on, and those who had faith in it lingered behind. They "reckoned without their host," for it rained and they got wet. The necktie must have been hoodooed by the colored garters Spiel wore outside his trousers. We all sat down to the table happy and hungry, and after the dinner Higgins arose and addressed the company with a few remarks pertaining to the occasion and appointed McCutcheon as toast master. No better selection could have been made for Mack did his part in good style. He called upon the tourists to respond to various toasts. Those who made speeches were Rupp, who cleared up in the minds of the doubtful all the points of free trade and the McKinley bill; his remarks were greeted with great applause. Shockley, ReQua, Cutter, Spiel, Huggins, and Rastus, came in with good effect. Colors waved "and the band played." Eldridge presided at the piano, and several national airs were sung with an enthusiasm that was immense. It was an impressive occasion, the walls swelled out several times when the demonstrations were loudest, and the villagers who were looking in at the windows wondered what kind of craziness had taken possession of the queer animals from America.

Here we were, a band of wheelmen in a little corner of the world, away from the "Land of Freedom," away from home and the small boy with his fire-crackers and powder-burnt fingers, trying to celebrate that day to which all Americans look forward with pride and expectation. If the enthusiasm that filled us on this occasion always possesses the Americans at home the glorious Fourth of July will never be forgotten.

ARE THEY WHEELMEN?

EVERY little while some "enthusiastic" wheelman who has just learned to ride a safety around a corner without falling off feels a yearning desire to reform the sport and alter the costume of riders. Ingenious theories and plausible arguments are advanced to show that it is just as easy to ride a bicycle in starched linen and broadcloth as in the negligee jersey. The law of Moses and the Revised Statutes are offered as proof that the ordinary bicycle costume is immodest, dangerous and corrupting to the morals of the public. The rider who has ever done any touring never objects to knee breeches and long stockings after he has once tried them. And so far as appearances are concerned no one will deny that a neat bicycle costume is more appropriate than the baggy trousers and shirt sleeves of the rider who spreads his knees and wobbles over the road in a zigzag course that would do credit to a man on his way home after an all-night "booze." With a slouchy costume it is as impossible to ride in good form as it is to appear dignified in wet clothes.

Of course a business man who uses his wheel for business purposes only cannot wear a cycling costume, nor is he expected to; particularly if he is very bow-legged. But where an excess of modesty prevents a wheelman from displaying his calves in the fashion followed by George Washington, he should wear a Jeness-Miller costume or a Mother Hubbard and a sun bonnet.

A gentleman who was an inveterate sidewalk rider and wore a plug hat, white tie and Prince Albert coat, was once induced by the writer to accompany him upon a tour of about fifty-five miles. The utmost persuasion could only bring the gentleman to conform to the occasion by donning a flannel shirt, straw hat and lawn tennis shoes. After riding ten miles the long trousers and heavy underclothing began to tell, and frequent stops were made "to gather shells and look for wild flowers" where there were none. At last he sat down by the roadside and removed his shoes and stockings to allow his feet to cool. As only thirty miles had been covered in seven hours he was advised to take the train for the rest of the trip. This is a fair example of the staying qualities developed by the sidewalk exercise taken by these riders who want to dress in a costume befitting an afternoon call, and who use the wheel as a cab.

As it is a recognized fact that cycling involves a certain amount of physical labor it is certainly sensible to adapt one's dress to its requirements. The bicycle rider who never wears a cycling costume usually looks and rides like a guy, and rarely gets rid of the wobbling, bow-legged motion of the new rider. The question arises, are these people entitled to be called wheelmen?

SYSTEM (?) IN ROAD REPAIRING.

IN one of the most picturesque parts of Massachusetts there was a beautiful country road which began its course in a small but prosperous village, and followed a winding stream up among the quiet hills. For many miles it was a delightful drive. A dozen years ago an iron mine was opened in one of these hills, and great wagons carrying several tons of ore came daily down the road to the railroad station in the village. Such loads were too much for this road, whose foundation was only natural soil. The wheels cut down deep, and when the rains descended became a wretched slough. Carriages and light wagons which used to roll so smoothly over the road, were now dragged through the mire and ruts at the risk of broken harness and axles. This was bad, but of course the mine brought trade into the village, and it was a practicable thing for the town to macadamize the road. The town, however, did nothing of the kind. The authorities shovelled dirt into the road, and as often as that also became mire they shovelled on more dirt. Tens of thousands of dollars have been spent on this highway since the mine was opened, and every year it grows worse and worse. This amount does not include the extra wear and tear of wagons, the damage to horses, the loss of time to drivers, and the impairment in value of farms along this road and beyond.

Another road now comes to mind. It is in a small town only a few miles from Boston. Often last year the writer travelled over this road with his wheel and enjoyed it. This week he tried it for the first time this season. He was anticipating a particularly fine stretch just beyond the woods, but when he reached it he found it had been "repaired." And how was it repaired? By submerging the road for a quarter of a mile in loose dirt and gravel to the depth of nearly a foot. To cross the road it was necessary to lift the bicycle bodily and carry it. Not even the narrowest side-path had been left, and whenever a wagon ploughed along, the dry gravel would roll down the sides of the roadway in profusion. And yet those in charge of the highways had expended a considerable sum of the town's money in thus "repairing" the road, and probably believed they had done a good thing.

Is it any wonder that wheelmen are aroused to a realizing sense of the imperative need of reform in our road system—or rather lack of system?

"CROCKS" OR CASH?

MY dear "Tertius": Why will you ask such unpleasant questions? You have been long enough in the sport to both know and do better, and I am astonished in consequence at your impudence and imprudence. There was a day when, if you had asked me these questions, I, in my imagined wisdom, would have answered you offhand that men must not race for anything but pots; pelf was not to be considered for a moment, especially when it assumed a too pecuniary aspect; but now I am less conceited, or wiser, I know not which, and I hesitate before I put myself upon record. Wheelmen are divided into two classes—those who race and those who don't. The latter are almost universally amateurs; the former—well, they are amateurs too, if they don't get caught, and even then the blessed state of athletic purity is rarely denied them by that defender of the faithful—the Racing Board. In your day and mine, "Tertius," when we were both in the swim in cycling, it was its golden era, so far at least as its amateur status was concerned; we, and those we associated with, were enthusiastic and more or less romantic, but that day is passed and gone, and the surroundings of cycling can never again be the same. The cycling world of to-day is like the world at large, "it's out for the dust;" it seeks fortune, not fame; it wants lucre, not laurel, and the race meet that hangs up the most valuable prizes will get the most entries. No one can deny this, so what is the use of prating about "amateur" racing men?

"The laborer is worthy of his hire," and why should not the amateur racing man be so, too? Why should he be compelled to spend his time and talents in racing for clocks and crocks? Why should this unjust tax be put upon the hard working "amateur?" 'Taint right, "Tertius," I will be blamed if it is, and you know 'tisn't, too. Of course, as you say, there is a distinction too fine between "swap" and "sell" for eyes like yours and mine to see, but that's just the same degree of difference that exists between your modern amateur and his professional brother; and because the line is too fine for you and I to detect it, my dear "Tertius," we mustn't deny its existence when we have the evidence of the League as to its existence. As in religious matters, we must accept certain things in cycling upon faith, and this is one of them. The public don't care one cent whether the men who ride are amateurs racing for clocks, or professionals racing for coin; they come to witness a contest between men famous above their fellows for their speed and skill; and whether the performers be amateur or professional, the vast body of the public neither knows or cares, so long as they are given their money's worth in good racing and fast time. I believe that the day has come to lay aside the "amateur" mask, to cease the farce, and to boldly face the world as we are, not as we would be or seem to be. The amateur at heart will always remain such, just as much as the professional will, "whitewash" or rules to the contrary notwithstanding. The day when men raced for honor and glory, not self, belongs to the same age as that when men fought to the death for a woman's smile. Nowaday's things are different, when men fight each other they insist on a big fat purse full of money being hung up to battle for, and the winner of that buys as many "smiles" after the fight as he wants. It's more prosaic perhaps, but it really is more business like. So it should be with cycling; if a man wants to race for money why shouldn't he be allowed to do it, without any disgrace being attached to the performance? If a man fairly and honestly rides for and wins $50 is he not just the same man as though he raced for and won a clock or some other article. It is the attempt at enforcement of the present form of amateur law that causes men who posses racing abilities above the average to masquerade as "amateurs." I am convinced that in racing like anything else in this world, when one wants the best they must stand ready to pay. Were the prizes at our race meets in the form of an equal amount of cash or plate, at the election of the winner, there can be no doubt but what the number, speed, and records of our racing men would be greatly increased. The public would be attracted thereby and benefitted as well, because they would be treated to no more jockeying, pace making, head work and such like, men would make a profession of racing, and it would pay them to. Advertise a race open to all "amateurs" and professionals, with a bona-fide $1000 to go to the winner, and see whether the critics and spectators will not outnumber in a ratio of ten to one, the same race for "amateurs" with a $1000 piano for the prize. Of course it will. I am myself, my dear "Tertius," of the amateurs most amateur, but I am too slow a rider ever to be anything else; were I "crack" racing man I much fear that the small amount of common sense I have would cause me to look upon my talents in racing to be my stock in trade, and I could see no reason why I should not be paid in cash, not cups, for my ability, just the same as though I were an expert in any other of the various walks, or more properly speaking, rides of life. To sum up, Tertius, I'm 'wid 'yer.

PEOPLE I SAW AT THE L. A. W. RACES IN DETROIT.

FRIDAY afternoon the first of the championship races took place. There was a goodly crowd, the grand stand being filled, and another crowd down on the—bleachers, I think they call them. Although the races were intensely exciting, there was plenty of time to look about you. My friend possessed a kodak (I don't mean Mr. Peck), and of course we were on the lookout for the best and most comical pictures of humanity.

Our point of view was just about midway of the grand stand, and a very good place it was too. Let me present my first catch: a man, rather large and portly, with a florid face, whose—yes, red hair, was surmounted with a white cap, and sitting almost directly in front of me, had attracted my attention for a long time. At an opportune moment (for the sun was shining very brightly just then) he turned and faced the audience as if he were going to deliver an address. Planted (I say the word "planted" advisedly, too,) upon his manly bosom was, by actual count, seventeen medals. My friend suggested his likeness to a brass foundry. I entirely agreed with her, and as he seemed to be courting the attention of the vast audience by continuing standing, instead of modestly displaying the medals and seating himself, we concluded to "take" him. I wish I could give him to you now, with that self-satisfied smile, and a "don't-you-wish-you-were-me" air. I really think he borrowed those medals. In every movement and every facial expression he never forgot his medals.

Then there was the man who thought he knew it all. You know there is always such a man around in a crowd like that. He goes around, yelling out information gratis to everybody whom he meets, and when he does condescend to sit down, he does it with the air of one who has done his duty and expects no compensation. We "took" him, too. It really will be a pretty picture, as we got him just in the act of giving a small morsel of information, and consequently you would not be able to see anything but the mouth, which was open to its fullest extent. Now to tell the truth, that man didn't know as much about the races as I did, and that isn't saying much.

What at first appeared to be a black cloud obscured our vision for a moment, and upon investigating matters, we caught sight of a large, genial faced "cullud gen'mum" down in front, whose funny black face shone like a patent leather boot. He had come to see the races, and didn't care who knew it either. If the negative developes all right, that face will make a small sized yellow dog laugh.

There was also the bicycle crank, who was present in large numbers, and who did not take his eyes off the race course during the entire time. How his eyes must have ached. He it is who could tell you all about the time that was made and who made it.

The ever-present dude was somewhat conspicuous. He wouldn't ride a bicycle, simply because he couldn't, but, nevertheless, he thought his presence could not possibly be dispensed with.

We caught one good picture of Mr. Zimmerman, as he had mounted his wheel just preparatory to a start. He looked like a frog. If Mr. Z. sees this, will he please forgive me, as he only looks like that when he is just ready for a start.

Then there was the sweet girl who said, "Oh, how I wish I had a wheel." We didn't take her, for I disliked to point a camera at a young lady who seemed so prepossessed in favor of wheeling, as it might have made her disgusted with one of her own sex who rides.

We got some fairly good pictures of the starts and finishes, which I hope will come out all right. If they don't, we'll ask Mr. Peck for some of his. As he is so very kind and obliging I know he will give them to us. If he sees this latter remark it will bring him round all right, and we'll get the pictures.

We did not forget good-natured Mr. Bassett, either. Everybody seemed to want him at the same time, and he certainly was large enough to go round, giving a pretty good slice of his attention to all interested people.

Among the most conspicuous figures at the races, perhaps, was President Dunn, Mr. Dunn eats watermelon and pop-corn with about as much relish as any one I ever saw; the only trouble with the watermelon diet, it has seeds, and Mr. Dunn does not care where he drops them, even if it is down the back of the gentleman in front of him.

One picture I do not think Mr. Peck caght was that of the "Starter," Mr. Wm. E. Metzger, directly in the act of firing the pistol. The only thing I shall regret when that picture is developed is that he did not fire our way; in that event his face and not his back would have been taken. However, perhaps we can persuade Mr. M. to sit for a life-sized portrait sometime, or rather stand for one.

There is one thing the Driving Park Commissioners want to change, and quickly, too; that is, the bell they have to call time. It is just about of as much account as the small tea-bell on the average restaurant table. Why don't they get a bell that will make some noise, I wonder? We didn't photograph the bell, but I really wish we had now.

Of course all the Detroit men were there, but I will make no further mention of them, as it's too near home; but if any of the readers of the WORLD want to hear of them, just telephone.

NORA.

ARE THE TEACHERS TO BLAME?

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Having carefully read your editorial on the article from "3520" in last week's WORLD, I would wish to say in reply that I thoroughly agree with you both so far as the charges made that teachers are considerably in fault when they allow a lady pupil to leave their instruction without giving her the correct position on the wheel, but I also wish to add that the ladies themselves are very often in fault as well. Any lady ought to wish to appear at her best at all times, most particularly on her wheel, where she attracts so much attention.

How many of my sister riders have any idea of their decidedly awkward appearance, with all the fullness of their skirt on one side of the wheel, and no friendly drapery to conceal the movement of the other limb? By a little care and forethought this is so unnecessary. Before mounting pull your skirt well over the mounting foot, slip easily into your saddle, and no further arranging is necessary, for the skirt falls readily into place, giving the rider a graceful appearance. After so doing two or three times it becomes a habit, and makes a wonderful difference in the looks. We are all naturally anxious that lady bicycling should meet public approbation, but that point can never be gained so long as lady riders are careless about their appearance on the wheel, as awkwardness or ungracefulness prejudice non-riders most assuredly. I have ridden for four years, quite long enough to have discovered the easiest and best position on the wheel. First, have your skirt measure three yards, and of ordinary walking skirt length. Sit erect, having the handle bar high enough, and the saddle near enough to prevent stooping. Elbows in, not out. Have your saddle as nearly over the pedals as you can (and mount easily) for it is so much easier, and gives added power. Raise your saddle so that your heel just touches the pedal when at its lowest point and use the ball of the foot. Shorten your pedal cranks if you would prevent an awkward motion with your knees, for you at the same time gain speed. And, oh! please reserve your gum-chewing for another occasion.

MISSOURI DIVISION FALL MEET.

IT will doubtless be cheering news to all the participants in last spring's Pike County tour to know that the Louisiana Fair Association have made their offer good to donate $300 for prizes to be given at a race meet to be held on their half-mile track on Saturday, August 29. Local Consul Gregory immediately asked for the fall meeting of the Missouri Division to be held in conjunction with these races, and Chief Consul Holm awarded it to that city. The programme as provisionally adopted is as follows: Saturday, August 29—9 A. M., parade; 10 A. M., photograph on the "Pinnacle;" 11 A. M., business meeting of the Division at the Opera House; 2 P. M., races. There will be twelve events, including a number of State championships, for which costly prizes will be offered. Full programme will be published next week. On Saturday evening the banquet will be held at the Palmer House, or a steamboat excursion on the river with supper on board, at which the prizes will be presented, will be substituted. Sunday morning will see the inauguration of the grandest century run over Pike County gravel roads ever attempted in the West. The course will so be laid out that no part of the magnificent gravel roads will be covered more than once, and complete arrangements for refreshments en route will be made. A suitable souvenir will be presented to every "survivor." Wheelmen from adjacent towns in Illinois are especially invited to participate, and I beg to ask the cyclists of Quincy, Jacksonville, Jerseyville, Springfield, Carrollton, Roadhouse "are you with us?" The hotel accommodations are ample for 500 visitors. Her streets are first class in every respect, and the Pike County roads have a national reputation for excellence. Secretary-Treasurer Sheridan of Illinois and Chief Consul Holm are a committee on arrangements. Application has been made for a rate of one fare for the round trip over all railroad lines which enter Louisiana. Wheelmen living off of the C. and A. or K. and St. L. Railway should form parties of ten or more, and in this way secure reduced rates. The century run will be headed by competent pace makers, and the start will be made early enough to allow all the participants to depart on the evening train. The track at Louisiana is a half-mile in circumference, and has been recently highly improved. It now ranks second to none, and is said to be very fast.

The Proof of the Wheel is in the Riding.

"When I came here," says one of our most successful agents, "competition was so bitter, and prejudice against the Rambler so strong, that at first I could do nothing. But I knew of what stuff the Rambler was made, and decided to let the wheel be its own quiet and most convincing argument. As I did quite an extensive renting business, this was not a very hard matter. When a customer came in, I would first let him have a Rambler, the next time I would give him a rigid frame machine, and to see how many of them would come back and ask for a Rambler was naturally a source of much satisfaction. In this way the wheel made itself felt, and on its own merits worked such a change that now, if anything, the Rambler is in the lead."

From this, dear reader, you may judge why we so often get off that:

mile safety, open; exhibition by D. IJ. Canary; one-mile safety, world's record; one-mile ordinary, open, handicap; one-mile safety, closed, handicap; half-mile safety, 1.20 class; one-mile consolation.

The closed handicap race the second day is for Springfield riders and those residing within ten (10) miles' radius. In this race no machines weighing less than 40 pounds will be allowed.

The conditions of the quarter-mile race with flying start are as follows: Contestants to start 100 yards back of quarter pole from a standstill at the word "go," the first wheel reaching the quarter pole to be considered the start of the race, time to be taken from pistol flash at this point.

The club is endeavoring to secure the presence of His Excellency Governor Russell and staff upon the second day, and should the plan materialize it will be called "Governor's Day."

It is quite probable that there will be a grand display of fireworks on the park on the evening of the first day. This was done in 1883 and 1884, and was a great success. Do not forget that Hampden Park is right in the centre of the city and very accessible for such an event.

The work of rebuilding the track is being pushed as rapidly as possible, and by the time this issue of the BICYCLING WORLD reaches its readers there will probably be several of the noted racing men of the country here training upon it. After removing the thick growth of weeds which has covered it for the past few years, it has been found as firm and sound as of old; and with the constant attention which will be given it, it is believed that at the time of the tournament it will be in better condition than ever before.

The representatives of the club who were present at the Detroit meet received assurance that all the principal racing men of the West will be on hand to participate. The Eastern men are already assured, and the correspondence of the club daily increases, asking for entry blanks, details regarding the events, etc. The local interest waxes warmer as the days advance, and the coming tournament is the principal topic of conversation among those who have the slightest interest in such affairs.

One word in closing. Springfield as a city has improved and grown more beautiful within the past five years; and if you desire to see one of the most beautiful inland cities in the country, come to the tournament in September. D.

NEW YORK DIVISION MEET.

ARRANGEMENTS are all complete for the division meet of the New York State Division at Rochester, August 19 and 20. The prizes are advertised and list presents many beautiful articles, and the aggregate value of same is $1,900. Rochester is well known as a cycle centre and its proximity to Buffalo and Syracuse and other cities ensures the fact that the attendance will be large. There will be two days' racing and the cracks of the East will be out in full force. Everything is being done and will be done to make the '91 meet of the Empire State Division one worthy of the division, the State and Rochester.

The Rochester Wheelmen's League offers two elegant club prizes at this meet. A beautiful antique oak hall rack of unique design with elaborate carving, having a handsome clock setting, long bevelled edge mirror, and engraved silver plate. Chairs upholstered in leather to match. Value $125. This prize will go to the League club having the largest number of full uniformed men in line of parade August 19.

A prize of equal value is offered non-League clubs under same conditions. An elegant carved oak parlor suite of seven pieces upholstered in finest quality silk plush.

Nothing approaching these prizes in value and appropriateness has been offered before.

THE HARTFORD MEET.

The Constitutional Convention of the L. A. W., to be held at Hartford during the second week in September, promises to be a largely attended and very spicy affair. The bone of contention will be the Amateur Rule. Members of the League will go to Hartford with varying intentions. Some want the present rule stiffened up and some think it should be unchanged; others hope to get it modified in the direction of liberality, and still others are determined to have it knocked altogether endwise. Delegations in various parts of the country are already preparing for organized work at Hartford in the interest of respective sectional ideas, and the outcome of the meeting is awaited with eager interest by cycling circles everywhere.

The Hartford Wheel Club's big fall tournament occurs during Convention week and also the annual parade and meet of the Connecticut Division, L. A. W. The races include several important events and championships, and among the prizes offered are Columbia, Victor, Rambler, Hartford and Warwick cycles, solid gold and silver watches, and other articles of value. The combined events of Convention, tournament and meet will constitute a huge cycling affair which Hartford wheelmen are preparing to look after in proper style. By appropriation and subscription $1,000 will be raised to provide entertainment for visiting wheelmen and legislation and racing will be supplemented by general cycling, mirth and festivity.

PHILADELPHIA DEALERS ANNOUNCE A RACE MEET.

BROTHERHOOD PARK has a fine track, and so it is to be there, right on the corner of Broad and Dauphin streets, convenient to every one by the busses or the cars, and cyclers can ride on the asphalt to the entrance. Couldn't be better, could it?

And when? Why, on August 1st, at 2.30 P. M. The best day in the week for a successful race of this kind, and at the time of day when every one is off, and can get there.

We are offering big prizes, too. Just think of a $200 diamond emblem for the fastest man in the special race one-mile open for safety riders. This will bring the cracks from all over the country and insure an interesting and exciting race.

And better still a ten-mile road race finishing on the track. These are only two, and there a nine other good races which will be contested by all the local racing talent.

Prizes are all good and their value will amount to more than any race held this season. * * * *

DETROIT WHEELMEN'S CENTURY RUN.

THE anniversary of last Sunday will be a day for the Detroit Wheelmen to keep sacred. July 26 is what Clarence Smith calls his "Century Run anniversary."

On last Sunday morning 49 members of the Detroit Wheelmen started out to do the hundred miles before six P. M.

It turned out to be a handicap 100 mile road race instead of a quiet century run, and the different members chose their own time for starting.

At ten minutes after four, Harry Chapman, Mark Gardiner, Dr. Twombley, Dr. J. M. Griffin and A. B. Smith got away. Ten minutes later the four Ward brothers and the two Bells reached Clarence Smith's cycle store, left their card, and left by wheel also. Thomas Osins had started five minutes earlier. The scorchers didn't get around till 4.35. They were Geo. S. Mackay, J. Hoffner, Fred Eckliff, Jack Brady, C. Rooney, and W. H. Lott.

Clarence Smith and the regular party were to start at 6 o'clock, but before they got off at 6.05 the following had started: Fred Case, Harry Butcher, W. C. Noak, J. H. Kelley, S. H. Brady, W. A. Morton, Bert Thorpe, T. J. Ilgenfritz, B. J. Graham, L. Beyster, W. T. Watson, Bert Smith, J. F. Crusoe, F. S. DuPue, Will Marks, H. J. Eberhardt, C. Clippert, J. Speck, F. H. Herrick, Leon Coquard and L. W. Schimmel. With Clarence Smith were H. D. Osborn, B. J. Holcombe, Chas. Noak, E. B. Halliday, F. Berry and E. Venn.

Coquard's wheel broke soon after the start, and he had to walk back. Osborn got kicked off the road by a lively colt. Mackay ran into a blind ditch and doubled his wheel into a knot; after five hours' work he started again and did the whole distance. Hoffner had a wagon run over his front wheel; but with three hours' work he unbuckled it and made out to finish first. Fred Abel busted his pneumatic and so wasn't in it. Eckliff broke his wheel and came in on the train. Marks lost some time fastening on his rear tire. Schimmel had his pneumatic bust on him again, having blowed it up tight the night before, and the cold of the night with the heat of the day following did the work. Butcher took a bad tumble.

Of the 29 who finished before 10 o'clock 19 rode safeties and 10 ordinaries. The 29 were tired as follows: pneumatic 4, cushion 10, solid 15. The order in which the 29 finished was Hoffner, Trudell, J. Brady, A. B. Smith, Herrick, Clippert, C. H. Smith, Rooney, Gardiner, Lott, J. Ward, T. Ward, C. Ward, N. H. Ward, J. Bell, M. C. Roe, Mackay, Morton, Case, Holcombe, C. Noack, W. Noack, Ilgenfritz, Kelsey, Halliday, Marks, Thorpe, Watson and Eberhardt. Hoffner's riding time was between seven and eight hours, while his complete time was about eleven hours. Trudell came in ten minutes later and Jack Brady nearly a half hour slower. The rest who finished before nine o'clock were strung along about a half mile apart, though several came in in groups.

Clarence Smith had offered to buy the dinners at Ann Arbor for all who reached there before 12 o'clock. That was fifty miles, and as a result nearly every one got a free dinner.

Along the road and at Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Saline large crowds turned out to see the riders.

The course was from Smith's cycle store on Woodward avenue, out Michigan avenue, through Wayne to Ann Arbor; from there on to Saline, around the triangle, and back to Detroit. "SETAGEC."

WISCONSIN DIVISION MEET.

THE annual meet of the Wisconsin Division of the L. A. W. and the Second Annual Tournament of the Green Bay Cycle Club, which occured here July 22d and 23d was a grand success in every way, and with the exception of a slight rain which fell during the forenoon of the first day, and again just at the close of the races, was the most successful meet of the kind ever held in the State. Such men as Berlo of Boston, Price of Springfield, Ill., Johnson of Minneapolis, Andree of Milwaukee, and Bode, Merrill, Dennison, Tuttle, Van Sicklen and Barrett of Chicago, were entered in the events, and all, with the exception of Berlo, Tuttle and Van Sicklen appeared.

On the forenoon of the first day the sky became overcast with clouds, and notwithstanding the foreboding weather every train brought in crowds of wheelmen, and at eleven o'clock the Milwaukee Wheelmen arrived by special car over the M. and N. R. R., and during a pouring rain were escorted to the club rooms, and assigned their quarters, but towards noon the clouds broke up and the sun shone brightly, and everyone's spirits rose to the highest pitch. The parade at 1 P. M. was the largest ever seen at a League meet in the State, among which numbered very many lady riders.

Upon arrival at the park Mayor James H. Elmore was introduced by President Arthur of the G. B. C. C., and welcomed the wheelmen to the city, which was responded to by Chief Consul Simonds. The crowd grew in numbers, and at 2.30, when the first race was called, there were fully 1500 people at the park.

At 7.30 P. M. the annual meeting was called at the club rooms and at 9.30 P. M. an elaborate banquet was given at the Beaumont House. Long tables were elegantly spread, and the guests formed in two columns, headed by Mayor Elmore, Chief Consul Simonds, Secretary Morawetz, and S. A. Miles, of Chicago, and marched into the dining room and were assigned their seats. Mayor Elmore was made toast-master of the occasion, and impromptu speeches were made and responded to by President Morrison of the Milwaukee Wheelmen, F. S. Fox of the G. B. C. C., and Chief Consul Simonds of the L. A. W. A talk by W. M. Forbes on the rights and privileges of wheelmen was very instructive, and it was nearly 1 A. M. when the guests dispersed.

The forenoon of the second day was taken up in runs in and about the surrounding country and an excursion on the waters of Green Bay, and in the evening the distribution of medals took place at Klaus Hall, after which the wheelmen took possession of the city and made themselves happy until the small hours. The meet was a perfect success in every way, and it was with deep regret that the wheelmen parted for their homes after a two days' stay in the city.

FIRST DAY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 22.

One-mile novice safety—Fred Kasten, Milwaukee, first; Martin Patitz, Milwaukee, second; Louie Reed, Ripon, third. Time 2.52 1-5.

FIFTY-MILE INDOOR RACE AT DETROIT.

LAST week Tuesday evening the fifty-mile indoor race came off in the rink, and had as starters Will Marks, of Detroit; Bauer, of Louisville, Ky., who is making a trip around the world on a high wheel; Bernhardt, of Toledo, and a Wheeling, W. Va., rider. The track had raised ends and was a sixteen lap. Bauer got two falls, Bernhardt got cramps, and the Wheeling boy dropped out on the twelfth mile. The other three rode the full fifty miles and made a pretty race. Marks won in three hours and twelve minutes, with Bauer nine laps and Bernhardt eleven laps behind. The first prize was an $85 gold medal, the second prize a mantel clock, and the third prize another medal.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT ST. LOUIS, July 26.—A one-mile safety handicap was run at the Irish Nationalists' games. There were eighteen starters and the race was run in three heats. The Fair Ground's track was in a miserable condition—a country road would be no comparison—and this accounts for the slow time. Three heats, first and second in each heat to run in final. The first heat had six starters and the pace was a funeral one. R. M. Tidd, 60 yards finished first; A. G. Harding, scratch, second. Time 3m. 48s.

Second heat—E. M. Knapp, 85 yards, first; Edw. Grath, 65 yards, second. Time 3m. 39s.

Third heat—C. S. Bowman, 110 yards, first; J. W. Bowman, 110 yards, second. Time 3m. 49s.

Final heat—E. M. Knapp, 85 yards, first; R. M. Tidd, 60 yards, second; E. A. Grath, 65 yards, third. Time 3m. 31 1-5s.

The prizes were two gold medals. It was a great day for the Missouri Bicycle and Athletic Club, as their men finished 1, 2 and 3.

AT ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—A good crowd of over 2000 people visited the base ball park, Atlantic City, N. J., to witness the races held under the auspices of the Atlantic City Wheelmen. Philadelphia was strongly represented by her best men, and they managed to scoop quite a nice proportion of the open events. The sport opened with the:

One mile novice safety—In this race there were sixteen entries, and before the race was decided quite a number of them came to grief. The race was run in heats, and the final brought to the post six men. The result was Maurice Newell, first; E. Miller, second. Time 3.02 4-5. W. Edge was in the lead and going like a winner when he fell, and was quite badly shaken up.

Half-mile safety for boys under sixteen—Won by Louis G. Krouse; Louis Stadler, second. Time 1m. 44 1-5s.

One mile safety, 3m. class—Won by Willie Owens; R. P. McCurdy, second. Time 3m. 1-5s.

One mile team race—Won by W. W. Taxis; V. J. Kelly, second. Time 2m. 55 4-5s.

THE Wanderers of Buffalo held their postponed races at East Buffalo, on the 21st, on the Crandall track, which is supposed to be a third of a mile. Upon measurement it was found to be short, and in consequence the only race that was run the correct distance was the half mile. The track was very rocky and full of holes in some places, and the time made was not remarkable. There was a good-sized crowd of interested spectators and wheelmen present.

In the half-mile race there were four entries, but G. G. Buse and George Bower were the only starters. Buse started at scratch, and Bower had 15 yards handicap; Bower was not in it and Buse won easily. Time 1.37.

For the one-mile event there were seven entries, but only four men started. W. Buse, 8 yards; J. H. Christian, 12 yards; G. B. Winters, 20 yards; F. Laabs, 20 yards. On the first lap Christian took a header. The tire came off the rear wheel of Winter's ordinary, and both these men were out. Buse had it pretty much his own way, winning in 2.48 1-4.

There were four entries in the three-mile safety, of which three came up for competition: G. R. Walter, 20 yards; W. Buse, 12 yards; George Bower, 25 yards. Walter soon dropped out and Buse proved himself an easy winner to the tune of 9.55.

The three-mile ordinary had five entries and four competitors: J. J. Lindner, 25 yards; J. H. Christian, scratch; G. B. Winters, 20 yards; Frank Laabs, 20 yards. Winters borrowed a wheel and went in. This race created some excitement, but Christian was too much for the others and came in first; time 9 1-5.

The five-mile race was the most interesting of all, and although run in twilight created much excitement. There were four entries, but Will. Buse, Christian and J. Scheffler were the only men who faced the tape when the race was called. The men had been given handicaps but decided amongst themselves to start from scratch. Christian and Buse were very evenly matched, Christian on an ordinary and Buse on a safety. Scheffler also rode a safety. On the fifth lap Scheffler's pedal came off. The finish was very pretty and the excellent spurt of Buse brought him in about a foot and a half ahead of Christian; time 15.27.

The Wanderers will hold two five-mile class races August 11. Kittenger of the Press Cycling Club will ride in the road race at the great Springfield meet in September.

"JASPER."

THE Union County (N. J.) Roadsters are still at it. After two successful race meets they will hold their grand fall meeting Labor Day, September 7, on the ground of the New Jersey Jockey Club at North Elizabeth, N. J. The prizes offered are very handsome and worth competing for. The track has been rolled, and is now smooth as a billiard table, and good judges predict that records will be broken on the track September 7, so look out for new records. It is the finest track in this country for bicycle racing, it being a one-mile track, and 60 feet wide all around; the quarter mile home stretch enabling the spurters to get in their good work. No pains will be spared by the Roadsters to make this meet the largest ever held in this section of the country.

The flyers will be on hand to scoop some of the handsome prizes offered.

The grand stand seats 4500 people.

Following is a list of the events: One-mile safety, open, handicap; one-mile ordinary, open, handicap; two-mile ordinary, open, handicap; two-mile safety, open, handicap; five-mile safety, open, handicap; five-mile ordinary, open, handicap.

Ten men that have a record of 2.30 can race one mile against a trotting horse (bicyclist and horse flying start); prize $100 gold watch.

Ten men that have a record of 2.40 can race one mile against a trotting horse (bicyclist and horse flying start); prize $50 gold watch.

Entrance fees will be 50 cents in each event except the race againt the horses, where no entrance fee will be charged. For entry blank address G. J. Ames, 408 Jefferson avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.

THE races of the cycling club at Alton, Aug. 15, and Belleville, Ill., Aug. 16, are attracting a great deal of attention and will behotly contested by all our racing men. The events will be open to all amateurs and are as follows: 1 mile ordinary, 3.30 class; 1 mile safety, 3.20 class; 1 mile safety, handicap; 1-4 mile safety, open; 2 mile ordinary, handicap; 1 mile safety, open; 1-2 mile ordinary, dash; 3 mile safety, handicap; 1 mile safety, consolation: 1 mile ordinary, consolation. The Belleville programme is an exact duplicate of the one mentioned above. Among the prizes will be five gold medals donated by the club.

THE Walontha Bicycle Club of Richfield Springs, N. Y., has issued its programme for the race meeting to be held August 4. The fifty-mile road race will be started at 10.30 A. M. In the afternoon the races will be held on the Driving Park. The course was about 28 1-2 miles. It was as follows: Start from Pompton, through Paterson, Passaic, Belleville, Bloomfield, Watsessing, and East Orange, to Park street, Orange. The teams were: Orange—George T. Coffin, Harry Wheeler, Charles Coggeshall, and Paul Grosch. Business Men's—Charles Swain, W. D. Preck, W. Kirkpatrick, and A. S. Swartwout. These two men will ride over these respective courses soon and at the same time, and each one will try to cover his course in the shortest time.

THE Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago will run a ten-mile road race on a north side course, Saturday, August 15th. The time medal is the handsomest ever put up by this club.

A NEW ENTERPRISING CYCLE CONCERN.

HARRIS & ROSS, wholesale and retail dealers in cycles and accessories, have opened their salesrooms at 148 and 150 Oakwood boulevard, near Cottage Grove avenue, Chicago, and will do a general cycle business.

Percy Harris has been connected with the cycle trade in this country for several years, being formerly associated with the Springfield Roadster Manufacturing Co., Boston, H. A. Lozier & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, Standard Cycle Co., Buffalo, and Coventry Machinist Co., Chicago. Mr. Ross, formerly of Toronto, was connected with the agents of the Ormonde cycles. The new concern are marketing all grades of machines in both juvenile and full sized patterns. They have a fine assortment of repairing wheels and facilities for repairing. In location their estaplishment is unsurpassed in the "World's Fair City" for a general cycle business, having a frontage of about thirty feet on Oakwood boulevard, near corner of Drexel boulevard and Cottage Grove avenue.

"HARRY HALL, JR., contemplates enlarging his present cycling headquarters on Bedford and Atlantic avenues, to double the present size. The new building will shortly be erected on the plot of ground adjoining the present one. The Meteor, for which Messrs. Banker, Campbell & Hall are sole manufacturers and agents, is meeting with unprecedented success in the market, and the factory can hardly keep up with the demand. Several improvements have recently been added to the wheel, which is a remarkably smooth running and staple machine in all its various parts. Ike Bowdish, one of the strongest advocates of the high wheel, has taken one of these safeties, and prefers it to any high wheel he ever rode."—Brooklyn Citizen.

WE desire to call attention to the advertisement of R. L. Coleman & Co., which appears on page 460. It will be observed that the well-known Crescent and Juno cycles can be purchased, fitted with cushion or solid tires. See their adv. and send to them for a catalogue.

THE Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co. has broken ground for a seven story addition to its present factory. The new place will be of brick, 60x115, fire proof, with steel girders and pillars, and every other modern improvement. It will be ready for occupancy early in the fall. In moving the houses which formerly stood where the new addition is being erected, an essentially new Chicago wrinkle was adopted. They were drawn and rolled through the streets for some three-quarters of a mile in the usual manner, and then loaded entire on to flat boats in the river and towed several miles distant to another part of the city.

Uniform Cloth and Buttons.

The regulation League uniform is made of a steel gray cloth manufactured for the League exclusively. This cloth and the regulation League Buttons may be had of any League tailor or of the Secretary at the following prices: Cloth, 54 inches wide, $2.10 per yard. Metal buttons: large, five cents each; small, three cents each. Rubber buttons, either size, three cents each. Uniform has six large and ten small buttons. As the Secretary keeps no book of credit, all orders sent to him must have cash accompanying. No cloth supplied to tailors or to non-League men.

Road Books.

We receive every week scores of letters from parties who have failed to receive road books, maps, etc. This is to notify all such that road books are neither published nor sent out from this office. Road books are issued by the Divisions, and all correspondence regarding them should be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Divisions. Consult directory which is published in each issue of BULLETIN and correspond with the Secretary-Treasurer of the Division whose road book you want.

ABBOT BASSETT, Sec.

Cottage City.

Gather, ye merry men; light your torches, and let us dispel the darkness.

The torchlight procession at Cottage City will have as many divisions as there are League clubs to manipulate them. League clubs should apply to the committee for a division. Having received the same they may make it as large and brilliant as they see fit. A prize will be given to the League club having the largest division, and to the League club that makes the best display. One prize only can go to a club. Then we shall give a prize to the best individual display. Now hustle you League clubs. Get all the unattached clubs and all the riders you can to join your divisions, and may the best hustler win. You can purchase torches on the island, or you can purchase a lot in Boston and have them sent down. Better notify Geo. W. Smith at Cottage City if you propose to buy a number of torches on the Island. No wheels allowed in the line. For further particulars address Sterling Elliott, Newton, Mass.

Entries for the coasting match, which takes place Friday, Aug. 14, at 3 P. M., may be made to Abbot Bassett. Fee 50 cents. Entries positively close at 6 P. M. on Thursday, Aug. 13. Entries for the five-mile race around the island (50 cents) may be made to Chas. E. Whitten, 8 Andrews street, Lynn, Mass., and will close at 6 P. M. on Thursday, Aug. 14.

Racing Board.

At a meeting of the Racing Board held at Detroit, Mich., July 17th, the following resolution was passed: Hereafter no penalty shall be placed upon pneumatic or cushion tire machines. Race promoters will take notice of the above and not "penalize" the above class of machines.

GEO. S. ATWATER, Chairman.

Washington, D. C., July 22, '91.

Racing Board.

At a special meeting of the Racing Board held at Detroit, Mich., July 18th, the postponed L. A.W. championship races were awarded as follows: One-mile ordinary to the Peoria Bicycle Club, to be run on the 18th or 19th of September; the half-mile safety to the Hartford Wheel Club to be run on September 7th or 8th; the quarter-mile ordinary to the Rhode Island Wheelmen of Providence, to be run on the 8th of September, and the one-mile tandem to the Philadelphia club, date not yet decided.

GEO. S. ATWATER,
Washington, D. C., July 21, '91. Chairman.

Racing Board.

At a meeting of the Racing Board held at Detroit, July 17th, the following changes in the racing rules were adopted.

To Rule F, clause 3, after the words "Board may determine," insert "except in closed club or school races, the captain of such club or school may do the handicapping."

Add to Rule F, clause 3, the following: Promoters of race meetings shall send to the official handicapper, within one week after a race meeting, an official score card, giving the times of the first and second man in each event. Official score cards will be furnished by the official handicapper.

In conformity with the decision of the Rights and Privileges Committee, Rule G has been stricken from the rules.

H. M. Baldwin, Kenosha.

W. J. Casey, Green Bay.

Second Representative—
H. P. Andrae, Milwaukee.
H. J. Warner, Madison.

On motion meeting was adjourned and all present proceeded to partake of the annual banquet.

Secretary's Report.

Gentlemen and Brother Cyclers:

It need hardly be mentioned that the year 1890-91 was the most prosperous in the history of the Wisconsin Division. Starting the year with 145 members we close on June 30th with 274, making Wisconsin the fifteenth State in point of numbers in the League.

Our greatest increase comes from Oshkosh. One year ago we had two members in that town, where we now have 47.

Milwaukee, with its 1500 riders, has a League membership of 95; Racine next with 26, Kenosha with 14, Waukesha 16, Green Bay 10, Fond du Lac 8, Neenah 6, Appleton 7, Eau Claire, Madison, Beloit and West Superior each count five members among their residents. The balance of the membership is scattered through the entire State.

The gratifying increase in our membership is due more to a happy combination of circumstances than anything else. As Secretary-Treasurer of this Division I take a very excusable pride in the fact that a good half of the members were obtained through personal effort on my part, and as I cover a very populous district of the State in my capacity as commercial traveller, it was an easy matter to get acquainted with the boys and get them to join the League.

In attending to my duties during the year I have sent out over 200 letters to all parts of the country, and together with Chief Consul Simonds have mailed over 2000 circulars and pamphlets. The best of harmony has always prevailed between the officers of this Division, and most of our local consuls have done good work, although a little more effort on behalf of new members is always desirable.

At present Wisconsin Division can well feel proud of her standing and numbers and her prosperity. Let us all work together hand in hand to continue this. Let us forget any differences that might exist between individuals, and all work for the general good. Let us remember that it is not one locality that should be considered, but the whole State; all for one and one for all. Let harmony and good will prevail and hold us together in bonds of good fellowship.

Respectfully submitted,
F. J. MORAWETZ, Sec.-Treas.

THE Sweeting Cycle Co. of Philadelphia have issued one of the most valuable little leaflets we have ever seen, entitled "Pointers on Machine Adjustment." These will be sent free of cost to any cycler who will send his address, and a stamp to prepay postage.

J. T. MOREHOUSE, of Orange Valley, N. J., whose wife becameifamous a few years ago by coasting the slides of the Orange Toboggan Club on a ladies' safety, has just established a record on Eagle Rock Hill by being the first man to ride a ladies' safety to the summit. He used a cushion tired ladies' Premier Safety, and completed the ascent in 6m. 32s.

AT the Ohio meet, J. Elmer Pratt, one of Gormully & Jeffery's travelling men, created something of a sensation by riding his Rambler down the Capitol steps, and then repeating the performance for the benefit of a local photographer, who "caught him in the act." Pratt has a weakness for that sort of thing, having a record of having ridden his wheel down the steps of nearly every Capitol he has ever visited, Texas, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and half a dozen other States.

THOMAS A. EDISON has just purchased two Premier safeties from the Premier Cycle Company. Will the "Wizard" convert them into flying machines by fitting them with enormous pneumatics filled with gas and propelled by electricity, or will he be satisfied with their easy-running qualities and seek recreation in gentle exercise from nights of labor in his laboratory?

WE have before us a facsimile of a photo of a Singer safety. The machine is crushed out of all semblance of a cycle, and is the worst mixed up and twisted specimen of a wheel we ever saw. The photo was taken by Messrs. JNO. Howes & Sons of Cambridge who remark: "Slightly damaged; nothing broken except a few spokes." The picture speaks volumes for the splendid workmanship and material used in the Singer wheels. Judging from the picture we should pronounce the Singer wheels "unsmashable."

CYCLISTS, ATTENTION.

WE are just in receipt of a communication from W. J. Morgan, better known as the "Senator," the well known cyclist who has settled in Portland, Oregon, which he says is the coming State of the Union, and having raced and travelled in every State in the Union he is well qualified to judge.

Having entered into partnership with Arthur G. Burns, well and favorably known in Portland real estate and financial circles, he is doing a splendid business in real estate and general advertising. He handles all kinds of properties in Oregon: farms, fruit, lands, city and suburban properties. They say that the opportunities for a man to grow rich in a few years by the judicious investment of a few dollars have never been equalled in the history of real estate. Among the many bargains is good land in Southern Oregon from $2.00 to $5.00 per acre.

A few choice building lots in Stewart's addition to Baker City, within three blocks of the depot, lots 25x100 feet, 20 foot alleys, in each block, each $50.00, can be bought on instalments. Baker City has 8000 inhabitants, and is the centre of the gold mining district of the West.

Lots in Astoria, the seaport of the North-west coast, size of lots 36x108 feet, $125 to $150 per lot, also on easy instalments.

We are also offering the best property in Portland, known as "Hawthorne 1st addition," at $650 to $850 per lot, size 50x100 feet. This is very choice property, and can be bought on easy terms. This is a rare speculation. Lots in this tract will be worth $2000 in two years.

People who invested $500 in Portland propetty four years ago can now sell for $3000. For instance, the deceased actress Emma Abbott's property she bought three years ago for $30,000, she was offered $60,000 for same just before her death.

All who have had the opportunity of seeing Portland invest readily. Portland is now a city of 80,000 people. Any one thinking of making Portland or any part of Oregon their future home, will find it to their interest to write to us, as we are in a position to give any information regarding this part of the country. Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Porter's Excellent and Remarkably Successful Handbook of the Wheel and Everything Connected with its Use.

CYCLING

FOR

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

Jersey Fitting

originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.

Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

Front View. To show our new Patent Apr. 28, 1891. Back View.

When this Garment is not found with your best dealers, send stamp for Catalogue and Price List to us. We do a large business through the mail, and warrant satisfaction.

The only toe clip extant that permits of the correct adjustment of foot to pedal; not having a toe check it does not tend to pedalling with toes pointing downward, which position induces a strained and set condition of the muscles of the foot, ankle and calf. FRIEND BEN,

I have been riding, both ordinaries and Safeties during the past ten years, and have concluded that the best road wheel made for the money is the Eclipse. I would advise you to buy an Eclipse with Cushion tires. It is astonishing the amount of hard work, and wear those wheels will stand. They are surely first class Cycles, High Grade, and every thing about them Calculated to give the rider great satisfaction. The Eclipse is made by the Steel Pulley Co. of Indianapolis.

Riders are saying that Cushion Tires are the thing, and are calling for them more and more.

Cushion tires may be the best; the best cushion tires for all-round machines are the cushion tires that prove the best in all kinds of riding.

A cushion tire may be good for a sandy road, but lose its advantage on a paved street; another may work well on a muddy surface, but fail on a rocky stretch.

Breadth of bearing surface, resiliency, elasticity, durability—all these, and other qualities, enter into the perfection of a cushion tire.

We ask a trial of the Columbia Cushion Tires by every intending purchaser, believing that actual tests on all kinds of roads and pavements will demonstrate their working qualities to be superior to all others. This is already the testimony of many of the leading wheelmen of the country.

Furnished on either Gentlemen's or Ladies' Safeties. Send for Catalogue.

Every bicycle maker has a motive in discarding old theories. You knew it—of course you did.

What motive induced a score of makers to discard the rigid fork or frame theory and copy the principle of the Victor Spring Fork?

Motives are worth studying.

The market is glutted with bicycles constructed of bed springs, wire coils and other rubbish said to absorb vibration. The superiority of the Victor Spring Fork is seen in 9 feet of the finest sword blade stock, and fitted with ball bearings to every joint. This fork has no rival.

PLEASE DON'T LICK 'EM.

We mean the stamps you send for those pins. We have been rather dry since that Detroit trouble, but yet our paroted submaxillary glands furnish enough saliva to put on all the stamps we use.

Correspondents (especially those from Maine and Iowa) respect our aversion to a partially licked stamp and send them in a dry state.

Others seem to believe too much in irrigation.

We have tried to influence the Post Office department to flavor the "gumstickum" that is used, so that we could go to the stamp window and call for "two twos with vanilla," or "five chocolate ones," etc.

When we get stamps direct from the Post Office, there is a certain child-like faith that we are bound to assume. When they are "enclosed" and attached by adhesion to one corner of a dainty letter sheet and sent (not scented), by some sweet young lady, we accept the situation resignedly, but when "the tyrant man" sends us a stamp which we have a right to imagine has been moistened with tobacco juice and stale beer, then our stomach revolts and we are compelled to exclaim, don't do it.

However, we thank you for the extended attention you have given the Hickory Badge Pin, and are pleased to find that we shall be able to furnish them yet a little longer.

The Hickory Club is a large one. It is getting larger every day, and "ere many moons are wasted" the number of Hickory riders will surprise you.

Why? Because in the Hickory frame and wheels you get elasticity without joints or springs; you get over the vibration trouble without objectionable tires.

Then again in a Hickory wheel you get durability that is not otherwise obtainable. These points are worth your consideration.

They are being considered and acted upon by some of the best bicycle heads in this country, and if you have not already done so, hadn't you better send for our catalogue?

There is nothing in it to offend the most sensitive; it doesn't take up much room and it wouldn't take you long to read it, though it might take longer to disprove our claims.

We always mean to be modest, and if we do sometimes slop over it is not because we love wire wheels less, but that we love Hickory wheels more, as Marc Anthony would have said had he been a rider.

The Hickory Safety is endorsed by many prominent physicians, though we have often wondered why, as it certainly tends to prolong life and thus does what the Doctors are paid for.

Dentists, however, don't take kindly to the Hickory, as it has no tendency to loosen the teeth.

Since we got our new teeth we have not lost them out once, though we ride the Hickory every day.

Is there a Hickory in your town? And if not, don't you want to be the man (or woman) who will be pointed out in the future as the one whose dome was first gilded by the rising sun of rationalism in Bicycles?

ELLIOTT HICKORY CYCLE CO.,
Newton, Mass.

P. S.—That Torch Light Parade at Cottage City is to be the greatest thing of the kind ever attempted.

There will be no wheels in it, but all shall go on foot so as to permit of better display and less trouble with lights going out.

We will make the route rather shorter than usual and the pace slow.

The prizes are good ones, and well worth the trouble of costuming, not to mention the fun (and of course we won't mention it)

STERLING ELLIOTT,
Chairman Torch Light Com.

TRADE MARK

This trade mark will be found on all genuine Hickory Wheels.

Sylph Cycles Coast.

Of course you have coasted and in contest. Perhaps only an informal affair, in which you distanced the other fellow and then crowed for a week how easy running your wheel is, when perhaps the only reason of your getting down first was because your machine was ten pounds heavier than his. You never stop to think, if such is the case, your wheel is equally harder up hill and proportionately harder on a level. There are many reasons why a cycle coasts well and some are equally advantageous elsewhere, others not. Sylph cycles coast well, because they have a spring frame that yields vertically—a stiff frame horizontally—long steady steering centers, the best of bearings, a chain that is almost faultless, the weight of the frame low, and a rider with good judg-ment. Further, the above qualifications are not detrimental on a level or up hill work, and you can safely brag about them. We will give you a pointer soon on easy running, and the proof thereof.

427—Missouri Division—500.

To members:

Only four applications last week again places us behind what we had set our minds on accomplishing, viz: ten applications per week. At this rate we will not be able to reach the 500 mark by October, as we by all means should try to do. Now is the ideal time for recruiting, and you shou'd recollect that for every application obtained the Division's treasury is enriched by $1.50. Many Local Consuls who were active during the spring campaign are now dormant. Recruiting unlike Hood's Sarsaparilla, must be given to the great army of the "unwashed" during the entire year, and especially during that ideal cycling month, August. Many a young man's fancy will turn to the wheel this month, and you must get him to fancy the League and Missouri's 500."

Fraternally yours,

Missouri Division.

To St. Louis members:

After arduous labor we have at last succeeded in having the municipal sprinkling regulated on the asphaltum streets, and henceforth no more "slopping" will be permitted. For the convenience of members riding down town St Charles street from Jefferson avenue to Fourth street will be kept dry until 9.30 A. M., and will not be sprinkled after 4.30 P. M. St. Louis members are requested to note the above arrangement and to report any violation of same by the sprinkling carts to Jas. R. Bettis, 205 N. 4th street, who will see that the matter is adjusted. This is another case of "what has the League done for me," an I should be used as an argument in obtaining recruits. Fraternally yours,
ROBT. HOLM.

The two-mile safety and five-mile safety Division championships have been awarded to the Pike County Wheelmen to be run at their race meeting on Saturday, Aug. 29, 1891.

Notice to N J. Wheelmen.

Having changed my plans for the summer, my address after August 1st will be as usual 414 South Broad Stret, Elizabeth, N. J., instead of Belmar, N. J., as published in BULLETIN of July 3d.

In conformity with that portion of the By-Laws which vests the power of naming the regular nominees for the offices of Chief Consul, Vice-Consul and Secretary Treasurer for this division in the undersigned committee, we take pleasure in nominating as candidates for your suffrage the following ticket:

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

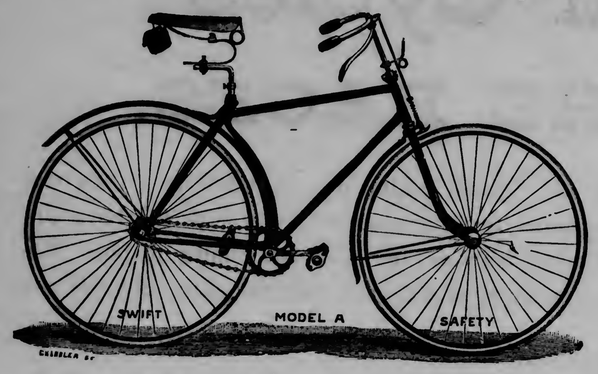
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction. We have adopted a new patent valve which will permit the letting out of the air when desired. The method of inflating our tire next year will be a much simpler matter on account of its improved construction, and any child will be able to inflate it.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 7 AUGUST, 1891.

THE proposed amendments to the Constitution appear in full in our Official Columns. As experience has shown that very many of the articles and sections of articles have been somewhat obscure in the language, an attempt has been made to make clear the ambiguities and establish beyond a doubt the meaning of the articles and sections thereof. For instance in the amateur definition it has been a bone of contention as to the meaning of "other person pecuniarily interested in the sport." One proposed amendment makes it perfectly clear that the clause does not apply to Athletic or Bicycle Clubs. Another proposed change of this article is practically the same as the amendment alluded to above, only that it requires the permission of the Racing Board be obtained in cases where cycling or athletic clubs desire to pay the expenses of their racing men.

Another good point covered by one of the proposed amendments is to define the powers of certain of the National Committee as to interpreting and defining any provision of the Constitution or By-laws. This question has been also the cause of many heartburnings; and while the intent of the article as it is now is clear to us, still the proposed amendment puts the question of dispute beyond the chance of possibility. Another of the principal and excellent changes proposed is to increase the number of members necessary for election of Representatives to 200, and the number necessary for election of Delegate to 400.

The proposed amendment allowing League Clubs the right to elect Represensatives immediately after their joining League is a good one, as is also the amendment which gives the Chief Consuls power to appoint Representatives on the accession of new members.

The proposed amendment, which was killed at Niagara last year, and which allows a representation of 3-4 of the membership of any club to qualify as a League club, will be brought up again, and on this amendment we expect to see one of the hottest fights of the Convention. An amendment is also offered, which strikes out section 2 in article VI. This section as it now stands provides for the election of President to office for two years and the Vice Presidents for one year. One gentleman proposes to change article III., section 1 to read, "any white amateur cyclist," etc. Here we have a chance for those who do, and do not believe in the color line. An amendment will also be presented providing for yearly bids on publishing the official organ. In this connection we would remark the company now having the contract for publishing the official organ, have a contract for over three years longer.

Certain members of Southern and Northern California have fretted under the necessity which has bound them together as one Division. Our friends of division of the California Division will find solace and possible relief in section 2, article IV., of proposed amendment.

PRESIDENT DUNN also calls a meeting of the National Assembly at Hartford, September 8, and he states that Rule G in all its bearings will be considered. The power of President and the different committees and officers of the League will be discussed, and if possible more clearly defined. The Alliance with the A. A. U. will come in for a share of attention, and the affairs of the phantom "Seaboard Association" together with its relations with the L. A. W. will be discussed.

THE racing Board in passing a rule that in future no form of tire should be handicapped because of its superiority over another, performed an action that redounds greatly to their credit. To have matters remain as they were was simply to place a premium upon antiquity, to legislate against the inventor and manufacturer who sought by improvement in construction and equipment of their wares to make them speedier than those of their competitors. To punish, for it was virtually that, a man for being progressive and liberal enough to purchase from the makers the fruits of their skill and invention, was certainly not justice. What would be thought of an official who decided that all of the competitors in a boat race, for instance, must be handicapped, simply because some of the entries in it claimed that their boats were not equipped with sliding seats and outriggers like those of their more intelligent opponents. Such a decision would not stand a single moment, and yet the case is similar in every respect to the tire question. A racing man owes it to himself, and to those who pay him the compliment to witness his performances, that he appear upon the track equipped in every way possible to do his best. Not only should the best man win, but the best machine also. The manufacturer and inventor, no less than the rider, is entitled to a share of the honor attending the winning of a race, as it is to his work no less than to the riders' that victory is attained. For those who cannot afford to purchase improved wheels and their appurtenances, racing must ever be a forbidden pleasure, except when confined to local contests, but, to allow these unfortunate riders to take from their luckier brethren any advantages the makers may be able to give them, either in wheel or tire, was indeed unjust.

THERE has lately returned to this country a victorious team of athletes, who in their tour abroad have had a mission to perform and have performed it to the satisfaction of every one. The team referred to is that of the Manhattan Athletic Club, and the mission it had for an object was to teach the English critics that American athletes and American timers were both first class. The ease with which the best men in all England were defeated by the Manhattan Athletic Club team, and the time that they accomplished, has almost succeeded in convincing those they visited of the truth of the records they have claimed to have made here. We say almost, for few Englishmen will accept as possible any record, performance, or time that is better than his own, unless same is made in England. For many years it was a fundamental article of belief that no man could run one hundred yards in ten seconds. And for several years after American amateurs had accomplished the feat it remained a tenet in England. The Britishers refused to accept our record, and declared our timing or our starting to be inaccurate, simply because no Englishman had ever succeeded in running the hundred in even time. Four Americans in succession made the record, and one even ran one hundred and one yards in ten seconds, but not until an Englishman made "even time," under English watches, was the fact admitted in England. All of this has been repeated in regard to any record ever made by wheelmen in America. No matter what it was, or how carefully it was timed and measured, certain English authorities refused to accept same as authentic, since to them the fact that an Englishman had never performed the same feat made it impossible for any one else to do so. So, it is a pleasure to see something like the recent visit of the Manhattan Athletic Club team take place, as it affords us an opportunity of seeing those who doubt both our honesty and ability in athletics treated to a nice savory dish of crow, which, unpleasant as it is, has to be eaten by the most pronounced of critics sometimes. It is unfortunate of course that we have not yet been able to send a wheelman abroad to perform the same educational process for Mr. Hillier, but until circumstances shape themselves so as to allow us to do this, we wish to assure those who doubt our racing men's performances, that our racing men are fully up to the sample of American athletes that they have just seen, and they were pretty fair, even on English tracks and against English watches.

ALAS! the Chicago managers have "reconsidered" their promise made at Detroit to the Springfield representatives in regard to changing the dates of the meet from September 11, 12 to September 25 and 26. At a meeting held by the managers in Chicago it was decided to retain the original dates selected for the following reasons: "Last year the races were held late in September and were hardly a success; Chicago and the West have so many good racing men now that the success of a meet of ordinary dimensions does not depend upon the participation of the flyers of the East" so says "Pologizer Jones" in Bearings.

Well, we are sorry that the Chicagoans have found it necessary to select a date already chosen, and after giving a semi-official promise that the dates would be changed, back up and repudiate the understanding. We do not know to what extent the Chicago representatives had authority to make promises to the Springfield men, perhaps they had not any. In that event they were wrong to pledge the Chicago tournament managers absolutely or provisionally. All tournaments have an added interest when the representative racing men of different sections meet, and it is too bad that some arrangement cannot be made hereafter so that dates of the prominent meetings do not clash.

OUR good friends "Hawkshaw" and "Tertius" seem to have joined forces in attempting to knock over the present amateur rule. It is true that from small acorns big oaks do grow, therefore who knows what may come out of the small acorn planted by our vivacious correspondents. The present outlook is not encouraging for a very large growth of oak, in fact the tendency seems rather to tighten the reins on the amateur than to loosen them. Our colums are open to those who think differently from "Hawkshaw" and "Tertius."

THE concensus of opinion seems to be that Detroit did not do as well as it ought to have done in the way of management during the late meet. The Reception Committee was certainly conspicuous by its absence, and there were features which were promised that did not materialize. Still there is a tendency to rub the shortcomings in a little too much, as we notice a groundless charge that the press men were not provided for at the races. The newspaper men had accomodations provided for them, and we do not think their free admission was "grudgingly" accorded.

The same writer goes on to tell of the hospitable treatment he received at the hands of Local Consul Buchler of Hagerstown, Md., a short time after his return from Detroit. With the generous hospitality of the Marylander, the writer of the article referred to was not allowed to pay out one cent; all his expenses were paid while in the hands of his host, Mr. Buchler. He then goes on to draw invidious comparisons between the treatment he received at Detroit and Hagerstown. This is scarcely a fair comparison; surely he did not expect the Detroit men to foot his bills? There was enough to criticise in the lack of management at Detroit, but the comparison as above stated is rather rubbing it in.

A GOOD deal of discussion has been going on as to the probability of the Englishmen coming over here to ride in the fall events. If they intended to come and compete they should have been here now. A month is all too short a time to get over the effects of a sea voyage and become partially accustomed to the climate. We would have liked very much to have seen Osmond and Ede over here to take part in the fall races, but we doubt very much if we shall see them. If they do come we think that with the short time they will now have for preparation they cannot possibly tune up to their best racing form, and hence the races with the riders of this country would prove nothing conclusively as to their respective merits.

"BEARINGS" is responsible for the statement that Maj. Burdett promised that Mr. Patee of Peoria should receive the appointment to fill the position on the Racing Board, made necessary by the resignation of Mr. Bassett. We have not heard from Maj. Burdett, but we miss our guess and we have mistaken Maj. Burdett if such a pledge was ever given.

OSMOND, that wonderful English rider, has got the hour record down pretty close to 24 miles. His actual time in making the 24 miles was 1 hour 40 seconds.

WE wish every farmer in the land could cut the following item out and paste it in his hat. The item is taken from the Lincoln, Ill., Times, and is one of the most conclusive arguments in favor of good roads we have ever seen:

"The Mendota Bulletin mentions a farmer who brought corn to that place and sold it at 58 cents a bushel, who might have received 75 cents had the roads been passable for loaded wagons. His loss on 5000 bushels was $1350, which the Bulletin pertinently says would go a long way towards constructing a road that is passable at all seasons. Farmers are losing every year large sums of money on account of bad roads, but somehow the lesson is thrown away."

J. W. RIKER of Schenectady, N. Y., is about to tour from his home to San Francisco and then "do" South America. He takes steamer from S. F. to Rio Janeiro, and thence he cycles.

W. S. Russell has carried the proud title of being the "champion all round bicycle thief." In his confession he says he "couldn't resist the temptation to 'nip' wheels."

M. DUBOIS, the French professional champion, was killed by a road mender at Luz, France, July 28. An altercation took place between the two, caused by the latter obstructing the road. Dubois was struck on the head with a crowbar and his skull was smashed. The road mender claims he acted in self defence.

SAYS "Setagee:" "Pitman, the veteran wheelman, was in Detroit last week. At that time the lantern and bell carrying dispute was going on in the columns of the Free Press. A reporter of that paper called on him at the Cadillac, and quoted him as being in favor of obliging all wheelmen to carry lanterns and bells. Most wheelmen here think bells and squawkers a nuisance and the human voice par excellence as a signal or warning. I think so too, for in all my riding the only success I ever got out of a bell or whistle was in pleasing small boys. I was glad to see President Bates come out with some sound articles on this question. He seemed to be the only wheelman in Detroit who had the courage to publicly express his opinion."

THE New Haven Bicycle Club, will be the guests of the Brooklyn Club Aug. 9. The New Haven men will take the night boat for New York and will spend Sunday in making a run to Massapique.

MR. DAVID BONNER "gasps" at the marvellous performance of a mile in 2.16. A year ago he placed the possible limit at 2.25, but now he thinks the limit has not yet been reached.

THE coroners' jury in the case of the running over and killing of the boy cyclist, Benny H. Heymann, in Philadelphia last week, have decided that the killing was accidental and unavoidable so far as the truck driver is concerned. The evidence showed that the boy was riding down Diamond street, when he ran into a loaded truck, driven by William Douse.

AT the coming election of the Detroit Wheelmen there will be a great surprise in store for most of the members, and some even expect to see the club reorganize or split into two clubs. It cannot be denied that there is some dissatisfaction over some late occurrences, and the better riders of the club want a racing team that can be sent to the fall meets and have the advantages of proper training. To express it plain they think they have been back in the woods long enough, and they know that there is as good racing talent here as anywhere, and they want it developed.

THE Hagerstown (Md.) Bicycle Club may purchase land to be used for a sporting park.

MR. F. A. ELWELL has returned to Portland. He left the party of tourists under the care of Mr. H. Higgins.

A PARTY of Penn City Wheelmen of Philadelphia, under the guidance of President Owen E. Lally, are touring through the interior of Pennsylvania.

A PARTY of visiting wheelmen from Trenton, N. J. have been visiting Boston, and were looked after by Mr. A. D. Peck, Jr., Captain of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club.

THE Detroit Wheelmen have been incorporated and will hold their election on August 24. On the 12th there will be a caucus, and the club will talk club house. Detroit Wheelmen lost about a thousand dollars on the meet, but the members still have courage and will probably put up a $10,000 club house in the heart of the city. A site has been found, and all modern conveniences in the way of Turkish baths, wheel rooms, gymnasium, etc., will be embodied in the club house. Mr. Leon Coquard, a well known architect and an enthusiastic member of the club, will design the club house; and as he is now superintending the building of a fine club house, and has made a thorough study of all kinds of club houses, the wheelmen will have about as handy, convenient, and practical a club house as any wheel or athletic club in the whole country.

THERE is a dog in the vicinity of Orange that has a "record." He is a yellow dog, but he has a penchant for getting run over by cyclists and causing their downfall. He was the cause of a serious fall to H. Wheeler during the late Orange Business Men's team race, and a week before that, one of the Newark team while training ran over the enterprising beast and was badly smashed up. The yellow purp comes up smiling every time, and the satisfaction of causing the downfall of a cyclist seems to more than compensate him for the pain he endures in being run over.

SOME 50 members of the Philadelphia Bicycle Club two weeks ago were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McKinstry of Sharon hill. A bountiful meal was served, and in the evening fireworks added to the pleasure of the occasion. At 9 30 the wheelmen started for home.

THERE are now four bicycle clubs in Detroit, the Detroit Wheelmen, Wolverine Wheelmen, Newboys' Bicycle Club and the Business Men's Wheel Club. The Wolverine Wheelmen is a boys' club, and has been going two years. It has a small membership, and its headquarters is on Cass avenue.

NEXT week the Yonkers Bicycle Club will start on its annual tour. An elaborate plan has been outlined by the officers. The start will be made from Philadelphia, and thence on to New York, Gettysburg, Hagerstown, Winchester, Newmarket, Staunton, Natural Bridge, Richmond to Old Point Comfort. The schedule calls for an average of forty miles per day. A large party has been made up to go.

TIME works wonders, and it is not a very long time since Belva Lockwood was jeered and scoffed at for riding a bicycle on the streets of Washington. Lady riders should hold Mrs. Lockwood in grateful memory for her pluck as a pioneeress.

"WE are catching roasts from all directions," says "Setagee" of Detroit, "and Griffith, Watson, Peck, Brown, and some of the other committeemen feel pretty sore, but most of the roasting comes from the Chicago cycling papers."

GENERAL DRAPER is one of those interested in the Belanger wheel. He says: "I do not take the enthusiastic view of it which Mr. Belanger holds, but if the wheel can be made to run 25 or 30 miles an hour, that is considerably ahead of anything which the ordinary bicycle can accomplish."

ENTRIES for the Lincoln Cycling Club's annual road race at Chicago will number nearly fifty, and the prizes nearly as many. The course is an even ten miles officially measured over block pavements and boulevards. Three medals for place and one for time are the leading prizes, and they are beauties too.

The wheelmen of Orange County, N. J., at a meeting at Goshen, have organized a County Wheelmen's Association. The towns represented were Goshen, Middletown, Port Jervis, Montgomery, Campbell Hall, Chester, Warwick, and Washingtonville.

TERRY ANDRÆ, of Milwaukee, is credited with a mile in 2.40 on the road.

MISS IDA FREESE of Detroit and several young lady friends were practicing riding a bicycle on Congress street about 8 o'clock one evening last week. Miss Freese was riding near the car track when a street car came along. As the car was about to pass her she lost control of the machine and tipped upon the track. Before any one could realize what had occurred the car passed over her, the wheels running over her lower limbs. She was picked up unconscious and carried into her home near by and died 20 minutes later. The car driver was not to blame.

THE Lynn cyclers are feeling the effect of the racing revival at Springfield and the old spirit is animating some of the Lynn riders to investigate and see if it is possible to hold a tournament on the Glenmere track some time this fall. The members of the Rovers Club say they can pledge from $700 to $800 for prizes.

SAYS the "Lounger:" "A. J. Street's acceptance of a position on the Racing Board has created no little comment in the wild and wooly West. Many think he should have at least waited until something had been done in regard to the now existing Rule G trouble." [Why?—ED.].

THE Springfield Club at their tournament will endeavor to have Gov. Russell attend one day. The other distinguished guest on the occasion of the Springfield tournament will be none other than Henry Ducker himself. Springfield! Ducker! ! Hendee! ! ! Great Scott, how our memory is forced back to the good old days.

THE twenty-four hour record for Philadelphia, held by B. Frank McDaniel is now held by James Artman of the Quaker City Wheelmen. He rode 220 1-4 miles, 8 more than made by McDaniel.

THE Newsboys' Aid Association has been running several years, but it is less than two months since it organized a bicycle club among its members.

MR. J. R. LINCOLN EDWARDS, of Philadelphia, is about to take unto himself a wife. He will be married at Lansdowne, August 12th. Mr. Edwards is an active cycler, being Secretary of the Associated Cycling Clubs and also a member of the South End Wheelmen. He has the best wishes of his many friends.

VOLUME II. of BICYCLING WORLD wanted. Address Wheelman Co., 12 Pearl street, Boston.

BY Goodrich steamer last Saturday evening, 36 of the Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago went to Milwaukee. Sunday morning they rode to Waukesha, where a bath at the open air natatorium in Waukesha water was much enjoyed. Dinner at the Spring City and a slow ride back to Milwaukee through the Soldiers' Home park and out to White Fish bay closed a very successful and enjoyable day's outing. The trip back by boat brought them into the city Monday morning.

FRANK G. LENZ and C. H. Petticord of Pittsburg, Pa., start August 9 for a wheel tour from Pittsburg to New Orleans, La. Their route passes through Cumberland and Hagerstown, Md., Staunton and Lexington, Va., Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., Birmingham and Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Meridian to Sligo, Miss., to New Orleans, La.

ON Sunday evening, Aug. 2, a Victor Model B safety was stolen from in front of the Bay State Bicycle Club rooms of Worcester, Mass., on Pearl street. The number of the machine is 13,070; it has no mud guards or brake. The Bay State Bicycle Club offer a reward of $30 for return of wheel and information that will lead to capture of thief. B. A. LEMONT, Secretary B. L. B. C.

CHICAGO riders have the highest opinion of the Green Bay Wheelmens' entertaining ability. The train reached Green Bay at six in the morning, yet the reception committee was in waiting with carriages, in which the visitors were taken to the homes of the leading residents and entertained in the very best manner. Never such treatment, not even at Peoria, was accorded cyclists as at this annual meet of the Wisconsin Division. Boat rides, sails on the lakes, and fishing trips were features. The best of well wishes and a hearty invitation to come again was accorded the visitors on their departure. Nor did the visitors go away empty-handed, for just one-half of all the prizes were taken by them. Chicago will be more fully represented next season.

DETROIT will get some of the State Division officers this fall, perhaps. The State Division is taking a vacation, off yachting or in swimming I reckon.

W. C. THORNE now holds the Chicago wheeling records, doing the 26 miles over rough country roads in one hour and fifty minutes.

"ROCHESTER, like Buffalo," says "Jasper," "now has a Ramblers' Bicycle Club, and not to be outdone, is also bound to 'have a tag on;' so when the wheelmen appear upon the streets they are resplendent with a bright new tag giving the number of the wheel in characters large enough to be easily read 75 and 100 feet away. This tag shows that the wheel is licensed or permitted to be used upon a limited portion of the sidewalks, for which the modest tax of 35 cents is charged. We presume that this tax will be used in the fund set aside for the care of individuals who have been injured in collisions with bicycles. This sidewalk riding awheel always did seem rather countrified to us whenever we visited Rochester, but it was very grateful, nevertheless; then it is presumed it will be maintained until there are more smooth pavements in Rochester. The police of Buffalo will arrest a wheelman for sidewalk riding as soon as they see him, but will allow all sorts of glaring inconsistencies such as, grocers monopolizing nearly all of the walk with a public exhibition of their wares; builders filling three-fourths of the highway with lumber and other building material; teamsters scattering dirt, cut flints and gravel all along the streets, and sometimes building stones, and they do not seem to be in any fear of the law, judging from their carelessness."

CYCLISTS in Milwaukee are willing to wager large amounts of money that Andræ will beat Van Sicklen's time in the Waukesha-Milwaukee road race, August 15th.

THE Parkside track at Chicago is not completed, and many local races have necessarily been postponed, among these the Lincoln's annual championships.

MRS. H. F. AKIN of Maywood, Ill., accompanied by her husband rode a century to Joliet, going through Riverside and returning by way of Aurora and Hinsdale. She finished the run in splendid style and ready for a scorch. Mrs. Akin has the honor of being the first lady in this section of the country to perform this feat. She will join the Century Road Club.

"THE Lancaster Safety Cycling Club" of Lancaster, Ohio, was organized on Friday evening, July 31st. The club starts off with a roll call of twenty members, who will all apply to the L. A. W. for membership. The officers were elected for the ensuing year.

FOUR-FIFTHS of the entire membership of the Wanderers Cycle Club of Cincinnati attended the State meet of the L. A. W. at Columbus.

THE recent annual election and jollification of the Columbia Cycle Club of Worcester, was a most enjoyable affair. After the election of officers, the club adjourned to the Lincoln House and disposed of a banquet, and then the balance of the evening was spent in listening to witty speeches and good music.

THERE are prophets in Buffalo who predict that there is a great tandem team in the combination of Banker and Dorntge of the B. A. C. We hope to see this effected at the State Division meet at Rochester, but hardly think it likely that such a combination will be brought about. But why not?

MEMBERS of the Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago, together with a number of lady riders, have formed the Comet Cycling Club for the purpose of conducting evening and Sunday runs, in which both sexes may participate. Their badge is a gold star on purple ground.

OVER the familiar signature of the "Forty-niner," Frederick Jenkins, we were invited to attend a second club smoker, Aug. 1st, of the West Chester County Wheelmen, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

A CLUB has been formed with twenty charter members, at Middletown, N. Y., known as the Middletown Wheelmen.

THE veteran Dr. G. E. Blackham, of Dunkirk, N. Y., still remains active in cycling matters; he was recently elected to the position of president of a new club at that place. When we hear of a "vet" who is still in it, we feel like echoing the words of "Little Puck"—"there are very few of us left."

FOUR Waterbury, (Ct.) cyclists successfully attempted a century ride to New York the other day. The quartet was composed of F. J. Finch, E. Wilson, L. A. White and L. Coer. They started at 3 15 A. M., and arrived in New York, 01 1-2 miles, at 3 80. Total time, including stops, 12h. 5m.

C. E. RANDALL of the Chicago Cycling Club deserves great credit for the excellent manner in which he has converted the C. C. C. boys and brought them under the League banner. An amendment on the bulletin board to make this club a League club will hardly go through because of the large social element.

AN exchange says: "Trying to control a safety bicycle by a beginner is worse than riding a green mule bareback with only a halter to guide it."

MR. C. H. LUSCOMB will be undoubtedly the next Chief Consul of the Empire State. Mr. Luscomb's attitude in League affairs since his defeat for re-election for President has been so manly as to command the respect of every League member. Mr. Luscomb's words uttered at that memorable meeting in New York over two years ago, when personal feeling was running high, have come true; said he: "The time will come when you will all say Luscomb isn't such a bad fellow after all." Mr. Luscomb is a good fellow, a loyal League member, and a better selection for Chief Consul of New York could not be made. Mr. Woods' name is associated with that of Mr. Luscomb's for re-election to Vice-Consul. A better ticket could not be put.

"MY heyes, 'ow the records h'are goin'" John Bull is everlastingly getting in his work. Osmond, one-mile in 2.16! Twenty-four miles in one hour, 40 seconds! ! First it was Ede with his 22 miles, 1,395 yards, and now it is Osmond with his 28 miles, 1,260 yards within the hour. Will Father Time please put a quietus on these lively lads until we get our breath.

SAYS "Jasper," our Buffalo correspondent: The motto, "There is honor among thieves," is often used. But where is the honor when one wheelman while attending a meet in another town deliberately opens the tool pouch of his fellow wheelmen and takes therefrom the contents, and upon his arrival at home brags that he is now even, as he has had a great many of his wrenches stolen; so while away he stole (appropriated) eight for his own use and to get even with the world. I had always thought that wheelmen, in this respect, were the very souls of honor and uprightness. Can there be, by any process of reasoning, an excuse for this sort of thing? One feels ashamed to write this, the facts in the case, but it is done in the hopes that it will meet the eyes of the person and let him see that his sin is known."

C. STEWART and H. C. Knisely, among the oldest members of the Illinois Cycling Club, invited their club mates to conduct a run to their home in Hinsdale last Sunday. Eighty-five responded to the invitation and enjoyed an excellent dinner, some ice cream and cigars.

YOU must not say "penalize" tires any more, it isn't proper. You must say "handicap." We have been corrected by high authority on the misuse of the word penalize; this word therefore is relegated to the shelf of obsoleteness alongside of "pants," "gents," and "boys."

A COLORED postman, of Wilmington, Del., was lately run into and knocked down by a lady cyclist. After the wreck had been cleared away and the lady was offering apologies to Uncle Sam's minion, he interrupted her by saying: "Doan' soliloqu'ze to me missis; doan' soliloquize to me. Jes' git right along as ef bit nebber tuk place."

SCHWEINFURTH'S "heaven" near Rockford was the scene of several excellent photos on Fourth of July. These may be seen at 17 Madison street, Chicago.

THE West Birmingham News (England) has a very full and interesting account of the wedding of Mr. Henry G. Priest and Miss Gertrude Maud Curzon. The affair was the most brilliant and fashionable that has taken place at Harborne in many a day. The presents were numerous and costly, and the church was elaborately decorated for the happy occasion. After the ceremony a reception was given at Harborne Park, the residence of Counsellor H. A. Wiggin. Mr. and Mrs. Priest went to Scotland for their wedding tour.

"STOP THIEF." Two machines were stolen from Amherst, N. H., last Friday (July 28) night. One was a Singer safety, '91 model, No. 69,285, and the other was a New Mail ordinary, No. 5805. Any information to L. H. Hall, Milford, N. H., leading to the finding of these machines, and the capture of the thief will be thankfully received by the above named gentleman.

A LAWN PARTY and entertainment will be given by the Ravenswood (Ill.) Cycling Club Saturday evening, August 15, at the home of Harry B. Rennolds.

HAVE you got the bicyclist's gout yet? Symptoms: The calf swells to abnormal size, and your foot becomes deformed.

THE Denver Times bids Bishop Coxe "go to," as it points to the lovely and graceful members of the Victoria Bicycle Club of that city. It says also truthfully: "Why, forsooth, because a woman sees fit to benefit herself and generations yet unborn by taking regular, healthful exercise, should some super-sensitive critic set up a how-dye-do about it."

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

IMAGINE the wheelman of to-day going to a League meet conducted on the plan of the days now gone, when those who entertained them were real hosts and went down deep into their pockets to pay for their guest's amusement and pleasure; when the question was not how much can we make out of our guests, but how much can we afford to spend upon them? The present form of conducting League meets is more in keeping, perhaps, with the commercial age in which we live, and in which cycling plays so important a part; but, aside from the profit that results, it does not begin to compare with the real hospitality and fraternal greeting that one formerly experienced at these gatherings. Cycling has improved in many ways, but among the improvements it has made the conducting of its annual meet is not numbered.

If the French physician who claims to have discovered "a new form of gout" produced by riding the bicycle will kindly extend his discoveries until he has discovered a wheelman who has been afflicted with this "patent" disease of his, he will cause more people to believe in it than do so at present. I am afraid that the doctor will find that discovering such a patient is much more difficult than discovering the disease. I hope so at any rate.

Cycling in its far-reaching sweep has grown to be a great moral as well as a physical benefit to humanity. It gives to those who enroll themselves under the banner of the wheel, sound bodies, and they induce sound morals, that one of these is a natural result of the other, is a question that years ago passed beyond the realm of discussion. Those who dispute the fact are subjects for instruction, not argument.

The demands of commerce, transportation and war, before the invention of the railroad, made the roads of Europe far superior to those in this country, where the railroad came before the common roads got into a good condition, or the people into the habit of keeping them so. If wheelmen succeed in doing nothing else but improving the present inadequate system of public roads in America, they will be filling a sphere—or ought one to say cycle?—of usefulness with which the public does not now credit them.

The local effects of cycling consist in an increase in bulk and a hardening of the substance of all the muscles which directly or indirectly are brought into play by the varied movements the propulsion of the wheel demands. These effects are more easily noticed in all other athletes than it is in wheelmen, because, as a rule, other forms of exercise involve the constant use of one set of muscles, and even the inexperienced eye can often read the man's favorite sport or exercise by means of his muscular development. Aside from cycling, most other forms of exercise are really muscular specialisms, and they leave their marks upon the body as clearly as intellectual specialism, when not corrected by general culture, does upon the mind. It is the frequent contraction of every muscle caused by cycling, more than the force employed that produces the remarkable effects that have never failed to follow the judicious and persistent use of the wheel as a means for gaining or retaining strength.

Amateur—a word derivative from the Latin amator,—a lover. Now, not the least of the woes of the upholders of the term 'amateur" as applied to athletics is the fact that they are engaged in an effort to make the word as regards cycling to mean the very reverse from what it does in connection with all else in life. They seek to make of it a term of praise, while as applied to any of the other professions or arts it is far from being so. Burke defines an amateur as "a person attached to a particular pursuit, study or science, as to music or painting; one who has a taste for arts; more particularly, one who cultivates any study or art from taste or attachment." Now under this definition see how absurd it is to attempt to dub the modern racing man an "amateur." Dealing with them as a class, does any one for a moment think they ride from any "taste or attachment" they may have for racing as a pastime? Does not the value and variety of the prize list, and the emoluments resulting from being speedier than their fellow riders enter more into their devotion to racing? Of course it does. Again, what would be thought of any one who, seeking to praise Patti for her singing, or Millet for his paintings, was to declare them to be purely "amateur?" To tell Salvini he acted like an amateur, or in any other profession or walk in life to compare any one to an amateur would be to cast a reflection upon their talents or abilities. Why then should it be so strangely reversed when applied to athletics? If we must retain the existing form of amateur law, would it not be wiser for us to seek a name that can be applied to it with more correctness than the present one? Perhaps if we did this the job of bolstering up the rule we are endeavoring to enforce might be made a trifle easier.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS IN FRANCE.

AFTER we left Dole, where we spent the last half of the glorious Fourth, the day was one filled with considerable interest, not only in regard to excellent roads and delightful scenery on every hand, but as concerned a few individual members of the party. "Huggy" had ridden ahead to Joigny, and stopping at what he supposed was the right hotel, asked the landlady in his own peculiar system of French if she had received orders to furnish dejeuner for a certain number of hungry wheelmen. He did not understand the reply, but the landlady departed and Huggy sat down to wait for the remainder of the party. In due time the slower riders came up and stopped at the right hotel; they called the other man over, and preparations were made for the mid-day meal. In a short time the aforesaid landlady came around and demanded payment for dinner for the party which she said the young man had ordered. He denied her assertions, and her demands were ignored. Then she waxed wroth and filled the room with emphatic remarks, the only word of which we could understand as she suddenly departed was "police." When dejeuner was about half over "Huggy" seemed to lose his appetite and telling us that he guessed he might as well go on to the next stopping place picked up his hat and left the dining room. As he went out one door, an officer whose only official air seemed that which was closely connected with a garlic and cheese diet, came in at the other and made search for the flown bird, but he was out of sight. The officer wanted to take us all, but after sizing up the desperate look upon our faces (for we were hungry and did not not want to be disturbed) he uttered a few remarks, which were more than wasted, and hied himself away. When we reached the next town "Huggy" was there to meet us, and he lost no time in getting there either. On nearing Champagnole, where we stopped for the night, Linn ran over a chicken and disfigured its vital organs to such an extent that it will scratch no more on the highway of life and Champagnole. That evening "Cut" wrote up a neat letter in French, demanding twenty-three francs for the slaughter of the pet hen (or expect to be arrested), and signed the supposed owner's name to it. The letter was delivered and translated to the perpetrator of the awful crime at the dinner table, and the smile which he wore since he crushed the wind out of the poor hen was changed to a sort of I-wish-I-was-home-look, and he lost all interest in the dinner. All that evening those two boys were in a state of uneasiness; one feared the irate landlady might pursue him, and the other kept a continual lookout for the owner of the defunct hen. Whenever a stranger or an officer came near they almost held their breath until he had departed, nor did they feel safe for two days or more later.

After leaving Champagnole we began the ascent of the Jura Mountains. The grade was long, but the road was well constructed and some of the tourists rode the entire distance, though others preferred to walk and take their time in viewing the points of interest along the way. We stopped one evening at Moretz, a quaint little town situated in a narrow valley between mountain peaks a thousand feet high, and where the entire population are engaged in the manufacture of clocks and spectacles. Homes are turned into workshops, and each member of the family has his or her (as the case may be of course) special part to complete and send to the place of final arrangement. The next morning we began a climb of nine kilometers, which took us up into the region where the clouds enfolded us in their moist and chilly arms. It became decidedly cool, as the sun was obscured, and we made all the speed possible to keep warm. Nevertheless after the steepest grade had been ridden the rugged and picturesque scenery began to assert itself, and we enjoyed the ride hugely. Away down in the valley lay the green farm land with little squares of golden grain bordered by the brown of newly plowed ground. Here and there with a picturesque irregularity stood the gray, plastered dwellings, and a silvery stream wound its way from farm to farm until it was lost to view behind a distant hill. We were way up where the stately pines raised their heads and the mountain stream dashed angrily across our way and went roaring down the mountain side. We began to wonder when the long up-grade would cease, when a turn in the road revealed a picture of untold beauty to our gaze. It was a complete and surprising transformation. From the gloomy woods and dark clouds behind to a brightness in front of us. The clouds had broken and the great mountains seemed to fall away at our very feet and extend down and beyond to the edge of the beautiful lake, whose bright blue waters lay still and slumbering in the distance. Beyond rose the distant mountains and extended on either hand until their outline blended with and finally disappeared in the misty atmosphere. The picture held us spellbound for a time, and we regarded it with silent admiration. Then we began the rapid descent. With brakes well under control we fairly flew down the winding road, six miles to Gex and from there ten miles on the level to Geneva. Here we spent three days sight seeing, boating on the beautiful lake, reading and answering letters from distant friends and sweethearts. Of course we all have sweethearts; where is the bicyclist who hasn't.

On the morning of July 11 we began our journey again. Passing out of Geneva the sidewalk tempted three of the tourists to leave the stony street and they hastened to take advantage of it. They had just begun to enjoy the change when a gendarme stepped from his box and stopped them. He got their names, age, color, height, weight and former condition of servitude, and prison bars, long suffering on a stone pile and the chain gang rose before their vision as they timidly asked the penalty. They heaved a sigh of relief when the officer demanded the enormous amount of sixty cents; they paid it and we hurried on and never looked at the sidewalks after that. "Tut" thought it was a little tough after winning on the number seven horse the night before to give it up to an officer with the same number on his cap; but he had to submit. We reached the beautiful valley of Chamounix that evening, and as usual beat the diligence which left Geneva in the forenoon by two hours. Long before we reached the town the snow capped peaks of the Alps loomed up in the distance and glistened in the sunlight. It was a novel sight as we rode along in the valley, coats off and sweat pouring from us to gaze up and see fields of drifted snow and rugged glaciers that poured down their chilled waters in narrow, foaming streams. From the hotel roof the Stars and Stripes floated on the breeze in all its glory, and we hailed with delight its appearance in this faraway land. Sunday morning we were called at six o'clock, and although it was like pulling teeth we arose and devoured an early cafe au lait. Then we started on a tramp up the rocky zig zag path of the mountain to the mer de Glace, which we reached after two hours' steady climbing. Here we gazed upon the glacier in its awful grandeur; we snowballed each other, we put great mittens on our feet ("Hig's" feet were too big for the mittens so he went without), we sat on the ice for our pictures. It was a good thing the pictures were instantaneous, or we might have contracted a long spell of bad cold. A cannon was fired, which awakened the great solitude with an awful roar, and echoed and re-echoed among the distant peaks until it died away. We made our way along the Mauvias Pas, where a misstep would have sent us headlong a hundred feet or more to the rocks below; we pried huge boulders loose and sent them bounding from rock to rock gathering speed and energy on their way until they broke into hundreds of pieces in the rocky way beneath us. It was a sportive forenoon and we returned to the hotel glad and hungry. We owe much of our enjoyment at Chamonix to our genial host of the Imperial Hotel, Mr. Churchman, who took us in charge and cared for us as wheelmen like to be cared for, and when we were ready to start again on our trip we found that our wheels had all been nicely cleaned. He bade us a hearty good-bye as we wheeled away along the beautiful valley.

Chamonix, July 14, 1891. Goodrich.

TERTIUS.

I have stirred up a hornets' nest.

Every "promoter" of a cross roads "meet," who gets credit for a hundred dollar prize whenever he offers a ten dollar clock, is emptying his vials of wrath upon my devoted head.

Why?

Well, I'll tell you. In the "golden age of cycling," to which "Hawkshaw" refers, "meets" were held for sport and glory. Nowadays, with some exceptions, the "promoters" are all on the make. They advertise a "grand fifty dollar water pitcher," knowing that it cost only twenty dollars, seven off for cash. They offer bicycles, lamps, "gold" medals, umbrellas, "Havana" cigars and the Lord knows what all, every blessed article of which has been purchased "low down."

The public, which is not an ass, smiles knowingly at these "gold" and "silver" fakes, reckoning them at their true worth.

But when Uncle Sam's "yellow boys" are put up there is no levity. Money talks, and that tells the whole story.

Now, mind you, I don't kick against clocks and crocks per se. If riders want to race for medals and truck I am willing. But I insist, with thundering emphasis, that riders should have the right to "go in" for cash as well as the "promoters," and that no lah-de-dah rules should stand in the way.

The trouble, as every old timer knows, began years ago when cycling was an expensive "pastime."

The dudes did it.

Don't you remember, dear "Hawkshaw," what a devil of a tme we used to have with the sweet things that were wont to bedeck themselves like Soloman in all his glory whenever they appeared?

Don't you remember how we fired our shafts of sarcasm at the rapid fools who rode in purple and fine linen?

Bah! It turns my stomach even now to think of them.

Well.

Now in those days it was the aim of those brainless snipes to make cycling an "exclusive" sport. The "common vulgar crowd" must be kept out at all hazards "don't you know.

The League was formed.

Blindly and foolishly the absurd and preposterous rules were promulgated which now are causing so much trouble.

I am not a racing man. I never rode for a prize in my life, and, like "Hawkshaw," I am too old to begin. But it is a self-evident fact that racing is beneficial to cycling. It interests the public, and when you get a man interested in anything he is sure to follow it up. We need better roads, and the League, if established on a broad, liberal basis, would be a mighty power in the way of highway improvements. Every man who rides a wheel takes an active interest in the public highways: ergo, the more riders, the better roads.

Racing, then, by awaking public interest, will increase the number of riders; and if every rider would join the League that body would become a power in the land.

The rules must be changed.

Commit "Hawkshaw's" words to memory: "I believe that the day has come to lay aside the 'amateur' mask, to cease the farce, and to boldly face the world as we are."

That's the way to talk.

The reform must come.

The "la la" rules must be changed to meet the changed order of things.

Dudes to the rear!

"Hawkshaw," old fellow, here's my hand.

Shake!

"Tertius."

ALADDIN'S LAMP.

When I was young and free from guile
And believ'd whate'er I heard
I read the story of Aladdin's Lamp
And doubted ne'er a word.

And now when my brow is deeply seam'd
And people call me old,
I still believe the story true
No matter what I'm told.

You smile, I see, but then I've heard
Far stranger tales than that.
I've heard of wheelmen climbing hills
As steep as Ararat.

Of taking runs so very long
In time so very brief,
That Father Time, left far behind,
Had almost died of grief.

I've heard of feats so marvellous,
By novices achiev'd,
That I'm convinced, say what you may,
Aladdin must have liv'd.

POLITICS IN KENTUCKY.

The race between Messrs. Johnson and Castle for the Chief Consulship of Kentucky Division, L. A. W. waxes warm as the time for the election draws nigh. The Leaguers have forgotten the old question, "Will Cleveland or Hill be Democracy's nominee?" for that of, "How will the race between Johnson and Castle end?"

The question is not hard to answer when one stops to consider. The two candidates appear at the scratch and at once it is seen that their training has been very different. That of Johnson has been his appearance at three of the meets of this division, his excellent service for two terms as Secretary-Treasurer, his thorough knowledge of the League and its affairs, his love for the sport generally, and last but by no means least, his connection with the newspaper world, as news editor of the Courier-Journal, which is a power in itself. The training of Castle shows his candidacy, his having spoken disparagingly of the League, his non-attendance at the meets and that he is an excellent gentleman.

The members are considering these matters in laying their money, and it now appears that the "Waxing Warmth" comes not so much from the question of "How will the race between Johnson and Castle end?" as from that of, "Will Johnson pass the string a hundred lengths (votes) ahead of his competitor?"

That is a large majority, but reports from all over the State now indicate it, and without intending to speak disparagingly of Mr. Castle, it would seem that Johnson's splendid record and services as shown in his recent report as Secretary-Treasurer would demand recognition from the Division at about that figure. "Kentuck."

QUINCY BICYCLE CLUB'S CENTURY ON THE CLARKSVILLE BELT.

The Quincy Bicycle Club of Quincy, Ill., are making arrangements for a century run on Aug. 16, which promises to be a pleasant affair.

All of the wheelmen of the neighboring towns have been asked to participate. If any one has been overlooked don't feel slighted, but just oil up your wheel and come, as the Quincy Club wish all the wheelmen in the vicinity to join with them in celebrating their first century.

Headquarters will be at the Palmer House, Louisiana, Mo., where lunch will be taken at three A. M. At four A. M. the start will be made, and the course will be to Dover and around the belt to Clarksville, 23 miles, where breakfast will be taken. Two trips around the belt will then be made (43 miles) before we dinner at Clarksville; then once around the belt and continue up to Louisiana (37 miles) for supper, making a total of 103 miles.

As these roads will probably be in fine condition, no doubt a large number will make the run.

THE HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

OF INTEREST TO RACING MEN.

The management of the Hartford Tournament desires to call the particular attention of the racing public to the list of races and prizes for the 1891 tournament. As to the running it will be seen that short races are the rule, two miles being the limit and out of twenty events there are twelve one mile, three quarter-mile and five two-mile races. In regard to style and order of programme great pains have been taken to accommodate all classes as far as possible, giving the fast, medium and slow men each an equal chance to enter in a sufficient number of events each day. Taking the experience of previous meets this year as a guide it is evident that a large majority of racing men have discarded the ordinary for the safety wheel, and in consequence of this state of affairs the Hartford Wheel Club deems it best to give but two races each day for ordinary wheels.

The management will guarantee this, and the Hartford Wheel Club will in every particular sustain its past enviable reputation in conducting a cycle tournament, viz: The celebrated Charter Oak Park will be in as perfect condition as money and labor can make it, and the officials will be of long experience and the best obtainable. No long tedious races, good accommodations for racing men, and by far the best array of prizes ever offered by the club.

We have to acknowledge the generosity of the trade in donating the five leading cycles manufactured in the country, and also extend our thanks to the Hartford business houses that have also aided us by presenting valuable articles. These gifts alone constitute a value approximate to that of many tournament prize lists. However, the club has not taken this fact into consideration at all, but has paid more cash for prizes this season than ever before, a sum that exceeds the amount that will be expended by any other club in the country for that purpose this year. Especial care has been taken to sensibly grade the value of prizes in each event. For example, we do not advertise a la Barnum a $2,000 (?) piano for first prize and gracefully but quietly hand the second man a cyclometer. In our list of firsts are five highest grade American wheels, two valueable gold medals, diamond scarf pin, solitaire diamond ring, Colt's shot gun, silver tea-set, French clock, oak roller top desk and other equally valuable prizes. In every event the winners of second and third place will receive a prize worthy of their best efforts, as for instance, solid gold and silver watches, diamond scarf pins, silver water set, banquet lamp and diamond sleeve buttons. Three prizes will be given in each event and in the one mile safety handicap five prizes will be given aggregating in value $300. The following is the official list of races and prizes.

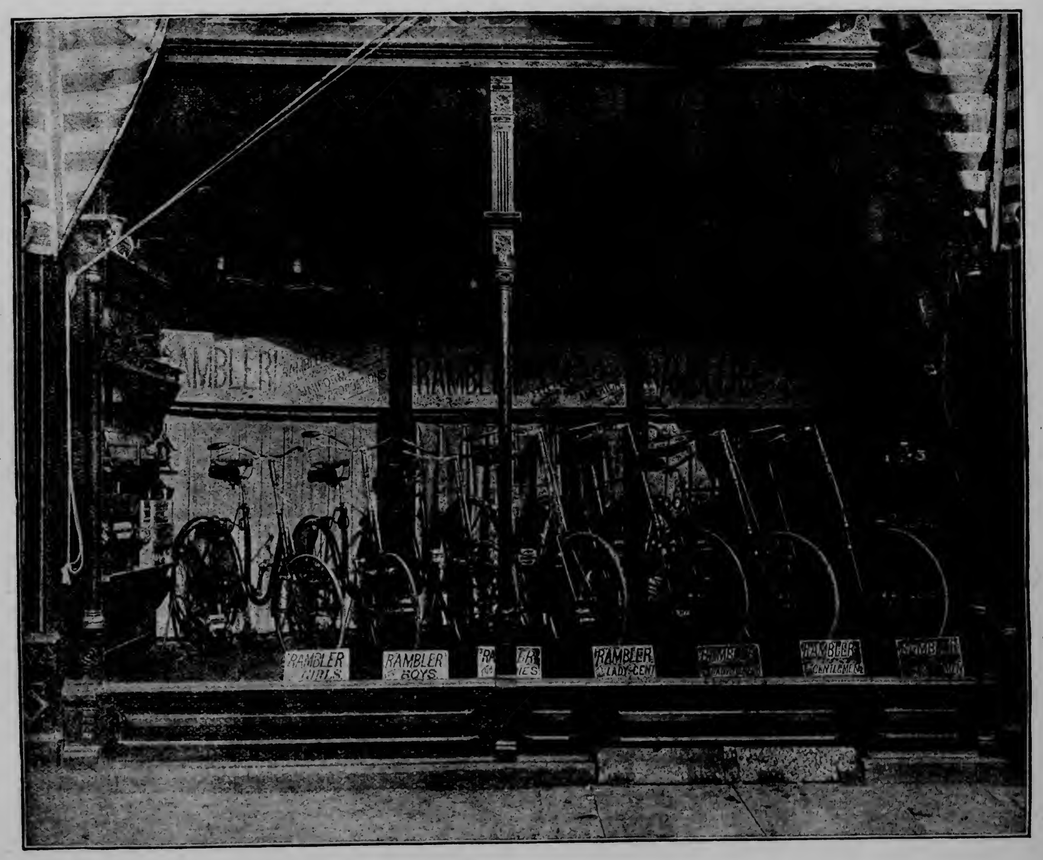
THAT ST. PAUL CENTURY RUN.

Bright and early Sunday morning of July 26, sleepy wheelmen could be seen wending their way toward the club rooms of the St. Paul Cycle Club, where it had been announced that the club would start on a century run at 5 A. M. sharp. It was learned afterwards that our President, Mr. C. C. Townsend, had stolen a march on us and was miles out on the road to Northfield ere slumber had released its hold upon the many to follow. At 4 A.M. K. F. Lott and W. Nelson were disturbing the quiet slumber of the country curs. At 5 the members began to gather, and by 5.30 there were fifteen on the road flying over the hills at a splitting gait. But those who had been through other century trips were thinking what a different expression there would be on the majority of those faces ere they had reached their journey's end. The trip was to Northfield, back to St. Paul and then to Minneapolis. All went merry until they had reached Rosemont and then the captain and D. W. Van Vleck took it in their heads they were going too slow. The next eight miles were made in 30 minutes, which left the majority of the riders far in the rear, except Howard Hatch who was "only" about a mile behind. At Farmington a halt was made for refreshments and to allow Mr. Hatch to come up, but after a stay of ten minutes it was learned that he had taken a back street and was far out on the road flying for Northfield. Upon that moment time was an object, and the next 14 miles was made in short order; Mr. Hatch being overhauled and left in the lurch; the scratch time for the forty miles to Northfield being 3 hours, 25 minutes. While the rest were getting into town, Captain F. L. Bird took a spin to Faribeault and return; but the return was full of sorrow and weariness, and tired cyclists could be found every few miles reposing in the shade. The 100 was made by W. Nelson, H. Hatch, M. Smith, and T. L. Bird, the rest being glad to quit at 80.

THE PRESS CYCLE CLUB DEFEAT THE RAMBLERS.

THE AMERICAN RECORD.

The fifty miles road race between the Press Cycle Club and Ramblers, both of Buffalo, N. Y., resulted in a victory for the newspaper men. The Press Club team consisted of Penseyres, Conn, Kittinger, Smith, Strong, and Neumann, while the Ramblers showed up Weinig, Klipfel, Crooks, Christ, Kane, and Fuhrman.



The start was made from Brockton and was straight away over fairly good roads for 50 miles, and Penseyres in finishing the distance in 2h. 41m. 30s., establishes the American safety record for that distance on any machine.

At Silver Creek, 23 miles from the starting point, the pace was hot between the first four men. Penseyres passed at 4.04 o'clock, and climbed Silver Creek hill. Weinig was about 25 yards behind, and Crooks and Conn were within easy hailing distance, scarcely five yards apart. Then came Kittinger, Smith, and Klipfel together, Kane, Christ, Fuhrman, Strong, Neumann.

At Irving the men scorched through in this order: Penseyres at 4.18 o'clock; Conn, 4.20; Crooks, 4.22; Weinig, 4.22.15; Kittinger, 4.22.30; Smith, 4.26; Klipfel 4.26.30; Kane, 4.27; Christ, 4.29.30; Strong, 4.32; Fuhrman, 4.32.15; Neumann, 4.36.

At Evans Centre the men passed in the following order: Penseyres, Conn, Weinig, Kittinger, Smith, Klipfel. Christ, Kane, Strong, Neumann, Crooks, Fuhrman. The first men were riding easy, while those in the rear were hustling to close up the gap in front of them.

In front of the Lake Avenue house at Blaisdell an excited crowd of wheelmen were gathered, and as the first man flashed into sight and was recognized by the Pressites as Penseyres, the newsgatherers just yelled themselves hoarse. The appearance of Conn next was the signal for another shouting bee on behalf of the Press men and their friends. Two minutes later the first Rambler in the person of Weinig put in an appearance. Then quickly followed Smith and Kittinger, and the Pressites just made the welkin ring now that victory was absolutely assured. The summary is as follows:

Penseyres, P. C. C. Actual time 2.41.30. Conn, P. C. C., 2.47.50; Weinig, R. B. C., 2.49.48; Kittinger, P. C. C., 2.50.51; Smith, P. C. C. 3.08.36; Klipfel, R. B. C., g 12.10; Crooks, R. B. C., 3.22.53; Christ, R. B. C., 3.25.32; Strong, P. C. C., 3.26.38; Neumann, P. C. C., 3.30.38; Kane, R. B. C., 3.30.40; Fuhrman, R. B. C., 3 45.58.

It is said that the victorious paper men will probably challenge the Rochester team.

RACE MEET OF THE PHILADELPHIA DEALERS,

held at Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon, was quite a success. Although the sky was full of heavy clouds, threatening a downpour at any minute, there was an attendence of at least one thousand people, over half being ladies. The finish of the ten mile road race was on the track, W. C. Seeds of Wilmington Wheel Club was first man in, who started from scratch; he was followed by J. G. High ten seconds later, who had a handicap of four minutes. J. B. Marriott, third, handicap 30 seconds; A. A. Gracy, one minute; Herbert Swank, 4 minutes; Edward Roe, 2 minutes. S. N., 70 yards; F. D. Houston, 170 yards; A. Beggs, 165 yards; E. W. Kelsey, 165 yards. H. Bilyeu, first; John A. Mead, second. Time 2.32 2-5.

Quarter mile ordinary, open—W. W. Taxis, first; J. H. Draper, second. Time 47 1-4 seconds.

One mile special handicap race. J. L. Bretz, first, 150 yards; S. W. Merrihew, second, scratch. Time 2.58 4-5.

LANTERN PARADE.

Friday evening previous to the race meet was the lantern parade gotten up entirely by the cycle dealers of Philadelphia. The local clubs were invited to participate. Broad and Diamond streets as far as could be seen were lined on both sides of the street with hundreds of pedestrians and so many vehicles that the riders of bicycles in the parade were obliged to dismount and walk, trundling their machines. There were between five and six hundred machines in line, all of them gayly trimmed with bunting, Chinese lanterns and parasols, presenting a lovely and unique appearance as they came along. There was quite a good bit of competition between the clubs, owing to a number of prizes being offered for the prettiest club turnout, also for the individual having the best looking wheel. Captain French of the Mt. Vernon Wheelmen was given the prize offered for the prettiest individual wheel. For the best club turnout the prize will be given to the Time Wheelmen, won by W. H. Wyeth, Wm. Lindenfelder and C. F. Fisher; they had three single machines joined together drawing a tricycle, made to resemble a chariot, driven by a fancifully dressed young miss, her reins being of ribbons of all shades. The men drawing it on their machines were dressed as jockeys.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT CORTLAND, N. Y.—The races of the Cortland (N. Y.) Wheelmen were quite a success notwithstanding the threatening weather. The parade before the races brought out about three hundred wheels and the streets were lined with interested spectators.

The sixteen-mile road race, which was the first event, was from Cortland seven miles out and return, with two miles on the race track. There were eight entries, but only four started. The race was won by G. W. Houk, Cortland Wheel Club; F. W. Plotrow, Oneida Wheel Club, second; F. H. Crosby, Utica Cycling Club, third. Time 58.48.

Track events: One-mile novice safety race was won by E. H. Martin, Utica Cycling Club; A. W. Scoville, second. Time 3.02.

In this race Fred W. Plotrow of Oneida got in a pocket, and in trying to get out collided with C. W. Smith of Cortland. Both were thrown heavily from their wheels just at the finish. Smith was badly cut and bruised, while Plotrow had his collar bone broken in two places.

One-mile ordinary race was won by A. J. Fuller, Rome Club; W. A. Doubleday, Cortland Wheel Club, second. Time 3.35 3-4.

One mile safety open race, eight started out of twenty entries. W. D. Banker of the Buffalo Athletic Club won, with C. W. Dorntge of the same club second, and G. L. Prescott of the Rome Club third. Time 2.46 1-2.

3.20 class, one-mile safety race, only seven out of the twenty entries came to the scratch. The race was won by Edward H. Martin, Utica Cycling Club; E. C. Cashin, Wappingers Falls, second; G. W. Houk, Cortland Wheel Club, third. Time 3.04 1-2.

One-mile team race, Buffalo, Wappingers Falls, and Cortland were represented. Banker and Dorntge of Buffalo were easy winners, coming to the wire almost even, with the others away in the rear. Time 2.50 1-2.

Half-mile ride and run won by Dorntge of Buffalo; W. H. Wells, New Jersey Athletic Club, second, and E. H. Martin, Utica Cycling Club, third. Time 1.24.

Two-mile safety handicap race was won by W. D. Banker, Buffalo, scratch; W. A. Doubleday, Cortland, 150 yards start, second; W. H. Dillon, Binghamton, 90 yards' start, third. Time 5.43 1-2. A very good race.

3.10 class, one-mile ordinary was captured by W. A. Doubleday, Cortland; A. I. Fuller, Rome, second; W. J. Fountain, Brooklyn Wheel Club, third. Time 3.19.

The half-mile safety race, eight started. C. W. Dorntge, Buffalo, was first; W. D. Banker, same club, second; John Wilkinson, Syracuse Cycling Club, third. Time 1.17 3-4.

One-mile lap race there were only two starters, J. H. Rowbottom, Wappingers Falls, beat A. I. Fuller, Rome.

Two-mile time handicap race, open only to members of the Cortland Wheel Club, five started. The winners were W. A. Doubleday, scratch, first; Frank Bell, twenty seconds, second; G. W. Houk, scratch, third. Time 6.20 1-2.

The concluding event was between C. W. Dorntge, Buffalo, and R. R. Van Bergen's trotting mare Centiola. Dortgne won in 2.37. The horse was distanced. He would not pass the machine, and broke every time he came near it.

AT WATERTOWN, N. J., July 28—The Watertown Cycling Club held a race meet. The first event was the ten mile road race, and it was won by E. S. Petrie of Watertown in 46m. 12s.; Geo. Spier, Carthage, second; and C. G. Miller, Syracuse, third. An immense crowd of people were present at the track events, and the racing was good.

Half-mile novice safety—C. N. Sherman, first. Time 1.23.

One mile ordinary—W. A. Parker, first; A. I. Fuller, second; E. S. Petrie, third. Time 3.38 1-2.

One mile tandem between Watertown and Rome teams—Watertown, first; Rome, second. Time 3.40.

Prior to the races the wheelmen to the number of 100 paraded the streets. The visiting wheelmen were royally entertained by the local men.

THE Riverside Wheelmen of New York propose to hold a race meeting on Manhattan Field, October 3d. They also will hold a series of road races during August.

THE Norristown (Pa.) Wheelmen will hold a race meeting August 29 at Oakview. Valuable prizes will be offered. Entrance fee of 25 cents. Following is a programme of the races: One mile, novice; half-mile, open; one mile, club championship; half-mile, open; quarter-mile, club; one mile, open; one mile, championship of Norristown; one mile, 3.20 class; one mile, championship of Montgomery and Chester Counties; half-mile, club; half-mile, boys under 15; two miles, club handicap; one mile, consolation.

THE Riverside Wheelmen, of New York, at their last meeting decided to hold a race meet on Saturday, October 3d, on the Manhattan Field, 155th St. and 8th Ave. This is a big undertaking, inasmuch as no bicycle club in New York City has ever attempted to run a meet since 1885, but we have no doubt that with hard work and earnest efforts the Riverside Wheelmen will be able to make the event a howling success. Captain Edward A. Powers is Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements and William F. Smith, Jr., is Secretary. The committee consists of experienced riders and gentlemen who have had charge of race meets before. William F. Murphy has promised to try to lower the world's mile safety record on this occasion, and as the track is considered by experts to be the fastest quarter-mile track in this country, there is every prospect of some records

TO THE BRETHREN:

Solomon says: "He that bloweth not his own horn, the same shall not be blowed." So we propose to elevate our voice. Now hear us warble. In recent issues of the cycling papers we are told that the Detroit Road Race was won on a Bicycle fitted with "the only Cushion Tire worth mentioning." We have also been frequently informed that this tire is "penalized 20 yards in a mile over Solid Tires." So far, so good. Presumably owing to an oversight on the part of the L. A. W. Officials, and for which Rule G may be responsible, the winner of the Detroit Road Race was not penalized 20 yards in a mile, but was actually sent off with a start of 6 minutes over, and "made the pace" for, MR. JESSE KITTINGER, of the Press Cycling Club of Buffalo, who rode a (here's where we warble) BUFFALO LIGHT ROADSTER fitted with Solid Tires. The Cushion won the race by just 23 seconds. We rise to ask, where would the Cushion have been if it had been handicapped 500 yards?

And we beg to call the attention of the Ex-Chairman of the Racing Board to this evident non-attention to duty (?) on the part of League Officials high in authority.

Perhaps you have studied this tire question as closely as we have. Well, take the results of this 25 Mile Road Race at the League Meet in Detroit, July 16th. What do we find? That of the 18 starters, 10 rode Pneumatic, 5 rode Cushion, and 3 rode Solid Tires. The time of 13 was taken at the finish; of these 7 rode Pneumatics, 4 Cushions and 2 Solids! Study the actual riding time of the above and you will see that the 2 riders making the fastest rode Pneumatics, and were closely followed by Mr. Kittinger mounted, as we may have said before, on a BUFFALO LIGHT ROADSTER with Solid Tires, his time, 1—34—46 3-5, being only 14 1-5 seconds slower than the second, and faster than 5 Pneumatics, the whole four Cushions, and the other solid. This was done on a regular road machine which Mr. Kittinger has used all this season. Now is this due to the tires, the bearings, the light weight, or the correctly proportioned frame? Let us say all four, with brawn and brains above them.

Jesse Kittinger, Press Cycling Club, Buffalo, N. Y, who won 2d Prize in the Detroit Road Race on a Buffalo Light Roadster.

This is only one of many victories in racing, hill climbing and scorching on Buffalo Light Roadsters, and must prove to you that our Solid Tires "are in it." We can, however, make a winner with Pneumatic Tires. You have observed that Banker and Brinker made the 1-2 Mile World's Record on a Buffalo Tandem with Pneumatic Tires. 1.08 is pretty fast time for a half mile. Now our object in blowing in many of the Plunkers of our Daddies for this space is not now to sell machines, as we are oversold. We wish merely to inform our many inquiring friends that our machine, with 30 inch wheels and large solid tires, weighs, all on, less than 40 lbs., that it stands the racket, and that we are making arrangements to be on deck next season with the best of them.

You must have a lighter and a better bicycle next year, or you won't be in the swim. Keep an eye out this season for the records of the BUFFALO LIGHT ROADSTER (it's sometimes called the "ISHAM," after our energetic agent in Buffalo,) and compare with all others. Do this, and next year you will buy a machine made by the

BUFFALO CYCLE WORKS,

15 and 23 West Chippewa Street, - - - Buffalo, N. Y.

P. S.—If you must scorch, you must have a light machine that will stand the racket. If you have the price and urge us, we might be persuaded to make a few wheels to order fitted with Solid or Pneumatic Tires, or even with the despised "Hose Pipe."

being broken. The prizes to be offered in each event will bring out a good field and give the spectators a good afternoon's sport. Messrs. Campbell, A. B. Rich, Zimmerman, and other crack riders are assisting the Riverside Wheelmen in every possible way to make it the biggest affair ever held in this section of the country. There will be fourteen races open to all amateurs under the L. A. W. rules, and entry blanks may be obtained from Edward A. Powers, 232 West 104th St., N. Y.

SAYS "Lounger," our Chicago correspondent: "No change is to be made in the date of the Chicago tournament, as one was impossible. Some of the committee expressed themselves as not at all desirous of the Eastern men's appearance here. The prizes will be good, but of no such value as to attract the pot hunters. Local wheelmen, the committee hope, will become interested, and a successful list of entries be the result. When Chicago has a fast record track then she will give a National tournament."

FULL particulars of the coming meet at Cottage City appear in the official columns of this issue. Our New England readers' attention is called to same. The New Bedford men seem to want to secure the Massachusetts Division Meet, but they are too late for this year.

THE Waukesha-Milwaukee road race, August 15, promises to be a hot affair. Such men as Van Sickien, Barrett, Andræ and Kaston will be in it. But who will be "in it," at the finish?

THE annual ten mile road race of the Illinois Cycling Club occurs Saturday afternoon, August 15th, over a ten mile course, starting at 40th street and Washington boulevard West five miles and return.

WORKMEN have been busy with scrapers and rollers on the half-mile track on Hampden Park, Springfield, and it is expected to be ready for practice by Monday.

WINDLE'S friends have faith that he can do better than 2.16 before the season is over. Windle has abandoned the high wheel, and will devote all his energies to getting speed out of the pneumatic safety.

A RACE meet is to be given by the Cook County Wheelmen of Chicago for the exclusive benefit of their own members. Ten races, one of which is a handicap, will be run. Ten elegant medals will be given beside the other prizes. Captain Whilson takes this way of arousing a racing spirit among the members.

THE Apollo Bicycle Club of Taunton, Mass., will hold a race meeting August 12. H. M. Copeland, No. 3 Second avenue, Taunton, Mass.

MESSRS. BERGER of the Bearings, Miles of the Referee and Spooner have been selected by a large real estate concern in Chicago to manage a tournament given by them at Englewood on the Hills, September 5th. A one-quarter mile track will be constructed scientifically for the occasion and thousands of dollars' worth of prizes be put up. Free trains will run to the grounds, and no admission to the grounds. The prize list is headed by a gold plated bicycle.

THE Union Co. Roadsters of Linden, N. J., will hold their grand fall race meet on the grounds of the New Jersey Jockey Club at Elizabeth, N. J., Labor Day, September 7th. Mile track, very fast, no corners, and handsome prizes, gold and silver watches, gold and silver medals. One, two and five-mile ordinary, handicap; one, two and five-mile safety, handicap. G. J. AMES, 408 Jefferson avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.

A CHALLENGE issued by the Wanderers Bicycle Club has been accepted by the Toronto Bicycle Club for a fifty-mile road race between teams of ten men each from the two clubs. The challenge calls for a date not later than September 12th, and conditions similar to those of the races ridden in 1887 and 1890.

THE LIVINGSTON CYCLE CO.

A MEETING of the creditors of the M. V. Livingston Cycle Manufacturing Company of Westboro was held at Young's Hotel, Boston, Thursday, July 30. The call was issued by two of the largest outside creditors of the firm, the Columbia rubber works and John S. Leng & Sons, both of New York. The Treasurer of the company has declined to allow the books of the company to be brought into the meeting. A trial balance offered by the trustees showing $29,280.50 expended since they took hold of the concern on April 10, was received instead. A discussion then arose as to the methods employed by the trustees, and their action was severely criticised in that they had not expended the money for the best interests of the concern. The trustees on the other hand claimed that they had been hampered by lack of credit, as trustees, from carrying on the work as they wished, and that definite orders had dwindled until there were none at all.

This last claim Dr. Drake on behalf of the company emphatically denied. Finally it was agreed to appoint a committee, three members in behalf of the creditors and two in behalf of the company, to investigate affairs thoroughly, the committee to make a report at 11 A. M. Tuesday, August 11.

John Herbert for J. S. Leng & Sons, New York; Y. B. L'Hommedieu of the Columbia rubber works, and Dr. E. B. Harvey of Westboro were selected to represent the creditors. The company selected Manager Frank E. Peck of East Wareham and Treasurer W. A. Reed of Westboro.

George O. Brigham and Dr. E. B. Harvey to the pleasure of the creditors, stated that so long as there was any hope of again running the Westboro factory, they could give assurance that the mortgages held by Westboro people altogether would not be foreclosed.

A final effort will be made to save the concern from utter smash, and it is claimed by those who know that the machine can by making certain changes be pu on the market as a chain wheel.

MORE ENGLISH RECORDS.

No sooner does R. L. Ede put the one hour record up in an apparently safe corner than F. J. Osmond starts to do 24 miles within the 60 minutes, and though he does not quite do that he comes within 40 4-5 seconds of it covering the distance of 23 miles, 1260 yards within the hour! The first mile in this attempt was made in 2.25 1-5, and the second mile was covered in 2.25 2-5. The average speed was 2.31 for the mile. Does not the limit seem to have been reached?

212 MILES IN 16h. 13m. 18s.

This is the record of Smith, who on a Marlboro club tricycle, pulled the record on this course down 1h. 39m. 5s. This "best previous" was held by Mr. Smith, and was done on an ordinary.

WE present this week a cut of Messrs. Banker and Brinker and the tandem they rode in their great performance at Detroit in covering the half-mile in 1.08. This wheel shows beautiful lines, and not only do they please the eye from an æsthetic standpoint, but the machine looks wonderfully strong and well put up. In this connection we desire to call attention to the cut on page 483. It shows the Buffalo Light Roadster, a machine though of comparatively late date, has achieved a name for speed and strength. The Buffalo Cycle Works are as yet a new concern, but if their initial success is any indication of the future we do not doubt but that this company will have an enviable prominence before this time next year. The present capacity of the company is limited, but what they do they do well. Mr. B. D. Harris is the mechanical genius of the concern, and a better cycle mechanic it would be hard to find. He designs the machines and superintends the making. The company have a suitable factory in their mind, and by the end of this season they expect to be equipped on a scale so as to furnish wheels ad lib.

In the race between the Press and Rambler Club last Saturday the Buffalo Light Roadsters all came through without loosening a nut or starting a rattle; and Pensey tires on a pneumatic tire Buffalo Light Roadster established a new 50 miles American road record in this race, covering the distance in 2h. 41m. 30s. The position of these wheels was first, second, fourth.

On July 4 R. W. Cann on one of these machines broke the Silver Creek hill record by riding it five times without a dismount, and after a rest of ten minutes he went at it again and rode the hill three times without a dismount. Cann had no brake or foot rests and so had to work both ways.

On July 11 E. F. Weinning, who never rode a century before, took his solid tire Buffalo Light Roadster and made a double century from Buffalo to Erie and return in 21h. and 20m.

Then at Detroit, besides the tandem record Mr. Jesse Kittinger on a solid tire Buffalo Light Roadster made a splendid race and took second prize. This feat showed qualities of rider and machine that must be gratifying to both parties concerned. We shall expect to hear from the Buffalo Cycle Works often, and with a rising inflection later on.

WE are pleased to note, in passing, the rapid realization of the promise of the Pope Mfg. Co., to erect a handsome building for the bicycle business. Their new structure on Columbus Avenue is now showing up handsomely, and will be a surprise to those who have not watched its erection. It even looks better than the promise on paper, and will not only be something new in the history of the bicycle business, but will be a handsome addition to the architectural beauty, and the real estate of the city.

Notice.

Pursuant to the request of a sufficient number of members of the National Assembly, notice is hereby given that a special business meeting of the National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen will be held on September 8, 1891, at Hartford, Conn. As required by Article V., Section 2, of the Constitution, I state below the business to be transacted at this meeting:

1. To consider in all its bearings Rule G adopted at the Chicago meeting of the Racing Board and the various questions which have arisen in connection therewith, and, if necessary, to adopt or recommend to the proper committee the adoption of a suitable rule.

2. To define the powers of the President, Executive Committee, Rights and Privilege Committee, Secretary and Officers and Committeemen of the League, and to make such recommendations as may be deemed advisable.

3. To consider the legality and desirability of the alliance with the Amateur Athletic Union, and decide upon a course of procedure in connection therewith.

4. To ascertain and consider the League's relations with the Seaboard Road Association and make recommendations thereon

5. To thoroughly revise the By-laws and to amend them in such manner as may be deemed expedient

The Committee on Rules and Regulations will report upon the above questions, which are all of those upon which action has been demanded by the persons signing the requests for this special meeting.

JAMES R. DUNN, Pres. L. A. W.
Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 3, 1891.

Constitutional Amendment.

I hereby give notice that at the Constitutional Convention to be held in Hartford, September 8, 1891, I shall move the following amendment:

Substitute for paragraph "D" of Section 9 of Article III of the Constitution, the following:

(d) Accepting directly or indirectly any remuneration, compensation or payment of expenses whatsoever for cycling from a cycle manufacturer, agent, or other person or organization interested in the trade or sport, but in the case of cycling or athletic clubs, this rule may be suspended, so far as it relates to expenses, by permission of the Racing Board. Yours truly,

JAMES R. DUNN.

Constitutional Amendments.

I hereby give notice that, at the Constitutional Convention to be held in Hartford, Sept 8, next ensuing, I shall move the following amendments to the Constitution.

ABBOT BASSETT.

Art. II. Reconstruct the entire article making it to read as follows:

Section 1. The League shall be a confederation composed,

First: Of States having one hundred or more resident League members, to be called Divisions.

Second: Of States having not less than fifty resident League members, to be called Subdivisions.

Third: Of States having not less than twenty-five resident League members, to be called Consulates.

Section 2. Divisions shall organize on the basis of this Constitution and by the election of a Chief Consul, a Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer and Representatives as hereinafter provided.

Section 3. When there shall be fifty League members in any State they may organize a Subdivision by the adoption of Rules and Regulations made and provided by the Executive Committee, and elect a Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer.

Sect. 4. Twenty-five League members in any State shall be constituted a Consulate, to be governed under rules made and provided by the Executive Committee, and the President shall appoint a Chief Consul.

The above amendments make no large in the present scheme of League organization, but they render the statement of it less obscure and define the two forms of sub-divisions, which have always existed under one name and led to some misunderstandings.

Art. III. Sect. 1, second line. Exchange "eighteen" and insert "seventeen."

There has been a loud cry for the reduction of the age of qualification to sixteen years. I think we can safely take off one year and let in the strapping youths of seventeen.

Art. III. Sect. 4, third line. After the word "fixed" insert "by this Constitution or."

Same Article and Section, sixth line. New clause after period, "If the applicant be resident elsewhere than in a Division, or if his Division fails to fix its dues, he shall pay annually the sum of $1.

Art. III. Sect. 5, fifth line. Insert at end, "or by this Constitution."

Art. III. Add new paragraph to Sect. 5.

Any person making application for membership during the month of April and paying the full yearly dues may be entered upon the rolls for that month and the full year succeeding.

Art. III. Expunge Section 7.

Art. III. Sect. 8, last line. After "shall" insert "fully set forth the reasons why the candidate should be denied admission, and."

Art. III. Sect. 9. Erase all after the first paragraph of the section and substitute:

"An amateur is one who has not engaged in, nor assisted in, nor taught cycling or any other recognized athletic exercise for money or other remuneration, nor knowingly competed with or against a professional for a prize of any description; or one who after having forfeited the amateur status has had the same restored by a competent authority having jurisdiction over the sport.

A cyclist ceases to be an amateur by:

(a) Engaging in cycling or other recognized athletic exercise, or personally teaching, training or coaching any person therein, either as a means of obtaining a livelihood, or for a wager, money prize or gate money.

(b) Competing with a professional, or making pace for or having the pace made by such in public or for a prize.

(c) Selling, bartering, pawning, or otherwise turning into cash or realizing upon any prize won by him.

(d) Accepting directly or indirectly for cycling any remuneration, compensation, or expense whatever from a cycle manufacturer, agent, or other person interested in the trade; or from any other person having a pecuniary interest in the sport, except from a cycle or other athletic club.

(e) A cyclist does not forfeit his amateur status by teaching the elements of cycling solely for the purpose of effecting the sale of a cycle.

(f) The League recognizes as athletic exercises, in addition to cycling, all sports over which the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Association of Amateur Oarsman and other Amateur Athletic organizations have jurisdiction.

Art. IV. Reconstruct Sect. 1, as follows: "The management of the League shall be vested in a National Assembly consisting of all Chief Consuls and Secretary-Treasurers and the Vice-Consuls and Delegates from the several Divisions. It shall have power to make By-Laws for the guidance of the League, to establish regulations for the government of Divisions in their relations to the League and to each other, and to generally direct and decide in all matters not provided for in this Constitution.

Sect. 2. It shall have the power to fix the limits of as many Divisions, Subdivisions and Consulates within the borders of any State as it may deem expedient to establish.

Sect. 3. The general management of affairs of the League while the National Assembly is not in session shall vest in the Executive and Finance Committee with full powers except the power of legislation. Said Committee at such times shall have the power and it shall be its duty to explain, define, and interpret any provision of this constitution or any By-law, or any rule of any Committee of this League upon request of a member of the League, and its decisions on such points shall conform to the opinion rendered by a majority of the members of the Committee on Rights and Privileges.

Section 2 to be Section 4.

Art. IV. Cut out all of this Article, following Sect. 2, and make Sects. 1 and 2 of Article V to be Sects. 5 and 6 of this article.

Art. V. Make new Article of the Sections taken from Article IV as above and reconstruct them as follows:

Sec. I. (a) Each Division shall elect annually a Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and one Representative for each 200 League members on its roll October 1st.

(b) Each League club located under the jurisdiction of a Division shall be entitled upon joining the League, and annually thereafter, to elect one Representative for the first twenty members on its roll, and an additional Representative for each fifty members thereafter.

(c) The Chief Consul of a Division may appoint and League clubs may elect Representatives from time to time, as the increase in membership of the Division or the club may warrant.

Sec. II. Each Subivision shall elect annually a Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer.

Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October, and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Sec. IV. The President shall appoint annually between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November, a Chief Consul for each Consulate.

MESSRS. DAVIDSON & CO. advertise excellent time keepers and chronographs for sale at reasonable prices. These watches are guaranteed, and we take extreme pleasure in saying that we have every reason to believe that the goods are splendid value, and the best thing of the kind for the money ever offered. See page 490.

THE Pope Mfg. Co., at the beginning of the year, were not satisfied with the cushion tires they could get, nor of the advisability of using them, and of their durability. As a result of careful experimenting and close watching of the rubber makers, they are now putting a tire on their machines that they fully guarantee in every respect. They are possessed of all the qualities that go to make up the best cushion tire for use on all kinds of roads. Not the least thing in a good cushion tire is the quality of elasticity, and in this point particularly the Columbia people desire to call attention. They are constantly receiving strong testimonials in favor of their cushions from leading wheelmen all over the country.

THE Premier Cycle Co. are offering some tremendous bargains in Premier safeties in advertising columns this week. Their cushions have proved so successful that they have practically supplanted the solid tire, and the company have decided to close out the remainder of their solid tire stock at less than cost to import. Those of our readers who are looking for an economical mount in a high grade solid tire safety, cannot do better than to purchase one of these splendid machines. See page 497.

CYCLISTS, ATTENTION.

WE are just in receipt of a communication from W. J. Morgan, better known as the "Senator," the well known cyclist who has settled in Portland, Oregon, which he says is the coming State of the Union, and having raced and travelled in every State in the Union he is well qualified to judge.

Having entered into partnership with Arthur G. Burns, well and favorably known in Portland real estate and financial circles, he is doing a splendid business in real estate and general advertising. He handles all kinds of properties in Oregon: farms, fruit, lands, city and suburban properties. They say that the opportunities for a man to grow rich in a few years by the judicious investment of a few dollars have never been equalled in the history of real estate. Among the many bargains is good land in Southern Oregon from $2.00 to $5.00 per acre.

A few choice building lots in Stewart's addition to Baker City, within three blocks of the depot, lots 25x100 feet, 20 foot alleys, in each block, each $50.00, can be bought on instalments. Baker City has 8000 inhabitants, and is the centre of the gold mining district of the West.

Lots in Astoria, the seaport of the North-west coast, size of lots 36x108 feet, $125 to $150 per lot, also on easy instalments.

We are also offering the best property in Portland, known as "Hawthorne 1st addition," at $650 to $850 per lot, size 50x100 feet. This is very choice property, and can be bought on easy terms. This is a rare speculation. Lots in this tract will be worth $2000 in two years.

People who invested $500 in Portland property four years ago can now sell for $3000. For instance, the deceased actress Emma Abbott's property she bought three years ago for $30,000, she was offered $60,000 for same just before her death.

All who have had the opportunity of seeing Portland invest readily. Portland is now a city of 80,000 people. Any one thinking of making Portland or any part of Oregon their future home, will find it to their interest to write to us, as we are in a position to give any information regarding this part of the country. Respectfully submitted, originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Jersey Fitting

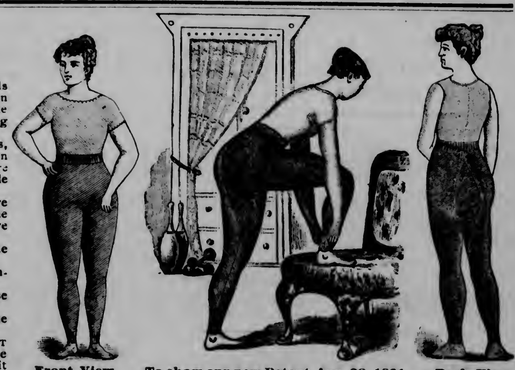
Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.



Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

Front View. To show our new Patent Apr. 28, 1891. Back View.

When this Garment is not found with your best dealers, send stamp for Catalogue and Price List to us. We do a large business through the mail, and warrant satisfaction.

CYCLING

— FOR —

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them" Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

THE SPIRAL FLEXIBLE TOE CLIP

Is flexible and easy on the foot. Adjusts to any size of foot or pedal. Stands any amount of blows, kicks or tramping on, and still retains its form. Will not catch on curbs, sidewalks, door sills or obstructions and pull out of shape while wheel is being trundled over them.

The only toe clip extant that permits of the correct adjustment of foot to pedal; not having a toe check it does not tend to pedalling with toes pointing downward, which position induces a strained and set condition of the muscles of the foot, ankle and calf. MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25 For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

SECOND-HAND SAFETIES

I am selling out a number of them; good wheels at way down figures, to make room for a big lot of the famous REFEREES, which we will have this month.

W. J. NEWMAN, 46 Columbus ave., Boston,
And HARVARD SQUARE, CAMBRIDGE.

"Fur," said the Deacon, "'tis mighty plain,
That the weakes' place must stan' the strain;
An' the way to fix it, uz I maintain,
Is only jest
To make that place uz strong uz the rest."

—From the "One Hoss Shay."

And the "Deacon" was right, and uttered a principle that the makers of Columbia Bicycles have firmly adhered to since they commenced.

Every part must be as strong, proportionately, as every other part. The front wheel must be as strong for its purpose as the rear wheel; the steering fork as strong as the rest of the frame; the chain must do its work as well as the pedals; and there must be no "weakes' place" in the whole.

Careful tests and the hardest of usage are applied to any design before it is sent out, and constant attention is paid to every detail during the whole process of manufacture, "to make each place uz strong uz the rest."

How well we succeed we are willing to let the public judge.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF CYCLING.

Volume XXIII. Number 16. BOSTON, 14 AUGUST, 1891 $1.00 a Year. 5 cents a copy.

Every bicycle maker has a motive in discarding old theories. You knew it—of course you did.

What motive induced a score of makers to discard the rigid fork or frame theory and copy the principle of the Victor Spring Fork?

Motives are worth studying.

The market is glutted with bicycles constructed of bed springs, wire coils and other rubbish said to absorb vibration. The superiority of the Victor Spring Fork is seen in 9 feet of the finest sword blade stock, and fitted with ball bearings to every joint. This fork has no rival.

SOME PROVERBS.

1. "On every lofty path where man treads securely now, naked feet have bled as they trampled the flint into dust."—Theodore Parker.

2. "Heresy is orthodoxy in the bud, and orthodoxy is heresy gone to seed."—Dr. Parkhurst.

3. "Nearly every discovery in medicine has been due to the carelessness of patients."—R. G. Ingersoll.

4. "Wisdom is the principal thing, therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting, get understanding."—Solomon.

5. "Gravity is no more evidence of wisdom than a paper collar is evidence of a shirt."—Josh Billings.

6. "Hickory has less gravity (specific) than metal has, therefore with all thy getting, get Hickory."—Elliott.

RESUMÉ.

1. When we first talked to you of Hickory Wheels you laughed, a cold, heartless, sarcastic laugh; it entered our soul like a knife. You hurt us but you didn't know it, for you seemed to think we were joking. We kept on walking. Our naked, bleeding feet and empty stomach were with us every minute. You never knew the pangs we suffered. However, we think we are on the "lofty path"; we have trampled some of the flint into dust, and we are still trampling.

2. Speaking of heresy, did you see any safeties on the street in '86? and if you did, please try and think what you said about them, and if you rode one didn't you seek the shelter of night and the back streets so that the boys wouldn't laugh at you? Hey? What do you ride now? What's that! A Safety? Well! Well!! Well!!! Strange, isn't it?

3. Improvements in bicycles are due to the carelessness of riders. 'Twas ever thus. Moral: Eternal vigilance is the price of a pneumatic.

4. When you think you know which is the best machine for you, buy it. But when you get understanding then you will know. Meanwhile it is safe enough for you to follow the crowd.

5. With all the sorrow and sadness that is injected into human life by reason of Adam's fall, the question "is life worth living" depends so much on the liver that we hail with exceeding great joy anything that has a smile in it. From numerous observations which we have taken from different points of view we conclude that Mr. Billings was right.

6. Of course, the purchase of a Hickory Bicycle now is optional with you, though we are trying to get a law enacted next year which will make it compulsory.—Hic jacet.

PREJUDICE

Is that condition of the human mind in which its pores are closed against the absorption of educational microbes.

One of the most amusing, had it not been pernicious instances of prejudice that has cropped out lately, was that of a gentleman named Boothroyd, who read that a large solid tire was a better thing than a cushion of the same weight, and hastens to contradict any such heretical teaching. He begins this way: "I admit at once that not having tried a solid tire of equal weight and quality, I cannot speak from experience, but I certainly should not expect to find, etc., etc."

One of the American cycling editors after copying Mr. Boothroyd's article, says: "Unfortunately few cycle manufacturers have given the tire question such careful consideration as Mr. Boothroyd has."

"Angels and ministers of grace defend us," is that really the condition of the "tire question?"

Every day somebody says: "I have never seen a Hickory Bicycle, but of course it can't be as good as a steel one."

We never argue with such a man, no more than we would talk social ethics with a Fiji Islander. We just hand him a tract and pass sadly along our straight and narrow way. Possibly we may be in a mood to talk with him on our way back

New League Clubs.

The following clubs have qualified as League clubs and filed the certificate required in the office of the Secretary:

855—Alpha Wheel Club, Norwalk, Conn.

Nebraska.

G. A. Briggs is hereby appointed as Local Consul at Alma, Neb. Fraternally,

C. B. NICODEMUS,
Fremont, Neb., Aug. 7, '91. Sec.-Treas.

Kentucky Division.

League hotels have been appointed as follows:
Bank Lick—Dickson House, 75 cents a day.
Cynthiana—Smith Hotel, $1.50 a day.
Franklin—Boisseau House, $1.50 a day.
Glasgow—Murrell House, $1.50 a day.
Morgansfield—Capitol Hotel, $1.90 per day.
Owensboro—Planter's House, $2 a day.
Walton—Phoenix Hotel, $2 a day.

The proprietors of these houses have signed contracts to give League members these reduced rates only on presentation of League tickets. Local Consuls to who blank certificates and instructions were mailed who have not secured hotels, are urged to act at once. We want a hotel in every town where League members or tourists are likely to go.

The Secretary-Treasurer is receiving a great many letters making inquiries about the election for Division officers. The election, according to the Constitution, must occur between the 15th of October and the 15th of November. It will be by mail vote, every member casting his own ballot. Every League member whose name is on the Secretary's books October 1, will be entitled to vote. G. E. JOHNSON, Sec.-Treas.

Reports of American Consuls on Foreign Highways.

To the Officers and Committees of the various State Divisions:

The National Committee on Improvement of Highways is in receipt of a communication from the Department of State, at Washington, stating that a compilation of the reports of the United States Consuls and Ministers on the streets and highways in foreign countries is now passing through the hands of the printer, and will be soon ready for distribution. The Secretary states that this will be one of the most interesting public documents ever issued by the Government, and that the Department is anxious that it reach the proper parties. We are requested to send to the Bureau of Statistics of that Department the names of such persons connected with our work as will be likely to make the best use of these reports

As the obtaining and printing of these reports was first suggested by this committee in a letter to the Secretary of State written last year, we are naturally anxious that they should be widely distributed in quarters where they are likely to do the most good. We therefore request that you will send the chairman of this committee at an early day the names of such prominent citizens (wheelmen and others) resident within your State, who are interested in the work for improved roads or whose activity in behalf of reform in public affairs would be likely to induce an interest in the subject matter of these reports.

It is perhaps unnecessary to add that too much care cannot be given to the work of placing these reports, and that the powerful influence which they accomplish will depend in a large measure upon the persons into whose hands they are placed. Fraternally yours,

ISAAC B POTTER, Chairman.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

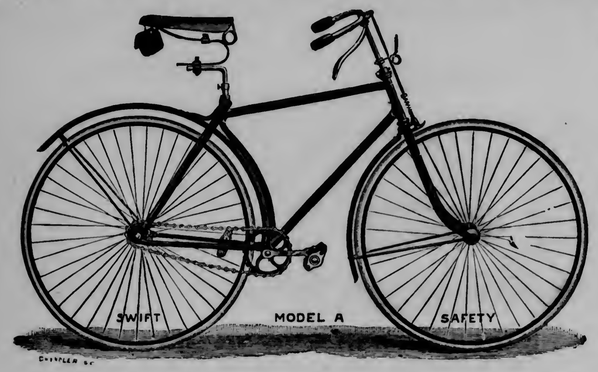
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 14 AUGUST, 1891.

WE are pleased to notice that Chief Consul Robinson of Massachusetts has officially called a halt on those who persist in making Chestnut Hill Reservoir a racing track on Sundays. Mr. Robinson suggests that 'a word to the wise" will be sufficient. We hope it will, as we should very much dislike to see the powers of the Park Commissioners invoked to forcibly suppress the nuisance, and we might as well say right here that power will be invoked in case the gentle warning of the Chief Consul is unheeded.

The vast majority of wheelmen will not stand quietly by and see their privileges in the parks of Boston jeopardized by the wanton thoughtlessness of a score or so of riders who ought to know better.

For example we will describe one incident which was witnessed by a rider out at the Reservoir a week or so ago on Sunday. The time was about two P. M., a crowd of hoodlums came tearing down the "quarter stretch" yelling like Comanches for the drivers of vehicles to "get out of the way!!" and in one or two instances these drivers were actually forced into the ditch at the outer side of the driveway, and to add insult to injury some of these hoodlums were heard to laugh and chuckle over the fact that these drivers had been forced into the ditch! This is only one of many such cases, and it is about time to call the attention of these individuals that unless they desist from their outrageous practices something will drop, and they will hear the sound and feel the impact thereof most distinctly.

PERHAPS the most unsatisfactory laws upon our statute books are those relative to the employment of convicts and those in regard to the working of public roads. Against the present system of bringing convicts into direct competition with free and honest labor many protests have been made, while as to the cause and effect of existing road laws upon the public highways, every user of them has had cause enough to complain even if he has not done so. Recently we have seen a rich and prosperous State forced to send its militia to protect the convicts, who as laborers in the mines, were taking the bread from the mouths of miners who were not felons. The expense, the disgrace and defeat, practically, this State has been put to, might all have been obviated by the amendment of its laws so as to make one evil cure the other: Abolish the State penitentiary or prison, except as a place of strict confinement at hard labor for such convicts as receive long terms; establish a prison centrally located in each county for the accommodation of its own convicts of every grade. In fact in most cases such prisons are already in existence. Make the citizens of each county responsible for the expense incident to the conviction, care, custody and guarding of its prisoners, and let the county roads of each county be worked by its own prisoners under guard; abolish all requirements of labor upon roads from indigent citizens, let each county levy a small tax to defray expenses of working its convicts upon the roads within its borders in lieu of a road tax. This is but the crude plan, which if thoroughly digested, rounded and systematized, seems to us the most likely one to settle two very knotty questions, which from time to time have confronted legislative bodies.

MR. WILLIAM E. CURTIS, known as the father of American athletics, has always been rather inclined to scoff at cycling, probably because Mr. Curtis himself is a great believer in the beauties of pedestrianism as a means of cheap and healthful locomotion, and hence looks upon the improvements cycling offers as a direct dig at his own hobby. As far back as the beginning of 1880 Mr. Curtis set out to down the bicycle; being himself a skater he looked to that sport to lower the records that, even at that early date, wheelmen were beginning to establish, and as an incentive to this end, he offered in the Spirit of the Times, a prize of $250 to the first skater who would, over a track of the same number of laps to the mile, beat the bicycle record for any distance from one to one thousand miles. To the best of our knowledge Mr. Curtis has never had to award that $250, and though skaters have improved in speed since that time so have wheelmen, slightly, and Mr. Curtis would be perfectly safe in renewing this generous offer of ten years ago.

A FAIR correspondent from Minneapolis, Minn., writes us words of commendation on the advice "Hawkshaw" gives on ladies' form of cycling and dress. She makes one point on the proper color of dress that is worthy of notice:

"There is one thing," she says, "which worries me, and that is the appearance of so many lady riders with tan colored dresses, or other light colored material. Ladies do not seem to see the philosophy of the objection—that every movement made by the rider attired in light colored material, casts a shadow in her dress (not seen in a dress of dark material), which necessarily attracts attention to the movement of the limbs. * * *."

She then has something to say about the form, as a rule, in which gentlemen ride.

"There is another thing I noticed, and that is, that so few gentlemen look really well riding a bicycle. I remember having seen two gentlemen whose graceful riding attracted my attention. One of these was a soldier, and the other a gentleman who had practiced military drill considerably. I wonder if this had anything to do with their fine appearance on the wheel?"

Our lady correspondent has evidently noticed the horrible stooping position affected by so many riders. We have before remonstrated on the foolish practice of many cyclists in copying the racing form of the track men. The requirements necessary to get the greatest speed out of a bicycle probably demand that appearances should be sacrificed, and in fact low handle bars and seat well back are two conditions really necessary for fast sprinting, and on the track are not out of place, but as remarked in a former issue, when we see a man on the road jogging along at an eight to ten mile an hour gait, all doubled up as though he had been too free with a diet of green apples and was suffering with a "misery" in his stomach, we have to smile a sort of sickly smile. Mr. Elliott's suggestion that the ladies ask their brothers, and some other girl's brother also to "sit up" is a good one. It looks ridiculous to sit all curled up, and it is a practice which superinduces round shoulders, narrow chests and possible lung trouble. There is no possible sense in cyclists assuming this preposterous attitude while riding on the road. There is a happy medium between very low handle bars and handle bars which touch the chin, and we are happy to say that a large proportion of our riders have struck the happy medium; our criticisms and those of our lady correspondent apply only to the comparatively few "would be," but can't be racing men.

CERTAIN members in the California Division think that "In Union there is Weakness," a paraphrase of the well known patriotic sentiment. California is a pretty big State, and we should not wonder if a division of the Division would result in securing more League members from the Pacific Coast.

WE present this week portraits of F. J. Osmond and R. L. Ede, England's acknowledged fastest riders, and we acknowledgo credit to Bicycling News for Osmond's portrait and also for Ede's. Early in the season it was hoped that these two men could be prevailed upon to come to this country and take part in the principal fall tournaments; but it is now settled beyond a question that they will not be with us. As we remarked in last issue a certain length of time in this country would be necessary for the Englishmen to become acclimated. A month's time is all too short. We are sorry that we shall not see them this season; but we had rather see them not at all than have them go on the track in poor form.

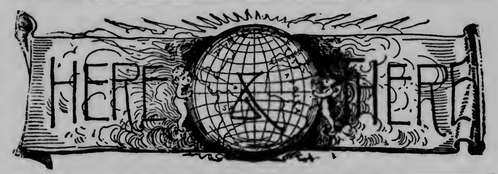
THINGS do seem to happen in streaks; and why we make this remark is because we record three separate and distinct cases where wheelmen have been molested by highwaymen. One case we record in Connecticut, another in New Jersey, and a third in Pennsylvania. This is a new phase of the "dangers of cycling;" but we hope the reception given these followers of Dick Turpin will be so warm that they will return to the more harmless and less dangerous pastime of robbing farmer Hobbs's orchard. If the highway robbery phase becomes epidemic, we shall have to go out prepared to meet these fellows with a few drams of power and a few ounces of lead.

IF all the acts of the reorganized Racing Board prove to be as popular as the resolutions removing the handicap from pneumatic and cushion tires, the Board's bed will be made entirely of thornless roses.

NEW YORK State wheelmen may not generally know the provisions of the laws which define their rights.

"One section gives them the same rights upon the public highways as carriages or other public vehicles. Section Two forbids the local authorities to pass any law that shall in any way conflict with the State law, or exclude wheelmen from the use of the highways. Section Three authorizes the local authority to pass ordinances to limit and determine the proper rate of speed at which bicycles may be propelled, etc., and to prohibit the use of such vehicles upon that part of the street, highway, or parkway, commonly known as the footpath or sidewalk."

THE Journal of Biddeford, Me., is wrong when it states that "cushion tires will be handicapped at the Portland races next month." The racing rules of the L. A. W. do not allow the handicapping of either cushion or pneumatic tires.



IF our common boast that we are a progressive, wide-awake and ingenius nation is well founded, what can be urged to excuse us for adhering to the antiquated and inefficient methods of making and keeping our common roads when we have before us the great economy and splendid results produced by the adoption of more intelligent methods in other countries. In many respects we have greater need of hard-surfaced roads than has either France or England. Our rainfall is considerably heavier than theirs, and our dirt roads for weeks at a time are half as deep as they are wide. Can it be possible that these facts are not as patent to the world as they are to wheelmen?

METROPOLITAN MUSINGS.

IT was certainly wheelmen's day in Brooklyn on Sunday last. The invitation extended to the New Haven Bicycle Club by the Brooklyn Bicycle Club and which read "you name the day and we'll do the rest," was carried out to the letter. The New Havens selected the day and came down on the Saturday night boat thirty-nine strong. They were met at the landing at six o'clock A. M. and escorted across the bridge to Wilson's cafe, opened specially for the occasion, where breakfast was served to sixty men, twenty Brooklyns having joined the party. After breakfast the party rode to the Brooklyn's club house, where twenty-five more were picked up, and then the whole eighty odd rode down on Long Island to the Massapequa Hotel, where a swim was indulged in and after which the whole party sat down to one of the dinners for which this place is famed. On the way home a stop was made at Captain Rhodes' for liquid refreshments. The Captain had his flag out in honor of the occasion. On reaching Brooklyn again, a wash and general taking of stock occurred at the club, and then all hands adjourned to the cafe again for supper and general good time until the time for departure arrived. The New Havens left behind them as a memento of the trip a bunch of ribbons for each Brooklynite, combining both of the clubs' colors, with the word New Haven wrought in gold wire attached. The two clubs have by their visits to each other cemented a firm bond of fraternity which nothing can sever. Intercourse such as this is the most desirable side of wheel life, more of it would not go amiss.

One may be prepared to learn much at Hartford about the amateur question. Unqualifiedly I say let us have a lenient rule. By that is not meant one that like a weak fish net allows all the small fry to go through and only holds the larger ones. It must be one that places all racing men on an equal basis. It seems eminently fair to every man on the track that expenses should be allowed him. Then it should be so stated in plain language in the constitution of the League. Such an amendment has been offered; it should prevail. If such is openly recognized no complaint can be made by men that they are being unfairly treated in the matter by the League. It has proved how impossible in the past it has been for the League to wink at the practice and retain an atom of dignity. With the adoption of this amendment, leaving no doubt of its meaning, it depends entirely on the man himself whether he can earn his expenses. Athletic clubs do not care whether Jim Jones or Paul Smith represents them so long as he can win the required number of races.

The plain wording of the clause regarding the ultimate dispositions a racing man may make of his prizes, is a very binding affair, and it will be hard to beat "SPEC."

THE Boston reservoir nuisance of Sunday racing must be stopped, with a large S.

THE English team of racing men will not materialize here this fall.

THE West will be well represented by proxies at Hartford next month, on the occasion of the Constitutional Convention.

THINGS are getting warm in the tournament line. It will be September before we know it, and then the fun will commence.

WE pass one week without having to paralyze our readers by recording new records.

Two Durham, N. C., wheelmen, Messrs. Wynne and Spence, are touring through the North on cycles. Their route will be from Durham to Ridgeway, Petersburg, Richmoud, Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

WE wonder what Van Sicklen's idea of Pontiac justice is?

Two tramps held up a bicycle rider on the road from Hainesport to Masonville, Pa., last Wednesday, and compelled him to hand over what cash he had, about $8, after which they gave him just ten minutes to get out of sight. Search was made subsequently, but the footpads could not be found.

THE authorities of Bridgeport. Ct., have been petitioned to lay a concrete path on each side of the drives in Seaside Park for the exclusive use of cyclers.

"ON Sunday morning last about one o'clock, a party of three wheelmen, Walter T. Cornell of Hartford, and Burton Buckley and Oliver D. Cornell of Waterbury, en route to New Haven, while passing near Cheshire, were roughly hailed up by five men, who sprang suddenly from the side of the road and demanded a halt, the act having an appearance of bad intent. The prompt appearance of a 32 calibre Smith & Wesson placed under the nose of the leader of the gang, in the hands of one of the cyclers changed the tide of affairs, and the wheelmen were given permission to pass on.—Exchange."

"ONLY a few days more, and then the Belanger cycle will be ready for trial," so says an exchange. We want that cycle tried and thus settle the question of its merits to the satisfaction of the believers therein.

NANTUCKET, Mass., now wants to be considered a cycling centre, since the pneumatic tire makes possible the riding of a wheel over sand.

SNEAK THIEVES entered the Missouri's (St. Lou's) club house in broad day light last week, and secured a gold watch from one of the lockers. They also stole an Iroquois safety bicycle, No. 1129, with cushion tires, rubber grips and Garford saddle, belonging to D. W. Robert. Wheelmen are requested to look out for it, and if seen to notify Mr. Robert at No. 714 N. Second street, St. Louis at once.

AFTER the Alton (Ill.) and Belleville (Ill.) races the Cycling Club of St. Louis will give a smoker and reception to the victors at their club house. The prizes won will be presented with due ceremony, and a general good time will prevail.

ERRATUM: First paragraph, page 475 of issue of August 7th should read, "some fifty members of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club," instead of "Philadelphia Bicycle Club." Credit to whom credit is due.

THE managers of the Minnesota State Fair have employed a cycle corps of ten men to post the State with bills. These riders contemplate covering about 50 miles per day each, and expect to bill the entire State in this novel way.

"ONE of the most amusing sights to be seen during the 'hottest Sunday on record'," says the Philadelphia Record, "was a bicyclist as black as the ace of spades, and his equally black girl, both riding machines of the latest pattern. The pair were dressed in the gaudiest of costumes, and succeeded in eliciting considerable applause en route. The girl wore a bifurcated skirt of crimson, with a canary colored plush waist. Her hat looked like a handful snatched from a rainbow, while the shoes which only peeped from beneath the skirt were as white as snow. Her escort had sky-blue knickerbockers, a fiery red blouse and a pea-green hat. The male could ride cleverly, but the woman had evidently recently learned, for just as the pair turned on the asphalt surrounding the Public Buildings the watchful escort yelled out: 'Watch yo'sef, watch yo'sef; disremember dat yo bike haz no wings, an' doant go fer to climb de City Hall.'"

THE name "Peerless" as applied to a ladies' cycle club seems most appropriate. A club of 12 young Germantown, Pa., ladies has been formed under that name, with Mrs. George Reddles as Captain.

THE wheelman's handbook of Essex County, Mass., is a unique little pamphlet published by George Chinn of New York, containing brief sketches of the cities and towns of the county, with mention of their objects of interest, hotels, cycling clubs, League consuls, road routes, etc. Judging from the sketch of Haverhill, the work is of genuine interest to every wheelman, and should be close at hand for reference.

THE town of Ilion, N. Y., has always been famous for the manufacture of fire arms, ammunition and type writers. It is now more than likely that the bicycle industry will be added to the list of Ilion's enterprises.

"A. H. OVERMAN," says the Springfield Union, "has a novelty in the way of a light colored village cart, equipped with bicycle wheels, having rubber tires."

THE "Dick Turpins" of New Jersey are reaping rich harvests by stopping solitary and unarmed wheelmen after dark and going through them in true highwayman style. The vicinity of Elizabeth seems to be a favorite stamping ground for these foot pads.

AT the last meeting of the Missouri Bicycle and Athletic Club of St. Louis the proposed amendments to the Constitution were adopted and the club will henceforth be governed by a board of thirteen directors. The organization has grown entirely too large to be governed in any other way. Twenty-one applicants were admitted to membership, and the club now boasts 270 members.

MR. GEO. KEMP narrowly escaped death in a collision with a horse at St. John's Park, Stamford, Ct., last Friday. His safety was woefully twisted but nothing broken. Cause—the lookout was off duty.

SOME hoodlums on wheels from Bridgeport, Ct., lately made such Sunday sidewalk nuisances of themselves in Darien, that the authorities passed an ordinance against sidewalk riding, and several travelling cyclers have been fined and put to a lot of trouble because they knew not of the suddenly made law. All this for the senseless circus work of a lot of young and probably wilfully mischievous riders who, of course, escaped the punishment they deserved, but which is inflicted upon innocent wheelmen. L. A. W. members are hereby warned to look out for Darien and Stamford sidewalks, as at the former it is $5, and the latter "not more than $15," for we read it in the town records.

THE ex-Secretary and Agent Parsons, of Stamford, Ct., lately had a half century to Tarrytown and return, over a variety of country roads. If variety is the spice of roads, the said twain claim to be very spicy.

"THE problem of rational street sprinkling," says "Linneus," "as far as St. Louis asphaltum streets are concerned, seems now to be satisfactorily settled. The new arrangement consists of a small strip of brass which regulates the amount of water to be placed on the streets. Street Commissioner Murphy has given strict orders to have the rule enforced to the letter. He has also issued orders to leave St. Charles unsprinkled from Jefferson avenue to Fourth street until 9.30 A. M. This will give all local cyclists a chance to ride down to business before the flood."

CAPTAIN FRANK H. WELCH, of the Wissahickon Wheelman, of Philadelphia, has ridden nearly eight thousand miles this season. For last month his mileage runs up to over 2,000 miles with thirteen century runs for that month. Can this be beaten?

THE Philadelphia Outing Club will hold a race on August 22d. Mr. G. Theodore Heilig is Chairman of the Committee.

W. T. WEST now holds the record between Philadelphia and Newark, N. J., by about fifty-five minutes. It was previously held by O. S. Bunnell, President of the Park Avenue Wheelman. West's time is 8.35.

THE Columbia Cyclers of Philadelphia tendered a reception to the Penn City Wheelmen at their club house, 1511 Montgomery avenue. An address of welcome was delivered by the President, Mr. Lawser of the Columbia Cyclers, President Lally, of the Penn City Wheelman, responding. This was followed up by speeches from the various members of the two clubs. Mr. Fitzgerald was pianist for the evening, while Authur Littler, F. B. High and J. L. Bretz sang a number of pretty selections. A bountiful supper was provided up-stairs. The club house was gayly and beautifully decorated and illuminated with ribbons, Japanese lanterns and gas jets. The committee having charge of the affair was F. Dunkelberger, R. Hause, F. B. High, J. N. Enochs, R. Johnston, Jr., W. H. Watts, A. Littler.

MR. O. S. BUNNELL, President of the Park Avenue Wheelman of Philadelphia, will have a special car to transfer the officials and racing men from Springfield to Philadelphia after the races during the Springfield meet.

MISSES MACK AND MILLER of Stamford, Ct., recently wheeled out to Brookhouse, Sound Beach, their first cycle outing in country lanes and charms.

"RACES! races! is about the only thing spoken of here at present in cycling circles," wails "Linneus" of St. Louis, "and club runs are being shamefully neglected. While admitting the influence that racing has in making new converts to cycling, it must never be made the chief and only object of club life or the club will suffer."

THE first anniversary of the organization of the Indianapolis. Ind., Zig Zag Cycling Club was celebrated on Saturday evening, Aug. 8, by a banquet at the New Denison House, the League Hotel there. The financial success of the Division Meet, which the club managed so well, has put it on a surer footing than ever, and the hopes of the ten charter members have been more than realized.

MR. S. GLENN WALMSLEY, Long Island Wheelmen of Brooklyn, and Sidney J. Pearson of Woodbridge (N. J.) Cycling Club, succeeded, on Aug. 7, in ascending Utsayanthia Mountain, (height 3365 feet) Stamford, N. Y., on safety bicycles. Only two-thirds of the ascent was passable for bicycles, owing to mud and stone; the balance of the distance to the summit it was necessary to push the wheels up. The ascent took nearly three hours, while the descent was made in fifteen minutes, with but three dismounts—twice for teams to pass and once to allow brake to cool.

THE Thorne family of Chicago are a notable example of the benefits derived from cycling. Five boys. William C., Charles H., George A., James W. and Robert J. Their best time on the track is 2.32, 2.46, 2.38, 2.48 and 2.48 respectively, or an average of 2.42 to the mile. Two sisters, the father and all of their numerous relatives in Chicago, are also excellent riders. All are hardy road riders.

RAVENSWOOD (Illinois) cyclists are circulating a petition among property owners for the purpose of putting a stop to the wholesale sprinkling of the macadamized streets of their town. These are so heavily sprinkled of an evening as to preclude ladies riding, because of the slough holes filled with water caused entirely by this deluging. They are over wet in the evening to save work the next day, as they dry slowly.

THE Semi-Century Cyclers is the name of a recently formed club of young boys in Chicago. None are over fourteen years of age, yet each has, and all applicants are required to ride fifty miles, a semi-century, over country roads in one day. They have a neat, brick, two-room club house at 42 Ray street, built entirely by themselves.

A FUNNY incident happened at Cortland, N. Y., the other day, on the occasion of the races of the local wheel club. A delegation of women called upon the sheriff and requested him to stop the races on the ground that the riding of bicycles by women is immoral. The sheriff refused to interfere. The truth was there were no races for women riders on the programme.

SOME thirty colored cyclists of Chicago have formed the Chicago Colored Cyclists' Club and are now arranging for a club house. They are a gentlemanly set of colored men, and combine in their midst many really excellent riders.

LITTLE MISS VIOLET HIGHBERGER of Hagerstown, Md., is just three years nine months old, and she rides a cycle weighing 15 pounds. Mr. Highberger's family consists of wife and six children, and they all ride cycles.

A SMALL electric storage battery and motor has been invented, which can be placed under the saddle of a bicycle. The idea is only to use it in cases of extreme fatigue, and when hard hills have to be climbed.

COASTING down Pike's Peak seems to be a favorite pastime nowadays This feat has lately been performed by H. P. Walden of Chicago. The distance is 22 miles, and he covered it in 2h. 20m. actual time. The machine ridden was a 33 pound pneumatic.

THE Chicago Cycling Club, at a meeting held Saturday evening, Aug. 1 with 30 men present, voted unanimously to become a League Club and to pay initiation fee and dues of all who were not already members of the L. A. W. This rather changes the aspect of League politics in the "Sucker" State and hardly leaves the Illinois Cycling Club the entire power. While this action was not strictly in accordance with the views of many of the older members who were not at the meeting when the amendment was announced to be brought up, yet as a rule they favor the change and think it will in the end prove a good thing. To ex-Chairman Randall much of this may be credited, as he has worked hard and brought over a hundred into the League himself.

FOUR members of the Pizen Cycling Club of Chicago, Messrs. Jno. Simon, James Hrach, Fr. Liska and Fr. Balka, successfully completed a century last Sunday despite the rain, over the course to Elgin-Aurora and return.

WILLIAM YOUNG and C. P. Root established the Chicago to Elgin record last Saturday. The distance over dirt roads is nearly forty miles, and their time was three hours and fifteen minutes. Had not Young's tire burst ten miles out of Elgin the record would have been inside of three hours.

FORTY members of the Illinois Cycling Club were on that club's run to Waukesha Sunday, Aug. 2d. Starting from Chicago on the train Saturday afternoon, they attended the ball at the Spring City Hotel in the evening, and spent Sunday touring through Waukesha County, returning Monday morning.

THE resuscitated Press Cycling Club of Boston seems to be one of the two live cycling clubs of that city. The weekly runs of this club are well attended, and among its riders are some of the best known wheelmen of the "Hub."

THE Suffolk Bicycle Club of South Boston, Mass., seem to have taken a new lease of life. There was a time when the Suffolks were one of the liveliest clubs in the State, in the days when Collins ("Pedals") et al. were on deck.

THE Century Road Club of Chicago has over seventy names enrolled on its books. Chief Centurion Herrick is a hustler and has gained recruits all over the world. This club has a pin inscribed Century Road Club to which a bar is added every time the owner does a century. Several already have three bars.

THE initial run of the Toledo (Ohio) Ladies' Cycle Club took place Aug. 1st. There were 20 lady riders in line. The club it seems is not yet formally organized.

DR. H. L. BARNUM of the Illinois Cycling Club is hard at work on a thrilling story, "The Stolen Wheel, or Every Man His Own Detective." Doctor lost his wheel by theft, but traced it through a half dozen hands to a woman who had taken it in debt, and later had the thief jugged.

AN exchange remarks that the "bicycle era is hardly inaugurated yet." It is not only inaugurated, but most decidedly established on a solid foundation.

THERE will be no getting away from the Salvation Army now that the "army" is to be reinforced with a corps of 50 skirmishers.

THE Hartford Times claims that Victor Belanger is not the originator of the idea of his 85 miles an hour cycle. That paper states that C. E. Ingalls in 1869 was granted patents on a wheel embodying the exact principles of Mr. Belanger's machine.

W. C. THORNE, Chicago's speedy safety rider, is at present on a trip in which a fine sailing canoe and his safety form a part. The latter he carries strapped to the canoe in which he is sailing and paddling through the chain of lakes in Waukesha Co., Wisconsin, incidentally using his wheel in short trips over the beautiful roads of that district.

J. S. BLACK, the cyclist who is travelling from Cleveland to San Francisco, and thence around the world on money which he earns en route by means of exhibitions, left Laramie, Cal., with $25 ahead of the game. He has received $300 and paid out about $275. He will have a hard job to cycle round the world on that basis. From San Francisco he will sail to Australia, stopping at the Sandwich Islands; ifrom there to China, thence to India. After landing in India he will make an overland journey through Asia Minor to Europe, thence to England and then to New York, from which he will continue his journey to Cleveland.]

MAJOR BURDETT of Hartford, Ct., is at the bottom of an arrangement by which the Signal Corps, attached to the First Regiment, C. N. G., will be mounted on bicycles during the coming encampment. The wheels will be used for conveying messages.

LITTLE two-years old Minnie Elgin of Montclair, N. J., was run over the other day and probably fatally injured by a coachman named Joseph Brown, in the employ of Mr. James C. Beach of Bloomfield. After knocking the child down Brown whipped up his horses, but was pursued and captured by a cycler named Clifford E. Pierson. A warrant for Brown's arrest was issued and he will be held.

WM. HERRICK, director of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, is a bad man for a road hog to tackle on the road. Sunday last he headed an angry crowd of six Lincoln members in the leading of a road hog's horse and buggy into a neighboring ditch, where Mr. r. h. sat and swore while the cyclists with a clear road continued on their way home from Lake Zurich.

WE regret to note that Mr. Eugene Aaron, the first editor of the L. A. W. BULLETIN, is dangerously ill with consumption at a small town in Tennessee.

THE present membership of the Springfield (Mass.) Bicycle Club is 176, and the enthusiasm among members bodes well for the success of the coming tournament.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

HERE'S a few points in regard to racing and training I learned from a trainer recently, and they seem to me to be worthy of some attention, coming as they do from a man who has sent as many winners over the lines as any trainer in America:

"One should be at least 18 years of age before going into strict training for racing of any kind, or taking up severe and sustained athletic work, because growth and development absorb the energy during the years previous to that period."

"The man who takes a long, full breath when the pistol is fired has an advantage in the race over the man who forgets it."

"Shoes for training, and clothing as well, should be heavier than those worn for racing, that you may feel light when you come to race."

"Keep out of the night air when training because it is usually damp, and it is more difficult for the body to eliminate its waste products in damp air than in dry."

"The reason why athletes develop so frequently nervous trouble, heart disease, lung trouble, and the various maladies which ultimately result in death, is not that they are trained too much, but that they are trained too little in these scientific points, on which the success of the whole depends."

I do not believe that it was from any "inoculation with the Australian virus" that I penned my plea for the removal of racing from sentimental to practical grounds. To leave it in its present shape is to keep the L. A. W. and all other enforcers of this hybrid state of affairs in continual hot water. Either let us lay aside the managing of race matters entirely, or else put them upon a sensible and equitable basis once and for all, so that the valuable energies of the L. A. W. and its officers may be put to some more practicable benefit to its thousands of members, instead of devoted to wrangling with and about a few hundred of them who race. Do not for an instant think that the "Australians are a different breed of human beings than what we have." In their action in regards to racing for coin instead of crocks they may have demonstrated that they are less hide-bound than we are, but that's all of the difference, for they are nearer to being, acting, and thinking like Americans than any other people in the world. As we have found that they knew better how to vote than we did, and hence have adopted their system of ballot for our own uses, I hope that we may not cease to copy them in this matter, which is as much needed a reform in the racing world of cycling as the ballot was in the political one.

A deputation of women employed in the chain trades of London recently sought an interview with the Home Secretary for the purpose of protesting against the proposed restriction of their labor, now before Parliament. One of the women delegates represented that branch of the trade devoted to the manufacture of the chains used on safety bicycles, which are almost entirely made by female labor.

While in Mexico several years ago I was much taken with the exquisite workmanship the natives exhibited in the handling of precious metals, some of the jewelry shown being almost as delicate and intricate in pattern as the finest lace. A common ornament for a ladies pin or a watch charm, was a gold or silver coin from which the jeweller had removed all metal save the milled edge of the coin, and the head or whatever other design had originally decorated it. The result was a unique and beautiful ornament that even in its mutilated state as a coin, still carried with it a certain voucher of its value. Now the recalling of this almost forgotten fact has brought to my mind an idea in regard to prizes that will I am certain meet with the approval of the strict amateur, and the one not so strict. Let some progressive race meet promoters announce that they will present to the winners of each event, and to the scond and third in same as well, a set of medals to be made as follows: For the winner a $20 gold piece altered as above, and swung by a chain from a bar; to the second a similar medal made out of a $10 coin, and to third man one made from a $5 piece. This would make the three medals for each event cost about $35, as the gold removed in altering them into "medals" would about pay for the work required to change them. When a man won one of these medals it would certainly be free from any imputation of being a "floater"—light enough to float upon water, nor could the purity of the metal entering into its construction be questioned, so that its value from a melting-pot point of view could easily be ascertained by anyone possessed of such sordid views as those relating to the pawnable or saleable value of prizes. I think that there is a law which forbids the altering or mutilating of any United Statescoins, which would perhaps prohibit the employment of native ones for use as above, but foreign ones of approximate value could be obtained and altered for the purpose, and the doing so would I am sure cause a vast amount of numismatic study to be indulged by our racing men. Seriously, I think that this plan would prove successful, certainly it would be a novelty, and for once racing men would know the actual value of what they were riding for, which is very far from being the case as things stand now.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS.

IT was with regrets that we bid adieu to the beautiful valley of Chamonix, for nowhere had we beheld such a grandeur of mountain scenery, such a ruggedness of Alpine passes and all that tends to fill one with an awe-inspiring feeling. However, we could not serve an injunction on fleeting Time, and had to hurry along. From Chamonix to Vernayaz we were accompanied by Messrs. Mitchel and Stephens of Washington, D. C., who are on a bicycle tour around the world. They have had a successful trip so far, and expect to reach San Francisco next June.

Just after passing the custom house a few miles from Chamonix we began to ascend, by a narrow roadway, a range of the Alps that took us several thousand feet above the valley. It was a steady up-hill climb for several hours, and we had to divide the path frequently with little pack-mules and carts loaded down with stores of provisions, or tourists, who generally take this way of sight seeing in this wonderful country. The way, however steep, was pleasant, as it led through shady retreats and by cool, refreshing mountain streams, and the most magnificent view of the surrounding country could be had. In toiling up the hill we grew hungry. A cyclists' appetite is generally set with a hair trigger and is liable to assert itself on the slightest provocation. Numerous stops were made at the little chalieys to regale ourselves with bread and milk, and such quantities of the lacteal fluid disappeared that there threatened to be a milk famine—till the cows came home. The summit of the mountain was at last reached, and we began to descend the wonderful Zig-Zags to the valley of the Rhone. Back and forth down the steep decline ran the road that resembles closely a corkscrew that had been run over by an ice wagon. The road is a marvel of the engineer's skill and would have puzzled others, than these French road builders, to construct. We now had fine riding to Aigle, where we rested for a day. A side trip was made to the Castle of Chillon, made famous by the historical halo which surrounds it, and immortalized by Byron in his "Prisoner of Chillon."

The next day we started on a ten-mile climb to Cambalay. The itinerary gave the time of ascent as four hours, and although it rained some we made the trip in two and one-half hours, beating all previous records. The ride in the afternoon to Zweisimmen was one of the finest we had yet made. The rain had settled the dust. The tourists were in high spirits—I forget the exact altitude but it was considerable. The road wound around the high bluffs, and the coasts were long and swift, and we were all loud in our exclamations of glee. Ask any of the tourists about the ride from Cambalay to Zweisimmen, but get to a safe distance first.

We reached Interlaken July 16, and received a cargo of welcome letters and papers from home. There was a disappearing to rooms and into corners to read them before anything else was thought of. Places of amusement are numerous at these summer resorts, but the Kursaal seems to be a centre of attraction. We visited the Staubbach Falls, which is the highest in all Europe, being about 980 feet, and being of such volume that the wind sways it to and fro; it presents a pretty picture, and closely resembles a long white bridal veil floating in the breeze. We saw the mighty Trummelbach, which is considered the largest volume of water that goes over any falls in Switzerland. For ages this mountain torrent has been at work and has worn a hole in the cliff through which the water rushes with a roar equal to that of Niagara. Against the opposite cliff nearly 50 feet distant the torrent breaks and falls into a foaming chaldron at the bottom, where it raves and frets until it finds its way out by a crevice in the rock.

We were joined at Interlaken by Hockley, who had remained over at Chamonix to make the ascent of Mt. Blanc. He succeeded in reaching the snow clad summit, and pronounced it as a grand though tiresome trip. Leaving there we made the ascent of the Bronig pass and took dinner on the top, then wheeled to Lucerne to remain over Sunday. There are many interesting features in Lucerne—that haven of tourists—its lion, the glacial gardens, the old towers and bridges, and the beautiful lake. The city was thronged with tourists, and a grand exhibition of fire-works and orchestral music made the evening very pleasant—and the horses, too; I had almost forgotten them. Monday we wheeled to Vitznau, where we took the cog-wheel railway to the top of the Rigi. Here a grand view presented itself; on every hand we could see the broad valleys with the beautiful lakes and the lesser mountain chains stretching away into the distance. It seemed as though we could reach over and touch the other peaks, down into the beautiful blue waters, the distance is so deceiving, owing to the high latitudes and the clear atmosphere. Long did we linger there and gaze upon the beautiful panorama spread out below us. The air was chilly, but we were warmed by an enthusiastic feeling, and will ever remember the grand sight. On the morning of the 21st we took a steamer from Gervan to Flucien and wheeled back along the lake over the great Axenstrasse, where the road is but a shelf on the high cliff, two hundred feet from the water below. In someplaces there are tunnels, through the side openings of which a beautiful view of the lake and opposite mountains is had. We visited the grounds made famous by the heroic deeds of William Tell. The roads still preserve their hard, smooth beauty, and the tourists who tramp or go in coaches through these regions look at us with envying eyes as we ride by them on the long up-grades, or fly away in the unequalled coasts. There is a beauty about a bicycle trip through this country that can scarcely be described, and must be experienced to be appreciated. We reached Zurich last evening, and will rest here until to-morrow.

F. J. OSMOND.

This phenomenal rider was born at Long Sutton, Lincolnshire, in 1867, hence he is now 24 years of age. His first mount was a Facile, but in 1886 he took to the ordinary. It was on June 19, 1886, that Osmond appeared for the first time on the track, at which time he showed the stuff he was made of by winning two handicaps. A week later he was marked as a scratch man. In 1887 he won the 25 mile tricycle championship, and in 1888 the five miles tricycle championship. Championships fell to his lot thick and fast after this, and in 1890 he secured every one of the ordinary national championships.

This year he discarded the ordinary for the safety, and on that machine he has won the 25 and 50 miles championships, and has beaten all records from 1-4 to 24 miles on the safety, and for all class of machines. His mile is 2.16, and he has covered 23 miles, 1260 yards, in one hour. The 24 miles on this same trial was covered in 1h. 40s.

HAD HE BUT KNOWN.

(For The Bicycling World.)

"My kingdom for a horse!"
This was the monarch's cry,
When on the bloody battlefield
The enemy drew nigh.

Horses and riders lay
Encircling him around.
Oh! that some winged Pegasus
Had risen from the ground—

Whose trusty tireless feet
The swiftest would outrun,
Nor at the fountain pause to drink,
Nor faint beneath the sun.

A steed whose cherished life
Would brave the foeman's steel.
Had he but known! his cry had been,
"My kingdom for a wheel!"

A CYCLING DRESS FOR LADIES.

"With the Society of Cyclists at Northampton were the Misses Tunstall, who rode a tandem and wore an entirely novel kind of cycling skirt which yet looks exactly like an ordinary one. The invention was brought about by the fact that with the ordinary skirt of civilization they had so many accidents which were attended with danger that they resolved to abandon cycling. One of the sisters, however, designed her present dress, and since then they have had no trouble whatever, while it is utterly impossible for anyone to tell that there is the least peculiarity in the arrangement of the drapery. And yet the simplicity of the whole thing is touching. The bottom of the dress instead of being open is closed, while at each side there is an opening for the feet, with a short gaiter, which is part and parcel of the dress, and this gaiter is covered by a flounce of about nine or ten inches in depth. The result is that the dress cannot fly up, and cannot by any possibility be distinguished from an ordinary fashionable skirt. The young ladies are anxious that others should benefit by their experience, and would be glad to give further details.—Bicycling News."

ROCHESTER, AUGUST 19-20.

Next Wednesday and Thursday the New York State Division will hold its ninth annual meet at Rochester, N. Y., under the auspices of the Rochester Wheelmen. The official programme is at hand, and is a book of eighty pages replete with interesting information. Every member of the State Division has had a copy sent him, and there are thousands, therefore, who can vouch for its artistic merit as well as its interest. Beautiful photogravures and descriptions of the different club houses of the city clubs, six in number, adorn the pages, also wood engravings of other points of interest in the Flower City. There are 13 clubs in all in Rochester, and they are all live organizations. Besides the pictures above mentioned there are two photographic reproductions of prizes to be given the clubs for best representation. These prizes are exquisite pieces of furniture.

The programme is briefly, Wednesday, Aug. 19—6.45 A. M. run before breakfast through the suburbs. 9 A. M., grand parade, forming on Washington square. 11 A. M., P——(——ph!! 12 M., dinner. 1.30 P. M., races. 6 P. M., race for supper. 8 P. M., minstrel show at Lyceum Theatre.

R. L. EDE.

About the only man in England who can be looked on as a dangerous rival of Osmond is R. L. Ede, the "Pocket Hercules." Mr. Ede is 22 years of age, and weighs about 116 pounds. He began cycling in 1884, and took to the racing path a few years ago. He is a marvellous long distance man, and just a couple of days prior to Osmond's wonderful hour performance he put the hour record up to 22 miles 1395 yards, and in justice to Mr. Ede it is but right to remark that in comparing this performance with Osmond it must be remembered that Ede went right along and smashed all records up to 60 miles. He did the 50 miles in 2.17 01 4-5, and the 60 miles in 2.49.09 1-5.

MISSOURI DIVISION FALL MEETING.

PLACE, Louisiana, Mo. Date, August 29, 30. Put those two facts carefully away in your memory box. There will be a crowd, but all can be accommodated. Rain improves the roads of Pike County, so the more rain we have up to those dates the better. We are a bit behind in the matter of programme, but Chairman Adder of the Racing Board will go up to Louisiana and hustle that matter through. The prizes will be fine, and the track will be in first class shape. The medal to be given to the century survivors will be a dandy, the design is beautiful. There is much enthusiasm all through this section, but we can stand more. There will be a swimming race, Saturday A. M. at the Louisiana Mineral Spring baths. A special gold medal will be given if any records go in this event.

The entertainment on Saturday evening will be novel, and those having L. A. W. tickets can only secure admission.

Entries for races close August 25, A. J. Gregory, Louisiana, Mo. Will Turner, Louisiana, and E. W. Moody of Clarksville will have charge of the century run. Get up your party and get reduced rates. Write A. J. Gregory, Louisiana, for rooms. Palmer House official headquarters, rate $1.75 per day. Don't forget dates, August 29-30. "LINNEUS."

POLITICS IN KENTUCKY.

The Bearings of July 24 contains an article from a prominent (?) Louisville cyclist, who has a few words to say concerning Wm. E. Castle, G. E. Johnson's opponent for Chief Consul of the State of Kentucky, The only truth that he tells in the entire article is when he says he has only a few words to say concerning W. E. Castle, as only a few words can be said in his behalf. The article contains 557 words, of which only 111 have any reference whatever to Mr. Castle.

In the second paragraph of this article he asks the question, "What has Mr. Castle done for the League?" and then gives a full description of Johnson's work for the past year, never again referring to Mr. Castle or what he has done. Conclusions here are self-evident.

In the third paragraph he claims that "Mr. Castle has signed more applications than any thirty men in the State." This we doubt very seriously; but allowing that it is true, the question arises, why did Mr. Castle sign these applications? This was answered by Chief Consul A. J. Lamb at the annual State meet, when he openly charged Mr. Castle with buying members into the League for the sole purpose of securing their votes.

Mr. Castle was present when this declaration was made, and did not pretend to deny the charge, as he well knew that it was true. It would have been better for this prominent Louisville cyclist and also Mr. Castle, had he never written this article, as the 111 words used to puff Mr. Castle are rather insignificant in comparison to the 446 words used in the description of work done by Mr. Johnson.

Who has ever seen Mr. Castle at a State meet?

Who has ever attended a State meet when Johnson was not present?

Who ever heard of Mr. Castle before he aspired to be Chief Consul?

Who has never heard of G. E. Johnson, or received some of the recruiting circulars and L. A. W. matter which he is continually spreading broadcast all over the State in aid of the League? Answer these questions; then let your own judgment dictate for whom you should vote.

SUNDAY RACING IN ST. LOUIS.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Your editorial in regard to Sunday games has caused much comment here, and as the matter does not seem to be generally understood I wish to explain that these games are not given as a matter of choice but as a sheer necessity to make the gate pay the expenses. As far as I know no bicycle races will be run on the Lord's day, and the contests are confined to athletes alone. No club will be foolish enough to give games on a week day when they know that certain financial failure will stare them in the face. At all our athletic meetings prizes are given which rank among the costliest, and as everything is paid for and not begged, a large audience must necessarily be present Now this year makers have resolved to discourage the giving of prizes, with the result that either the local race meetings will be given up entirely, or Sunday races will have to be run to clear expenses. No one here would for a minute entertain Sunday games but for the reasons given above, and it resolves itself into a question of sink or swim, survive or perish.

THEY PAY FOR THE MUSIC!

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: "Here's rivalry! And what a snap for the clubs! Pope's band furnishes music at Hartford and Overman's at Springfield. Who will oblige at Peoria?"

The above appeared in a Western cycling paper, and as far as the inference plainly intended that the music for the Hartford Meet is not to be paid for, the statement is false. Contracts were made over a month ago between the Hartford Wheel Club and Pope's Band, by which the former is to pay $137 to the band for its services during the two days of the meet. Peoria can no doubt get its music in the same manner.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH GOODMAN, Chairman Race Committee.

ALL ARE WELCOME AT PEORIA.

WHEREAS, From an article printed in the Referee of July 31st it would appear that certain racing men have concluded that they, as members of athletic clubs, are not wanted at the Peoria tournament; and

Whereas, It is due to the Peoria Bicycle Club in justice to itself, and in order that the athletic, or other race promoting clubs may in future make no mistake in regard to our position, therefore; be it

Resolved, By the Peoria Bicycle Club in open meeting, that we express ourselves as being heartily in favor of a liberal amateur ruling; we are therefore in favor of allowing the reasonable travelling expenses and hotel bills of racing men and their trainers to be paid by the clubs of which they are members.

STAMFORD (CT.) STREETS AND LADY CYCLISTS.

DEAR BICYCLING WORLD: 'Tis many moons since you have heard from me. I therefore now crave your permission to briefly sing my little song of gladness.

The agreeable facts are that our street surfaces are all gradually being made better; the ladies (bless 'em!) are gracefully gliding about town awheel; the road hogs are getting thinned out, and we are reasonably happy. Undoubtedly the chief factor in our happier state of minds of late years is the very general use of the safety cycle, for many heavy whights and older men now ride with pleasure and profit who never could have been induced to do the high (wheel) grade trapeze act, and who have escaped all the "involuntary dismounts" and little vicissitudes that were ours in the good old days gone by.

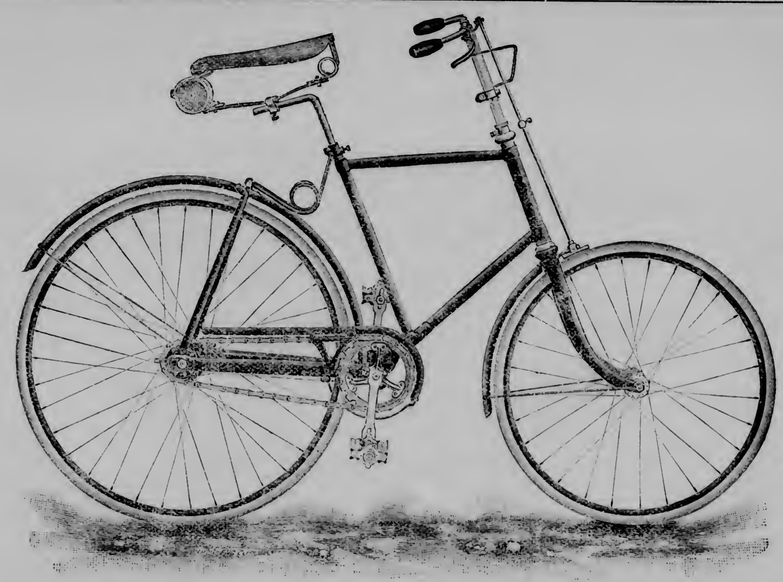
The advent of the steam roller and the broken stone gang has been one of the greatest blessings ever granted this pretty old New England town, and life in it really has become worth living of late, especially as the better road surfaces and the perfected cycles have made it possible for the ladies to join us in the best of all pastimes.

The most experienced riders among the fair sex are the Misses May Munson, Dora Mack, Amy Miller, Lillie Lockwood, Susie Bean, Jennie Erricson, Mrs. Nic Hollander and Mrs. Dick Oeser, with a dozen others who have made a good start this season. "STAMSON."

RIDING IN THE RAIN.

After "Rain on the Roof."

WHEN the yellow sun is hidden
By a darkly threatening cloud,
And a yearning for umbrellas
Is apparent in the crowd,
'Tis a joy to push the pedals
And o'er dusty highways strain,
In the hope of finding shelter,
And to dodge the coming rain.



When the "boys" by storms o'ertaken,
Find the riding rough and rude,
Railroads quickly get the shekels
Of the ribbon festooned dude.
But the hardy old time wheelman
Leaves such weaklings on the train,
Fearing neither muddy roadways
Nor the patter of the rain.

There is naught in cycling exploits
Which more "bottom" will reveal
Than the problem: Take the railroad
Or get soaked and ride your wheel?
'Though begrimed and mud bespattered,
What can quicker prove you game
Than the fact in spite of hindrance
You have "got there just the same?"

BAD FIRE AT ORANGE, N. J.

AT 12.30 A. M. Friday last the Park Rink Building, containing the offices, stock rooms and repair shop of the Orange Branch of the Premier Cycle Company was discovered to be on fire, and twenty minutes later the entire structure was a seething mass of flames. The Company saved its books and show room samples, and with characteristic enterprise rented a large store in the fire proof brick building of the W. C. T. U. on the opposite side of Main street, and were transacting business at 7.30 o'clock. Estimated loss on stock and fixtures $12,000; insurance $5000.

NOT THE MOST POPULAR WHEEL IN THE WORLD FOR THE SIMPLE REASON THAT IT HASN'T BEEN ON THE MARKET LONG ENOUGH.

IT'S the new one. It has a Diamond Frame and smaller tubing than the other RAMBLERS, but it is all RAMBLER. The Spring Frame and all other characteristic features are there. And now honestly, what do you think of it? Yes, and its beauty is'nt all in its lines, either. Just try one of them fitted with the G. & J. Cushioned Tire, and you'll begin to realize what we mean, that it's simply and far and away the lightest running and most luxurious wheel in this wide, wide world.

"Can't see what anyone wants with an untrustworthy pneumatic when they can get such a wheel," writes one enthusiastic purchaser.

Mayn't it be that the "pneumatic men" have never tried it?

WORKS OF THE COVENTRY MACHINISTS' CO., LTD., SHOWING ALL THE LATEST ADDITIONS AND ALTERATIONS.

The Coventry Machinists' Co. are, besides being one of the largest cycle companies extant, the oldest firm in the cycle business. Previous to making bicycles the company manufactured sewing machines. Some 32 years ago the town of Coventry was suffering acutely by reason of the competition in silk ribbons of the French which caused many workpeople to be idle. Hearing of the wooden velocipede invented by the French the directors of the Machinists' Co. sent over Mr. Josiah Turner, their manager, to examine the velocipede, the result being that the Machinists' Company employed a quantity of Coventry's idle workpeople, and made the first metal bicycle, which went under the name of "The Gentleman's Spider." At this time many of the now famous cycle manufacturers were working for the Machinists' Company; for instance, Mr. Hillman of Hillman, Herbert & Cooper; Mr. Singer, of Singer & Co.; and James Starley, the inventor of the famous Starley gearing for tricycles. The Company, therefore, can justly claim being the mother of the industry. The majority of the business done by this company is through their several branch houses throughout the different markets of the world. Ten years ago a branch house was started for the United States at 239 Columbus avenue, which showed that the Coventry Company intended to cater for the American trade in the right spirit. The business of this Company at 239 Columbus avenue has steadily been increasing; so much so that at the commencement of this season a Branch House was started at 11 and 13 Madison street, Chicago, Ill., to supply the Western States. Their Swift safeties are world renowned, there being 110,000 now in use. Experience, they say, has taught them that simplicity gives strength and few visits to the repair shop. Catalogues describing their several different styles of Swift safeties will be cheerfully mailed from either of their United States Branch Houses.

THE HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

OFFICIALS, TRANSPORTATION, ENTERTAINMENT, ETC.

Crowds of cyclists will go to Hartford on the occasion of the meet September 7 and 8, and elaborate preparations are being made by the Division for their entertainment. The sum of $1100 has already been subscribed for entertainment purposes alone. The purpose of the Division is not to make money out of its guests, but to take care of them and see that every one has a good time. Hartford's three cycling clubs will keep open house from Saturday, September 6th. Sunday an orderly and decorous outing at the beautiful Reservoir Park, seven miles west of the city, will be handled by the Division Committee. The reservoirs, four in number, are beautifully situated in the wooded district on the eastern slope of the Talcott mountain, and every foot of the seven miles of driveways around them is hard and smooth as a floor. The entire trip of fifteen miles out and around the lakes is over the best macadamized surface in New England.

Monday morning the usual big competitive parade will take place. The prizes offered for members, drill, appearance, etc., will be distributed among visiting clubs only. Monday afternoon the racing at Charter Oak will be the attraction. The programme of racing events was published last week. Monday evening the Division, assisted by the ladies club of Hartford, will conduct an entertainment at Armory Hall. There will be a band concert, dancing and refreshments. Tuesday forenoon will begin with a run to the home of Secretary-Treasurer DeBlois at Wethersfield, four miles south of the city. Pope's band will be stationed on the lawn, and Mr. DeBlois has made arrangements for a varied and pleasing entertainment of his visitors. The Constitutional Convention will meet and organize during the forenoon. Credentials will be passed upon, and the meeting will adjourn until evening for actual business, which if need be, will be continued through Wednesday. Tuesday afternoon the races will again be the attraction.

In addition to the regular programme events there will be various runs to adjoining points of interest, and other forms of entertainment. The visitor will but have to tell where he wishes to go or what may be his especial need, and he will be assigned to the proper person to see that his wishes are fulfilled. Reception Committees will be detailed to all arriving trains, and visitors will be met and cared for properly.

Ex-Chief Consul D. Post is chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and his assistants are Henry Goodman, L. C. Grover, E. A. DeBlois and A. H. Schumacher.

The officials of the races are men of long experience and thorough knowledge of everything pertaining to cycle racing. They are as follows:

Referee—C. S. Davol, ex-Chairman of the National Racing Board.

Judges—Chas. L. Burdett, First Vice President of the L. A. W.; Abbot Bassett, Secretary of the L. A. W., and I. B. Potter, President of the Brooklyn Bicycle Club.

Timers—General Alexander Harbison, who timed Maud S. when she made the fastest mile; J. P. Allyn, President of the Gentlemen's Driving Club, and Leander Hall, Treasurer of the Charter Oak Park Association. These gentlemen have had years of experience in timing events of the greatest importance.

The Hartford Wheel Club will soon issue a handsome and elegant souvenir programme, which will be mailed to 6000 wheelmen, and to all others who will apply for one by postal card.

Excursion rates will be made on all railroads leading to Hartford. The Trunk Line Association will sell tickets to Hartford on the certificate plan from all points throughout the country.

SEEDS' GREAT VICTORY.

He Captured a Ten-miles Road Race in Remarkable Time.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—The first annual meet of the Philadelphia Cycle Dealers was held to-day at Keystone Park, Broad and Dauphin streets, and the most notable event was the victory of Washington C. Seeds of the Warren Athletic Club, in the ten miles open handicap road race. There were eighteen competitors, and Seeds was on scratch. The handicaps varied from thirty seconds to four minutes. In addition to Seeds, the scratch men were F. C Graves of Springfield, Mass., the winner of the last Irvington—Milbourn, 25 mile road race; Frank M. Dampman and J. B. Pierson, the latter of Vineland, N. J. J. Lee Hanley and A. Beggs, of the Warren Athletic Club, had one minute and three minutes, handicaps, respectively.

The course was from Willow Dale down the York pike to Broad street, thence to Keystone Park and one mile on the track. Seeds rode a pneumatic Catford Premier, and took the lead after he had gone 8¼ miles. He was not headed thereafter, and won easily, in 33 minutes. J. G. Hughes, of Penn City Cyclers, Philadelphia, 4 minutes, second; F. B. Merriott, of the South End Wheelmen, Philadelphia, 30 seconds, third; F. C. Graves, scratch, fourth, and J. B. Pierson, scratch, fifth; J. L. Lodge, 3 minutes, sixth.

Hanley was fourth on Broad street, when he was run into by a drunken man with a team. The shaft struck him in the right ear, and he was insensible for three or four hours. Nothing serious is anticipated.

Dampman finished seventh and Beggs came in ninth. Seeds' prize is a handsome gold watch and his time is remarkable, considering the roughness of the roads.

A surprise of the meet was the defeat of W. W. Taxis, champion of Pennsylvania, in the one-mile, scratch race for a $200 diamond medal, by J. R. Hazleton, A. C. S. N., in 2 minutes, 34 2-5 seconds. The time is the fastest ever made in Pennsylvania. The track was five laps to the mile.

S. W. Merrihew, A. C. S. N., came in second in the one-mile ordinary lap race which was won by Taxis. Merrihew, scratch, was also second in the dealers' one-mile handicap race, J. B. Bretz, 150 yards finishing first. Beggs failed to secure a place in the track events.

BOSTON A. A. 25-MILES ROAD RACE.

This affair has become a fixed annual road event of New England.

The date set for the race is Oct. 3, and already Mr. A. D. Peck has received the names of 18 parties who desire to enter. The course will be the same as last year, and further information will be presented from time to time in these columns. For entry blanks address A. D. Peck, Jr., care Boston Athletic Association, Boston, Mass.

ROAD RACE AT RICHFIELD SPRINGS AND POSTPONED TRACK RACES.

The track races of the "Waiontha" Club were postponed from the 4th inst. to the 12th on account of heavy rains and a very muddy track. The 50-mile road race, however, came off to-day. The riders started at the "Earlington Hotel" at noon and rode about a half-mile to the race track where the 50 miles was completed on the half-mile trotting track.

There were four starters—cushion tires were handicapped two minutes, and pneumatics were set back six minutes. C. F. Giesy with an allowance of 18 minutes was the first off. After him came E. H. Crosby, 16 minutes, then W. D. Peck, 12 minutes, and last D. McLean, 4 minutes. Giesy and Peck were on cushions, and Crosby and McLean rode the air tires. Giesy dropped out at nine miles with a bad running machine and tired himself. Crosby has been suffering from cold but held on till the 38th mile. Though he did not finish the club generously awarded him the third prize for his plucky riding. Peck and McLean rode steadily together over the very heavy track till the middle of the last lap when the latter came away and won easily by 200 yards. Peck was very tired.

The time of the winner was 4h. 10 3-4m., giving him first prize, a "Credenda" bicycle, and the special time prize a very beautiful silver flagon. Peck gets the second prize, a kodak camera. His time was 4h. 23 3 4m.

CHICAGO RACING NEWS.

Chicago's many cycling clubs and Chicago's numerous racing men will compete in club contests and others during the next two months. Some of the more important of these are the Pullman Cycling Club meet, open to the city men, at the Island Park, Aug. 8th. On the 15th of August an even half dozen men will compete in the Waukesha-Milwaukee road race. These are N. H. Van Sicklen, C. P. Root, and C. S. Merrill of the Chicago Cycling Club, C. D. Cutting, and O. R. Barnett of the Cook County Wheelmen, and Wm. Young of the Lincoln Cycling Club. At home there are two ten-mile handicap road races. One is that of the Illinois Cycling Club and the other the annual ten-mile handicap of the Lincoln Cycling Club. In both are numerous entries and an elegant line of prizes, the Lincolns having four medals, the like of which have never before been put up by a cycling club in this city. The Farragut Cycling Club also holds its annual race on this date. On the 22d of August the Lincoln Cycling Club will hold the annual championship races at Parkside in conjunction with several races to be run by the Cricket Club. These championships are the one-mile safety, one-mile ordinary, and one-mile "old dubs" race for which each man must certify as to number of children, years married, etc. On the same afternoon the Lake View Cycling Club holds its annual five-mile scratch race for the Jno. McConnell medal over a course starting at Graceland and Evanston avenues. At 2.30 o'clock Aug. 29th, the Cook County Wheelmen hold their meet, at which eleven contests will be tried, with three prizes for each event, at the grounds of the Northwest Athletic Association, 12th and Lincoln streets. These eleven contests are open only to club members. On the same afternoon, a ten-mile handicap road race will be run by the Lake View Cycling Club over the north side course. Sunday morning, Aug. 30th, the Columbia wheelmen will hold a ten-mile handicap, starting at 6 o'clock from Humboldt Park to Douglas Park and return, and Sunday afternoon the Douglas Cycling Club will hold a number of club races at Corrigan's track at Hawthorne. These are the annual twenty-five mile for the Dr. Wachter medal, the annual ten mile for the Steiner medal, and a five-mile handicap, and one-mile ordinary and safety events. In September there are, besides several club contests, the tournament at Englewood on the Hill, promoted by real estate boomers, for Sept. 5th. A 1-4 mile track is to be built for the occasion and free trains run to the grounds. A thousand dollars worth of prizes will be offered. Sept. 11 and 12 we have our Chicago tournament at the Parkside track, now entirely rebuilt and very fast.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT NEW ORLEANS, LA.—The much talked of 5-miles match race between B. W. Cason, Jr., and C. B. Guillette came off August 2d, and it resulted in a victory for Cason. The friends of both contestants were in it for blood, and at one time the odds of ten to seven in favor of Guillette were offered and accepted. It is estimated that nearly $15,000 changed hands. The grand stand at the Fair Grounds was crowded, and enthusiasm ran high. The pace was slow, and Guillette did almost all the "donkey work" with Cason close on his competitor's small wheel. At the half of the fourth mile Cason began to move forward, and was on even terms with Guillette at the three-fourths. Cason had a good lead and was drawing away despite the efforts of Guillette to hold him. Cason finished first with fully 100 yards to the good, "and the band played Annie Laurie" for the benefit of the winner's friends. The times per miles: First mile, 3.52; second mile, 3.55; third mile, 4 00; fourth mile, 4.05; fifth mile, 3.11 4-5. Cason's time five miles, 19.03 4-5; Guillette's time five miles, 19.20 2-5.

AT SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 23.—The race between the local wheelmen took place on the Haight street grounds on the above date. The first event was a run of one mile for safeties only, and resulted as follows: A. Alcayaga, 15 yards behind scratch, time 3 08 1-2; A. Dietle, 30 yards handicap, second; L. Vidy, 35 yards, third; J. Brown, 15 yards behind scratch, fourth. The other starters were P. Breon, 40 yards; A. Goodell, 55 yards; C. Beckett, 65 yards; I. Hall, 75 yards.

The second race was a half-mile dash for an ordinary and two safeties. J. Liebert, D. Marshall, and T. C. Dodge entered. Liebert, who rode the ordinary, allowed his opponents 20 yards. They finished in the following order: Marshall, Dodge, Liebert. Time, 1.35 1-2.

AT CHICOPEE, MASS.—The Chicopee Wheel Club had a 15-mile road race Aug. 8, with nine starters. First prize, a silver set valued at $40.00 was won by Carl L. Bodfish. Second prize, a full Jersey suit, was won by Earl Smith. Third prize, a revolver, won by Chas. Wing. Fourth prize, a Victor road lamp, won by Fred Laundry. A $25 time medal won by Carl L. Bodfish, the one that won the first prize. Time 54m. 41 3-4s.

The Birmingham (Ct.) Bicycle Club have decided on Sept. 19, as the date to give a grand field day.

W. C. Seeds of Wilmington, Del., Aug. 3d, covered the route between Wilmington and New Castle in precisely 16 minutes and 27 seconds, thus breaking all previous records by over two minutes. The best previous was done by Albert Beggs, who covered the distance in 19 1-2 minutes.

The races of the Quaker City Wheelman, of Philadelphia, August 29, promise to be unusually successful judging from the list of entries already received. The events are a twenty-five mile road race (handicap), one-mile ordinary, one-mile safety, novice, one-mile safety (scratch), one-mile safety (handicap,) one-mile safety, three-minute class; one-mile safety, 3.20 class; one-mile safety, 3.30 class; two-mile ordinary, handicap, one-mile tandem, handicap, and one-quarter mile ordinary.

The Meriden (Ct.) Wheel Club will give a one day tournament in connection with the Connecticut State Agricultural Society, September 15th. They value the list of prizes at $500, all useful articles and no "tin" medals.

The Oxford Weeelmen of Philadelphia will hold a 5-mile handicap road race for members only, September 5th, 1891, over the new course.

The Springfield Bicycle Club has decided to give Masten & Wells of Boston the contract for the fireworks to be given the first night of the meeting. The members of the New York Athletic Club's team will spend the next two weeks in light practice. Shortly, however, they will have a try at the records. The first attempt will be made by Hoyland Smith to break the record for a mile on a solid-tire safety. Zimmerman will afterward try for the half-mile and mile records for the ordinary bicycle. Later W. T. Murphy and A. B. Rich will try to break various records on the pneumatic safety.

There is to be a 25-miles road race at Murfreesboro, Tenn., October 7.

The second annual road and track races of the Penn Wheelmen will be held at Reading, Pa., Sept. 24.

AT LYNN, Aug. 3.—The West Lynn Rovers held a ten-miles road race. The course was from the Boscobel to the peninsula and return to the finish at the Old Ladies' Home. W. E. Foote won the race in 39m. 1s.; E. Dexter, second, 39m. 36s.; W. Coleman, third, 39m. 40s.

The fall tournamont of the Maine Division will be held under the auspices of the Portland Wheel Club Sept. 7.

The committee of the Columbia Bicycle Club of Attleboro, Mass., has decided on the following programme and list of prizes for the tournament to be held Aug. 22:

One-mile ordinary, novice; first prize, gold and silver medal; second, silver medal; third, silver medal. One-mile safety novice; first prize, gold and silver medal; second, silver medal; third, silver medal. One-half mile safety, open; first and second prizes, silver medals. One-half mile ordinary, open; first and second prizes, silver medals. One-mile club championship; first prize, gold medal; second, club badge. One-half mile boys' safety; first and second prizes, silver medals. One-half mile safety, ride and run, open; first prize, pair bicycle shoes; second, bicycle bell. One-mile safety, open; first prize, gold and silver medal; second, silver medal; third, bicycle stockings. One-mile safety, "Old North Purchase," championship; prize, gold medal.

Entry blanks can be had upon application to C. C. Schubearth, Attleboro, Mass. Entries will close August 18.

The Parkside track on the Chicago Cricket Club grounds at Chicago is destined, so the track committee say, to be the fastest in this country. It will be ready sor use they think by August 15th.

At a race meeting held lately a certain man was accused of backing out of one of the races because he feared one of the entrants. In consequence a telegram was faked up and sent to one of the managers as follows: "Buy Doc a velocipede; secure him a trainer at once; have entered him in baby races, Podunk Forks, 1893. Have forwarded nursing bottle.

Mamma."

It is barely possible that the old quarter-mile cycle track at the Compton Ave., St. Louis, Mo., park, will again be the scene of many a hard-fought contest. The base ball club that controlled the park have forfeited the lease, and an arrangement will doubtless be consummated by which the M. B. and A. C. secure control of the grounds at once. As soon as this is done the track will be placed in first-class condition and it will be used as the club's training ground.

W. Windle will try for the mile record at Springfield to-day (14th) and to-morrow. He will try to lower Osmond's record of 2.16.

Ten ordinary and ten safety events and five of each of these handicap and five scratch rather equalizes things at the Chicago tournament, and is rather different too from Hartford, where it is reported only three ordinary events are on the programme.

Wheeling has a rather mixed paragraph on the late marriage of Mr. "Wm. Priest, Jr." (?), and an involved account of a certain incident on Loch Katrine. We glean from the item the probable fact, however, that "W. Priest, Jr." means Mr H. G. Friest, and that he had a narrow escape from falling into the limpid waters of fair Katrine. We never think of Mr. Priest as being on the water but we recall the sigh of relief and remark he made: "Well! American soil isn't so bad after all!" on the occasion when we landed him safely on the float after a rather stormy sail in the "good canoe Alice" on South Boston Bay.

THE LIVINGSTON CYCLE CO.

At an adjourned meeting of the creditors of the M.V. Livingston Cycle Co. at Young's Hotel, Boston, Aug. 11, the committee reported, and the statement of liabilities and assets they presented was practically the same report as that of the trustees. The committee further recommended that as the Broncho seemed to be a machine hard to sell at the price asked, $135, it be changed into a chain wheel, providing the present unsecured creditors would extend their credit for two or three years as the case might be, and also providing the necessary sum of $40,000 needed to finish the 1500 machines be furnished by a syndicate. The consensus of opinion seemed to be in favor of the scheme, and many unsecured creditors present expressed their willingness to wait. A committee of five was appointed by the chair for the purpose, and with the power to raise the necessary funds to carry out the proposed arrangement. This committee was instructed to report either through the medium of a circular or at a subsequent meeting the results of their efforts to secure the necessary funds or credit to continue the business on the plan laid down.

AMONG GOTHAM'S DEALERS.

NUMBER ONE.

At the request of the editor-in-chief of the Bicycling World, I have been flying about York, finding out directly from the cycle dealers what they think of the trade this year. Among the first people I approached were the Spaldings, at their great place on lower Broadway. It is a well known fact that they do as large if not larger business than any other house in the sporting goods line in the world, and their bicycle department holds its own with any of them. It is presided over by Mr. A. B. Barkman. Who doesn't know him? In conversing with that gentleman he stated that while this season's business has been much greater than last year's, it has not been of as satisfactory a nature as would have been the case had the factories been able to have doubled their output.

Handling, as they do, the Victor for the entire State of New York, they have been compelled to keep their entire force of men concentrated on the one idea of filling orders, as the writer can personally testify. Among the Overman line, they carry the different Victors, Credendas and Nonpareils, all of which include eleven different styles, and embodying in their construction a "cushion tire," which not only stays in the rim, but is capable of being ridden over such surfaces as newly piked road, cobbles, and even broken glass, sustaining no noticeable damage, and yet imparting to its rider a degree of comfort most delightful.

Owing to the unprecedented demand for ladies' safeties, they found it necessary to get out their combination Credenda safety, which combines a cycle adapted to either a lady or gentleman, and embodies in its construction such features as make it the peer of its class; its cushion tire being a modification of the Victor.

Of their Nonpareil, a full ball bearing boys' safety, there can be nothing more said in its behalf than to quote Mr. Barkman, "Should you ask your neighbor's boy what he rides, his answer would almost invariably be 'the Nonpareil.'"

Taking the business on a general basis, none of the manufacturers of high grade machines have been equal to the demands made on them and agents and manufacturers are increasing their facilities as rapidly as circumstances will permit, which, along with the many new makers starting up, bid fair to place before the public of '92 vastly increased lines of goods for consideration.

There are few sporting goods stores in this country with neater bicycle departments than that of Messrs. Merwin, Hulbert & Co., at 26 West 23d street. Their entire second floor is devoted to wheels; it is carpeted throughout, and presents a very handsome appearance. Their leader is the Swift, followed by the other wheels of the Coventry Machinists' Co. George Hendee looks after this department, and keeps the trade well in hand. They have a large stock of all the different styles of bicycles and tires, one of their prettiest machines being a Swift ladies' safety.

The regulation League uniform is made of a steel gray cloth manufactured for the League exclusively. Metal buttons: large, five cents each; small, three cents each. Rubber buttons, either size, three cents each. Uniform has six large and ten small buttons. As the Secretary keeps no book of credit, all orders sent to him must have cash accompanying. No cloth supplied to tailors or to non-League men.

Massachusetts Members, Attention.

Our Division is now the largest in the country, and we should be proud of the fact and take pride in retaining this enviable position.

With a little exertion each old member can secure one new member and thus double our numbers.

You know from experience what a good investment a League ticket is.

Why not tell your cycling friends and allow them to share the privileges you enjoy?

Let us have 4000 members before the close of the season.

Will you help? Fraternally,
ARTHUR W. ROBINSON, Chief Consul.

Sunday Racing at Chestnut Hill Reservoir.

Numerous complaints having been made in regard to Bicycle Racing at the Reservoir on Sundays, I take this means of requesting League members and all who are interested in the best welfare of the sport to desist. The Park Commissioners of Boston have always been very generous and considerate to cyclists, and instead of abusing our privileges, we should by our orderly conduct show our appreciation of them.

A little thought on the part of those directly concerned will convince them that they not only imperil the lives of those who have equal rights to the road but also bring themselves and the sport into disrepute, the result of which will be the restricting or prohibiting the use of wheels in our parks.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Stop before the commissioners take action in the matter.

Fraternally, ARTHUR W. ROBINSON,
Chief Consul Mass. Div.

428—Missouri Division—500.

To Consuls:

Only one application for L. A. W. membership in BULLETIN of July 1 from Missouri! This is the worst record the Division has yet had during the summer season. It proves that many, in fact nearly all Local Consuls, are not doing their duty at recruiting, and your prompt attention is called to the matter. All other Divisions are keeping up their rapid growth, and Missouri will fall in line just as soon as you cast aside this indifference and take a hand in securing new members. With a corps of 55 Local Consuls the securing of ten applicants per week should be an easy matter, and this number is needed to reach the "500" mark by Oct. 1. A supply of application blanks and circulars has been mailed to under separate cover, and you are requested to make immediate use of them. You are further requested to mail a monthly report to this office, which will state just how matters stand in your city.

We are now working on a Division Hand Book, which will contain the new Constitution and By-Laws, a list of our members, hotels and repair shops. If your city has not had a League hotel and repair shop appointed, send on name and rates to me at once, and I will forward a contract blank for signature of proprietor.

Chief Consul,

California.

A meeting of the Board of Officers of the California Division was held in San Francisco June 13.

There were five members present in person and by proxy. The mail votes from members on the new Constitution were opened, and it was found to be a unanimous vote for its adoption.

The Board then formulated a new set of By-laws, and ordered them printed, together with the Constitution in a small pamphlet form for distribution to the members.

Chief Consul Hill appointed the following committee in accordance with the new Constitution.

Rules and Regulations—A. D. D'Ancona, San Francisco; Dr. H. Bert Ellis, Los Angeles; J. B. Lamkin, San Jose.

Improvement of Highways—Ernest W. Stuart, Los Angeles; J. A. Chase, San Jose; J. G. Swinnerton, Stockton; L. Bernays, San Francisco; L. Devany, San Francisco.

Transportation—Chas. E. Gale, Los Angeles; H. Gage, Oakland; F. W. Ray, San Francisco. There being no further business the Board adjourned.

OSWALD GRANICHER, Sec.-Treas.

SAN JOSE, July 25, 1891.

The Board of Officers California Division held a meeting at the above place and date in the "Cyclers" club rooms. Chief Consul Hill and four members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Hill stated that he had ordered 1000 pamphlets containing Constitution and By-laws to be printed at a cost of $42, and that he had secured five pages of advertisements at $5 per page.

The Secretary-Treasurer reported a cash balance of $327.30 on hand.

The following communication was then read:

LOS ANGELES, July 3, 1891.

THOS L. HILL, ESQ., Chief Consul California Div.:

Dear Sir—The members of the Los Angeles Wheelmen respectfully ask that the officers of the California Division L. A. W. appropriate the sum of $50 to the members of the California Division in the southern part of the State, said money to form the nucleus of a race meet to be held in Los Angeles on Thanksgiving Day, 1891, under the auspices of the Los Angeles Wheelmen.

This race meet will not be a purely local one, but on the contrary the Los Angeles Wheelmen will endeavor to have all the wheelmen in the southern part of the State participate in it.

We do not ask this out of charity, but simply as an act of justice, as the following facts will prove:

First—It is practically impossible for members in the southern part of California to participate in League events held in the northern part of the State on account of the distance to be traveled, thereby excluding us from all League meets.

Second—All money received by the California Division has been spent in the northern part of the State, the southern members receiving very little benefit therefrom. The benefits to be derived from this race meet are obvious, as it will surely awaken a lively interest in wheeling in this part of the State. Awaiting a reply, I am,

Fraternally yours, E. W. STUART,
Sec.-Treas. Los Angeles Wheelmen.

On motion it was unanimously decided to grant the above request, and the Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to forward the amount asked for.

It was moved and seconded that $30 be placed to the credit of the Committee on Improvements of Roads, to be used to the best advantage in the furtherance of the Roads Improvement. Question. Carried.

After some discussion on League matters in general the meeting adjourned.

OSWALD GRANICHER, Sec.-Treas.

The supply of hand books for the California Division have now become exhausted, and so new members who have recently joined the League may know that is why they have received none.

Secretary.

He is now riding a 26-pound Swift pneumatic, geared to 63, on which he will race at Providence, Springfield, and Hartford. He is training at Berkeley Oval, and doing under 2.45. This is equal to 2.35 on the Springfield track. Not bad for a man off the track for a year.

They are also retail agents of the Gormully & Jeffery line, and Eastern representatives of the Indiana Bicycle Co., which agency they have had since the company first started in business. Their territory for the Swift covers the entire State, and they appoint all agents. Hendee claims that he has the most complete line of sundries in the country, and the appearance of their shelves and show cases help to back his opinion. The Swift is one of the most popular wheels on the road about here, and their numbers are rapidly increasing. The Merwin-Hulbert catalogue is one of the handsomest issued, and they say that none in America cost more to get out. It has a cover of the finest transparent rice linen, through which the engravings of the wheels are plainly outlined. "KERLUMBIA."

JOHN WILKINSON CO., are out early with the 1892 pattern of Rover Special and are undoubtedly the first to show '92 patterns. Mr. C. S. Merrill is now on the road on his way East with a sample which he is showing. He was in New York the first of this week, and expects to be in Boston with his sample in a few days. Mr. Merrill will undoubtedly stay East until after the fall tournaments.

WE take pleasure in calling our readers attention to page 513, on which will be found the latest production of the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co., a diamond frame safety. It will be observed that all the points in the spring of the Gormully & Jeffery patterns are preserved. It certainly is a very handsome wheel and should prove very popular.

THE Premier folks have a novel advertisément on page 515. It is a good one for the Catfords. Just look on page 515.

IF you want to get an idea of what the material and workmanship of the Singer cycles have in their make up, just cast your optic on page 510. If convincing proof of the excellence of the aforesaid material and workmanship were needed it is there given. That such a twisting and binding could be given to a machine without starting a crack is knock-down evidence as to the splendid quality of Messrs. Singer's Cycles.

ROUSE, HAZARD & Co., Peoria, Ill., in both cycles and sundries, carry an immense line of all makes and make a point of filling orders promptly, which makes them very popular with the cycling trade.

H. P. WALDEN of Chicago successfully coasted Pikes Peak last Tuesday on a 33 pound Ormonde Model B pneumatic tired safety. He covered the twenty-two miles from the top to Manitou in two hours fifty-three and one-half minutes and stopped over thirty-eight minutes on the way down. This is a notable performence, both for the wheel and the tire.

Jersey Fitting

originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.

Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

CYCLING

— FOR —

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25 For sale by Wheelman Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

CUSHION TIRES.

Cushion Tires, if properly made, are good things. On our part we arrived at this conclusion after a great deal of experimenting and practical use on the road.

But Cushion Tires are not all properly made. There is the one which looks pretty on paper; the one that rides easily only over sand; and yet again the one which only "will not cut."

Have you tried the Columbia Cushion? If you have you have noticed

That it rides easily over sand.

That it will (so far as can be judged now) outlast the solid tire.

That it is elastic.

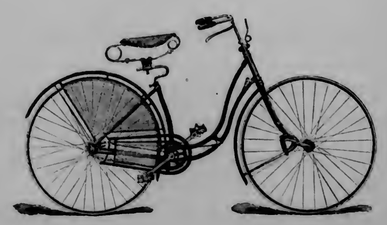
That it is neat, well made, and efficient.

That it is a satisfactory part of a satisfactory machine.



That it is warranted.

Oh, no! All cushion tires are not properly made, but

COLUMBIA CUSHIONS ARE.

NOT ENOUGH.

NOTHING LESS THAN $135 will buy a Victor Bicycle, and the demand constantly exceeds the supply, even at that seemingly high figure.

Victors are cheap at $135, in comparison with second grade machines which are sold at from $50 to $130, and sometimes at $135.

Prices are often deceptive. There are many inferior or second grade wheels on the market with a list price of $135, but which, in reality, are sold for a much less sum. Old, experienced riders understand this hollow pretence, and are able to take advantage of such reductions when unable to buy the best, while the inexperienced buyer or beginner has to pay full price.

If you want the best bicycle in the world, fitted with Victor Cushion Tires and Victor Spring Fork, you must pay $135 to get it, but it will be a poem in steel.

"THE AMATEUR RULE."

L. A. W. spells law. Law is said to be the ne plus ultra of common sense. That which, in the opinion of the majority of the more intelligent, seems to guarantee the most good to the greatest number, becomes (usually in time) a law.

And that law is supposed to be enforced until, through changed conditions it becomes inadequate to meet man's needs, it is repealed and so becomes obsolete.

We are told that in the dim and moth eaten past, men had so little else to do that they moved their ears to and fro at will.

As time went on and weightier things absorbed his time and thought, his ears were neglected (you may have noticed it) and now those muscles, at whose twitching once the festive fly was driven hence, are now no more of use. They lie unworked and by the physiologically learned are called rudimentary muscles. They have been unused for many thousand years and are gradually being absorbed by the tissues of the face.

It is estimated that within a hundred generations no trace of them will be left.

In view of this let us hope that some day we may see the amateur rule wiped out or so modified as to become rudimentary,

What is the object of bicycle racing? Can the people on the grand stand (whose money makes the show possible) be ignored? and if so, for how much longer?

League brethren, must we stand idly by and see it come to pass that only men who are millionaires in their own right shall compete on the track?

Shall we sit patiently on the bleaching boards and watch such competition as can be made between members of a gouty and champagne-soaked aristocracy?

Fellows members, must we use our opera glass in order to see the emaciated legs of the only men who are allowed on the tracks controlled by the greatest and most promising athletic organization which has ever basked in God's sunlight?

Shall we handicap the League by asking its patrons to pay gate money for the privilege of witnessing so-called races between dudes whose diet is plum pudding and whose chief training consists in sucking the big end of a buck horn cane?

Must it come to this? or shall we have real races between men whose birth and training have literally made them men? Men whose muscles are not rudimentary. Men with blood in their veins. Men with a bone in their back. Men who go into a race to win it, and who realize that to perpetuate bicycle racing means to offer the public something in return for their money.

To be in fit condition to make the best use of himself a man must go through a certain preparatory dieting and exercising under the direction and care of some competent trainer.

This takes time and costs money. Whose money? Ah! dear brethren, that is the point. Do you, as a spectator, care who pays the bills? No? but you want it paid don't you?

Now, if the man is able to pay his own expenses, 'tis well; if a bicycle club pays it, it is all right, but Horror of Horrors! if an athletic club pays it, the once kind and good amateur becomes in one short day a terrible, cloven, unsanctified professional.

"What new horror cans't thou to damnation add greater than this?"

Here it is! Suppose a manufacturer (the man without whom you would never have had even a steel wheel, to say nothing of Hickory ones) should be generous enough or enterprising enough to contribute of his hard earned cash to promote the training of athletes for the race track. Let such a thing happen and instantly "the tearful face of mercy becomes livid with eternal hate."

Bah! Why attempt to bolster up this old imaginary difference between "tweedle dee and tweedle dum."

We want races. The people want something to interest them, and from the days of the Roman Gladiator down to the Stentorian Bridle Munger, people admire and will pay to see genuine exhibitions of physical prowess.

Should not the League insure its own life by showing as many excuses as possible for its living? So thinks the

of Newton, Mass.

P. S.—If you have any ideas on the above subject, go to Hartford Sept. 8th, and vote.

P. S. No. 2.—If you don't vote don't kick.

There's something in a flying horse,
There's something in a huge balloon.—Wadsworth.

Just so, so there is. But if you could get a combination of the two would there not be more in it? Of course there would, and that is just what the Sylph gives you. It has the only perfect three-part frame. Vibration from either wheel is completely destroyed before it reaches the saddle or pedals. When a Sylph rider gets tired he may rest assured that it is actual weariness and not nervous exhaustion induced by vibration. He knows that it is healthful exercise and not paralytic rough roads. We admit there is no necessity for springs under the saddle, but it is not because our riders stand on the pedals. It is because of the Sylph Spring Frame.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

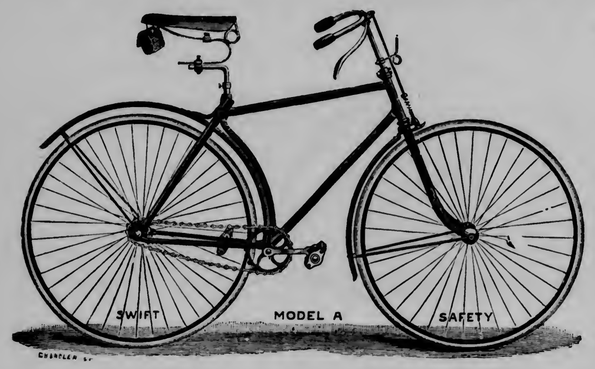
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 21 AUGUST, 1891.

THE idea of a lantern parade by cyclers on foot seems a novel idea and at first glance rather "queer." The first of the kind was given at Cottage City at the Massachusetts Division meet, and was pronounced a great success, even by many of those who opposed. We never have yet seen a lantern parade on bicycles which we considered an unqualified success. The lights joggled out, the men fell off, the pace was either a standstill or a scorch, and by the time the affair was over, fully three-quarters of the illumination had become extinguished, and instead of being a brilliant thing as the imagination painted it, it becomes a dragged, dismal procession of disgusted wheelmen. The idea of a parade on foot is only odd in so far as we apply it to wheelmen. Yet it was a success, and hereafter will be universally adopted in this section on occasions similar to the late Massachusetts Division meet at Cottage City.

THE safety, and its adoption by women, has removed from cycling the stigma of selfishness that in the day of the so-called good old ordinary was wont to be charged against the sport by the wives, the sisters, and the sweethearts of the riders of half a dozen years since. Then the man went off for a half-day's run, and left not only home and family, but all remembrance of them as well. As soon as he was in the saddle and glided away, silently, swiftly, and almost without exertion, the mere sense of existence enchanted him. All anxiety about the future and regret for the past forsook him in the intoxication of present enjoyment, and, if this cheerfulness was not disturbed by a depressing "header," he came to the temporary conclusion that, after all, physical excitement was the only pleasure deserving of the name. Stimulated by anticipation of bright country scenery, beautiful winding roads, shaded by tall and leafy trees, fresh, exhilarating air, and perhaps a lot of jolly companions, he put more muscle and more avoirdupois upon the pedals than he would ever dream of putting on his week's work. While thus his blood is stirred by fine exercise, and his heart bounding with keen pleasure, let us look at the reverse of the picture and see the situation at his home.

The contrast is depressing.

The restraint of woman's life is deplorable and unhealthy enough without being compared with the brightest side of man's life—his excursions on the wheel. There is but one way that the pleasure can be equalized, and that has been made possible by the woman's wheel, which enables her to share cycling with those of the sterner sex, who, until the safety came, selfishly claimed it for themselves alone. The man who will buy himself a wheel and "cannot afford" to get his wife, or his sister, or his cousin, or his—prospective lady relative one, is too mean to live well, and should be treated to a round of cold dinners by the fair ones of his household until he has learned better.

THE sense of injustice felt by cyclers at the ungracious treatment they frequently receive at the hands of horsemen, has been the means of arousing an unreasonable antagonism on the part of many of them against all people who drive. This spirit some wheelmen show too often upon the road by utter disregard for the safety and comfort of those whose horses have not yet become accustomed to the wheel. Riders should not so loudly complain of the selfishness of those who have attempted to exclude them from the full privileges of the road, unless they are themselves exempt from any unreasoning selfishness in the matter. The courteous practices begun by those pioneers in riding who rode when wheels were few and foes were many, should not be laid aside now that our numbers and organization make us a power in the land that none dare to assail. We hope, therefore, that every rider of the wheel, who has learned to enjoy life thereby, will, out of the abundance of his happiness sacrifice a little to those he may meet upon the highways.

A GLANCE over the price list of a carriage manufacturer shows us that the prices of fashionable vehicles are: Broughams, $1350; coaches, $1600; victorias, $1350; cabriolets, $1200; mail phaetons, $1000; spider phaetons, $1100; ladies' driving phaetons, $1000; curricles, $1500; dogcarts, $850; buggies, $500. These are the figures for first-class conveyances to be sure, but let us say that the average price for one of them is $1000, though it is much greater; add to this the cost of a horse, or more likely a pair of them, harness, livery, feed, care, etc., and the amount can not be far from $3500. To maintain such a conveyance the expenses can not be much less than $100 per month, so in round figures it will cost, say $4000 the first year one becomes a carriage owner, and from $1200 to $1500 per annum thereafter. Compare this with a wheel and see the difference. The best of bicycles with all needed appurtenances, such as lamps, cyclometers, bells, uniforms, etc., can be secured well under $200. The cost of maintaining this vehicle is practically nothing in any city or town outside of a few of the larger ones like New York, Boston, Chicago, and Philadelphia, and in these, a wheelman by joining a club gets his wheel stored, cleaned, and attended to, and his own personal comfort looked after and provided for, at an annual expense of at the outside of say $50. Thus the wheelman during his first year in the sport is $3750 ahead of the wealthy carriage owner, and in the succeeding years has from $1150 to $1450 per annum less output. No comparison can be possible, as to the health-giving advantages the cycle has over the carriage, that is a jug-handled argument in every way in favor of the wheel. The moral of all this is, if you would be "healthy, wealthy, and wise," do not buy a buggy but a bicycle, and then you may feel sure of attaining these three very much to be prized essentials for happiness.

THERE is no doubt but that the rapid growth in the popularity of the cycle in some sections has materially interfered with the business of the livery men. In small communities this is specially noticeable, as in the days when cycling was an unknown delight to the youths and maidens, the livery man used to reap a large proportion of his golden harvest by furnishing equipages to these young men and women during their courting days. The introduction of the ladies' bicycle has changed this somewhat; they are no longer dependent on the horse and buggy for a prolonged trip into the country to secure an uninterrupted tete-a-tete. True it is that Dick can no longer extend to his beloved Belinda the tender assistance of his left arm to prevent her from falling out or off the vehicle; but on the other hand there is no danger that the cycles will break their fastenings while the happy pair are sauntering through the sweet shadows of the woods or over the breezy summit of some hill-top.

Cycling also brings to the surface sooner or later the true character of a person. If Belinda exhibits a sweetness and patience of temper when the roads are "rocky" and the grade steep, it is pretty safe for Dick to "bank on" her disposition, and the same time Belinda can keep an eye on Dick and notice to what extent he retains his serenity when he finds his pedal loose and not a wrench within a mile.

NEW YORK cyclers are excited over the alleged appearance of a cycling spook on the driveways of Central Park. We always have believed in "equal rights" for wheelmen in the proper use of park driveways, but we draw the line at cycling spooks, and we hope the New York Park Commissioners will see to it that they are prohibited from riding in Central Park at all. This particular spook is described as having led an eye witness a deuce of a run and then to have turned to a living flame and disappeared with a bang! It would be unkind to catechise the eye-witness as to what he had supped on and the quality and quantity of liquid refreshment he had absorbed. So we'll let the matter rest there.

There are spooks and spooks; this one took on the form of a fireworks man on a red hot bicycle. The spook familiar to some of our good Western friends assumes the shape of wicked deeds and broken faith of certain League officials, and come to think of it, hasn't the Central Park ghost about as much real existence as the League spooks? [Since writing above we have received the solution of the mystery, and it will be found in the "Heres and Theres."]

ANOTHER Richmond has appeared in the field in the crusade against the wicked sport of cycling. This Richmond is a pretty red-hot radical fellow, so radical and so immoderate that we can afford to laugh at him. He goes to such ridiculous extremes that to argue with him or even protest would take the edge off the protest and condemnation his own words carry with them, hence we state the incident without further comment:

At the Willimantic, Conn., camp ground on Sunday, Aug. 16, the Rev. Thomas Harrison, the well-known Methodist evangelist—once popularly called "the boy preacher"—said: "The sins and frivolities of the day must be given up to meet God's favor, and bicycling is the most damning of these."

THE members of the Razzle Dazzle Club of San Francisco, having at length realized an appreciation as to the fitness of things, have voted to change the name to the more dignified one of "Oriental."

"I would I wore a bifurcated pair
Of mannish trousers, on my silent steed;
But then rude men would turn about to stare;
Let others set the fashion—I'll not lead."

CHICAGO is to have a century run of huge proportions conducted by the Century Road Club. All the clubs of Chicago and vicinity and all wheelmen will be asked to join in making this, if possible, a greater event than the Eastern one. The course will be from Chicago to Aurora, to Elgin, and return to the city. Good roads, few hills, and much pleasant scenery. More, later.

MR. C. R. OVERMAN, manager of the Washington branch of the Overman Wheel Co., is now East on a few weeks' vacation.

THE third pavilion party of the Chicago Cycling Club's summer series was given at the Jackson Park pavilion, Wednesday evening, Aug. 12th. One hundred and fifty couples danced merrily through twelve numbers to the music of an excellent band, with the lake in plain sight and hundreds of Japanese lanterns hung around. This is the first club party at which more club members than visitors have been present.

A PHILADELPHIA up-town saloon keeper has fitted up a wheel room with lockers and toilet accommodation for the use of thirsty wheelmen who may desire to tarry awhile in his neighborhood.

THE tollgate keeper at Ardmore, Pa., says his receipts from cyclers so far this year have been more than double that of last season.

WHILE a young lady was riding a bicycle on one of the paths in the outskirts of Kingston, she saw ahead a man and woman, and rang her bell sharply and continuously, but without avail, as they paid no attention to it. She rode close to them and jumped from her wheel to avoid a collision. Then the woman turned and in apologetic tones said, "God bless her sweet face, I heard the bell, but thought it was a scissors grinder."

THE Philadelphians are still agitating the question of the necessity for a cycle track in the Quaker City. The matter, however, has not progressed beyond the point of agitation.

THE Oak Park Cycling Club, of Chicago, held its August meeting in the dining room of its new club house, now nearly completed. Light was furnished by Japanese lanterns suspended from every convenient spot. Five new members were admitted and Captain Stimpson arose to the principal business of the evening. A resolution was unanimously passed which requires every member of the club to be an L. A. W. member. This will ultimately result in the club's becoming a League club and will also materially aid Illinois in the race for fourth place.

THE following extract taken from the Monitor of Concord, N. H., is respectfully submitted for careful thought to Bishop Coxe, the Rev. ——, and to the woman who thinks cycling for ladies more vicious than cigarette smoking: "A wise physician once said that the opinion that a good woman should stay closely at home had killed more women than any other one cause. In the days of their grandmothers the suggestion of regular gymnastic training or athletics for girls would have been received with horror. What would these grandmothers have said at seeing a girl on a bicycle? In their opinion these would indeed be degenerate days."

FAY E. ROBERTS, for some years connected with A. G. Spalding & Bros., Chicago, left their employ to enter that of J. T. Buker, Rockford. Unable to satisfactorily arrange a contract, and not wishing to start for himself in Rockford, he has returned to Chicago, with a half dozen flattering offers to pick from.

SEVENTEEN Batavia (Ill.) cyclists have formed the Batavia Cycling Club. Temporary quarters have been secured.

AT a late meeting of the New Jersey Division, the delegates to the coming convention at Hartford were "requested" to favor a fair expense rule.

"SPEAKING of bicyclists," says the Lowell Star, "it may be said that when they toil not neither do they spin."

THE Columbus (Ohio) Safety Club has voted against the practice of "scorching" on club runs. "Scorching" has been responsible for the dismemberment of some lively clubs, and we would give "Punch's" advice to the Columbus Club and to others which desire to retain the club interest in runs: "Don't."

MR. GEO. K. BARRETT has severed his connection with Bearings, and hereafter will be connected with the Humber Co.'s branch in Chicago. Mr. N. H. Van Sicklen retains sole proprietorship of the Bearings now.

MR. H. E. LAURIE is coming to this country this fall to represent the Howe Machine Co.

TEN members of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, took what will probably be the hardest ride of the year, for that city, Sunday, Aug. 9th. The thermometer at the starting time, 5.15, was at 80 degrees, and before eight o'clock it had climbed easily to 100 degrees in the shade. This party had started for Joliet, and to that city they rode, despite seventeen miles of steady uphill work and a strong head wind. The total distance covered was seventy miles, and they were only prevented from completing a century run by a wind storm and heavy rain direct in their faces.

THE Orange (N. J.) wheelmen have contracted for a new club house to cost $3500. The house is to be located at Park avenue, near Dey street, and will be two stories, attic and basement. In the basement will be a bowling alley, wheelroom and sink for washing wheels. On the first floor will be the reception room, main assembly room, cloak room and ladies' toilet. On the second floor is to be the billiard room, a committee room, cloak room, and gentleman's toilet.

THE Terre Haute (Ind.) Herald bewails the fact of the deterioration of the racing interest in that city. From having a dozen or more fast riders who could go a mile in the thirties and forties, Terre Haute has not a man now who can better three minutes.

TWENTY-TWO members of the Columbia Wheelmen, of Chicago, were in line at four o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 2d, to ride a century. Aurora was reached all right, as was Elgin, but here they were compelled to stop by rain.

A RURAL YOUTH—What's them things called?
DEALER—These are bicycles.
"I've seen 'em, but I couldn't think of the name. I'd like ter ride one."
"Can you ride a bicycle?"
"Of course. Nuthin ter do but sit on top an' work the wheels; that's all, ain't it?"
"Yes, but you are apt to fall at first."
"S'pose I do. Can't do more than hit the ground, can I?"
"N—o."
"Then what's to hurt?"
"You might come down hard, you know."
"But it's only the ground—no knives or things like that on the thing is there?"
"Oh, no."
"Nuthin' to worry 'bout then. I've druv a hayrake."—[Street & Smith's Good News.

THE East Orange (N. J.) Cyclers, at their meeting on Thursday evening, decided to make extensive improvements in their club house by building a wheel room and a bowling alley. The club also proposes to enter a team in the Wheelmen's Bowling League contest this fall.

MILFORD (Mass.) bicycle riders complain that some of the neighboring towns do not comply with the law in relation to the erection of sign boards at the intersection of roads leading to towns or cities. There is a fine of $5.00 for each case of proven neglect.

THE figure 100 inside a capital letter C is the official die of the Century Road Club. With this die all of the bars must first be stamped before being official. A certified report of each century made must be sent to Chief Centurion Herrick, 81 Madison street, Chicago, and he will forward bar.

ON Sunday, August 9th, three members of the "Porks," by invitation, accompanied the Cincinnati Bicycle Club on their run to Venice. The significance of this fact is of course purely local.

ROUTE WANTED—Some one acquainted with the roads between Newark and Washington can do me a great favor by sending me a description of the most direct route between the above cities. F. R. KENYON, Drawer No. 2, Bridgeport, Conn.

THE Social Wheel Club of Salt Lake City tendered a reception to the transcontinental tourists, Allen W. Swan of New Bedford and S. J. Black of Cleveland. Mr. Black intends to continue round the world, while Mr. Swan will confine his wanderings to the United States.

CHARLIE KNISELY, of the Illinois Cycling Club, Chicago, announces that he will race no more after the Illinois Club road race. Charlie will be remembered as the likely lad who captured the novice race and all the class races at Peoria last year. A splendid career on the racing path had been mapped for him by his admiring club mates, who are consequently greatly disappointed.

THOMAS MAXIM, of Birmingham, Ct., is wanted in Norwalk, Ct., for stealing a Lovel safety bicycle, number 1,669, from Louis Potter, who runs a bicycle livery. The wheel was hired for an hour and not returned. The fellow gave his name as T. J. Earle. He is an oily tongued chap and is wanted in New Haven and Bridgeport on similar charges.

C. F. SEELEY, of Norwalk, Ct., a prominent bicyclist of that place, has joined the Gotham Wheel Club's racing team.

A COLORED man employed in one of Chicago's many cycle stores, Jim Anthony by name, a member of the Chicago Colored Cycling Club, is seen often on the streets riding one safety and leading two others, one on each side.

THE Alpha Wheel Club, of Norwalk, Ct., have decided to take in the lady cyclists of the town and have had propositions from five. They are the Misses May Webber, Anna Newcomb, Faunetta Rose, May Glover, and Ella Byxbee. There still about a dozen more who are contemplating joining the club.

MESSRS. A. D. BLACK, Donald C. Catlin, and Fred Davenport, of Jacksonville, Ill., left Detroit, Michigan, on July 20, on a trip to Portland, Maine, via Toronto, Niagara Falls, Albany, New York, Newport, and Boston. They are now at Newport, R. I., where they will remain for a day or two.

TOURING wheelmen would do well to remember that there is a fine of $5 and costs to all persons breaking the borough ordinance by riding upon the sidewalks at Norwalk, Ct.

A. J. WHITE, of Plainfied, N. J., is making a tour of the Eastern States on his bicycle.

TWENTY-SIX members of the Chicago Cycling Club attended the club's annual Milwaukee and Waukesha run, Aug. 2d. This was one of the pleasantest of Chicago's many enjoyable runs.

THE Knickerbocker Wheelmen, of New York, were organized about three months ago and has a membership of twenty-five. The members finding it necessary to have larger quarters leased the building No. 119 W. 124th street, between Lenox and 7th avenue. The house has been newly furnished and the wants of the hungry and thirsty members will be looked after within the club house walls. Visiting wheelmen are cordially invited to call at No. 119.

A COZY sheltered roof with south exposure is to be made into a very pleasant roof garden by the Lake View Cycling Club, of Chicago. This will overlook Lincoln Park.

MR. A. D. BLACK and Donald C. Catlin, of Jacksonville, Ill., did us the honor of calling on us last Tuesday. These gentlemen toured from Detroit to Boston, via Niagara, Rochester, New York, and Newport. Mr. Black stated he had some first-class "road pictures," and at our suggestion he promised to send some copies to Mr. Isaac B. Potter.

"ERCINAL," of Alameda, Cal.: We will publish your article if you will send us your name as an evidence of good faith.

SAYS an exchange in connection with the opposition of Bishop Coxe and others to ladies cycling: "There are some people who cannot help associating novelty and 'style' with wickedness. When steamboats and railroads were first built there were some who deemed their operation a species of blasphemy. When Thomas Jefferson, on his return from the American mission to France, introduced in this country the custom of wearing trousers instead of knee breeches, there were conservative people who were convinced by it that he was an atheist and Jacobin, and would not be satisfied until he had overturned the last vestiges of social order."

CHICAGO stands prominent as the centre of a long distance riding district. Full seven score century runs have been made this year by her riders, and twice that many will yet be made.

THERE is a strong current among the Washington, D. C., wheelmen in favor of holding the next National Meet in that city. We will vote for Washington.

THE "spectral cycle rider," who has been scaring people in Central Park, New York, thus explains the manner of his "first and only appearance as a ghost." The "spook's" name is plain every day N. E. Kennedy. "I was the man that led young Ballard such a fearful race up the bluff that practically ends Riverside Drive. I had provided myself with a sheet, which was concealed beneath my shirt. When I got to the brow of the bluff I simply pulled a bottle of phosphorus from under my coat, opened the cork, put on the sheet, and as I dashed its contents to the ground, quickly disappeared in a blaze of glory. That is the true history of the celebrated spectral bicycle rider that has been astonishing all Harlem. My joke worked so well in one instance that I continued the fun, and for the past week or two have been making nightly appearances along the Riverside bluff."

THE wheelmen of Freeport, Ill., will hold a tournament on the 9th of Sept. The prizes offered will be valuable, and among them will be bicycles.

A TUSCALA, Ill., special states that Prof. Claude Blaum has invented an aquacycle which, on actual trial Aug. 9, was shown to develop speed almost equal to a bicycle In a friendly contest with Commodore Wells' steamer Dauntless it is claimed Blaum managed to more than hold his own.

THE second annual century run of the Wanderers Cycle Club of Cincinnati will take place on Aug. 30, 1891, being from Cincinnati to Eaton, Ohio, and return, 106 miles.

THE wheelmen of Richmond, Ind., organized a century run last Tuesday, Aug. 19. The route was to Winchester, Muncie, Newcastle, Cambridge City, and home. The total distance a pace of about 8 miles an hour was kept up. It is described as a "social run" and not a scorch.

THE Express of Buffalo says: "It should be said, in answer to the numerous inquiries as to why the Ramblers do not issue a challenge to the Press Cycling Club for another 50-mile road race, that it was understood the race last Saturday decided the local road racing championship for 1891. The Ramblers will hold to this, but at the same time would be glad to have the Pressites re-open the matter by challenging the Rochester and other Western New York bicycle clubs to a road race, as proposed, and thus be given an opportunity to redeem themselves.

BRIDAL TOUR ON CYCLES.

SOME weeks ago we chronicled the fact that Dr. H. W. Baldwin and his bride started from their home in Norwalk, Ct., for a bridal tour through the country on bicycles. The happy pair arrived in Chicago at the Grand Pacific Aug. 10. The tour was from Norwalk to Niagara, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Chicago. Nearly 1000 miles of this distance was traversed on cycles, the balance being covered on steamer or railroad.

Going down the Mississippi in a steamer they stopped at almost every town and rode about on their wheels for an hour or two. The people, particularly the women folks, were terribly shocked to see a woman on a bicycle, as in those small places the sight of a man on a wheel is a rare thing.

Dr. Baldwin and his wife had quite an experience while crossing to Little Tongue river in Southern Iowa. The stream had swollen from recent rains and had swept the small foot bridge away. Securing an ax from a farmer close by, Dr. Baldwin cut down two trees on the bank so they fell across the stream. Putting fence boards crosswise across the trees, the doctor made a fairly good bridge. He crossed in safety, but his wife became dizzy when nearly over, and toppled over, but was caught just in time by her husband. A few moments later a great log came sailing down the stream and smashed into the improvised bridge, breaking it loose and sending it down the torrent.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

IN Michigan and Wisconsin they have a way of building good roads through swampy forests which is both original, inexpensive, and efficacious. This is accomplished by felling and burning the timber and covering the surface with the charcoal thus prepared. The timber is cut and piled up lengthwise in the centre of the road, and then covered with straw and earth in the manner of coal kilns. The earth required to cover the piles, taken from each side, leaves two good-sized ditches. When the timber is charred the earth is removed to the sides of the ditches and the coal is raked down to a width of fifteen feet, leaving it two feet thick in the centre and one at the sides. While this road is in every way superior to the ordinary dirt road, it is hardly the one on which I would advise a touring wheelman to wear a white suit in travelling over, especially if he is inclined to take hurried dismounts from his wheel in an unorthodox manner.

Referring to roads and the need for ones of better condition and structure than now exist, reminds one of a few facts shown by the late census. There are something over 16,000,000 horses and mules on the farms of the United States, and at a moderate estimate of twenty-five cents per day as the cost of feed for each animal, it is readily seen that it costs the farmers of this country about $4,000,000 per day for this item alone. Less than fifty per cent of these animals would be sufficient to do all the hauling of farm produce carried on in this country if even the main roads were put in first-class condition, but, not to hope too strongly for the attainment of distant things, let us suppose that such an improvement be projected as would render unnecessary only one-eighth of the total number of draught animals now employed.

This would reduce the entire number by a little over 2,000,000 and would effect a saving each day of about 14,000 tons of hay and 750,000 bushels of oats, which, reduced to a money value equals $300,000 per day, or about $140,000,000 per year, add to this the value of the animals, $114,000,000, and we have a total of $254,000,000 saved for the first year. Of course these figures do not represent the real loss entailed to our farmers by the use of dirt roads. That loss is beyond computation, but in whatever way the computation is directed and whatever the loss is susceptible of calculation, the same startling exhibit is beyond compare, and yet the farmers as a class are in every way possible antagonistic to the efforts of wheelmen and all other reformers in their efforts to promote the construction and maintenance of modern and improved highways. Verily, it is true, that none are so blind as those who will not see! For the statistics and facts in the foregoing item I am indebted to the Engineering Magazine.

I should judge from the Detroit papers, and the remarks in your columns by your correspondent "Setagec," that some of the Detroit riders consider themselves injured and imposed upon by reason of the recent passage in that city of an ordinance requiring wheelmen to carry bells and lamps. The opposition that certain wheelmen there are trying to produce against this very sensible law, is of but little credit to themselves or to cycling, and will win them no respect from the public or support from the League or any other body of thinking or intelligent wheelmen. The fundamental principle of all the concessions of cycling lays in their being vehicles, and as such entitled to all the privileges accorded to all other vehicular users of the streets and highways. From their noiseless nature and rapidity of motion cycles, more than any other form of vehicles, should be compelled by law to carry a bell in daytime and a lamp at night to warn other users of the highways of their presence, and any ordinance requiring such safeguards for their own and the public's welfare, should meet with the hearty support of all intelligent wheelmen. It is too often the case of late years that wheelmen are wont to look upon themselves as a special class apart from all other users of the highways, who are to be privileged to do as they please, irrespective of the rights of any other users of the thoroughfares. They wish to be allowed to ride upon the sidewalks or upon the road as they may elect; they object to any interference with their wishes by any authority of any kind. Why this should be, no one but the objectors themselves seem to know, and they for some reason have never seen fit to enlighten the vulgar public, which is probably too far beneath them, in their minds, for them to condescend to offer any explanations. In England, the home and head of cycling, wheelmen are everywhere by law required to carry bell and lamp, and whoever heard of English wheelmen thinking they were imposed upon by such a sensible regulation? It was in Detroit, I think, that a young lady recently lost her life by being run over by a horsecar while unlawfully using the public streets as a riding school for the purpose of learning to ride the bicycle. While I, like every one else, regret this fatal accident, it should be a lesson to every one. True there is no law which says that the streets shall not be used for such purposes, but what would happen to the man who used them for the purpose of breaking his horses to harness or saddle? Why, he would be at once stopped by the police, and so it should be with wheelmen. They, no more than any one else, have any right to use the public highways in any way that may be decided dangerous to themselves or to others, as in the eyes of the law suicide is a crime as well as murder, and though the wheelman be foolish enough to run the risk of killing or injuring himself as of doing the same to some other innocent user of the streets, it is but justice that the law should protect both him and the public from any danger his foolhardiness might bring unto them. Let wheelmen, whether they live in Detroit or elsewhere, look at these facts as they are. Don't be led astray by wild talk or space work in the press to believe that you are a favored class of human beings who need not heed the demands of the law, for you are not. Any sensible lamp and bell ordinance is not only legal and binding upon you as such, but it is entitled to your heartiest support and co-operation, and any other line of action on your part will only bring upon you a discredit and disaster which will be well merited.

HINTS FOR THE TYRO.

ALWAYS remember that the road was made for you.

Persist in riding at full speed through the most crowded centres.

Position, on the wheel, is everything. The rider who arches his back till his nose is within a hair's-breadth of his front wheel is the very personification of gracefulness.

Wear loud clothes. If you have a good pair of legs—and, of course, you have—give same the prominence merited.

Never use a bell. A clyclorn is much more irritating; but, to bring out its full effect, should never be sounded until within two feet of the person to be "warned."

Lamps are only carried by idiots. Leave them, therefore, severely alone.

Never slow down unless for your own convenience. If an old woman is ridiculous enough to get in your way, knock her down. Don't hesitate about it; and satisfy your conscience—if you are conventional enough to possess such a thing—that the old woman oughtn't to have been there.

Stock your vocabulary with the choicest expletives.

If, when riding, you should happen to encounter a fellow whose machine isn't—to use your phraseology—"quite the cheese," don't attempt to disguise your contempt for it—and him. Make the most withering comment when passing (but not before) that you can think of.

Should you meet a lady cyclist don't fail to say something that will make her cheeks tingle with indignation. Remember she isn't your sister although she may be somebody else's. Be careful, however, not to do this if there's a man about. He mightn't see your joke, and it might be awkward for you.

Join a swagger cycling club. Make a particular feature of parading en masse in public places, howling your loudest. The sport, as a sport, is nothing to you; so why care for anybody?

Don't trouble yourself about road courtesies on any consideration. If you are on the wrong side of the road stick to it and let the "other fellow" do the best he can.

Where necessary ride on the footpath. In doing this keep your weather-eye well open, for the police are obstinate and might cause you some annoyance.

If you should carry a lamp don't waste money in purchasing oil or matches. Road jugginses are plentiful, and by studying "economy" you can get along like a fighting-cock.

Read up Munchausen. Cultivate the habit of telling quaint lies to your select circles of your adventures on the road. You'll find plenty of fools who'll have faith in you. * * *

Scorching is an agreeable diversion. The Holborn asphalt offers peculiar advantages for its practice. What matters if the thoroughfare is crowded; you scorch. * * *

Should you meet an elderly gentleman sedately taking the air on a trike, accost him, in passing, as a "funny old buffer on a mangle," or something equally facetious. If he has any sense of humor at all he'll appreciate your pretty wit.

Tricycles, remember, were merely invented for old women. Whenever, therefore, you meet a tricyclist give him "beans" for his femininity. (N. B.—Old Tricyclists.)—J. H. K., in Bicycling News.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS.

AT Zurich we all clothed ourselves in our captivating smiles and other necessary articles of apparel, and went to the photographer's, where a group picture was taken. Although it was feared that an attempt to photograph the crowd would prove detrimental to the instrument, the man who touched the button seemed to understand his business, and none of us had any cause to complain at the result. We visited the museum where are kept the relics of the early lake-dwellers, a race of people who inhabited Switzerland in primeval times and who built their houses on piles driven into the lakes. There was no written history connected with this ancient race, and one can form no idea why they built over the lakes instead of on the land, other than it was more convenient for them to go fishing. In the museum are curious stone implements, rude and unpolished, with which they did about the same work as we now do with metal—except, perhaps, that of shaving. Yet when one has undergone the inquisition of these present-day barbers in this land he cannot conceive how a stone razor could paralyze him more effectually. There are also articles of a later date made of copper; safety pins, hairpins, twisted horse bits, of which the modern article is but a slight modification, which in a certain measure goes to prove that "there is nothing new under the sun," unless it is, perhaps, the styles in safety bicycles. The guide to the museum seemed so thoroughly acquainted with these ancient relics, and with his quaint accent one could almost believe he had himself been one of the ancient race. Withal it was an interesting place. From Zurich we went to the beautiful Falls of the Rhine, where the huge mass of tumbling waters sent up a mist that reflected the prismatic colors of the rainbow. In the evening the illumination of the falls by electric light and of the old castle by colored fires made a most beautiful picture, and one we will long remember. It was with no little regrets that we pass out of Switzerland where so many grand, stupendous pictures had been held up to us by nature, where we had climbed over the cliffs and crags of ice or wheeled beside the calm blue lakes, or past the Alpine cottages where we had regaled ourselves with bread and milk, or where we went sailing down the miles of smooth, hard, winding roads. Such scenes a wheelman most enjoys, and there the real benefit of cycling makes itself known. One cannot realize the fine roads of Switzerland nor know the beauties of her natural grandeur until he has seen them from a bicycler's point of vantage.

Saturday night we reached Friburg and the next afternoon a few of the tourists were taken on a pleasure trip awheel through a portion of the Black Forest by the genial Mr. Romely, and when they returned late that night they were loud in their praises of the trip and their host. From here we proceeded to Triburg. Between the two places there is not much difference in the spelling but by the time we had climbed up the mountain we realized that there was quite a difference in the altitudes. But the next day's ride to Strasburg was one seldom met with. A coast of six or eight miles over a road that the rain of the night before had not only hardened but polished as well, and we flew along at the rate of four miles in three minutes—on a calmer thought it may not have been faster than three miles in four minutes—but it was a delightful ride. Before reaceing Strasburg a great Dane dog got an idea into his beastly head that bicyclists were good to eat and tried to make a meal of five of us. Luckily he was muzzled, but his attacks were far from pleasant. A convenient stone-pile hove in sight, and in two minutes the dog was buried beneath a shower of cobble-stones, and his sore ribs will be a reminder to him not to tackle a party of wheelmen again—when he is muzzled.

From Strasburg to Baden-Baden there is a perfectly level road in good condition. No climbs, no coasts, and the monotony of the ride was relieved only by a number of the boys tumbling into a stream of water which ran beside the road. At Baden-Baden they all took a bath—not because they actually needed it but because everybody does it. The baths are famous for their effective curing powers. They are nice, but "Rastus" says he has no more use for them. The attendant, who does the rubbing, took advantage of the sensitiveness of his short ribs and his squirming furnished considerable amusement for those present. He says he will grow up fat and greasy rather than undergo another ticklish inquisition as that was. The inclinations of the tourists do not seem to change much as we progress on this delightful journey. The different attractions appeal to the different minds with but little variance since we first started. There are some who on entering a new town look up the old cathedrals, some enjoy a bath and a snooze, while others steal away around the corners in search of pie shops, but none of the desired article appears. There are other good things to eat, however, and we can wait for that home-like and American institution till we return.

GOODRICH.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CLUB RUN.

A FEW days ago one of the local clubs of Buffalo had a club run upon its list to a point 40 miles distant. The start was to be made from the club house at 5 A. M. sharp." On the morning of the run one of the members arrived at the club house at 5.15, and not seeing any one about, concluded that they had all gone, so he started off to catch up. Ten minutes later two more of the members came along and not seeing any one, started off to make the run same as the first one. It was just one half hour later when three more met in front of the club house, and upon not seeing any one about they too started off. At 7 A. M. four more of the same club met and they, also, did likewise. One hour later two more made a start.

None of these parties overtook one another until they all reached the objective point.

It is needless to remark that when the last contingent arrived there was considerable fun and jollification.

"JASPER."

A THRILLING INCIDENT.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: The following, clipped from the San Francisco Chronicle of Aug. 10, 1891, is a sample of the bicycle news furnished to the California Division, L. A. W.:

"It is very seldom nowadays that one sees a really first-class rider of a 'Star' pattern machine, but —— — —— on the run of the —— —— wheelmen yesterday, showed his presence of mind and control of his wheel in a very clever manner. When climbing the grade around Srrawberry hill, in Golden Gate Park, the men were considerably startled by seeing a runaway safety, with a badly rattled 'rider,' coming straight for the column. By the time the man got pretty near the line he was going, as you may imagine, at a pretty lively clip. —— quietly rode forward until within a few feet of the man, jammed his brake tight on, lifted his little front wheel about ten inches in the air, and waited. The safety struck square amidships, the rider picked himself up, and found that not one spoke had been broken. It was about as clever a bit of riding as has been heard of for some time."

This information seems to be incomplete, and while the writer has no curiosity about the gentleman who was stopped, he is interested to know the consequence of the encounter to the "stopper;" and the following queries naturally occur: Was the stopper doing the standstill act when he caught out the runaway wheel? Did the latter machine come in contact with the stopper's person, or did it only strike him in the Star and carom on the cushion-tired imagination of the reporter? Can the reporter tell a Star from a three-legged stool? Did he ever see a bicycle?

The relation of this incident is a fair example of the rot that is written about cycling. While no one would be surprised at a space writer for furnishing such stuff to his journal, it strikes one as inappropriate for the column devoted to cycling news in a metropolitan daily. This is particularly the case when the information is furnished by a reputable cycling club.

SINGER CYCLES

A NEW PATTERN.

SINGER SAFETY, 1888 make, damaged in an accident, June, 1891.

The above is taken from a photograph of the machine sent to us by Messrs. JNO. HOWES & SONS, our Cambridge Agents, who remark: "Slightly damaged, nothing broken except a spoke or two. Rider unhurt."

An unsolicited Testimonial as to the material used in SINGER CYCLES.

AMERICAN DEPOT, 6 and 8 Berkeley Street, BOSTON, MASS.

Is it any wonder that cyclists as a class have a reputation of being chronic liars?

A few years ago a series of interesting, well-written articles appeared in the San Francisco Call over the signature "J. J. B." Since then various papers have been adopted as organs, and all have ground out the same kind of grist.

If the wheelmen of the Pacific slope wish to be regarded as men, it is about time to comb the hayseed out of their hair and print something else than fairy tales for cycling news. "MOROT."

CORRESPONDENCE.

☞ The Editors of this paper do not hold themselves responsible for the sentiments expressed in this column.

WHICH IS BEST?

To quote a woman correspondent in the St. Louis Republic, "The most vicious thing I ever saw in my life is a woman on a bicycle—and Washington is full of them." "I had thought that cigarette smoking was the worst thing a woman could do."

Now take the most conservative view of cigarette smoking you can, and is there one man or woman in an hundred who does not consider it an evil to all mankind? True, it is a great soother, so is opium; true, it is an aid to digestion after one's stomach has become used to the poison; and, nine cases out of ten, it is at the cost of several meals and a sensation equal to seasickness. It is sometimes a detriment to the eyes. It certainly induces certain head, throat, and lung troubles, and if you wish for further proof you have only to look at the younger generation universally addicted to this habit, in order to judge for yourself.

As for women who smoke, not to mention those who follow it as a national habit, I judge them, with comparatively few exceptions, to be of an admitted vicious class. Let one of those cigarette smokers go to a doctor with the supposition that they can not or will not stop smoking, and he will advise some light exercise which will open and fill the lungs with pure air and cause the purer blood to penetrate more fully throughout the system, and so gradually strengthen the heart and lungs that the result will be to check or modify the evil. If this is true of the smoker, it is also true of those who do not smoke, and it will help them proportionately.

There is no other exercise in the world that will answer these requirements to as great an extent, if used with moderation, care, and common sense, than cycling; yes, and without sacrificing dignity and grace.

More air, that means more oxygen; an exercise not too violent to cause palpitation; an exercise which causes one to use care and judgment.

If it is good for men, the same is true for women, provided it is in proportion to their strength, and for invalids the same rule holds good. Of course there are exceptions in certain diseases, or when the patient is too far gone in some vital trouble, but I have found the exceptions among the "green riders" that are given to "scorching."

Now I must question the judgment and common sense of any one who wilfully gives anything a bad name without proof, calls good Christian women "vicious," and who admits, "I don't know why I think it vicious,—it is just one of those queer things that I cannot explain." If it is a question of personal taste, say so, and advise your friends so, if you wish; but do not blackmail the many women who ride because you are unjustly prejudiced. The good ladies you abuse probably never saw you, and don't care to see you or care what you think, provided you do not publicly scandalize them in print.

I protest it is both dignified and graceful for ladies to cycle, if one is properly taught and follows up the teaching, and do not outrage any rules they would not as pedestrians. If the girl rides in bad form that can be corrected.

When last year the safety fever took hold of a certain little lady, she used mine to such an extent that I had to get out at 6 A. M. and push her round and round the block, and this together with her evening lesson at the school, and after dark (that people might not see her viciousness in its crude form). She learned to ride—at last. When she appeared one day with a safety of her own, and I had the pleasure of seeing her ride and riding with her, the wonder of it and the pleasure repaid me many times over for the trouble taken.

Once she was weak, utterly used up during the summer, yet this summer you will see her every pleasant day on her wheel, early and late, and the bloom of health replaces the pallor of sickness.

Take another case, the reverse, and quote from a letter containing a clipping as base and unjust as this "vicious" one:

"These are my views on the subject exactly. I don't think there is any disgrace in riding, and I would like to ride simply to please you. I am strongly prejudiced against it—but I know the exercise would not agree with me. I cannot walk very much. I have had to give up horseback riding almost entirely; do not imagine I am delicate, but I am not a strong woman. I would rather enjoy a cigarette with you."

Which is the best? Cigarettes or cycling? Here is food for thought.

RECOVERING STOLEN BICYCLES.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I suppose everybody has noticed one result of the popularity of cycling in the number of opportunities for stealing wheels which have recently been reported in the press and otherwise as "improved." Among other devices talked up for detecting the thieves, recovering the wheels and checking the practice, I have heard mentioned a number of times the formation of mutual reward associations. A reward is all right, if the victim feels able and mad enough to offer it, or perhaps if he has behind him an association to offer it for him, but it is not what is needed most, and I no not believe it is necessary at all. The chief necessity is that there should be some available and recognized system of placing in the hands of every wheelman, and particularly of dealers, at the earliest moment, a full description of stolen wheels. Now here is the WORLD, going each week directly to the right spots. What is the matter with instituting a rogue's column, and inserting in it all notices of stolen wheels that may be sent in, at advertising rates, unless you are sufficiently "devoted to the interests of cycling" to omit that requirement. Where is the wheelman or dealer that wouldn't lend a hand to the extent of keeping an eye out for wheels thus advertised? And what comfort could a fellow get out of a stolen wheel if he could be made to feel pretty certain that any dealer to whom he might offer it for sale, or any wheelman he might meet on the road had in his possession a full description of his booty? WM. L. CHASE.

THE RECORDS WERE MADE AT HERNE HILL.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Permit me to correct the statement going the rounds of the American press that the recent records were made at Paddington. All this year's records, the flying quarter-mile safety only excepted, were made at Herne Hill on the track on the grounds of the London County Cycling and Athletic Club, Ltd. I am, dear sir,

Yours very truly, G. LACY HILLIER,

THE PEORIA TOURNAMENT.

EVERYTHING is moving along smoothly towards the end. That is the end of the racing season and the "grand final" that the Peoria tournament is sure to give it. That the Peoria men do nothing by halves has been fully demonstrated in the years of glorious successes with which their tournaments have hitherto been met. That this year will prove no exception to the rule, and that the Peoria tournament will as usual be the greatest one of the year, is already assured by the manner in which the matter is being pushed. Although it is still early and the prize list is not yet completed, enough of it is in sight to completely obscure those of all the others. The Peorians assert that no matter what others do they will lead in everything, unless it is the money cleared by the show. Peoria will run a tournament this year on a plan that is altogether different from that of the general run. We shall not try to see how big a stake we can clear on it, but on the other hand will figure on how much we can afford to spend on our guests to give them a good time. The Peoria tournament, unlike some others, is run by the club officers for the benefit only of the club; and when they decide to run a tournament for the benefit of the guests instead of the club, visiting wheelmen can be assured of something unusually fine. Besides this the Illinois Division has concluded to take a hand in the entertainment of visitors, and Pop Brewster, Betsy B, and John L. Misner, have been appointed to make all necessary arrangements to give a grand entertainment. As to the races it is scarcely worth while to say anything, for anyone that has ever seen a race meet on the famous Peoria track knows that the races will be of the highest standard. Of course all of the flyers will be on hand as usual. In fact, Peoria is the only place at which the fast men will all come together at one time in the United States this year. Here, unnoubtedly, will be decided who is the champion of the year, and hundreds of wheelmen are looking forward with great interest to a meeting between Murphy and Barrett. As Barrett is not going East this fall that meeting will, of course, take place at Peoria; and when the racers get right down to business in a contest for a Sohmer piano, how the fur will fly. But if the writer is any judge there will be others "in it" besides Murphy and Barrett, and a most exciting contest will be the result. Come to Peoria Sept. 18th and 19th, and you will be favored with the grandest race meet that ever took place in the world, and a general good time is promised you by the Peoria Bicycle Club. "TRAVELER."

PROVIDENCE!!!

NOT dead by a good deal, but just a trifle tardy in getting in their work so far as the newspapers are concerned. The Providence men have been on the move just the same and putting in telling licks to make the tournament of 1891 superior in every respect to its predecessors.

Probably the finest made and costliest gold badges to be given this year at any race meet are the medals which are to be competed for at the Rhode Island Wheelmen's annual tournament at Providence, R. I., Sept. 5. They are fine gold; no cheap material in them. The Rhode Island Wheelmen believe in promising good prizes, and then giving good prizes. Something out of the usual line is the presentation of a valuable and handsome water urn to the bicycle club selling the largest number of tickets. An exciting contest is looked for, as a number of new clubs have sprung up and considerable rivalry exists.

The track is to be steam rolled. The roller will be at work from noon of Sept. 4 to noon of Sept. 5. The quarter-mile record made by Anthony last year on this track and the mile record by Billy Rowe of "ye olden time" will have to take their place as ancient history. The members of the club are hustling, not only to make the races a success, but also to make their visitors have a good time.

The programme of events is as follows: One-mile novice (pneumatics barred); one-mile safety novice (pneumatics barred); one-mile (open); one-mile (State safety championship); quarter-mile dash (National League championship); one-mile safety (open); three-mile team (State championship); quarter-mile dash, safety (open); two-mile handicap; one-mile tandem safety (open); one-mile team (open); one-mile 2.30 class, safety (pneumatics barred); one-mile safety handicap. Entries can be made with J. H. Talpe, 17 Tenth street, Providence, R. I.

THE SPRINGFIELD TOURNAMENT.

The Springfield Bicycle Club were not only pioneers in the bicycling world, but did much to advance the cause of and the interest in bicycling and cycle racing all along the line of years up to its famous contests of '83, '84, '85, and '86, which easily took the lead, and were among cyclists what the Harvard-Yale contests of to-day are among college athletes—the ne plus ultra.

The fact that this club after a rest of five years, with renewed strength and new material, has again caught the racing fever has caused little surprise, because it was not altogether unexpected, in fact it was inevitable. From all sides came prayers and entreaties of wheelmen to restore the famous old half-mile track, then reposing safely under a five years' growth of turf and weeds.

A prize list of $3,500 was first arranged for, but the unexpected interest and pride taken in the "Springfield revival" by local business men, and their consequent liberality resulted in a list of prizes amounting to over $4,500 and with the record prizes reaching $5,000. In addition to this, appropriations and subscriptions not far short of $3,000 have been made for the entertainment of visiting wheelmen. And the past will show that the Springfield men do not plan what they can not execute.

There are other reasons for properly calling this tournament "the event of the year," and chief among them is the one to be expressed only in the familiar words "There's only one Springfield."

There will congregate the fastest and best known men in the country, and the old tournament and track kings, who have not lost a spark of their old-time interest, will be there too, to look on with approval. The famous old track, whose smooth surface never felt the cruel tread of horse's hoof, has been repaired and will be put in as prime condition as time, money and labor can put it before the meet. Already some of the flyers are taking daily spins on the park and are perfectly satisfied with the track even in its present condition, and everything indicates that many a record will be lowered to a position of safety for another year.

The program of races has long been given to the racing public and has already met their hearty approval, and the list of prizes given below will speak for themselves.

The management has been charged with advertising "a la Barnum," as if there might be a tinge of opprobrium in the charge, but we all know that Barnum was the king of advertisers while he lived, and the one secret of his success in this was that he advertised well what he had, and always gave what he advertised to give "the greatest show on earth."

BOSTON WHEELMEN, TAKE NOTICE.

An excursion rate for the tournament has been obtained from Boston of $3.35 for the round trip, including admission to park. Should there be any number of wheelmen from Boston and vicinity, it is quite likely that arrangements can be made for bringing wheels free. In order that some idea may be obtained of the number wishing to do so, wheelmen are requested to notify A. D. Peck, Jr., with Pope Mfg. Co., Boston, if they intend bringing wheels.

The regatta to be given on the Connecticut river Sept. 10 and 11 by the Springfield Boat Club and the Springfield Canoe Club, in connection with the bicycle tournament, has assumed proportions that were hardly expected at first. The boat races will be rowed under the supervision of President Quilty of the S. B. C., while Commodore Emil C. Knappe will superintend all the canoe races. It is announced that the training school crew will row the best amateur quartet of the S. B. C. in four-oared gigs.

Beside the cash prizes offered for the professional races, the committee announces that it has secured from local merchants the following prizes for the amateur races: Two racing canoes, valued respectively at $150 and $175; a bicycle, value $150; a gold watch, value $75; fishing outfits, revolvers, and other valuable articles, which, with the cash prizes, will bring the total amount of prizes up to $1000.

The route is selected with great care and the distances are so arranged that the majority of miles will be covered before dinner which will be served at the Carroll House, Clarksville, at 1.30 P. M. Arrangements have been made to supply refreshments at Louisiana, Bowling Green, and at each toll gate on the Belt road.

The average speed will not be over eight miles per hour and this can be easily maintained over these elegant gravel roads. Participants riding ahead of the pace maker will be disqualified. The route is as follows: Louisiana north on Frankford road to the Ten-mile House and then return to Louisiana, distance 20 miles. Refreshments at Louisiana. Then west to Ashley, via Bowling Green, and return to Louisiana, distance 34 miles. After dinner the ride will be resumed to Dover, 7 miles, and then to Rockford and return, 6 miles, making a total distance of 91 miles. The finish will be over the 9 1-2 miles of down grade into Louisiana, where all are expected to arrive at 7.30 P. M., in time for supper. This will give every participant ample time to catch the trains for home.

The morning programme for the first day, Aug. 29th, include the usual parade, photograph, Division business meeting, and a swim at the Louisiana Mineral Spring Co.'s bath house.

The prizes won in the afternoon will be presented at a banquet to be held at 7 P. M. at the Palmer House. The price of tickets is $1.50, and it will be a first-class affair. The Palmer House special rate of $1.75 will be allowed on presentation of League tickets. "LINNEUS."

THE Banker & Campbell Co. of New York are "under a cloud." The Sheriff took possession of their establishment in New York last Saturday.

If alive, Philip, the Fair, King of France, would be a man to delight the hearts of a good many bicycle makers of to-day. Phil didn't believe in luxurious modes of locomotion. He wanted his adherents to be good and tough. If ride they must, he thought such vehicles and steeds as would jolt their bones and rattle their teeth the proper caper. Carriages he considered entirely too luxurious for common folk. If they came into general use, his people might enjoy life too royally. In therefore, Philip decided that such a possibility should be thwarted, and he up and issues a royal edict "for the suppression of luxury," specially forbidding the use of carriages save by those of the highest rank. But the people were ag'in Philip. They knew a good thing when they tried it; appreciated luxury as well as royalty, and carriages they would and did have. And say, if the carriages of those days were considered luxurious, wouldn't it be interesting to know King Phil's idea of the Rambler bicycle of to-day, with its incomparable combination of spring frame and cushioned tire?

"FEW ARE TRIED BUT WHAT ARE CHOSEN," is what they say of the Rambler. "Luxurious" is its very by-word.

MAINE DIVISION FALL MEET.

At the spring meet of the Maine Division at Belfast it was decided by vote to have the fall meet at Portland on Labor Day, Sept. 7th; and at the request of the Portland Wheel Club permission was granted to allow the races to be given under the auspices of that club.

Bicycle racing in Maine is yet in its infancy, but interest is increasing, and in view of the careful preparations being made by the Portland Club there is no doubt some fine events will be witnessed Labor Day on the Woodfords Park. Following is a list of the races:

*Half-mile novice, ordinary, (best 2 in 3); *half-mile novice, safety, (best 2 in 3); one-mile State championship, ordinary; one-mile State championship, safety; one-mile open, ordinary (best 2 in 3); one-mile open, safety (best 2 in 3); quarter-mile dash, safety (open to Maine riders); *potato race; *two-mile team race, safety (open to Maine clubs.)

*Pneumatics barred.

MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION MEET.

COTTAGE CITY was once more the scene of the annual summer meet of the Bay State Division and about 400 members showed up.

At 10 A. M. the Chief Consul and local consuls held a meeting but simply routine work was done and nothing of startling importance. In the afternoon the visitors and the Cottage City nine played a game of base ball at Waban Park and the wheelmen had to bow down before their conquerors, who piled up a score of 40, as against 3 for the cyclers. It was a game that, while not satisfying as an exhibition of science, caused lots of fun for the spectators.

The second day of the meet was quiet during the forenoon. The first event was the swimming match which took place at 11.30 A. M. The course was about 100 yards and C. E. G. Record, of Somerville, who was a strong favorite and the winner of last year's swimming match, again won handily, A. E. Thomas of New Bedford being second.

The coasting contest took place at 3 P. M. in the afternoon. The start was made from the top of School street hill. The winner was W. B. McWilliams, who succeeded in covering the most ground before he stopped. The second best man was T. H. Tully, and F. C. Nichols took third.

The road race was for three miles. The start was made from the new monument and led towards West Chop. There were six starters. The race was won by Milton I. Dean, Fall River, in 10m. 25s., with J. W. Robertson, of Taunton, second, and J. S. Cartwright, Somerville, third.

The ball in the evening at the Casino was a great success and that success was principally due to the indefatigable efforts of the following gentlemen: Mr. Carl P. Cubberly, floor director; Messrs. A. W. Robinson, E. P. J. Morton, A. D. Peck, Jr., G. W. Smith and F. G. McCausland, aids.

A big crowd was in attendance, all L. A. W. members having been given tickets to the affair. Almost all the wheelmen appeared in "breeches and hose" and the ladies in their pretty gowns made a most delightful picture of color.

At 8.30 Mr. Cubberly and Miss Carrie Haynes of Boston led the grand march, and from that time until well into the morning of Saturday the worshippers of Terpsichore held merry carnival.

Saturday dawned with some slight indications of a wet day but good luck was with the cyclers and the programme of the day was carried out to the letter.

At 10 A. M. the parade was formed with A. W. Robinson as Chief Marshal. The number in line is estimated at about 350. The Fitchburg band in a barge behind the marshals and aids lent life and sound to the silently moving wheelmen. The chief marshal of the ladies' division, 40 in number, was Miss Marion D. Bassett, and her chief of staff was Miss Sadie Stall. A tremendous crowd witnessed the parade, and the ladies came in for a share of applause which would have filled the heart of Bishop Coxe with dismay. The New Bedford Club took the prize for having the largest number (32) of L. A. W. men in line. The Taunton Club was named as the club making the best appearance. Much favorable remark was made on the fine appearance of the Lynn Club, though five in number. After the parade the usual photo was taken. The rain came down in torrents for about an hour or two and it looked bad for the races and the lantern parade, but at 3 P. M. old Sol came out and partially drove the clouds away. An immense crowd gathered to see the races. Results:

Safety, novice—L. D. Whittemore, Allston, first, 2m. 56s.; T. C. Grimes, Springfield, second.

Safety, open—J. S. Cartwright, Somerville, first, 2m. 56 3-5s.; L. D. Whittemore, Allston, second.

Ordinary, novice—Charles J. Keene, Easthampton, first, 3m. 13s.; H. J. Wild, second.

Safety, open, pneumatic tires allowed—D. Connell, Dorchester, first, 2m. 44 3-5s.; J. S. Cartwright, Somerville, second.

One of the most interesting events of the meet was the lantern parade, which was made on foot and not on cycles. The committee in charge laid themselves out on this feature, Sterling Elliott and W. W. Griffin having charge. The cottagers aided much in securing a brilliant effect by illuminating very generally, Circuit and Ocean avenue being especially beautiful. The streets were just jammed. C. E. Culver as an active and inquisitive red devil, and Carl Cubberly as a skeleton, made fun near the head of the procession. T. F. Tulley as the Lone Fisherman was excellent, and he was awarded first prize as the best character. J. M. McKim as a "jim dandy girl" came in for a lot of applause, as also did Martin and Jones as clowns, and J. F. Coxe as a resplendent Chinaman. The Fitchburg Club as giddy young girls were a striking feature, and the Cambridge Club with fools' caps and long white robes were "in it." Taunton with its immense fish lanterns and queer cries was not lost sight of. The parade was a brilliant success, and the originality in the display of costumes and decorations has never been equalled, all of which is mainly due to the efforts of Elliott and Griffin.

LINCOLN CLUB ROAD RACE.

LAST Saturday was a gala and eventful day for the Lincoln Cycling Club, the occasion being the annual handicap ten-mile road race of the club. This is the event around which the work of the club centres for the year, and the winners in yesterday's contest will wear the club medals and be looked upon as the crack riders until a similar event in 1892. Good records were made, and the winners won by no chance, for those who entered did so with an eye on the medals, and rode with the intention of making a record.

The route chosen was principally along the famous Sheridan drive and Lake Shore drive, connecting with Lincoln park at its northern limit. The start was made on North Halsted street, one block north of Belmont avenue, thence north to Evanston avenue, along Evanston avenue to Sheridan drive, to a point one mile north of Edgewater, then a return on the same route, reaching Lake Shore drive on Belmont avenue, and finishing opposite the Grant monument in the park. A better course could scarcely be found in the city, almost every foot being finely macadamized boulevard.

There were thirty entries and twenty-four starters. The greatest interest was centred in the struggle for the time medal of the club, the riding being based on solid tire riding.

Promptly at 4.30, Starter J. M. Erwin began to call off the starters, and everybody got away without a hitch or delay, the men with the heavy handicaps being far out of sight before the scratch men were called upon. Everything went smoothly until the turning point at Edgewater, with Charles Swinscoe in the lead, followed by Harry Pound, D. B. Southern, C. C. Walton, and Gustav Zeese in the order named. Immediately after passing the turning point Swinscoe's chain came off and he dropped out. D. B. Southern and Gustav Zeese, who were third and fifth respectively at the turning point, forged ahead and maintained their positions until the end, Southern winning first place and second time medal, and Zeese carrying off the second place medal. Following is the summary:

No.	Name.	Tire.	Handicap.	Time.	No. Time.
1	D. B. Southern, cushion		2.45	32.47	2
2	G. Zeese, cushion		3	33 35	5

NEW WORLD'S RECORDS.

THE PARK AVENUE WHEELMEN INAUGURATE A NEW COURSE IN PHILADELPHIA.

ON Saturday afternoon, Aug. 15th, the Park Avenue Wheelmen held their second annual five-mile road race on the course laid out by the club officials, from the Episcopal church at Bryn Mawr to the finish on Montgomery avenue, 100 yards below city line. This avoids the turn at Black Horse hotel, into which the century course swung, and which necessitated a loss of several seconds. The new course had been christened the Park avenue course, and is bound to be known throughout cycledom, as it is one of the best in the country for road records, being a five-mile straightaway, with comparatively few upgrades, and those few counterbalanced by long gentle slopes downward.

There were over thirty entries, but not all of these started, twenty-three men finishing, with time taken for the first eighteen.

The start was made precisely at 3 57 by the limit, and at 4.13.10 S. H. Bilyeu, who had 45s. handicap over the scratch man. Draper, who started at 4 o'clock, came rushing down the Telford surface, closely followed by Kelly, with Van Deusen a good third. The pace had been terrific, the riders being favored by a breeze on their backs, while the road was perfect, but no one had any idea that the best time ever made on the road had been accomplished, until the figures were announced. Then it was found that the three men named had all gotten inside the best previous figure on the road, being 14.32, made by Taxis and Zimmerman last September over the Lancaster pike course. The order of finish together with the net times and handicaps was as follows:

S. H. Bilyeu (45s. start) first; actual riding time, 13m. 55s.; V. J. Kelly (45), 13m. 57s.; I. Van Deusen (45), 14m.; H. Gill (1m.), 14m. 43s.; E. O. Roe (1.15), 15m. 2s.; G. W. Freeman (1.45), 15m. 32 1-4s.; C. E. Persch (3m.), 17m.; E. W. Bair (1.30), 15m. 30 1-2s.; H. O. Douglass (1.30), 15m, 31 1-2s.; W. J. Declin (1.30), 15m. 53 1-2s.; J. F. Emery, Jr., (2.15), 16m. 24s.; W. T. Bilyeu (1.15), 15m. 38s.; J. H. Draper (scratch), 14m. 40s.; C. H. Thomas (2m.), 16m. 40 1-2s.

The others who finished were H. M. Stanford, 16.41; O. S. Bunnell, 16.39; M. B. Reeves, 17.11; T. F. Hatcher, 17.13; F. Conway, C. Asam; W. T. Reynolds and H. Stanert.

The officials were: Referee, H. B. Hart; scorers, A. L. Webster and D. R. Perkinpine; starters, A. G. Powell and L. Barsuglia; timers, H. A. Cain, J. Artman and W. Welch; judges, H. Crowther and R. A. French.

Bilyeu and Kelly both rode pneumatics, while Van Deusen was on a cushion.

THE TANDEM RECORD GOES.

The weather continuing favorable over Sunday, Draper and Kelly determined to have a try for the tandem figures; so Monday afternoon was chosen, and precisely at 4.59.59 they were sent off by the starters, and paced by W. H. Smith, Atlantic City Wheelmen; J. R. Hazleton, Century Wheelmen; and H. L. Douglas, I. Van Deusen, and W. N. Beatty, Park Avenue Wheelmen. They crossed the line in 13.10, breaking all road records. There is no question as to the correctness of the distance, as it has been accurately measured, but in order to settle all cavil a surveyor's certificate will be issued. The men rode a tandem fitted with cushion tires.

The officials were as follows: Judges, H. Crowther, Pennsylvania and Park Avenue clubs; M. Stotz, Oxford; J. C. Detwiler, Mt. Vernon; timers at start: O. S. Bunnell, P. A. W., and A. G. Lowell, Penna.; timers at finish: D. R. Perkinpine, Oxford Wheelmen; H. W. Schlichter, A. C. S. N.; J. B. Fontaine, Jr., Columbia Cyclers.

"ARIEL."

Philadelphia, Aug. 17, 1891.

THE ILLINOIS ROAD RACE.

B. A. COLEMAN won the Illinois Cycling club's annual ten-mile handicap road race last Saturday afternoon from the 4.30 mark. Coleman rode a safety and finished in an exhausted condition. He is a tall, muscular young man, and was truly a dark horse. The course was from a point on Humboldt boulevard at the corner of Homan avenue, east and north to Humboldt park, thence around the inner circle and back past the starting point, through Garfield park, to Douglas park and return—just ten miles.

At the start fully a thousand people had gathered. Over two-score racers toed the mark, and thirty-seven of these finished. Tuttle was handicapped one minute, riding that time behind scratch. Unfortunately he rode the wrong course, going away around the outside boulevard in Douglas park, and consequently was hardly in it at the finish. Charley Knisely and Charley Gray had a red-hot fight for the time medal. They started together and never separated, finishing within one-fifth of a second of each other, both inside the ten-mile record time—30.44—their time being 30.09 and 30.09 1-5. Providing this course proves exactly ten miles, this record will stand, and the officials say it will.

The order kept at the starting point was perfect and everything passed off very nicely. Bob Garden said as good as any Pullman. There were eighty-two entries and forty-two prizes, which were presented in the evening. The prizes were numerous and costly, consisting of gold medals for fastest time and second time; also a gold medal for the first safety in. The prizes embraced almost everthing from silk umbrellas to half a dozen watermelons. Following is the summary:

No.	Name.	No. time.	Handicap.	Time.	Tire used.
1	R. A. Coleman	6	3.10	32.35	Infl. cushion
2	C. T. Knisely	1	.15	30.09	Infl. cushion

HALF-MILE RECORD BEATEN AT SPRINGFIELD.

THE Springfield bicycle track made its debut for the season of 1891, Aug. 15, and showed that it is just as hungry for records as of old and that it is fully equipped to do business right along. It is at the "old stand," Hampden Park, and any one in search of records will be given the best opportunity for the purpose that can be found anywhere in this country.

A. A. Zimmerman of the New York Athletic Club was the first customer in search of records, and Aug. 15 attempted to break Windle's record of 1.10 4-5 for the half-mile and succeeded. Zimmerman had for pacemakers W. F. Murphy and A. B. Rich. Murphy took him for the first quarter and Rich was to have picked him up at the second quarter, but as Rich described it afterwards "it was z-zip and he had gone." As a consequence of Rich failing to pick up Zimmerman, the latter, whose original intent was to continue for the full mile, limited himself to a half mile. Rich not only failed to pick him up, but got in his way, handicapping him seriously thereby, but Zimmerman nevertheless made the distance in 1.10 3-5, thus breaking the American record one-fifth of a second.

W. F. Murphy tried for Hoyland Smith's two-mile record of 5.23, but as he desired to make the effort without pace makers, he failed to cover the distance within eight seconds.

W. W. Windle and Hoyland Smith are now here and will do a bit of record breaking work.

THE AMERICAN MILE RECORD.

ON Monday last, the 17th, W. F. Murphy, at Springfield, cut the American mile record from 2.26 1-5 to 2.23 2-5. He also cut the half and three-quarter mile American safety to 1.09 3-5, and 1.45 3-5 respectively. W.

MEET AT ROCHESTER.

WITHOUT question the ninth annual meet of the New York State Division of the League of American Wheelmen, which was held in Rochester on Wednesday and Thursday, was the most successful meet ever held in this State.

The opening event on Wednesday was the run to Genesee Valley Park, which was participated in by a large number. At 10 o'clock the column formed on So. Clinton street for the grand parade, and at 10.30 the procession moved as follows: Pace Makers and platoon of mounted police, Fifty-Fourth Regiment Band, Grand Marshal W. S. Bull and staff. Genesee Bicycle Club, Rochester, 60 men. Century Bicycle Club, Syracuse, 30 men. Syracuse Cycling Club, 55 men. West End Bicycle Club, Rochester, 50 men. Crescent Cycle Club, Rochester, 70 men. Ladies' Auxiliary, Crescent Cycle Club, Rochester, and visiting ladies, 25 in all. Kanewecla Cycling Club, Elmira, 40 men. Wanderers Bicycle Club, Buffalo, 60 men. Batavia Wheelmen, 10 men. Rochester Bicycle Club, 50 men. Albany Bicycle Club, 20 men. Flower City Wheelmen, 75 men. Buffalo Bicycle Club, 40 men. Zigzag Club, Buffalo, 10 men. Lockport Wheelmen, 15 men. Ramblers' Bicycle Club, Buffalo, 20 men. Cortland Wheelmen, 6 men. Binghamton Wheelmen's Club, 20 men. Lake View Wheelmen, Rochester, 150 men. Lake View Juniors, 15 boys. Ramblers Bicycle Club, Rochester, 60 men. Ladies' Auxiliary of Ramblers Club, Rochester, 6 ladies. Clyde Cycle Club, 6 men. Utica Cycling Club, 12 men. Auburn Cyclers, 12 men. Rovers Bicycle Club, Tonawanda, 8 men. Y. M. C. A. Wheelmen, Rochester, 50 men. Unattached wheelmen, 50 men. Total 975.

After the parade the wheelmen had their picture taken on the bank of the Genesee river near Seneca Park bridge. From there they adjourned to dinner, and at 1.30 o'clock the races began at the Driving Park, and they were witnessed by a large crowd estimated to be 4000 in number. The results of the races are as follows:

One-mile novice—F. A. Tracy, Rochester, first; G. E. Montgomery, Rochester, second; W. H. Nobles, Rochester, third; E. A. Carpenter, Rochester, fourth. Time 3.15 1-5.

One-mile open, safety—W. W. Windle, B. A. C., first; P. J. Berlo, M. A. C., second; W. F. Murphy, third. Time 2.47 2-5.

One-mile, 3.10 class, ordinary—B. R. Trenaman, Rochester, first; G. E. Montgomery, Rochester, second; P. J. Dukelow, Rochester, third.

Two-mile handicap, safety—C. M. Murphy, N. Y. A. C., 160 yards, first; J. A. Wiborn, Rochester, 200 yards, second; F. H. Smith, Rochester, 250 yards, third. Time first mile, 2.26 2-5; second mile, 5.19 1-5. This was a pretty race, but was too much for the scratch men who started, W. W. Windle and Hoyland Smith, and they were unable to overcome the handicapped men.

One-mile city championship, ordinary—F. T. Servis, first; C. J. Iven, second; E. E. Servis, third. Time 51 2-5, 1.36 4-5, 2.19 4-5, 2.56 3-5. Iven was picked as the winner, but the last spurt on the stretch by F. T. Servis was too much, and he won an easy second.

Two-mile open, tandem—F. M. Brinker, W. D. Banker, B. A. C., first; W. H. Penseyres, C. W. Dorntge, B. A. C., second. The two Murphys and Berlo and Worden were down on the card but for some reason not known they withdrew. This was by far the best race of the day and Brinker and Banker won by a bare two inches. The spectators were very much excited over the close finish. Time first mile, 3.09 2-5, second, 5.58 2-5.

Quarter-mile open, ordinary—A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., first; W. W. Taxis, A. C. S. N., second; A. B. Arnold, M. A. C., third. Time 36.1-5.

One-mile, 2.50 class, safety—F. M. Brinker, B. A. C., first; W. Conolly, Rochester, second; B. R. Penaman, Rochester, third. Time 2.41 3-5. As the time indicates, this race was a decided loaf.

Five-mile open, safety—W. W. Windle, B. A. C., first; P. J. Berlo, M. A. C., second; C. W. Dorntge, B. A. C., third. Time for miles, 3.01 2-5, 6.02 3-5, 9.03, 12.28 4-5, and 15.20. It was a pretty finish between Windle and Berlo, and was won by only a few feet.

Two-mile Rochester city championship team race, ordinary, three men from each club. This race was won by the Rochester Athletic Club, which was represented by E. E. Servis, F. T. Servis and P. J. Dukelow; they scored 37 points. The Flower City Wheelmen, F. F. Kammer, B. R. Trenamen, and F. A. Tracy, riding; second, 29 points. The Genesee Club, C. J. Iven, G. E. Montgomery, and C. B. Kies, third; they scored 24 points.

One-mile handicap, ordinary—W. W. Taxis, A. C. S. N., 40 yards, first; A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., scratch, second; A. B. Arnold, M. A. C., 50 yards, third. Time 2.35 4-5. Zimmerman broke the American amateur record in open competition, his time was 2.35 4-5, the former record being 2.36. He was loudly cheered for his magnificent riding.

One-mile professional ordinary—C. J. Appel, Rochester, first; Canary, second; W. H. Barber, third. Time 2.56 3-5.

The prize offered for the largest League club in line in uniform during the parade was won by the Syracuse Cycling Club.

The prize for the largest non-League club uniformed in the parade was won by the Ramblers of Buffalo. There was a squabble between them and the Buffalo Bicycle Club for the prize, as both clubs had the same number of men in line. It was given to the Ramblers because they had the largest number of uniformed men in line.

Thursday's races will be as exciting as those of the preceding day, and a large crowd will witness the sport. W. N. R.

[We had the above sent through by special, and held the paper so that we could get Wednesday's races.—ED.]

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT BUFFALO, N. Y.—On Tuesday the 11th, the Wanderers Bicycling Club, held at Buffalo, N. Y., the fifth of their series of club races. They consisted of two five-mile races as first and second class. There were but three contestants in the first race, G. G. Buse, John H. Christian with his ordinary, and Will Buse. The Buse Bros. rode safeties.

They started from scratch and kept well together until the sixth lap of the half-mile track, where Christian took a fall; he soon remounted and finished second. G. G. Buse first.

There were also three contestants in the second race, W. H. Beier, Edward Young, and William Naab. All started off from the scratch and Naab took the lead for 2 1-2 miles, when Beier forged ahead and finished first; E. Young, second.

The heavy rains of the previous days had made the track very poor, and in some places very soft, coupled with a strong wind on the home stretch rendered it impossible for any fine time to be made. The time for the first race was 20m 30s.; for the second, 20m.

The Wanderers will on Labor Day have a 25-mile road race from Pin Hill to Mill Grove and return. It will be for club members only and for which there will be three badges as prizes. "JASPER."

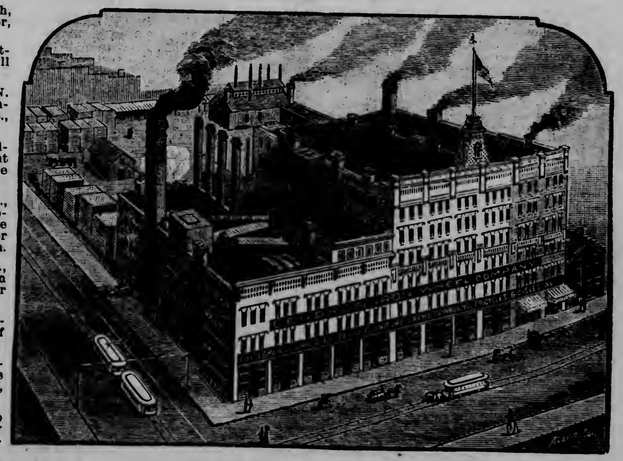
Extract from the Honolulu Daily Bulletin of July 23, 1891



THE CABINET CHANGE.

"AN official announcement is made of the appointment by Her Majesty of Hon. J. Mott Smith to be Minister of Finance in place of Hon. H. A. Widemann, resigned. Owing to the continued ill health of the late incumbent, the Premier has for some time been acting Minister of Finance. With a Cabinet of only four Ministers it is of course a drawback to have one of them laid aside from active service, however well the affairs of his department may be conducted by another Minister and the chief of the departmental staff. Important questions of general government are liable to arise any day, which it is due to the country should be considered by a complete Cabinet Council. Sound public policy has therefore directed the Queen in making the change in question, which it is understood the retiring Minister has for some time been urging.

'It will hardly be disputed that Mr. Widemann's retirement will be regarded with general regret' * * *

At the same time there will no doubt be general concurrence of moderate men in the choice of Dr. Smith for the position. He is not new to the duties, having been Finance Minister of the interior in former times. He was also a member of the House of Nobles under the old Constitution, faithful to duty and with a voice always for what he deemed the best interests of the country. His Excellency is also credited with considerable diplomatic tact, which, with his age and public experience, ought to give assurance that he will be a safe administrator of the national finances. In the meantime we congratulate the honorable gentleman on his accession, feeling glad that the community has recovered a genial gentleman after a long absence, and the nation had restored to it one of its old-time public men, who have by death and departure from the country been sadly diminishing from view in the past few years."

GENDRON WHEEL WORKS.

A short time ago it was our privilege to make a tour through the mammoth plant of the Gendron Iron Wheel Co., at Toledo. We had known for years that this firm enjoyed the reputation of being the largest manufacturers of children's vehicles in the world, but unless we had ourselves gone through their works we could not have realized their immense capacity. The main factory building has a frontage of 220 x 100 feet, and is devoted entirely to manufacturing, their warehouses for storing finished goods being on adjoining streets. They employ at present 700 workmen, which is a small number considering the very large output. Through their works may be seen interesting machinery used in the manufacture of wire wheels and other articles in their line. These machines are of their own invention and built in their own tool room, which is said to be the best equipped tool room in the West. The unique method they have employed in utilizing electricity and natural gas is certainly very interesting.

About two years ago when the firm announced their intention to go into the manufacture of a high grade of safety bicycles, their friends knew it had no small meaning. The result fully verifies that belief, for their equipment in this new department is perfect. The various branches of it are in charge of men of long experience in the manufacture of high grade cycles. They have this season a very fine line of wheels on the market which are giving splendid satisfaction. In answer to an inquiry a short time ago they report that they are covered up with orders, but are crowding their works for all they can do. We predict a great future for this branch of their business. Its output will be very heavy when that perfect system prevails in all its branches which time alone can give to any plant, and which is so well illustrated in the old departments of their works.

"UNIONS" FOR EVER!

WELL, well! What coasting! There were only five Unions entered in the great coasting match out of a field of 18 at Cottage City last week, and the Unions finished 1, 2, 3, 4, 5! How's that for a list of the easy running qualities of a machine. Five starters on Unions and not another wheel in the whole field which could pass the "Union." This certainly was a grand showing, and the "Union" representatives at Cottage City were naturally highly gratified.

AMONG GOTHAM'S DEALERS.

NUMBER TWO.

THERE is no better known sporting goods house in the country than that of Messrs. Peck & Snyder, of 124, 126, 128, and 130 Nassau street, New York City. I have yet to find the bicycle department of any establishment that receives more attention from the hands of its manager than theirs does from Mr. Wm. B. Stedwell, who is in charge. His entire time is devoted to this branch of the business, and it has shown a wonderful growth since it has been in his hands, since about 1885.

The string of stores is given up entirely to athletic and sporting goods and number 124 to bicycles and sundries. The walls are lined with wheels and the windows full. New ones are constantly coming in and going out, and the scene is a busy one.

Mr. A. Peck, the head of the firm, is now in Europe, arranging for the entire American agency for the Raleigh, of which there is now no more popular wheel abroad. Its great success upon the track and road has created quite a demand for it among the racing men in this country. The firm has imported several for the use of prominent riders and the machines, though they have been on the road only a few days, are already getting in their good work. H. J. Hall, Jr., who broke the ten-mile amateur record on last Saturday was mounted on a twenty-seven pound racer, which came through in perfect shape. Zimmerman is now training for the safety races on a machine of the same class and doing well. Bensinger is also training on a thirty-two pound Raleigh pneumatic, and will be in the fall tournaments.

Among the other wheels handled by the firm are the Victors, Credendas, Columbias, Hartfords, Crescent, Rob Roy, and any number of cheap wheels. A large lot of sundries is exhibited, and an unexcelled supply of shoes and uniforms. Altogether, it is very easy to arrive at the fact that the cycle department of Peck & Snyder is one of the best to be found in New York.

"KERLUMBIA."

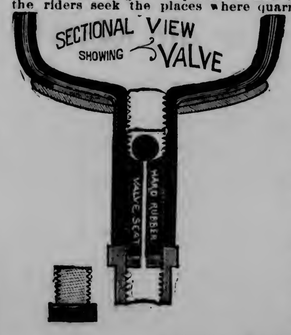
THE S. P. (STRAUS PATENT) CUSHION TIRE.

THE New York Belting & Packing Company (Limited), 15 Park Row, New York City, extensive manufacturers of vulcanized rubber goods, are out with a new cushion tire. It is known as the S. P. (Straus Patent) cushion tire with reinforced hole. In the first cushion tires offered to the bicycle riding public, the hole was made as large as three-quarters of an inch in diameter. At the present time dealers and manufacturers are calling for a hole as small as one-quarter of an inch. Their desire is to obtain a stiff tire which will not cut from the action of the rim against it. "Stiffness," says the Belting Co., "obtained in this way can only be had at the expense of the cushion, and the tire is therefore little better than a solid tire, except in the matter of weight."

The S. P. cushion tire, it is claimed by the New York Belting & Packing Company (Limited) gives the desired stiffness while retaining the elasticity necessary in a perfect bicycle tire. It is done by reinforcing the hole and without reducing its diameter. This reinforcing they say also overcomes any possibility of the tire cracking from the inside, as the hole, which is the weakest part in the old form cushion tire, is made the strongest in the S. P., a most excellent point.

THE SERCOMBE & BOLTE MFG. CO.

Milwaukee, Wis.



We present to-day cuts and full description of the "Bolte Indestructible Pneumatic Tire." The leading feature is the fact that there is no cloth or canvas cemented around the inside of the rim, but the metal of the rim is exposed the same as on any solid or cushion tire machine. The "Bolte" Pneumatic has no inner expansible tube; the tire is cemented the same as any cushion or solid, the linen duck which forms the principal feature of the main tube being vulcanized in layers around a 1-8 inch thick inner coating of rubber. The thickness of the tire at the tread A.A. (referring to the cut) is not so great as on the ordinary pneumatic, but in place of a thick body of rubber the "Indestructible" has five thicknesses of twilled linen duck wrapped in such a way as to bring the laps over each other at the tread where the puncture is liable to occur, and making punctures practically impossible. In case of puncture, the laps are pulled off from the inner tube in the same manner as they were put on before being vulcanized, until the last layer of linen, which is one continuous strip running around next to the inner tube E, is reached. This linen strip must not be removed from the inner tube to which it is securely vulcanized, but in case of puncture, which is almost impossible, a small triangular opening is made by cutting two slits one-half inch each in length at right angles with each other directly over the puncture, as shown in cut, care being taken not to cut through the inner rubber covering. The lip can then easily be pulled off and a patch of gum rubber applied to the exposed puncture in the usual way, and the laps cemented back in place. The valves which are impervious against leaks, and the other troubles that have beset pneumatic tire machines are so constructed that the air may be released instantly after unscrewing the cap which is kept screwed down against the hard rubber seat within.

"BOLTE" PNEUMATIC, Style C, Showing Outer Cover Detached.

Up to this date the "Bolte" Indestructible Pneumatic have been applied to only four safeties; some of them have been run over 1000 miles, and such a thing as a puncture has never been known, although the riders seek the places where quarry stone, broken glass, tacks and jack-snipes abound. Its capacity for holding air seems to be without limit, as it has never been necessary to use a pump on any of the tires in use after they were inflated for the first time.

The Sercombe & Bolte Mfg. Co. are now making these tires in three different sizes, viz. 2 inch for road use, 1 3-4 for light roadsters, and 1 5-8 for racing machines. The company claim they are considerable lighter in weight than any other pneumatic tires of the same class. Their patents cover not only the construction of their tires, but the process of manufacture as well, and we are informed that the stock company which they are now forming for the manufacture and construction of these tires will be of proportions capable of filling all orders with great promptness.

HARRY LEMMINGS, the famous English trainer, has entered the employ of the Coventry Machinists' Co., Chicago. He has engaged to train Bode and Tuttle for the fall races, and with them expects to capture many prizes. They both ride Swift machines. Bode, he says, will come away under 2.30 this fall, providing he can get Featherstone to put on a pair of tires in good enough shape.

THE Rouse-Duryea Cycle Co., Peoria, Ill., report they will be able to fill orders for the Sylph for the balance of the season. There is no question but what their machine possesses many merits and the purchasers will do well to investigate them before purchasing.

All members who joined the Pennsylvania Division and names were published in BULLETIN before July 1, have had a copy of the road book mailed them; and if they have failed to receive it it must be their address is wrongly registered at this office, and they will please report. As the supply of Road Books is exhausted, and the Road Book Committee are about to take active steps for a new edition, it is a question if we should have more of the old edition printed to supply the demand. When it is definitely known what time the new edition can be furnished it will be announced. In the mean time any new member having use for a book, and not being able to borrow one of some older member, by writing me I can probably secure him the loan of one.

431—Missouri Division—500.

To Consuls and Members:

Sixty-nine names are yet needed to reach the 500 mark, and you are earnestly requested to lend a hand in the work. The bright, long days of summer will soon be past, and we want to make hay while the sun shines. After the date of this publication there will be only one week left in the glorious month of August in which you can show the good work you are capable of in the way of recruiting. Let us make a resolve to each get one new member for that week so as to make it a red letter week in the history of Division as far as applications are concerned. If you will all assist, the 500 milestone will be passed in a jiffy. Move lively now.

ROBERT HOLM,
Chief Consul.

Kentucky Division.

Additional Local Consuls and League hotels have been appointed as follows:

Midway—Max Wilson.

Frankfort—Hotel Kenyon, $1.50 a day.

Newport—Mrs. Pierce's boarding house, $1.50 a day.

Perryville—Perryville Hotel, $1.25 a day.

Local Consuls are urged to continue the missionary work so well begun. Kentucky last week had 288 members. Let us make it 400 by the 1st of January. We can do it if present members will exert tnemselves a little. G. E. JOHNSON, Sec.-Treas.

Ohio Membership.

Aug. 15, 1890—Ohio, 1055.
Aug. 15, 1891—Ohio, 1554.
Increase 499 or 47 percent.
Still 446 short of the desired 2000.

Can you help us get that many more new members before Christmas? You are, no doubt, aware that we are getting out a new Hand Book of the State, which will contain accurate maps of each county, together with a letter press description of the roads? Well, that's just what we are doing, and furthermore, a copy of it when completed is to be given, yes, given, to each member of the Division. This surely ought to be an inducement for new members to join, and if you will make use of that argument you surely ought to have no trouble in securing recruits. Fraternally,

Aug. 15, 1891. M. A. HIGH, Chief Consul.

Wisconsin Declination.

I hereby decline the nomination as candidate for office of Secretary and Treasurer Wisconsin Division, L. A. W. Yours fraternally,

W. J. CASEY, L. C.

Green Bay, Aug. 11, 1891.

Transportation.

At a meeting of the National Baggage Master's Association held in Boston a resolution was passed requesting the General Passenger Agents to discontinue the free carriage of wheels. The effect of this resolution was destroyed by the action of Mr. Chas. O. Scull, G. P. A. of the Baltimore and Ohio R. R., who announced that regardless of the actions of others, the B. and O. would continue to carry wheels free.

ALBERT MOTT,
Chairman Transportation Com.

August 13, 1891.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. Jersey Fitting originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.

Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25 For sale by Wheelman Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

CYCLING

— FOR —

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

THE SPIRAL FLEXIBLE TOE CLIP

Is flexible and easy on the foot. Adjusts to any size of foot or pedal. Stands any amount of blows, kicks or tramping on, and still retains its form. Will not catch on curbs, sidewalks, door sills or obstructions and pull out of shape while wheel is being trundled over them.

The only toe clip extant that permits of the correct adjustment of foot to pedal; not having a toe check it does not tend to pedalling with toes pointing downward, which position induces a strained and set condition of the muscles of the foot, ankle and calf. One of the best, simplest and most easily attached. Try a pair and be convinced. Send for descriptive circular.

AS CARRIED WHILE RIDING

No more foul, greasy and collapsed tool bags.

CUSHION TIRES.

Cushion Tires, if properly made, are good things. On our part we arrived at this conclusion after a great deal of experimenting and practical use on the road.

But Cushion Tires are not all properly made. There is the one which looks pretty on paper; the one that rides easily only over sand; and yet again the one which only "will not cut."

Have you tried the Columbia Cushion? If you have you have noticed

That it rides easily over sand.

That it will (so far as can be judged now) outlast the solid tire.

That it is elastic.

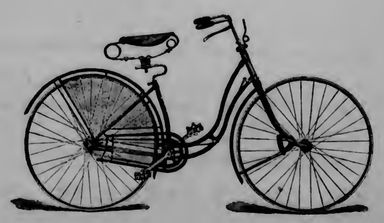
That it is neat, well made, and efficient.

That it is a satisfactory part of a satisfactory machine.



That it is warranted.

Oh, no! All cushion tires are not properly made, but

COLUMBIA CUSHIONS ARE.

NOT ENOUGH.

Victors are cheap at $135, in comparison with second grade machines which are sold at from $50 to $130, and sometimes at $135

Prices are often deceptive. There are many inferior or second grade wheels on the market with a list price of $135, but which, in reality, are sold for a much less sum. Old, experienced riders understand this hollow pretence, and are able to take advantage of such reductions when unable to buy the best, while the inexperienced buyer or beginner has to pay full price.

If you want the best bicycle in the world, fitted with Victor Cushion Tires and Victor Spring Fork, you must pay $135 to get it.

HERBERT SPENCER

In a letter to Dr. James of the Brooklyn Ethical Society, says: "In my earlier days I constantly made the foolish supposition that conclusive proofs would change beliefs, but experience has long since dissipated my faith in men's rationality.'

We fear Herbert has eaten something that disagreed with him, and we want to go on record as being something that he can't eat and still we disagree with him from the outside. Conclusive proof will always change belief, and the man whose belief is changed is entirely helpless in the matter. We involuntarily believe that which seems to us to be true. Of course we may sometimes juggle with our conscience and claim to believe certain improbable things, such for instance as the theory that a people may be benefitted by being charged a high price for what they consume. But when it comes right down into a man's heart, he believes nothing that is not to him reasonable. When two men disagree on a certain point it doesn't follow that either one of of them really knows anything about it. Conclusive proof to one man may be anything but that to another. But when what seems to be conclusive proof reaches the inner works of a man his belief is just as surely changed, and he can't help it.

In a recent conversation (not on bicycles) the writer asked an old school religionist: "Do you believe in an endless, burning hell of fire and brimstone?" With much earnestness he answered: "I most certainly do." "Do you feel sure that your record is such as to warrant you in hoping to escape it?" On this point he seemed doubtful, then we asked him: "How can you sleep?" And got this remarkable answer: "Well, I am hoping after all that there may be some mistake about it."

So it is with some of the makers of steel wheels, all the evidence they have ever seen pointed to the superiority of the product, and yet they are able to rest on the supposition that there may possibly be some mistake about it. Dear reader, there isn't the slightest possibility of a mistake. If you haven't yet had conclusive proof you should send in your order at once.

The London Bicycling News, in a column article says, (Aug. 8.) in speaking of the Hickory: "The wheels are beautifully made . . . all parts are beautifully fitted. . . . The machine is not designed on English lines . . . throughout the whole machine everything has been nicely calculated . . our conclusion after a long trial was that had there been no inflated tires there would have been a boom in Hickories, the running being very sweet without any metallic jars. That many of the individual parts are very clever and ingenious and that the fitting up of the machine in its smallest detail was perfect."

We appreciate the above all the more from the fact that the same paper said of the writer when he first began to make Hickory Wheels, as follows, which we find in our little scrap book. You may well believe (if you don't happen to remember) that the first appearance of wooden cycle wheels was the signal for sneers on the part of those writers who thought it worth while to take any notice of them. In speaking of some visionary schemer the above paper said in '87: "His place is by the side of the man who is going to revolutionize the cycle by using hickory wood instead of steel; between them they might be able to turn out a curiosity worth looking at if not fit for riding upon."

A scrap book is a great thing, if only to show what progress the world is making. We don't blame any man for disagreeing with us, and we stand up for every man's right to change his mind. Conclusive proof will change beliefs, and in the above case the proof consisted in riding the Hickory Bicycle on the road for a few days.

And now dear brother (or sister) that same conclusive proof is available to you. Will you look into the matter promptly? Please do so and "write soon"

To the ELLIOTT HICKORY CYCLE CO., Newton, Mass.

The following report was accepted and laid upon the table for later consideration:

Regarding the matter of payment for legal advice and services rendered in the past by the Chairman of the Committee on Rights and Privileges and the probability of future work of a similar character, this Committee are of the opinion that such services should be paid for, and that it is for the best interests of the Division that a yearly salary and travelling expenses be paid to the Division's Attorney.

The members of the Committee are hardly in a position to judge what would be a proper sum to appropriate for such a purpose, and would suggest that it would be well to advise with other Divisions who have already acted upon the matter, if this is not thought advisable we would recommend that for services rendered, and that may be rendered during the balance of the year, that the sum of $50 be appropriated as the salary of the Chairman of the Committee on Rights and Privileges for the year 1891, and that travelling expenses rendered necessary in the Division's interest be paid.

Another year, if this sum is inadequate, the amount can be easily made larger.

The Chairman of this Committee has been unable to get the views of Mr. Barber, but the above are the conclusions arrived at from correspondence with Mr. Carsley.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. FRED ADAMS, Chairman Finance Committee.

Mr. H. W. Robinson moved that railroad travelling expenses should be allowed the delegates who shall represent the Massachusetts Division at the National Assembly at Hartford, Sept. 8. Mr. Howard moved as an amendment that the sum of $10 be appropriated for the expenses of each member attending the Assembly. The amendment was accepted and the motion carried.

Much to the regret of the members present, Mr. Robinson announced that his business engagements would prevent him accepting a renomination for office of Chief Consul.

CHAS. S. HOWARD, Sec.-Treas.

Committee on Credentials.

The Committee on Membership of the League is hereby appointed a Committee on Credentials for duty at the Constitutional Convention and at the meeting of the National Assembly in Hartford, Sept. 8 next coming. Sanford Lawton, Geo. C. Pennell, and H. L. Perkins compose the committee.

JAMES R. DUNN, President.

Kentucky Division Finances.

The letter printed below was received by me faom Secretary-Treasurer G. E. Johnson. It explains itself:

"Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10, 1891.—A. J. Lamb, Chief Consul, Louisville, Ky.: Dear Sir: In the Masonic Savings Bank of this city, which failed last Saturday, Aug. 8, I had something like $150 deposited. $100 was the League's share of the Meet Guarantee Fund, just returned from the proceeds of the June Meet, and the balance was a portion of the general fund of Kentucky Division. The bank officers are confident this money will all be paid back, but it may be some time coming. I write this to notify you formally that a portion of the League money is thus tied up. The League will lose nothing, because I propose to make up the money myself, and I would do it immediately, but for the fact that what little private funds I have, were also in the Masonic Bank. I can truthfully say that now I have absolutely nothing. The major portion of Kentucky Division funds is in the German Insurance Bank.

"I write you this letter because you are chairman of the Division Executive Board, and it is necessary you should know at once the condition of affairs. Yours very truly, G. E. JOHNSON,

"Sec.-Treas. Kentucky Division, L. A. W."

On the receipt of this letter I consulted the other members of the Executive Board, Dr. H. B. Tileston and Mr. Ed H. Crominger. The matter was fully talked over, and it was decided to decline Mr. Johnson's proposition to pay the money out of his own pocket. There is no doubt but what the bank will pay depositors in full, but the money may be some time in coming. The Division, however, is in no need of funds, and can afford to wait. Fraternally, A. J. LAMB, Chief Consul Kentucky Division.

To Members:

Sixty-nine names are yet needed to reach the coveted 500 mark. To do this quickly there is nothing like concerted action on the part of the members at large. Missouri certainly must remain "in the push," and the only way this can be done is by your giving the matter of recruiting immediate attention. We all have felt slippers—in our youth, and I want the members of this Division to feel interested in its future growth and prosperity. In every city, town, and hamlet throughout the State there are riders and riders who do not belong to our organization. Perhaps they have never heard of it, and as soon as you will take the little trouble necessary to explain the benefits of membership to them they will be sure to join. Now we will not let good work go unrewarded, and have long ago made the liberal offer of presenting you with a standard gold L. A. W. pin for securing 20 new members. You certainly want one of these elegant pins, therefore go to work at once in securing the necessary new members. Fraternally yours,

ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

Mr. T. W. Deal, Carthage, has been appointed Representative of this Division vice R.W. Garner, removed to Chicago. Fraternally yours,

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League the applicant shall become a member."

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

Union Cycles Win the Races.

Cottage City, Aug. 15.

The feature of the meet was the Coasting Contest, in which 18 machines of various makes were entered, "and 5 were wise, and 13 otherwise."

The five wise rode UNION wheels of various patterns, which coasted away ahead of every other make, leaving a yawning gap of 35 feet between the last UNION and first of the rear detachment. The unlucky 13 who got left shuddered audibly, and turned away sadder but wiser men.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

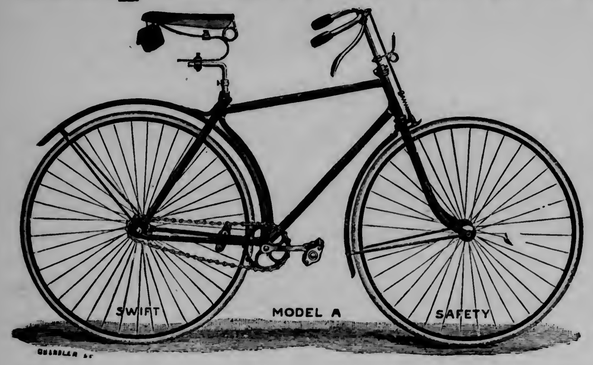
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible o make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER. J. S. DEAN.

Editorial Contributor, F. A. EGAN.

BOSTON, 28 AUGUST, 1891.

WE publish this week an exhaustive and convincing statement from President Dunn of his position in the Randall removal case, and we ask for it a careful perusal. The passage of resolutions by one of the largest Divisions of the L. A. W. called for some such answer as this, and it has come. These resolutions condemned the President for the removal of Mr. Randall and demanded his reinstatement. Let the members of the L. A. W. read carefully what the President has to say and then determine if they will endorse his action or join the Illinois Division in its demand.

MR. RANDALL states that he wrote the celebrated letter to President Dunn when he was "hot under the collar." We have it from good authority that Mr. Randall did not write the letter at all. His lawyer wrote it. Wonder if the lawyer was "hot under the collar?"

EXTREMISTS on cycling questions are not confined to those who think cycling a downright sin, and alongside of the reverend gentleman who declares that "young men are riding to hell on bicycles," and the equally rational (?) female who states that "cigarette smoking is much less vicious for women than cycle riding," we desire to place that remarkable journalist, Mr. G. P. Wilson, who in an article which we take pleasure in publishing in full in another part of the paper, states that out of the 21,000 members the WORLD goes to, not more than 525 over and above the officials, ever open it! ! In other words he claims 20,000 papers are never looked at! ! !

In the matter of facts this Mr. Wilson is most desperately unreliable, and the logical conclusion is that he is equally unreliable in his judgment as to the worth and fitness of things.

His intemperate statement of facts (?) is a boomerang, and his attempt to injure us in a business way fails because of its evident malicious intent.

Mr. Wilson states he is a journalist and knows what is what in that line. This fact (if it is a fact), suggests the possible animus of his remarkable solicitude for the welfare of our advertising patrons, a solicitude which crowds into the background his assumed interest in the League and its members.

He uses the "League's Interest" as a battle cry to divert attention, while the guns which he desires to take effect are loaded with ammunition and shell of falsity intended to blow usto the eternal smithereens. The shell has proved unreliable and burst before it left the muzzle of his gun.

Now as to the animus: We would like to know if this newspaper man has any connection with a publishing house not a thousand miles from Baltimore which has been throwing out feelers to see whether the Wheelmen Co.'s contract with the L. A. W. could be got into its possession. If he has no "wicked, mercenary motives," we would like to know whether the string that was pulled was not manipulated by a certain stockholder in the aforesaid publishing house? (perhaps the one who is anxious to give over $1000 per annum for the contract?) We do not expect answers to these conundrums, and even if we got them we should estimate their reliability in ratio to the value we hold the statement that only 525 members out of 21,000 open this paper. Need we say that the value is represented by the figure 0?

HAVING dealt briefly and in a general way with Mr. G. P. Wilson's attack on us, we would be neglecting our duty if we failed to prescribe a couple of boluses composed of hard facts, the taking of which we guarantee will effect a cure, even though the swallowing of the big pills may tax the capacity of his thorax. Here are the facts:

Fact No. 1. The average number of requests from members for change of address during the past year has been OVER THREE HUNDRED PER WEEK. Giving it as 300, we have 15,600 NOTICES YEARLY FROM MEMBERS REQUESTING THE PAPER TO BE SENT TO NEW ADDRESSES. To be perfectly fair it is right to state that 5,000 of those are duplicates, i. e., the same member moves twice. That would make about 12,500 single cases.

Fact No. 2. At the end of each year, through clerical errors, a hundred or so members' names are omitted from the revised list, who have renewed. In every case the notice comes quick and sharp from the neglected member: "I have not received my WORLD for ——weeks. Send it along," and in almost every case where the omission covers a period of more than one issue, we are requested to "send back numbers."

In other words, in each year over 12,000 members care enough for the paper to specially request it to be sent to them.

Can it be within the bounds of logic that these 15,600 requests come from gentlemen who simply want the paper for the fun of throwing it in the waste basket unopened? Can it be within the same bounds of the same logic that members who have renewed, and complained that the paper did not reach them desire the WORLD sent them for the satisfaction of getting the paper, gazing at the wrapper, and casting it away unopened? This may be, according to Wilsonian logic, but as common sense logic it wont pass current.

If Mr. Wilson manages to swallow these pills of solid fact, we wonder if in the act of deglutition they will be found to assimilate with the 525 theory of that astute gentleman?

ON laying down our pen after completing the sentence in the above article to open some mail, the first letter we took up was the following:

"EDITORS BICYCLING WORLD AND BULLETIN: Just a word to say, that although my wheel advertised in your paper was sold at private sale, all the same the replies to the advertisement poured in, and are yet coming—chances to sell a dozen wheels. As a "medium" you are all right!

Yours,
ARTHUR MUNSON.

Stamford, Ct.

We publish the above not on account of its strangeness, for we are constantly in receipt of the most flattering testimonials, but because of its coming to our hands the very first thing after our finishing the article above. It was a coincidence worthy of note, and as a "finisher" comes in very pat.

DEAR! dear! Mr. G. P. Wilson, what do you mean by this sentence? * * * "Your sense of the propriety of keeping its members fully informed on all subjects which concern the League will of course prompt you to publish this letter. * * * Yes, certainly, Mr. Wilson, but how can we "fully inform" all League members when, according to your ideas, only 525 out of 21,000 read the paper? Perhaps you would like us to write the members a postal card, Mr. Wilson? or do you expect the 525 members to communicate with the other 20,475 by some occult means known only to yourself? Kindly advise us at the earliest possible moment your wishes in the matter, Mr. Wilson, as it would never do to hide your light under a 525 bushel basket.

AFTER floundering around in the slough of inaccuracy so helplessly, Mr. G. P. Wilson places himself conspicuously as a mark for ridicule by bewailing the fact that ladies are not "legally" members of the League. Here is a man who poses as an authority as a "newspaper man" who does not know that the word Citizen, Wheelman, or Mankind, are in every case used in a generic sense. In New York, Massachusetts, and other States there have been decisions on this very case. In many States where "citizens" are admitted to the bar it has been decided that the term is generic and that women were eligible. In several sections women have been permitted to hold offices precisely on the same ground, and in the League we have 500 lady members who are legally members, who have the same right to talk and vote at the Constitutional Convention or General Assembly as is enjoyed by this most remarkably well posted newspaper man, Wilson by name.

THE friends representing the different theories as to the advisability of loosening or tightening the rules which govern the payment of the racing man's expenses, are marshalling their forces preparatory to the debate at Hartford. The Western men seem in part to be in favor of a stricter rule, while the Eastern members as a whole favor a more liberal one. The reason of this sectional division of opinion is, we think, obvious. The East can boast of several large athletic organizations, the racing members of which have their expenses paid, while the Western racing men are comparatively without any such financial assistance. The West complains that the Eastern flyers are nearly all members of some rich and powerful clubs, and that the members thereof by having their training and travelling expenses paid, can afford to prepare for the tournaments in a manner which is impossible to the man who has to pay his own training bills and travelling expenses, hence the Western racing man is placed at an unfair disadvantage. Here we find a very logical reason for the attitude of certain of the Western contingent in its antagonism to a more liberal expense rule or, for that matter, any rule which allows clubs to pay the expenses of its members.

There is no disputing the fact that the position of the Western men tends more to the preservation of the true amateur status of wheelmen than does the attitude of the Easterners in favoring a liberal expense rule.

If it be decided that no expenses be paid, then it is safe to say cycle racing will come down to the dead level of pure amateurism, and the result will be that phenomenal riders will not be developed, records will be all "English, you know," and State and National Championships, and race meetings generally will lack the interest which they now possess. We especially name Sate and National Championships for the reason that the League to be consistent must also refuse Divisions and League Clubs the right to pay expenses of their representative racing men to the Division and National events.

If a stricter expense rule finally prevails, then to be still further consistent the League should pass a rule limiting the value of prizes to a nominal sum. In the event of these two changes being made, will it be possible to hold tournaments on the same splendid lines and command public patronage in the same successful manner as in the past and present cases of Hartford, Springfield, Peoria, and Providence, and other large meets? We must admit that the careful training of fast cyclers tends to produce phenomenal riding, records, and, consequently, public interest in the appearance of these celebrities on the track in competition.

With very few exceptions (in fact we cannot call to mind but a single case), the crack racing men would be utterly unable to afford the expenses necessary to proper training and travelling, hence we have to accept the necessary evil of allowing some one who can afford it to pay same.

It will not, however, do to lose sight of the undoubted trend towards a condition of things similar to the "promateur" days in the adoption of a more liberal expense rule, and we therefore must not shut our eyes to the possibility of the Leagues ultimately having to handle cases similar to those of Rowe, Hendee et al.

The question which will come up for debate at Hartford will be "which is the best for the interests of cycling; adopt a rule which prohibits the paying of expenses, and thus foster the true spirit of amateurship, or allow a rule which permits the payment of liberal expenses and the awarding of costly prizes?"

For our part, in the remote past we have favored the pure amateur idea, but we admit that time has changed our views so that now we believe the successful continuation of the racing interest depends on, and the welfare of cycling at large will be conserved by, the adoption of a rule which permits the payment of liberal expenses and the awarding of valuable prizes as now is the custom. This may seem rank heresy according to the ideas of some members, but nevertheless it is our honest opinion.

IN the rapid development of American cycling it would seem that two things are in danger of being overlooked by both men and women. The first is that in England, where every little boy rides and runs and plays cricket and tennis, and every girl, from the Princess's daughters down systematically has walked and ridden and played active out-of-door games in all kinds of weather from babyhood, a high degree of athletic effort is less apt to produce disastrous results than here, where entirely untrained muscles are put to the sharp and often fatal test of powerful effort without previous discipline. And the other is that the real value of cycling is in its effect upon the success of all endeavor in life. Men have labored for physical honors in cycling contests and women for physical beauty, each frequently defeating their purpose by too vigorous and unsymmetrical effort. The man with sinewy muscles hardened at the expense of atrophied vitality, and the woman with a disarranged organism through too vigorous riding are by far too common products in the present mad scramble to get into cycling, a position of affairs that is too often attributable to masters and teachers who seem to forget that a trained brain, a trained digestion, and trained nerves are the basis of all athletic power and health. No exercise in a gymnasium is so perfect and calls naturally into play so many muscles at once as a brisk ride upon a bicycle in the open air, in correct position and loose clothing; especially is this fact true in regard to women, whose gymnastic work is apt to be erratic rather than regular or sustained, and taken without regard to dietic and hygienic conditions.

MANY women fall utterly to enjoy cycling on account of their excessive nervousness and timidity, and yet it is these very women that cycling would be a godsend to. They should not despair if at first they learn less quickly than their more robust sisters how to mount and manage a wheel. Perseverance will bring its reward in the shape of confidence, and then practice will accomplish the remainder. Practice alone will reduce excitement and nervousness to a minimum or to zero, and the rule to reduce it to as low a point as possible must not be forgotten; in this way women will conserve the purest and best kind of energy, which is nervous, and it towers above all other energies in human mechanism.

FRANCE has to-day in round numbers 130,000 miles of "macadamized" roads. Thousands of skilled men are everywhere employed, each on his separate section of the road, and all are under the constant surveillance of the official inspectors, by whom they are held to strictest account for the work in their charge. The result of this is that the roads of France are the most perfect in the world.

THE League can only hope to awaken the public to the need for good roads when a popular recognition of two facts occurs: (1) that the public road, like the public post office and the court house, is public property established by law for the use of all people, whether they be wheelmen or farmers; and (2) that the extravagant waste of time, labor, and property which had been for centuries imposed by the use of mud roads could only be checked, and the resources of the country brought out by the construction and maintenance of good roads under an intelligent head. This was the doctrine of Tresagnet, the famous French road builder, and of his English disciples, Telford and Macadam, and events have verified it.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

"BICYCLES may be useful in their place, but I know many a young man is riding to hell on a bicycle on Sunday."—[Sermon of Rev. Mr. Leovell of Chicago.] As Mr. Leovell is a minister of the gospel, and therefore must know that the Bible tells us to "Judge not that ye be not judged," it seems singular that he should set himself up as capable of deciding that a man is riding to hell whether his conveyance on this earth be a horse car, a bicycle, or a carriage. Such statements as these betray but ignorance and bigotry on the part of those who make them. The riding of a bicycle, whether on Sunday or any other day, is not, I think, a crime of sufficient magnitude to damn the rider of it for all time. The teachings of the Bible, and of those theologians who have made its interpretation a lifelong study, are averse to any such decision as that promulgated by the Rev. Mr. Leovell, and I am surprised that in this enlightened age that there could be found any one so prejudiced and so antiquated as to make such statements as this Chicago minister has. Verily, there yet lingers much more of the Puritan in this land of ours than most of us ever know of, until something like this transpires.

Another athlete succumbs to the inevitable. Sorakchi, the Japanese wrestler, one of the most powerful men of his age, dies of consumption. To the careless observer it is inconceivable that the physical giants should fall beneath a disease that is associated in the public mind with the utmost constitutional delicacy, but consumption is the logical reaction of over-training. Our racing men should be warned that the stoutest bow, once overdrawn, becomes flaccid and yielding, and that constant racing or training will but in the end work an injury to those who thus violate the laws of nature.

The age of chivalry is upon its last legs. Horseflesh is giving place to machinery on every hand. Gradually but surely the day is approaching when man and his merchandise shall be moved over the earth by means more controllable, reliable, cleanly, economical, and safer than the harnessed beast of the field. In that happy day the horse will still be good to eat, but he will not be suffered to foul the thoroughfares, terrify the timid, and take up more room than the load he unwillingly transports, not to mention the coarsening of the manners of our culture tending race with horsey influences. The prophet Ezekiel gazed down the boulevards of time with no cloudy vision when he foresaw this state of affairs and exclaimed, "For the spirit of the living creature is in the wheels."

"It is true that the bicycle is a vehicle," says the editor of the New York Journal of Commerce; "but it is a vehicle of a very dangerous class, if for this reason alone, that it will not stand upright unless balanced by the rider." Rodents! Is that the worst the editor can find to say against the wheel? That might lead one to suppose the editor aforesaid to know nothing of a bicycle practically, but to be desirous, as a philanthropist, of deterring men from the use of it. But this commendable though mistaken motive appears not to be present. He has no solicitude for the wheelman at all, but urges this "as a chief reason why bicycles should be prohibited;" and declares that where bicycles "are so common that no horse is afraid of them, our objection remains in full force." And then he sums up in a sentence, thus: "No vehicle that will not stand alone on the level ground is fit for a public thoroughfare!" Sounds philosophical, don't it? But why stop at vehicles? Wouldn't it be well to prohibit canes and umbrellas for instance; and oxen and horses that stumble or will not stand still without hitching? The former "will not stand upright unless balanced," and the latter "will not stand alone."

A dread akin to superstition seems to be produced upon some persons when they first see a bicycle, by the silence that characterizes its movements—a dread probably founded on the fact that the means of travel to which we are thoroughly accustomed are accompanied by more or less clatter and rumble. This stillness is, however, viewed as a positive advantage by the riders themselves, and nothing will more completely destroy all the pleasure of a ride than the slightest departure from the rule of absolute noiselessness that the rider demands from his mount. Whatever noise may be necessary for purposes of safety to other users of the highways upon which a wheelman is travelling can always be supplied by word of mouth or bell.

Have you ever noticed how much faster you can travel, or seem to travel, with the cool night air to fan you?

It is indeed a pleasure to have my recent remarks concerning some of the very few faults that wheelwomen are guilty of when riding, backed up by one of their own fair selves. It is because that I recognize the fact that their errors are so few that I took the liberty of calling their attention to them. I should not undertake the same task with wheelmen, bad riding form, unbecoming and inappropriate riding costumes, and a general air of don't-care-a-cent,' is so much a part of the average wheelman of the present that it is the most hopeless of tasks to attempt to correct it. With the fair recruits to cycling to-day exists all there is in wheeling that is charming to the eye of the beholder, and the lesson they constantly endeavor by precept to teach the careless and slovenly wheelman is as much to the fair preceptor's credit, as it is to the disgrace of the sterner sex that seeing it they learn not. More's the pity that they do not.

"HAWKSHAW."

H. M. TAYLOR and C. R. Curtis, Chicago cyclists, rode Monday to Bath, Ill., a distance of 104 miles, and Thursday they finished their run to Galesburg, 182 miles altogether. For the past week they have been touring 60 to 70 miles per day over indifferent roads.

MESSRS. HUNT, Hoge, Morton, and Comin, members of the Guernsey Cycle Club, left Cambridge, Ohio, Aug. 24th, on their wheels for a tour of the State. They follow the National Pike to Richmond, Ind., thence north as far as Findlay, Ohio; thence south to Bellefontaine; thence east to Newcomerstown via Delaware, Mt. Vernon, and Coshocton. Distance 545 miles. No scorching. They have gone for fun and comfort.

THE Buffalo Bicycle Club are seriously thinking of changing their Constitution and By-laws so that non-wheelmen may be admitted.

OSCAR and Arthur Schneider and Burns of Chicago lately rode to St. Louis inside of three days, an excellent performance.

J. C. STEARNS of Worcester, Mass., called at the store of John P. Lovell Arms Co., and offered a cycle for sale. His manner aroused suspicions, and C. E. Whitten followed him out and placed him under arrest. He made an attempt to escape but failed. He finally admitted having stolen the wheel from a Worcester party.

THE promised exhibition of the wonderful Belanger cycle still hangs fire.

JNO. ERICKSON and G. Olsen, President of the Columbia Wheelmen, Chicago, and ex-Captain of the Vikings Cycling Club, respectively, rode a notable century, Sunday, Aug. 16th. The trip around to Aurora, Elgin, and return, 104 miles, was made in 11 1-2 hours. Actual riding time, 7 1-2 hours. This is record for this course as laid out by the Associated Cycling Clubs.

A NEW YORK correspondent writes: "We are having a little boom in wheeling on Staten Island which has centred around the Staten Island Athletic Club. The Staten Island Wheelmen, a young but vigorous club of some thirty members, voted last week unanimously to accept a proposition from the Athletics and join in a body. As everybody knows, lower New York is unrideable, and wheelmen have not been able to make any use of their wheels here as they do elsewhere in riding to business. The Staten Island Athletic Club proposes to have an annex at St. George, S. I., which is directly connected with New York by ferry. Members living on any part of Staten Island may then ride down to the ferry, leave their wheels during the day, and ride home again in the afternoon. More picturesque rides than on Staten Island cannot be found anywhere near a great city, and with the great improvement in roads now going on it is safe to say that the ranks of wheelmen on Staten Island are bound rapidly to grow.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY members are now enrolled by the Century Road Club. Nearly 30 bars have been awarded, a majority of them to the Lincoln Club riders. To the man first making twelve century runs, R. M. Johnson will award a very handsome medal.

THE Asbury Park, N. J., encampment, Aug. 27 31, promises to be quite an affair, and a great deal of interest is being shown by wheelmen all over that section of the country. For circular and particulars address W. S. Kean, P. O. Box 1004, Asbury Park, N. J.

A SAD accident resulting fatally to Mrs. E. Rumsey, of Watkins, N. Y., occurred the other day. Mrs. Rumsey in her attempt to learn fell from the machine striking her temple on a sharp stone.

DR. BOTTOMLEY, Roux, Zies, and Hunter, of Chicago, returned last week from an extensive tour through Northern Illinois and Wisconsin, visiting all the famous summer resorts of this region. Roux made a century run on the way home from Waukesha to Milwaukee, and south to Winnet, Kas.

YOU want to keep your eye on the Lone Star State! The L. A. W. membership at present isn't large, but under the vigorous and wide awake action of Chief Consul Hope and his able "aides" Texas will advance up the column of Divisions, or we miss our guess.

A VICTOR Model A Safety, No. 12,990, has been stolen from G. H. E. Hawkins, of Chicopee Falls, Mass. Keep a lookout for it.

"WE congratulate the Rochester (N. Y.) Wheelmen's League for the harmonious way in which they worked and managed the meet," says "Jasper" of Buffalo.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., evidently has its quota of riders who ride bowlegged and hunch up their backs, for this is what the News-Press of that city has this sound advice to offer: "If some or all of Poughkeepsie's miserable appearing bicycle riders want a model to go by let them notice Mr. Leonard Miller, the most graceful appearing rider in town. Sit erect, handle bars and saddle at the proper height, knee motion straight up and down, ball of feet upon pedals and parallel with wheel, neither turned in or out, forearms parallel with machine, or elbows near body. * *"

A FEW of the minor prizes in the Lincoln Cycling Club road race were diamond (?) pins with a three inch reflector, a lock and chain, weight 20 pounds, oil can six feet long, and squeak horn some six feet in length. "Bill Nye" Erwin introduced the lucky winners in a few well chosen words.

IT will be remembered that about two weeks ago we recorded the accident to Mr. E. Rossman of Minneapolis, through the carelessness of a coachman employed by D. Morrison. Mr. Morrison settled the matter by paying for a new wheel which was smashed up, and also paying all other expenses incurred by Mr. Rossman.

IT is estimated that there are at least two hundred wheelmen in Norwalk, Ct. The place supports two bicycle clubs, namely the Alpha Wheel Club, which is an L. A. W. club, and the Norwalk Wheel Club. The first is noted for its activity in wheeling circles, and the latter as being more of a social organization. The social members are about double the wheelmen.

CAPT. ROBERTS, of the Illinois Cycling Club, Chicago, and W. A Davis, A. J. Street, G. D. Moffatt and John Mason started a century run to Milwaukee from Chicago Sunday. Street turned back with a punctured tire. The rest finished in exactly twelve hours.

SAYS "Jasper" of Buffalo: "For genuine hospitality, the Rochester Wheelmen are by a big distance way ahead of all other entertainers, and their ability in this direction is something wholly unexpected. The Buffalo Wheelmen never were so affectionately met, taken care of, and royally entertained."

THE Chester (Pa.) Bicycle Club took possession of new and cosily furnished quarters in the Central Exchange, Aug. 18th.

THE Asbury Park (N. J.) encampment is "on" now, and we expect to have to report a big success.

BOSTON is to have a century run. For further particulars see another column.

THE Wissahickon Wheelmen of Philadelphia will soon move into their new quarters on Germantown avenue. A reception will be given in honor of the occasion.

SAYS the Union of Rochester: "The cycle has ceased to be a luxury; to day it is a necessity."

A CHINAMAN in Chicago rides a safety and rigged out in full Chinese dress.

A NOVEL method of punishing a dog which persisted in attacking him was employed by Mr. W. Matthieson of Peru, Ill. He lassoed the "purp" and then put on speed, dragging him for several miles. Matthieson is never troubled by that canine now.

SOME men's theory and the actual practice don't always agree. For instance, a gentleman was heard to say: "Bicycling is not good for women, they are not physically fitted for it." Experience and hundreds of living witnesses refute this wise man's theory.

A SCORE or so of clergymen met the other day in Chicago and discussed the "validity" of the Rev. Leovell's assertion that cycle riding on Sunday was a very good way of going to hell. Opinion was divided; and while it was admitted by many that Mr. Leovell's position was rather extreme the concensus of opinion was in favor of discouraging the practice of Sunday riding.

F. H. ALLEN of the Washington Cycling Club, Chicago, is another century runner, successful the past week, having ridden to Long Lake and return in a day, 104 miles.

THE record between Norwalk and Bridgeport, Ct., distance about 15 miles, is held by C. F. Seeley of the latter city in 52 minutes.

THE Wanderers of Buffalo have secured additional room and will fit up a pool room and gymnasium at once.

"THE Austin (Tex.) Bicycle Club had its weekly run last night. It was not ascertained how many of the members participated nor how far they rode, but on their return the cyclometer registered 305 miles, and it took the whole club twenty minutes to pass a given point."—Exchange. [We wonder if it was a Dutch treat or did each fellow pay for his own "refreshments." Even a thirsty cycler can get enough of the amber fluid in "twenty minutes."—ED.]

Every one speaks in the highest terms as to the management and hospitality of the Rochester Wheelmen at the late meet.

At the Division meet in Rochester it was voted to sustain the proposed amendment favoring the three-quarter membership clause of clubs and also that favoring one-year term of office for President.

J. R. Pollock, Second Lieutenant of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, is in the East for a three weeks' visit. Any kindnesses done Mr. Pollock will not be amiss. He is an excellent fellow.

"Mott's Messenger" is a comphrehensive little pamphlet issued to the members of the Maryland Division by the Chief Consul. In the article headed "Grandpa's Advice to His Boys," Mr. Mott starts out with the following golden words of advice: "By all means keep record of your riding but don't ride for a record." "Grandpa's" advice is always sound and that given his children is no exception to the rule.

Geo. Hawkins has begun operations on a track within the horse track enclosure of his West Side race track in Chicago. This will be a half-mile track of clay, until settled, and then covered with brick dust. Mr Hawkins will supply the prizes for matinee races every Saturday afternoon.

Geo. K. Barrett is away on an extensive business trip West and then East, where he will race at Providence, Hartford and Springfield, providing he is in fit condition after one week's training.

Fully a dozen of Chicago's many cycling clubs are running ten-mile handicap road races this fall. A correspondent proposes that a good prize be put up for a ten-mile contest between the time winners of these contests.

A touring wheelmen passed through Norwalk, Ct., one day last week mounted on a safety with a pair of huge army revolvers stuck in his belt. He was going at a rapid pace and attracted considerable attention.

Messrs. J. H. Diffold, of the Allegheny Cyclers, and Chas. K. Gibson, of the Keystone Bicycle Club, will start on their tour from Pittsburg to Boston, Saturday, Aug. 29, '91. Will pass through Erie, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Albany, and Springfield.

Says Bicycling News: "A tale is told by a well-known Coventry rider, who found a man squirting oil into the valves of his pneumatic tires, under the impression that that was the proper way of oiling a machine."

About fifty of the Norwalk, Ct., Wheelmen will attend the fall meet of the L. A. W. at Hartford on Labor Day. Messrs. C. F. Seeley and O. B. Jackson, of the same place, will cast fifty votes by proxy for the local wheelmen on the same occasion.

Allen W. Swan, of New Bedford, who is touring across the continent, arrived in San Francisco August 20.

Mr. J. H. Robbins, of the Sporting Review of Chicago and New York, has been in Boston for the past week. Mr. Skinkle, of Cleveland, was also in Boston for a few days last week. Both gentlemen honored the World with a call.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS.

Tempted by the previous good roads and a desire to break the record—if not their backs—some of the tourists concluded to arise early the morning we were to leave Baden-Baden and make a century run. So on the evening before the great event all arrangements were made; baggage was to be packed and sent by train to reduce weight; good byes were said to those who would tarry on the way and take their time, and the scorchers retired at an early hour to be lulled to sleep by happy expectations and the band which played in the park. At a time that seemed incredibly short, a knock came to the doors along the hall and the centurions arose and rubbed their eyes. It was the very unhealthy hour of 4.30, and nature seemed to appeal for further rest; but what are these things when one desires to fill his cap with feathers of glory? Consuming a roll and a cup of tea and putting a sandwich in their pockets for emergency, they started in the fog of the morning, and by keeping at their work, six of the nine who started succeeded in riding a hundred miles before the supper bell rang. Spielman and Linn were the first in, then came Cutter, Shockley, ReQua, and little Rupp. The road was rough and muddy, and had to be doubled to complete the full distance; considering these things it was a remarkable run. The three riders who did not complete the century run, remembered, about noon, that it was somewhat contrary to the principles of exerting themselves and impairing their appetite and so finished with only eighty miles to their credit.

Sunday was spent in Heidelberg, and a pretty place it is, at the foot of high forest-clad hills, on the bank of the swift and muddy Neckar. Overlooking the town is the old castle, a grim pile of red sandstone with only here and there a hint of the great architectural beauty of its former self. Wars, the elements, and the hand of Time has defaced it, and the people who once dwelt there are long ago dust, but the crumbling remains seem to have a loyal aspect still. In the great wine cellar is the celebrated Heidelberg Tun, which held 3,000,000 bottles of wine, but when we found that it was empty it lost half its interest for us and we cared only to be in Perkeo's shoes, for he was court jester in this castle and drank eighteen bottles of wine daily. What a picnic, and what a jag that clown must have constantly had! The next day we struck the finest roads we had seen in Germany; long, level stretches of three or four miles at a time; straight, bordered by shade trees or pine woods and with side paths as smooth as a race track. The small towns are invariably paved with rough cobble stone, but between these places come the smooth spots, where we hump along at a three-minute gait.

At Frankfort two days were pleasantly spent viewing the principal points of interest. Frankfort is one of the principal German cities, and is the home of the celebrated sausage which bears the same name. The town was founded shortly after Charlemagne crossed the river at this point, but the date of the first wetner-weurst is unknown. The country had now assumed a level appearance which is characteristic of this part of the Rhine Valley, but the roads continued to be excellent, and the monotony of level landscape was relieved by our rapid passage through quaint old towns, and extensive farming districts where men, women and children toiled in the fields all day, and went home at eventide in the long narrow wagon drawn by a slow-paced cow. Occasionally, when we passed these plodding creatures they would sniff the air, shy to the opposite side of the road, and become generally unruly. We did not intentionally frighten them; we made no noise, and conducted ourselves when in their company as became wheelmen. It must have been the display of calves that unnerved them.

We reached Weisbaden, which is second to Baden-Baden in the matter of mineral waters and hot springs, and where there are a large number of tourists and health seekers at all times of the year. While here we learned that in the neighboring town of Maintz there was an American barber. Now, next to an American pie we longed to make the acquaintance of a barber who was skilled in the American manner of hair-dressing. The native tonsorial artist who is attentive to business in a few years becomes a first-class butcher. When we heard this bit of good news several of the tourists boarded the train and went to Maintz, seven miles, and placed themselves in this man's power. They escaped with whole skins.

As we approached Reudesheim the Rhine enters a narrow valley between the ranges of towering forest-crested hills, which gives a rugged picturesqueness to the scenery. At Reudesheim we take the ferry and are soon landed at Bingen, fair Bingen on the Rhine. Everyone is familiar with the place which has a warm spot in their hearts through that poem which tells of the pathetic death of the "Soldier of the Legion." Opposite the old town the hill rises steep from the riverside in vast terraced vineyards sprinkled with the ruins of castles and crowned by the Neiderwold, a vast forest through which a network of pleasant walks is laid. On a high, projecting spur of the hill stands the Germania monument or the "Watch on the Rhine," a magnificent art piece which commemorates the victories of the Franco-Prussian war. From this point a grand view is obtained of the Rhine as it winds along through the level country we had just passed into the valleys, among the castellated hills we are yet to visit. Our last Sunday on the continent is spent here and we visit the Reinstein castle, one of the best preserved castles of olden times. It is not a ruin as many of them are. It does not stand gaunt and grim against the blue sky and show the fleecy clouds through sashless windows, but remains almost as perfect as when its former tenants lived there years gone by. One cannot tire of viewing these old ruins and wandering through the forests and vine clad hills, while a halo of romance hangs over it all.

MR. WILSON'S AMENDMENTS.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 21, 1891.

Editors Bicycling World:

Dear Sirs: As I am responsible for two of the proposed amendments to the Constitution of the L. A. W., notice of which was lately given by publication in the Official Department of your paper, I desire to give, and ask you to publish over my name, my reasons for believing that these amendments should be adopted. The first of these provides that the Executive Committee shall annually advertise for proposals for the privilege of publishing the official L. A. W. Bulletin, and shall award that privilege, after publicly opening the bids, to the highest responsible bidder. In the interest of freedom of speech I shall, for the time being, consider that you are not the holders of this privilege which, I believe, costs you $300 per year, and shall write as though for public action in a purely disinterested paper. Your sense of the propriety of keeping its members fully informed on all subjects which concern the League will, of course, prompt you to publish this letter. In the selection of a League paper, many things are to be considered. Most people will say at once that the most important of these is the question of money return to the League. Another naturally suggesting itself is the desirability of the paper as such. Still another is whether, in making their selection the Executive Committee have dealt fairly with those who give value to the privilege, namely, the advertisers. As to the last question I hardly think that any truthful and well informed man will continue to say that they have. The advertiser seeks the journal with a large circulation, not unnaturally. He is not accustomed to inquiring into the particulars of that circulation. He may desire to know to what class of people the paper goes, but it probably never occurs to him to ask whether those who get the paper read it. Yet there can be no question that if the paper in which he pays for space is not looked at by those who receive it, he is not getting the worth of his money. He rightly considers that he takes chances enough of his card escaping notice under the most favorable circumstances, but he has a right to expect that a large majority of those who get the paper shall at least look through it. My investigations, and they have been carefully made, convince me that the advertiser is not being fairly dealt with for the reason that, though the circulation of the Bicycling World, barring exchanges and the like, is as large as the membership and, I think, just about 300 larger, yet not more than one in twenty of those who receive the paper even look at it, and of those who do fully one-half are officials who must, perforce, in order to keep posted as to what appears in the Official Department. I attribute this condition of affairs to the fact that (pardon the criticism) the Bicycling World is desperately lacking in interest, and that no effort whatever seems to be made to have its coming looked forward to with pleasure. Being myself a newspaper man I know too much to offer another suggestion as to how to run his paper, but I also know a good paper from a poor one.

The fact that the getting of the paper free is held out as one of the inducements to prospective League members should not be considered lightly. If we promise a child an apple for doing a certain thing we have not made that promise good if we give him rotten fruit, and to my mind the promise of a bicycle paper made to those who join the League carries with it the implication that the paper shall be a good one. That the privilege of publishing the official Bulletin has a value is proven by the fact that the present holders pay $300 a year for that privilege. That is all right as far as it goes, but it seems to me eminently proper that some means of fairly estimating the value of the privilege should be provided. There should be a means of raising the ante, so to speak, and this would be provided by the adoption of my amendment. That the ante would be raised in a very marked degree there can be no doubt, as I know one publisher who says that he would avail himself of the chance to offer very much more than $300 for the privilege the BICYCLING WORLD now holds, and another, much more definite, who says he would gladly pay at least $1000 for the same.

This being the case, it is not just that the chance to add to the resources of the League should be neglected. Nor, indeed, are the Executive Committee just to themselves, as they by their action lay themselves open to the suspicion that they personally benefit by the contract in one way or another, a suspicion which is not allayed by the manner in which the BICYCLING WORLD defends and lauds any action the Executive Committee may see fit to take. Neither does it seem just that one Executive Committee should have power to bind by such contract succeeding administrations without limit. I am aware that this has been done, and that the present contract has yet several years to run. The amendment under discussion aims merely to prevent the doing of such a thing again. The other amendment touches eligibility to membership in the League. At present any male of good character, eighteen years of age or over may enter, be he white, black, red or yellow. According to the letter of the law, bad character, extreme youth, professionalism and petticoats are the only four things which can act as a bar. My amendment makes eligible "any white amateur cyclist." This last word is for the benefit of the ladies, who I am sure cannot, and would not if they could, be called wheel*men*. Very many ladies now hold membership cards, and I am glad, very glad they do, but the fact remains that they cannot do so legally as the Constitution stands to-day. Let us change the word and make it all right. I did not insert the word "white" for the purpose of giving those who do not believe in the color line a chance to rant, but simply because the matter has been frequently and urgently called to my attention. I look upon the present construction as an omission, for I do not believe that the admission of colored persons to League membership was ever contemplated. Yet under the present law they can enter, and indeed I question whether, as things are now, they could well be kept out. The District of Columbia has had at least one colored member. There is nothing on the application blank calculated to give the Secretary a pointer as to the applicant's color, even if the Secretary were disposed to make an issue of the matter, and three colored "reputable citizens" would be hard to distinguish, by their signatures, from three white ones.

As to the necessity for this part of the proposed amendment, I will only say that the matter is attracting attention, and that if it is not acted upon by the adoption of some such amendment as I suggest, the League will lose more white members than it will ever gain from the ranks of the colored brethren.

G. P. WILSON.

WAR IN CHICAGO.

THERE is war between the Jackson Club and Cook County Wheelmen of Chicago. At their meeting last Wednesday evening, the wheelmen withdrew from the meeting, and in the grab for the charter some articles of furniture were broken in the melee. Briefly stated the trouble is as follows: Early last December a large party of wheelmen withdrew from the Washington Cycling Club and formed the Cook County Wheelmen. Finding that a large social element could be induced to join were they catered to, the wheelmen formed the Jackson Club, a separate and distinct organization within an organization, created for social purposes. Soon, however, this (social) tail grew and began to wag vigorously the (cycling) dog. The latter, of course, resented such conduct, and as is too often the case it has resulted in war. The Cook County Wheelmen claim it was a clear case to oust them entirely, and the Jackson Club say it's no such thing. At its meeting Jan. 3d, the club had 52 charter members, and Jan. 24th 142 members were admitted. Aug. 1st the combined membership was 397, possibly 97 of this number being active wheelmen. The officers of the two clubs were similar in many respects, except that they held different positions in the different clubs. At the July meeting the trouble, which had been brewing ever since wheeling opened up this season, was first brought to light. In joint session the clubs appointed a committee of six, three from each club, to draft a set of by-laws under which the combined government could travel harmoniously. This committee consisting of Dr. Abbott, Chairman, John Penny, Secretary, and Harry Pratt for the Jackson Club; and C. E. Graham, W. L. Whitson, and P. D. Fenn for the Cook County Wheelmen. The wheelmen committee were cute enough to elect one of the Jackson Club chairman, thus giving them a majority in the voting. A majority report and also a minority report were then drawn up. Thus the matter stood at last Wednesday evening's meeting. By a majority vote the Jackson Club changed the rules so that a majority instead of two-thirds' vote carried, and thus they had not enough votes to within seven for a two-thirds' vote, and thus put every thing their own way. When Dr. Abbott who, though appointed by the social element, was with the wheelmen, got up to give an explanation, as did also Graham, they were both sat upon. Then it was that 41 wheelmen (there were 112 present of both clubs) arose, grabbed the charter, and withdrew. The Cook County Wheelmen's charter had been properly recorded, and the Jackson Club's charter they had failed to record. The latter, upon the withdrawal of the wheelmen, went into active session, and illegally, it is claimed, as Cook County Wheelmen, sold all rights to property, etc., of the Cook County Wheelmen for a consideration. To see the point here, remember that a member of one club was a member of the other as well. The minority report was submitted to the Jackson Club and accepted unanimously, and the Cook County Wheelmen were disbanded.

The wheelmen who had withdrawn then held a meeting upstairs and rejected the majority report and discharged the committee; thus they stand just as they did before. I am advised that a corporation cannot be disbanded unless all debts are paid, and theirs were not. The wheelmen were fooled by letting in the social element in too great numbers. Members of the two clubs are exceeding wroth but, nevertheless, very noncommittal. The denouement will be watched with interest.

"THE LOUNGER."

MR. HENRY G. PRIEST of the Quadrant Cycle Co., Birmingham, England, expects to arrive in the United States about the commencement of October.

He will be glad to receive communications from any substantial firms desiring to represent the Quadrant Cycle Co. in any specified territory.

ANOTHER "CENTURY" CLUB.

WASHINGTON enters the list with a century wheel club. Although there are several clubs in the city, this is the first century club in the field. The club was organized at a well attended meeting of wheelmen on Wednesday, August 19th. The meeting was largely the outcome of the recent trip of Mr. E. B. Terry from Washington to Boston by wheel, he having met several members of such clubs in other cities en route. Those present were determined that the Nation's Capitol, with its vast army of wheelmen, should no longer be behind the times in this respect, and an organization was speedily effected. The new club will be known as the Crescent Century Wheelmen, and to be eligible for membership the applicant must have ridden 100 miles in sixteen hours or less.

Members of the club are also pledged to participate in the semi-annual 100-mile runs of the club.

Those members who do not belong to the L. A. W. will send in their applications sometime in the near future, as it is intended the Crescent Century Wheelmen shall be a League club. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, September 2d, when the committee on constitution and by-laws will report progress. It is also expected that Captain Espey will announce the date and route of the first century run of the club. As the members are all veteran riders of the wheel, the club is already an assured success.

MISSOURI B. AND A. C. ENTERTAINMENT.

A GRAND musical and athletic entertainment was given at the pretty club house of the M. B. and A. C. last night for the purpose of raising funds for equipping the recently acquired grounds in Compton Avenue Park. It was a big success in every way, and fully 150 of the members were in attendance. The large tennis court was gaily decked with Japanese lanterns, and made a most pleasing appearance. The programme opened with a short address by President Holm. This was followed by selections by the Crescent Mandolin and Guitar Club. Messrs. Bergen and Libori of the Missouri Gymnasium then gave an exhibition of the manly art, consisting of three 2-minute rounds. W. D. Hussuny, as a dialect comedian and his impersonations of prominent actors were among the best ever seen here. A guitar duet by Messrs. Sirninger and Hills was warmly applauded. Club swinging by Theo. Koppen was a fine exhibition, after which there was an intermission for refreshments. The second part of the programme opened with a selection by the Crescent Guitar and Mandolin Club, followed by a very fine guitar solo by R. L. Sirninger. W. D. Hussuny made his reappearance as negro, and created more genuine fun than has been enjoyed in the club house for many a day. A tug of war on the tennis court then took place between the cyclists and athletes, best two pulls out of three. The contest was awarded to the athletes. A quarter mile run followed, for a 20 pound water-melon, which the winner was obliged to carry home. In spite of this outrageous condition many entered, and the race was won in four heats. It created endless enthusiasm, and Knapp was decided a winner.

"LINNEUS."

FROM SPRINGFIELD.

A FEW of the posters of the Peoria (Ill.) Bicycle Club have lately appeared in town. These announce among other things that the Peoria track is the fastest in the world. But Springfield intends to claim that for herself, and from present appearances her chances of proving her claim are good.

So far only two trials have been made, in one of which a world's record was established, and in another, that of W. F. Murphy last week, three American records were broken. Now of course Springfield wheelmen will not be satisfied until they have not only the American but the world's record in that greatest race, the mile on the pneumatic safety.

In view of this the trial of Murphy last Monday is encouraging. Murphy, it is conceded, is not now in the best of training, and yet on his first trial he smashed the former American record by nearly three seconds. That ishe took off three of the ten seconds between the American and that remarkable English record of 2.16.

But there are other men besides Murphy who are going to have their try at the mile. Windle, who has been lying low all the year, gave every one a surprise at Rochester and apparently demonstrated himself Murphy's superior. Windle stopped over here when he was going to Rochester, and said he was coming to Springfield to try for records before long. He was confident, it is said, that he could beat the English record on our track.

Hendee is said to be doing great work on the pneumatic safety and it is thought will push Windle hard. Berlo demonstrated in Rochester what he could do and his friends say when he is well trained he will be as likely a candidate for first prize in the mile as any of them.

The men who went from here to Rochester have returned and the trials for records will probably begin again in the middle of this week. Another of the representatives of the Manhatten Club, J. W. Schrefer of New York, arrived Friday and the others are expected soon. The team will have at least ten men in all.

PHILADELPHIA TURNER WHEELMEN.

THE many cyclers among the membership of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde of Philadelphia, Pa., (German athletes) had often expressed the desire of forming a bicycle section of above society. The scheme never materialized, however, until August 16th, '91, when about 20 wheelmen of the Turngemeinde, meeting at their hall, 431-435 North Sixth street, for a preliminary spin, wended their way to Valley Green on the lovely Wissahickon; while at Devil's Pool occasion was taken to form the organization by electing pro. tem. officers. The newly formed section expects to appear on the road with a following of 30 men, in the near future, under the name of Philadelphia Turner Wheelmen. The section is open to members of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde only. As some are members of the L. A. W. steps were immediately taken to form a League club, and it is expected that by fall to have it enrolled as such. R. H.

THE HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

"The Meeting of the Champions" is the title applied to the 8th annual tournament of the Hartford Wheel Club which occurs Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 7th and 8th, at Charter Oak Park, the record breaking track of America. The title is aptly applied, as the list of entries, which closes Sept. 1st, will already show that the fastest men in the country will compete in the several races for the magnificent prizes offered. Among those whose names will be recognized are W. W. Windle, W. F. and C. M. Murphy, Hoyland Smith, A. A. Zimmerman, W. W. Taxis, H. B. Arnold, J. A. Draper, W. M. Cannon, A. B. Rich, P. J. Berlo, G. M. Worden, S. B. Bowman, J. H Schofer, Banker and Brinker, the famous Buffalo tandem team, and a hundred other lesser lights of the wheeling arena who will unquestionably give a good account of themselves in a short time.

In the class races there will be the largest number of new riders, fast ones, too, than ever met before in any tournament in this country.

The events in which these men compete include the quarter and half-mile, the mile and two-mile races, including the two-mile national championship. It is expected that at least a half dozen present American records will be broken during the two days of the meet, and the arrangements now in the course of perfection will be of the best for the riders, and every facility will be offered to wheelmen for comfort and convenience.

The Constitutional Convention and the meet of the Connecticut Division of the L. A. W. are to be held here the same week of the tournament. The tournament, convention and meet combined will bring together here the largest assembly of wheelmen from all over the country than any other occasion of a similar nature in the United States.

In view of the assurance of a large number of visiting wheelmen, Hartford will expend over $1100 for their entertainment, and those who do come will be royally received and entertained.

The parade of the wheelmen will be one of the interesting features of the occasion. President Dunn will be the Grand Marshal, and his aides will be selected from among the prominent wheelmen of the country.

Joseph Goodman.

TRANSPORTATION TO HARTFORD.

Complete arrangements have been made for the transportation of visitors there to the Hartford Tournament and to the Constitutional Convention, which is to be held during the week commencing September 7th. Excursion tickets will be sold from all points on the Trunk Line Association, and all members of the New York and Boston Passenger Association have agreed for a fare and one-third for the round trip on the certificate plan. Parties attending from St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, and Albany will find the most direct route is by the way of the New York Central and Hudson River and the Boston and Albany railroads, which run through sleeping cars to Springfield, Mass., where connections are made with all through trains for Hartford. Parties from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia should buy tickets over the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads. The Boston and Albany railroad will sell tickets from Boston to Hartford on the certificate plan for $3.75. and for $2.35 from Worcester. The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad will sell tickets from New York to Hartford on the certificate plan for $3, and parties from New York, Brooklyn and New Jersey are directed to purchase tickets at the Grand Central Depot, in New York.

Excursion tickets will be sold, including admission to the park, from Bridgeport, $2.00; from New Haven, $1.50; from Meriden, $1.00; from Springfield, $1.45. Persons from Middletown, South Norwalk, and Stamford, Conn., can buy tickets on the certificate plan for a fare and a third for the round trip.

Persons attending the tournament should pay full fare one way and when buying their ticket should ask for a certificate, and upon presentation to Mr. Joseph Goodman at Room No. 12, United States Hotel, Hartford, for endorsement, a return fare of one-third will be granted.

An excursion train from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and way stations, will be run to the tournament at Hartfrod on September 7th. Tickets $1.50. The train leaves Poughkeepsie at six o'clock A. M.

All persons buying tickets on the certificate plan should remember to do so at least thirty minutes before train time. Tickets will be on sale Saturday, September 5th. Joseph Goodman.

THE PEORIA MEET.

That Peoria is not to be outdone in prize list this year, or in fact in any respect, is shown by the prize list, which is unquestionably the finest ever offered in the world for a cycling contest. The list is yet being added to, hence publication will be deferred a short time, but as the list already includes a Sohmer grand piano, listing at $1,250, another piano, listing at $600; $1,000 worth of cycles such as the Columbia, Victor, Pneumatic Rambler, Rush, Union, Sylph, etc., etc., and $2,200 in value of other goods, such as stop watches, silver ware, desks, medals, cups, bric-a-brac, etc., etc., aggregating $5,050 it will readily be seen that the prize in each and every race will be well worth the best effort of each contestant, and that the fastest men will all be there can be depended upon, rumors vague and otherwise to the contrary notwithstanding.

That fast time will be made and many records go is as certain as that such would not be the case were not expenses paid. It is a significant fact that since the days of Billy Rowe and the other fast men of the days of "Makers' Amateurs," when expenses were paid by the leading manufacturers, no records worth mentioning have been broken until the much better plan was adopted of payment of expenses by the clubs last year. The public want fast races and to see records broken, and as this can be accomplished only by keeping men in training and in a measure under restraint all the season it is difficult to understand how the advocates of an angelic amateur rule can hope to give good tournaments. Certainly no more gentlemanly or better class of men ever competed than will contest this fall, hence it is difficult to understand the objection to the payment of expenses under reasonable limitations, such as any club managed by business men will naturally place. There has been so much misunderstanding in the West as to the position of the East on various matters, and in the East as to the opinion of "the West" as to the expense matter, that it seems no more than right to set forth the opinion of a portion at least of that section.

The program for the entertainment of visiting wheelmen this year will far surpass all previous efforts. In fact the policy of the Peoria Club has always been not to try to make as much money as possible, but to see how much they can spend in entertaining visitors. There is no inside syndicate pocketing profits, as was the case in the old (not present) Springfield days, and every dollar of the receipts go to the club treasury. Yet, notwithstanding the success of the tournament of 1890, the net profit was less than $800, because of the large amounts spent in advertising and entertainment. Seeing that Springfield and Hartford have published the cost of their music, we will say that we pay Spencer's Seventh Regiment Band and Orchestra $175, which price is a very special one, made to the tournament, made low for the same reason that inclines Peoria merchants to donate many prizes outright.

Peoria extends to every wheelman a most cordial invitation to attend her tournament, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 18 and 19, and guarantees every visitor a right royal good time Everybody from the Mayor down will endeavor to make every visitor feel at home, and the programme of entertainment will be so complete that every moment will be fully occupied and visitors will be sent home feeling as happy and satisfied as has been the case at both previous tournaments—and that is saying a great deal, as our former guests will testify. H. G. R.

THE SPRINGFIELD TOURNAMENT.

Transportation. The railroads mentioned in the list given herewith will make special arrangements for the transportation of all who, living on their lines, desire to attend the tournament. Tickets will be issued on the certificate plan, the passenger paying full fare one way and getting a return ticket at one-third of its face value. The railroads are: Addison and Pennsylvania, Allegheny Valley, Baltimore and Ohio, Baltimore and Potomac, Bennington and Rutland, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, Camden and Atlantic, Central of New Jersey, Central Vermont, Chesapeake and Ohio, Cumberland Valley, Delaware and Hudson Canal company, Delaware, Lackawana and Western, Elmira, Cortland and Northern, Fall Brook Coal company, Fitchburg, Grand Trunk, Lehigh Valley, New York Central and Hudson River, New York, Lake Erie and Western, New York, Ontario and Western, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk, Northern Central, Pennsylvania Central, Philadelphia and Erie, Philadelphia and Reading, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg, Western New York and Pennsylvania, West Jersey, West Shore. The Boston and Albany road have also announced that they will carry bicycles free to and from the tournament, on trains yet to be announced. Besides these, all roads entering the city will offer greatly reduced rates for local travel.

PROVIDENCE TOURNAMENT.

E. C. Anthony of Taunton, appeared on a pneumatic safety for the first time at Attleboro track, Saturday the 22nd. He took everything in which he was entered. In fact his competitors did not belong in the same class with him. He will have a chance to test his powers with men of his own class at the Rhode Island Wheelmen's tournament at Providence, September 5th, when he will meet Windle, Murphy, Berlo, Smith, and many of the Chicago cracks.

Barrett left Chicago the 19th on a trip East. He will endeavor to get in a week of good training at Narragansett Park for the Rhode Island Wheelmen's tournament September 5th. Should he get in good shape, the finish with Murphy and Windle will be worth going miles to see.

This will probably be the last year that the Rhode Island Wheelmen will be compelled to use Narragansett Park for their races. There is a move on foot by the Rhode Island Athletic club, to build a first-class track for sports. If they take hold of the matter, the track will be one that every rider can point to with pride. The members of the Athletic club are business men as well as lovers of sports, and affairs will move along in good order and the surface of the track will be as fine as the best track builders can make it.

The advertising committee of the Wheelmen's tournament have made a great hit in offering a valuable prize to the club that will sell the largest number of entrance tickets to the race meet September 5th. There is a warm competition between the Providence Cycling Club and the Narragansett Wheelmen for the prize. The effect has been to advertise the race meet to almost every man, woman, and child in the State, as nearly everyone has been or will be button-holed by some member of one of the competing clubs.

THE MUSIC AT SPRINGFIELD.

The services of the Overman Wheel Band for both days of the coming tournament have been kindly tendered the Springfield Bicycle Club through the generosity of the Overman Wheel Co. The program for both days is as follows:

First Day. March—Sonsonian, Casey; overture—William Tell, Rossini; description—A Hunting Scene, Bucalossi; the Ball of the Hen Coop Knights, Lanendean; selection—Reminiscences of Scotland, Godfrey; galop—the Alarm, Komoak.

Second Day. March—Battery B, Heed; overture—"Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicoli; dance—"Ethiopia," Reeves; bouquet of melodies, Collin; description—episode in a policeman's life, Reeves; galop—Park Point, Brooke. John W. Drown, Secretary Springfield Bicycle Club.

A DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE.

We had the pleasure last week of thoroughly testing one of Gormully & Jeffery's new diamond-frame Ramblers. It was fitted with a cushion tire, and its ease of riding was most luxurious, vibration being reduced to a minimum, while over cobbles the easy swing of the spring frame was remarkable. The wheel handles beautifully, not the least of its merits being the light steering, which is so steady as to be almost automatic. The veriest tyro need have no difficulty in riding it hands off. Down hill the famous bearings assert themselves in coasting, and it is a good climber on the up grades. Altogether, the wheel was a delightful surprise, and we should fancy that once a prospective buyer tested it he would be satisfied with nothing less. About the only improvement we could suggest would be a lighter weight machine on the same model (which is a most excellent one, the new diamond bracing it perfectly) for the lighter and more experienced riders who are blessed with fine riding districts. For them such a wheel would be the ne plus ultra. But for the average rider on the every-day give-and-take American country roads this machine will prove its value. No need of having a pneumatic on one's mind like a nightmare, when a spring frame, cushion-tired wheel like the Rambler can be gotten.—Sporting Life, Philadelphia.

A CENTURY RUN FOR BOSTON.

That energetic wheelmen, A. D. Peck, Jr., desires us to announce that on September 19 he proposes to hold a century run. We shall give details in our next issue, but at present we can say that the start will be from the Boston Athletic Club house at 6 A. M., Saturday, September 19. There will be two pace makers, and the pace will be limited to 8 miles per hour. Participants will not be allowed to run ahead of the pacemakers, and scorching will be absolutely forbidden. In fact the strictest enforcement of the maintenance of the 8-mile-an-hour pace will be made. The route has not yet been laid out in detail, but we shall give full particulars as soon as this is done. In the meantime those desiring to join the run address A. D. Peck, Jr., care Pope Mfg. Co., Franklin street, Boston.

SECOND DAY OF THE ROCHESTER MEET.

Thursday, August 20.

A great many of the wheelmen left for their homes after the races on Wednesday, but notwithstanding the fact there were a great many left, and the business meeting which was held in the Powers Hotel in the morning and the run to Charlotte was well patronized by visitors, and a casual observer would have known by the large number of wheelmen on the streets that there was something going on which bicycles were more or less connected.

At the business meeting of the New York State Division, L, A. W., which was called to order at ten o'clock in room 115 of the Powers Hotel. Chief Consul Bull, of Buffalo, presided, and J. N. Williams, President of Crescent Cycle Club, acted as Secretary pro tem. The only business of any importance which was transacted was the unanimous adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the New York Division favor the proposed amendment to the L. A. W. Constitution, providing that three-fourths membership shall be sufficient to qualify wheeling clubs as League clubs.

Resolved, That the attachment of clubs to the L. A. W. is of great advantage and material benefit to the League; that the advancement of wheeling generally and of the L. A. W. should be promoted, and that it is the duty of the League to afford every facility to welcome clubs throughout the country, and to establish conditions which shall make it possible for all such clubs to join it.

Resolved, That the New York State Division favors the adoption of the proposed amendment to the L. A. W. Constitution, making the presidential term one year instead of two.

Resolved, That the wheelmen who have attended the Rochester meet of 1891, tender to the wheelmen of Rochester, to the municipal authorities and citizens, their sincere thanks for the excellent manner in which they have been welcomed and entertained, and for their hospitality.

In the morning over one hundred visiting wheelmen enjoyed the run to Ontario Beach over the cinder path, returning in time for dinner and the races which came off at 1.30 o'clock.

THE RACES.

The races were not so well patronized as on Wednesday, and it was without doubt owing to the eagerness of the management to make as many dollars as possible by charging for the grand stands, something which the managers of the circuit races do not think of doing, except for the box stand, which it is perfectly right to charge for. There were less than 2,000 people present, and the stands were nearly empty. But notwithstanding the small crowd the races were fine and the crowd present thoroughly enjoyed every event.

Some good time was made and two records broken. Here is a detailed statement:

One-mile novice, ordinary—This was the best novice race ever run in the city, and in fact was one of the best races of the day. The pace set was a scorcher, and it did not seem possible that it could be kept up, but it was, and they came down the stretch like a whirlwind with McTaggart in the foreground, and Noonan a close second. The rest finished in the following order: L. Messurier, F. A. Tracy, G. Griswold, F. C. Milligan, A. E. Ladd. The time by quarters was 39 1-5, 1.20 3-5, 2.07 3-5, 2.47.

One-mile open, ordinary—This race was something of a loaf and it was not ridden in as fast time as the novice. Carman set the pace and the rest were well bunched. The spurt began at the three-quarters, and A. A. Zimmerman won by 8 yards, W. M. Carman second, and W. W. Taxis third. Time by quarters, 46, 1.29 1-5, 2.13 3-5, 2.50 2-5.

Two-mile safety, W. N. Y. championship. Buffalo was in the race for glory, sure, in fact they had a hot water clinch on it. Green of Lockport was in a company too fast for him, and he hung on the egdes. The racers were well bunched all the way, with Dorntge in lead at the finish of the first mile and Penseyres, Banker, Greenand Brinker following in single file. C. W. Dorntge held the lead all the way around and finished first by six yards. F. M. Brinker was second; W. D. Banker, third; W. H. Penseyres, fourth. Time: first mile, 3.15; second mile 6.24 2-5.

One-mile handicap, safety. This race was another record breaker, and proved to be the greatest race of the day. W. F. Murphy (scratch) broke his own record which was the world's for a mile in competition, and made at Hartford on July 4th, same being 2.26 1-5. Murphy was in splendid form and the conditions were favorable. He made the mile in 2.25 4-5. His riding was phenomenal. He caught the field near the half-mile pole, and gradually passed one after another, and came down the stretch with a wonderful spurt, finishing first by 15 yards, with C. W. Dorntge, 30 yds., second; G. L. Prescott, 150 yds., third. Time by quarters, 36 1.11 4-5, 1.50 3 5, 2 25 4-5.

One-mile, 3 10 class, safety. The pace was a good one, and it was made by W. Conally, who finished just by ten yards, with J. A. Wilson, second; W. G. Schack, third. Time 2.58 1-5.

Two-mile, handicap, ordinary. W. M. Carman set the pace, but broke a spoke on the stretch of the first mile and dropped out. Servis finished it first, followed by Fuller, Taxis, Arnold and Zimmerman. Servis could not keep the pace, and A. A Zimmerman (scratch) came to the front and finished first by 10 yds., with W. W. Taxis, 60 yds., second; H. B. Arnold, 100 yds., third; F. T. Servis, 170 yds., fourth, all being bunched. Time: first mile, 2.52 2-5; second mile, 5.44 4-5.

Two-mile open, safety. This race was another record breaker. The first prize was a Featherstone pneumatic safety, and they all wanted it. The pace was a scorcher and was set by W. F. Murphy to the half when C. M. Murphy took it and carried it to the mile. The first mile was finished as follows: C. M. Murphy, W. F. Murphy, Windle, Berlo, Smith. The second mile they were well bunched, and when the three-quarters was struck they were hustling. Down the stretch they came, and W. W. Windle forged ahead, finishing first by a couple of yards, with W. F. Murphy, second; H. Smith, third; P. J. Berlo, fourth, and C. M. Murphy, fifth. Time: first mile, 2.54 3-5; two miles, 5.48 1-5. Windle rode the last quarter in 30 4-5 seconds, which now stands in the world's record, "flying quarter."

One mile, 2.50 class, ordinary. The men started off in a bunch, and not much racing was done until the stretch was reached when Iven and E. E. Servis had a pretty finish. It was a hard fight and E. E. Servis won by three yards. C. J. Iven, second; F. T. Servis, third. Time 2.53.

Half-mile open, safety. There was a big field on the card, but Windle, Zimmerman, Rich, Dorntge, Worden, Banker, Penseyres, Brinker, and Merrill failed to start. It was P. J. Berlo's race, and he finished a good first by 3 1-2 yards, with W. W. Taxis, second; H. Smith, third. Time 1.21 3-5.

One-mile, open, tandem. F. M. Brinker, W. D. Banker, B. A. C.; W. H. Penseyres, C. W. Dorntge, B. A. C. Like the tandem race on Wednesday, it was strictly a Buffalo fight. They were together all the way around, and had not Penseyres and Dorntge swerved to the right on the home stretch they probably would have won the race. As it was Brinker and Banker won by a bare 12 inches. Time 3.12. The last quarter was made in 35 3-5.

Two-mile, six minute class, safety. This was a hot race. At the start Prescott set the pace, and when the men came under the wire at the end of the first mile they were well bunched, and were as follows: Prescott, Servis, Penseyres, Trenaman, Brinker, Conally, Dukelow. The second mile was a rapid one. When Conally, Servis and Penseyres pulled ahead and had a scorcher down the stretch, C. J. Conally made a spurt and finished first by a yard, with F. J. Servis, second, and W. H. Penseyres, third. Time: first mile, 3.14; second mile, 5.57 3-5.

The last event on the programme was a one mile professional unicycle race, open. W. H. Barber, Rochester, being the only man entered, the race was declared off. Iven and Carman were going to try and lower the tandem records from one to five miles, but as they got nicely started their chain broke, and they were obliged to give up the attempt as they had no other machine.

The meet came to an end at Ontario Beach in the evening. Some of the wheelmen went to the lake from the race track, and at 7.30 o'clock about 200 persons sat down to supper. At nine o'clock Assemblyman Parsons distributed the prizes in the Cottage Hotel Pavilion, and the most successful meet ever held in this state came to a close.

It was a splendid gathering, and every one present expressed themselves as thoroughly pleased with their entertainment. The committees in charge are to be congratulated. W. W. R.

RACES AT SHELBINA.

The races held at Shelby County fair on August 19 and 20 were very successful, barring the heavy track, and all the riders are loud in their praises of the treatment accorded them by Local Consul Connolly. The M. B. and A. C. carried off most of the honors, as their representative Jno. W. Bowman, captured no less than three first prizes. The medals are very elegant, and are the costliest ever given in this State. The following is the summary:

One mile handicap—J. W. Bowman, 110 yards, first; Bert Harding, St. L. C. C., second. Time, 2.51 3-4.

Two mile handicap—J. W. Bowman, 220 yards, first; A. G. Harding, St. L. C. C., scratch, second. Time, 5.51 1-2.

One mile handicap—J. W. Bowman, 110 yards, first; W. A. Todd, St. L. C. C., second. Time, 2.54 1-2.

Three mile handicap—W. A. Todd, 80 yards, first; A. G. Harding, second. Time, 9.15.

Half mile scratch—A. G. Harding, first; W. A. Todd, second. Time, 1.39 1-2.

All the races were safety events. Linneus.

THE ALTON (ILL.) RACES.

Whenever Jupiter Pluvius does not interfere to spoil a race meet in this locality, old Boreas takes a hand and makes things very uncomfortable for both spectators and contestants. This was the cause of the slow time made at the St. Louis Cycling Club races at Alton on Saturday, August 22. In spite of all these drawbacks the attendance was fair. The events were seven in number and resulted as follows:

One mile ordinary, 3.10 class—Geo. E. Tivy, first; T. B. Graham, second. Time, 3.49.

One mile safety, 3.20 class—G. E. Tivy, first; W. J Cox, second. Time, 3.07 1-5.

Quarter-mile safety, open—O. L. Rule, first; H. J. Fath, second. Time, 42 1-5.

Two mile ordinary, handicap—O. L. Rule, scratch, first; E. J. Rotty, 175 yards, second. Time, 6.54 1-5.

One mile safety, open—O. L. Rule, first; G. E. Tivy, second. Time, 3.09 4-5.

Half mile ordinary, open—O. L. Rule, first; G. E. Tivy, second. Time, 1.43 2-5.

Three mile safety, handicap—O. L. Rule, first; H. J. Fath, second. Time, 9.30.

Geo. K. Barrett, of Chicago, was present, and by request rode an exhibition mile, and being paced by H. J. Fath covered the distance in 2.45 2-5.

The slow time was also in a measure due to the soft condition of track, which was spoilt by recent heavy rains. Linneus.

COLUMBIA CYCLERS' ROAD RACE.

On Saturday afternoon, over the Park avenue course on Montgomery avenue, from Bryn Mawr to city line, was run the five-mile road race of the Columbia Cyclers which drew a large number of spectators. The order of finish was as follows:

W. W. Owens, 1m. handicap, first. Time 14.27 4-5. Frank Kind, 2.45 handicap, second. Time 16.17. J. Grant High, .50 handicap, third. Time 14.28. Fay Dunkelberger, 2.30 handicap, fourth. Time 16.39; J. C. Gracey, 3m. handicap, fifth. Time 17.11. A. A. Gracey, scratch, sixth. Time 14.15. J. B. Fountaine, Jr., 1m. handicap, seventh. Time 15.26. E. O. Rose, 60s., eighth. Time 15.08. Harry Boyer, 2.30, ninth. Time 17.08. J. N. Enochs, 2.30, tenth. Time 17.10.

LANTERN PARADE OF THE PHILADELPHIA CLUBS.

At the meeting of the club captains, held at the house of the Park Avenue Wheelmen last week, at which seventeen clubs were represented, it was decided to hold a second annual parade on the evening of October 1st, and the following route was decided upon: Form on 18th street, down Montgomery avenue to Broad, to Columbia avenue, countermarch to Huntingdon, then to Diamond, out Diamond to 22d, back to Broad, to Columbia, then dismiss. J. B. Fontaine, Jr., is chairman of the committee, and Captain French of the Mt. Vernon Wheelmen, secretary and treasurer. "Ariel."

Philadelphia, Aug. 21st, 1891.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

At Philadelphia.—The first annual race meet of the Philadelphia Outing Club was given at Athletic Ball park on last Saturday afternoon, the day being a most delightful one. There was a fair attendance and the events were well contested. Taxis did not ride, having just returned from Rochester. Summary:

One-mile novice, eleven entries, won by J. Stewart Groupe, of the South End Wheelmen, with Frank Nelms, of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, second. Time, 3.00 3-4.

Quarter-mile safety, J. R. Hazleton first, with S. H. Crawford second. Time, 38 seconds. Captain C. N. Lancaster won the mile safety novice of the club, with Clyder Shaffner second, in 3.11.

The one-mile safety handicap brought out the usual large field of entries, and the first prize, a silver cup, fell to J. S. Groupe, 160 yards, who rode a very pretty race, with Warren L. Welch, of Wissahickon, second. Time, 2.38 3-5.

One-mile safety handicap, P. O. C., Clyde Shaffner, 250 yards, winning from Captain C. N. Lancaster, also 250 yards, in 2.42 1-5.

In the one-mile tandem handicap the A. C. S. N. team at scratch could not pull up the 175 yards given J. C. Donnelly and S. H. Crawford, who scored a win in 2.29 4-5. Draper and Kelly, the well-known "Navy" flyers, came in about a dozen yards behind the winners.

A one-mile match race between George T. Heilig and J. G. Crawford resulted in a win for the former. Time, 3.38 3-5.

One-mile ordinary handicap, J. H. Draper, of the A. C. S. N., 35 yards, finished first, with Frank Nelms, Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, 160 yards, second. Time, 2.47 1-5.

The third P. O. C. race, a quarter-mile handicap, was taken handily by J. R. Hazleton, scratch; Clyde Shaffner, 50 yards, second. Time, 38 seconds.

J. C. Donnelly, of the Oxford Wheelmen, won the mile three-minute class race, with J. A. Mead, Quaker City Wheelmen, second. Time 3.06 1-4.

The North End Wheelmen match race between J. J. Reeser and J. H. Gilson resulted in a victory for the latter. Time 3.34 3-5.

W. F. Smith won the mile safety, 3.20 class, with J. M. Wilbur, second. Time 3.13 2-5.

The presentation of prizes to the winners took place in the evening at the club's house on North Broad street, where a reception and dance was tendered the visitors. "Ariel."

At Waukesha, Wis.—The great handicap road race from Milwaukee to Waukesha came off Aug. 15, and the interest shown in the respective chances of Van Sicklen and Andrus paled all other interest as to the possible winner of the race. Both these men rode from scratch and both rode inflated tires. Van Sicklen won the race with 58 seconds to spare, consequently the Chicago contingent were happy, and the Milwaukee men correspondingly "quiet." C. W. Price with a handicap of 7 minutes won the race, time 58 52. The official time of the first ten men is N. H. Van Sicklen, (scratch), 57.46; F. T. Andrus (scratch), 58.44; C. W. Price, (7 m.), 58 52; W. C. Wegner (5m. 30s.), 59 10; W. C. Sanger (6m.), 59.39; P. Nickel (8m.), 60.15; F. Kaston (8m.), 61.25; W. B. Young (1m.), 61.55; F. W. Schmitz (8m.), 62.35; Al Morrison (10m.), 63.22. Out of the 37 starters only two ordinaries appeared.

H. J. Hall, Jr., holds the American 10-miles road record now in 29.41, made at Brooklyn, Aug. 17.

At Carthage, KY., Aug. 18.—At the fair some very interesting races were run and the results as follows:

Half-mile ordinary—C. Croninger, first; Schuler, second. Time 1 23.

One-mile safety—Roth, first; Bauers, second. Time 2.50.

One-mile safety vs. ordinary—Roth, first; Croninger, second. Time 2.51 1-4.

Half-mile safety—Jeffre, first; Seradino, second. Time 1.26.

In the trial of the Providence Club men as to who would represent that club in the team race, Sept. 5, Messrs. Hammond, Armstrong and Snow finished in the order named. There were a dozen starters.

Lowville, Sept. 17. Remember the date and be on hand to see the races to be given on that date.

Capt. Simmons of the Park Avenue Wheelmen of Philadelphia writes: "Will you kindly mention in your notes in the next issue of the Bicycling World the fact that we have cancelled the 25-mile road race, which we calculated to run in conjunction with our race meet. We have such a large list of entries for track events we think it advisable to take this move."

G. D. Moffatt, Chicago, on whose safety the American record was lowered to 30.09 for ten miles on the road, will officially survey the course. As fifteen cyclometers all gave the same measurement, it may reasonably be thought to be correct.

The Manhattan Athletic Club will give a bicycle race meet September 26th.

The Belleville races of the St. Louis Cycling Club took place on Aug. 16, and in spite of threatening weather drew a good crowd of spectators. The events were hotly contested and some fair time was made. The following is the summary:

One-mile ordinary, 3.30 class—L. J. Winckler, first; T. B. Graham, St. Louis Cycling Club, second. Time 3.21 1-4.

One-mile safety, 3.20 class—Thirteen men started. J. H. Borgess, first; G. E. Tivy, second. Time 2 53.

Quarter-mile safety, dash—A. G. Harding, first; O. L. Rule, second. Time .45.

Two-mile ordinary, handicap—Seven starters. Harding passed the first three men on the first quarter, and putting all on won handily from O. L. Rule in 5.36 1-4. O. L. Rule, second.

One-mile safety, open. Harding and Rule failed to compete, and R. M. Milford won. Herm. Fath, second. Time 2.54 1-2.

Half-mile ordinary, open—Only two starters and the finish was a foregone conclusion. A. G. Harding, first; G. E. Tivy, second. Time 1.26 1-2.

The three-mile safety, handicap, was the race of the day. It was nip and tuck between Rule and Tidd, but the latter allowed Rule to catch him on the finish, and "with his abominable spurt" he won first place. R. M. Tidd, second; L. J. Winckler, third. Time 8.58.

Harding made an attempt to break the half-mile record, being paced by Tivy, Milford and Fath, but the best he could do was 1.23.

Although Cincinnati has had a Road Race and two bicycle tournaments this year we are not ready to cry enough. We are to have a third one and as they say the third time is the charm, this one is expected to eclipse all others.

The Ohio Humane Society are to have a horse fair, etc., from the 14th to the 17th of October. One afternoon, probably the 17th, will be devoted to bicycle races. Over $2,000 in prizes will be offered, among which will be a $350 piano, a $300 buggy, a $150 organ, a $135 Warwick safety. The races will be run on the Chester Park track, which is one of the fastest tracks in the country. Mr. J. E. Poorman will have the management of the races. It is intended to have three prizes in every race. The length and character of the races will be announced later. We have "got our Dutch up" and propose to run a tournament that will be worth seeing, and don't you * * * "Star."

The Bicycle races at the Carthage (Ohio) Fair on Tuesday, August 18, which were under the management of Chas. Hanauer, were the most successful cycle races ever run on that track. The rain of the day before and the wheels of the sulkies had left the track very rough.

The half-mile, ordinary, was won by Chas. Croninger, of Covington, Ky.; Walter Schuler, second; Chas. Tudor, third; Rudy Rahe, fourth. Time, 1.23—seven starters.

One-mile, safety, Charles Roth, first; George Bauers, second; Thos. Jefferis, Louisville, Ky., third; Walter Keenan, Dayton, O., fourth. Time, 2.50—six starters.

Half-mile, boys, Geo. Rieger, first; Joe Bauers, second; H. Rentz, Newport, Ky., third. Time, 1.28 1-2—nine starters. Rentz came in second, but as he fouled Bauers second place was given to the latter.

One-mile, safety and ordinary, Chas. Roth, (safety) first; Chas. Croninger, (safety) second; Chas. Aszman, (ordinary) third. Time, 2.51—nine starters. Aszman claimed that Croninger fouled him, but as the judges did not see it the foul was not allowed.

Half-mile, safety, Jefferis, first; H. Serodine, second. Time, 1.26—seven starters. There were two false starts in this race caused by Serodino's saddle turning, Rowe and Bauers claiming they did not hear the bell on the second false start and kept on to the finish, and when the race was started the third time they stayed out.

One-mile and a half lap race for ordinaries, Aszman first and Croninger second at the end of each lap, Aszman finishing over 200 yards in the lead. Time, 4.32—seven starters. Time for each lap, 1.27 1-4, 1.30 3-4, 1.34.

The Gotham Wheelmen (New York) club races will take place over the Kingsbridge course, Sept. 7th.

The races at Lansing, Mich., on the occasion of the State Fair at that city promise to be quite a feature. The local merchants have responded nobly in the call for prizes.

W. B. Bogardus, a Buffalo high school boy, recently rode from Buffalo to Chicago, a distance of 710 miles in ten days. Considering that 50 miles of the distance was through sand and 70 miles through mud, the time is good.

The Wanderers of Buffalo will have the last of their series of club races for the season on Sept. 7th, Labor Day. It will be a 25-mile road race handicap and all the club members are invited to participate, for which there will be three medals.

The Port Dayton Wheelmen, of Herkimer, N. Y., will hold a race meeting Sept. 9. Address W. I. Taber, Herkimer, N. Y.

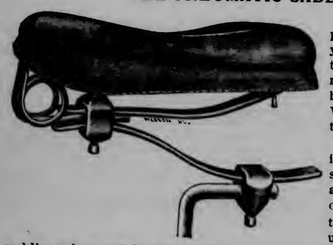
Thursday, Aug. 20, '91, the Featherstone Pneumatic Cycle Club was formed with 28 charter members. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows: President, A. Featherstone; Vice-President, J. E. Bromley, Secretary, R. C. Rueschaw; Treasurer, Ed. Rolle; Captain, John Neville. Board of Directors: A. Featherstone, Paul Haag, M. Bowheer, E. Mackenzie, Jas. W. Featherstone. The club will give medals for long distance records, and will have a racing team next year.

THE entries for the Boston Athletic Club 25-mile road race next October are already coming in fast. For blanks, etc., address A. D. Peck, Jr., care Boston Athletic Club, Boston, Mass.

VAN SICKLEN'S record for this year stands unequaled for a chain of notable victories: May 30, Pullman, 16 miles, time, 50.17; July 4, Poorman, 18 1-10 miles, 58.47; July 16, Detroit, 25 miles, 1.25.11; August 15, Milwaukee, 16.5 miles, 57.46.



MISS MARGARET KIRKWOOD writes us: "Last Sunday afforded me an opportunity to test a Rover Pneumatic (my very first trial of the inflated tire) and without intending any record I found it sufficiently enticing to make a 102 mile run. From Maplewood to Gloucester, thence to Newburyport and back, a few miles round Medford completing the mileage. A scorch from Newburyport to Salem under two hours in company with the Waltham Cycle Club afforded the chance of making quite good riding time of about 9 1-4 hours for the day.

THE "SWIFT" PNEUMATIC TOOL BAG.

THE above cut shows a Tool Bag that will doubtless increase in favor the more the pneumatic tire is used. Besides being neat and compact, it has a special compartment for the air pump, which is now supplied with every pneumatic machine. The above can be obtained from either of the Branch Houses of the Coventry Machinists' Co., at 239 Columbus avenue, Boston, or 11-13 Madison street, Chicago, Ill., for the sum of $1.50.

THE PNEUMATIC SADDLE.

ONE of the most practical things that has yet been presented to the cyclist is the Pneumatic Saddle, invented by Mr. J. A. Hunt, of Westboro, Mass., inventor of the Hunt Toe Clip.

The pneumatic top is applied directly to the springs, just the same as the leather top of any other saddle, and has the advantage of being used on any kind of saddle springs now in use, as it is manufactured with the metal pieces on under side at each end, fitted for whatever make of springs it is to be used with.

The pneumatic top is made of best oak tanned leather, in two or more parts, the underside of heavy leather and the upper side of soft and pliable stock, the two being stitched together around the sides and in the centre. It is ventilated through the centre thoroughly, and in such a way that there are no seams or sharp edges to chafe the rider.

The air is contained in rubber bladders or tubes, which fill every part of the leather casing by air pressure. The valve is on the under side, out of the way of wear, and is of part metal and locked with screw pressure, and is air tight every time.

This saddle readily adjusts itself to the shape of the rider, as it can be filled to any pressure desired, a small rubber bulb pump being sufficient to blow it up much harder than is needed for use. It has an air space of 1 1-4 inches in thickness all over the top, its shape being of as good style for fitting riders as other saddles.

On stiff springs it is claimed that it reduces the jar to something like the bound experienced when riding the pneumatic tire, relieving the back of the tired feeling so often complained of. In this one way alone it will prove a great blessing to lady cyclists, as its style is as well adapted to them as to men. Says the inventor:

"When you consider that there is no metal or stiff leather within 1 1-4 inches of the bones of the rider, you can form some idea of its comforts. It certainly has a great many advantages over any other on the market, as it is always in place and does not slip or slide sidewise, as there are no straps or cement to give out or loosen. It is solid comfort and has proved very durable, as a few have been used for sometime, the first one being made over a year ago, and greatly improved since.

The new springs invented are full as easy as the best, even when used with the regular style leather top, as there is an easy motion at the forward end to relieve the pressure when hill climbing, and also at the back when coasting, and when sitting directly in the centre of the saddle both the springs work together, with no side motion.

It has the largest possible range of adjustment at the two clamps, either end being raised or lowered or the springs stiffened to suit the rider."

These springs will be fitted with the regular plain leather top on the pneumatic top and tool bag.

Any one that has used the Hunt Toe Clip will at once know that nothing but the best of stock is used, as they stand at the head, many thousands being sold this season. A ready sale of this saddle is already assured by the orders at the present time.

Mr. Hunt will manufacture this saddle until there is a company formed to manufacture this and other things he is getting out.

THE scratch man, F. C. Graves, in the recent road handicap of the Propice Wheel Club rode the distance, 13 1-2 miles in the remarkable time of 39 minutes 16 seconds. This comes near being record. His mount was a Warwick Diamond, with pneumatic tires. The course was hilly and rough, which stamps the performance as the more remarkable.

MR. BELANGER and General Draper are no longer mutually interested in the invention of the former gentleman. General Draper got a bit tired of advancing money to put in the trial machine, and as Mr. Belanger offered to refund the amount put in by General Draper, the latter consented to withdraw. In the meantime Mr. Belanger asserts that he has capital galore pledged, and that the machine will surely be finished. The following, in an interview with General Draper, appears in a Springfield paper:

"But didn't Mr. Belanger make a trial trip on a wooden model, and go 70 or 80 miles an hour?"

Gen. Draper smiled. "It was not Mr. Belanger, but his brother, and the trial was made in Canada. You remember it has been said of miracles that he who tells of them has either a bad memory or a vivid imagination. "I wish to say that Mr. Belanger has behaved honorably to me from the start. When he told me of the cost of making a machine he was like all inventors. They always underrate the cost."

A NEW firm in Louisville.—W. A. Rubey, formerly of Jefferis Bros., and W. O. Castle, President Independent Cyclers, and cashier of Ballard & Ballard, compose the firm. They handle the Humber, Lovell, New Mail, Coaster, Referee, and a fine line of medium grade cycles.

THE Pope Mfg. Co. have in a few instances made their safeties with full cushion tires and spring forks, a combination that has taken so well that they have decided to furnish it to all who desire it, and are now prepared to do it where special orders are given to that effect. The price, however, remains at $135. This combination presents in one machine their unequalled cushion tires, cordially endorsed by so many leading wheelmen, and their unrivalled spring fork, which has had such a run. The machine is also fitted with the loop seat rod.

A NEAT little sundry is that offered by the Cycle Sundry Co., of Needham, Mass. All riders know the inconvenience and disastrous results arising from a saddle getting wet from perspiration or rain. This little affair prevents all such trouble, and as it weighs only one ounce and costs 25 cents, every rider should possess one. See page 592.

Statement from President James R. Dunn.

The receipt of a copy of resolutions adopted at a recent meeting of the Illinois Division affords me the desired opportunity to prepare and publish this, the only statement of a public character made or contemplated by me, covering all the points over which a controversy has been attempted.

In order to give an intelligent review of the case, I quote the first preamble:

"Whereas, a difference of opinion has arisen among officers of the L. A. W. upon the following questions, to wit:"

Article XI of the Constitution says: "The officers of the League shall be a President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Secretary." . . . . . .

I have no official knowledge of a "difference of opinion" between these officials, and do not believe it exists.

The first question upon which they think there is a difference of opinion is, the right of the Racing Board to make Rule G or similar rules or regulations. Article IV, Sec. 7 of our By-laws says:

"(a) To the Racing Board shall be referred all matters pertaining to racing," etc., and (e) "The Racing Board shall have the power to make such rules for its government and the government of cycle race meetings as may be deemed expedient" etc.

I submit that nowhere is the Racing Board given power to create or enforce any legislation which shall limit or confine the constitutional rights of a member of the League. If our By-laws in any part seem to permit such conflict, they should be amended. I contend, however, that the Constitution, in Art. III, Secs 1 and 9, declares that a member of the League must be an amateur, according to certain qualifications, which do not prohibit the receipt of training expenses, etc., from a club, unless such club be financially interested in the sport. Rule G of the Racing Rules reads as follows:

"A competitor in amateur events shall not accept or receive in any way from his own club or any other club, or from any club promoting sports at which he competes, the amount of his entrance fees, his expenses while in training, his traveling expenses, or expenses of any kind incurred by him as such competitor, unless such club shall first have the special sanction in writing of this board to make such payments. A violation of this rule shall work a suspension from the track for such time as this Board may determine."

This rule seeks to control the question, establishing an illegal penalty for violation. Suspension from the track for receiving money for, or payment of expenses, would be an infringement of the constitutional rights of the member suspended, whose redress would be found in a suit for damages against the responsible officers of the League.

I claim that the Racing Board in making the rules for the government of cycle racing is bound to protect our racing men in all rights granted by the Constitution, and has no power to limit or qualify those rights.

Referring to No. 2 of their first preamble, I have to say: First, that the Executive Committee is vested by the By-laws (see Art IV. Sec. 1) with "the general management and control of the affairs of the League, while the National Assembly is not in session," and must "determine all questions of detail arising in the conduct of the League."

Art. I., Sec. 1, says: "The President shall have a general supervision over the affairs of the League." Art. IV., Sec. 3, says: "The Committee on Rights and Privileges shall consider and advise in all matters pertaining to the maintenance of the rights of wheelmen, the enactment of legislation and the protection of the privileges of the members of the L. A. W., and may take such action in connection therewith as the circumstances of the case may require."

In the matter before us the Rights and Privileges Committee did "consider and advise" that Rule G was antagonistic to the rights of wheelmen, and violated, rather than protected, "the privileges of the members of the L. A. W." and took "such action as the circumstances of the case required" in their opinion.

The Executive Committee, who were perhaps the only ones to judge as to the wisdom of the action of the Rights and Privileges Committee, by a unanimous resolution, after careful and serious consideration, decided the opinion of the majority of the Rights and Privileges Committee to be correct, and said opinion was sustained.

The President was asked by the Executive Committee to immediately declare Rule G void, in order that no complications might be caused by further delay or contention on this point. I claim first, that the action of the Rights and Privileges Committee was correct; second, that the Executive Committee had full power in the premises; and third, that the announcement of the President was but a simple though painful duty, fearlessly performed, and that his "summary action" was more than warranted by the circumstances.

As the correspondence noted below will explain itself, and will effectually cover the next preamble, I will make no other reference to it at this point.

The fourth preamble simply states: "The present alliance has been productive of results not beneficial to the League;" a proposition of which I have never received the first iota of proof, hence I feel warranted in dismissing the subject with the simple statement that the Executive Committee and Racing Board, acting in pursuance of the resolution of the National Assembly, concurred in the adoption of the Articles of Alliance with the Amateur Athletic Union, upon lines, which not only command recognition of the supremacy of the League in all that we claim, but establish cordial and fraternal relations with an association of kindred interest, instead of perpetuating disastrous antagonism.

Their first resolution being predicated upon premises on which I have never seen any adequate argument or proof, is a remarkable utterance, especially wherein it declares "the action of the President in removing Mr. Randall was ill-advised, particularly as no reason was given therefor." As my reasons have not been given, it would be difficult to maintain the statement that my action was ill-advised. Mr. Randall was not removed because of the "personal allusions referred to."

As to this matter, I have been so harshly and unjustly accused, that it is my right and duty to myself and my associates, as well as to the membership of the League, that I take this occasion to enter somewhat fully into detail.

My deepest feeling in this matter is one of intense chagrin for an error of judgment which my somewhat extended knowledge of men would hardly warrant. I admit that I was greatly mistaken in my estimate of Mr. Randall's fitness for the position, as I was prepossessed in his favor, and glad to think I had found for this very important office a man so well endorsed by the West and whose personality was so attractive. For this grevious mistake and false estimate, my apology is due the League. In tendering Mr. Randall the office of Chairman of the Racing Board, I said: "I trust that all the work of the League will be conducted with such good feeling, absolute harmony and unselfish co-operation, as can alone make the administration of the Executive successful." Mr. Randall accepted the office upon this basis. Comment is unnecessary.

Mr. Randall attended the meeting of the Executive Committee and Racing Board in New York, at which time the Articles of Alliance proposed by the A. A. U. were so amended as to be satisfactory to himself and to other members of the L. A. W. Conference Committee. At this time it was generally discussed, and at least tacitly understood, that certain suspensions of A. A. U. racing men (whose cases had been pending for many months without trial), the legality of which was questionable, should be removed, thus leaving these men open to charges for the same offences.

I was dumbfounded on receipt of the following telegram from Mr. Randall a day or two after the meeting of the Racing Board in Cleveland:

"The Racing Board has decided that the acceptance of expenses while in training from athletic and cycling clubs is not a violation of Section 9 of the Constitution, and has therefore removed A. A. U. suspensions. See new Racing Rules forwarded to-day before promulgating Alliance."

At the same meeting the Racing Board adopted a "Rule G," similar to the rule of last year, whose constitutionality had so often been called in question. I was requested by a prominent official of the League to submit an opinion, repared by himself, upon the constitutionality of Rule G, to the Rights and Privileges Committee for their decision. The request was granted and reference duly made.

In the meantime I received from Mr. Randall, under date of May 19th, the following statement:

"Rule G was discussed pro and con, from all sides of the question, and it was finally decided that it was entirely within the province of the Racing Board to enact it, and that it was thoroughly constitutional."

On May 23d I wrote Mr. Randall from my Massillon office that the constitutionality of Rule G had been called in question, and that if the Committee on Rights and Privileges considered it unconstitutional and the Executive Committee so decided, it would be necessary to nullify or rescind the rule. I added that I was in hopes the decision would be in favor of the rule, "as I heartily favor it if constitutional," but that while I had "not as yet studied the matter carefully, I was inclined to believe that the consideration being given the rule would result in an unfavorable decision," or words to that effect. I insistently maintain the position established by the records of the conference meetings of last fall, in which the whole question of the payment of expenses was thoroughly discussed by the special committees of the L. A. W. and A. A. U. The expense rule, as agreed upon and recommended to our respective organizations, was satisfactory to me only as an entering wedge or first step towards pure amateurism, and I still hope to see such a law incorporated in our Constitution or made possible by constitutional enactment. My objection to Rule G is that its adoption and enforcement are not possible under our present Constitution, and I am unwilling that the Racing Board or any other committee shall force upon my administration a contest of doubtful merit, or that the League's officers shall be forced into an attitude of defending legislation at once unwarranted and impolitic.

These views have been consistently maintained throughout my whole official life. One word more on this subject. I propose, as President of this organization, to maintain to the utmost its honor and dignity, and to enforce its Constitution and legal rules, but while I am avowedly and consistently in favor of the strictest limit to the payment of expenses of contestants, I most heartily desire to execute the will of the majority of the members of the League upon this question and hope their voices will be heard with no uncertain sound at the coming Constitutional Convention.

To my letter of May 23d Mr. Randall replied on June 4th, as follows:

"CHICAGO, June 4th, 1891.

James R. Dunn, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Yours of the 23d duly received and should have been answered before, but I have been literally swamped with work and it has been all I could do to keep the most pressing letters answered.

I was not aware that you expected to receive the suspensions and expulsions, etc. The meetings of the Board I consider to be secret aside from what is sent to the BICYCLING WORLD for publication, the same as to all rulings, ballots, etc. However, in the future I will try and keep you better posted.

Rule G. seems to meet with approval all over the country among the rank and file, judging from letters received. As to its constitutionality I fail to see how any one can say it is not. I have had a dozen lawyers look at it and their opinion is unanimous on that point, that it is entirely within the province of the Racing Board to make such a rule. . . .

If the A. A. U. was sincere in its articles of Alliance that it entered into the same for the purpose of maintaining the purity of amateur sports, then it cannot object to Rule G. It refused to pass an expense rule claiming it would be class legislation. It does not need to now the Racing Board has done so for both organizations. If the A. A. U. has gone into this Alliance simply to continue bribing L. A. W. racing men as they materialize by paying large expense accounts, then the sooner we find it out the better. Rule G will tell the story.

You say Rule G has been referred to the Committee on Rights and Privileges and you fear their opinion will be that it is unconstitutional; well, it may be that it will be against Rule G. I should like to see their opinion on same, and yet even if they do decide against it, I fail to see what effect that will have upon the Board. The Board has decided that it is all right, and that they have the power to make such a rule, have done so and propose to stick by it.

The By-laws say: "To the Racing Board shall be referred all matters pertaining to racing and the championships." What has the Rights and Privileges Committee to do with us then, or any rule we may make? Supposing we disagree, who shall decide as to who is right? I see only two ways in which the Board can be made to rescind a rule made by it, and that is through a Constitutional Convention or by the National Assembly, and I firmly believe from letters in my possession from all over the country, that were Rule G to be rescinded a Constitutional Convention would be called for at the earliest possible moment, as provided for in the Constitution. But I have harped enough for once. Respectfully yours,

(Signed) C. E. RANDALL."

It will be observed that Mr. Randall practically served notice that the Racing Board is supreme, that it matters not what the Rights and Privileges Committee may decide, and that he sees no way that the Executive Committee can require the Racing Board to rescind the rule. He also stated that were Rule G to be rescined a constitutional convention would be called for, which is what I most desired all along. It may be interesting to some to know that Mr. Randall carried his idea of the supremacy of the Racing Board to the extent of forwarding a bill for the expenses of the Racing Board without a statement. The Executive Committee could not approve this bill without knowing what expenses it covered, and when, finally, the itemized bill was forwarded, it was found to contain a fee of $40 paid to Mr. Randall's brother-in-law and attorney for the legal opinion above mentioned.

As the Rights and Privileges Committee has been the legal adviser and counsel for the League in the past, it was considered a high handed proceeding, if not a direct insult to that Committee, for Mr. Randall to go outside of the the League for counsel before first submitting the question to the proper committee. As the Rights and Privileges Committee is composed of attorneys of recognized ability and position in the legal world, and as they unselfishly give their services to the League "without money and without price," this action of Mr. Randall was particularly offensive. As if in further defiance of the constituted authority of the League, Mr. Randall, six weeks after his removal, when forwarding to his successor certain of the effects of his office, withheld from funds collected by him, for profits on championship medals, this sum of $40 to pay the bill which had been disallowed. This sum has not yet been made good to the League.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, held May 29th, upon motion of Major Burdett the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Executive Committee L. A. W. be and hereby is instructed to notify Mr. C. E. Randall, Chairman of the Racing Board, that the Rights and Privileges Committee has given an opinion on Rule G, as follows: "We are of the opinion that the Racing Board cannot pass such a rule, and that the Racing Board must judge of an amateur's status and be controlled by the amateur rule, and explanation in the Constitution. We therefore conclude that Rule G of the Racing Board is unconstitutional.

"That the Executive Committee unanimously affirm this opinion, and adopt it as a proper interpretation of the law of the L. A. W. in this regard, and that the Chairman of the Racing Board will take notice of this opinion and report to the Executive Committee, within one week from the date hereof, such action as may be taken by the Racing Board in view of this decision."

Mr. Randall was duly notified of this resolution.

I wrote Mr. Randall under date of June 3d, as follows:

June 3, 1891.

Charles E. Randall, Esq., Chairman Racing Board, L. A. W., Chicago, Ills.

Dear Mr. Randall: I presume you have already been notified of the action of the Executive Committee in re Rule G, of the Racing Board. The opinion of the majority of the Committee of Rights and Privileges having been formally rendered to the effect that Rule G was inconsistent with the Constitution of the League, the Executive Committee adopted resolutions declaring the said rule null and void.

I am very sorry that the Committee should have been forced into such action as this, but particularly sorry for the fact of the unconstitutionality of the said rule, as I should be very glad to be convinced that the rule was proper and lawful. You will, of course, understand that it would be well for the Racing Board to take some action in consonance with the action of the Rights and Privileges Committee, and I need not express my belief that the loyalty of the Board will constrain them to a dignified acquiescence in the action of the Executive Committee, even though they may not be convinced of the correctness of the decision of the legal authorities of the organization. It is essential under the circumstances, as well as advisable, for the Board to vote by letter or telegram to rescind the obnoxious rule rather than to have the only utterance on the subject come from the Executive Committee. You may rest assured that the members of the Executive Committee, as far as I know, have no desire to shirk any responsibility in the matter, and one and all are actuated, I believe, by a desire to recognize the sincerity of the Racing Board in adopting such a rule, even though they are forced to admit that such action was unwise and impolitic, in view of the reasons given for the recent removal of suspensions of A. A. U. men.

Of course Rule G should not be put in print, and if the publishing of the rules in pamphlet form has gone too far for the rule to be expunged therefrom, it will be necessary for you to insert a statement to the effect that Rule G is not operative. This should be done, of course, before the pamphlets are given circulation.

I presume that this has not yet been accomplished, as I have not received a copy of them nor even an estimate of the cost of the work.

With kind regards, I am sincerely yours,

(Signed) JAMES R. DUNN,
President L. A. W.

I believed, and still consider that the rights of our members demanded that immediate notice of the action of the Executive Committee should be given in the League organ, hence my notice in the BULLETIN of June 5th, sent by telegraph:

"The Rights and Privileges Committee having declared Rule G unconstitutional the Executive Committee have declared said rule void.

JAMES R. DUNN, President."

Mr Randall's letter of June 4th, quoted above, certainly establishes the fact that to wait for the Racing Board to act would have been useless.

Under date of June 6th Mr. Randall caused to be published in the WORLD, Wheel, Referee and Bearings, the following communication:

CHICAGO, June 6th, 1891.

Whereas, James R. Dunn, President of the L. A. W., declares that the Rights and Privileges Committee have declared Rule G unconstitutional, and the Executive Committee have declared said rule void. Therefore the Racing Board gives notice that said declaration is unauthorized, null and void. The rule referred to is authorized by the By-laws of the League, and is not unconstitutional. But even if it were, neither the President nor said Committee have any power or authority, officially, to sit in judgment to either condemn or approve the rules of the Racing Board.

That can only be done by the League and amendment of the By-laws. All these Committees are independent of each other, and creatures of the Constitution. As well might the Racing Board declare the actions or proceedings of the Executive Committee or Rights and Privileges Committee on matters within their province void. No committee can intrench upon the powers and rights of another committee. If any of these committees do exceed their powers, then the power that created the committee can hold them responsible. Does the President claim that he or the Executive Committee or the Committee on Rights and Privileges created the Racing Board? If so, such claim finds no sanction in the Constitution or By-laws of the League or in Parliamentary usages; but such claim must come from that mental intoxication resulting from an excess of exuberance in a condition of self-importance.

Rule G is in full force and effect.

CHARLES E. RANDALL.

Under date of June 11th, a letter was sent to the Secretary of the Executive Committee containing exactly the same words Upon the same date, June 11th, the following letter, which has never before been published, was sent to me:

CHICACO, June 11, 1891.

James Randall Dunn, Esq.,

President League of American Wheelmen.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the third of June reached me just after I had mailed a letter to you, also a copy of resolutions passed by Executive Committee from the Secretary of said Committee, Mr. Brown, which I have answered as I thought it deserved. Your bare-faced usurpation of power in taking any official action on any rule promulgated by the Racing Board, is beyond my comprehension. Your publication of same in the official organ of the League is nothing but a direct insult to every member on the Racing Board.

Common courtesy would demand (even if you or your Committee had the right to declare Rule G null and void, which you have not), that the Racing Board be requested to repeal said rule and then, upon their refusal to do so, proceed as you have so arrogantly done. You have doubtless received my reply to the resolution passed by the Executive Committee ere this, and I am free to say that it does not half express my feelings.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) C. E. RANDALL,
Chairman Racing Board.

Under date of June 13th, Mr Randall wrote me the following:

June 13, 1891.

Jas. R. Dunn, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—In regard to the letter sent to the Executive Committee, and also to the BICYCLING WORLD, the Wheel, Referee, and Bearings for publication, I wish to say that the last clause in reference to yourself was written upon the spur of the moment, when I was decidely warm under the collar, and I am exceedingly sorry that I allowed my feelings to get the better of my judgment in this instance, and take this way of apologizing for same. Respectfully yours,

(Signed) C. E. RANDALL.

I call particular attention to the following points in these letters. Those for publication were dated June 6th. A copy thereof sent to the Executive Committee as a reply to our resolutions, was dated June 11th."

The more insulting letter to me, dated June 11th, referring to the letter to the Executive Committee, says: "I am free to say that it does not half express my feelings," while the letter of June 13th apologizes to me personally for the last clause in reference to myself, in the letter sent for publication on the 6th, and sent to the Executive Committee on the 11th, the excuse being that "it was written upon the spur of the moment," when Mr. Randall "was decidedly warm under the collar." Despite the peculiar fact that Mr. Randall occupied the spur of the moment for five days and suffered this unnatural heat during that whole period, I accepted his apology, personally, in the following letter:

June 15, 1891.

3709 Ellis avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 13th inst., containing your apology for that portion of your letter of June 6th, sent to the BICYCLING WORLD, the Wheel, Referee and Bearings for publication, and your letter of June 11th sent to the Executive Committee, which was personal to myself, and have to say that your apology is accepted. You will doubtless see the propriety, however, of giving to your apology the same publicity that was given to the letters referred to.

Yours truly,

(Signed) JAMES R. DUNN.

This apology was purely personal to myself for a specific offence, and was so accepted, but I felt that I had a personal right to demand that Mr. Randall would be courteous enough to cause his apology to be published broad-cast, as his insults had been.

The other members of the Executive Committee insisted upon the following action; I quote the minutes of the meeting:

"The Secretary reported a communication from Charles E. Randall, Chairman of the Racing Board, dated June 11th, received June 15th, which was received and ordered filed.

The following resolution was moved by Major Burdett and seconded by Dr. Brown:

Resolved, That as this answer is addressed to the Executive Committee, it is moved that the President be and hereby is requested to at once exercise his authority under Art. 6, Sect. 5, of the Constitution, and remove Mr. Charles E. Randall, Chairman, and as a member of the Racing Board. Carried."

I voted for this resolution at the request of the other members, but only after the plain statement that even without it I should feel it my duty to remove Mr. Randall, in order to vindicate the committee and officials of the League, other than myself, and that Mr. Randall's removal would not be in any sense the result of his personalities towards me. I simply felt that the dignity of our organization must be maintained, and that it was not a case wherein personal feeling should influence me.

I immediately wired Mr. Randall as follows:

Mr. Charles E. Randall, 3709 Ellis Ave., Chicago, Ill.,
You are hereby removed from the office of Chairman of and from membership on the Racing Board League of American Wheelmen.
JAMES R. DUNN, President L. A. W.

And wrote him as follows:

June 15th, 1891.

M. Charles E. Randall, 3709 Ellis avenue, Chicago, Ills.,

Dear Sir:—This confirms my telegram of even date herewith, which was as follows: "You are hereby removed from the office of Chairman of and from membership on the Racing Board League of American Wheelmen."

You will at your earliest convenience send to Mr. Abbot Bassett, 12 Pearl street, Boston, Mass., Secretary of the League of American Wheelmen, all books, papers, memoranda and other effects in your possession or charge that are the property of the League, or that relate to the proceedings of the Racing Board.

It is sincerely regretted that your recent official action has left no other course than this open to the President.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JAMES R. DUNN,
President L. A. W.

Mr. Randall's reply is here given:

Chicago, June 17, 1891.

James R. Dunn, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Your telegram and letter all received. I shall forward to Bassett as per your request the last of this week, as that is as soon as I can have the books in shape so that he will understand them; everything entered up to June 16th, 1891.

I sent a copy of my letter to you, to BICYCLING WORLD at same time, not for publication, but to comment on as they saw fit, they may publish my letter in full or may not. I enclose my expense account to date.

Kindly hurry the matter as I am no millionaire and need the money.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) C. E. RANDALL.

But I am informed by the present Chairman of the Racing Board that Mr. Randall has not yet turned over the correspondence and other papers which are the property of the Racing Board and of the League, with the exception of the record book and some letters relating to pending cases, and even these were not delivered until sent to Mr. Atwater in Detroit at the time of the Meet. As Mr. Randall complained in the past of a similar failure to turn over to him papers belonging to the Committee, his action in this matter is considered inconsistent, if not worse.

It will be noticed by Mr. Randall's letter of June 17th that he sent a copy of his apology to the BICYCLING WORLD, but not for publication. I learned since that Mr. Randall has sought to create the impression that I prevented publication of his apology. In this matter Mr. Randall may have been misquoted; I am still waiting for him to do me the justice of giving his apology the same publicity that was given to his insults.

I feel that I am justified in referring here to the recent requests that have been made for a meeting of the National Assembly.

Art. V. Sect. 2 says: "Special business meetings shall be called by the President upon the written request of not less than fifteen delegates, and from not less than five Divisions; thirty days' notice of such meeting must be given in the official organ, with a statement of the business to be transacted at the meeting, and no other business shall be considered."

I received, during June, copies of the following request, sent by some forty members of the National Assembly:

BALTIMORE, June 11, 1891.

James R. Dunn, Esq., President L. A. W.

Dear Sir: The undersigned request that you will call a special meeting of the National Assembly, L. A. W., to be held at Detroit on Saturday, July 18th, for the purpose of considering the following:

1. Rule G of the Racing Board.
2. The Alliance with the Amateur Athletic Union.
3. The relationship of the League with the Seaboard Road Association.

In order to issue a call for the date requested, it would have been necessary to publish the notice in the issue of June 19th, forms for which were closed on the 16th, the 17th being a holiday in Boston. Up to the 17th I had received requests from nine delegates. They continued to come, however, daily, during the following week. It has been publicly stated that Mr. Randall himself forwarded a number of these requests, so that they reached me prior to the above dates. The envelope which contained the papers sent by Mr. Randall bears a special delivery stamp and the following marks: Postmark, "Chicago, Ills., June 16th, 10 A. M." "Received, N. Y., June 17th, 1891, 9 P. M." "Offered at address June 17th, 1891, at 9 45 P. M. Cause of non-delivery, closed." Received by James R. Dunn, 10.30 A. M., Thursday, June 18th, 1891.

Had I received the necessary number of these requests prior to the 17th, it would have been a serious question to decide as to the advisability and proprietry of holding the official meeting on July 18th, as I was already cognizant of the fact that a demand for a Constitutional Convention was to be made. Such Constitutional Convention required 60 days' notice.

I immediately wrote to the signers of these requests as follows:

June 19, 1891.

Dear Sir: I have received a request for a call for a special meeting of the National Assembly over your signature. It was impossible to have called such a meeting for the 18th of July, as I did not receive the constitutional number of requests in time to give the proper thirty days' notice in the League organ.

I am advised that there will surely be a demand for a Constitutional Convention, and I would like to have your views on the subject of holding a Constitutional Convention and a meeting of the National Assembly at the same time, in the near future. It is my earnest desire that such Constitutional Convention may be held, and that a stringent expense rule, similar to that formulated by the joint conference last fall, may be adopted.

Kindly inform me what is the meaning of the third question suggested for consideration at the proposed meeting, i. e., the relationship of the League to the Seaboard Road Association?

Yours truly, (Signed) JAMES R. DUNN,
President L. A. W.

As I understand that I have been accused of discourtesy, it may not be out of place for me to state that, in reply to these letters, (some forty or more) less than a dozen had the courtesy to reply.

I was thereafter requested by some of the same men who had signed the previous request, to call a meeting at Detroit or Cleveland, and about the same time was requested by an overwhelming number of members of the National Assembly and of League members, to call both a Constitutional Convention and meeting of the National Assembly at Hartford, September 8th, that being the first date at which these meetings might be held together, under sixty days' notice, at a convenient and attractive place. I was obliged to exercise my official judgment and prerogative, and accordingly issued the calls for Hartford, September 8th.

I have endeavored to include in my notice of the meeting of the National Assembly all questions upon which action has been demanded by signers of all of these requests.

If it is desired to curtail or enlarge the duties and prerogatives of the officials of the League, action should be had which will reflect the wish of the majority of the League in this respect, as in all other questions which may arise.

If the Alliance between the League of American Wheelmen and the Amateur Athletic Union has resulted in harm to the League, and is productive of evil rather than good, such action should be taken as to provide for a dignified annullment thereof, in accordance with the provision therein.

As there is no Sea Board Road Association; as the League has no connection with any such organization; as those persons who stated that money had been contributed by the League to such an association, are palpable prevaricators; as none of the persons who requested the meeting of the National Assembly to consider this, amongst other questions, have been able or willing to give a valid reason for raising the point, there is no other way to view this question than (as is admitted) the result of a desire to find a real or fancied grievance against the Executive of the League.

I regret that I did not see, before its publication, the recent statement of the "Executive Committee," as it contains certain errors as to dates, etc., which, however, are set right in this letter. I regret the necessary length of this statement, but feel that I am justified in expecting its careful perusal by all who are inclined to form their opinions honestly upon the facts.

President L. A. W.

Jersey Fitting

originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.

Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

Overman Wheel Co.

Gentlemen;

My 1891 Victor, with rigid fork and Victor Cushion Tires to both wheels has so far proven itself an entirely satisfactory mount, and the more I ride it the better I like it. I can at will steer hands off over everything Belgian blocks, cobble stones, street gutters, off curbstones, &c., and can run up hills that formerly made me struggle to climb them. Victor Cushion Tires have put the enemy to flight, and with your agents ability to deliver wheels, they would make Rome howl.

Yours Respectfully
Henry D. Dietz.

DETROIT.

A kindly interest has been manifested by a few friends who ask that we give some "impressions" of our visit to Detroit in July last.

The impression is so difficult to describe, that it seems imprudent to try it, especially in hot weather.

About the first thing that happened was the trouble we got into with a Herdic driver in Boston, who wanted to collect double fare for taking us across the city.

We felt flattered at this, but didn't pay it, prefering rather to hold on to our hard (or hardly) earned cash until we should know how much Detroit was going to resemble Niagara.

The Herdic episode, together with an introduction to Mr. Mulligan (he of "burn this" notoriety) served to give a flavor of sadness to our thoughts as we boarded the special car for Detroit.

Added to all this was a severe case of indigestion, caused probably by trying to live up to our income during the cucumber season.

In taking account of stock, only to feel that "one woe treads upon another's heel so fast they follow," we were just wondering what advantages there were in having been born, when suddenly there burst upon the astonished excursionists the glad notes of a song.

We lost no time in locating its source, which proved to be Mr. Bassett.

A vigilance committee was hurriedly improvised, with Stall as chief, and each wearing a Hickory Badge, they approached the "white winged" secretary with no uncertain motive.

A compromise was soon effected, and once more we could hear the impatient snort of the engine as it pulled us toward "Griffville."

At Athol we stopped for dinner, or to be explicit, the train stopped and everybody else ran for dinner.

The "Advertising brigade" promptly proceeded to pin a Hickory Badge on each of the charming young ladies who served the "teaorcoffee," also on the proprietor, the cashier and the cook, (the dog got away.)

Just as everybody had got their knives, forks and spoons in the air, "Lon" Peck (his real name is Alonzo, but if we wait to say the whole of it, he will get "out of sight") raised up his voice and forefinger, and pointing the latter at so much of the sky as he could see through the open door, he shouted, with the former, "there goes another big one." The stampede to see "it," on the part of those who were not from Boston, was the funniest thing in Athol. Most of them looked very silly as they returned to their vermicelli, and Billy Atwell was so agitated and hungry that he told the waiter to bring him a "few more of those boiled hams."

Captain Robinson brought with him that famous banner of the Charlestown Rovers. It has painted upon it a large picture of Bunker Hill Monument. It was hung over the door at one end of the car, and some one had pinnnd across the centre of the monument a card which read, "Now owned by the Elliott Hickory Cycle Co."

This astonishing announcement surprised a good many, who didn't know what a bonanza we have in those Hickory wheels.

When our train arrived at "Whaterdam" Junction, the car containing the New York delegation and the car we occupied were "lashed together," and we exchanged greetings in all the usual forms by wheelmen made and provided. We also exchanged badges.

Mr. Prial was among the more prominent males, and he was accompanied by the Sheehans.

All wore Hickory badges; from the haughty and dignified widower at Hamilton, Ont., who had it pinned to the weed on his hat, to the small peanut merchant who wore it, as he said, "to draw custom."

Atwell went forward to decorate the engine driver and the stoker, but didn't get out in time, so he had to ride on the "footboard" to the next station.

It was a good natured gang and the people along the route seemed to appreciate it.

We were familiarly referred to by the trainmen as "that Hickory crowd."

As we neared Buffalo in the early morning, an unregenerate voice came from "the gentleman's end" of the car saying, "What blankety blank fool pushed the plug so tight in this wash bowl? I'll bet it was one of those blank blank bicycle fellows, who never travelled before." One of the "bicycle fellows" spotted him and soon pointed him out to the others. Well! we didn't envy that man the balance of his trip, though nothing was said or done that he could reasonably appropriate to himself, yet he took on a wild, apprehensive, regretful look, such as the advocates of the present amateur rule will wear after the Hartford Convention.

Just before the train reached Niagara Falls, we heard the injudicious critic ask a sympathetic passenger this: "Can I see the falls without a gide or must I have some one to go with me?" And this: "Say, how can I tell which is the Horseshoe Fall?" He evidently had never pitched quoits or he would have seen a horseshoe fall—(put down that brick.)

When we "arrove" at the Falls, we kissed him good bye, tenderly pinned a Hickory Badge on his shoddy coat, helped him out with his oil-cloth valise, and while some of the wheelmen were bidding him an affectionate adieu, we pointed him out to a hungry looking hackman and advised him to be very good to our friend, who was making his first visit to the Falls and would need much attention, for which the h. l. h. thanked us, as he also did for the Hickory badge which we carefully pinned on his hat, and as we saw the untutored traveler getting into the proper conveyance, we felt conscious of a good deed well done.

The Elliott Hickory Cycle Co., of Newton, Mass., was organized for the purpose of manufacturing Hickory Cycles and distributing Hickory Badges and catalogues.

If you feel an interest in these matters, let us know.

SYLPH CYCLES DRIVE EASY.

And there are many reasons why. They do not have a lot of useless weight in the steering wheel. They have long steering centers. They have a jointed spring frame which permits the greatest amount of rise in the proper direction with the least amount of spring compression in crossing obstacles They have the weight of frame work very low, so that they maintain a steadier motion than if high. They have a heavy driving wheel and a light driven wheel, which means easy spurting. They have self-oiling sheet metal chains. They have sheet steel instead of forgings, which means strength instead of weight. They have saddle and pedals on the same post, which means best working conditions. They have saddle and pedals on springs, which means that no jar can reach the driving muscles and no jolt slip the feet. They have many other like features which a trial will show.

They soothe their souls with fancies lame.
We far outstripped them in the race.
It was but unity of place
That made them think their rank the same.

Though jeered and laughed at of the seers,
Who, in their trade, had long grown gray,
The younger reaches in a day
The height they failed in many years.

And so as time flies on apace,
And with new laurels hides the old;
The trial will show, the speed has told
That UNION CYCLES Win the Race.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

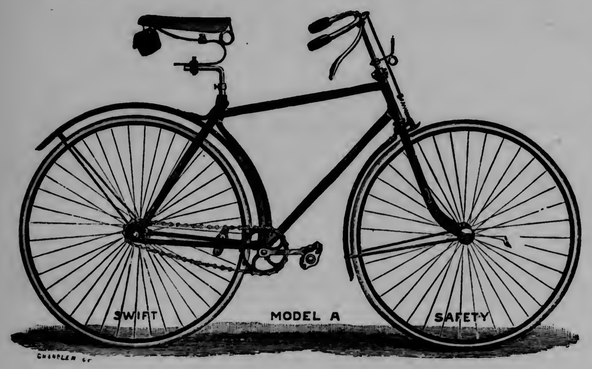
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

And what is the Best Wheel?

We put a NEW MAIL on the Market

This year at $100. What do they say about it?
Here are a few reports:

From a dealer in Indiana:

"The $100 00 NEW MAIL is giving the best satisfaction of any wheel in town."

From a dealer in Maine:

"The NEW MAILS are standing well, and will have a great run in this town next year."

From a gentleman in Virginia:

Wm. Read & Sons, Gentlemen:—I have just completed a tour through Holland, Belgium, part of France and part of Germany on one of your $100.00 Cushion Tired New Mails, and I am more than satisfied with its running qualities. I had good roads—cobblestone roads, mountainous roads and almost every road imaginable and your wheel has stood them all. Neither cushion tire shows any wear, and both wheels are tight, not a loose place in the machine. You may use this as a testimonial with my name, and I am Yours truly, F. G. KIPPER.

Another writes as follows:

"I begin this third season of my NEW MAIL in perfect condition. My only expense so far has been for two balls, one broken and one lost while cleaning. Good service this over our rough country roads."

BOSTON, 4 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

THERE are yet to be found some few specimens of "doubting Thomases" who will not be convinced by the evidence of their own senses, but still keep up that old refrain of long ago, and would question the permanency of cycling. Surely if there is any theme one can touch without any misgivings it is this one. One needs not to enter upon a mystic discourse that because the wheel is the emblem of endless motion, it must go spinning on forever down the ringing grooves of change,—though we believe it will. Nor is it necessary in this connection to advert to the ten or fifteen years of the ever widening history of the wheel, or of its unprecedented growth in this country and elsewhere. For a century at least the rider-driven wheel has been the subject of a tenacious and persistent struggle for more perfect accomplishment.

It has entered well into the arena of recreative contests. Behold the ball, which from earliest times has been used an an instrument of sport; and the wagon, which from the ancient chariot down to the modern "sidebar," has never gone out of fashion.

The bicycle like the ball is an instrument of recreation, and a remarkable one, too, for the almost infinite variety of its exercise. There is this to perpetuate it; and the club spirit, the sodality and good fellowship and social opportunities which it promotes are strong in its favor. It has, morever, the charming "go" of the horse and the yacht; and like the latter, particularly, it has fascinations of changing scene, of subjection, in some degree, to the fortune of the elements, of risk and adventure; and beyond all these cycling, like yachting, affords scope and stimulus to skill and intellectual exercise to a high degree along with the merely physical. Possessed of the foregoing qualities alone would assure cycling a permanency beyond question, but when added to them are the many other charms wheeling has, those who would still question its permanency must indeed be doubters of the deepest dye.

IN 1819, while the question of improved roads was occupying the attention of the English Parliament, about in the same manner that wheelmen have succeeded in attracting the attention to it by the legislative bodies of the United States to-day, Telford appeared before the Parliamentary Committee on Roads and Highways and gave graphic testimony of the condition of the British roads of that period. The interest then awakened grew from year to year till 1835, when Parliament passed the general highway act, and from that date began the systematic and intelligent management to which the superior quality of the English roads are now principally due. Thus, through the labors of one man, almost entirely, was the great crusade for good roads started in England, which resulted in its present magnificent highways; now if all this could be accomplished by a single advocate for road improvement, what would be the result if every member of the League, or better still every rider of the wheel should make it a point to decry poor roads and praise good ones? Were such a thing attempted, and a concerted effort was made by wheelmen in this direction, the very next meeting of our State Legislatures would see the passage of a more satisfactory set of road laws than those that now disgrace our statute books, and gridiron our country with the vilest apologies for roads in the world.

MECHANICAL writers and theorists have repeatedly urged that the horse is one of the connecting links between the present age of progress and that of ancient barbarism. Perhaps this is an extreme view of the case, but if people would only give up their idea that horse flesh was absolutely indespensable ito business, the field for invention for a mechanical substitute would be wider, and a greater stimulus offered for bringing out something that would be far superior as a motive power. As a means of intra-mural transportation there is certainly a great need for this substitute; horses block the passages and streets that are needed for other purposes; they are uncleanly, and are positively dangerous in a crowded thoroughfare. In saying this no disparagement of the splendid beast is intended, but like everything else, the horse has his place, and while no one will question his utility as a beast of burden, it does not follow that it cannot be improved upon. You will never see a man with the slightest particle of mechanical taste who will find fault with the bicycle for frightening horses. He knows too well the relation one bears to the other, but people generally have based their standard on the horse as the only means for getting over the ground, and everything that interferes with this idea is immediately condemned. It is fortunate that this class of old fogies are no longer in the majority, or invention, science, and progress generally would received a check. The great bulk of population of a city are dependent upon street cars as a means of getting to and from business. All classes of opinion are here represented, and when they are daily brought in contact with a means of locomotion that surpasses the old way in speed, comfort and everything else that is essential to dispatch of business and general utility, the spirit of prejudice will be yet further turned aside and a more liberal feeling inaugurated toward inventions of an anti-equine nature, and cycling will be among the first to have a share in the benefits of a new era of thought.

THE Louisiana Club, of New Orleans, La., believes in making it practically compulsory for racing men of the Crescent City to belong to some cycling club. A resolution was passed at a late meeting of the Louisianas to the effect that so far as New Orleans riders were concerned the term "open events" be interpreted as open only to members of duly organized bicycle clubs. This move will certainly be the means of strengthening the clubs of New Orleans.

WE have received another letter from Mr. G. P. Wilson, in which he reiterates his claims made in his former letter, and as most of it is re-hash we shall have to request him to spare his ammunition until Hartford is reached. In justice to Mr. Wilson be it said that he has proved beyond a doubt that he is connected with a newspaper, and he has met the editor of this paper. He avows stoutly that he has no connection with any publishing house which has made certain steps towards getting control of the League organ, and he further protests that the string was not pulled by anyone who was interested. He still insists that 525 is our limit, and he criticizes our arithmetic, which he would not have done had he read the proposition aright. Finally, he laughs to scorn the statement we made as to the 15,000 changes in addresses per year.

It matters not what Mr. Wilson thinks in regard to the matter, the facts in our possession prove our statement to be correct. We have given Mr. Wilson's matter more space than it deserves already, and we apologize to our "525" readers.

In the meantime we wish to thank the members who have taken the trouble to write us, attacking Mr. "five hundred and twenty-five" Wilson's position, and to assure them it is not for lack of appreciation that we fail to print these counter opinions, but because we feel the issue is one that can have no possible further interest for our "525" other readers. In the meantime we hope to meet Brer Wilson at Hartford.

IN his report to the War Department of his inspection of the National Guard of Connecticut Lieut. W. Bowen calls especial attention to the use the bicycle was put to in scouting and other movements requiring rapidity. He seems to think that the results of the experiments justify a continuance of same on a larger scale by the War Department itself.

In Europe the use of the cycle as an auxiliary arm of the service, as we have pointed out before, has been successfully tested, and the cycle corps is now a recognized feature of all armies. The movement there is yet in its infancy, and we expect to see it increase in importance and size just so fast as the conservatism of the Old World War Departments recognize its efficiency. In Europe the roads make this practical, but in America it will be many a day before the cycle corps will be of any use except in very limited territory.

We are, however, glad to note the movement. It creates a demand for better roads; in this case the demand will come from the National and State Governments themselves, and though it may take time to achieve results the trend of thought and influence is in the right direction.

OUR friend Wilson, the reformer, he of Baltimore, thinks it suspicious that the BICYCLING WORLD should defend the Executive Committee. Did it ever occur to the astute Mr. Wilson that there has been no occasion to do otherwise, and that the Executive Committee might be right? Mr. Wilson would confine League membership to "white amateur cyclists." We move to amend and make it "white snobs."

WE nominate G. P. Wilson of Baltimore as President of the League of White American Snobs.

THE pamphlet just issued by the Committee of the Improvement of the Highways is without exception the most effective and complete publication of the kind ever issued. The committee, and especially the Chairman, Mr. Isaac B. Potter, are entitled to the greatest praise and credit.

EVEN Boston has a street within the city limits so bad that it finds a place in this work as an example of municipal neglect. We hope a marked copy will be sent to the Hub Superintendent of Streets.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

How the whirligig of time brings strange changes. What is right and proper to-day ceases to be so to-morrow, and then perhaps on the day that follows again becomes the correct thing. When Thomas Jefferson, returning from France, first appeared in long trousers, forsaking the fashion of his time, which prescribed knee-breeches as the only proper raiment for a gentleman, he was hailed as a "snob," jeered at as one who found the fashions of his own country and that of his father as no longer good enough for him. Soon others followed in the footsteps of this illustrious man, and knee-breeches ceased to be any longer worn, and trousers became the only proper covering for the legs of an American. When wheelmen came into existence, and for their own comfort and convenience adopted the knee-breeches of their grandfathers' time as the most convenient form of clothing to wear while riding, the public had forgotten how in the elder day they had jeered at a man for forsaking them for trousers, and acting upon the small amount of brains they possessed rallied at the cyclers and called him "a dude," "a cad," and any other name they could think of that would show him the displeasure they felt at his good sense. Here of late, it seems as though this feeling was growing more intense, and stirred up by the newspaper accounts of how certain purists at seaside resorts have declared bathing suits indecent, many goody goody people have pretended to be shocked at the knee-breeches of the cyclist. To decent-minded people, who ride or watch others riding, there is nothing immodest in the average wheelmen's suit, excepting always the one who persists in wearing tights. But there are unfortunately many creatures in the world whose minds are unclean, whose instincts are wrong, and whose sense of refinement is lacking. The best statue, the most perfect picture, if not conventional in drapery, appeals not to their souls but to their baseness. There are other people, with honest intentions but narrow views, who never had a cycling suit on in their lives, and who judge everything from their own inexperience. Both of these classes, who are numerically many times stronger than the wearers of knee-breeches, are simply incapable of understanding the question. It is merely a case of evil to them who evil think.

Club headquarters are no longer deemed a mere luxury, but are possessed of many of the virtues of a necessity. During the winter months, when there is a scarcity of riding, some form of social intercourse is needed to keep alive the pleasant relations formed during other seasons. This need is more readily met by providing club rooms suited to the general purposes of business meetings, furnished with conveniences for storing wheels, and supplied with those little attractions, such as the files of various wheel papers, and perhaps a bath, piano, a pool table, a buffet, etc., which make the place inviting to club members. When spring and summer come, the club room still maintains its hold upon the members as it affords a meeting place, where one is always sure of finding a congenial companion for a quiet little run or an interesting chat. Verily, the pleasures of cycling are multiplied many fold by the presence of the club room. The annual expense of bicycle clubs is hardly of sufficient magnitude to deserve mention, and is amusingly small when contrasted with the anxiety concerning it shown by some of the unattached.

There is no difficulty financially in maintaining a club, however small, as good organism and a companionable feeling are the prime essentials, and these draw less upon a man's purse than upon his good nature and good sense. Compared with the large annual outlay made by other forms of social and athletic clubs, the expense of cycling organizations is at the bottom; and yet when the returns for the respective expenditures are compared, the cyclist has the upper hand. As the needs of a club grow, and there is a demand for greater conveniences and better accommodations, the means of meeting them without imposing a too heavy tax upon the members, will usually be found. No man has really enjoyed all there is in cycling who has not been a member of a wheel club.

A correspondent who has a higher opinion of my mathematical knowledge than it is deserving of, asks me to solve the following problem for him: "A pursues another wheelmen, B, who is eighty-two revolutions of his wheel in advance; while A makes nine revolutions of his wheel, B makes thirteen, but three revolutions of A's wheel equal five of B's. How many revolutions of his wheel must A make in order to overtake B?" Now I really like to be obliging always, and to air what little knowledge I have concerning wheeling, but I must draw the line somewhere and I draw it just short of this problem. If my correspondent though really wants to find out the number of wheel revolutions A must make to overtake B, why don't he get them both upon a track under the conditions he names, and then accompany A and count the number of times his wheel revolves before he overtakes B? This isn't the most scientific method of solving the problem, but it certainly will give my inquisitive friend the information he desires. "HAWKSHAW."

WE take pleasure in announcing the marriage on September 1st of Mr. C. C. Candy of Denver to Miss S. C. Brown of Philadelphia. The happy couple will be "At Home," Denver, Colo., after September 15. Our congratulations are extended.

A CYCLIST who was riding on a Philadelphia sidewalk was warned off by a "bobby," the cyclist became abusive, and the policemen hauled him in—Verdict $5.00 fine.

SAYS a writer in the Evening Post of Chicago: "A. J. Marrett, the manager of the Coventry Machinists' Company, though a new comer, is one of the most popular men in trade circles in the city. He is attached to the Lincoln Club." We know Mr. Marrett ourselves, and we can say that time passed in his genial company is by no means "irksome."

THE three Hartford Clubs will hold a church meet some time during September. The clubs will ride to the Church of the Good Shepherd, and the rector, the Rev. J. H. Watson, will preach a special sermon.

"DURING the annual encampment of the Connecticut National Guard held at Niantic last week, a sham battle was fought, the signal corps of the First Regiment of Hartford being mounted on safeties. One of the corps, Charles O. Shaefer, was sent in to the camp for a gatling gun, a distance of two and one-quarter miles, which he covered in five and one-quarter minutes, at least so it was reported in the New Haven papers the following day. How is that for "hustling?" as the roads in that section of the State are notoriously hilly and sandy. This is at an average of about a mile in 2.19." This is a good newspaper story, probably the man rode the distance in ten minutes thirty seconds.

THE members of the New Haven Bicycle Club entertained about thirty-five members of the Bridgeport Wheel Club at dinner at the Sea View House on the 23d. The visitors came up on their wheels and were met by their New Haven brethren near Milford. On their arrival an elaborate shore dinner had been prepared, to which they did full justice. The affair was a very enjoyable one. On Sunday the Brooklyn Bicycle Club will visit New Haven and participate in a run with the local club to Hartford.

MISS EFFA BRIGHTON of 11th street, Philadelphia, made her first century run August 23d. She left Broad and Columbia avenues at five A. M., riding 50 miles and returning, making 100 miles in 14 hours and 22 1-2 minutes.

THE tools and machinery formerly used by the Bullard Arms Co. of Springfield, Mass., will shortly be put to practical use in the manufacture of bicycles by John P. Spier & Co. of Worcester. The plant will be located in East Worcester, and it is Mr. Spier's opinion that cycle manufacturing can be kept as an important industry in that city. The building will be pushed to speedy completion, and will be ready for occupancy by November 1st.

A WRITER in a Buffalo, N. Y., exchange reports a very large increase in the use of bicycles in that city, and says that the first thing that a stranger in town remarks, when he takes a stroll during the early morning hours, or in the evening just as business closes for the day, is the remarkable number of cyclers that are seen upon the streets. One at least out of every thirty seem to be mounted upon a steel steed. Men, women and children take advantage of this method of locomotion in which both business and pleasure are combined. A visit to several of the leading bicycle houses in that city with a view of ascertaining the state of trade found a happy condition of affairs among the dealers, and they reported the business in a thriving condition with a happy outlook for next season.

MEMBERS of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, Providence Cycling Club and Narragansett Wheelmen are arranging a century run from Providence to Boston and return on September 13. The run will be open to all paying the entrance fee, and every man who finishes will receive an appropriate souvenir.

"WHY don't the ladies ride here," asks the Nashville, Tenn., American. "Well, the Nashville belles have not caught the fever, that is all. Ladies are riding in Louisville, Evansville and other cities all around them, and when it becomes the proper thing in that city ladies will take to the wheel as naturally as a duck takes to water."

A MEET which attracts more than ordinary attention in Wheeling, W. Va., is that to be given this month at the Manhattan Field. A large number of entries have been received for the races, and from present indications the affair will be a very successful one.

THE Board of Park Commissioners of Bridgeport, Conn., held a meeting at the office of Col. William H. Stevenson Monday afternoon and considered the petition referred to them by the Common Council, asking for concrete walks alongside the roadway at Seaside Park for the exclusive use of bicyclists. The matter at present is held in abeyance.

SOLDIERS ON BICYCLES—A scheme is on foot in Kingston, N. Y., to organize a platoon of bicyclers from members of the Fourteenth Separate Company, there being about twenty expert wheelmen members of the company. The armory can be used as a drill room and the men put through a series of evolutions, which will greatly add to the proficiency of the company.

THE Buffalo Bicycle Club and the Press Cycling Club were both to have had moonlights on August the 27th.

THE illuminated parade of the Alameda, Cal., wheelmen on Saturday evening, August 11th, was the finest that has ever taken place in that locality. One hundred and thirty wheels were in line. There were visiting delegations from all the clubs of San Francisco and Oakland. Fully a dozen ladies turned out and rode the route with the greatest success. Every wheel was fancifully trimmed with Chinese lanterns attached to wooden or bamboo frames. The parade lasted an hour and a half and disbanded at Blanding Hall, where a lunch was spread. The lunch and dancing filled in the time till midnight.

THE ladies' annex of the San Francisco Bicycle Club is such a decided success that they now have a ladies' night on the last Thursday of every month. "Ladies' Nights" are voted a huge success by the San Franciscos.

MANY of the brokers on Wall street, New York, mount their messengers on safeties. The innovation has proved a success.

"I AM heart and soul against the safety bicycles," said an old wheelman. He admits the utility of the chain wheel, but he likes to "soar on a 56-inch." The safety is good enough for "superannuated preachers and boarding school misses." In spite of all this the concensus of opinion is against the "old wheelman."

THE Press Cycling Club and the Ramblers Bicycle Club, both of Buffalo, as base ballists will try conclusions shortly. The former wheel club has already defeated the "Playmates" by a score of 9 to 0.

MR. MICHAEL FURST and Mr. I. Isaacsen of the Long Island Wheelmen, Brooklyn, N. Y., were in Boston last week. These gentlemen did the editor of the BICYCLING WORLD the honor of calling on him, and it is our regret to have to record the fact that we were out at the time.

E. W. SOFTLY, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has undertaken a 130-mile bicycle trip to Alfred Centre, N. Y.

CHESTER, Pa., is to have a fantastic bicycle parade next week and the cyclers are making extensive preparations for the event.

REV. GEORGE H. LORAH, of Harrisburg, Pa., pastor of the Doyleston M. E. church, has just returned from Europe. He spent four months in sight seeing and travelling, principally on his bicycle, covering 2,000 miles on the machine. His return was made the occasion for a reception and banquet.

THE Kalamazoo, Mich., wheelmen and women have organized, with Dr. O. A. La Crone as president.

CYCLING schools have been established in Belgium in connection with the garrison there.

TWENTY Holdredge, Neb, citizens have purchased bicycles and will organize a wheel club.

THE Bridgeport, Conn., Wheel Club will hold a track tournament at Seaside Park during the latter part of September. Many fine prizes will be offered.

THE Newton, Mass., Bicycle Club will hold its next meeting at the Woodland Park Hotel, Sept. 15th. The members will meet in Boston and make their trip out in a tally-ho.

THE Dayton, Ohio, Bicycle Club have arranged to have a lantern parade on Saturday evening, Sept. 19th.

W. H. PERRY, of Little Rock, Ark., started at 7.30 P. M., Aug. 24th, to break the six-hour State road record. The weather and roads were all a record breaker could desire and the ride was made without a single mishap. Distance covered as follows: First hour, 10 1-4 miles; second hour, 20 5-8 miles; third hour, 31 miles; fourth, 41 1 4; fifth, 51; sixth, 58 1-2. Former record held by H. P. Baird, 57 1-2 miles. This performance wins for Mr. Perry the six-hour road championship of the State and a handsome gold medal.

FIFTEEN members of the Roxbury Bicycle Club were the guests of the Bay State Bicycle Club on Sunday. The visitors went from Boston by train, carrying their machines with them. The original intention was to ride to Millbury and thence back to Lake Quinsigamond, but the roads were in such a bad condition that the programme had to be abandoned. Instead, a bus was chartered and the members of both clubs drove to the lake in the afternoon. Dinner was served at the Island House. The Roxbury men returned to Boston on the 7.20 P. M. train Sunday night.

MR. GEORGE H. DAY, Vice-President of the Pope Mfg. Co., and manager of their large factory at Hartford, has just returned from a trip to Europe, where he has been enjoying a well-earned rest, and at the same time has combined business with pleasure. He is looking well and hearty, and has evidently laid in store a stock of vitality that will last him well through the coming season. In connection with Col. Pope, whom he met there, he has made the rounds of the cycle manufacturing world, and has come back full of information and enthusiasm, and wheelmen may look for practical results to come out of this trip. The Pope Mfg. Co. are always on the alert to seize every point of vantage in their business, and not a year passes in which some of its best men do not make a trip across the water and endeavor to find out what our English cousins are doing in the way of bicycle making.

ON account of Parkside track being unfinished, the Cook County Wheelmen of Chicago will postpone their race meet with its eleven contests until Sept. 26th.

MR. J. H. ROBBINS, of the Sporting Review, is in favor of a liberal expense rule. The West will not be a unit on the question of this expense business.

THE Press Cycling Club, of Buffalo, N. Y., in harmony with all the world and with themselves, will have melody in the house when they get the new piano to be donated by some of its members.

AT Rochester the New York Division voted to favor the amendment governing expenses as presented by Mr. Bassett, and it also endorsed the amendment proposed by Mr. Luscomb in regard to three-fourths membership being sufficient proportion to enable a club to become a League Club.

THE Winnisimmet Cycle Club of Chelsea, Mass., was organized Aug. 19. The club will be a League Club. The charter list of the club was closed on Wednesday, Aug. 26, with fifty-five names on it, which is a good showing for a new club organized but one week. If Boston cannot support a live club her neighbor cities can, be it said to her shame.

THEY enforce the lamp ordinance in Washington and a man caught out after dark without a lamp lighted has to go up to the captain's office and settle.

MR. RANDALL'S friends will make some kind of a gallant fight at Hartford. They will be in force in person and through the medium of proxies.

THE Comrade Bicycle Club is the latest Buffalo Club; now has a membership of 35, which they hope to double before the season closes. They have headquarters at 1248 E. Genesee street.

RUMOR hath it that W. C. Seeds, the Wilmington rider, "will allow Cupid and Hymen to form a combine against his present state of single blessedness, and that, in lieu of seeing him scorching the roads on his bicycle, they will in the course of a year or so see him 'loafing' along the avenue trundling a crycycle."

EVERYTHING will be done on magnificent lines during the great fair at Chicago in '93. The cyclists do not intend to be behind and it is proposed to raise $30,000 for this branch of the big show. Of this sum $15,000 will be used for entertainment and $15,000 expended in prizes. A camp under the direction of the First Regiment will be placed at the disposal of visiting wheelmen and food will be furnished at low cost. At least so says the Chicago Post.

Bicycling News has this amusing incident to relate: "Between eight and nine o'clock on Wednesday evening, last week, a man fell into the water near the Drawbridge, Bristol. Mr. F. G. Rogers, of the West of England Cycle Works, was at the time cleaning a pneumatic safety in his front shop, having the front wheel in his hand. Hearing the cry of the man in the water, he ran over with the wheel and flung it to the drowning man, who took hold of the spokes. The wheel held him up until another man, who jumped off the bridge, came to his assistance, and a boat then put off and picked up the two men. Some hundreds of people witnessed the occurrence."

BY the way, as we frequently "clip and credit" from good old Bicycling News, and as the above is from that paper, we are moved to remark the curious way Bicycling News clips from us copiously and never credits direct. It is always "an exchange says," or "an American writer says," etc.

MR. FRANK G. SILVERS, in writing about his trip from Philadelphia through the New England States, says: "Providence has some fine places of pleasures within a half hour's boat ride of the city, where they have famous clam bake dinners. While on the road through Connecticut my party was held up by five "ruffians," who insisted upon the prompt production of our cash and valuables. Immediately upon this demand being made several of our party produced Smith & Wesson's, which prompt action caused the highwayman to vanish. I was very much surprised to hear some Pennsylvania wheelmen complaining about paying for the transportation of their wheels down East. This caused me to inquire further into the matter and I found the tariff on a wheel from New York to Boston is one dollar, any point between Providence to Boston, fifty cents. I was joined in Providence by Harry and John Holland, Edw. W. Lyon and Fred Parent of Moosup, Conn., who were touring in that vicinity. On meeting a a member of the Providence Wheel Club on the street, we accosted him and made ourselves known. He gave us a key of the club house and requested us to go there and make ourselves at home, which we did. That is hospitality for you! They showed us every courtesy during our stay in that city and we one and all voted them good fellows. We made three century runs on this trip.

SAYS a writer from Junction City, Kas.: "I can assure you that we are not all dead in Kansas. Our harvest of new riders this season far outnumber that of any previous year, and the League is receiving its share of recruits through the enthusiasm and energy of its hard working members of this Division. The State meet will be held at Parsons on the 14, 15 and 16 of October, and will exceed all those of the past, and I can assure every wheelman that he will miss a good time if he fails to show up at Parsons Wheelmen, we hope to see all of you who are not members of the League there also. Our Chief Consul, C. S. Davis, on the morning of the 25th of August took unto himself a better half Miss Eva Bradford, a rider and League member. They left for the East on their bridal tour, but will return in time for the State Meet.

C. J. RITTER, L. F. Jensen, and Dr. E. J. Hausle, members of the Ramblers Bicycle Club, completed their tour of the State, between Buffalo and New York; having had many times, some difficult ones, being altogether well satisfied with their trip awheel.

THE ELWELL TOURISTS.

FROM Bingen we wheeled slowly down the smooth road that followed closely the graceful curving of the Rhine as it wound about among the steep rocky hills clothed with the green and growing vines of to-day, and capped by grim, deserted castles of long ago. Not even the fear that we might miss our dinner could tempt us to "scorch" that pleasant morning and miss the beauty of the scene, but ever and anon we lingered to enjoy the sights, to take a few pictures, or to watch the numerous steamboats that plowed their way slowly and laboriously up stream against the swift and muddy current. Beneath the spreading branches of an old oak tree that stood beside the way, and where a projecting hill across the Rhine revealed a heap of crumbling walls almost hidden by the tall trees, I sat me down and thought that the brave, tin-plated knights who used to chase up and down this same road in search of dragons that belched forth fire or ate a famine in the country would have put off their goose chase until this later day they might have found a semblance of the much talked of monster in these puffing, screaching crafts that consume wood and coal, or perchance in these noiseless, glittering wheels and ther hungry riders who devour all that is set before them.

Coblenz was reached in the afternoon in time to take a swim in the Rhine before supper. This town is noted for its fortress, the Ehrenbreitstein, situated on the opposite side of the river and which is generally called the "Gibraltar of the Rhine." That evening, however, there was another interesting feature that attracted the tourists and seemed to add a home-like variety to the heretofore almost exclusively foreign aspect. It was a band of American Colored Minstrels that had sought a new clime where they could crack their chestnuts to their hearts' content. But "stop you laughing, boys," for we had listened to French opera and German opera and Italian opera, and applauded the first act because everybody did, and grew tired of the remaining acts because it was really tiresome when we could not understand toe language nor the motives which prompted the wild gestures of the actors when they sang their parts, but here was a tongue we knew, and we drank in the sublime music of "The Camptown Races," "Annie Rooney" and "Old Black Joe" with a joy that could have been exceeded only by the sudden appearance of a large size home-made pie.

Rotterdam was reached in due time. Holland is a flat, low country with a network of dykes and ditches, and a mixture of wooden shoes and windmills; a strange combination, you may think, but these are the principal features of Holland. An extra day here gave the tourists a chance to take the train to Brussels, and from there visit the famous battle-field of Waterloo. Many of the landmarks and a few relics of that great defeat are still seen there, but a calmness hangs over that once stormy plain and the peasants gather their ripening harvest. To reach England it was necessary to take a steamer. The tourists had almost come to believe that a passage across the channel embraced all the disagreeable features of an ocean voyage, and so many of them sought their staterooms early that evening. However the next morning saw us all landed none the worse for the trip, and we were soon in London, where we were to disband as a party. Our tour was o'er, and we all realized that our brightest anticipations in the beginning had been realized, and that the entire trip had been a most pleasant one, filled with the glad delights that perfect roads, unsurpassed scenery and jolly companionship bring to wheelmen. We wished that the time could be lengthened out, but it is the inevitable arrangement that all things must have an end, and so we had to submit. For nearly twelve weeks we had been companions where the language and customs were strange to us; we had shared together the pleasures of touring through sunny France, 'mid Switzerland's snow clad peaks and by beautiful lakes, and down the castellated Rhine; we had climbed together the same Alpine hills so high that the fleecy clouds lay below us, and together we had gone sailing down the long, winding "coasts" for miles at a stretch; we had wheeled through shady avenues and had quenched our thirst at the same refreshing mountain brook, and now that the time had come to say goodbye it seemed like parting with lifelong companions. On Monday evening, August 17th, we were seated around the festal board for the last time. McCutcheon presided, and each of the party responded in their turn to the various toasts that were proposed. Cutter and ye scribe were appointed historians of the tour, and after singing "Auld Lang Syne," and our old familiar song—"Whistle and Wait for Katie," we said good night.

Spielman, Marquard, Gilbert and Cutter sailed for New York on the 19th inst., McCutchen and Hoffman go the 25th, Shockley and Miller will return to Paris to spend a few months, Swan, Requa, Linn tour to Liverpool and take the steamer on September 2, Baker, Rupp and Eldridge tour through England and Scotland, and will return later; Higgins and Tuttle take a trip through Ireland, and Huggins goes to Australia. Thus are we divided after so pleasant a time, and Elwell's '91 European tour is finished.

THE END.

A POSSIBLE ELECTRICAL BICYCLE.

Written for the Bicycling World.

"A SMALL electric storage battery and motor has been invented, which can be placed under the saddle of a bicycle. The idea is only to use it in cases of extreme fatigue, and when hard hills have to be climbed."

This item, clipped from the columns of the BICYCLING WORLD (Aug. 14, '91), leads the writer to believe that the time is not far distant when electricity will be employed to assist a rider in propelling a bicycle. By assist is meant (as stated in above paragraph) that the cyclist will be equipped with a medium with which he can for a time run his machine either independent of pedal propulsion or in connection with it. This could most easily be accomplished by attaching two sprocket wheels to the rear hub, and connecting an extra chain with the shaft of the motor. The motor in turn could be connected by means of suitably insulated flexible conductors with the poles of a storage battery. Switches for starting and stopping the motor could be placed wherever they would be convenient, on the left hand side of the handle bar for instance. All this has in fact already been done, since a tricycle or "invalid's chair" has been patented which is propelled in this manner. The most objectionable feature about an electrical mechanism of this kind is that storage batteries are very heavy, and the power supplied by one of these small enough to be carried on a cycle would last for but a short time, and the vehicle would come to a stand still until the battery could be replenished. If the machine were unprovided with the means for pedal propulsion in addition, the cyclist would have the pleasure of pushing it home by hand and mutter maledictions against electricity in general on the way.

There is, however, a possibility that a motor and storage battery can be attached to a bicycle (preferably a safety), and arranged in such a manner that the battery can be charged from time to time at the will of the rider by means of power applied to the motor through the medium of the rear wheel of the bicycle, and at suitable times the battery can be discharged through the motor, giving power and aiding the cyclist. To the non-electric wheelman this scheme may seem somewhat vague and bewildering, but a few words of practical information relating to electrical mechanisms will perhaps render it clear, and hence probably be not out of place even in a cycling paper. (1) A "storage battery," or more properly an accumulator, is a contrivance which will yield an electrical current after it has been "charged" by sending an electrical current into it for a sufficient length of time. When exhausted, or partly so, it can be replenished. (2) An electrical motor is a contrivance which yields mechanical energy (power), by converting electricity into magnetism, which is utilized to secure motion. (3) A "dynamo," or correctly speaking, a dynamo electric machine, produces electricity by converting mechanical energy (rotary motion) into magnetism, which in turn is converted into electricity. (4) A dynamo and a motor are mutually convertible, that is, a motor driven with power becomes a dynamo and yields electricity, and a current of electricity sent through a dynamo caused it to produce motion (power).

Now, returning to the bicycle, there are probably very few cyclists, even among the ladies, who would be content to keep their feet on footrests all of the time, and never have a chance to pedal. On the other hand there are few touring wheelmen or women who have not sometimes looked wistfully at a long hill which must be climbed either in the saddle or out of it, and not wished something would push them along a little. The electrical contrivance described, would, if successful, compromise matters, not by furnishing power indefinitely, but by furnishing assistance when it would be most needed, for instance in hill climbing, and over rough or sandy places, thereby dividing up the exertion required to propel the machine a little more evenly than the surface of nature permits at present. This would be accomplished as follows: Assuming the motor to be charged at starting, the cyclist when beginning to ascend a heavy grade turns on the current, and aiding the motor with the pedals, climbs the hill with ease. Then, since the ups and downs in life are pretty evenly divided, all that is necessary is to shut off the current on a level, and by means of a suitable mechanism reverse the action of the motor on a down grade, in order to get back part or all of the electrical energy expended in climbing the hill. The battery will be recharged by utilizing the motor (now converted into a dynamo) in place of a brake. The power absorbed in this way would check and regulate the speed of the machine and probably keep it under perfect control, although a spoon brake could of course be applied to one of the wheels of the machine as an extra precaution. Again, should the amount of electricity on hand be low and an unusually smooth piece of roadway present itself, advantage could be taken of it by throwing in the dynamo, and with but slight additional exertion replenishing the battery and providing against the next rough bit or hill. The storage battery will not necessarily be exhausted whenever a hill is climbed, and even if entirely inoperative when wanted, the cyclist could at any time cut out the entire apparatus and propel the machine in the good old way, the additional weight of the battery, motor, etc., (probably about twenty pounds), being the only drawback. The writer is not aware that any experiments in this line have been undertaken in connection with bicycles, but an attempt has been made to apply this principle of propulsion to street cars, in order to increase the "life" of the storage batteries employed, by utilizing the power wasted on down grades. There is certainly room for experimenting, and while "seventy-three miles per hour" will not be secured, it is quite possible than an electrical bicycle, operated in the manner described, will be both practical and convenient.

THE ELECTIONS IN KENTUCKY.

BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN: If ever an attack upon gentlemen was unwarranted, that published in Bearings of August 7, 1891, in which a "prominent (?) Louisville cyclist" attempted to besmirch the character of Orville W. Lawson and William W. Watts of Louisville was so. As to Orville Lawson nothing need be said in his defence. He is a pioneer in cycling sport, would go his length for a wheelman, and is known to all members of this Division and elsewhere as having cycling interests at heart. Mr. Watts is not so well known to wheelmen as is Lawson, but his work for the interests of the League at the meet recently held at Louisville testifies to what he can and will do. To my knowledge he as chairman of the Louisville Cycle Club's reception committee, was indefatigable in his efforts to please and make the visitors enjoy themselves, and much is due to his efforts for the great enjoyment had. He gave up his law offices, turning them into headquarters for wheelmen, and for four days was constantly in attendance upon the large crowd of visitors there, from six A. M. until twelve midnight (except what time he spent at the race track as an officer), directing his assistants in efforts to give the visitors a good time. That they did have a good time all will testify. Now comes Mr. Castle's managers, and by the article above referred to, they would attempt to force Mr. Watts off the Election Committee, by saying, amongst other dirty things, he should not be a candidate for the office of Secretary-Treasurer, and at the same time remain upon that committee. They do not care for his dual position, he having no opposition, but they thus try to force him off that committee, knowing as they do that in his support of G. E. Johnson, our next Chief Consul, he will labor hard. Mr. Watts, in Bearings of August 14th at once announces that, although his resignation as member of the Election Committe had been arranged for, the attempt to bulldoze him into a resignation would prove of no avail; that the only honorable course now to pursue was for him to continue as committeeman, which he would do. The stand taken by him should be as heartily applauded as the scheme of Castle's managers should be condemned. THE AMATEUR QUESTION.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: "Hawkshaw's Column" generally exhibits a fair combination of wit and wisdom, and usually contains more sound common sense of a practical turn thar is commonly found in bicycle literature. But he does himself injustice on the amateur question. His objection to the term amateur being applied to a racing member of the L. A. W., because that term when applied to a professional actor, artist or musician would not be a word of praise, but when applied to a wheelman is intended as a term of praise, indicates a misapprehension of the whole matter as treated by the L. A. W. Bicycle racing is a sport pure and simple. It is, I think, generally conceded by the great majority of business and professional men, those upon whom the world depends for sound judgment and business prosperity, including the founders of the L. A. W.,—that one who makes sporting a business, a profession, so far as he is concerned, makes a misuse of sport; that the highest and best use of sport is diversion, recreation. Now if this is true, it does not require a great amount of gray matter of one's brain to see that he who makes sport a business instead of a means of diverston does not make use of sport for its highest purposes, and consequently is not so praiseworthy as one who engages in sport simply for diversion, thus using it for its legitimate purposes. In other words, as regards sporting, it is more praiseworthy for one to be known as an amateur than as a professional.

It is plainly to be seen from the Constitution of the L. A. W. that it was not the intention of its founders, and presumably, those who have since joined the League, that its funds nor the time of its officers should be devoted to professional sporting. There does, however, seem to be a tendency of the L. A. W. to give more attention to sporting than to the more practical purposes of its organization. It will be a misfortune if the L. A. W. is ever given over to the domination of professionals. If that time should ever come the members who have given and do now give the organization its present noble standing and influence will lose their interest, and there is no better way to prevent this than by a strict enforcement of all existing rules concerning amateurs.

A. B. CHOATE.

"SETAGEC" TO "HAWKSHAW."

LOCALITIES differ, as well as individuals. Detroit is not Central Park. My dear "Hawkshaw," you don't know very much about the City of the Straits, yclept Detroit. Of course we will acknowledge that we in Detroit don't own the earth, but in our late agitation about lanterns and bells for bicycles, you are very much at sea, as no ordinance of any kind was passed, and the only persons who aired the question were two men and a boy, an editorial writer on the Free Press, President Bates and Master Wallace, President of a boys' bicycle club having seven members.

All these three writers appeared in three issues of the Morning Free Press, and the whole thing resulted from a stinging editorial in that paper, which was entirely uncalled for. You may be sure, friend "Hawkshaw," that I should have taken a hand in the matter if it had amounted to anything.

Of the three writers, the only one who showed any sense was President Bates who, as most of the WORLD'S readers will remember, is an old newspaper man and magazine writer, and for that matter was a reporter on a New York paper before you commenced writing. Mr. Bates does not think as you do, and he claimed if the wheelmen here were required to carry lanterns, light buggies should also. As for bells, horns, whistles and all that stuff, you know as well as I do that the human voice is away ahead of any of those catchpenny arrangements for all but those who are dumb.

Beg pardon, I was just going to say "you're talking through your hat, "Hawkshaw." Candidly, it does not look at all pretty for you to read, wheelmen in general and Detroit riders in particular, a lecture for not carrying a lantern and bell. You may have these things on your wheel, but I doubt it. You may do lots of riding and frequently get run down, but I still doubt it.

This last attack of yours reminds me of a scene in a burlesque which was played here last week. In the cave scene the soubrette comes on the stage to kill the villain, who has captured the heroine and carried her off to the cave. The villain sees the little soubrette and asks, "Who are you?" The soubrette replies: "I am Hawkshaw, the New York detective." Then the villain faints and the band plays creepy music to red fire accompaniment.

What we need more than a lantern ordinance of the kind desired by such writers as "Pendragon" and yourself, is a license to kill hackmen, reckless drivers, (some of these drive the cycle), and smart Alecks. We wouldn't kill you, because we enjoy much of your writing.

Now, my dear detective, you are way off on the tail of that article. The young lady who was killed on East Congress street a few weeks ago was not learning to ride, but had ridden some time, and the accident was not unusual at all, as hardly a day goes by here without some one being killed by our peculiar street cars. You have made enough stereotyped jokes to remember that the horse car accident is on the list, and as common as the rich plumber or iceman, or even the hired girl and kerosene accident. You say: "The streets shall not be used for such purposes, but what would happen to the man who used them for the purpose of breaking horses to harness or saddle?"

Now you know, or if you don't, there is no reason why you should not learn at once, that ninety-nine men out of the hundred who ever did or who now break horses, do it on the street. Come to this city and almost any day you can see horses being broken to harness on the Michigan avenue street car line. When I used to break colts, I never though of any other place to drive them except on the highways. Didn't think anything about hiring a hall for the purpose or going into the woods to do it. Where else could you break a horse to drive?

Before looking for a lantern ordinance in Detroit, read the papers and learn of some of the reckless road hogs we're going to murder in cold blood.

"SETAGEC."

CHICAGO'S CENTURY CRAZE.

CHICAGO has gone century mad; hundred-mile runs are the rule, not the exception as in Eastern cities. Every Sunday we have to credit a dozen, even two dozen century runs. Sometimes, indeed, most often these are over the famous Chicago-Elgin-Aurora course, a distance of five or six over a hundred miles. At other times they are over the Wheeling-Waukegan-and-return course, and again over the Joliet and Aurora road, or to Long Lake and return. All of these roads are fair, and for the most part gravel roads. The first named has one long stretch of mud roads, and over this eight of the Lincoln Club fought to a finish last Sunday, and from graphic accounts from the survivors I should judge it was a long and bitter fight to finish. Caught miles from any station, with no trains until late, on a road which a heavy dew makes impassable, with no side roads to walk on, and your only chance to foot it is to take to the stubble fields. The following men walked thirteen miles of the way: J. M. Erwin, A. G. Roux, Fred Tilt, E. M. Newman, A. D. Brewster, E. L. Canfield, F. Ed. Spooner, K. F. Peterson of the Lincolns, P. Stewart of the Douglas Club, and E. Ullbrecht of the Columbia Wheelmen.

The Century Road Club was first conceived of by F. Ed. Spooner, but on his being taken sick, Wm. Herrick and R. G. Betts took the thing in hand and on a more liberal basis have made it a rousing success. One hundred and twenty members are now enrolled. These are scattered through this country and England. The initiation fee is five dollars. The accepted member receives from the "Chief Centurion" a handsome Century Road Club badge and credit to one bar which he receives when he has successfully completed a century run in sixteen hours. When this is done, he must file a sworn affadavitt to that effect. The club is now at work on a scheme which is original and novel. They propose to place mile-stones along the principal roads for the guidance of wheelmen and others as well. These they ask prominent dealers, manufacturers, bicycle clubs and wheelmen in general to present to the club. On September 10th they hold a fifty mile road race from Chicago to Wheeling and return, the prizes for which, though not grand, will attract a large field of entries. To the first man the regular gold club badge will be given; to the second a silver club badge, and to all finishing inside of three and one-half hours bronze badges of the Century Road Club design will be presented. R. M. Johnson, a manufacturing jeweler, official manufacturer of the club pins, has presented to the club a handsome gold medal to be given to the man who finishes twelve century runs first. This will be hotly contested for, two members now having four bars. On September 13th the club holds its first annual century run, in which all of Chicago's forty odd clubs and non-club members from this and neighboring cities will participate. The course will be over the Elgin-Aurora and return circuit, and good pacemakers will cut the pace, so that all possible may be brought through. All club captains should notify Chief Centurion Herrick, 81 Madison street, Chicago, as to the number of men they will have in line, and all unattached wheelmen should also let him know if they are going, so that arrangements may be made along the road for feeding the hungry multitude. The size and number of hotels will easily accommodate them. Following as it does the Parkside tournament, September 11 and 12th, a large number of visitors will join.

WHEELMEN'S CARNIVAL AT THE COAL PALACE.

One of the novel attractions of that most unique of American Expositions, the Iowa Coal Palace, at Ottumwa, Iowa, is a wheelmen's carnival, which will be held on the 29th and 30th of September. The event will be looked forward to with great interest by wheelmen throughout the West, for it will be signalized by some novel features of its own. Another thing which will give it significance as perhaps the greatest gathering of wheelmen ever held in the West will be the presence of D. J. Canary. Mr. Canary will give exhibitions in the coal palace on both days, and there will be a lantern parade and runs during the day and all sorts of good things wherewith the visiting wheelmen will be entertained. Ottumwa has more wheelmen than any other city in Iowa, and they have shown a great deal of enterprise in the past. Their present carnival, which is arranged for the purpose of giving another feature of interest to the coal palace, will doubtless be attended by many hundred wheelmen, who will be attracted there by the fame of Mr. Canary, as well as by the prospect of a very pleasant time. For particulars address H. L. Kneedler, Secretary Coal Palace, or A. L. Eaton, Secretary Ottumwa Bicycle Club.

CAPT. A. S. RALPH, of the Sioux City (Iowa) Cycling Club, sends us the following interesting item: "The Sioux City Cycle Club has a little 'meet' arranged for during the coming 'Corn Palace' festivities in this city during the first two weeks in October. I enclose a clipping from one of our papers showing what we are going to do in the way of prizes. Bicycling has had a big boom in this vicinity this summer, and we are anticipating a very successful meeting. We want our brother cyclists who see this to keep a lookout for our announcement, which will be in the columns of the WORLD soon, and to make plans to visit our city If they don't know what the 'Corn Palace' is we will be glad to inform them. It is worth coming to see, aside from the bicycle meet. Come on, cyclers, and see how we do it in Sioux City."

MR. HENRY G. PRIEST of the Quadrant Cycle Co., Birmingham, England, expects to arrive in the United States about the commencement of October.

He will be glad to receive communications from any substantial firms desiring to represent the Quadrant Cycle Co. in any specified territory.

All letters to be addressed to Box 2225, General Post Office, New York, N. Y.

EXCERPTS FROM "THE GOSSIP OF GOOD ROADS."

It is a real pleasure to be able to reproduce some of the excellent things Mr. Potter has said in his pamphlet "The Gospel of Good Roads," than which a more able or interesting work on roads has never appeared in print. We will not waste time by a panegyric on Mr. Potter's work, but let it speak for itself in the excerpts we have taken therefrom. After a general introduction he says: "* * * You will agree with me that your roads are bad. You may not know that they are the very worst in the world; but you have never seen or heard of worse ones, nor, alas, perhaps of better. You live on the main road in an important county. I saw you one day last spring trying to drive your best horse through the pasty depths of that mysterious streak of public territory, and while the patient beast was pulling the harness in two, in his efforts to lift you and your scant load on to the little bridge near the mill, your photograph was taken, and here you are.

It is an honest picture—as honest as the sun; let us sit down together and look at it. You will notice that your face is turned the other way, and I promise not to tell anybody who you are; for I feel that the day is soon coming when every American farmer will look upon the picture with some regret, and I have no desire to humiliate a friend; besides, it is not your fault alone that this road is bad, nor is it this road alone that presents a sea of slush and slime throughout each rainy season.

There were 10,000 farm horses in your county on the day when this photograph was taken, and for about four weeks all the county roads had been in just this condition. Teaming was out of the question; to haul a load to town was impossible, and the 10,000 farm horses stood in their stalls "eating their heads off." At what cost to the farmers? Assume that the cost of keeping each horse is twenty-five cents per day, including labor, food, and all other items, and in half a minute we compute that it costs $2,500 per day, $17,500 per week and exactly $70,000 for the four weeks that these horses have been standing practically idle. A bad road, you see, is an expensive thing.

It is expensive not alone to the farmers of your county, but to the farmers of the entire country. The average rainfall in the United States is something over 40 inches per year. The dirt road absorbs these 40 odd inches of water, freezes and thaws, dries, pulverizes, changes from paste to powder and back again from powder to paste, and for weeks at a time is practically impassable. Farm traffic is tied up. You have produce to sell, purchases to make, grain to grind, timber to haul, bills to collect and obligations to meet, but all these must wait because your only avenue of travel is taking its annual soak. A dozen times a day you look out of your barn door with the hope of seeing some struggling vagrant of whom you can inquire, "How is the road?" * * *.

From official government sources I find that the farmers of this country, in the year 1890, had upon their farms, draft animals as follows:

	Number.	Value.	Average Price.
Horses	14,213,837	$978,516,562	$68.00
Mules	2,331,027	182,394,099	78.00
Oxen, etc	36,849,024	560,625,137	15.00
Total	53,393,888	$1,721,535,798

Now to simplify matters a little, you see we have nearly $2,000,000,000 invested in motive power of a perishable, uncertain and expensive kind. Busy or idle these animals must be fed and cared for every day. They are boarders that you can't get rid of when the busy season is over and it stands you in hand to keep them at work. Two thousand millions of dollars make a large sum. Invested at 5 per cent interest it would produce nearly $2,000,000 per week. Then you see there are more than 16,000,000 of horses and mules alone, and to feed and care for these it costs the modest sum of $4,000,000 per day. A little while ago a very clever and intelligent citizen of Indiana estimated that bad roads cost the farmer $15 per year for each horse and mule in his service. This means a loss in the aggregate of nearly $250,000,000 per year. Add wear and tear of wagons and harnesses, $100,000,000; depreciated value of farm lands, $2,000,000,000; total, twenty-three hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

It will interest you to know about the roads of France. In that country there is no such diversity between the material progress of the farmer and that of the merchant—between the country and the town—as is found in this country. The farmers prosper and have always prospered. Every dollar spent by the French Government to bring itself more closely in touch with its rural population, has been well invested. You remember that terrible war when from Prussia, the King, the warrior and the statesman led the German legions across the breadth of the French empire and forced the capitulation of Paris; and how the brave Frenchmen were humiliated by the exacting terms of peace which their conquerors imposed. The immense tribute demanded by the Germans at the close of that war, now twenty years ago, was made up from moneys contributed in a wonderful degree by the French farmers, and the admiration of the world which their patriotism excited in the payment of that tribute, was not greater than the wonder which everybody felt at the ready thrift which had enabled them to meet such enormous demands.

* * * Of course these roads of France are not built by farmers who "work out" their highway taxes after the manner followed in this country, nor are they repaired by the use of plows, hoes or scrapers, like those which are brought into use at the annual farmer's picnic which takes place when you go out to "work the road" in your township. On the contrary, they are built and kept up under a system which is perhaps the most perfect in the world. There is an official-in-chief, who takes charge of all the main roads of the Republic and requires from his subordinates complete reports at frequent intervals. In this manner information is always at hand showing the condition of the roads in all parts of the country. Of course, the work is divided into different sections, which, in turn, are in charge of subordinate engineers or superintendents. Broken stone is furnished by contract, and considering the amount of labor accomplished each year on the French roads, the cost is surprisingly small. The roads of our own States, at least the important roads, should be maintained in the same way. The inefficient, haphazard and ridiculously expensive method which we have followed for the last hundred years should have convinced us by this time of the necessity of change.

Of course I may be wrong about this, because it has never yet been determined just how long it takes a great and intelligent people to twist itself out of the rut of an accepted and established blunder. Upon this point, a keen and witty observer of public affairs says: "A hundred years is a very little time for the duration of a national error, and it is so far from being reasonable to look for its decay at so short a date, that it can hardly be expected, within such limits, to have displayed the full bloom of its imbecility."

ORANGE WHEELMEN'S NEW CLUB HOUSE.

The above cut will show how the new club house of the Orange (N. J.) Wheelmen will look when finished. The ground was broken about a week ago. The club house will be erected on the lot owned by the club on the north side of Park avenue, just east of Parrow brook, Orange, N. J. The building is to be 29x38, and have two full stories and a basement, and finished with a mansard roof. On the first floor are to be a large assembly room, 22x25, with a fine open fire place; a large reception room, and a central hall running back to the assembly room. On the right of this will be the stairway, rising in two essy strings to the floor above; a large cloak room and a ladies' toilet room. On the second floor will be a committee room, a billiard room large enough for a pool table and a billiard table; a cloak room and the gentlemen's toilet room. In the mansard roof is to be a suite of rooms for the janitor. The basement will contain a large room for the storage of wheels, with a convenient sink for washing them, and a bowling alley 85 feet long. The entire club house is to be sided and ceiled with Georgia pine, no plaster being used in it. In the assembly room and in the billiard room are to be handsome open fire places, with tiled hearths. Provision is made for the addition of a gymnasium if desired at any time.

THE MANHATTAN A. C. MEET.

NEW YORK will have a first class race meet September 26th, as will be seen by reference to page 622 of this issue. This club has probably the strongest team of racing men in the country, and it consists of ". J. Berlo, E. C. Ahthony, G. M. Hendee, H. J. Hall, Jr., G. W. Banker, A. C. Banker, H. B. Arnold, G. M. Worden. J. W. Shoefer, A. E. Stilger, J. W. Judge, W. S. Campbell, E. A. Powers, C. A. Persons, Geo. and V. H. Muller. The track of the club has been built at a cost of $10,000, and this will be put in first class shape. It is the fastest 1-4 mile track in America. No expense or care will be spared to make this the first exclusively cycle event the Manhattans have ever held. It is expected that the results of the enterprise will encourage this club to make the affair an annual one. We hope and believe that the racing men and the public will come to the front, and by good racing and generous patronage give the Manhattans encouragement to repeat the affair in 1892. Success to the "Cherry Diamond!"

THE HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

NEVER in the history of cycling has there been so much interest displayed in a two days' tournament as that shown in the races of the Hartford Wheel Club, which occurs at Charter Oak Park, September 7th and 8th. The list of entries numbers 375. Among those who ride in the various events are the record breakers of America, and for this reason the eighth annual of this famous club is aptly titled "the meeting of the champions."

With the Constitutional Convention, the meet of the Connecticut Division and the tournament combined, it is thought the attractions will be the means of drawing 3,000 wheelmen together from all parts of the country.

From the elaborate arrangements made it is a positive fact that the event will be a historic one, and will go down in the annals of bicycle tournaments as the most successful ever given in America. All the arrangements for the big "tourney" are now complete, and only favorable weather is wanted. Hotel accommodations have already been made for parties from fifty different cities.

The local men have taken every precaution to prepare themselves to properly entertain the visitors, and every one who does attend will be royally received and correspondingly treated.

Among the riders who have entered to take part in the tournament are W. W. Windle, P. J. Berlo, H. B. Arnold, H. J. Hall, Jr., C. M. and W. F. Murphy, A. A. Zimmerman, S. B. Bowman, H. Smith, C. W. Dorntge, Geo. K. Barrett, W. W. Taxis, G. M. Worden, L. Foster, H. Githens, W. M. Carmen, John H. Draper, W. D. Banker, F. M. Brinker, W. M. Harradon, H. C. Tyler, E. A. McDuffee, A. B. Rich, W. E. McCune, P. J. McDuffee, F. C. Graves, W. A. King, J. B. Fontaine, W. H. Ballou, C. L. Sage, and many others not so well known to fame. The West will be represented by two men only, but the cream of the Eastern racing contingent will be on hand. The entry list is very large and in one race there are no less than 55 entries.

MISSOURI DIVISION FALL MEET.

LOUISIANA was fairly alive with cyclists to-day, August 29, who had gathered to be present at the first day of the fall meet of the Missouri Division L. A. W. The day opened finely, and the morning was spent in visiting various points of interest in and about the city. The track was not put in condition until 12 M., and as the proper track machines were not at hand, the track was not what it should have been. The races were started at 2.45 P. M., and resulted as follows:

One mile safety, novice—E. J. Rotty, St. L. C. C., first; W. S. Hall, Louisiana, second. Time 3.20.

One mile ordinary, 3.20 class—Geo. M. Wilder, St. Louis, first; Frank A. Padgett, Jacksonville, second. Time 3.46.

Half-mile safety, dash—This was a close race, and Harding's spurt was the feature. A. G. Harding, St. Louis, first; R. M. Milford, second. Time 1.20.

One mile ordinary handicap—Four starters. This was the race of the day, as those red hot rivals, Harding and Rule, were at the scratch. Rule's terrific spurt carried him to victory on the last lap. A. G. Harding, second. Time 3 11.

Two mile safety, Missouri Division championship—The race was uninteresting until the last lap when Rule and Milford had it out for first place, Rule winning, R. M. Milford, second. Time 6.58.

Frank A. Padgett won the trick riding contest and rode an exhibition half-mile on a unicycle in 1.53.

The seventh event, the one mile safety handicap, had a big field of starters with handicaps varying from fifty to one hundred and fifty yards. The pace was very hot from the start to finish. W. J. Cox, ninety yards, first; R. M. Milford, fifty yards, second. Time 2.42.

Four men faced the starters in the two mile ordinary handicap. Harding, the only scratch man caught the field on the third lap and won first place. Geo. Wilder, two hundred yards, second. Time 6.38 1-2.

One mile Pike County championship brought out a large field of riders, and was won handily by E. J. Smith; W. S. Hall, second. Time, 3.25 3-4.

Five mile safety, Missouri Division championship was hotly contested by Harding and Rule, Milford dropped out. A time limit of 17m. was placed on the event, and Champion Harding won by three feet. Rule second. Time 15.49.

One mile safety consolation—J. W. Bowman, first; Val. A. Fath, second. Time 3.11.

One mile ordinary, consolation—Geo. Wilder, first; E. J. Rotty, second. Time 3.35.

To-night a smoker took place at which the prizes won during the day were presented to the successful contestants. Speeches were made, and a general good time was had. Large numbers of wheelmen are arriving from neighboring towns to take part in to-morrow's August 30, century run, which will have nearly one hundred starters. All visitors were well pleased with to-day's programme.

MORE RECORDS AT SPRINGFIELD.

THE old spirit of past records hovers over the famous Hampden Park track, and encourages the wheelmen training there to try for records, and in many instances the efforts have been successful. On Wednesday last, G. M. Worden, M. A. C., broke the two-mile safety record in 5m., 6 4-5 sec. He was paced by McDuffee, Githens, Taylor, and Berlo.

THE MILE IN 2.18 1-5.

P. J Berlo, M. A. C, made a successful attempt on the one mile safety record as follows: quarter-mile, 36 sec.; half-mile, 1 08 2-5; three-quarter mile, 1.42 (tie with Osmond); and one-mile in 2.18 1-5, which is American record, and just 2 1-5 sec. within Osmond's time in the same distance. The timing in these two events was done by O. N. Whipple, J. A. Bryant, O. A. McGarrett.

A CENTURY RUN FOR BOSTON.

THE Mount Washington Bicycle Club of South Boston, L. A. W. 345, will have a century run Labor Day, September 7, leaving Dorchester street and Broadway at five A. M. The run will be made to Newburyport, following route in Massachusetts Road Book after crossing Harvard Bridge. Returning over same route the finish will be made on the boulevard at Marine Park, City Point. Although a century run, not a race, the riders will be at liberty to make their own pace. Address Fred W. McArdle, Captain. 25 State street, Boston.

THE PEORIA TOURNAMENT BIGGER THAN EVER.

THE Peoria prize list is out at last and is given below. It is a surprise to the Peoria management itself, and if it does not prove an eye-opener to everybody we shall be disappointed. The actual value of the prizes is $5,335, exclusive of record medals and other special prizes, of which there will be several hundred dollars' worth. Our list might have been greater, as there seems to be no end to the liberality of Peoria business men and citizens when the city's pet organization is concerned. But "Enough is as good as a feast.'

The programme for the entertainment of visiting wheelmen will be as great in its way as the list of prizes, and everybody must admit that we use strong language when we say this. Full particulars will be published next week.

The track will be as near perfect as it will be possible to make it. No time, pains or expense will be spared, as it is our expectation that a mile will be ridden in 2.10 if the weather is favorable. Already very fast time has been made by men now in training on the track daily.

A fare and a third on the certificate plan has been secured from all points of the United States, excepting Michigan. Already the Western roads are advertising special trains, reduced rates, etc., and no end of interest is being taken. Reduced rates—actual and not fictitious reductions—will be given by all hotels and no pains will be spared in the entertainment of our guests. Particularly good care will be taken of each racing man and his trainer, and if each competitor does not leave Peoria with a very warm spot deep down in his heart for Peoria we shall feel that we have failed most disastrously in accomplishing our desire.

A strong feature will be made of the record-breaking contests to be held Monday and Tuesday following the tournament, as it was the unanimous opinion of those who saw them last year that they were equally if not more interesting than the best races. Extraordinary prizes are offered for records, our club being the forerunners in this line, as they have been in other matters of tournament enterprise.

The club extends to every wheelman a most cordial invitation to attend this its third tournament and to participate in the festivities connected therewith, as its guest and that of the Illinois Division L. A. W., as it will provide the entertainment for Friday evening. The programme of races and list of prizes is as follows:

THE FIREWORKS.

On the evening of August 10th, at 8 P. M., at Hampden Park, will be given one of the finest displays of fireworks ever seen. The programme covers a magnificent display of 30 pieces. The introduction will consist of salutes from cannon bombs, and maroon shells of immense size and calibre, when in radid succession will follow the pyrotechnic display of bewildering beauty and splendor. The salute will be followed by a grand illumination of the grounds of Hampden Park, the like of which has never been excelled. Then the "ariel work" and "set pieces" will follow, and there is nothing within the power of the firework manufacturers which will be omitted. The contract has been awarded to Messrs. Masten & Wells of Boston, and they will lay themselves out to make this one of the most magnificent displays that they have ever undertaken to make. We have the programme before us in detail, and upon a perusal of same we can say that the fireworks exhibition will be not the least attractive feature of the great meet It is marvellous in its varied splendor and brilliancy, and the realization will not fall short of the expectation.

CHICAGO RACING MATTERS.

WITH the annual field days of the Y. M. C. A. and Maywood Athletic Club, and the Lake View Cycling Club ten-mile handicap race and short distance contests, Chicago Wheelmen were busy Saturday and Sunday, for on the latter day the Columbia wheelmen held a ten-mile handicap race at 6 o'clock in the morning, and the Douglas Club held several interesting contests at Englewood on the hills.

The annual field day of the Y. M. C. A. took place at the west side ball grounds. C. D. Cutting of the Cook County Wheelmen, distinguished himself by winning both events, the first from the thirty and the last from the eighty yard mark Jno. Erickson, President of the Columbia wheelmen, was second in both.

The Maywood Athletic club also held their annual field day contests. The course was twelve blocks one mile square over Maywood streets. The results were: three-mile handicap—Hatch, O. P. C. C., first Parish, M. C. C., second; one-mile handicap, S. S. Kemp, first, A. Parish, second. Ten-mile handicap, Maywood Cycling Club, members only. Prize, a handsome $150 sterling silver cup presented by Norton Bros. First A. Parish, 39 1-2 m.; second, H. Staves, 41 1-2 m.. Will Maas won time prize in 33 19.

Over a north side course, the Lake View Cycling Club held a ten-mile handicap race. There were twenty-six entries and ten starters. Ten prizes in all, including a $50 time medal, which was won by Jee Stillwell in 32.19 2-5. Wescott, his only rival for this prize, ran too close and was thrown by striking Stillwell's back wheel. Both tumbled and Wescott was slightly hurt. The place men were Stein, 6m., first; Meade, 4m., second; Stillwell, scratch, third; and Thomas, Tilton, Payne, and Wescott.

The Columbia's race was started at a most unchristianlike hour, 6 A.M.! and the presence of a good field and a big lot of spectators speaks well for the enthusiasm of Chicago wheelmen. Pneumatics were handicapped 2m., inflated cushions 1 1-2m., and cushions 1m. There were 46 starters and 38 finished. The time of the first ten men were:

THE LOUNGER.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT PHILADELPHIA.—The races of the Quaker City Wheelmen were run off on the track built last year at the Philadelphia base ball grounds, Broad and Huntingdon streets, and as—contrary to all competent advice—the owners of the grounds had insisted on cutting down the banking, several nasty falls resulted, in one of which Mr. Fornwalt, of Columbia, was thrown with such violence that he had to be taken to the hospital in the patrol, being seriously bruised and cut about the face and head. The track is unsafe to ride on in its present condition and should be tabooed by all Philadelphia riders until the management have it put in proper condition. Draper and Kelley in the tandem event also went to grass, injuring the latter quite severely, and throwing them out of the race.

The 25-mile road race was an interesting feature, but the mistake was made of riding the last two miles on the track, and as it is a four lap one the contestants were badly mixed up before the finish. However, the best was done under the circumstances and the times made are remarkably fast. Summary:

Albert Beggs, Wilmington Wheel Club, handicap 11m., first, net time, 1.27.15; J. L. Hanley, Warren Athletic Club, 8m., second, 1.28; A. A. Gracey, Columbia Cyclers, 8m., third, 1.29.24; W. B. Venn, Wilmington Wheel Club, fourth; W. L. Welch, Wissahickon Wheel Club, fifth; C. W. Dalsen, Century Wheelmen, sixth; F. B. Marriott, South End Wheelmen, seventh. W. C. Seeds, Warren Athletic Club, the scratch man, covered the distance in 1h. 22m. 1-5s., beating the best previous records. Van Wagoner started, but his sore foot gave out and he quit. Seeds, the time winner, rode a pneumatic safety; Beggs, the first man, also rode a pneumatic safety; the second and third men in rode cushion safeties.

Annual Meeting New York State Division.

The annual meeting of the New York State Division was held in one of the parlors of the Powers Hotel, Rochester, Aug. 20th. Chief Consul W. S. Bull presided and J. N. Williams acted as secretary pro tem. Mr. Bull made a statement of the condition of the Division, showing that the membership was over 100 in excess of last year at this date, and the financial affairs were very satisfactory.

On motion of Mr. C. H. Luscomb the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the New York Division, favor the proposed amendment to the L. A. W. Constitution providing that a three-fourth membership shall be sufficient to qualify wheeling clubs as League clubs.

Resolved, That the attachment of clubs to the L. A. W. is of great advantage and material benefit to the League: that the advancement, both of wheeling generally and of the L. A. W. will be promoted by such adherence, and that it is the duty of the L. A. W. to afford every facility to wheeling clubs throughout the country and to establish conditions which shall make it possible for all such clubs to join it.

Resolved, That the New York Division favor the adoption of the proposed amendment to the L. A. W. Constitution, making the presidential term one year instead of two.

After some discussion on State Division matters in general and the unanimous adoption of the following resolution the meeting adjourned.

Resolved, That the wheelmen who have attended the Rochester meet of 1891, tender to the wheelmen of Rochester, to the municipal authorities and citizens, their sincere thanks for the the excellent manner in which they have been welcomed and entertained, and for their hospitalities. J. N. WILLIAMS,
Secretary, pro tem.

New York State Division, League of American Wheelmen.

The Constitutional Convention of the L. A. W. to be held at Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8th, 1891, will consider measures of unusual importance to the League.

New York State must go to this Convention in its full strength that the interests of the Division may be protected.

Each member of the New York State Division should be present, in person, if possible, if not, by proxy.

In case you cannot go and have not managed to be represented by proxy, do not delay mailing your proxy to me, care of Hotel Henbein, Hartford, Conn.

As amendments to the Constitution of the greatest importance to every League club will be acted on, all of the League clubs of this Division are urged to be fully represented at this Convention. Yours fraternally,
W. S. BULL, Chief Consul.

Wisconsin Division, Notice.

A prize up.—To the member who secures twenty (20) applications for L. A. W. membership from date until the first day of January next, the officers of this Division will present a League pin of the approved style and quality. Send all applications to the State Secretary (Morawetz) so that your list may be credited with same.

Election Committee is hereby appointed, F. W. Hunt, chairman; B. T. Higgins, and G. M. Lindeman, all of Oshkosh.

Members will take notice that all ballots must be in hands of the Secretary before Nov. 16th; he will check them by membership list and deliver them unsealed to Election Committee, who will count and announce result. Fraternally,
W. L. SIMONDS, C. C.

Jersey Fitting

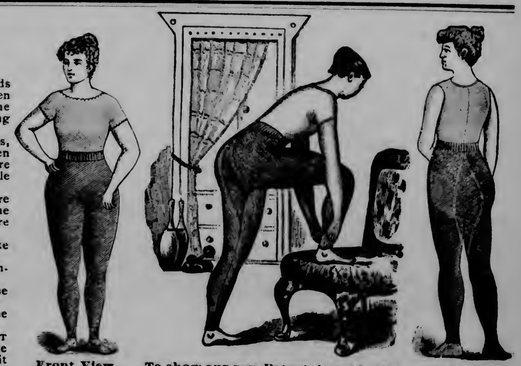
originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.



Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

Mr. Porter's Excellent and Remarkably Successful Handbook of the Wheel and Everything Connected with its Use.

CYCLING

—FOR—

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

HOW ABOUT BEARINGS?

There has been considerable talk about tires and various other things connected with bicycles.

Among the most important parts of a bicycle are the bearings.

Good bearings may serve to carry fairly well any style of machine.

Poor bearings can never carry successfully any kind of machine, no matter how good the frame, or how easy the spring forks and cushions.

The best bearings are those about which the least is heard (in the way of complaint).

Riders of Columbia Cycles have found that they have had no trouble with bearings. The bearing surfaces are just right, the balls are true, the cones have the proper angle,—in short they are as near perfection as possible.

All that we have heard from them is in the way of praise and not of complaint.

NOT ENOUGH.

Victors are cheap at $135, in comparison with second grade machines which are sold at from $50 to $130, and sometimes at $135.

Prices are often deceptive. There are many inferior or second grade wheels on the market with a list price of $135, but which, in reality, are sold for a much less sum. Old, experienced riders understand this hollow pretence, and are able to take advantage of such reductions when unable to buy the best, while the inexperienced buyer or beginner has to pay full price.

If you want the best bicycle in the world, fitted with Victor Cushion Tires and Victor Spring Fork, you must pay $135 to get it.

OVERMAN WHEEL CO., CHICOPEE FALLS, MASS.

CONCERNING "POEMS."

We notice, with ill disguised regret, a growing tendency among modern writers to speak of common, everyday, inanimate things as "poems."

A lovesick dude is smitten with some decent looking country girl who was standing by the fence as he passed, and he writes her down as "a poem in muslin."

A wagon maker finishes in flaming colors a new oxcart, and the local paper promptly refers to it as "a veritable poem."

A wandering Bohemian sees in an art gallery a daub, such as would not be tolerated if done by a novice. He notices at the bottom a well-known name and straightway it goes into the "Weakly Gusher" as "a delightful poem without words."

Mrs. Shoddy orders a dress made by some noted costumer, and it too gets into the "society notes" as a "poem." We admire attractive millinery, but when they describe a lot of "delerium trimmins' strung on a piece of circuitous bonnet wire, and then call the whole outfit a "poem," it is time for Tennyson and Bassett to look up a new name for verses.

We can stand this poem business all right while it is in the society column, because we rarely see it, but we do read the bicycle papers more or less, and hence we protest that a poem should be called a poem and that nothing else should.

We notice that several bicycle advertisers during the past year have called their product "poems in malleable iron," etc. Now we don't aspire to this sort of thing.

The

bicycle is not a poem, although it stanza great deal of wear and tear.

It is not a song, or a solo, or a metallic medley of guards and spokes and springs and things; it is much less noisy than any of these.

If it was a poem, however, it would be a spring poem, because it is elastic from the ground up.

Lacy Hillier says: "Had there been no inflated tires, there would have been a boom in Hickories." Well, what is the objection to having a boom in Hickories anyway?

You can't "puncture" a Hickory wheel, even with a large tack, but we can puncture most of the objections that are raised against it on any tack.

The principal trouble, so we are told, is that we don't claim enough (as advertising goes.)

We don't approve of getting on the housetop and yelling and swinging our old hat, (the same one.) We don't like to advertise at all in fact, it seems "unprofessional" to constantly shout and parade our product before an already fatigued and incredulous public. and yet we do it to some extent, else who would be there to meet us when we get off the train? "There are no eggs in last year's nests."

No bells are rung when any man is born, but only when he dies. We notice also, that most of the free advertising is after the beneficiary is "busted," so we reluctantly call your attention once more to the bicycle, details of which we send alike to the just and also to believers in the old "amateur rule."

PARSON vs. BIKE.

In our town there are some people who go about in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. We refer particularly to Parson Flipper, whose recent utterances against cycling have caused us infinite pain, more, in fact, than cycling itself has caused us.

Last Sunday, thinking that some business might be done there, we attended Sunday school. It may be proper to state here, that during the past month the Parson has repeatedly called on us and proposed that we present him with a Union Bicycle. He asserted that he was a shining light and that it would be an almighty good ad for us. Had the parson been a safe man, we would have gracefully acquiesced, but knowing him as we do for a confirmed liquor licker, and a very unsteady pedestrian to boot, (we tried booting him once) in addition to which he owes us for his third wife's coffin; we say that after considering all these points against him we declined to donate. We expected he would retaliate, and went to Sunday school prepared for an argument as well as for business.

After a brief prayer for the saving of souls and his apple crop, he said that he was grieved to note the propagation of a new evil in the town, to which both male and female were falling victims. He alluded to bicycles in general as aids to the Hades, Satan's wheelbarrow, etc., etc., and said that Jesse James was a canonized saint compared with the bicycle agent. He expected we should shrink, but we didn't nary a shrink.

Our patience is bounded on the north by common sense; on the south by lofty ideas of the dignity of our calling, and on the east and west by two forty-four calibre pop guns. Our safety valve is weighted to 100 in the shade, and when we reach this notch, we effervesce.

The Parson's vaporings riled us, and we called him to order; he ordered, and the order was for us to get out. Our singular bravery is well known through the United States, and we declined. There was a scrap in which we lost one side of our fair and graceful mustache and a Waterbury watch. We keep half of the parson's right ear preserved in spirits in our office, and are always happy to show same to reformers. It is labelled, "Saved from a warm hereafter." It will be offered as first prize at the coming races. Our money is up on Union riders. We have now learned what easy steering, easy riding and speedy wheels they are. We predict the Unions to be winners in the coming races. Watch them.

P. S.—Have a few more catalogues for those who mean business.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

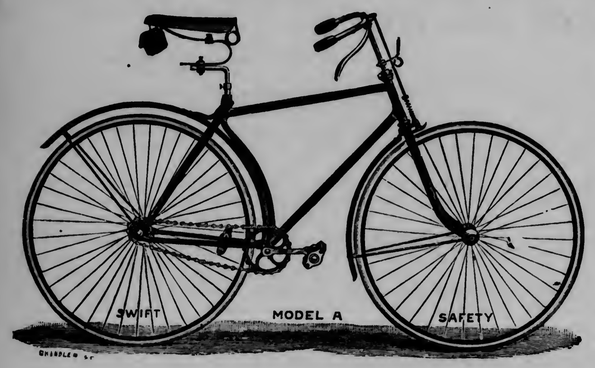
It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.



It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

At Philadelphia, Aug. 29, under the auspices of the Quaker City Wheelmen, the 25-mile handicap road race was won by Albert Beggs, mounted on a Pneumatic Swift.

In the same race C. A. Elliott broke the world's record for 25 miles. Elliott also rode a Swift.

And what is the Best Wheel?

We put a NEW MAIL on the Market

This year at $100. What do they say about it?

Here are a few reports:

From a dealer in Indiana:

"The $100.00 NEW MAIL is giving the best satisfaction of any wheel in town."

From a dealer in Maine:

"The NEW MAILS are standing well, and will have a great run in this town next year."

From a gentleman in Virginia:

Wm. Read & Sons, Gentlemen:—I have just completed a tour through Holland, Belgium, part of France and part of Germany on one of your $100.00 Cushion Tired New Mails, and I am more than satisfied with its running qualities. I had good roads—cobblestone roads, mountainous roads and almost every road imaginable. and your wheel has stood them all. Neither cushion tire shows any wear, and both wheels are tight, not a loose place in the machine. You may use this as a testimonial with my name, and I am Yours truly, F. G. KIPPER.

Another writes as follows:

"I begin this third season of my NEW MAIL "in perfect condition. My only expense so far "has been for two balls, one broken and one lost "while cleaning. Good service this over our "rough country roads."

BOSTON, 11 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

OF course we cannot cover Springfield this issue, much as we would like to, It would make our issue all too late if we did so.

WE are constrained to express the opinion that the meeting of the National Assembly at Hartford was a failure. The bare quorum of faithful delegates who attended cannot be held responsible for this. They attended to such business as could be considered with intelligence and dispatch. The real blame rests with the careless but presumably well meaning gentlemen who demanded that a special meeting be called. It is apparent from the call, which was issued in accordance with the request, that those anxious for a special meeting were very ignorant of the requisites for one. We hope no more special meetings will be called unless it is necessary. The calling of the meeting has cost a great deal of money and has been of no benefit.

THE plan adopted by the Convention at Hartford to allow proxies to be voted whether the proxy himself was actually present or not is most pernicious. We certainly trust that this unheard of, and we believe, illegal action will not be regarded by anyone as a precedent for the future. The whole system of League proxy voting in Conventions is w ong, and utterly fails to produce the result intended. It was intended that each member should be represented by a personally designated proxy. The method now pursued of collecting proxies from everywhere and everyone signed in blank, and distributed around to Tom, Dick and Harry without even the name of the proxy written in is a farce so far as an intelligent consideration of any question is concerned. This matter should be attended to at once, and some plan devised to remedy the evil, We intend some day after a more careful consideration of the subject to offer some suggestions on this matter.

WE think, too, that it is in bad taste to say the least, to gather proxies from men present at the place of meeting. It is the duty, and should be the desire, of every member to personally attend the meeting. But while the custom which now prevails of asking a man for his proxy as soon as he comes to town, it is not surprising that a very small proportion of those who can attend do so. This, however, is purely a matter of taste, as there is no law against soliciting proxies.

THE decision of the National Assembly to accept proxies written on scraps of paper pinned or pasted on a proxy blank was most irregular. Any court of law would, we believe, have decided every one of them illegal and void. Mr. Potter, with his usual clearness, stated the case so that it is difficult to understand how any intelligent man could vote to admit such garbled documents as were presented; but a majority of those present did not agree with our acute legal friend. Potter was right, nevertheless.

WE might write more at length upon this proxy question, but would only weary our readers. The subject is a dry, but an extremely important one.

CAN it be that the preachings of Mr. Hicks many years ago in favor of flying starts for cycle races is bearing fruit? The fact that a novelty is to be introduced at Springfield in the form of one race with flying start would seem to indicate such was the case. Certainly it will be fair, when we get a little closer to Maud S.'s 2.08 3-4 from a standstill, and it would be a good idea to try some miles with a flying start and thus be able more intelligently to compare the relative speed of horse and cycle. The cycle is nearer to the horse than the wildest dreamer of two years ago deemed possible. There is not any eight seconds difference between the start from a standstill, but the difference must be considerable.

A man can not strike his gait from a standstill in less distance than one hundred yards and the effort to get under way at full speed in as short a distance as possible is tremendous. With a start of about one hundred and twenty-five yards behind the tape so that he could get his swing naturally, we think the 2.16 performance of Osmond would have gone down to 2.12 or thereabouts.

EVERY locality is "afflicted" with the century run fever. Perhaps "afflicted" is a hard word, and we should say permeated. Century runs properly planned and carried out can do no possible harm, though there are those who fail to see the charm of riding one hundred miles simply for the sake of saying that it had been done. There are hundreds and thousands of men, and women for that matter, who can roll off their little century without winking, and who really enjoy the physical exertion necessary to accomplish the feat. That is all right for such people, but there are many whose ambition far exceeds their physical ability, and to such it is well to point out the dangers of over doing.

It is simply absurd for us or any one else to lay down cast iron rules governing the use of the cycle as a means of pleasure, and if from time to time we have appeared to be censorius when alluding to the use, or what appeared to be the *mis*use of the cycle, it has only been our aim to preach rationalism as applied to the use of the bicycle. Under this comes the fact based on common sense that because "A" can ride a hundred miles within the twenty-four hours, it does not follow that "B" can with safety accomplish the same thing. There is no particular harm in starting with the scorchers in a century run providing pride is not allowed to goad one on beyond the natural powers of endurance. It is only because of the evident prevalence of a century epidemic that we touch on this subject and urge some of our ambitious readers to use reason and not over estimate their powers of endurance. A few cases where damage by over exertion may be done would work incalculable injury to the sport.

IT is a matter of universal comment with travellers, that country road-making in the United States is either a lost art or a to-be-acquired science. The average selectman or road-agent of a country town is usually deplorably ignorant of the first principles of making a good road, in fact it is no exaggeration to declare that in many instances the official has never even seen a first-class road, much less built one. Nothing will so surely advance the growth and well being of a town as well made and well kept roads, and if those who go in to "boom" certain cities and towns would but remember this fact and put part of the money they throw away in advertising advantages, which too often the place boomed does not possess, into good roads, we would hear of less cases of collapsed booms than we do at present. Nothing more bespeaks the intelligence and character of the citizens of a community than the construction and condition of the roads. Show one the roads of a country, and it is a poor observer who can not tell you the class of people who own them. It seems though as if the wheelmen of this country have taken upon their shoulders a thankless and hopeless task in endeavoring to convince those who would be most benefited by good roads of the necessity of them.

A WHEELMAN who has toured extensively both at home and abroad, says: "You can get more real enjoyment out of a day's ride over the average American road than you can in the same length of time and distance over the more perfect ones of France and England. Of course, if one wants to make a record and cover distance, give him the foreign roads; but for excitement give him a path about six inches wide where, if he loses his course, it is fatal. The comparison is as a mill-pond to the ocean with its varied moods." This may be all very true for your wide wandering tourist, but, for all he says to the contrary, the average cycler, is willing to dispense with the excitement derivative from riding a six inch foot path with danger lurking in every turn of his wheel, and to accept in its place the perfect roads whose pleasures lack appreciation by the rider who has travelled far and near, and appreciates a road simply as it affords him a test of his superior riding ability.

WHILE the unthinking visionary has had his eyes fastened upon aluminum as the metal destined to work wonders in the construction of all forms of machinery like bicycles, where great tensile strength is sought with a minimum of metal and weight, the cooler headed scientist has continued his more profitable labors in endeavoring to bring the forms of metals at present used into a greater state of perfection, so as to more fully meet the requirements of modern machinery.

The recent experiments at Annapolis to determine which was the best form of armor for the United States to adopt for the navy it is now constructing, has done much to stimulate the search of inventors and manufacturers to increase the tenacity and elasticity of the metals of commerce.

It was proven in the government tests that the finest steel plates offered but little resistance to the projectiles fired from modern ordnance, while plates composed of an alloy of steel and nickel almost defied the shots from the largest guns. This alloy is one of the most remarkable ones of a group placed at the service of war and industry during the last few years, and is the one most likely eventually to prove of benefit to wheel manufacturers, and the wheelmen who buy their wares. Iron has long been known to be greatly improved in both tenacity and elasticity when it appears in the form of steel, and steel is no other than a compound of iron and carbon. Now that steel in its turn is to be made still more elastic and strong by alloying it with nickel, it seems as if the advance long looked for in lightening and strengthening wheel construction was near at hand. With material of increased tenacity and strength the manufacturer will be able to give the rider a wheel of greater strength and less weight, and if not exactly building a machine that will carry everything and weigh nothing, as the admirers of aluminum declare a wheel made of that metal would do, the present quantity of metal needed in wheel construction will be greatly lessened without decreasing the strength of the machine itself. Let us hope that this fortunate state of affairs is much nearer than most of us think it is.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

IT has been estimated by competent authorities that the United States spends annually $450,000,000 for shoes. It would be interesting to know just how much of this enormous sum of money might be saved each year did the citizens of this country use the bicycle more than they do as a means of conveyance.

A new skirt for wheelwomen has made its appearance, which possesses many of the advantages of the so-called dress reform garments with none of their disadvantages. It is so constructed that it is impossible for any part of the drapery to become disarranged. It opens by means of a slit on each hip, instead of at the back. The openings are ornamented with buttons, so as to give the idea of pockets. By being made this way the skirt can be so scant that there is no portion of it left flying to catch in the wheels or gearing, or to become inflated like a balloon as the wearer of it rushes along on her wheel.

To the onlooker it sometimes seems as if the rapid transit of the wheelman was purchased at too great an expense of physicial energy and overstraining of the attention; but from the rider's side of the matter, the question of real value and utility seems to call out no dissenting voices; at least he who has once become a rider rarely, if ever, gives up the practice so long as his moral courage suffices to face a frowning world.

The bicycle has proven itself to be the swiftest means of self-locomotion yet acquired by man; the wheel is, moreover, used to advantage on all roads that are suitable for ordinary vehicles; it enables man to attain, unaided, the speed of the horse; its utility is no longer a matter of doubt, and it is proving to be something more than a means of amusement. It to-day fills a place in popular use which cannot be denied it by its most determined enemies.

There is a natural craving in the muscles for movement, as there is in the stomach for food and in the lungs for air. This feeling is the expression of a physiological need, which can best be supplied by cycling, and which can only be disregarded at the expense of health. Want of cycling means disuse of the muscles, and disuse is invariably followed by wasting. Any one who has seen a broken limb that has been kept motionless in splints even for a few weeks must have noticed how lean and shrivelled it appears—how "fall'n its muscles' brawny vaunt" by the side of its fellow member. Our zeal for cycling is not, however, always according to knowledge, and while our enthusiasm for it is often at fever heat when we are "juvenile and curly," it is apt to fall to zero when the waist has become simply a "geometrical expression." From excess as well as from insufficiency of cycling evils result. But to youth, maturity and age alike comes the cycle as a giver of pleasure and of health, and by none should it be either abused or forgotten.

Pneumatics are the big gooseberries of cycling literature, and the merits and demerits thereof the bicycular sea-serpents of contention; for no sooner does the average writer find himself short of "copy" than he proceeds to deliver himself of long essays on the pros and cons of pneumatics versus cushions, and both versus solids. When he has finished the "copy" has been supplied, but wherein lays the value of most of it from a practical point of view?

Your correspondent, Mr. A. B. Choate, in reviewing my article in re amateurs does not seem to clearly understand the position I take in the matter, a fault, I suppose, of my inability to clearly state to your readers my ideas on the subject, I claim that with all fast racing men, racing is a profession; it is almost impossible for one to find the time and money to devote to training and racing without making it a profession, disguise the emoluments of it as you please under the words "prizes," "expenses," etc. Such being the case, I claim that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and should be paid in coin not "crocks." Mr. Choate certainly does not mean to tell me that nine-tenths of the fast men of this or any other country that "bicycle racing is a sport pure and simple," for if he does, his credulity is greater than his experience.

In all the sports and pastimes of the world where a man's speed or physical superiority lift him above his fellow men, directly or indirectly he seeks to profit by it, and I claim in consequence that it is more honorable, more business like, and much fairer for all concerned to bring the whole affair down to the hard cash basis of dollars and cents. I grant that to turn the League over to the "domination of professionals would be a "misfortune," as Mr. Choate says, but really this is crying wolf when no wolf is nigh. The racing man, call him anything you please, amateur, professional or promateur, thinks of but one thing—racing; he don't want the L. A. W., couldn't have it if he did, and wouldn't know what to do with it if it was forced upon him. Should every racing man in and out of the League turn professional to-morrow, they would not number five per cent of the League's membership, so to speak of them ever dominating the other 95 per cent of the membership is hardly worth the time spent in alluding to it. I regret that I cannot in the present instance earn a continuation of Mr. Choate's good opinion by agreeing with him. I still claim that the present amateur law is an illogical position impossible of enforcement because it is illogical, and that the mere fact of a rider being paid in cash for the winning of a race, instead of in clocks or crocks as at present, in no wise alters the reputation of the man from what it was prior to the event. I claim it to be as honorable to race for money as for laundry bills, pianos, or eight-day stoves, and the limited amount of "gray matter" that finds lodgment in this "think box" of mine will, I much fear, prevent me from ever seeing it in any other light. "HAWKSHAW."

A WASHINGTON dispatch says: In his report to the War Department of the results of his inspection of the Connecticut National Guard recently encamped, Lieutenant W. H. C. Bowen praises the performance of the troops generally and especially calls attention to a special bicycle service organized by a corps of the First Regiment. Armed with Colt's repeating carbine and with a revolver a man mounted on a bicycle, according to Lieutenant Bowen, can travel in many places where it would be impossible to take a horse, and can beat the flag in sending messages. In his opinion the bicycle service will be advisable for messengers, patrol and advance guards, and he suggests to the War Department the feasibility of extended experiments in that line. The colored troops are specially commended as perfect soldiers and marvellous scouts.

WILLIAM F. MURPHY has promised the Riverside Wheelmen that he will endeavor to break the one-mile safety record at their race meeting at Manhattan Field Oct. 3. It is claimed that this track is the fastest four-lap track in the country, and some of the records may be cut at this meet. Many entries have already been received from all sections of the country, and this meet promises to be memorable. Windle, Zimmerman, Charles Murphy, Taxis, Draper, Smith, Berlo, Rich, Bowman, Blake, Stillger, Mastin and other crack riders have signified their intention of competing in the races. Over $2500 in prizes will be offered.

J. SCHILLSKOFFSKY of New Orleans is said to have invented an attachment for an ordinary road bicycle by which it can be turned into a water machine. In a trial-trip recently on a rough machine of his own construction he claims that he succeeded in making eighteen miles within the hour, and did not feel the fatigue as much as on land. The cost of construction will not exceed $25. He will not patent the invention, and any mechanic can make one in a few hours. He will give an exhibition at Bay St. Louis, Sunday, Sept. 13, the day of the Louisiana Cycling Club's excursion and road race at that place.—Exchange.

THE Bedford Wheelmen of Brooklyn, N. Y., assisted by a large number from other clubs, indulged in a parade on Tuesday evening, Sept. 1, upon the occasion of the opening of their new club house. The residences along the route were profusely decorated and the members were heartily cheered as they passed in review. Refreshments were served upon arrival at the new quarters, followed by congratulatory speeches from the officers.

THE Chester (Pa.) Bicycle Club indulged in a fantastic parade on the evening of Sept. 1st, and the decorations on some of the bicycles were novel and artistic. About 50 wheelmen participated, and the parade was an interesting spectacle to the throngs who gathered to witness it.

THE Winnisimmet Riding Club of Chelsea, Mass., has attained a membership larger than even its most sanguine supporters have expected, and the club is to be congratulated upon its phenomenal success. Through the efforts of Senator Champlin, its President, and Representative Gould, its Vice President, about 60 active riders have associated with the organization. The members have voted to become a League club.

CONN of the Press C. C., Buse of the Wanderers B. C., and Buss of the Tonawanda Rovers B. C., all of Buffalo, have each climbed the Lewiston twice, and are equal in honors, to a certain extent—Buss, perhaps, having the best odds in his favor, from the fact that while Conn used a pneumatic, and Buse a cushion, he made the double ascension on a solid tired wheel.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. FANNING of Norwich, Conn., have returned from a bicycling trip on Long Island. Going via steamer Manhassett from New London to Sag Harbor, then on their wheels west, they found the road from Sag Harbor to Bridge Hampton, through the woods very good, but the turnpike poor. The roads around Bridge Hampton, Sag Harbor, East Hampton and South Hampton were very fine, and also the roads on the South Shore down to Brooklyn. Any rider wishing a pleasant trip should not miss this one.

A. C. BATCHELLER a short time ago rode from Allston, Mass., to Portland, Me., in 11h. 52m. This beats Clough's record to Portland, Mr. Clough starting from Chelsea Ferry, eight miles nearer Portland, and the time he took was twelve hours. Mr. Batcheller after covering the distance between Allston and Portland in the time as above, continued on the same day to Brunswick, 26 miles beyond Portland. He covered the distance to Bangor, Me., 250 miles in two days.

TEN members of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, started and all finished a century run, Sunday, August 23d. These were A. D. Brewster, A. G. Roux, Fred Tilt, Frank Chase, F. Hewitt Smith, F. A. Brand, A. G. Radell, W. E. Skinner, Witt Stein and E. M. Newman. All are members of the Century Road Club. This is Newman's fifth run, and he is the proud possessor of five bars to his club badge. The course was to Elgin, Aurora and return.

THE Sante Fe Railroad comes out with a new departure for the carrying of cyclists to the meets. For the Peoria meet they propose to give each club having twenty-five or more in party, a special car to themselves from Chicago. These are reclining chair cars, and together with special baggage car will constitute a special train. This will be run at 7.30 o'clock Thursday evening, September 17th.

ALBERT SCHOCK, the holder of the six day go-as-you-please bicycle record, has received notification of the six day go-as-you-please contest at New York, Madison Square Garden. Starting Sunday evening, October 19th at 12.05 o'clock.

H. J. DANIELS of Norwich, N. Y., made 107 miles August 31 in 11 hours 15 minutes actual riding time. Considering the condition of the roads and the fact that the last part of the run was made after sunset the performance is noteworthy.

CYCLE racing is an immensely popular novelty in Spain. The attendance at recent meets has been about eight thousand. Racing in France is confined almost entirely to scratch events, and at a recent meeting, which included a handicap, it was necessary to explain in the advertisement what a handicap was.

SAYS the Rochester Democrat: "An enterprising member of a popular cycling club recently held a raffle of a valuable wheel. The tickets were $2 each, and among the purchasers was a clerk in an up-town store. The clerk was not present when the drawing occurred, but his ticket proved the winning number. Several hours later an acquaintance dropped into the store and casually asked the clerk what he would take for his ticket. He named $3 as the price, and the bargain was promptly completed.

"That ticket is the winner," said the purchaser gleefully, holding up the cardboard.

"I know it," was the response, "and I've just been down after the wheel."

The would-be sharper is still engaged in buying the silence of his friends at the various art galleries.

THE Boston Herald says: It is estimated that there are about as many bicycles as horses on the streets in the suburbs of Boston now, and the number of the former is increasing.

TREASURER BREWSTER was in Boston last week. He favored the WORLD office and Secretary Bassett with a call.

A PHYSICIANS' CYCLING CLUB will shortly be formed in Chicago. Dr. J. C. Wachter has the matter in charge.

ON Sunday, September 6th, the annual watermelon feast of the Baltimore Cycle Club took place at the country residence of Senator Gleason. On the arrival of the club, the host welcomed his guests and Chief Consul Mott responded in a happy manner. Both speakers were elected honorary members of the club. A pleasing incident of the occasion was the ceremony of christening the infant daughter of Mr. Jas. Johnson, overseer for Mr. Greason. She was named Marie Cycle Johnson.

THE members of the Rambler Bicycle Club, of Dayton, Ohio, met in social session Wednesday evening, September 2, at their cozy club house on Brown street in honor of their members who carried off prizes at the 4th of July bicycle races. The lawn fronting the house was brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns, the interior of the club house tastily decorated and illuminated; all presenting a charming appearance. The members of the club were in their jolliest mood, and the evening's entertainment, which consisted of songs, recitations and music, was a complete success. President Reiger presided, and all members were expected to contribute to the evening's pleasures or suffer a fine. The members responded, and many were encored.

THE annual lantern parade of wheelmen at Portland, Me., took place on Wednesday evening, Sept. 3d, and it was as usual a complete success. There were many in line. The club house of the Portland Wheel Club, and residences along the line were finely decorated. There were many elaborate and novel features in the procession, and among the fine displays may be mentioned Man in the Moon, Wallace Robinson; Windmill, John C. Stevens. This design was unfortunately destroyed early in the parade. Mammoth Umbrella, Harry Stevens; Donkey, Mr. Hudson: Sunflower, H. B. Hart: Yacht, Walter Griffin: Ship, John Kilborn; Kite, H. R. Merrill; Butterfly, W. W. Jordan; Ship, M. E. Dunlap; Arch of Lanterns, A. Southworth; Decorated with Flowers, Charles Dyer, P. T. Tucker; Clown, W. H. Buxton. The success of the affair was due to the energetic efforts of the joint committee from the Portland Wheel Club and the Pine Tree Wheelmen. Many favorable comments were heard from those who witnessed the parade.

CORRECTION. In our account of the Lincoln (Chicago) Club road race, which was held August 15th, W. J. Bray's time was given as 33.25; it should have been 31.25, thus making Bray the winner of the time prize.

AT a meeting of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Wheel Club, it was decided to adopt the recommendation in the racing committee's report for the holding of a track tournament at Seaside Park instead of a 25-mile road race, open to wheelmen in that city. It was voted to have the tournament on Thursday afternoon, September 24th. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the affair.

THE cycling races which were to have been held on the Parkside tracks, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11 and 12, have been postponed until Sept. 25 and 26, thus giving the Eastern flyers an opportunity of contesting for the exceptionally fine prizes offered. The track is a fine one, being fashioned after the fastest one in the world, which is located in London, and is banked to a height of six and one-half feet. The entries will close Sept. 19.

THE Colt Firearm Mfg. Co. of Hartford, Conn., will soon commence the manufacture of bicycles. They propose to build a machine that will revolutionize the manufacture of bicycles and will be a surprise to wheelmen.

THOMAS J. STINE, electrician for the Edison company of Williamsport, Pa., has invented a novel electric alarm bell for use of cyclists, and Mr. Stine and Geo. Sharp have applied for a patent on the attachment. It is proposed to furnish the current from a dry battery, to be carried under the saddle or in the space provided for the tool bag, and by running the wires through the tubing and handle bars connect with the alarm bell attached either in front or in rear of the steering bar and to the button that can easily be pressed by the thumb while guiding the machine. The arrangement is very simple, and there is no doubt that it will come into general use.

THERE will be an attempt by the Chicago wheelmen, says the Post-Despatch of that city, to have a gigantic gathering of the devotees of the bicycle in Chicago during the World's Fair. The idea is to have the League of American Wheelmen hold their annual national convention there, which alone will bring an enormous number of delegates and their friends from all over America. There the local organizations have taken up the matter and intend to raise $30,000 or more, which is to be used in entertaining the visitors and providing for a great series of races with suitable prizes which would attract wheelmen from all over the world. The idea has already been taken hold of by the newspapers and the "pushers," who will make it an assured fact. Altogether it looks as if 1893 will be a great year for the bicycle.

A WRITER from Elkhart, Ind., says: "A few weeks ago a party of fifteen wheelmen from Elkhart took a run to Syracuse Lake, a distance of thirty miles. They were joined at Goshen by ten more wheelmen, and the party left for the lake from that point at about eleven o'clock P. M. After riding about four miles the moon went down, and then the fun began in earnest. One wheelman went over the bank into the river, but without doing himself or wheel any material damage. It took the party four hours to make the run of eighteen miles, and they arrived at Jones' landing at three o'clock A. M. The landlord, Mr. Jones, had informed us that he would make that special Sunday a wheelmen's day, but he refused when we arrived to do a thing to make the cyclers comfortable. About half a dozen were nearly starved, and he refused to allow them the crackers that were on his table. For all these favors the wheelmen in this vicinity feel very grateful. Although the roads were very sandy on account of exceedingly dry weather, the return run was made in a little less than three hours; the party having to run through mud and water, and then dry sand, on account of the local rains which would cover a limited space in streaks."

THE Rochester (N. Y.) Mutual Minstrels, who gave the wheelmen's entertainment August 19th, will by request repeat the performance in the Lyceum, September 9th. The company numbers eighty members and they are to appear with black faces in full dress.

"A TRICYCLE that can be used with almost equal facility on land and on water has lately been tried at Marseilles," says the San Francisco Chronicle, "with a success that demonstrates the complete practicability of the machine. It has the usual form of the tricycle with seat, axle, pedals and steering apparatus made in the usual manner. The wheels are large disks of sheet iron, made concave on one side, and having these concave sides joined and made watertight at the edges. The wheels are furnished with India rubber tires in the usual fashion. The two large ones are placed five feet apart, and have a diameter of five feet seven inches. The thickness of the axle is eight inches. The seat is two feet above the axle. For propulsion in the water the driving wheels are furnished with small paddles made of copper, attached to the outside not far from the edge."

ON Tuesday evening, Sept. 1st, the Pequot Wheel Club of New London, Conn., inaugurated the social season at the Opera House with a grand concert and ball. The affair was well planned and excellently carried out. The feature of the evening's exercises was the trick unicycle exhibition by Will Alexander, who was liberally applauded. The festivities continued until 2 o'clock in the morning, and the club members feel much gratified at the success of their first entertainment.

A BICYCLE which was advertised as stolen in the Plainfield, N. J., News was recovered in a somewhat peculiar manner. Early Sunday morning a lady noticed a wheel standing in front of her residence, and as it was raing at the time she took it inside. When she saw the advertisement she immediately sent word to the owner, and he is now in possession of his safety. It is thought that the person who stole the bicycle became frightened and abandoned it where it was found.

THE Providence Cycling Club met on Sept. 1st and considered the matter of joining the L. A. W. as a League club, and as nearly every member of the club was in favor of so doing, the matter was acted upon favorably.

THE Wanderers (Buffalo, N. Y.) had the club century on the 30th, claiming the record for bringing all through who started.

THE Cook County Wheelmen of Chicago, despite their recent troubles, are again on their feet. They expect to be located in a fine club house inside of a month with fully 125 members enrolled.

THE Bluegrass Cyclers of Frankfort, Ky., are reported in a Louisville paper to have hit upon a plan for working up interest in the sport that is meeting with great success. The club has provided a handsome medal and a race is run each week, the winner wearing the medal and title of champion until someone wins it from him. The races are mile handicaps, and are run on a good half-mile track every Thursday evening. The riders are all interested, and the public seems to enjoy the sport.

HENRY GEORGE, the single tax celebrity, is passionately fond of his bicycle, and may frequently be seen taking a spin on Riverside drive, New York.

TWO Philadelphia organizations, the Columbia Cyclers and the Penn City Wheelmen, are considering the subject of consolidation. A lantern parade will be held by all the Philadelphia bicyclists October 1.

THE North End Cycling Club of Chicago starts in very auspiciously. With twenty members all but seven hold office. Like the acorn they expect to one day grow into a mighty oak.

THE Milwaukee (Wis.) Wheelmen had its first annual century, starting from Milwaukee the route was to Waukesha, thence to Pewaukee, 25 miles; Oconomowoc, 47 miles; Watertown, 50 miles, return to "Coony" for dinner. Short stop at Waukesha, arrived at club rooms, 7 P. M.

HERE is an item cut from the Review of Portland, Ore., and we hope it is the last one of the kind we shall ever see. It is an unwelcome piece of news, and is the first of the kind ever brought to our notice. "One of the most interesting novelties of the Vancouver meet was the ladies' safety races for the championship of Washington. Mrs. Wash. Darrow, a sister of C. A. Brant, won the championship and first place in both races, with Mrs. Hunt second and Miss Hunt third. All three rode cushioned-tired safeties."

DR. J. C. WACHTER of the Douglas Cycling Club with great faith in the curative properties of the wheel, took Dr. F. S. Hartman on a two weeks' tour. Dr. Hartman return a well man (he was troubled with a severe case of dyspepsia), and able to eat such a meal as he had not eaten in many months. He now starts for an extended tour to New York and through the Eastern States.

MESSRS. PETTICORD AND LENZ of the Allegheny Cyclers, and who are now making a tour from Pittsburg, Pa., to New Orleans, La., August 28, arrived at White Sulphur Springs, Ala., 835 miles on their journey, making average runs of 45 miles a day. They were entertained by an ex-member of the Elizabeth, N. J., Wheelmen, who is manager at the Springs. A great part of the route was over a very rough mountainous country, but they seemed to be rugged and hearty. They rode ordinary 58 and 60 inch wheels and carried a fine photographic apparatus, having taken 150 views en route. They will return to New York via steamer.

FRED RICK and Mr. Timmins of the Roamers, Buffalo, made the century last Sunday, the 30th, in a little over nine hours. Rick is quite a sturdy little wheelman and you may meet him almost every Sunday in some distant part of the country.

THE inured wheelmen, Klipfel and Weinig of the Ramblers of Buffalo started on the 3d for a tour of 213 miles to Utica. They intend to make it in two days, thereby completing four centuries. They have entered the 20 mile road race to be held at Utica by the Utica C. C. on Labor Day, when they hope to do credit to themselves.

THE First National Bank Cycling Club has been formed in Chicago, with forty members, all employees of that bank.

SAYS the Christian: "Bishop Coxe's thirty words in denunciation of the woman upon the bicycle have won him more public attention than a whole year of able preaching."

THE DRINK QUESTION.

AMONG the first things acquired by a new rider on a run is a consuming thirst, to quench which he has to recourse to different liquids varying in strength from Adam's ale to the juice of the corn.

If he is alone there is nothing to compel him to imbibe more than he wants, but if he has several companions he will almost invariably ask them to drink at his expense and, as they will insist on reciprocating, he will be compelled to drink more than he wants even if it is no more stimulating than lemonade or ginger ale. When there are but two or three in the party the evil is not so apparent as it is when there are ten or a dozen.

In recognizing this evil and attempting to control it, some bicycle clubs have adopted the plan of collecting a certain sum from each member just before starting on a run, which fund is placed in the hands of the captain who makes all disbursements till the fund is exhausted, when another collection is raised, and so on till the run is completed.

If all of the members of a club were equally inclined to drink, this plan would work to perfection, but they are not and probably never will be. Some drink more than is good for them simply because they are paying for it, and one may drink too much lemonade, seltzer or ginger ale as well as stronger drinks. Again, one who drinks but little may find that he is paying at the rate of a dollar a glass for lemonade, while others are getting their drinks at even less than "League rates."

When the "Porkopolis" Wheelmen organized, just a year and a half ago, the following By-law was adopted: "There shall be no 'treating' between members while on a club run."

While each member by this rule pays for what he consumes he is not prohibited from drinking as much or as often as he wishes, neither is there any inducement for him to drink more than he desires. At the same time it effectually prevents "sponging."

Outsiders who did not understand its import greeted this rule with ridicule and much adverse criticism, but now after a trial of a year and a half it is doubtful if a motion to repeal it would receive one vote.

One noticeable result has been the small amount of drinking, in fact some members have declared that since they have united with the club they have saved more than their monthly dues in drinks alone.

A QUESTION OF TRACK ETIQUETTE.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I wish your opinion on a subject which is the cause of some debate here in Rome. As some of our cyclers were riding up the home stretch on our track one evening last week, I drew near to one of them about fifty yards from the wire, and just as I turned to go by him he turned almost straight across the track. As I was going so much faster than he I could not turn out far enough, and the consequences were that we collided, my wheel getting the worst of it as I came on to his pedal, and it ripped out a few spokes and bent and cracked my rim badly. Most everybody blamed me, but I said nothing not wishing a dispute. I think that no person has a right to cross the track in the above manner, and if they do are liable for damages if there be any. I admit that I ran into him, but who could help it, for as I said before he crossed the track just as I was going by him.

I did not blame anybody but asked the party if he felt as though he ought to pay part of the damage, which was $2.40, his being 20 cents, and he said that if he thought he was to blame he would pay the whole, but not thinking himself to blame was not inclined to pay any.

I do not care for the money nor do I want any trouble or hard feelings, but what I do want to know is, who is at fault? Is a man at liberty to ride up and down the track or across and back at will? Are there no rules governing riding while on the track?

Understand we were not racing but training, and I wish your views, and by replying at once you will greatly oblige me. If a person is at liberty to ride any way that he pleases on the track it is not safe in my idea to be on it at all. Awaiting your response, I remain,

Very respectfully, JOHN K. CHAMBERLAIN.

Rome, N. Y., September 1, 1891.

[Taking it for granted that the above statements are correct, we do not hesitate to say that Mr. Chamberlain was in the right. If the collision had occurred in a race in the manner described above, Mr. Chamberlain's competitor would have been ruled out for foul riding. The man in the lead has no right to cut across the track and thus hinder competitors in the rear from passing. He must hold his course as straight and true as the condition of the track will allow. In cases of accidental swerving it would be for the officials to decide, but when a competitor deliberately or carelessly crosses the track of another, when he could have avoided it, and thus impedes his rival, it is a case of very foul riding whether in a race or training.—ED.].

GOOD WORDS FROM A CLERGYMAN.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Last April I joined the ranks of the army of American wheelmen, having arrived at the conclusion that there are no truer "means of grace" to a clergyman than the buoyant spirits resulting from a sound physical condition, and being convinced that there is no surer road to health than the way—not of the transgressor of municipal enactments against sidewalk riding—but of truly pious cyclers. Perhaps I have not had my safety long enough to decide whether my love for it is to run on, like Tennyson's brook, forever; but last evening, after a run of nearly forty miles over our excellent Union county roads, I concluded for the hundredth time that my wheel would be a "joy forever." Possibly, though, this judgment is like that of a minister I know, whom we will call Brown. A week after his marriage Brown met a brother minister, Jones, upon the train. Congratulations were given by the latter, who added feelingly that he had been married five years, but loved his wife more than on the day of his marriage. "Well," replied the husband of a week with great solemnity, "I guess I can say the same thing."

I hope every county in the land will sooner or later copy after Union county, N. J., in the matter of roads. Three years ago our roads were simply horrible. A truck with a piano aboard went down in the mire near here one spring day and never returned to the surface. Occasionally now if you stand over the right spot, you can hear faint strains of one of Mendelssohn's "Songs Without Words," from the direction of the centre of the earth. Well, to-day all the principal roads of the county are Telfordized, and you can go hundreds of miles without striking a dirt road. A town situated like ours with respect to roads ought to be a wheelman's paradise.

I don't agree with Bishop Coxe about women cyclers. The good Bishop is usually all right, but Homer nods this time. Perhaps he wouldn't have erred so sadly if he were a bishop of the (Presbyterian) church. You know his father was a Presbyterian minister, but the son early left the Presbyterian safety for the Episcopal ordinary, so to speak. Joking aside, if cycling contributes to the physical health of our American young women—God bless them!—I for one should be the last to forbid them. The more lady cyclers the better. Yours truly,

G. F. GREENE.

KENTUCKY POLITICS.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I take this method of thanking the members of Kentucky Division who have given me, as Chairman of G. E. Johnson's Organization Committee, much valuable assistance in our efforts to make him our next Chief Consul. I thank you for your prompt responses to my calls for work, and believe that the results attained were effected by you.

Mr. Castle has now withdrawn, and our candidate has a clear field. It is not much clearer than it was before the withdrawal, for out of the 300 votes in this Division, 235 have announced themselves as being unqualifiedly for Johnson. LONG live "Gx Ex Jx"

I was down at Hubmire's for a week last April, and we had an occasional friendly argument on this question of better roads. The wet weather had hung on and the wagon roads were then in a desperate condition. Things were dull about the old farm and Hubmire had been dividing his time between chores and trout fishing to keep off the blues. * * *

That night, when Hubmire had finished his work at the barn, we sat together and smoked. I thought it was a good time to talk with Hubmire about the roads; so I suggested to him that he could do all his plowing and farm work with two horses, and that if there was a good hard road running down to the village he might do all his teaming without adding to that number; that he was now feeding five horses when two or three ought to be enough.

"Now don't," said Hubmire, "don't tell me I've got too many horses; I think I know a thing or two about farmin', and I tell you I hain't got horses enough. My bay team will haul a smashin' good load of hay to town any day, and that's all any man's team 'll do. I tell you I ain't askin' for better roads than we've got right here in this township." Hubmire thinks a good deal of himself and is a hard man to convince. He never takes a drink at the town pump without first rinsing the dipper, inside and out, and in matters of argument he is just as cautious not to be contaminated by suspicious ideas. But I like Hubmire. We've had many a good day's hunt together in old times, and I've always found him a good companion and a humane sportsman. He is an honest man and a good husband, and there's always hope for a man like that.

So I kept up the fight. I said to him: "Hubmire, you are wrong. I know you keep good horses; there are none better in the country; everything about your farm is in the best condition, and there isn't a farmer in the country who has done more hard work in the last twenty years than you have done. Everything that you have found to be of value to the farmer you have added to your possessions, and if I could show you that a good road is the one thing necessary to improve your prosperity you would be the loudest preacher for improved roads in this State. In spite of all your hard work you are not clear of debt. There is a mortgage on your farm and it draws interest night and day; it eats into your prosperity; there is something wrong with you and with all your neighbors. Farming is no longer as prosperous as it was in times gone by. The population of many of our agricultural districts is less than it was ten years ago; the mortgage indebtedness of American farms is increasing at the rate of about eight and a half millions of dollars per year, and the decrease in farm values since 1880 is estimated at $200,000,000. In the single State of Ohio this loss amounted to about $7 per acre for the entire State and there are other States where the proportion shows a still worse condition of affairs.

"The country is losing and the towns are gaining; the farmers are growing poorer; the Government is growing richer. Every minute, night and day, the United States Government collects $178 more than it spends. Think of it. Ten thousand six hundred and eighty-six dollars per hour; $256,320 per day; $7,689,600 per month; $93,556,800 per year. Something is wrong. It is not so in other countries. I have been looking it up, and I have at home reports from more than twenty European countries relating to their internal affairs. In those countries the farmers prosper in about the same proportion that prosperity follows other lines of business; agriculture holds its own, and there is no more independent class of people in those countries than the farmers.

"Now, singularly enough, the most striking difference between those countries and ours is found in the condition of the country roads. With them communication is easy and quickly accomplished. Their governments, instead of rolling up and hoarding a ridiculous surplus, spend large sums in the building and repairing of the country roads. The result is that in Europe the farmers drive 20 to 30 miles from home to market with immense loads, in all kinds of weather, at all seasons of the year and return home the same day. A European horse hauls twice as much as an American horse, simply because the roads are much better. He can visit his neighbors at any time; drive to town; make social calls and enjoy all the personal advantages of a resident in the city and still maintain the independence and pleasures of country life."

"Nonsense," said Hubmire, "I'd like to see the fairyland you're talking about. I have got five as good horses as ever pulled a strap, and I know how to take care of them. I don't drive to town excepting when the roads are good, and then for hauling loads, my horses won't take a back seat for any man."

"Hubmire," said I, with some impatience, "I see we can never agree on this question till we settle one important difference. You say you never drive to town until the roads are good. Now, leaving out the fact that you are losing plenty of good time while you wait for the mud to dry up, just tell me what you call a good road."

"Well," said Hubmire, "any road is good enough for my horses when the mud begins to stiffen up so it will pack and roll under the wheel."

"Then let me tell you, Hubmire," said I, "that you don't know what a good road is. You never saw a good road in all your life. A good road has no mud to dry, roll or pack. It is made hard and stays hard and smooth at all times of the year, and when once made it is easier and cheaper to keep it in repair than any dirt road you ever saw." But Hubmire only smiled in his good-natured, doubting way, lighted his pipe and went out to do his evening chores.

That talk with Hubmire troubled me a good deal. He is counted a sensible man in the community where he lives, and I could see that his words reflected the judgement of thousands of farmers of whom he was an excellent type. The mud was then drying up in places, or, as Hubmire would say, it was beginning to "pack and roll under the wheel," and one day a week later Hubmire drove to town with his stout span of bays and a load of hay. It wasn't a very big load for the roads were still rutty, and after Hubmire had got into the village the big bays were "packing and rolling" the ruts with a little too much vigor when one of the whiffletrees broke. Hubmire drove down to the blacksmith's shop for necessary repairs, and while he was gone every horse and vagrant cow that came along nipped his load. It stood alone and unprotected, and here is a photograph of that load, showing it exactly as it was.

A month later I went up to see Hubmire again, feeling that I was somewhat better equipped to meet his peculiar style of argument. I showed him this photograph of his abandoned load of hay.

"Hubmire," said I, "whenever I see an American farmer with a load of hay like that, I feel ashamed for my country. You hauled that load to market with your big bays. You thought the road was in fair condition, and it was one of those roads which you say is good enough because the 'mud will roll and pack under the wheel.' Right here is where we disagree. I told you awhile ago that the farm horses of Europe hauled twice as much as your horses, simply because the roads of that continent are better than ours. You seemed to ridicule the idea. I could not convince you by observation or experience, and I have taken the trouble to bring you some pictures of European roads, showing them exactly as they are to-day. I have been fortunate enough to find one which admirably serves the case in hand. Here is a picture taken from a photograph of a French road, showing a French farmer with his load of hay, on his way to market, 9 miles distant.

"It will do you good to look at this picture, and I am going to leave it with you for a little while. There are something like 4 tons of hay in that Frenchman's load, or about 1 1-3 tons for each horse. Notice the surface of the road. It is hard and smooth, nicely sloped in both directions so as to insure quick drainage; the wheel tires are two and a half times as wide as those on your wagon and they roll over the surface of the road in a manner that tends to make it hard and smooth instead of cutting and creating ruts as is always the case when narrow tires are used. * *

"Now, I want to say to you, that the farmers of this country raised something like 45,000,000 tons of hay last year and every pound of that hay was moved at an expense of twice as much power as ought to be necessary; and you must know also, that this picture of a French road is by no means a special or uncommon one; such roads may be found anywhere among the better countries of Europe; France alone has about 130,000 miles of roads practically as good as this one, and yet her territory is only about four times as large as that of the State of New York. That Government spends $18,000,000 a year to keep these roads in repair. The French Republic has adopted an honest principle of state-craft by doing something from year to year in behalf of its farmers; it proceeds upon the theory that these roads are the property and care of all the people; that they are a public necessity and one of the institutions of the Government; that the farmers alone should not bear the burden of making and repairing these lines of travel, which reach from country to town, since the prosperity of both town and country depend upon their condition in a most emphatic degreee; that agriculture is everywhere the gauge of national thrift and that the permanent enrichment of the Republic must depend upon the fullest development of its resources. There is a great deal worth thinking about in this matter of national policy. No country ever yet attained greatness whose farmers were not great, and in these days of improvement and driving competition, the farmer has the same right to demand a means for saving time, space, power, materials and expense as are accorded by the Government to other divisions of society."

NEBRASKA ROADS AND OTHER TOPICS.

A CORRESPONDENT from Alma, Neb., writes: "We are not dead in this far-away spot by any means. We cannot boast of century runs daily, nor can we give elaborate accounts of tournaments, but we all know the benefits to be derived from the wheel. Our roads are yet in the 'rough.' By speaking thus I mean to state that in many instances nothing has ever been done to them whatever. Nebraska, naturally, is covered with buffalo grass, a short, bushy substance, that is almost impenetrable, and only after years of travel does it cut through. When it does finally play out on the surface, persistent wear produces two ruts, one for each wheel of the vehicle, and eventually leaves a track similar in appearance to two deep troughs laid transversely. For miles our roads present this appearance, the bottom of the rut being comparatively smooth, and the rut varying in depth from four to fourteen inches.

Most wheelmen in the smallest villages ride ordinaries. The reason for this is the pedal being high enough to escape striking the sides of the rut. A safety rider must either take the high centre or be content to take the sod at the outer edge, neither being half so smooth as the worn bottom. I have repeatedly made 75 miles on these roads in one day, and did it quite leisurely. When I read of the splendid Eastern roads, I sometime wonder at the boast of a century run. I wonder whether the same individual would be able to keep us company on our trips? I can also imagine what splendid work we might be able to do when brought into association with these riders on their magnificent courses. We care not to be forgotten entirely. We confine ourselves not to record breaking, but to pleasures to be had only by correct usage of our bicycles, enjoying the sport in every way that our circumstances permit us to do. At some future time I will be pleased to send you "snap shots" of semi-"flower strewn" courses through which our road sometime lies; pictures which will make an Eastern rider feel how thankfully he should appreciate his good fortune of being blessed with good roads. ED MOCK.

FROM ANOTHER STANDPOINT.

HAVING read considerable about the poor form in which the ladies are riding, I concluded to take particular notice of all bicycle riders and see for myself if the ladies' riding was so much worse than their brothers'.

The result of my investigation has been a big surprise to me, and has brought out two things: first, that there are comparatively few first-class riders, as regards form, of either sex; and second, that in proportion to their numbers, the ladies are the better riders.

In the first place I had to find out what riding in "good form" really meant, and the best answer I could find was to ride so that the machine and the rider appeared as one; or, to put it more plain, so that the rider appeared to be a part of the machine.

In the majority of cases that came under my notice, the fact of their being two was only too evident. In looking for the cause of this, I find it is partly the riders' fault and partly the manufacturers'. I am aware that this last reason will surprise many, but it is even so.

In almost all high grade machines there are ample adjustments; but, with the exception of raising or lowering the seat-rod, the majority of machines are ridden just as they are taken out of the store.

A machine should be fitted by the dealer to a person just the same as a coat is. The tendency to "knee" is easy to overcome by raising the saddle, but it is the position of the handle bars that makes the crooked rider. A person's elbows should be as near their natural level as possible, but we seldom find them so. Now the whole trouble lies in a wrong system of adjustment for the handles, because, as they are now made, it is necessary to raise them in order to bring them farther back. This is practically wrong, for the perpendicular adjustment and the horizontal adjustment should be independent of one another. The only way we can overcome this now is to set the saddle nearer the handle bar, but that changes the point from which power is applied, and also changes the amount of vibration except in machines which have sliding seat rods; however, it's the only thing that can be done as the machines are now made. The backward and forward adjustment of the saddle is not called for anyway. There is only one place for a saddle, and that is directly over the pedals; the handles should be brought to the rider and not the rider to the handles. In the ordinary the handles were so placed that a person's arms were in nearly the same position they would naturally be in walking, but in the safety this is all changed; and if any one wants to know just how hard a position they are using let them walk a few miles with their arms in the position they assume in riding. Makers of loop frames are trying to get as much room in front as possible; but in doing so they only place the handles farther away and gain nothing that is of any real value. A good lady rider doesn't use more than half of the space now provided, and unless a lady wants it to "knee" in, it is unnecessary.

And now a word about the teachers, who are often to blame. I would suggest that they pattern after the dancing masters who are not satisfied when their pupil knows the steps but also brings out and develops what grace a person naturally has, besides giving lessons in deportment when necessary. In cycling the teacher is usually satisfied when the pupil can stay on the wheel and keep from running into fences. If they would only keep on with their instruction and correct various contortions, besides giving the rider the idea that the road was also somebody's else, we should meet with fewer "freaks" and boodlums. In conclusion I would say let all do a little missionary work in bringing about a higher standard of riding by first correcting your own riding and then helping others.

"HANDLE BAR."

THE GREAT PEORIA TOURNAMENT.

ARRANGEMENTS for the Peoria tournament are being completed very fast and everything points to this year's tournament far surpassing its predecessors in every particular. The prize list, aggregating $5,335, exclusive of special prizes, of which there will be many, was published last week. It includes two fine pianos, pneumatic and cushion safeties of the best makes, a $250 Surrey, and a host of other most attractive articles. All these prizes will be actually on exhibition before the tournament, so as to be delivered immediately at its close in the prompt manner for which we already have a reputation. The total value of prizes is $5,335. A rate of a fare and a third on the certificate plan has been secured from all parts of the United States, except Michigan. Our club extends to all wheelmen a most cordial invitation to attend their tournament and to participate in the festivities connected therewith, and guarantee all who come a most hearty welcome and a royal good time. Racing men will be particularly well cared for and special arrangements have been made whereby they will be taken care of in a manner particularly adapted to their needs and comfort at a very neat, homelike and modern hotel, directly across the street from the track, at very reasonable rates. The track is already very fast and our local men are making time on it that a year ago would have been considered extraordinary. Men and teams are constantly engaged on it, and in another week it will be in condition to make the expected mile in 2.10 on. The following is the programme for entertainment of visiting wheelmen condensed, and it is hoped its attractiveness will be such as to make irresistible the desire of every one of your readers to attend.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18.

All trains will be met and visitors escorted to headquarters at the club house or their hotels as desired. In this connection we desire to say we are proud of the excellence of our hotels, all of which have made reductions in their rates of fifty cents per day. At the club house our guests will register and all League members or applicants will be given Illinois Division L. A. W. souvenir badges, which badges will secure the wearer's entree to the various entertainments prepared by the Illinois Division for that evening. At 10 A. M. a ladies' and gentlemen's short run around the city will be made over well paved streets, much of the distance along the edge of our beautiful "bluffs," affording charming views of the city, river, lake, etc., beneath. At 10.30 A. M. our guests will be taken to the observatory tower, from which a fine view of the city will be had, and from there to Rouse, Hazard & Co.'s new cyclery—said by those competent to judge to be the largest and most elegantly equipped establishment of the kind in the world. At 1 P. M. a short parade, headed by a mounted band, ending at the park will be made, and at 2 the great races and the greatest events in the history of cycling will begin. Dan Canary, the celebrated trick rider, will give an exhibition of fancy riding. The entertainments of the evening will be wholly in the hands of the Illinois Division L. A. W. From 8.30 to 12 P. M. an L. A. W. reception and musical will be given at the club house. Vocal and instrumental music, cigars, light refreshments, etc., and ample opportunity for card playing, billiards, pool, etc., or a quiet, chat and a good time generally. At 9.30 P. M. an L. A. W. ball will be given at Rouse's Hall; full dress. The hall will be handsomely decorated and last years' most enjoyable and recherche ball will be eclipsed. Supper will be served to ladies and gentlemen free. Peoria is celebrated for the number of her beautiful girls, and it has been resolved by the club that no member shall bring less than two, while some will bring a 'bus load, hence gentlemen without ladies can attend feeling sure of finding pleasant company and that they will be taken care of in first-class style. Admission to the reception and ball will be by L. A. W. badge only, except that racing men and their trainers will be admitted on presentation of their contestant's tickets whether L. A. W. members or not. Nothing is too good for the racing men at Peoria, and they will be received everywhere with the most cordial hospitality.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

At 9 A.M. a ladies' and gentlemen's easy run will be made to Prospect Hill, nine miles round trip, and at 10 a scorching party will go to the same place, meeting the other party and indulging in lemonade. The view from Prospect Hill is rarely surpassed anywhere, and the road and run is one our visitors never fail to become enthusiastic about. The second day's races will begin again at 2 P.M., and at 8 P.M. will occur the smoker, presentation of prizes, etc. Last year this was the social event of the tournament, and more fun was crowded into a few hours than is usually had in a year. In fact it was the event of a lifetime, and if any participant can think of it without a smile he is a stoic indeed. Ladies who do not object to tobacco smoke and an uproarious good time can witness the fun from the ample gallery encircling the hall.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

Run to Chillicothe, 20 miles each way, starting at 9. Fine sandpapered road all the way, and a most picturesque trip. The road runs along the banks of the Illinois river and Peoria lake, and under the shadow of high bluffs the entire way. Dinner at Chillicothe, stopping at Rome on the way back for a watermelon feast. In the morning another party will leave at 9.30 for Big Hollow, 6 miles each way, and at 2 P.M. a party will leave for Mossville, 10 miles, to meet and return with the Chillicothe party. At 8 P. M. will be held a special wheelmen's service at the First Congregational church.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.

At 9.30 A.M. a buttermilk run to Wildwood farm and Jordan's spring, with a hill climbing contest on the "Big Hill" en route, with a box of fine candy given each climber. This hill has been climbed by Peoria riders, but is a bad one and the only one on the road. Seven miles each way. At 3.30 P. M. will be the record breaking contests for the $150 diamond medal, Sylph bicycle, and numerous other valuable prizes, and at 8.30 P.M. a reception will be tendered the victorious racing men at the club house for the purpose of giving the visiting wheelmen, prominent citizens, and our members an opportunity to meet the men we delight to honor. Tuesday informal runs will be inaugurated to various points of interest at the pleasure of our guests, and at 3.30 P. M. record breaking will continue. The music at all our various entertainments will be furnished principally

THE GREAT PROFESSIONAL RACE IN NEW YORK.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: All the arrangements have been completed for the great International six-days' bicycle race, for the long distance championship of the world, to be run in Madison Square Garden, New York, October 18th to 24th. The riders to take one-half of the net receipts divided into seven prizes as follows, 35, 25, 12, 10, 8, 6, 4 per cent., and they must cover 1,300 miles to receive a share of the money. All the noted professional racing men of Europe and America are entered, and it will embrace the greatest field of racing men that ever faced a starter. The Garden is the finest amusement building in the world, and has a seating capacity for 15,000 people. An elegant row of boxes circle the arena where the track will be laid; nine laps to the mile, twenty feet wide and raised on the turns four inches to the foot, which will make it very fast, and no doubt all the records from 100 miles up to 1,405 will be beaten by considerable. There are some twelve men entered who can cover twenty miles within the hour and several who have or can do a mile in 2m. 32s. The race will be a fair and honest contest, and there will not be anything connected with the contest but what will command the respect of all bicyclists and their friends. This race will prove that there is honesty in professional racing and the best man must win. Mr. Henry Sturmey, editor Cyclist, who has secured the English racing men for the race, informs me that the men will be on hand, and he has secured the following champions and record holders of the Old World: Thos. English, North Shields, England; Willie Wood, North Shields, England; Thos. Battensby, New Castle, England; W. Lamb, New Castle, England; Geo. Edlin, Coventry, England; Fred Allard, Coventry, England; E. Oxborrow, Coventry, England; F. Hawker, Leicester, England; J. D. Lumsden, Aberdeen, Scotland; W. Stage, Aberdeen, Scotland; M. J. O'Flanagan, Tipperary, Ireland; Patrick Martin, County Clare, Ireland; Jules Dubois, Paris, France; M. J. Medinger, Paris, France; Chas. Terront, Dijon, France; Louis Catterow, Angers, France; John S. Prince, Boston, America; W. J. Morgan, New York, America; Albert Schock, Chicago, America; Ed Reading, Fort Omaha, America; Chas. Ashinger, Oklohoma, America. Richard Howell has also sent over his entry and will come if some short distance races are arranged for, which may be done, and with such an array of first-class racing men it is predicted the race will be a success. Yours very truly,

T. W. ECK, Manager.

BOSTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION 25-MILE ROAD RACE.

THE third annual bicycle road race will be given by this ASSOCIATION on Saturday, October 3, at 2.30 P. M., rain or shine. This race will be a twenty-five-mile handicap, with outside limit of ten minutes, and is open to all amateurs. The course will be over macadamized roads for twelve and one-half miles straightaway and return by same route, which makes it impossible for strangers to lose their course. Last year the twenty-five-mile road record was broken over this same course, and after a very heavy rain in the morning of the race. The roadbed is one of the hardest and best in the country, and good time should be made. The Boston Athletic Association will give the following special prizes: A gold medal will be given to the competitor who establishes a new twenty-five-mile road record. A silver medal will be given to the competitor who makes the next fastest time, provided he also breaks the record. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to the competitors making the first, second and third fastest times over the course. Silver medals will be given to the competitors making the fastest times on solid, cushion and pneumatic tired wheels respectively. In regard to special time medals, no one man shall be entitled to two medals. In case any one man qualifies for two medals, one of them will be given to the next best man. A silver cup will be given the winner of the race, actual cost $35. The following prizes have been contributed by persons interested in the race:

First prize. Columbia safety, 1891 pattern, either solid or cushion tires at option of winner. Presented by Pope Manufacturing Company.

Second prize. A solid silver and glass two-quart flask, actual cost $50. Presented by a member of the club.

In regard to the handicapping of tires, that will be left entirely to the handicapper.

All entries must be made on Boston Athletic Association entry blank, which can be obtained by applying as below.

Entrance fee $1, which must accompany each entry blank and will be returned to all starters.

Two numbers will be sent by mail to all men entering one week before the race, and these must be sewed on the shirt or jersey, not pinned.

THE PARKSIDE (CHICAGO) TOURNAMENT.

THE Parkside tournament managers have changed the date from Sept. 11 and 12 to Sept. 25 and 26, and added to the programme, which was all handicap events, a number of scratch races. The former programme was very unsatisfactory to numerous racing men who objected to so many handicaps. The new list with its elegant line of prizes will make it well worth the Eastern men's staying over at Chicago a week. The Parkside track is now done. It is very speedy, harder and smoother than ever, and with its well banked turns is absolutely safe, except to those who prefer to ride a loafing race. Such must look for a smash-up on the steeply banked ends.

The Century Road Club will run its fifty-mile road race the Thursday previous to the Friday of the meet. Gold and silver Century Road Club medals will be given for the event, and a bronze medal of the same design to every man who finishes inside the limit of 3h. 45m. The route will be to Wheeling and return from Lincoln Park via Clark to Belmont to Elston road, Lawrence avenue and Milwaukee avenue; return via the same road.

On Sunday morning, Sept 27th, the Sunday following the meet, the first annual century run of the Century Road Club will take place. Assurances now in would place the number to participate as close to five hundred. It is hoped by the Centurions that this run will eclipse anything of the kind yet given, not excepting the great Newark, New Jersey, affair. Captains of clubs in Chicago and vicinity are requested to notify Chief Centurion Herrick, 81 Madison street, Chicago, the number of men they will have in line. Unattached wheeelmen and those from outside Chicago are asked also to do this. The start will be made at four o'clock in the morning; good pace makers will keep the pace always easy. The course will be over the famous Elgin-Aurora and return course, over which some two hundred centuries have been ridden this year by Chicago riders.

Poor riders, so considered, have repeatedly made this run inside sixteen hours, and no rider need hold back for fear he will not finish. It will be the members' duty to try and bring through as many as possible. Do not fail, dear reader, to participate. While no souvenir will reward you, your bar to your Century Road Club pin will serve you. What! not a member of the C. R. C.'s? Well! Well! Send for an application blank to Wm. Herrick, 81 Madison street, and join at once. This is an organization to which you and your friends should belong. "THE LOUNGER."

THE RIVERSIDE WHEELMEN'S CYCLING TOURNAMENT.

THIS club will hold an open tournament on Manhattan Field, 155th street and 8th avenue, on Saturday, October 3d at two P. M. The prizes will be of great value and beauty, amounting to a cash value of over $2500, and a large programme of events has been decided upon. The races will be held on the Manhattan Athletic Club's new quarter-mile bicycle track. The events are as follows: one mile safety, novice (pneumatics barred); one mile ordinary, novice; one mile safety, scratch; two mile ordinary, handicap: one mile safety, 3.30 class; one mile ordinary, scratch; two mile tandem, handicap; one mile safety, 3 minute class; quarter-mile ordinary, scratch: three mile team race, ordinary; two mile safety, handicap; one mile ordinary, handicap; one mile safety, handicap; and a half-mile, boy's race. Entries close September 26th with E. A. Powers, 232 W. 104th street, New York.

POSTPONED.

The rain played havoc with the Providence meet, and the races had to be postponed until Saturday next (to morrow).

ALL arrangements for the bicycle meet of the Manhattan Club on September 26 are now completed. The fastest men in this country have already entered, and close finishes and new records are expected to be the features of the day. The list of officials will be ready this week. P. J. Berlo, the present holder of the half and one mile American records, and G. Minturn Worden, holder of the two mile record, will compete, and endeavor to lower their present records. Berlo record for the mile is 2 minutes 18 1-5 seconds, being within two seconds of the world's record made by Osmond of England. With the advantage of the new track at the Manhattan field, this record should be lowered.

KEYSTONE BICYCLE CLUB'S annual road race will take place Friday, Sept 25th, at three o'clock P. M. The race will be a fifteen mile handicap event, over the Butler Plank Road, beginning at De Haven, thence 7 1-2 miles in the direction of Bakerstown, returning to starting point. Prizes will be awarded, viz.: Gold medal to first and gold time medal for best time, unless one person secures both positions, in which case but one medal will be given. Five other prizes to consist of cycling sundries will be awarded in the order of finish. An entry fee of one dollar will be charged. Entries close Sept. 23d at 12 noon, and should be made to the Secretary, J. W. McGowin, accompanied by the fee.

THE HARTFORD MEET.

HARTFORD profited by the rain at Providence to this extent, that the wheelmen, instead of staying over until Sunday morning, came down on the special provided by Joe Goodman, which left at 4.20 instead of at 7 as originally intended, and thereby hangs a tale. The journey in from the race track after the events were declared off was a perfect jam, the cars being crowded to such an extent that a number were obliged to get on the roofs, among them being several of the racers, who not only had to hold themselves on but also their machines, the whole contingent getting beautifully drenched. In addition, the time being so short it was impossible to notify all hands and a number were left, among them being Prial of the Wheel, Berlo, Taxis and others, who by a roundabout trip to Boston on Sunday came down that way.

At Hartford the rain had evidently followed from Providence, for Saturday's mists began hanging heavier and heavier, until on Sunday the skies wept a heavy downpour, and the prospects for Monday's races were extremely discouraging. By Sunday evening the hotels were filled up, and Monday found a throng of disgruntled riders, the rain showing no signs of ceasing. Regular pilgrimages were made by the riders to the headquarters of the different cracks, great interest being exhibited in the various styles of machines shown.

The unknown quantity among the racers was Tyler, there being a decided current in his favor, and among the talent he was freely quoted as being down to beat the hitherto invincible Windle. Zimmerman's friends were equally confident, and the knowing ones took considerably more stock in the Jersey lad than in Tyler, although Berlo was said to be going great guns.

All through Sunday and Monday League headquarters were filled to overflowing by information seekers and general visitors, and the great Moguls of the League were pointed out to strangers by interested friends.

Informal receptions were held at the rooms of the Hartford Wheel Club, where a set-out was provided for the hungry and thirsty, and it is a noticeable circumstance that even while the hotels were losing money by the inroads on their viands created by the appetites of the riders, these same riders would adjourn from a well-filled dinner table—to which ample justice had been done, be it noted—to re-commence on luncheon.

Monday's runs being called off on account of the rain, small squads of knickerbockered individuals set out to "do" the town, and some of them did it effectually. The programme of entertainment had of course to be considerably modified, and much of it cut out altogether.

The banquet on Tuesday evening was one of the successes. At ten o'clock a party of sixty-five prominent wheelmen sat down, the affair being tendered by Messrs. David J. Post, E. A. DeBlois, Joseph and Henry Goodman, Louis A. Tracy, James Grace, and the Pope Manufacturing and Hartford's Cycle Companies. The banquet was served in Putnam Phalanx Armory by Koch, and was a most elaborate affair. Two tables were placed lengthwise of the hall, while the head table connected the two at the west end of the hall. The floral decorations were profuse, large bouquets being placed on each table and boutonnieres being at every plate.

Col. George W. Pope acted as master of ceremonies. Seated at his right was Mayor Henry C. Dwight, while at his left was President Dunn. Other guests at the head table were Vice-Presidents Burdett and Brown, Treasurer W. M. Brewster, Secretary Bassett, I. B. Potter, chairman of the Highway Improvement Committee, and A. Kennedy-Child. The other guests were chief consuls of State Divisions and prominent League committee men. For three hours the wheelmen discussed the various courses of the menu and enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

When cigars were lighted, Chairman Pope rapped for order and in a neat little speech set the ball in motion. He was followed by Mayor Dwight, President Dunn, I. B. Potter, A. Kennedy-Child, Major Burdett, ex-President Kirkpatrick, Secretary Bassett, and J. S. Dean, associate editor of the BICYCLING WORLD, Boston, each in fitting words for the occasion.

The guests, besides those above named, were: Messrs. E. W. Pope, Patterson, Post, High, Shriver, Bridgman, Miles of the Referee, Prial, the Wheel; Dean, BICYCLING WORLD; Crowther, Sporting Life; Betts, Matterson, Bull, Day, Howard, Boston Globe; Peck, Sheridan, Marion, Perkins, Goodman (Henry and Joseph), Bunnell, Stewart MacMasters, Cooke, Robinson, Collister, Miller, Atwater, Richmond, Sloan, Gorman, Raisbeck, Wood, Scott, Davol, and others.

THE PARADE.

The parade took place on Tuesday at 10 A. M., and in numbers was not very imposing; however, it made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The judges awarded the prizes as follows: the prize to the club having the largest number of men in line was awarded to the Rovers of New Haven, Ct. To the Bridgeport (Ct.) Club, second in members, was awarded the second prize. The prize for the best appearance was awarded to the Hartford Ladies' Wheel Club.

THE RACES, TUESDAY.

One-mile novice, pneumatics barred—First heat. This was an easy victory. P. J. McDuffee, first by 20 lengths; for second and third place a good race. E. A. Nelson, second; E. L. Lane, third. Time 2.52 4-5.

Second heat—The men remained bunched until the last quarter; then F. L. Warner cut loose and won by a good 20 lengths; G. N. Holden getting second, and J. F. Hubbard, third. Time 2.59 4-5.

Quarter-mile heats—First heat. Two false starts were made in this first heat and it was run later.

Second heat—The men came down in a straight line neck and neck, and when within 25 yards of the finish A. A. Zimmerman rushed to the front and finished first; A. B. Rich, second; W. M. Carman, third.

Third heat—About 200 yards from the start Tyler fell and Smith went over him and went down in a heap. The others came on, and G. W. Worden finished first, with W. W. Taxis, second, C. W. Dorntge, third.

First heat run over—P. J. Berlo finished the race first in the splendid record of 33 3-5. W. D. Banker, second; E. A. McDuffee, third. The men all kept together until about 100 yards from the tape, and then Berlo cut loose and led his field handsomely, a winner.

Final heat, one-mile novice—Great "head work" was shown on the first quarter. In fact it was a loafing race until two-thirds of a mile was ridden; then Nelson cut a hot pace and led the field at the 3-4 pole; but McDuffee, who had been waiting, moved up and took the lead about 1-8 of a mile from home, Warner taking third place, and thus they finished, with about a length between each. P. J. McDuffee, first; E. A. Nelson, second; F. L. Warner, third. Time 3.11 1-5.

Half-mile National L. A. W. Championship—G. M. Worden slipped a pedal, and the field got away from him 25 yards before he recovered. He caught up at the 3-4 pole. A. A. Zimmerman then made his effort, and he came down home like a whirlwind, Berlo trying hard to catch him. Murphy did not seem to move with snap, and the best he could do was third place, about two lengths separating each of the first three men. A. A. Zimmerman, first; P. J. Berlo, second; W. F. Murphy, third. Time 1.22 1-5. The record for last quarter was 29 4-5, which is world's record for flying start.

One-mile ordinary—A very slow race for three-quarters of the way. Zimmerman had been riding about fourth; did not commence to hurry until about one-eighth of a mile from home, and then he started to chase Githens, whom he caught about 200 yards from home, and finished, first, sitting up, C. M. Murphy, a fair third. A. A. Zimmerman, first; H. A. Githens, second; C. M. Murphy, third. Time 2.58 1-5.

Two mile, 5.40 class—Some fellow got excited at the start and cut out quite a pace, and so of course the others had to follow. The first mile was made in 2.49 with Wheeler in the lead, and Taylor second with the rest bunched and well up. The pace was kept up until the last half was reached, then they rested for the final effort. Graves cut out the pace for the finish and won the race. F. C. Graves, first; H. C. Wheeler, second; W. M. Haradon, third. First mile 2.49; two miles 5.32 1-5.

Final heat quarter mile—This was a splendid finish, and Berlo challenged gallantly for first place and he nearly got there, but the Jersey wonder got there by a few feet. A. A. Zimmerman, first; P. J. Perlo, second; W. D. Banker, third. Time 33 3-5.

Two mile, 6.10 class—There were 21 starters. Nothing very startling in the first part of this race; the men kept all together until the usual last quarter burst of speed. Then McDuffee took a hand, and the finish between the first three was most excellent, there being very little space between them. P. J. McDuffee, first; H. C. Wheeler, second; E. A. Nelson, third. Time 5.49 2-5.

One mile handicap open to members of the local clubs—This was a good exhibition of handicapping, and the men all finished well up, though some of the starters were run off their feet; Grant, one of the scratch men being one of them. The finish was very close and exciting. C. L. Sage, scratch, first; H. Starkie, 90 yards, second; F. Herman, 40 yards, third. Time 2.41 1 5.

One mile tandem—This race was practically a foregone conclusion, and Banker and Brinker had a "sure thing," the only team entered against them that had any show was Draper and Guyler of Philadelphia. The only other starters, local team, Herman and Fuller, were not in it. W. D. Banker and F. M. Brinker, first; J. H. Draper and L. Guyler, second; F. Herman and F. R. Fuller, third. Time 2.49 2-5.

One mile safety handicap, first heat—This race was worth coming to see, and when Windle showed up at scratch a shout of delight went up, and when Hoyland Smith also from scratch came up to the tape people prepared themselves for a treat. The exhibition given did not fall short of the wildest expectations. The way Windle and Hoyland went at it made it evident that the records would go, and it was simply marvelous to see the Milbury man pick up his field and fly past them as though they were standing still. After opening up a big gap he let up, and yet he came under the wire in 2.23 2-5, world's record for mile in competition. A perfect ovation awaited the winner on his return to the tape. W. W. Windle, scratch, first; W. M. Carman, 65 yards, second; Hugh Robson, 75 yards, third. Time 2.23 2-5.

Second heat—Was a good race and Murphy from scratch made a big effort to take first place, but was beaten at the tape. W. M. Harradon, 60 yards, first; G. M. Worden, 40 yards, second; W. F. Murphy, scratch, third. Time 2.32 3-5. (Murphy's time 2.32 1-5.)

Third heat—Was well handicapped and the finish was very close. Rich from scratch caught up the field but the pace had been too hot to allow of a fast finish for the New York man. It was a close finish for first and second, Rich being a good third.

H. B. Arnold, 65 yards, first; H. G. Wheeler, 90 yards, second; A. B. Rich, scratch, third. Time 2.30 1-5. Rich's time, 2.30 3-5.

Fourth heat—Berlo from scratch went along in great shape and by the time the three-quarters pole was reached he was up with the crowd. The heat was won on the tape by Berlo who made a pretty spurt.

P. J. Berlo, scratch, first; C. W. Dorntge, 25 yards, second; H. C. Tyler, 25 yards, third. Time 2.29.

One-mile ordinary, handicap—In this race Githens and Taxis marked 25 yards, were placed at scratch as the scratch men did not show up. Githens struck a good pace and walked through his field nicely winning by a couple of lengths. Taxis weakened on the finish and did not get a place.

H. A. Githens, scratch, first; J. H. Draper, 75 yards, second; C. M. Murphy, 35 yards, third. Time 2.38 1-5.

Final heat, one-mile safety—Great interest was centered on this race. Of course all named Windle as being the winner, but Worden rode the race of his life and the rush he made for the finish was a grand exhibition, in fact the whole race at the tape was splendid. Windle waited too long and when he got ready to spurt, Worden had got a way on that was too speedy for the Millbury man to get in front. It was a grand race and finish.

G. M. Worden, 40 yards, first; W. W. Windle, scratch, second; C. W. Dorntge, 25 yards, third. Time 2 37 3-5.

SECOND DAY, WEDNESDAY.

One-mile safety, 3.00 class, heats—The first heat was won by P. J. McDuffee, who ran away from the field and won, hands down. P. J. McDuffee, first; C. H. Wood, second; H. Starkie, third. Time 2.47 2-5.

Second heat—Was an excellent race, and had it been between crack men the close finish would have elicited great enthusiasm. W. H. Ballou, first; Geo. E Quinn, second; E. A. Nelson, third. Time 2.52 3-5.

Third heat—Was a very easy one for J. C. Donnelly, who led Herman over the tape by a good ten yards. J. C. Donnelly, first; F. Herman, second; Geo. N. Holden, third. Time 2.51 4-5.

Final heat—Nine starters came to the tape. They almost stood still in riding the first quarter; in fact it was the worst exhibition of loafing seen so far during the meet. Soon after passing the half-mile the pace was quickened, but the fast last quarter, 31 seconds, did not save the race from being a fearful exhibition of slow riding. F. Herman, first; W. H. Ballou, second; P. J McDuffee, third. Time 3.51 2-5.

One-mile, 2.40 class—Sixteen starters went away with the pistol. C. M. Murphy's machine went wrong a few feet from the start, and he stopped. A fairly good pace was set by the men, and on the last quarter they came down at a record clip, doing this in 29 4-5, which equals the time made by Zimmerman yesterday. Worden won the race with lots to spare. G. M. Worden, first; F. C. Graves, second; W. M. Carman, third. Time 2.37 4-5; last quarter, 29 4-5.

Two-mile safety, open, brought out a splendid field of fast men. They took it very easy for the first quarter. They rode slowly over the tape on the first mile, with C. M. Murphy leading. The last quarter was a fine race and the finish at the tape between Berlo and Windle was so close that the judges declared it a dead heat and no race, as the time made was not within the time limit. The last quarter was done in 30 3-5.

In the run off Windle did not appear, but at the pistol's shot Bowman cut out a rattling pace; they evidently did not want to ride the race again. Hoyland Smith took a clip at pace making on the second mile, and he made it warm for the men; he dropped to third place at the three-quarter post, and later to the fourth Then the men closed up and came down with a splendid rush. Within about 100 yards of the finish some pretty wild riding was done by Berlo, so much so that a protest was entered against him, which was allowed; and though he finished first he was ruled out, and the first place was awarded to Smith, and results were as follows: Hoyland Smith, first; A. B. Rich, second; W. M. Carman, third. Time 5.25 1-5.

Quarter-mile ordinary was a fairly good race, though Zimmerman had it about all his way, and Githens made a good effort to hold the N. Y. A. Club man.

A. A. Zimmerman, first; H. A. Githens, second; W. W. Taxis, third. Time 33 3-5.

One-mile tandem race was an exciting race; though the scratch men, Banker and Brinker, were handicapped, they put the mile tandem record in competition up to 2.30 1-5. The finish between Fuller and Herman and Draper and Geyler for first and second place was close.

F. Herman and F. R. Fuller, 150 yards, first; J. H. Draper and L. Geyler, 75 yards, second; W. D. Banker and F. M. Brinker, scratch, third. Time winners, 2.28. Time scratch men, 2.30 4-5, record.

The two-mile safety handicap brought out a large field. By the time the first mile was finished the men were pretty well bunched and a hot pace was kept up which looked like another record. The pace was so hot that W. F. Murphy, scratch, dropped out on the first mile. Rich also from scratch rode a magnificent race and came home only 1-5 second slower than the winner, Graves. It was one of the best races of the two days' meet.

F. C. Graves, 60 yards, first; A. B. Rich, scratch, second; H. Smith, 40 yards, third. Graves' time, 5.11; Rich's time, 5.11 1-5. Rich is American record for two miles in competition.

Two-mile ordinary. As there were no scratch men, Githens, 65 yards, and Taxis, 70 yards, were put on scratch and the rest of course were put back 65 yards also. The limit man Hudson, 260 yards, made a lively race, and for a time it looked as if he would win the race, but he weakened on the last half of the last mile. On the home stretch Draper challenged Githens, but Chicago got there with both feet, Taxis a good third.

H. A. Githens, scratch, first; J. H. Draper, 115 yards, second; W. W. Taxis, scratch, third. Time 5.46 4-5.

One-mile open—This was the race of the meet so far as entries were concerned, G. F. Taylor and Harradon set the pace for the special prizes and Taylor got all three. These men together with Zimmerman got an awful lead and it took some hard riding on the part of the men in the rear to catch up with the three leaders. But on the home stretch Zimmerman got to work and was passed by Windle, but "Zimmy" got there first and Taylor got second, with Windle third.

A. A. Zimmerman, first; G. F. Taylor, second; W. W. Windle, third. Time by quarters, 37 3-5, 1.16 3-5, 2.34 3-5.

The consolation race was the last one on the regular programme, and a very good race it was, and the time was most excellent as shown by the time and last quarter.

J. W. Shaefer, first; E. A. McDuffee, second; J. C. Donnelly, third. Time 2.54 4-5. Last quarter was run in 29 4-5.

RECORDS, SECOND DAY.

The second day the tandem record for one mile in competition was placed at 2.30 4-5 by Banker and Brinker. The time of flying start, 29 4-5, by Worden, is equal to the quarter made by Zimmerman Tuesday. A. B. Rich put the two mile record in competition up to 5.11 1-5 In the consolation race J. W. Shoefer rode the last quarter in 29 4-5.

NOTES.

Isn't Windle a wonder?

Yes, and isn't Zimmerman a wonder also?

Worden did himself proud.

Dorntge, the Buffalo man, seems to be a mover.

The timers got a bit mixed up on the last heat of the mile handicap. The enthusiasm of the crowd was awakened by the announcement that the mile had been made in 2.23, only to be squelched by the correction that the time made was 2.37 4-5.

Worden rides a surprise race once in a while, and on the occasion when he beat Windle from the 40 yard mark was one case in hand. That finish with Windle was as fine a bit of riding as was ever seen. Hartford management is always good, and the way the track was cleared of every one except the officials, was most satisfactorily and efficiently carried out.

Rich's graceful act of offering Windle the use of his machine after the latter had broken his was noticeable from the fact that the relations between these two men for the past year has not been of the most cordial nature. The act was appreciated by Windle, and now Rich and Windle are the best of friends.

President Dunn was suffering from indisposition, and only his pluck kept him up to the point of performing his duty. He had to give up, however, on Tuesday night.

Geo. Barrett of Chicago was not present, as it was hoped and expected he would be.

When Windle smashed his machine in the quarter-mile trial heat it was feared that he would not start again.

There were two bad falls during the racing, but happily no one was seriously injured. In the handicap race, however, when two of the contestants fell it looked for a moment as though some one was badly hurt.

Fred Jenkins was at Hartford, and nothing showed how much new blood had been infused into the League than the fact that not one in ten knew who Fred Jenkins was.

Githens was the only Western racing man present, and in his races he did his section proud.

It does not make much difference what Zimmerman rides, he gets there just the same. Think of a man being able to win races right along, first on a Starjand then on a chain safety! It is little short of miraculous.

There were 3500 spectators at the first day's racing, and it was an enthusiastic audience too. Zimmerman came in for a large share of applause, and he deserved it.

The weather on Tuesday and Wednesday did its level best to make up for the bad time it gave the cyclists at Providence and first day at Hartford.

We are indebted to Mr. A. Kennedy-Child of the Warwick Cycle Co. for many attentions and courtesies.

Col. George Pope presided most gracefully at the dinner tendered to some of the more prominent wheelmen on Monday.

Ex-President Luscomb is a most excellent presiding officer, and holds a meeting close to the matter in hand.

The question that seemed to bother a few gentlemen, who were discussing the matter within our hearing, was as to who would win the "Consultation" race.

THE CONVENTION.

The Convention was called to order at Allyn Hall at noon, Tuesday, by Vice President Burdett. As many members who had come with proxies could not remain over to the evening session which was to be held, the question came up as to how these proxies could be used; after a heated discussion it was:

Resolved, That in case of proxies, which have been duly presented and recorded with the Secretary, the Secretary be instructed to vote such proxies according to the instructions with them, even if the holders of the proxies are absent.

An adjournment was then taken until 7.45 P. M.

At that hour about 250 wheelmen were in attendance, and President Dunn called the meeting to order, and on account of indisposition asked to be excused from presiding. He therefore called to the chair Vice President Burdett.

The convention on motion of Mr. Shriver in order to expedite matters, proceeded to consider such amendments on which proxy vote should not be called for, as the Committee on Credentials had not yet reported. Under this vote many amendments were passed without a proxy vote being called for. These amendments were those in Article II and III, which had been found to be ambiguous in language, and the changes proposed were to make the meaning more clear. The amendment, however, to change the eligible age of membership from eighteen to seventeen was lost.

Mr. Perkins of the Credential Committee reported 5304 proxies accepted, and in the cases where certain irregularities were evident, asked for instructions. It was moved that the Credential Committee be instructed to reject all names other than those written upon the proxy blanks, and to reject all names pinned or pasted on the regular or usual proxy blanks. After a heated discussion Mr. McBride's motion that the Credential Committee be instructed to accept the proxies as instructed, was voted and passed 82 to 83. As some doubt was expressed as to the correctness of count, on motion of Mr. McBride the vote was reconsidered, and it was again passed by a vote of 108 to 100, and the Credential Committee were instructed to accept the proxies under the discussion, and the Committee reported on 5434 names.

Mr. Luscomb presented an amendment, which was adopted, and which allows of a club to be a League club when 75 per cent. of the members of the club are members of the League; provided only, that such club shall be entitled to representation based on the 75 per cent. membership, and provided that the non-League members shall have no voice in League matters.

The question of making the Hotel Committee a National one came up and was lost. Also was the amendment lost making it possible for National Assembly to fix the limit of Divisions and sub-Divisions. This amendment was really offered as the means of a possible relief to the California Division.

The amendment increasing the number of members from 100 to 200 necessary to obtain a Representative was lost.

Mr. Sheridan fought hard for an adjournment before the question of the amateur rules were reached, and it was stated that by securing an adjournment he hoped to be able to carry the matter over to the Peoria meet. Mr. Sheridan's actions in the convention certainly gave color to the above rumor. That his plan failed the report of the Convention shows. Spirted discussions followed, and in some cases some members seemed to favor the abolishment of the expense and prize rule entire, and thus allow members the right to take everything in cash, and as much of it as they could get. These views were, however, put out as feelers to stiffen the backbone of the members in favor of a strict rule. The rule as formally passed read as follows:

Art. III. Sect. 9. Erase all after the first paragraph of the section and substitute:

"An amateur is one who has not engaged in, nor assisted in, nor taught cycling or any other recognized athletic exercise for money or other remuneration, not knowingly competed with or against a professional for a prize of any description; or one who after having forfeited the amateur status has had the same restored by a competent authority having jurisdiction over the sport.

A cyclist ceases to be an amateur by:

(a) Engaging in cycling or other recognized athletic exercise, or personally teaching, training or coaching any person therein, either as a means of obtaining a livelihood, or for a wager, money prize or gate money.

(b) Competing with a professional, or making pace for or having the pace made by such in public or for a prize.

(c) Selling, pawning, or otherwise turning into cash or realizing upon any prize won by him.

(d) Accepting directly or indirectly for cycling any remuneration, compensation, or expense whatever from a cycle manufacturer, agent, or other person interested in the trade; or from any other person having a pecuniary interest in the sport, except that a cyclist may accept from the cycle or athletic clubs which he represents his necessary expenses in training for and in attending race meets.

(e) A cyclist does not forfeit his amateur status by teaching the elements of cycling solely for the purpose of effecting the sale of a cycle.

The amendments defining the powers of the National Assembly and the Executive Committee were adopted as follows:

Art. IV. Reconstruct Section 1 as follows: "The management of the League shall be vested in a National Assembly, consisting of all Chief

442—Missouri Division—500.

Only 48 more applications are needed to reach the 500 mark and constant activity is required to reach the desired end. We have gained new recruits in new riding centers and the consuls located in these towns will do their share of the work. There are still a large number of large cities in the State where we are entirely unrepresented. St. Joseph, Sedalia, and Carthage are way behind last year's figures in point of membership and local consuls residing in these towns should bestir themselves to place their respective membership ahead of last year. St. Louis dealers have promised to lend a helping hand in the work and applications are already coming in. Do not forget the offer of a fine gold League pin for twenty new members still holds good, and the only conditions are that applications must be sent to the undersigned. Fraternally yours,

Kentucky Division Election.

To the Officers and Members of Kentucky Division, L. A. W., Gentlemen:

The following letter which explains itself, has come to the hands of the Election Committee, to wit:

"Election Committee L. A. W. Kentucky Division, Louisville, Ky., Gentlemen: Kindly withdraw my name from list of nominees for the office of Chief Consul, L. A. W., Kentucky Division.

"Yours very truly, WM. E. CASTLE."

"Louisville, Ky., Sept. 3, '91."

At Mr. Castle's request, the committee withdraws his name from the list of nominees, which leaves Mr. G. E. Johnson the only other candidate for that office.

The list of candidates to be voted for at the election to be held for this Division, between the fifteenth days of October and November next, is as follows:

For Chief Consul, G. E. Johnson of Louisville.

For Vice Consul, W.W. Stephenson, of Harrodsburg.

For Secretary-Treasurer, W. W. Watts, of Louisville.

For Representatives: N. G. Crawford, of Louisville; C. O. Updike, of Lexington; and Col. E. H. Gaither, of Harrodsburg.

The Committee will, at the proper time, mail to each member a postal card containing the list of candidates which will also contain instructions as to how the card shall be marked by the voter and the same returned to the Committee as the ballot of the voter.

H. B. TILESTON,
Chairman Election Committee.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 5, 1891.

The following communication has been received by me, viz.:

"Mr. A. J. Lamb, Chief Consul Kentucky Division L. A. W., Louisville, Ky. Dear Sir: I hereby tender my resignation as a member of the Election Committee for this Division, to take effect at once.

"In taking this step, let me say that my resignation would have been tendered ere this, had it not been for the fact that Mr. Wm. E. Castle's friends, in his late candidacy for the office of Chief Consul Kentucky Division, knowing I had been doing some work for Mr. Johnson, Castle's opponent, tried to drive me off the Election Committee by calling attention, in a manner unbecoming wheelmen or gentlemen, to the fact that, although a candidate for the office of Secretary-Treasurer, I was yet a member of this committee. I at once announced that I would remain on the committee, refusing to be driven in the manner they proposed; but as Mr Castle has now withdrawn, I prefer to be relieved of my dual position. Please accept my resignation at once.

"Respectfully, WILLIAM W. WATTS."

In view of the above facts Mr. Watts' resignation is hereby accepted, and Mr. R. Lee Shannon, of Louisville, is appointed in his stead as a member of the Election Committee.

A. J. LAMB,
Chief Consul.

Maryland Division.

To the members of the Maryland Division:

In accordance with Article 3, Section 2, of the By-Laws, given below, the clubs will please elect delegates to the Nominating Convention, which is appointed to be held at the club house of the Chesapeake Cycle Club of Baltimore, 838 N. Fulton avenue, October 14, 1891, at 8.30 P. m.

The unattached members will please meet for the election of delegates to the Nominating Convention at 8.30 P. M., September 30, as follows:

At the City Hotel, Reisterstown; City Hotel, Westminster; River View, Oxford; Maryland Central, Cambridge; Brick Hotel, Easton; Hotel Hamilton, Hagerstown; Howard House, Ellicott City; Voshell House, Chesterton; club house of the Centaur Cycle Club, 2117 E. Pratt street, Baltimore; City Hotel, Frederick; Emmit House, Emmittsburg; and office of Hodson & Hodson, Crisfield.

It is suggested that several towns join forces, and by pre-arrangement meet at any one of the above places that can be agreed upon.

A. A nominating convention shall be held between the 10th and 15th of October in each year, which shall consist of delegates from each organized wheeling club in the State (whose League members exceed fifteen) and delegates from the unattached members of the Division.

B. Each club shall be entitled to a delegate for the first fifteen members of the League of American Wheelmen on their roll and in good standing on July 1st, and one additional delegate for each additional twenty-five (25) League members.

C. At the call of the Chief Consul a meeting of the unattached members shall be held prior to October 5th of each year, when they shall elect delegates in the same proportion as above.

D. This Convention shall meet at the call of the Chief Consul and officially nominate officers for the ensuing year. Two week's notice thereof to be given all organized wheeling clubs, in order that they may elect their delegates.

ALBERT MOTT, C. C. Md. Div.

Baltimore, Md., September 3, 1891.

California.

In the matter of the complaint of Mr. F. W. Wurster the Transportation Committee made the following report. THOS. L. HILL, C. C.

Dr. Thomas L. Hill, Chief Consul, California Division, L. A. W., San Francisco.

Dear Sir—The Committee on Transportation is in receipt of your letter of the 10th inst., enclosing letter of Mr. Arthur H. Wright, Local Consul at Stockton, and after due consideration of the latter, beg to make the following report:

The facts of the reference, as we understand them, are as follows: Mr. F. W. Wurster, a member of the League, purchased from the Southern Pacific Company a first class ticket at Stockton for Santa Cruz via Niles and San Jose, and took with him on his trip his wheel and a certain amount of baggage. The baggage he checked under the privilege allowed him by his ticket, but he was compelled to pay twenty-five cents for the transportation of his wheel on the portion of the road running from Niles to San Jose, although on all other parts of the route he was allowed free carriage.

Under the League's arrangement with the Railroad Company, was it a breach of contract on the part of the company in charging for such transportation?

Under the circumstances we are of the opinion that the baggagemen, who made the charge was the only employee of the Railroad company who did his duty, and that Mr. Wurster should have been compelled to pay, not only the said charge, but also charges over the balance of the route. When the Railroad Company agreed to allow us free transportation of our wheels it was with the understanding that it should be in lieu of baggage, or, in other words, that we would be permitted to class our wheels as baggage, and not that we would be entitled to baggage besides.

Mr. Wurster had both baggage and machine. He could treat his machine as baggage and thus escape its cost of transportation, or he could have his baggage checked, but he could not avail himself of both privileges under one ticket. In support of the view we have taken, we refer to the rules in vogue by that part of the Southern Pacific Company's system, which runs from San Francisco to San Jose via Menlo Park. At any point thereon it is not only necessary but compulsive on the part of a wheelman to produce his ticket and have it punched for baggage before he will be allowed to place his wheel in the baggage car.

The reason this rule is not enforced on other lines operated by the same company we are at a loss to know, unless it be ascribed to the fact that the baggage officials neglect their duty.

The Railroad Company up to date, so far as we know, has done all it ever promised, which is a great deal, when compared with the conduct of several of the Eastern Railroad Companies, accounts of which have appeared in late numbers of the LEAGUE BULLETIN, and no doubt will continue to do so in the future.

When we take into consideration the amount of room occupied by a few wheels in a baggage car, and also that the company has, when occasion demanded it, put on extra cars for us, we should consider that the League has been treated in a manner which is complimentary to the company and gratifying to wheelmen.

On the whole we think Mr. Wurster was very fortunate in escaping with such a low charge on such a long trip. Very respectfully,

FRED W. RAY, Chairman Trans. Com.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

Consuls and Secretary-Treasurers, and the Vice-Consuls and Delegates from the several Divisions. It shall have power to make By-laws for the guidance of the League, to establish regulations for the government of Divisions in their relations to the League and to each other, and to generally direct and decide in all matters not provided for in this Constitution.

Sect. 8. The general management of affairs of the League while the National Assembly is not in session shall vest in the Executive and Finance Committee with full powers except the power of legislation. Said Committee at such times shall have the power and it shall be its duty to explain, define, and interpret any provision of this Constitution or any By-law, or any rule of any Committee of this League upon request of a member of the League.

After this important business had been disposed of an attempt was made to act upon the color line amendment of Mr. Wilson; but on motion of Mr. Shriver, who moved that as all the important amendments had been acted on the Convention adjourn, the Convention did adjourn sine die at 1.20 A. M. Wednesday.

All the amendments as passed will appear in the Official Department next week.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

As the National Assembly had been called for Tuesday, September 8, the Constitutional Convention at 11.55 P. M., Tuesday, took a recess of five minutes, and during that recess the Assembly was called to order and at once adjourned to Wednesday, 9 A. M.

Nothing was done at the National Assembly, at which President Dunn himself presided, except to "postpone" and "refer." The question of discussion of Rule G, in all its bearings, was indefinitely postponed. The matter of defining the powers of the officers and committees was referred to the Rules and Regulation Committee, with instruction to report at the next National Assembly.

The matter of the Alliance was also laid over to some future date; the Seaboard question, also. The matter of revising By-Laws generally was ruled out of order. The Assembly adjourned after about one hour's session.

RACES AT BELLEVILLE (ILL.) FAIR.

His time was 1 hour 27 minutes 1-5 seconds. Seeds, however, broke the record for the distance, the time being 1 hour 22 minutes 1-5 seconds.

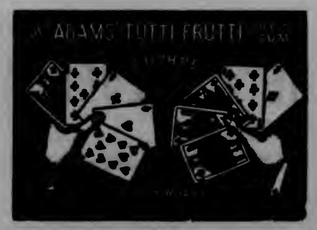
Withers, Jr., on a "Kitten," winning the ten-mile Inter-Club race in 26.15 2-5; the five-mile open in 18.06; and the five-mile championship in 17.31 2-5. The two-mile safety, open also was won on a cushioned "Kitten." The races were run on the road. Grosch on a pneumatic Kohinoor won the mile handicap from scratch over twenty-five competitors in 3.05, at Queens, Long Island. Track soft and rough. Wheeler won two prizes at Hartford on a Premier racing pneumatic, Tuesday.

MR. H. C. BALSBAUGH has purchased the interests and good will of the Harrisburg Cycle Co., and will enlarge the business by opening a large school for teaching the art and employing two expert repairers in his repair shop. He will also keep a full stock of wheels to rent by the hour or day. Everything will be run on the latest modern principles, and all the latest styles of pneumatic and cushion wheels will be kept in stock. It will be the largest concern of this nature in Central Pennsylvania.

ROUSE, HAZARD & Co., Peoria, Ill., make a specialty of job lot machines in which they offer extraordinary bargains. Already this season they have closed out immense job lots of three or four different styles of machines, showing that they must offer superior inducements.

MESSRS. HOWARD A. SMITH & Co., Newark, N. J., have undoubtedly the most superior facilities for repairing pneumatic tires east of Chicago, their repair shop being especially fitted up for this class of work. See advertisement on page 657.

L. O. GLOVER, former proprietor of the Harrisburg Cycle Co., accompanied by Mrs. Glover, President of the Harrisburg Lady Cyclers, and W. G. Hoffa, started for Columbus, Ohio, via Elmira, Jamestown, N. Y., Erie, Pa., and Cleveland, Ohio, on two Ramblers and a Singer, on Aug. 29. The distance to be traveled will be over six hundred miles, and they expect to arrive at destination not later than Sept. 14th. Mr. Glover will engage in the bicycle business in Columbus.



THE Premier Cycle Company are selling for a dollar and a half the complete Repair Outfit furnished by the Pneumatic Company. It contains cement, rubber, canvas, sospstone, benzine, brush and needle and thread, all in neat box. Every pneumatic rider should send for it. Postpaid on receipt of price.

Jersey Fitting

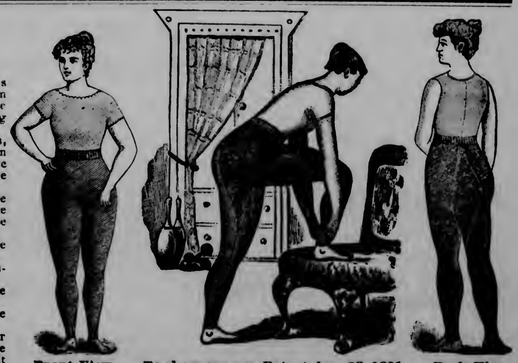
originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.



Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

Mr. Porter's Excellent and Remarkably Successful Handbook of the Wheel and Everything Connected with its Use.

CYCLING
—FOR—
Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

NO BOLTS.

For a moment kindly give your attention to our "Double Diamond Frame."

NOTE THESE POINTS:

Its extreme simplicity—only six pieces of tubing, and tubular wheel guard.

Its graceful design—the handsomest frame on the market.

Its rigidity.

Its unequalled strength.

Not a single bolt used in the construction of this frame. All the joints carefully brazed together.

From all sections of the country, and from large numbers of the best judges, we are constantly receiving the highest praises of this frame.

It is a fitting foundation for the Columbia Safety.

OVERMAN WHEEL CO., CHICOPEE FALLS, MASS.

BOSTON. WASHINGTON. DENVER. SAN FRANCISCO.

That "$150 Hickory."

Mention has been made from time to time of a new style of Hickory safety which was to be sold at the (seemingly) high price of $150.

It is quite fully described and illustrated in our catalogue, but we have seldom mentioned it in any other way.

A considerable number of orders were booked for the new machine by men who had become satisfied that we were not joking.

A few have aired their scepticism by saying (in the language of one of them): "It is monumental gall to ask $150 for a wooden machine, while steel ones sell for so much less."

Our original idea was that there were enough people who would like to pay this higher price if they could feel that they were getting value received for their money, and having long since passed our chickenhood, we do not expect to sell anything for more than it is worth.

The writer was once offered for $3 an automatic machine which cost $2400 00, and on looking it over decided not to take it.

The most expensive bicycle to build is not necessarily the best machine, though if it be well designed the first cost would be an interesting factor.

This new $150 Hickory Bicycle (that is the only name we have for it at present) costs a lot of money to build. It is made "'pon honor," of good material and well finished.

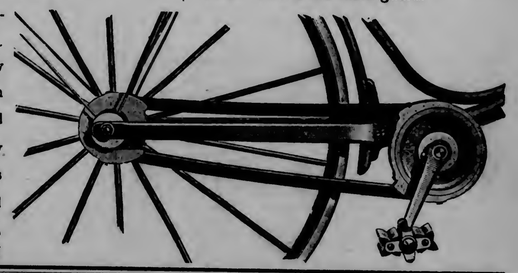
We only mention it at all now for the reason that we are nearly abreast with our orders and could accept yet a few more.

We quote from a letter just received from an old wheelman who has owned and ridden all kinds. He is particularly a modest man, and we have not permission to use his name, but here is a part of his letter:

"Elliott Hickory Cycle Co.

Sirs — The new Hickory arrived on time and in good order. As you may have guessed by this time, I am inclined to be rather critical, but in this case I must say the machine is beyond criticism.

It is certainly the most beautiful specimen of bicycle in finish and adaption to the purpose for which it is intended that I ever looked on.



The chain guard is certainly worth $50 on any machine. If the Bicycling News could devote a column of editorial to the description of the $100 Hickory and consider no praise to high for it, I am certain if they saw this one they would devote the whole paper and then want a supplement to enumerate the 'points.'

'May its shadow never be less.'"

We also finish this same machine in black and nickel at $135.00.

Would Not Sell His Sylph for Double Amount of Cost If Could Not Get Another.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 18th, 1891.

Messrs. Rouse, Hazard & Co., Peoria, Ill.

Gentlemen—The Sylph gives perfect satisfaction; it is by far the easiest riding wheel I have ever been on. I have given it a thorough test over all kinds of roads; have ridden it over Belgian blocks, cobble Stones, and all kinds of roads found in a city, and have found it easy riding, no jolting as is the case with stiff frames. It also pedals much easier than any wheel I know of; as proof, yesterday one of my pedals came loose, and I rode three-quarters of a mile over the Belgian blocks, working only one pedal, as I did not have my wrench to tighten up the loose one. and I made the distance in 6 minutes. Wishing you much good luck with the Sylph, I remain

Yours very truly,
IRVIN J. CORBY, JR.

P. S.—I would not sell my Sylph for double the amount of cost if I could not get another.

We are prepared to fill orders promptly for these machines.

CHAPTER XVII.

The natives, who, on my first appearance had fled in terror into the brushwood, began to gain courage on finding the strange visitor showed no signs of harming them, and beating their tom toms loudly, advanced in military order, evidently bent on mischief. Seeing that it would be foolish to attempt an explanation, I mounted my hydrocycle, and bending over the handle bars in the most approved racing fashion, plunged once more into the dark, blue waters of the Pacific, a disappointed and disheartened man.

Where was my mermaid, she, whom seventeen years before I had loved and lost; for whom I had searched the ocean's depths in the Arctic seas and equatorial waters?

Must I, after all these difficulties overcome, after having expended my whole fortune, give up my ideal, acknowledge my defeat and mourn myself into gray hairs and an early grave? Instinctively I shuddered and felt the sweat drop gathering on my brow. I looked at the gauge, which showed a depth of two hundred yards. An occasional bubbling in the air tubes warned me that the surface of the ocean was beating above me angrily, so shifting crank gearing, I started steadily to pump the reservoir full, a precaution which I found necessary in stormy weather.

This thrilling narrative will be continued in next week's issue. All rights reserved.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 18 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

IF there were such an organization as "The Society for the Suppression of Cruelty to Racing Men," it could have got in some excellent work during the past week. Imagine five solid days of hard racing! and yet that is just what the racing men of the East have gone through with. Two days each at Hartford and Springfield, an all night railroad trip to Philadelphia, and some more racing there on Saturday. A man must be made of steel and rubber to stand such work, but luckily they will have a short breathing spell before Peoria is reached.

A REVIEW of the races at Hartford and Springfield last week show to what extent the racing men have improved so far as speed is concerned. This improvement is chiefly due to the use of the pneumatic tire, and this theory is strengthened by the fact that in the consolation race at Springfield, men who were not able to win a prize in the other events rode the mile in 2.36 to 2.37. Again, at Hartford in the consolation race Shoefer ran a quarter in .29 4-5.

WHILE on this question of increased speed among our racing men we desire to call the attention of racing men the world over to the unheard of proceeding in putting a time limit of 2.23 2-5 on a one mile race! Then please notice that the race was run within 1-5 of a second of the time limit! After having digested that fact, can one conceive why the dear reasonable Public rose in its mighty wrath and demanded that the race be run over again? We wish to say this to those who made themselves so obnoxious at Springfield, that the like of that race may never be seen again. It was the most magnificent race ever seen in this or any other country. Just think of eleven men starting scratch, seven (or eight) of whom rode the mile within 2.27. Such a thing has never been equalled in the history of cycle racing, and if the time made was 1-5 second below the record, the race itself will stand as a record, first for the preposterous limit fixed, and second for the fact that the time made by the seven or eight who finished has never been equalled or even approximated in one race.

THE howls and groans of the disappointed ones at Hampden Park last Friday when the decision of Referee Bull was made, giving the one mile record race to Windle, showed very poor sense on the part of the disgruntled ones. Judged not by the racing rules, but by the rules of common sense, Mr. Bull's decision was eminently correct. That every man "rode out" to the bitter end, not even the most prejudiced who saw the race would dispute. That the record would have been beaten, the editor of this paper has not the slightest doubt, had it not been for the fact that Windle had to ride outside the entire field, and he must have gone many yards over the mile; especially was the fact that Windle rode over a mile noticeable to those who saw the way he was forced still further out of his straight course by Zimmerman's wild riding on the last 300 yards. Nobody blamed Zimmerman, but the fact remains that his wheel shot off towards the grand stand, forcing Windle out of his course also. Under all the circumstances the performance of all the contestants was little less than miraculous, and had Windle not been forced yards out of his way, there would have been no complaint made by the spectators on the score of the time. All these facts influenced the just decision of Referee Bull.

IT is now many years since this paper has taken much notice of the doings of professionals. The painful recollection of the great Rowe-Temple fake have heretofore firmly fixed our determination to ignore as far as possible all professional races. We have from time to time briefly noticed the doings of the female riders, but we admit such notices have been given grudgingly. Having thus briefly exposed the condition of our mind during the past few years on the professional question, we want to say that our attention has been called to the fact that the management of the Madison Square Garden, New York, has decided to give a six days' professional bicycle tournament during the month of October. Strong evidence has been brought to bear to prove to us that this race will be on "the square" in more ways than one. The names of the promoters, both in England and the United States, should be sufficient guarantee that the race will be bona fide. All the most prominent professionals of America, England, Scotland and France will be present, and we desire to say that further notice in this paper will be evidence that nothing has developed to shake our awakened faith in the squareness of the undertaking. We believe in "live and let live;" and so long as the professionals are honestly in the business for a livelihood, we are with them every time.

THERE have been a few pretty bad failures in the bicycle trade during the past twelve months. The causes for these failures are the usual ones, lack of capital or lack of business ability. Concerns with unlimited capital can safely embark in any legitimate business, providing the brains are also forthcoming; but to start in to manufacture cycles with a capital not ample enough is reprehensible in the extreme. It requires a financier to do a manufacturing business of $100,000 on a capital of $1000; and though the comparison may be extreme, it may nevertheless cause some to think well before they act.

We want to see the trade boom, but we do not want a boom at the sacrifice of confidence and capital and the sport generally.

WE continue to receive kind words of commendation from our readers and advertising patrons, sent us in refutation of Mr. "Five Hundred and Twenty-Five" Wilson's absurd statements made a few weeks ago in these columns. We cannot allow ourselves to weary our readers by reproducing these pleasant letters, but it would be rank ingratitude if we did not in some way acknowledge the kindly interest shown in our behalf.

SWITZERLAND has learned the lesson that the presence of so many cycling tourists upon her superb roads has taught. She intends to make the cycling corps in her little army not a fancy attachment gotten up for the sake of novelty and its attractiveness to young soldiers, but an important and valuable addition to her system of defence. Perhaps there is no other country in the world that possesses such magnificent roads as does this sturdy little mountain republic, and yet in turn has few horses to use them. The reason of this is obvious. With but little arable land, and what there is given over to the cultivation of the grape and food products, Switzerland finds horses a luxury too costly for her frugal habits, and hence, as an adjunct to her military forces, cavalry has ever existed but in a very limited degree. Now the bicycle fills all of the requirements of the case as no horse animal could do, and the thrifty Swiss have determined that no small portion of their defenders shall in future bestride the steed that tires not, feeds not and fails not. The modern William Tell will be a wheelman.

BENEATH all of the many other advantages of cycling, and underlying every other claim it has upon popular favor, is that in which we find a sure foundation for its permanence, its adaptability and actual appropriation for practical conveyance. It is a ready means of travel. It is now used by the salesman, the agent, the lawyer, the doctor, the clergyman, in connection with business, and by all classes as an ever ready and inexpensive horse, a car at one's own command, a "rapid transit" held to no arbitrary rails, available with the utmost of freedom and exhilaration for social and business purposes. It is the most convenient and the least expensive vehicle in most parts of the country for such distances as a horse and buggy might be available, were they at hand instead. The bicycle is no longer to be looked upon as either a fad or a toy, as its deriders would have us believe; it is a fitting adjunct of the advanced age in which we live, and in its more improved forms will be handed down to those who come after us, as one of the greatest practical mechanical inventions of this inventive era.

THE parents of children should feel obligated to give to their offspring above all things, health. This does not mean that the children should alone be prohibited from swallowing tacks in their infantile ages or prevented from eating the deadly green apple in the latter years of juvenility, but it also means that it is the parent's duty to see that children lay up in the sunshine of youth a sufficiency of vitality, health and strength, to last them well along in the years of the sere and yellow leaf. How, then, are children to be made "good animals?" By the fullest development of their bodily powers. How is this development to be compassed? Adopting Danton's famous saying best answers it. By exercise, by exercise, and yet again by exercise. There can be no dispute about this; the only question is as to the form and amount of exercise. It would be no loss to the community if a few of the 'ologies with which the brains of poor little starvelings are at present forced into premature exhaustion were sacrificed to make room for the sound physical and moral training by cycling. Parents in their desire to protect their children from what they imagine the dangers of cycling to be, decline to allow them to have a wheel, fearing if they do that disaster will surely follow. If one-half the care and attention, in a sensible way, were given to exercising children that is devoted to doing the same for horses, and children were given a bicycle to amuse themselves with instead of stuffing them with candy or keeping them housed up with dolls to play with, we might hope to see Walt Whitman's prophetic vision of a nation of "forty millions of magnificent persons" realized.

METROPOLITAN MUSINGS.

THE Kings County Wheelmen have added another victory to their already large list of road conquests. On Saturday last their racing team finished one, two and three in the Wheelmen's Racing League contest on the Springfield (N. J.) course. As the Kings County Club had won the first race given by this organization they are entitled to the League's first prize. The Brooklyn Ramblers secured the second prize. The prizes were two handsome silver cups. The purpose in view at the organization of this League has been fulfilled. It was proposed to bring the clubs of New York and Brooklyn together semi-annually in a friendly contest for handsome prizes. All of this has been accomplished; the clubs have supported the event admirably, and although the entries in Saturday's race were rather small, this can be accounted for by the absence of many racers from the city which prevented their getting in form. The spring race will now be anxiously looked forward to.

It is to be deplored that the Manhattan Athletic Club should have seen fit to take Saturday, Sept. 26, for their bicycle meet. Their taking of this date was subsequent to the announcement by the Elizabeth Wheelmen that they would hold a meeting on the 26th. Now both tournaments, so close to one another, can not possibly flourish on the same day, and I believe that the Manhattan's meet will attract the racing talent. All the crack racing men have expressed their intention of riding at the M. A. C. games, so that consequently, from all indications, the Elizabeth Wheelmen's meeting will prove a purely local event.

The Riverside Wheelmen are striving to arrange every detail which shall insure of their running a successful tournament on Oct. 3. The aim of the Riverside men is to enthuse New Yorkers to the attractiveness of cycle racing. True, there is a great lacking of enthusiasm in New York. The recent Springfield bicycle meet demonstrates to what extent a city can be interested in an event if it be properly managed. Heretofore there has been some excuse for the absence of bicycle meets in this city, as there has been no fit track; but now the clubs, if they still maintain any real interest in cycling, can advance the interests of the sport by promoting race meetings at the Manhattan field.

In Brooklyn, New York and New Jersey, interest is becoming again awakened in bowling. The Wheelmen's Bowling League is to meet this week, when it is expected preparations for the opening of the season will be gotten under way. The League will be enlarged by the accessions of several new clubs. The Gotham Wheelmen propose joining, and it is not unlikely that the Kings County Wheelmen may again come in, with the addition of some New Jersey clubs.

A point that might be well considered by the clubs would be that they have their alleys in their respective cities as centrally located as is possible. This would greatly facilitate the early arrival of the players at the alleys each night.

The Chicago clubs are getting up a League, and a match between the winner of the Eastern and Western League is already on the tapis. R. G. Betts of the Lincoln Club, who is organizing the Chicago League, proposes that the game be played by telegraph. The matter is feasible and would create wide interest. Let the subject be pushed to a head by all means. "SPEC."

WE have received a letter of complaint from the manager of "The Great Divide" saying that a certain cut of an Indian head used in an advertisement of the Steel Pulley & Machine Works last week was the trade mark of "The Great Divide." On investigation we find that the head is an undoubted reproduction, though we did not know it at the time, but it lacks the bust and the surrounding "fixings." We desire to make this public explanation in justice to "The Great Divide."

THE members of the Dayton, Ohio, Bicycle Club have decided to have a lantern parade on the evening of September 19th, and have sent to the West side bicyclers a cordial invitation to join with them. The affair promises to be a success.

THE members of the Alameda Olympic Club have arranged to consolidate with the Alameda Bicycle Club, and the new organization will be known as the Olympic and Cycle Club.

IT is said that even in the far off country of Africa, cycling is very popular, and English manufacturers are kept busy constructing machines which have 35-inch front and 29-inch rear wheels for the people who are tired of riding, driving and walking.

THE question of road improvements has been taken up by the Century Road Club, Chicago, as has that of mile stones, which are to be placed along the most prominent roads of this country. Indeed this club will be one of national importance before many years have elapsed.

THE Treasury Department has authorized the collector at New York to admit to free entry a bicycle recently imported there by a resident of Kansas. The bicycle was purchased by the importer while abroad in July, 1890, and was used by him in travelling in Europe, he being crippled and entirely dependent upon the bicycle as a means of locomotion.

THE East Orange, N. J., Cyclers enjoyed a "smoker" at their club house on the evening of September 5th. The Union Co. Roadsters were present as the guests of the club.

THE little town of Arnheim, Holland, is said to have the fastest track in the world.

AN exchange in commenting on the increase of our fair cyclists says they are "Daughters of the Revolution."

A. H. RADELL of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, now holds the Elgin-Aurora and return century record. The distance, 104 miles, was ridden September 6th by him in 9 hours 29 minutes, 2 hours and 1 minute inside record time.

THE Orange Wheelmen will take possession of their new club house on October 1st. The event will be celebrated with a house-warming, reception and lantern parade, to which all the cycling clubs of the vicinity will be invited.

CHARLES C. MCBRIDE, a member of the Road Improvement Committee of the New Jersey Division L. A. W., is the author of a history on road reform entitled "Our Good Roads." The New Jersey Division L. A. W. has issued 4000 copies of the book in pamphlet form for free distribution among the State wheelmen.

THE Syracuse, N. Y., Cycle Club have received a communication from a newly organized Ladies' Cycling Club of that city, stating that it was their desire to enroll themselves as the ladies' auxiliary of the Syracuse Cycle Club. They were heartily granted the privilege, and at their own request will pay $2 a year each into their treasury. They will be allowed the privilege of the club house on Thursdays only, and the male members are not to be excluded at any time.

ON Friday, Sept. 11th, the Overman Wheel Co., Chicopee Falls, Mass. flung to the breeze one of the largest United States flags ever made (and possibly the largest), the dimensions being 41x71 feet. This monster flag was stretched from the top of two five-story factories, and gathered within the folds were numerous flowers, which fell into the crowd below when unfurled. The Mayor of Chicopee, the Overman Wheel Co. Band, and a large concourse of spectators witnessed the event. The flag is without advertising of any kind, being merely a national flag.

COL. POPE arrived in New York on Wednesday last, after a few months' absence in Europe. He made a "bee line" for Springfield, to attend the last day's racing. The Col. is looking hearty.

MR. F. R. GOODRICH, the member of the Elwell party who has written such interesting letters describing the tour, and which have been published in the WORLD, called at our office last Tuesday. He reports a glorious time.

E. H. COLGROVE of the Chicago Cycling Club and Frank Powen rode a century Sunday, September 6th. Leaving Chicago at six o'clock they reached Momence at 11 o'clock, Kankakee at 1 o'clock, and Joliet at 7.30, where three miles were ridden to complete the hundred. The roads were not very good.

SAYS "Jasper" of Buffalo, N. Y.: "I read the other day a letter in a Detroit daily, written by a wheelman, asking for less water upon the asphalted streets, so that cyclists might travel with less danger and more comfort. The same trouble exists here to a great extent, and those portions of Main street, above Chippewa street, might take their last 'flooding' about 4 P. M., thereby enabling the users of the wheel to have a dry passage after working hours. There is too much water used, and there is no necessity for it; if the streets were swept oftener, there would be less dust and fewer accidents from slipping, equally dangerous to wheelmen and horses."

A WOMAN who had dark blue eyes and professed to reside at Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, hired a bicycle of F. W. Aymar of that city on September 9th, and has not been seen since. She only wanted it for an hour. Mr. Aymar has notified the police. The machine is numbered 75,883 and is valued at $135.

REPEATED depredations and attacks on women and children have thoroughly aroused the residents in the outskirts of Bridgeport, Conn., and a young lady bicyclist has been the latest victim of their lawlessness. On the evening of September 9th, Miss Lillie Stegeman, a young lady who is employed at Langdon & Batchellor's in Bridgeport, and lives a few miles out in the country toward Fairfield, while returning home early in the evening was attacked by a rough looking stranger. Miss Stegeman was riding a bicycle. On the road she had passed a man who looked at her very sharply, but she did not think anything of it and rode along s owly. She had gone but a short distance when, glancing over her shoulder, she saw the man within a few feet of her running rapidly. Before she could start her wheel he had grabbed her around the waist. She struggled and fell from her wheel. In the fall, the hold of the tramp was broken, and he fell down a slight embankment at the side of the road, while Miss Stegeman fell from her wheel into the middle of the road. Before the man could recover Miss Stegeman drew a revolver she carried and fired one shot in the direction of where the tramp was. This was unexpected, and the man beat a hasty retreat, followed by another shot from the revolver in the hands of the young woman. Miss Stegeman was not further molested, and reached her home in safety. To-day she made a complaint to the authorities, and a move will be made to break up the gang. It is thought the tramps make their rendezvous in a cave in the woods in the Holland Hill district of the town.

M. BRUNNER, of the Ramblers Bicycle Club of Buffalo, is devoting most of his leisure time to "putting the shot" and to "hammer throwing."

SHERMAN KIMBELL and John Mason of the Illinois Cycling Club rode a century September 6th, from Chicago to Milwaukee. The former's time was 10 hours, the latter's, 9 hours and 30 minutes. They took the West road, which is eight miles longer than the East road.

THE Countess of Aberdeen rides a wheel.

THE Germans have caught the long distance racing fever. Just now they are contemplating a race from Dresden to Leipsic, on to Berlin and back again to Dresden, a distance of 500 miles.

SIX members of the Chicago Cycling Club started for a century September 6th. Four started back from Joliet to the club house. Three rode to Lincoln Park and back, thus completing the hundred. These were Chas. Thorne, H. P. Walden and J. S. Scheffner.

THE Baltimore cyclists are making extensive preparations for an illuminated parade, which is to take place this Saturday evening.

MR. NELSON BRADT is too modest. He claims to have invented a machine on which two miles a minute can be covered!!

CLARENCE MEAD, salesman at Geo. R. Bidwell & Co.'s, Chicago, has developed an unknown talent. His wheel recently disappeared from the store at the time of a burglary. A young man brought it in to have tires put on the next day. Clarence questioned him for a half hour and then followed him all over town to catch his accomplices. On returning to the store he found to his chagrin that a job had been put up on him by his fellow clerks. "Drinks and cigars."

THE following from our issue of two weeks ago: "Many of the brokers on Wall street, New York, mount their messengers on safeties. The innovation has proved a success." Some wag has been imposing on our credulity. Not only has the above alleged innovation not proved a success, but owing to the nature of the business and the conditions under which it is carried on, if any attempt were made to introduce the innovation, it would be foredoomed to failure and the innovator would be adjudged insane. There is not a single messenger in Wall street who mounts a bicycle during business hours, but on holidays and early in the morning children of the different janitors may be seen disporting themselves on safeties on the two or three blocks of asphalt about Wall street.

MRS. FRED MCEWEN is the second lady rider to successfully win a bar in the Century Road Club, Mrs H. F. Akin being the first. On September 6th Mr. and Mrs. McEwen rode from Elgin to Aurora twice, and twelve miles on the Elgin streets. Mrs. McEwen's ride was a plucky one on account of the poor weather.

R. H. GOODRICH, patentee of the Phaeton safeties, lost a $300 diamond pin at the Englewood on the Hill races, Chicago. This he had carried twenty-one years. Attending race meets is an expensive luxury to Mr. G.

WHEELING, W. VA., has a new bicycle club which was organized about three weeks ago under the name of the Wheeling Cyclers. It started out with nine charter members, has at present thirteen, with several new names under consideration. They have rented rooms on Thirty-third street, which they are fitting up for club purposes. They will be pleased to receive all local and visiting wheelmen; the outlook at present is very encouraging, so much so that the members are arranging for a series of hops during the winter months.

A CHICAGO policeman found a tricycle in an alley, and later found it had been stolen from Chas. F. Stokes and Co.'s Oakwood boulevard store. The thief being unable to dispose of it had abandoned the machine.

CENTURY riding has developed many new riders of much unknown ability in Chicago, notably K. F. Peterson of The Spooner, Peterson Co., A. D. Brewster of the Lincoln Club, Ed Canfield of the same club, Joseph Guinea, and most notable of all Chief Centurion Herrick of the Century Road Club who has ridden three centuries.

THE Jamaica Wheel Club was formed in Jamaica Plain, Mass., Wednesday evening, Sept. 9, at No. 1 Call street, starting with 18 members, and elected officers. The first run was Sunday, Sept. 13, starting from depot at 2.30 P. M. There are about 100 wheelmen in and around Jamaica Plain, and it is expected to have a club of 40 members before snow flies. All wishing to join can do so by addressing the Secretary, J. J. Summerville, at No. 1 Call street, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

THE Chicago Herald reports the particulars of the run made by Jay Goulds' special train of 350 miles in 400 minutes; and at one time the distance of 102 miles was made in the hour. The road over which these marvellous records were made was the Chicago and Northwestern.

HERMAN OSBORN of Detroit is taking his vacation on his pneumatic. He went to Saginaw Monday, and from there he rides to Lansing and back via Owasso and other towns. He expects to cover the 700 in seven days.

THE Detroit Wheelmen and the Business Men's Club, also of Detroit, are working to get a bicycle track on Belle Isle.

G. D. MOFFET broke the Chicago to Milwaukee record Sunday, September 6th, on a twenty-six pound machine. His time over the East road was 9.03, 57 minutes inside former record time.

SEVERAL miles of asphalt have been laid this summer in Detroit, and a number of streets are now being prepared for asphalt. Over a mile of fire brick has also been laid.

THE Detroit Wheelmen are looking up the club house matter, and now they are incorporated they expect to put up a modern club house down town.

THE Oak Park Cycling Club, Chicago, will occupy their magnificent new club house Oct. 1st. Their formal opening will occur in November.

CAPTAINS of clubs in the Western country should not let an opportunity slip by which recruits may be gained for the great annual century run of the Century Road Club, September 27, over the Chicago to Elgin to Aurora and return, course. Captains should report at an early date the number of men they will have in line. Unattached wheelmen will also be accorded a hearty welcome.

FREEPORT (Ill.) wheelmen can give Detroit cards and spades and beat her in the entertainment of visiting wheelmen. At the tournament Sept. 9th, the Chicago visitors and others as well were royally treated and, according to one who was there, "Chicago money was no good."

THE Rambling Wheelmen of Bridgeport, Conn., will hold their annual 15-mile road race on Sept. 15, at 3 P. M. on the outside road at Seaside Park. All of the fastest men in the club have entered; and there is likely to be some fast time made.

THE cyclers of Kalamazoo, Mich., have formed a club to be known as the Kalamazoo Cycling Club.

THE cyclists of St. Paul, Minn., had a lantern parade on the evening of Sept. 7th, and a spirit of inventive genius was manifested in the decorations, many of which were novel in the extreme. An exchange says: "The St. Paul Cycle Club received the first prize, $30, as the best organized club, and the Flour City Club, of Minneapolis, came in as second, to whom was awarded $20. Mrs. T. L. Bird was awarded $30 for being the most graceful lady rider, and Miss Steigen, of Hudson, Wis., carried off the second prize of $20. Adolph Giesen received $25 for having the best decorated wheel, and Miss Grace Andrews was awarded $25 for showing the best decorated wheel among the lady cyclists." Were cash prizes awarded? If so——?

"ONE of the most gratifying results of the recent organization of the wheelmen of our village," says the Fredonia (N. Y.) Censor, has been the almost entire diminution of the reckless riding on the sidewalks. The local club has taken the matter in hand in an energetic manner, giving the careless a word of advice, and it is thought that now there will be no more annoyance of that nature. So many of the club being business men it is safe to predict that the matter will be properly attended to in the future.

THE Associated Cycling Clubs of Philadelphia last Tuesday night decided to hold another Cycle Show next spring.

MR. AND MRS. KENNEDY-CHILD are being congratulated upon the birth of a pretty little blue eyed girl. Here's to you, Kennedy.

FOREIGN BICYCLISTS are very enthusiastic over the long ride of Charles Terront, who rode from Paris to Brest and return, a distance of 747 miles in 71 1-2 hours. He did not sleep during the ride, and his only refreshments were a few cups of bouillon.

WILLIAM SACHTLETER and Thomas Allen, the bicyclists who started from New York, and have been through Ireland and England on wheels, have traversed Europe. They passed through Stamboul, and then went on to Angora, Sivas and Erzeroum, and have now arrived at Tauris. A Tauris correspondent says they are going to Bokhara, via Teheran, Meshed and Samarcand.—Exchange.

THE Medford (Mass.) Cycle Club will take its annual dinner at Parker House, September 26.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

To the largest number of residents in our cities the rest of Sunday must ever be a relative one only. The assumption that one day of rest in seven is necessary to the preservation of bodily and mental health is no longer debatable. With this view of the case fixed in the public mind there must ensue a constantly decreasing opposition to the extension of rational, that is to say undisturbing, popular amusements, such as cycling. If Sunday, as it is, is the only day that the clerk, the man of business, or the bookkeeper, has at his disposal to spend as he pleases, who will say him nay when he chooses to use it in gaining health and strength on some pleasant trip awheel to supply those needed qualities for the six days of labor that follow. Wherever the rider may journey, if he violates no order, or interferes not with the liberty of others, it cannot be claimed that what he does is not proper to the day, and his conscience need not reproach him for seeking in God's sunlight and pure air health or recreation. It is the omission, not the commission of such an act that is criminal.

It seems strange to read that the professors of a Western college have forbidden the bringing of bicycles into the college grounds, claiming that the attraction of the wheel offsets any chance that books might otherwise have for the students. There is a puny sentiment abroad that the time that is devoted in colleges to the strengthening of the muscles might be turned to better account in improving the mind, and this is an outcome of it. This is not only puny sentiment, but is arrant nonsense. There is always a percentage of young men in every school and college who are not and who never will be intellectual. Cycling has done much for the physical welfare of the last decade; it has stimulated reading men to think more of their bodies, and the youth now growing up will be taller, deeper-chested and longer lived than their fathers, and the mission of physical regeneration that cycling has so completely filled during its short but brilliant life, will not be stayed or retarded in the least by any such attacks as these "moss-backs" have aimed at it. Did they but recognize the greatness and irresistible power of the avalanche they are trying to hold back, with the penny broom of pedagogic prejudice they would, I am sure, see the utter folly of their action, and if not at least endorsing cycling, would be content to air their disike of it only among their intimate acquaintances, where they would be sure to have an appreciative audience, which I do not think they can secure from an intelligent public.

Mr. G. P. Wilson of Baltimore certainly ought to look up a Mr. Forster of his city, who, in the earlier days of the L. A. W., started in on a somewhat similar crusade to the one Mr. Wilson is now engineering. He would make a splendid running mate for the modern reformer, and might give him a few points from his personal experiences that would prove of value to Mr. Wilson in his present ruction.

"Detroit is not Central Park. My dear 'Hawkshaw;' you don't know very much about the City of Straits, yclept Detroit." There is a world of wisdom in these remarks of yours, "Setagec." I do not know much about Detroit. My latest information from there is from some wheelmen who attended the L. A. W. meet in that city, and they echo your remark—"Detroit is not Central Park;" but be that as it may, it matters not. It was not my intention to read your city a lecture; I simply quoted the attitude of its wheelmen against a lamp and bell ordinance as a moral to adorn a tale. My remarks were intended to be general, not specific; but since you seem to consider them aimed only at Detroit, well—if the cap fits, then let it be worn. That it should be to the credit of a boy to speak in favor of a sensible lamp and bell ordinance is something for him to be proud of, and shows that he is clearer headed and more abreast of the times than his elders are, another example of: "Forth from the mouths of babes cometh wisdom." I thoroughly agree with President Bates, that light buggies should carry lamps, though it does seem rather paradoxical that a light buggy should require a light. I am even more sweeping in my ideas. I think every vehicle of whatever kind and description should by law be compelled to carry a lighted lamp after dark when abroad upon the public highways. Paris, the most enlightened and progressive city in the world, strictly enforces this law, even compelling a wheelbarrow, if trundled along the streets, to show a light. England, the home of wheeling, has such a law and enforces it, too. Surely Detroit is not yet greater than these two. I thank you for your kind invitation to come to Detroit and see horses broken to harness in the public streets, also to witness you kill some people in cold blood, but I fear neither exhibition would prepossess me in favor of the advisability of allowing wheelmen or other users of public roads to travel upon them in any way that endangers either their own or the lives of any of the users of the highway, and must therefore decline your very kind invitation.

If there be any value at all in long distance road races, it is in the proof of the advantages of the wheel over other methods of locomotion put into figures which impress the ordinary reader as no amount of technical or scientific reasoning could do. For instance, any one knows that it would be an exceptionally good pedestrian who could upon the road walk 150 miles in 54 1-2 hours, elapsed time, and yet the winner of the recent road race in France covered 745 miles within that time, and finished in no wise used up by his performance. If it is as often claimed that figures will not lie, then there is a vast deal of truthful testimony in this lot for the superiority of the bicycle over the pedestrian.

Times change and people change with them. Not quite thirteen years ago a student made his appearance upon the streets of Berlin mounted upon a bicycle, and was promptly mobbed for doing so. To-day the German Union of Bicyclists has 14,000 members. From a smaller acorn a larger oak never grew than the cycling one. "HAWKSHAW."

A FEW MORE NOTES OF THE HARTFORD MEET.

THE management was as usual excellent and the details were carefully looked after.

Mr. Marion is a bang-up announcer, and if he had only been instructed to announce the starters, it would have helped the reporters wonderfully.

The races were run on time, and the waits were short, owing to the efficient work of the clerk of the course and his assistants.

The usual small dog made its usual appearance on the track, and was howled at by the audience with all due vehemence. The poor little beast scampered down the track and hid itself with becoming dispatch.

Henry Goodman did some excellent handicapping. None of the handicaps were bad, and in several cases the work rose to the point of perfection.

The officials had little to do in the way of deciding protests.

We had the pleasure of meeting no less than six of our five hundred and twenty-five readers.

Merrill of the Springfield Union was on hand, and evinced the old-time enthusiasm in witnessing the events.

Worden is a man that should not be underrated. He has a way of surprising folks. If he would correct the bad habit of riding with his right leg only he would get much more speed out of his wheel.

Every courtesy was extended to the race officials, and in consequence the burden of their duties were lightened, and their stay in the "City of Insurance" made most pleasant.

The people of Hartford ought to have shown better appreciation of the wheel club's efforts by showing up twice the number at Charter Oak Park.

Tom Eck, the old-time professional war horse, was at Hartford working up interest in his great six days' professional race, to take place at New York next month.

Almost every cycling and sporting paper was represented by its editor at Hartford.

Githens is a good rider and a gentleman withal. In speed he is outclassed by nearly all the Eastern cracks.

Zimmerman is one of the pleasantest and bonniest lads that ever strode a wheel. He always looks happy and has a smile on his face. Come to think of it, why shouldn't he?

THE Pope Band rendered most excellent music during the meet, and was the means of adding greatly to the enjoyment of the tournament.

THE COLOR LINE IN THE LEAGUE.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: As I was primarily reponsible for the defeat of the proposal at the Hartford Convention, to insert the word "white" as a qualification for League membership, by pressing a motion to adjourn when its consideration was reached, I would like to say a word to remove the resentment which I was rather surprised to find afterward some of the Maryland delegates felt on the subject; as to which I had not supposed they really cared very much. In doing so, I may point out that I was born in Maryland myself, lived there long enough to cast more than one vote, married a Maryland girl, and still have interests in Maryland that take me down there every few weeks, so it can hardly be said that I speak in any ignorance of local sentiment. At the same time I know what some of the Maylanders hardly seemed to understand—that the languid attention given the matter by other delegations was due more to their considering it a revival of a dead issue than to their not having any positive convictions on the subject, and that they would never have consented to being forced to a step which most of them would have looked upon as committing the League to a political stand. This objection was left in as full force by the modified form of the amendment (making it a question of local option) as by the original one, the real point being that it was not a proper thing to inject any declaration in our Constitution that would place us before the public as concerned with a color line which the logic of events in the past generation has so largely wiped out. The League has grown so far out of the conception of a social organization, and is so well recognized in its true character of a big business concern to look after the interests of cycling, that the function of scrutinizing applications has been pretty well allowed to become obsolete, since we all know perfectly well that the mere fact of League membership by no means forces upon us association with any League members whom we prefer to avoid, but it is entirely within the option of Maryland members to resume the practice of this scrutiny. It is certainly entirely proper that residents of each locality shall have something to say as to what requirements are commonly accepted as defining the good standing which our Constitution already states that an applicant must possess in such locality; and in the case of a condition of public opinion which may make this definition a peculiar one, it is not conceivable that the Membership Committee will not give the Chief Consul of a Division all the facilities that he may require to examine into applications on such points. If the members of the Maryland Division are not willing to organize the machinery by which this may be done, as was intimated at Hartford, then the feeling amongst them cannot be so strong as has been imagined. Most probably they do not consider that possession of a League ticket is necessarily a passport to their personal acquaintance, and therefore don't after all care so much about it. But if they don't care enough for this, they certainly have no right to ask that the whole of the rest of the League shall submit to be labelled in a way which is positively distasteful to other sections, as was made quite evident by the conversation on the subject whenever it was disussed.

Yours truly, E. J. SHRIVER.

ELECTRICITY AS APPLIED TO THE CYCLE.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: The article by C. Percival in your issue of 4 September, commenting on a paragraph in the issue of 14 August, shows how at more or less regular intervals, we hear of the coming aluminum or electric wheel that is going to make the life of the ambitious, but lazy, wheelman easier.

Mr. Percival is evidently not an electrician, although he has a knowledge of some of the technical terms. He unfortunately does not state how much power he thinks should be applied to a safety to be of any practical help, otherwise I would be able to show the fallacy of this idea from his own figures.

I will therefore assume that a motor of 1-4 of a horse power would be large enough; this will weigh at least 50 pounds. The storage battery will, at the present time, weigh 215 pounds, switches and fittings one pound, making a total of 266 pounds.

The battery will run the motor for five hours at full power, or not quite so long if made to run slower, unless other appliances for controlling the current are added, which would again add to the weight. So, unless we have an aluminum wheel, battery and motor, I do not think that the demand for electric wheels will be very brisk. We cannot reduce the weight of the motor, as it requires at out so many pounds of iron and copper to develop a given power, and the lowest point in the weight of small motors has practically been reached, at any rate the saving could not be more than a few pounds. I consider the possibility of making wheels of aluminum to be a very nice thing to dream of, but nothing more, as the metal is very poor stuff to make anything of, it has little strength, is soft and, as yet, is difficult to work, being difficult to solder or braze, and apparently incapable of receiving a temper. It however can be plated on iron, and when polished will not readily tarnish. So that we must look to the battery for the reduction of the 266 pounds that the wheelman who needs a push must carry around with him in order to get the push.

No one knows when we will get a lighter storage battery; we constantly hear of new ones that are about to revolutionize the whole world,

SINGER CYCLES

A NEW PATTERN.

SINGER SAFETY, 1888 make, damaged in an accident, June, 1891.

The above is taken from a photograph of the machine sent to us by Messrs. JNO. HOWES & SONS, our Cambridge Agents, who remark: "Slightly damaged, nothing broken except a spoke or two. Rider unhurt."

An unsolicited Testimonial as to the material used in SINGER CYCLES.

but for some reason the revolution has been postponed each time. The recovery of power on down grades is also one of those delightful theories that engineers like to write papers upon and make columns of figures about, showing how that with a road all down hill it would cost less than nothing to run it, etc. But when it comes to the actual work of practice they are generally so busy getting a plain simple set of machinery to do the required work successfully, that all those little devices that were going to save every stray Dyne of energy are left in the draughting room to show to the capitalist, who knows more about the rise and fall of Union Pacific than he does about the operation of machinery. I almost forgot to state that as the wheel would have to carry a load of 266 pounds besides the rider, that it would have to be made heavier, probably 70 pounds.

Imagine the tourist with an auxiliary electric safety unexpectedly striking a level country after a long series of hills, up which he called upon his electric power to give him more than one push; imagine, I repeat, this tourist with his machine shop weighing 336 pounds, pumping along at a rattling (no joke) pace, replenishing the wasted energies of his battery, for he must put in one-half horse power in order to get one-quarter horse power out again.

Then again suppose he should fall, and get covered with the acid, and suppose something should break, or the armature of the motor burn out, and suppose—but I guess this is enough to show that the Auxiliary Electric Safety would be far ahead of the pneumatic tire as a producer of nervous prostration, "That tired feeling" and profanity.

Yours very truly, E. T. BIRDSALL.

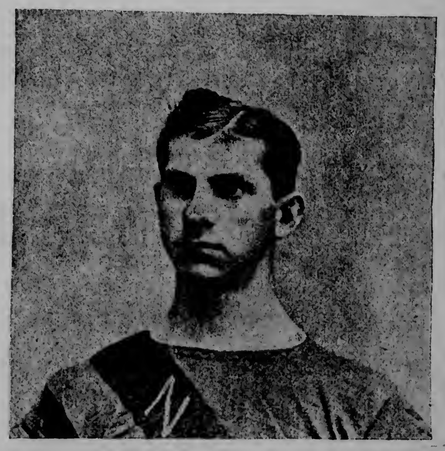
THE USE AND THE ABUSE.

EDITORS BICYCLING WORLD: In reference to "Hawkshaw" column on "riding to hell on a bicycle," I would like to call your attention to the Church At Home and Abroad for Sept. '91, page 221. Mr. Ayres writing from Japan says: "The roads are unusually good, so that the missionaries find bicycling the most comfortable and expeditious method of reaching outlying points. There are plenty of places where I can go on my machine and return after holding service in the evening." Page 222: "Last Lord's day I preached at the afternoon service in Yamaguchi church, beginning at 2 P. M., and then went to Mitajiri, thirteen miles distant, and preached at 7 P. M. * * * My bicycle makes the long trips possible. I could not do it in the slow 'jinrikisha,' and even a good horse would be far slower and, what is more remakable, more tiresome than my bicycle."



While men will forget the Sabbath and travel the broad road, we must not lay it to the machine but the men. It may be worth while to call attention to the use as well as the abuse of the bicycle.

Yours, L. A. W. 7323.

W. W. WINDLE.

W. W. WINDLE was born at Milbury, Mass., November 2, 1870. His first race was at Worcester, August 6, 1886. He has started in 77 scratch races, winning 68 firsts, 6 seconds and 3 thirds, a most wonderful record. He has started in 21 handicaps, taking 8 firsts and 2 seconds. In appearance he is rather undersized, though showing splendid development. He is a determined rider, and a square one withal. In manner he is very modest, and it is difficult to get him to talk of his achievements. Popular and gentlemanly, like his great rival Zimmerman, he is an ornament to the amateur ranks. He holds several records, the mile in competition, 2.23 2-5, being one of the most important.

A. A. ZIMMERMAN.

ARTHUR A. ZIMMERMAN was born at Camden, N. J., in 1869. His first appearance was at the Queens County (L. I.) races in 1888. He took to the Star as his mount, and on this machine has done work never equalled since the days of Webber. Last year he came particularly into prominence by beating W. W. Windle at Peoria, a feat which he duplicated and which at once stamped him as one of, if not the fastest ma America.

Mr. Zimmerman is simply a wonder in that he can ride race after first on a Star and then on a chain safety, and win right straight a His wonderful work at Springfield is recorded in this week's issu also at Hartford in last week's. In person and manner Mr. Zimmer most charming, and he is an honest, square, dyed-in-the-wool amateur and an honest rider. His only peer on the track to-day is Windle, and even that is doubted by many, who claim that if Zimmerman used better judgment and did not try to ride in so many races on two different styles of machines, that he would be invincible.

He met defeat at the hands of Windle on Friday last at Springfield, and it must be said in connection with this race that while Windle was a sick man Zimmerman had been riding hard races for four days in succession. Mr. Zimmerman is also a splendid all round athlete, and as a jumper he has a national reputation.

Numerous infringements in various forms have been put out by bicycle manufacturers, but the final settlement of the ownership of this valuable device has been decided in favor of the Overman Co. The persecution they have been compelled to withstand for the title of the invention shows the opinion of of the trade of the importance of it."

The 20-mile road race was the first event of the afternoon's racing, the following men starting: R. T. Donohue, Springfield, handicap, 9 minutes; F. B. Field, Wellesley, 9m.; C. R. Hilton, Springfield, 8m.; C. W. Willis, Springfield, 8m.; F. E. Battey, Newton, 7m.; F. Ryan, Springfield, 7m.; A. W. Olmstead, Springfield, 6m.; C. F. Seeley, New York, 6m.; F.J. McDuffee, Lynn, 5m.; G. B. Clark, Hartford, 4 1-2m.; J. Van Deusen, Jr., Philadelphia, 4m.; C. L. Bodfish, Chicopee, 4m.; E. J. Clark, Dorchester, 4m.; G. W. [illegible], Orange, 4m.; F. A. Wallace, Lynnfield, 4m.; A. W. Porter, Newton, 4m.; F. C. Hubbard, Springfield, 2 1-2m.; E. A. Weinig, Buffalo, 1m.; F. M. [illegible]man, Wilmington, scratch; W. Van Wagoner, Stamford; F. C. [illegible]s, Springfield; W. H. Penseyres, Buffalo; A. W. Palmer, Hamilton. [illegible]y one, or in groups the men rode out on the mile track and up over [illegible]ll at the north end of the park and out of sight toward Holyoke. [illegible]n started off at a stiff pace and disappeared one by one in a cloud [illegible], but before they had gone a mile Palmer, on his pneumatic safety, [illegible]rged off on a sharp clip and was never caught again. The course was across the North-end bridge and up the river road toward Holyoke to a turn, then back and around the track seven times. The explosion of two bombs announced that the road riders were returning, and at just 3.20 the first man came in sight. The rider was C. F. Seeley of New York, a six minute man. Close behind him came F. E. Battey, seven minutes, and then after a little space P. J. McDuffee of Lynn, who had five minutes' start. McDuffee had been for some time named as a winner by those who knew, and when he spurted by the grand stand in a determined way the crowd gave a cheer. Then the men came stringing on to the park, and finally in a little bunch of three the crowd saw its favorite, Graves. He was evidently dogging Van Wagoner, who towered up before him on his pneumatic. Palmer, however, was nearly a lap ahead of them, and they could not overtake him, and although he kept gaining on McDuffee and Battey the end, they were too far ahead, and he had to content himself with third place and the time prize. Result: P. J. McDuffee, 5m. first, time 21.00 3-5; Frank E. Battey, 7m., second; A. W. Palmer, scratch, third; C. Graves, scratch, fourth; W. Van Wagoner, scratch, fifth. Palmer's time was 1.04.19.

One mile novice, safety—Eleven starters. Warner started out with a decided lead, which he held to the three-quarter pole, when Hatch came on with a rush, taking first place. W. C. Hatch, first; E. L. Warner, second; E. A. Nelson, third. Time, quarter, .41 2-5; half, 1.22 1-5; three-quarters, 1.59 1-5; mile, 2.37 4-5.

Final, quarter-mile safety, flying start—This brought together Zimmerman, Murphy, Rich, Anthony and Taylor. Taylor started out with the lead and kept it till within a few feet of the finish, when Zimmerman, with one of his splendid bursts of speed, pushed by him just in time to avoid defeat. Time 32 3-5 seconds. A. A. Zimmerman, first; G. H. Taylor, second; A. B. Rich, third; W. F. Murphy, fourth.

Two mile ordinary, handicap, open—Twelve men lined up for the race, but W. W. Taxis did not get started in time, and so did not race. The handicap was too heavy for Githens, who did not make it half up in the two miles. As they rounded the upper turn for the last time, C. M. Murphy, 50 yards, pulled away from the bunch and won with extreme ease in 5.12 3-5. Githens finished in 5.32. The summary: C. M. Murphy, 90 yards, first; J. W. Robinson, 110 yards, second; J. H. Draper, 180 yards, third. Time, quarter, 40; half, 1.19; mile, 2.43; two miles, 5.12 3-5.

Half-mile safety, handicap, open—The audience was bent on Hendee's winning, this being his first appearance, and just before the quarter there was a cry of "Look at Hendee." But Hendee was not to have a place. Slowly and surely Zimmerman caught up with the leaders. At the last turn he was in the front bunch, and half way down the stretch he broke away from the crowd and rushed in over the tape alone. Again Taylor, who had 35 yards' handicap, distinguished himself by taking a close second. Zimmerman lowered the world's record for a half-mile by 4-5 of a second, having made it in 1.06 4-5. A. A. Zimmerman, scratch, first; G. F. Taylor, 35 yards, second; G. M. Worden, 15 yards, third. Time: first quarter, 35 2-5; second quarter, 31 2-5; half, 1.06 4-5.

One-mile safety, 2.50 class—Twelve starters. Schoefer set out with a warm pace, which he held until near the quarter, when Bilyeu caught the lead. In the finishing spurt Haradon beating Quinn out, taking first place. W. M. Haradon, first; G. E. Quinn, second; J. W. Shoefer, third. Time: quarter, 39 2-5; half, 1.15 2-5; three-quarters, 1.55 3-5; mile, 2.33 2-5.

One-mile ordinary, open—Eight men. The crowd was pleased to consider this a loaf, hissing the men as they came on the last lap, the racing not beginning until the final quarter. Taxis followed Zimmerman at the tape, and Robertson and Githens were tied for third place, the former coming up even by a final rush. A. A. Zimmerman, first; W. W. Taxis, second; J. W. Robertson (tied with H. A. Githens, but won on run off), third. Time: quarter, .48; half, 1.38; three-quarters, 2.25; mile, 2.59 2-5.

Here followed an intermission, during which Canary gave one of his wonderful exhibitions, the applause bringing down the house.

One-mile safety, handicap, open—Nineteen men got off in this, who rode from the word go, Zimmerman hurrying to catch the limit men. The brisk pace was kept up to the half where the men were well bunched. Between mile half and three-quarters, however, C. L. Sage of Hartford caught his wheel in that of the man before him, and went down at the outside of the track. The six men immediately behind him pitched over him. Zimmerman was thrown on the fence, which bruised his chest somewhat, but he was not seriously injured. Rich, however, who followed, was stunned for a moment by being hit in the head by the wheel of the rider following him and had to be carried to the dressing-room. Almost by a miracle all of the riders escaped serious injury. George M. Hendee, who had 75 yards, finished first amid the cheers of the spectators. His time was 2.19 2-5, which gives an idea of what might have been done if the scratch man had finished. The summary:

G. M. Hendee, 75 yards, first; H. B. Arnold, 75 yards, second; C. W. Dorntge, 40 yards, third. Time: quarter, 37; half, 1.11; three-quarters, 1.45; mile, 2.19 2-5.

Half-mile ordinary, open—Seven men were in this, Servis making the pace and getting quite a lead on the crowd, only to be headed on the last turn, where Zimmerman spurted in ahead winning, hands down. Taxis was pocketed at the corner and could not get out. A. A. Zimmerman, first; J. W. Robertson, second; H. A. Githens, third. Time: first quarter, 42 2-5; second, 35; half, 1.17 2-5.

One-mile tandem, open—W. D. Banker and F. M. Brinker, of Buffalo, started on a pneumatic tandem, with J. H. Draper and L. Geyler on a cushion, the former being looked upon as sure winners. The Buffalonians went off at a hot pace with the Philadelphia team hanging at their rear wheel, and it soon became evident that the men were riding in record time, the quarter, half, and the three-quarters being world's records, as also was the mile in competition. As they came round into the straight for the last time, Draper and Geyler answered the others' spurt, held them for a moment, passed them, and rushed in, the winners by twenty yards, creating a new world's record in competition. Draper and Geyler, first; Banker and Brinker, second. Time: quarter, 37 2-5; half, 1.11 3-5; three-quarters, 1.49 3-5; mile, 2.28 2-5.

In the run off of the tie between Githens and Robertson; the latter allowed Githens the lead until the three-quarters was reached, the pace to that time being very slow. At this point, however, the final spurt began and the men were coming around the last turn close together, when Githens's foot slipped from the pedal and he was forced to sit up, Robertson getting over first by 30 yards.

The crowd showed their interest in the programme by waiting to see the announced trials of Berlo and Zimmerman to lower the mile record. It was too much to expect of the men, however, after their hard day's work, and the record was not approached. Zimmerman made his trial immediately afterward with even worse luck, making the mile in 2.24. Windle came out as one of his pace-makers, and was heartily cheered. The fact was that Zimmerman had ridden too much before to make a record.

THE FIREWORKS.

A crowd of about 2500 assembled on Hampden Park to see the fireworks, and the display was worthy of a larger audience. The Republican has the following description:

"The festivities were ushered in by batteries of bombs, some of which in disseminating themselves, created a commotion as far away as Pecowsic. Then came an illumination by means of prismatic lights, suspended over the set pieces. This halo changed in complexion, and ended by tinting the enclosure crimson, thus taking the job off the wheelmen's hands. Later came golden rain (no infringement on Jerry Rusk's patent), Japanese thunder showers and chain lights that were slow to lose their gilded charm. Next came the bands of Orion with a revolving sun, amid which appeared broad bands of colored fires, and then came along more snakes than a man could possibly see for 25 cents in any other way. Quickly following came the protean revels, and afterward a star composed of amethyst, ruby and emerald jets, which gave way to golden fountains and scintillating geysers spouting sparks. The kaleidoscope with its countless circlets was a noteworthy piece, as were the magic rings which terminated in willow trees dripping with radiant spray and mists of silver. The fairies' frolic began with a centre of Chinese fires, which shifted into turning spirals of golden lance work, introducing curious evolutions. Waterspouts, silver streamers and Japanese spiders then chased themselves about in turn, retiring in favor of a flaming bicycle. 'Brother Jonathan' was shown by a wheel and finally took a header in the most natural fashion. A gorgeous set piece, bearing the words 'Springfield Bicycle Club,' ended the display with a golden glory."

SECOND DAY.

Springfield was certainly born under a lucky star, the weather continuing fair as the dawn of a June morning—ideal weather for record breaking. The time for the morning trial heats had been placed for 9.30, but it was fairly 10 o'clock when the bell called the first race up.

One-mile safety, 2.40 class, first heat.—First three in final. Six starters. Worden started in this heat, but did not get a place, finishing fourth. E. A. McDuffee, first; W. M. Haradon, second; Geo. F. Taylor, third. Time 2.52.

Second heat—Six starters. C. W. Dorntge, first; A. W. Palmer, second; H. J. Hall, Jr., third. Time 2.47 1-5.

Third heat—Six starters. F. C. Graves, first; C. M. Murphy, second; W. M. Carman, third. Time 2.42.

Half-mile safety, open—First four in first heat. Six starters. W. W. Taxis, first; P. J. Berlo, second; Geo. M. Hendee, third; G. M. Worden, fourth. Time 1.19 3-5.

Second heat—A. A. Zimmerman, first; A. B. Rich, second; C. W. Dorntge, third; H. C. Tyler, fourth. Time 1.20 2-5.

Third heat—W. W. Windle, first; Hoyland Smith, second; W. M. Carman, third; F. M. Brinker, fourth.

Half-mile safety, 1.20 class. First five men in final from each heat.

First heat—Seven starters. Geo. F. Taylor, first; F. M. Brinker, second; J. C. Donnelly, third; J. Van Benschoten, fourth; W. M. Haradon, fifth. Time 1.25 1-5.

Second heat—Ten starters. F. C. Graves, first; W. H. Penseyres, second; F. R. Fuller, third; D. Connelly and F. Herman, dead heat, fourth and fifth. Time 1.13.

One mile safety, world's record. First heat—first three in final. This was the preliminary canter of the great event of the meet, the prize being the $1000 Haines piano, offered by Taylor's Music House.

First heat—Murphy, Berlo, Worden and Banker started. Banker led at the half, Berlo starting out on the back stretch. Coming around the upper turn Worden spurted, holding first to the finish, Berlo right up; Murphy third. G. M. Worden, first; P. J. Berlo, second; W. F. Murphy, third. Time 3.04.

Second heat—First four in final. Zimmerman, Hendee and Graves were among the seven starters. At the half McDuffee led, followed by Zimmerman and Anthony, the latter shooting out on the upper turn. Swinging around into the finish Graves led with Zimmerman at his heels, the latter beating him on the tape. Two hundred yards from home Anthony had a bad fall, injuring himself quite severely. A. A. Zimmerman, first; F. C. Graves, second; E. A. McDuffee, third; C. W. Dorntge, fourth. Time 2.49.

Third heat—Windle, Rich, Hoyland Smith, Taxis and Taylor were the cracks in this. At the start Bilyeu shot out at a tremendous gait, securing a 100 yard lead on the field at the one half mile, but he could not hold it. W. W. Windle, first; H. Smith, second; A. B. Rich, third; G. F. Taylor, fourth. Time 2.36.

AFTERNOON RACES.

As early as 12 o'clock vast throngs of people were wending their way towards Hampden Park. Many of the stores suspended business at one o'clock, and the trains brought in hundreds from the neighboring towns and cities, Hartford sending up a large delegation. The hackmen did a thriving business, and the free 'buses generously provided by the Warwick Cycle Company were kept busily plying between the centre of the city and the park. Lieut. Gov. Haile, Adjutant General Dalton, Colonel Pope, and other distinguished guests went early to the Park, and were assigned seats in the private stand. The Overman Band discoursing fine music, the strings of flags stretched over the track at the tape waving lazily in the gentle breeze, the brilliant sunshine, and the magnificent crowd, were all important factors in infusing enthusiasm into the very air at 20,000, but a more conservative and no doubt correct estimate placed the figures at 14,000 to 15,000. The statement that Windle would be present to dispute the premiership of the race track with Zimmerman in the great one-mile race stimulated the interest to white heat, and we are sorry to report that thousands of dollars changed hands on the result. In a single case we heard of one man who lost $1400. It was to the fact that so much money changed hands that I ascribe the intense feeling shown by certain of the crowd on the decision of Referee Bull that the race be given to Windle. That the decision was in accordance with the rules, the following clause taken from track rule 23:

"The referee may place a time limit on any race. The time limit shall not be announced to the contestants until their arrival at the tape preparatory to the start of the race. If the competitors finish within the limit they shall receive the prizes. If they fail to so finish, and the referee is convinced by their riding and the time made that they endeavored to reach the limit, he may award the prizes. * * "
(Italics mine.)

Will any one who saw that race question the fact that the men "endeavored to reach the limit?" Referee Bull's decision was right, and I miss my guess if the cycling and sporting press do not practically unanimously endorse him.

The crowd present, with the exception of on the occasion of the one-mile record race, was unbiassed, and it applauded liberally all the favorites as they appeared. The races were started on the dot, and with one exception were run off without any delay.

One-mile ordinary, novice—Five starters. At the half four men were closely bunched. At the lower turn Rumrill spurted, getting a lead of ten yards, which, however, he could not hold, Landry out-running him at the finish. F. A. Landry, first; M. J. Rumrill, second; E. B. Smith, third. Time 2.50 4-5. Quarters, 43 2-5; 1.25 2-5; 2.10 1-5; 2.50 4 5.

Quarter-mile ordinary, open—Nine men started; run in two heats. First two in final.

First heat—Five men. W. W. Taxis, first; C. M. Murphy, second; H. E. Bidwell, third. Time 37 3-5.

Second heat—Four starters. A. A. Zimmerman, first; H. A. Githens, second; F. T. Servis, third. Time 38 1-5.

One mile safety, 2.40 class. Time limit of 2.50. Nine starters.—At the half Taylor and Graves led; the men going at a lively clip. It was a pretty race for tape, Dorntge still leading and winning by a length, Graves pushing him hard. C. W. Dorntge, first; F. C. Graves, second; C. M. Murphy, third. Time, 2.36 4-5.

Half mile safety, open, final heat—This was one of the races of the day, Zimmerman and Windle meeting. As the two came down the stretch to start, they were both applauded, but it remained for George M. Hendee to enthuse the crowd; he was cheered to the echo. At the pistol Berlo took pole and raced Hendee and Taxis right back, with Windle and Worden riding in the middle. At the turn they all spurted, and as they swung around the corner Zimmerman took first, winning by a length from Berlo, although Windle, who waited too long, made desperate efforts to overhaul the leaders, being beaten out by Berlo by six inches. A. A. Zimmerman, first; P. J. Berlo, second; W. W. Windle, third. Time, 1.13 1-5.

D. J. Canary then gave an exhibition of fancy riding, repeating the programme of yesterday, and adding a few new tricks to the delight of the crowd.

Two mile tandem, handicap, open—Draper and Geyler of Philadelphia, who won the tandem, open, yesterday, were not able to ride in this, their machine having broken during the contest yesterday. There were but three starters, Banker and Brinker being scratch men, Donnelly and Bilyeu of Philadelphia being at 125 yards, Hartford team at 220. The Philadelphians spurted too soon, doing themselves up, and in consequence they lost ground on the third lap and were passed by the Buffalonians on the last half. The leaders, however, could not close up on the Hartford men, but they broke the world's record in making their efforts. F. R. Fuller and F. Herman, Hartford, 220 yards, first; F. M. Brinker and W. D. Banker, Buffalo A. C., second. Time, 5.04 2-5. Scratch time, 5.09 3-5. quarters, 39 4-5, 1.15 2-5, 2.32 2-5.

One mile safety, world's record—Starters, Graves, Smith, Berlo, Rich, Worden, Windle, Zimmerman, Taylor, Dorntge, Murphy and McDuffee. The referee declared a time limit of 2.23 2-5. A great hum of voices indicated the suppressed excitement of the crowd as the men lined up, which burst into a perfect whirlwind of cheers as the men swept along at a pace that promised to bring the winner under the wire within the limit. As they rushed over the mark on the first, and 1.10 4-5 was checked, the people just howled themselves wild, and when they flew round the turn for the finish, all in a bunch, the excitement was never surpassed on Hampden Park, and that's saying a lot.

At the first quarter Taylor led, getting 30 feet away from his field. At the half Taylor again led, but dropped out on making the turn, having gone for the half mile, Dorntge taking lead at this point. He, however, was run off his legs and dropped out, leaving the race to the giants. As they lined up swinging around the turn into the straight, Windle was a trifle in the rear, Berlo leading at the pole, with Zimmerman coming at his wheel. The crowd went simply crazy, shouting and cheering until the din was simply awful, but amidst it all came the darting wheel of Berlo, nearly a length ahead, Zimmerman sparting desperately attempted to rush in, Millbury lad was equal to the occasion; swinging on the outside, he made the effort of his life, and catching Berlo literally at the finish, captured first by inches, getting 1-5 of a second inside of the limit. The referee, as was clearly proper, declared it a race, and although the crowd hissed vigorously, it went. W. W. Windle, Berkeley A. C., first; P. J. Berlo, M. C., third. Time, 2.23 3-5. Quarters, 35 2-5, won by G. F. Taylor; 1.10 4-5, won by C. W. Dorntge; 2.23 3-5, won by W. W. Windle.

One mile ordinary, handicap, open—Taxis and Githens were practically scratch men, starting from the 50 yard mark with no one behind them; they closed up with the field at the half, improving their position all the way around. At the lower turn Taxis and Githens came up even, but the narrowness of the track prevented their getting through and Githens captured third, with Taxis shooting out in the crowd. J. W. Robertson, Taunton, 75 yards, first; L. Forster, 140 yards, second; H. A. Githens, Chicago, 50 yards, third. Time, 2.26 4-5.

One mile safety, handicap, closed—Seven starters; Harradon and Graves on scratch, who rode for all they were worth, passing their men on the last turn. Graves won in a canter by 30 yards, Haradon three lengths ahead of Nelson. F. C. Graves, Springfield, scratch, first; Haradon, scratch, second; Edward A. Nelson, Springfield, 40 yards, third. Time, 2.29 1-5.

Half mile safety, 1.20, closed—Ten men started; Graves and Haradon just through from the last race, being among the number, Graves being second mat the finish; start, with Taylor ahead, who won by four lengths. George F. Taylor, first; F. C. Graves, second; W. H. Penseyres, third. Time, 1.11 2-5.

Run off quarter mile ordinary, open—The four winners of the two heats previous started. Coming into the straight, Taxis led, Zimmerman next, Githens third, Zimmerman getting in his spurt 50 yards from the finish and crossing the tape half a wheel ahead of Taxis, who was a length ahead of Githens. Time, 37 4-5.

Messrs. Banker and Brinker now made an attempt of the mile tandem record. Penseyres started the pace, going to the quarter with them, when they were picked up by Dorntge, who came around to the quarter again, when Merrill got them, bringing them into the finish. Time 2.27 1-5, breaking yesterday's record, but not breaking the world's record, which is 2.27. Quarters, 38 2-5, 1.13 3-5, 1.49, 2.27 1-5.

One mile consolation—Fourteen safety riders started in this. E. A. McDuffee, Lynn, first; F. T. Servis, Rochester, second; F. J. Hudson, Hartford, third; H. J. Pote, Lynn, fourth; J. Van Benschoten, Poughkeepsie, fifth. Time, 2.36 3-5.

"ARIEL."

NOTES.

Springfield, here's looking at you.

We wish to tender our grateful acknowledgement for the many courtesies extended the representatives of the WORLD by the Springfield Club, and especially do we wish to mention Messrs. Miller and Drown, who were tireless in their efforts and attentions. The two days we passed in Springfield last week will remain a happy memory for all time to come.

Palmer of Hamilton, Ont., is a hummer; any man that can do up Van Wagoner on the road is a good man. This is just what the Canadian did, and the foreigner's performance was a justly popular one. Palmer also did some splendid work on the track. The less said about that road race the better. It was awfully mixed.

A. H. Overman and Mr. Spalding were interested spectators from one of the grand stand boxes.

We have to thank President Brewer and others of the Warwick Cycle Co. for courtesies and hospitalities shown us during our stay in Springfield. The musicale we attended on the invitation of Mr. Brewer was one of the pleasantest incidents of the meet.

By the way that "Ghost" racer of the Warwick Co. was the machine that attracted most comment both at Hartford and Springfield. The comments were all most favorable, too.

The policing of the track was simply perfect, and the way the starters were hustled off the track was another evidence that the management meant business.

After "the great race" Windle and Zimmerman shook hands, as a public evidence of the cordial relations existing between the two men.

During the uproar resulting from the decision of Referee Bull in the one mile record race one wild man yelled; "its swindle, its swindle!!" "No" quoth a bright newspaper man, "its Windle!"

Col. Pope occupied a seat in the private stand with "Royalty" (i. e.), the Lieutenant Governor and Staff.

We were sorry to hear of the serious illness of Sanford Lawton. He was down for one of the judges, but he was unable to attend, being confined to his bed.

Old man Tom Eck was on hand, and his presence on the track made it seem more than ever like old times.

None of the flyers went to Providence. Windle went home to recuperate, and the others went on to Philadelphia to take part in the races on Saturday.

That was quite an idea of the Warwick Cycle Co., running free 'busses to and from the park.

R. G. Betts, with the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co., was in attendance both at Hartford and Springfield.

Lon Peck as a starter is certainly a huge success.

Windle went home from Hartford down sick with a terrible sore throat, and his coming to Springfield was a notable piece of pluck.

The appearance of the Millbury boys on the track with brooms and horns after the one-mile record race was the signal of a perfect storm of mingled cheers and hisses.

The one fizzle of the meet was the road race. The men have not stopped protesting yet.

Another bad break was that made in the handicap two-miles race, when Githens went back to scratch instead of staying on his mark as the others did.

Hendee still occupies a warm corner in the heart of the Springfield men.

That green Canary is a rare bird on a bicycle.

President D. E. Miller of the Springfield Club has established for himself a name as a general manager of tournaments second to none. He is a genial gentleman and a business man from the ground up.

The Bridgeport Club was one of the liveliest organizations in town. Every one knew when the Bridgeports were on the move.

Where was the star badge of the oldest club in America? and where was the Massachusetts coat of arms which is the badge of another of Boston clubs? Alas, the days of the old Boston Club and the Massachusetts Club are practically numbered.

Did you get a corn cob pipe from the Overman Wheel Co.? Not only did that company furnish pipes but good tobacco also. We saw several juvenile looking males who, after smoking as though they were used to it, suddenly lost all interest in racing and all other mundane affairs.

EXTRA RACING AT PEORIA.

WE received the following dispatch from Peoria, Tuesday last: "Please announce that there will be an invitation race Tuesday, September 22, for a five hundred dollar Chicago lot, donated by Brown, Page & Hillman Company, agents Kroeger and Sons' Pianos. This in addition to invitation race Monday. H. G. ROUSE."

BOSTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ROAD RACE.

THE entries for this race are still coming in, and the arrangements are well under way. For particulars see page 678 this issue.

THE LINCOLN'S CENTURY.

SUNDAY, Sept. 6th, the Lincoln Cycling Club's annual souvenir century run occurred. The Elgin-Aurora and return course as in former years was the course. The following gentlemen finished. Thirty-five started, 31 finished. Phil Chase, who had not ridden for a month, gave out; F. E. Crouse's rear wheel gave out; C. A. Servors' valve on his pneumatic gave out; and Charlie Vogt's tire exploded. These four, three for very excellent reasons, were all who dropped by the wayside. AT SACO, ME.—Last Saturday, September 12, the Maine Division held a race meet. The State mile record was forced down to 2.54 by Jno. G. Lawrence of Saco. Results as follows:

Half-mile novice, ordinary—Heats. H. B. Hart, Portland, first; C. F. Merriman, Portland, second; E. D. R. Morrill, Portland, third. Time 1.32 1-2, 1.39.

Half-mile novice, safety—Heats. L. G. Gibson, Portland, first; J. F. Dean, Portland, second; W. W. Jordan, Portland, third and fourth. Time 1.28 1-4, 1.25.

In the mile State championship ordinary, Berry, the York County Wheelmen's champion, took it easy and let the other two, Tobie and Scully, lead him until the last quarter, when he bent down on the handles and made a beautiful spurt for the finish, crossing the tape several yards ahead.

One mile State championship, ordinary—A. G. Berry, Saco, first; W. E. Tobie, Portland, second; E. J. Scully, Portland, third. Time 3.05 3-5.

In the one mile State championship safety, both the Portland men took Lawrence by turns and tried to tire him by spurting, but although both of them lead him at the half, and again at the three-quarters, he made a wonderful spurt coming down the stretch and was a good first, Liscomb at the same time spurting past Brown. The time for the last half was 1.24.

One-mile State championship safety—John G. Lawrence, Saco, first; F. M. Liscomb, Portland, second; Frank M. Brown, Portland, third. Time 2.54. Maine State record.

One-mile open ordinary—Heats. H. D. Hart, Portland, first; W. E. Tobie, Portland, second; E. J. Sculley, Portland, third. Time 3.21 1-4; 3.30 3-4.

The mile open safety had only two contestants, Brown and Liscomb.

One-mile open safety—Heats. F. M. Brown, Portland, first and third heats; F. M. Liscomb, Portland, second heat. Time 3.00 1-2; 2.57 1-4; 3.20 1-2.

One-quarter mile, safety—F. M. Brown, Portland, first; L. C. Gilson, Portland, second; W. W. Tarbox, Saco, third; G. H. Emery, Kennebunkport, fourth. Time 40 seconds.

The team race was contested by three clubs: the Portland Wheel Club, the Saco Cycle Club, and the York County Wheelmen. L. C. Gilson and W. W. Jordan were the Portland team; John G. Lawrence and Albert S. Boothby represented the Saco Cycle Club, and W. W. Tarbox and Fred Cobb rode for the Wheelmen.

The race was a two-mile one, and points were counted at each half mile, the first man at each half getting six points and the second one, five. Gilson took the lead at once and kept it throughout the race. Lawrence was second on each lap; Tarbox and Boothby fought for third position; and Fred Cobb tailed the procession for the whole race. The Saco Cycle Club won with 34 points; the Portland Club got second with 32 points; and the Wheelmen had to be satisfied with 18.

AT BUFFALO, N. Y.—The sixth and last of The Wanderers' series of club races took place on Labor Day. It was a 25-mile handicap road race, and because of the handicap was very interesting, attracting considerable attention from outside wheelmen. The course was from Pine Hill, through Bowmansville to Mill Grove, 12 1-2 miles, and return. This highway has a few grades, considerable gravel and some sand, so there was no attempt at making any remarkable time. The following is a summary of the race. There were six entries, but only four went in. Gus. G. Buse, scratch; Will Buse, 5m.; J. H. Christian, ordinary, 8m.; Will H. Beier, pneumatic safety, 20m. These handicaps were arranged some time before the race, and it was not known that Beier was going to get a pneumatic safety, as he generally rides an ordinary; but as it had been arranged that "the contestants might use what mounts they pleased," there was no use objecting. Beier came in first; time, 1h. 50m. 30s.; Will Buse was second; time, 1h. 47m. 30s.; Gus. G. Buse finished third; time 1h. 45m. 45s. Both the Buse's tried hard to gain on Beier, but could not, as the handicap was too much for them. The following is the time taken by the checkers:

	Start.	Bowmansville.	Mill Grove.	Bowmansville.	Finish.
Beier,	3.00	3.21	3.50	4.24	4.50 1-2
W. Buse,	3.15	3.35	4.03	4.34	5.02 1-2
G. Buse,	3.20	3.41	4.09	4.40	5.05 1-2

There were three silver badges. No time trophy. "JASPER."

PROVIDENCE, September 12.—The races of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, postponed from September 5, were held this day. None of the flyers appeared and the meet was disappointing. The grand stand was pleased to see local favorites carry off the prizes, but the meet lacked the "go" which the fast men always give to an affair of this kind. Canary was down for an exhibition, but he did not appear. Following is a summary:

Koerner having fouled a rider on the fourth lap, the race was given to Minor. Time, 10.35. The track was hard but very rough.

AT GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—Labor Day, was the scene of merry making in Grand Rapids. We had a general good time with a big parade independent of the regular parade, which had too many conditions in its invitation. Besides the parade we had races and banquet at North Park; everything passed off without a hitch in any respect, except that a few thought that the prize for fancy and trick riding was given the wrong man, but the judges were three men that knew what they were about. The races were as follows: First, a half-mile safety, won by Wm. Liefingwell, with F. N. Hyman tight on to him. Time 1.37.

Second was a one mile ordinary—Won by Geo. Chase in 3.17 1-5, with Chas. Richmond, second.

Third was a three mile handicap—Won by Wm. Liefingwell, with A. H. Apted a very close second; both were scratch men. Time 10.35.

The fourth was a 200 yard slow race—Won in the remarkable fast time of 5.45 by Geo. Chase, he being the only man to finish.

After this came the fancy and trick riding, Chas. Matheson carrying off the prize.

Then everybody adjourned to the Pavilion where a banquet was in waiting. Toasts and responses were well taken care of. "ROVER."

AT PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Oxford Wheelmen ran their 5-mile handicap road race September 7, and much dissatisfaction was shown in consequence of a laxity in the timing. Hunter, 1 minute; J. Heath, 3 minutes; E. Schmidt, 1.30; C. Uhler, 1 minute; Martin Stoltz, 3 minutes; Louis Wagner, scratch; W. Heath, 3 minutes; Charles Haag, 4 minutes; F. Garrigues, scratch; D. He revives the old times when he appeared at Hingham and when he raced at the Exhibition Building on Huntington avenue. It is to be hoped that Jack will appear at the great 6 days' race at Madison Square Garden, New York, next month.

M. Limit 50 minutes. The annual run of the club will occur on Sunday, 27th inst., over the Elgin-Aurora course.

This time was duplicated after by G. M. Worden and J. W. Shoefer.

Two miles in competition—A. B. Rich, 5.11 1-5.

THE Moffat Safety, Model B, weight 34 pounds, is one of the liveliest selling machines on the Chicago market. Hundreds of them are in use, and in every race in which a Moffat machine is ridden, it is sure to come to the front, usually a winner.

THE Coventry Machinists' Co. supply a neat pneumatic tool bag, which will doubtless meet with a large sale, for $1.50.

SWIFT pneumatic tired and cushion tired safeties are favorites now with the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago. Nearly one-third of the riders on that club's recent century ride rode Swifts, and not an accident resulted.

CHARLIE CUTTING won a gold mounted pneumatic tired Humber safety in the five-mile handicap race at Englewood-on-the-Hills, Chicago. For this he received a lot in trade, located in a prominent sub-division. Thus may his prize increase in value.

AT Springfield races, Mr. G. M. Hendee rode a Swift pneumatic racer.

HARRY DRULLARD, of the Press Cycle Club, who has been for the past two seasons a salesman with J. C. and G. B. Sweet, the Victor agents, will go into business for himself as a builder, about the first of the coming month.

THE diamond prize fob charm presented to W. F. Murphy, the amateur champion of America, by the Columbia Bicycle Club of Hartford, Conn., has just been finished. It was made by John Harriott of 3 Winter street, Boston, and is a splendid specimen of work. The medal commemorates the one-mile record in competition, won by Mr. Murphy at Hartford, July 4.

WARWICK CYCLE MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

As an evidence of the stability of the cycling industry, we are glad to present to our readers, an illustration and description of the Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co.'s factory, now in course of construction which, when completed, will be one of the most extensive and perfect cycle plants in the world, together with a brief record of the Corporations that have made the term "Built on Honor" a guarantee of high class work wherever cycles are used.

The Corporation was organized in April, 1888, with small capital, its titular founder and first president being Mr. Geo. T. Warwick, whose family name is a household word wherever cycles are built, and in October Mr. A. Kennedy-Child associated himself with the Company as General Agent.

The first wheels were of the Ordinary pattern, but they embraced so many points of exceeding value to riders that their introduction was eagerly looked for by the trade. The Ordinary was speedily followed by a Safety Wheel constructed on lines of marked originality, it being the pioneer of the now popular Combination which cannot now be made nearly fast enough to supply the demand.

In September, 1889, the demand for Warwick Perfection Cycles reached such an extent that it became necessary to call in large capital and extend the plant. Many very flattering offers were made by enterprising Western cities for the growing industry, but the sound judgment of local capitalists induced them to undertake the organization of the corporation.

Messrs. Brewer, Chamberlain, Wallace, Bill, Russell, and Myrick, all representative business men of Springfield, secured the controlling interest, and immediately paid in additional money, making a full paid up capital of $100,000, choosing Mr. E. S. Brewer, President; Mr. Geo. D. Chamberlain, Treasurer and Business Manager; Mr. Geo. T. Warwick, Mechanical Engineer; and A. Kennedy-Child, General Agent, with instructions to vigorously exploit the business.

How well they have executed their commission is a matter of trade history; the product of the Company is recognized the country over as of the highest grade, and each wheel bearing the words "Built on Honor" carries the endorsement of thousands of critical riders. From its first inception those who have been responsible for the control of its affairs have had the high ambition of making the best wheel that skill, experience and capital could continue to produce. No detail has ever been sacrificed on the score of economy, and to-day the Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co. make the proud claim (as an acknowledgement of their efforts) that the Warwick Cycle is the only wheel officially endorsed by the Government of these United States.

Twice has the existing plant of the Company been doubled, and the limits extended, but the demand for these wheels has so steadily increased that present facilities are totally inadequate.

Taking the past as an experience to guide them for the future, Directors after careful investigation, are erecting a factory, the dimensions of which will permit the Company putting on the market as large a product as any factory in this country or England. In February of this year, Mr. Joel H. Hendrick, a gentleman of large and varied mechanical knowledge, assumed the office of Vice President, and with it the superintending of manufacture, thus permitting Mr. Warwick to devote his time exclusively to perfecting many details of cycle construction.

The general plan of the building, which is situated within a few minutes' walk of the Union depot, directly facing and parallel with the main line of the Boston and Albany Railroad, is as follows:

The main building will be constructed of the best quality of pressed brick laid in red mortar; the length, 325 feet, by 50 feet wide, with three stories, and the basement under a portion of the building. The building adjoining this, running at right angles, 60 by 75, will be used by them as a blacksmith, forge and rim shop. The boiler and engine house will be 40 by 50 feet. There will be, probably, one or two smaller buildings for storage, and their plan is to have a building such as you see at the extreme end of the cut, one floor of which will be used by the workmen as a lounging place during the noon hour, and in which they can eat their dinner and read the papers, which will be kept on file. The offices will occupy a space of some 60 or 70 feet of the end of the building at the right on the first and second floors. The first and second floor of the main building, outside of the offices, will be occupied by the machine room, filing and fitting, assembling, nickelling, enamelling and other departments. The third floor will be largely used as a riding school. They expect to have the building fitted throughout with the very best appliances of every kind, and will have it heated with a hot air system, thereby securing not only a uniform heat, but the very best ventilation. They expect to have the building equipped throughout with sprinklers, as a protection against fire. Will probably put in an electric plant for lighting.

In the office, in addition to the thorough heating, ventilating and lighting, they are to have a system of electric signals connected with the different departments, also with the engineer, and propose putting in a system that will enable them to switch off the power from the main building almost instantly in case of an accident of any kind. This they propose to do in this way: There will be distributed throughout the building at intervals, electric buttons that connect with the signal in the engine room, and in case of an accident of any kind or belts breaking, one of these buttons will always be within convenient reach for a man to press and almost instantly the signal is received and understood by the engineer who is enabled, with absolutely no loss of time to stop his engine.

The entrance will be into the main office, which will be occupied by the book-keeper, stenographer and clerks.

At the right of the entrance will be the office of the Treasurer and Business Manager, the next office on the right will be used by the President, Vice President and Directors' room.

Beyond these offices they will have a series of closets and files, together with well equipped wash rooms, etc.; the same space on the second floor directly over the main offices, will be occupied by Mr. Warwick for experimental work, also by the draftsman, and General Agent Mr. Child.

Owing to a delay in getting Southern pine, thye are not going to get into the building as early as expected, and it will be well into December before they are ready to move into it.

HUMBER & CO.'S AMERICAN AGENCIES, ETC.

WE received the following notice from Humber & Co., which we take pleasure in printing: "It has come to our knowledge that statements have been made and paragraphs have appeared in your cycle press to the effect that we have transferred the whole of our American agency to one firm. We hasten to inform you that there is no truth whatever in this report, and we beg to confirm the appointment made with you by our Mr. Golder.

We are now busy with our new patterns, Mr. Golder has returned, and we are embodying all his suggestions emanating from the experience formed of the American requirements during his stay in your country. We hope and believe that we shall be able to submit at an early date, machines that will give you every satisfaction; at the same time if you have any suggestions to make we should be most happy to consider the same, and should be obliged if you will send them at the earliest possible date.

In consequence of wishes expressed by Mr. Golder, it is our intention to place upon the American market a safety tandem, which we feel convinced will be the fastest machine yet built for two riders. This will be suitable for two gentlemen, or lady and gentlemen, or if desired, for two ladies.

We have spared no time nor expense in endeavoring to perfect the suspension tire; we believe that we have now succeeded, but do not purpose placing any upon the market before next season, as we are determined that it shall have a thorough and extensive trial before we will allow our agents to risk supplying machines to their customers fitted with a tire that would not give entire satisfaction.

We have also invented and patented a band brake for safeties, which we purpose applying to the front hub. This is a double action brake of enormous power, and when not in use there is no possibility of the band failing to clear the drum.

FOR HUMBER & CO., LIMITED,
M. D. Rucker, General Manager.

AT the lantern parade last Saturday night of the Passaic Wheelmen of Passaic, N. J., it was noticed that the number of pneumatics ridden by members of the Business Men's Cycle League of Newark, N. J., and other clubs has increased wonderfully. Messrs. Howard A. Smith & Co., Newark, N. J., the agents for New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Washington, D. C., etc., for the Featherstone pneumatic, are a wide-awake firm. See their list of second-hand bicycles on page 689.

THOS. KANE & Co., Chicago, are rebuilding their stock of Bronchos, putting cushion tires on them, and Jno. Palmer's patent lever. Welton Flinn, formerly of Detroit, late of Geo. R. Bidwell & Co., has charge of their shop.

Section 2. Divisions shall organize on the basis of this Constitution, and by the election of a Chief Consul, a Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer and Representatives as hereinafter provided.

Sect. 3. When there shall be fifty League members in any State they may organize a Subdivision by the adoption of Rules and Regulations made and provided by the Executive Committee, and elect a Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer.

Sect. 4. Twenty-five League members in any State shall be constituted a Consulate, to be governed under rules made and provided by the Executive Committee, and the President shall appoint a Chief Consul.

Art. III. Sect. 4. After the word "member" in fourth line insert "or by this Constitution." Strike out "such dues to be payable on or before May 1st in each year." Make remainder of section to be Section 10, same article.

Art III. Sect. 4. Add new clause. (c) If the applicant be resident elsewhere than in a Division, or if the Division in which he is resident has failed to fix its dues, he shall pay one dollar in addition to the initiation fee ($2.00 in all) if he applies in the first part of the year, and fifty cents in addition to the initiation fee ($1.50 in all) if he applies in the second part of the year.

Art. III. Add new paragraph to Sect. 4.

Any person making application for membership during the month of April and paying the full yearly dues may be entered upon the rolls for that month and the full year succeeding.

Art. III. Sect. 5. Add "except as provided in clause (c) Sect. 4," after "November" in last line but one.

Art. III. New Section 6. "All memberships shall expire on April 30th of each year, except as hereinbefore provided (Sec. 4, clause 6). Each and every member shall pay at any time during the two months from May 1st to June 30 in each year the sum fixed by his Division or by this Constitution for annual dues. (b) If the member be resident elsewhere than in a Division, or if his Division fails to fix its dues, he shall pay annually the sum of $1.00.

Art. III. Sect. 6 reconstructed and numbered 7. "Any member failing to renew his membership, as above provided, before the first day of July shall forfeit the same and the Secretary shall cause his name to be stricken from the rolls. Any member having thus defaulted, can again become a member only in the manner provided in the case of applicants in Section 1 of this article."

Art. III. Sect. 8, last line. After "shall" insert "fully set forth the reasons why the candidate should be denied admission, and."

Art. IV. Reconstruct Sect. 1, as follows: "The management of the League shall be vested in a National Assembly consisting of all Chief Consuls and Secretary-Treasurers and the Vice-Consuls and Delegates from the several Divisions. It shall have power to make By-laws for the guidance of the League, to establish regulations for the government of Divisions in their relations to the League and to each other, and to generally direct and decide in all matters not provided for in this Constitution."

Art. VIII., third paragraph. After "Representatives" insert "to the Division Board of Officers." Make "Secretary" to read "Secretary-Treasurer of the Division." After "represent" insert "and the Secretary-Treasurer shall announce the election in the official organ.

The Credentials Committee reported 5304 proxies presented in proper form, and a number of others in which the names of signers were pasted or pinned to the paper bearing the proxy form, and they asked the convention to decide if same should be received.

The Convention voted to receive the pasted and pinned proxies by a vote of 83 to 82, and a second vote was taken on the same motion, which resulted the same, 108 to 101.

It was voted also to receive a proxy in which the name of the principal was erased and another name written in.

The total of proxies then became 5441.

Mr. Luscomb called up his amendment to Article VIII., which was as follows:

Amend Article VIII., Section 1, as follows: strike out words, "that shall have in its By-laws a provision requiring every active member to be a member." And insert in place thereof, "three-fourths of whose members shall be members."

He moved the following substitute: Add new paragraph to Art. VIII. to read as follows:

"The Board of Officers of any Division may adopt a By-law providing that any club within such Division, at least seventy-five per cent. of whose members are members of the League, may become a League Club. And upon such Club filing a certificate thereof with the Secretary of the League it shall become a League Club and entitled to all the privileges accorded League Clubs under the Constitution. Provided, however, that such Club shall be entitled to representation to the extent of its League membership only, and that no action on League matters shall be taken except by the League members of such club."

The substitute was adopted by a proxy vote of 5180 to 315.

The amendment to the amateur rule was then taken up. It was offered as follows:

Art. III. Sect. 9. Erase all after the first paragraph of the section and substitute:

"An amateur is one who has not engaged in, nor assisted in, nor taught cycling or any other recognized athletic exercise for money or other remuneration, nor knowingly competed with or against a professional for a prize of any description; or one who, after having forfeited the amateur status has had the same restored by a competent authority having jurisdiction over the sport."

A cyclist ceases to be an amateur by:

(a) Engaging in cycling or other recognized athletic exercise, or personally teaching, training or coaching any person therein, either as a means of obtaining a livelihood, or for a wager, money prize or gate money.

(b) Competing with a professional, or making pace for or having the pace made by such in public or for a prize.

(c) Selling, bartering, pawning, turning into cash or realizing upon any prize won by him.

(d) Accepting directly or indirectly for cycling any remuneration, compensation, or expense whatever from a cycle manufacturer, agent, or other person interested in the trade; or from any other person having a pecuniary interest in the sport, except from a cycle or other athletic club.

(e) A cyclist does not forfeit his amateur status by teaching the elements of cycling solely for the purpose of effecting the sale of a cycle.

(f) The League recognizes as athletic exercises, in addition to cycling, all sports over which the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Association of Amateur Oarsman and other Amateur Athletic organizations have jurisdiction.

During the discussion of the first paragraph Mr Sheridan of Illinois moved to adjourn. Not a vote.

The first paragraph and clauses (a) and (b) were then adopted.

It was voted to take the word "bartering" out of clause (c). Carried, and the clause as amended was adopted.

During the discussion of clause (c) Mr. Sheridan moved to adjourn and called for a proxy vote.

Mr. Shriver made the point of order that inasmuch as the question of adjournment interested only those present a proxy vote was improper.

The chair ruled the point well taken and sustained it.

Mr. Sheridan appealed from the decision of the chair and called for a proxy vote on the appeal.

The chair was sustained by a vote of 3010 to 1074.

The convention then took a recess of five minutes, during which time the National Assembly was convened and adjourned.

Clause (d) was taken up, and Mr. Prial offered the following amendment. Add the following after the word "except" in the last line but one: "that a cyclist may accept from the cycle or athletic club which he represents his necessary expenses in training for and attending race meetings." Adopted and as amended the clause was adopted.

Clauses (e) and (f) were adopted.

Art. IV. was then taken up. It was offered as follows:

Art. IV. Reconstruct Sect. 1, as follows: "The management of the League shall be vested in a National Assembly consisting of all Chief Consuls and Secretary-Treasurers and the Vice Consuls and Delegates from the several Divisions. It shall have power to make By-laws for the guidance of the League, to establish regulations for the government of Divisions in their relations to the League and to each other, and to generally direct and decide in all matters not provided for in this Constitution.

Sect. 2. It shall have the power to fix the limits of as many Divisions, Subdivisions and Consulates within the borders of any State as it may deem expedient to establish.

Sect. 3 The general management of affairs of the League while the National Assembly is not in session shall vest in the Executive and Finance Committee with full powers except the power of legislation. Said Committee at such times shall have the power and it shall be its duty to explain, define, and interpret any provision of this Constitution or any By-law, or any rule of any Committee of this League upon request of a member of the League, and its decisions on such points shall be final.

Sect. 2 to be Section 4.

Voted to adopt Sections one and three to strike out Section two, and renumber the sections.

Art. III. Sect. 1, second line. Expunge "eighteen" and insert "seventeen." Rejected.

Art. VI. Sect. 3. Add to the list of National Committees "VIII. Hotel." Rejected.

Art. IV. Cut out all of this artice, following Sect. 2, and make Sects. 1 and 2 of Article V. to be Sects. 5 and 6 of this article.

Article V. Make new article of the sections taken from Article IV. as above, and reconstruct them as follows:

Sect. 1. (a) Each Division shall elect annually a Chief Consul, Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer; and shall also elect one Representative for each 200 League members on its roll October 1st.

Clause (a) amended to read 100 instead of 200.

(b) Each League club located under the jurisdiction of a Division shall be entitled upon joining the League, and annually thereafter, to elect one Representative for the first twenty members on its roll, and an additional Representative for each fifty members thereafter.

(c) The Chief Consul of a Division may appoint and League clubs may elect Representatives from time to time, as the increase in membership of the Division or club may warrant.

Sec. 11. Each Subdivision shall elect annually a Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer.

Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Sect. IV. The President shall appoint annually between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November, a Chief Consul for each Consulate.

Sect. 5. Vacancies in the office of Chief Consul of a Division shall be filled by the succession of the Vice Consul. Vacancies in the office of Chief Consul of a Subdivision shall be filled by the President. All other vacancies in Divisions or Subdivisions shall be filled by the Chief Consul.

Sect. 6. Each Division shall adopt for its guidance a Constitution and By-laws not inconsistent with the National Constitution and By-laws.

Sect. 7. The term of office of all Division, Subdivision, and Consulate officers shall commence on the 1st day of December, in each year.

Sect. 8. (a) Each Division Board of Officers shall hold its annual meeting in the month of December, and shall then elect from the Division one Delegate for each four hundred members upon its roll on December 1st.

Clause (a) amended to read two hundred instead of four hundred. As amended the article was adopted.

The Convention adjourned sine die.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

National Assembly L. A. W.

Pursuant to a call issued by President Dunn a special meeting of the National Assembly was held at Allyn Hall, Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8, 1891.

H. L. Perkins, T. F. Sheridan, Henry Crowther and E. F. LcCato were appointed a committee on credentials.

Without transacting any business the Assembly adjourned to Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1891.

ADJOURNED MEETING.

The National Assembly was called to order by President Dunn in Allyn Hall at 9 A.M. Wednesday, Sept. 9.

The Credentials Committee reported 49 members represented by proxy and 15 members present in person.

The meeting took up the business specified in the call for the meeting:

1. To consider in all its bearings Rule G adopted at the Chicago meeting of the Racing Board and the various questions which have arisen in connection therewith, and, if necessary, to adopt or recommend to the proper committee the adoption of a suitable rule.

Laid on the table without debate, and later taken from the table and indefinitely postponed.

2. To define the powers of the President, Executive Committee, Rights and Privileges Committee, Secretary and Officers and Committeemen of the League, and to make such recommendations as may be deemed advisable.

Question divided. The first part laid on the table.

The second part was taken up, and Mr. Dean made the following motion:

Moved, that the Committee on Rules and Regulations be instructed to consider the By-laws of the League, which define the powers of the several officers, and report at the annual meeting of the Assembly such alterations, additions and amendments as they may deem it advisable to make, giving proper notice in the BULLETIN in order that the amendments may be legally acted upon. Carried.

3. To consider the legality and desirability of the alliance with the Amateur Athletic Union, and decide upon a course of procedure in connection therewith.

Indefinitely postponed without debate.

5. To thoroughly revise the By-laws and to amend them in such manner as may be deemed expedient.

Ruled to be improper and out of order.

4. To ascertain and consider the League's relations with the Seaboard Road Association and make recommendations thereon.

After an explanation by President Dunn, the Assembly adjourned without taking action.

Adjourned to an hour to be fixed by the President, who was instructed to call the Assembly together upon the request of five members, provided such request was received prior to seven o'clock P.M. of that day.

ABBOT BASSETT, Sec'y.

Roads Improvement.

To the Chief Consuls and Highway Improvement Committees of the several State Divisions:

Gentlemen: The National Committee on Improvement of the Highways is now engaged in sending out to the several State Divisions pamphlet publications relating to improvement of the public roads. It is expected that others will soon follow. These pamphlets have been prepared at the end of some care, labor, and expense and are designed to have a substantial and permanent value. The amount of good which they render will depend in the largest degree upon the way in which they are used.

In order that your work may harmonize with the efforts of the National Committee, and as the result of a somewhat extended experience, we beg to offer the following suggestions:

To push the movement for better roads in a systematic and effective way it will be necessary for you to have, first, a

MAILING LIST.

Upon this list you should enter in alphabetical order the names and addresses of prominent newspapers and persons in your State known to be in sympathy with your work. You should also in a separate list enter the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants and others who are largely engaged in using the public roads, and who have a pecuniary interest in their improvement. These persons will be likely to respond by financial subscription to aid of our work when requested to do so. This list will be a most important one, and can by a little care and by an intelligent reference to business directories, etc., be made to cover an extended and important field.

Your mailing list should also include, in a separate class, names and addresses of boards of trade, agricultural societies, State and county farmers clubs, associations belonging to the different departments of trade and commerce, and other organized bodies composed of intelligent and representative men in all parts of the State.

In preparing this list you might also profitably include the State and prominent county officers and members of Congress and of your State legislature.

DISTRIBUTION OF PAMPHLETS.

The National Committee is constantly receiving letters from the different States asking for copies of various publications issued by the League. These letters are at once forwarded to the Chief Consuls of the separate States from which they are received. Our intent in doing this is to put the officers of the State Divisions in immediate touch with persons at home who are interested in this work, and also, as much as possible, to relieve the National Committee of a portion of its already burdensome work.

In distributing these pamphlets we earnestly urge upon you the importance of placing them first in the hands of the prominent newspapers of your State, especially those having large circulation among the manufacturing and farming communities. With each copy so sent, enclose a formal request that the publication be noticed in the newspaper with the announcement that copies may be obtained from the proper officer of your State Division. Remember that every newspaper having a circulation of a thousand copies adds to the force of your work by every line of favorable mention printed in approval of your efforts.

Besides the newspapers, send copies to prominent speakers, civil officers and able men in all parts of the State, not omitting the educational institutions.

Keep copies of all letters sent and a file of all letters received.

Write to the National Committee from time to time, and inform us of the condition of the work in your State. Fraternally yours,

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chairman.

PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN. RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other one wheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a limited amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.

Jersey Fitting

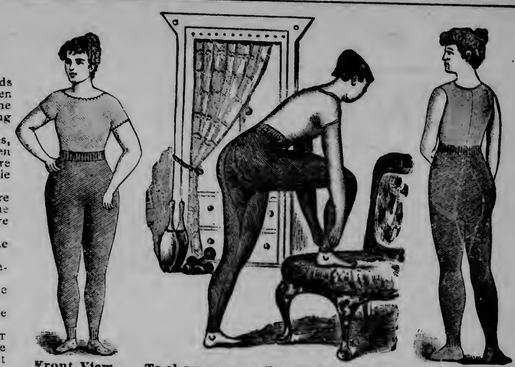
originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.



Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

Health and Pleasure

A Complete Guide to the Use of the Wheel.

Wheelmen as a rule are not slow to say a good word for the wheel, but they are not always equally prepared to give a convincing reason for "the faith that is in them." Constantly there comes up the question, "What will cycling do for me?" It is frequently answered correctly enough, but the truth is so much greater than the inquirer expects that he cannot believe it, and when he presses for answer "how can the wheel do so much," or "why is it that it does so much," a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming. The power of the wheel to promote health is an entirely unknown and unimagined quantity to the great lay multitude, who naturally expect cyclists to be able to answer all inquiries. In this book one chapter is devoted to this particular point; the effect of exercise on the system is examined, and medical men quoted. Every wheelman ought to have at his tongue's end the points here made.

THREE GREAT MEETS.

LIKE OLD TIMES.

COLUMBIAS IN THE LEAD.

Three great meets—Hartford, Springfield, Providence—followed each other in quick succession last week.

All the good riders, and many of the old racers were there.

COLUMBIAS were there.

At Hartford 361 wheels were in the parade, and 221 of them were Columbias.

At Springfield the 20-mile road race was won by P. J. McDuffee on a COLUMBIA SAFETY, with COLUMBIA PNEUMATIC TIRES, his actual time being 1 hour, 9 minutes, 20 2-5 seconds.

These tires were as full of air after the race as they were before.

At the three meets the prizes were distributed as follows:

Total number of prizes at Hartford,	57
Total number of prizes at Springfield,	60
Total number of prizes at Providence,	27
Total number of prizes won,	144
Total number of prizes won on COLUMBIAS,	47

COLUMBIA riders won 32 per cent. of all the prizes at these three meets, taking two special time prizes at Hartford, and two out of three at Springfield.

At Philadelphia on Saturday, Sept. 12, G. F. Taylor won the quarter-mile safety, open, on a pneumatic tired Columbia.

Pretty much the same in local races, as for instance at New Britain, Conn., Sept. 3, when, in nine events, COLUMBIAS won five firsts and four seconds.

OVERMAN WHEEL CO., CHICOPEE FALLS, MASS.

BOSTON. WASHINGTON. DENVER. SAN FRANCISCO.

DETROIT.---Second Growth.

When we arrived at the Niagara River the "custom house inspectors" (those innocent representatives of that barbarious relict of a moss covered past the "protective (?) tariff") came through the train, and by means of common ordinary saliva they pasted on each piece of baggage that was to go through Canada, a small 'sticker" the presence of which is supposed to indicate to the gentleman of similar iniquity at the other end that they may pass it along without examination. The badges contained in our carpet bag, unlike the hairs of our heads, were not numbered, and as we moved on through the Queen's dominion and decorated her subjects with these little mementos, we didn't realize that we were smuggling goods into Canada. However, judging from the calls we have since had from there for duplicates they were evidently pleased with them and we sincerely hope that no harm was done to any "home industry."

When our train arrived at the Detroit river we (train and all) were placed on board of a boat and floated to the American side, meanwhile two blue-coated customs officers, each wearing a Hickory badge "went through" the train inquisitively to see what the people had with them. It is always a very impressive sight to see a couple of able bodied men take a satchel away from a timid old lady, and in the presence of the unfeeling throng pull out her night-gown, under clothing, toilet utensils, etc., and scatter them over the car seat, then allowing her to put them back as best she may. All for what? Why, in the interest of protection to the American laborer of course, a most laudable thing certainly, and as we take up our paper and read of innumernble "cut downs," "strikes" and "lock outs" we feel so glad to know that the American workman is protected. For him to get along without such fostering care would indeed be tough (even tougher than Hickory wheels). It is said that they once had at Detroit a collector of customs who could tell by a man's breath whether the "enemy that he had taken into his mouth to steal away his brains," had had the duty paid on it or not. That man is dead now, else we would try and get him to tell an anxious wheeling public when the amateur rule is to be placed on all fours with common sense. But we wander.

When we reached the Detroit side of the finest river in the country we were pushed and pulled into the Brush street station, and there, standing in line, his face all radiant with compressed joy stood "Griff," his coat tightly buttoned over a consciousness of honest effort; his eyes beaming that ever pleasant how-do-you-like-it sort of a beam, and his hand out-stretched to all who seemed likely to grasp it. We got into a "Bus" (the Hub contingent did) and the driver after being fitted out with a Hickory badge, acted on the instructions of Griff, who was similarly decorated and stood on the rear step. The open window forming an appropriate frame for his classic features.

That he was glad to see us there could be no doubt. He delivered us at the Hotel Cadillac, and hastened away to perform the same office for some other party.

It is the normal tendency of man to find fault, and so we take especial pleasure in recommending what seemed to be one of the best managed hotels at which we have ever stopped.

The tea was strong and the butter wasn't. The eggs were fresh instead of the clerk. They didn't charge extra for lights burned after dark, and the whole outfit seemed to be working smoothly. Of course we fixed a Hickory badge on every waiter and bell boy. And the waiter who was detailed to provide beans for the "Cyclers from the Hub" had his sable form decorated with still other insignia to an extent that reminded us that "all things come to him who waits."

He had so carefully preserved and worn these silken souvenirs that we were surprised to see him appear Sunday morning unadorned, and inquired why. He told us that he had "let de little girl take 'em to wah to Sunday school, sah," and thus we first became aware that the Hickory badge "goes as well in the sanctity of the Sunday school as it does in the rush of the race track."

And that leads us to say that we have just got in another carload of those badge pins and they may be had on the same terms as before, viz.: for a new two-cent stamp (unlicked) Of course we understand that this is bodering on recklessness to give such a fine thing for simply the postage on it, and several conscientious people evidently sharing our feelings in the matter have sent sums of money and stamps, much more, nearly representing the cost of it, than 2 cents does.

To all such we say "thank you" in accordance with the early teachings of our mother. But a 2-cent stamp will be perfectly satisfactory, and if you are in hard lines and still don't want to be conspicuous by not having the badge, send us a postal card.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

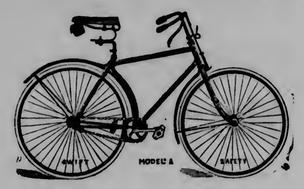
We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.



Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 25 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

THE three great race meetings of the year are now events that have passed into history, and the results have proved beyond a question that Zimmerman and Windle have not a peer among the other racing men. As to which is the best man of these two is still a mooted question. Prior to the great record race at Springfield we had felt that Zimmerman was invincible. The fact that Windle was in no fit condition to ride such a race is offset by the fact that Zimmerman had been doing a tremendous amount of work on the track for three days previous, and also on the day of the great race. In this race it must be also borne in mind that Berlo beat Zimmerman for second place, and yet none will argue from this that Berlo is the faster man of the two. In that race and in swinging into the home stretch Zimmerman and Windle drew away from the field side by side with no one to interfere with their efforts. They did not ride a straight course by any means, which deviation was caused by Zimmerman's riding wild at this point. Berlo, however, held a course as straight as an arrow, and by this means gained considerable of an advantage over his great rivals. Zimmerman's swerve was due no doubt to two causes; first, he was pretty well tired after his hard four days' work, and second, he has not ridden the safety long enough to obtain perfect control over the machine. The race in question is the only race where all started from scratch during the circuit that the "Jarsey" boy was pushed to his utmost, and that he was beaten fair and square every one who saw the race will agree. There are so many elements of uncertainty in a race where a field of eleven men start, that to decide the respective merits of two such fast men as Windle and Zimmerman based on the results of such an event is impossible.

We incline to the belief that this matter will never be satisfactorily settled until the two men are brought together in a series of match races; say one mile, half-mile and quarter-mile. If such a series could be arranged, say on the Springfield track, we believe that public interest would be so great that thousands would pay an admission to see the events run.

ERRATUM—In our editorial last week, commencing "The Howls and Groans * * *," in the fourth line we say, "Judged not by the racing rules, etc." This is a mistake in not carefully correcting proof. The sentence should read, "Judged not only by the racing rules, but by the rules of common sense, etc."

The rules sustain Mr. Bull most distinctly, and we intended it thus to read.

THE New York Sun of Monday last pays a just tribute to the League of American Wheelmen and Mr. Isaac B. Potter, for the issuance and authorship of that valuable pamphlet entitled the "Gospel of Good Roads." Every word of praise printed in the Sun is deserved, and every Division should see that the book is distributed freely among the farmers and the merchants of the rural districts. The facts are presented in such a way that they cannot fail to have a very salutary effect. It takes a genius to present hard facts and dry statistics in a way that will be thoroughly read by the public at large, and Mr. Potter in "The Gospel of Good Roads" has displayed that genius. We hope the pamphlet will be spread broadcast in all sections where missionary work to create a sentiment in favor of good roads is needed. The League will never issue a better book on this subject, and we doubt if it can even be equalled.

GOV. LADD of Rhode Island never lets an opportunity pass to speak a good word for Roads Improvement. In a speech lately delivered at the "South County" fair he says:

"* * * There is another exhibit that the South County is making that, while it cannot be shown on these grounds nor put up for a prize in your buildings, is nevertheless apparent. I refer to the road building you have done recently. You are to be congratulated upon the splendid highways that you have made in a part of your county, and the benefit you will derive from them will doubtless be so evident that you will build more. The value of South Kingstown real estate has grown enormously within the past few years, due in a great measure to your fortunate possession of a famous summer resort. You are to be congratulated that so many people with so much money find it agreeable to come among you and spend their money. * * *

"But I do not believe in good roads alone for the summer visitor. I believe that they are of even greater advantage to the farmer who carts his hay and his produce and works his heavy ox team over them. The fact that the farmer's wagon is made so ponderous is not because it has to carry a heavy load so much as it is that he has to road it over country highways so rough that it would shake the whole thing to pieces if it were reasonably light. * * * In the aggregate, millions of dollars are spent annually on the farmers' rolling stock because it is worked on roads that wear and tear it in a wasteful fashion. * * * Our farmers are rapidly finding out that good roads are a paying investment, even in sparsely settled communities. * * *"

Rhode Island is to be congratulated on having a Governor so ardently in favor of good roads and legislation to produce and maintain same. May Gov. Ladd long remain chief magistrate of the enterprising State of Rhode Island.

A COMMON and natural mistake of most towns in this country is that an intelligent farmer must necessarily know how to make a good road, but the reverse is the fact. Road making is a subject requiring study and a knowledge of the nature of soils, not often considered by any but engineers, or those to whom such a knowledge is a necessary adjunct of their business in life, and it is with a full knowledge of this condition of affairs that the L. A. W. aims to place the construction and maintenance of our public roads in the hands of competent and scientific State officials A well made road, even in our climate, and with the wide differences in soil ingredients, will last for years, whereas ordinarily the item of repairs in our roads means an entirely changed thoroughfare; the pitch, watersheds, and general character being more in the way of experiment than scientific and practical renovation.

TO achieve success and to obtain a workmanlike appearance upon the wheel, a woman must possess confidence in her power to control and propel the machine, and it must be the confidence derived from knowledge and skill, and not that born of ignorance and foolhardiness. She must know what to do and how to do it under all circumstances, and this necessitates a thorough comprehension of the sport she is pursuing. She must have a fair practical knowledge of the various vital points of the machine, so she may when alone be able to detect and correct any of the numerous minor accidents which ignorance too often allows to develop into something serious. She must practice "form" which, more than anything else, will win her admiration from onlookers and change their derision into praise. Garments should be in style and texture of the plainest and most unobtrusive shape and color attainable, flying ribbons, bright colors, conspicuous hats, shoes, or gloves should be laid aside for use at some more appropriate time and place. With due attention to these few hints, fair woman will be only the more fair when mounted upon a bicycle.

SELF-LOCOMOTION is as important a problem as trans-continental railways. The old "bone-shaker" would have won a greater victory had not ridicule and prejudice and fools complicated the matter. The bicycle avoided the errors and misfortunes of its predecessor through its being introduced and controlled by shrewd, far-seeing men, who fought its battles and gained its victories for it when defeat meant death. It is to these men that cycling must always owe a debt of gratitude that it can never pay, and recollections of this debt should temper the harsh criticism wheelmen are ever but too ready to visit upon the heads of some of these selfsame fathers of the sport who yet labor for the good of wheeling in an intelligent and energetic manner, sparing neither money, skill nor study to make wheels and the riders of them a credit to each other.

THE introduction of the safety into cycling, and the consequent elimination of headers from the sport has robbed the comic papers of one of their most amusing subjects. To an onlooker, even though he were a wheelman, nothing could be more ludicrous than to see the rider of one of those lofty ordinaries of a few years since, suddenly stop and dive over the head of the machine. After the diver had succeeded in collecting himself and his belongings from various parts of the road, he always seemed to be a changed man. He would look at his wheel reproachfully for a few moments, and then mount and ride away with the sad, resigned expression of one who has been the victim of misplaced confidence. The decadence of the ordinary marks the passing away of the header from the excitements of cycling.

THE cycle thief seems to be getting very active again. There are periods when we hear very little of him, and then again, when the dealers appear to be lulled into a condition of security, the scamp makes himself conspicuous, first by his oily cajoleries, and then alas by his absence with the borrowed or hired wheel.

There are only three ways to prevent this stealing of wheels. One is to be sure you know your man personally; another is when a stranger applies for the loan or to hire a wheel, the dealer insist on proper reference and satisfy himself that the reference is bona fide. The other remedy is to demand a deposit sufficient to cover the value of the hired or loaned wheel.

The threadbare but none the less true axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" comes in very pat in treating of this matter.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

A RECENT cartoon in Puck, in which the artist represented John Bull on a safety defeating Uncle Sam mounted on an ordinary, recalls to mind the fact that several years ago the publishers of that paper refused an offer of $1000 from a prominent manufacturer to insert just such a picture as now ornaments their front page at no expense to anyone. This is a little thing, but it is one of those straws which betoken the great strides cycling has made in public and press opinions.

The cables now used upon car lines are treated to a coating of graphite boiled in tallow, which experience has shown is the best lubricant obtainable. The hint should not be lost upon wheelmen, who may profit by it when lubricating safety chains.

The idea of rapid self-locomotion, which struggled for expression in the fabled centaur, and in the mythical Mercury with winged heels, at length finds practical form and substance in the modern bicycle, and adds to the faculties of man what these fascinating dreams could not do for the plodding wayfarer.

So poor "Sandy" Sellers has run the race with death which sooner or later we all must run and lose as he has done. None of us are so swift or so strong that the grim enemy of man does not in the end meet and defeat us. I knew Sellers quite well during his former triumphant racing experiences in America. It was to me a marvel to see him spend the evening in the questionable conviviality of a bar-room, and on the day that followed show up on the track as "fine as silk" and as "game as a pebble." I do not think that there was ever a man living who could turn into the stretch on even terms with Sellers and beat him across the tape, providing that "Sandy" was in form. The speed he was capable of showing in the last two-hundred yards of a race was something marvellous, and the only man I can recall who seemed to possess anything like his ability in this direction was Percy Furnival. When Sellers, coming to Springfield, gave "our George" Hendee the first real defeat he had experienced, Springfield put on sackcloth and ashes, and the American cycling public were struck dumb at the ease with which the rider from across the seas had overthrown our hitherto invincible George. Incidentally to Hendee's defeat a large amount of American money was transferred from American to English pockets and that did not lessen our sorrow or decrease the Englishmen's joy over their victory. It was decided that the last tournament at which Sellers would appear would be at New Haven, and so a special race of a mile for him and Hendee was arranged. "Sandy" and his friends became over-confident of their ability to beat the American champion, and so in no wise abated their jollification over their victory, nor spared the flowing bowl in its celebration. Hendee went at once to New Haven and trained hard to put himself in shape to win back his lost laurels.

When the day of the race came the Englishmen were loud in their offers to back their champion, even going so far as to parade in front of the grand stand with money in their hands offering to wager it upon Sellers, which performance was something new to American wheelmen. But "sporting blood" was not entirely absent from us, and when the men went to the post, there was more money depending upon the event than there has ever been upon any bicycle race in this country before or since. Those who know the New Haven track will recall the fact that it is a half-mile one intended for trotting, and for a distance of, say three feet from the pole, can be made as fast as any track in the country, beyond that it is always inclined to be soft and sandy. Hendee won the pole and the race started. The first lap found the American leading by a length, and the Englishman well in hand close to his rear wheel. As the two men started to make the first turn on the second lap a shrill whistle was heard from where "Sandy's" friends were gathered, and most of us knew that it meant Leaming, the trainer of Seller, had called on him to come away. Now to do this was no easy job, since he must first get his spurt under way, in which effort he would be met by a corresponding one on Hendee's part, and then he must pull out from the good going into the rougher and softer part of the track so as to pass Hendee. The struggle was as grand a one as ever was seen upon a race track, both men fighting each inch of ground. Slowly but surely the wonderful speed and stamina of Sellers' told, and as the stretch was reached he had forced his wheel full three-quarters of its length in front of the American, but to do this had told upon him. On they came like two wild men, and Sandy spurted till daylight showed between his rear wheel and the American's driver. It looked as if it was all over, but the shouting, when, without a moment's warning, Sellers turned square across the track in front of Hendee and took the pole and smooth going, almost causing Hendee to take a header. It was a howling mob in a moment. Hisses, cries of "foul," "rule 'em off," and such like filled the air. When quiet was finally restored, the judges gave the race to Hendee and disqualified Sellers for foul riding, upon which Mr. Leaming publicly proclaimed that "ye's areall a bloomin' lot of skins," and returned to England to be himself arrested for misappropriating funds intended to be used in defraying Sellers' expenses in America. But for all that, 'twas a race never to be forgotten, and despite his riding on this occasion Sellers always had a warm spot in the hearts of those Americans who met him or saw and admired his grand riding.

AT a meeting of the Hudson County Wheelmen it was voted to admit ladies as active members of the club. It was also decided to enter a team in the N. J. C. A. races, which take place at Elizabeth, Oct. 3.

SEVERAL successful ascensions have recently been made in central New York on Professor Myers' sky bicycle, says the Brooklyn (N. Y.,) Citizen. The machine consists of a hydrogen gas spindle with a very sharp bow and stern, and almost globular amidships. The gas spindle exactly supports the rider in mid-air, sitting on a bicycle seat. Cranks at hands and feet combine to operate a screw sail in front, which draws the whole machine forward. Behind the rider is a frail cloth rudder which can be placed in any angle or upon any plane. On either side of the rider are outspread wings which serve as guiding or buoying surfaces. The weight of the rider himself is another element in the guidance of the craft. If he leans backward the machine goes up; if forward it slides downward; leaning right or left turns the machine in that direction like a circling bird. By placing one wing horizontal and one perpendicular, the course of the vessel is checked on one side and it spins around as on a pivot. All these manœuvres were successfully carried out in mid-air, at distances varying from an elevation of a few feet to one of hundreds of feet.

THE York County Wheelmen of Biddeford, Me., ever ready to originate some new amusement scheme, enjoyed a baked beans supper on Monday evening, Sept. 14. After the substantial menu had been fully discussed they played whist and pool until a late hour, and voted the affair to be a success from beginning to end.

THE cyclers of Philadelphia are making extensive arrangements for a lantern parade on the evening of Oct. 1st. All of the city clubs will participate, and preparations for the event are already being made. Prizes will be offered for the best club display, the largest club turnout, and the best individual display.

ON Tuesday of last week E. Albrecht of the Douglas Cycling Club, Chicago, established a new American ten-mile road record of, 28m. 49 1-2s., supplanting Harry Hall's 29m. 41s., made some weeks ago. The record was made on the Chicago boulevards and the course, when verified, was found to be several hundred feet over the required distance.

LONDON Tid-Bits claims that Mr. Thomas E. Richardson is the oldest member of any cycling club. Mr. Richardson joined the Edinburgh Velocipede Club on March 16, 1870. The name of this club was changed on March 16, 1874, to the Edinburgh Amateur Bicycle Club; but as there was some dispute as to the right of the club to adhere to the old date, the matter was referred to the National Cyclist Union, who held, after having heard evidence, that there was no break in the membership or continuity of its minutes, and that it was entitled to its claim to be called the oldest club in the world. Mr. Richardson is still an active member of the club, and has held office continuously since 1870.

AMONG the many very fine displays at the water carnival in Waltham last week, that of the Waltham Cycle Club ranked very high and took third prize. The club showed its road-racing team on a large float which was covered with lanterns and bunting. The riders had taken the chains from their wheels and pedalled away with great vigor.

EXCERPTS FROM "THE GOSPEL OF GOOD ROADS."

When I write to you about these roads of Europe I know that you are apt to believe that these European countries are more wealthy than ours; that they are more thickly populated; more thoroughly cultivated; and that these splendid roads are built for the accommodation of only those farmers whose lands are highly cultivated; but in this you are wrong. France is divided into eighty-seven "departments" or political divisions, which, in many respects, are not unlike our counties. In eighty-one of these eighty-seven departments the population per square mile is less than that of the State of Rhode Island; in seventy-eight it is less than the population per square mile of Massachusetts; in sixty-six it is less than that of New Jersey, while if you take the combined area of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Jersey it will appear that the average population per square mile of these States exceeds that of seventy out of the eighty-seven departments of France. Many of these departments in France are less populous than the thickly settled counties in our Western States, but the uniform excellence of the roads is everywhere maintained. * * *."

Many years ago the French farmer had the same method of making and repairing the wagon roads that is followed in your country to-day. He quit farming for several days each year and "worked out" his road tax.

Do you think he could be induced to go back to the old style of doing things? In Belgium also the principal roads are built and maintained by the general government, and in 1880 in the nine provinces of Belgium over 79 per cent. of the highroads were of this class, the entire length of high-class roads being 4173 English miles, out of a total of five thousand two hundred and eighty-six of roads of all classes. The best roads of Belgium are in the provinces of Namur, Liege and Luxembourg, and permanent employees are kept on the roads under the direction of the chief engineer of the province, for the purpose of insuring the observance of the regulations and looking after the constant repair of the highways.

In Baden the main roads are under the supervision of the State authorities, and are cared for with a studious regard for the requirements of the farmer and inland travel. Under the law relating to roads in Baden, the duty of maintaining the road falls as follows: One quarter each upon the parish (town) and district (county) in which the road is situated. The remaining one-half upon the State treasury.

In Hesse-Darmstadt the roads are divided into two classes, called State roads and district roads, of which the former are a direct care and charge upon the general government, and when the district roads become so important as to require the attention of the State officers, they can, under direction of the district assembly ("Kreistag") be declared State roads. Every district is bound to appoint the necessary officials connected with the district roads. These officials consist of a skilled person who must be capable of filling the office of district overseer and a proper force of laborers requisite for the work in hand. Annual sums are allotted to each province out of the State budget to pay the cost of making and maintaining the public roads.

In Italy the Minister of Public Works is at the head of the Department of Public Roads. The construction of these roads is, in most cases, undertaken by contracts, the work being carried on under direction of Government engineers. These contracts extend also to the work of maintenance and repair, and include the transport of materials, the cost of earth works, embankments, drainage, masonry, ironwork, stone work, removal of snow, mud and dust and the care of border trees planted along the sides of the highways. The contractor is bound to deposit a fixed sum of money in the hands of the public officials, to insure the performance of his contract, and on the termination of a contract, the road must be delivered up in perfect order and repair to answer the description contained in the specifications, and all defects becoming apparent within one month thereafter, are made good at the cost of the contractor, under an estimate of the chief engineer of the district. The money deposit of the contractor is only returned to him upon the compliance of all the terms of his contract, and in case of his neglect or refusal to execute the orders conveyed to him by the highway officials, the latter have power to direct the necessary work to be carried on at the expense of the contractor. A repetition of such offence or the perpetration of any fault on the part of the contractor, results in the termination of his contract and the confiscation of his money deposit. The Government road laborers are called "Cantonniers" and are selected with great care, special reference being had to character and honesty. They must be of robust constitution and must be able to read and write. Each one of these cantonniers is provided with a full set of tools and implements specified by law. His hours of work are from sunrise to sunset, and each day he is obliged to go over the entire track of road placed in his charge. He must be constantly upon the line of his work in all kinds of weather, and in case of necessity, is bound to work on public holidays. His chief duties are the levelling and repair of the highways; the removal of snow, mud, dust, etc. He must assist travellers in distress and vehicles disabled by accident or by weather, and for any neglect of duty, he may be fined, suspended or dismissed, according to the degree of the offence. The fines accumulated during the year are divided among the deserving cantonniers or given to one of the mutual benefit associations, of which they are members. Cantonniers who serve with credit and distinction for three or more years are promoted and given an increase of monthly wages. In the five years from 1873 to 1878, Italy spent about $16,000,000 on her roads, although before that appropriation was made, many excellent highways existed in all parts of the kingdom. In 1881 Italy constructed about 120 miles of new road, and had then about 11,040 miles in course of construction. Mentioning the policy of the Italian Government with respect to its maintenance of the public roads, Mr. Beauclerk, representing the British Government at Rome in the year 1882, in his official report to the home cabinet, said: "It is therefore evident that the Italian Government are doing their utmost to develop rapidly and extensively the means of communication in the kingdom, and there is little doubt that the large outlay incurred, is fully justified by the increased prosperity and wealth of the country." At that time something more than 5000 miles of roads were in charge of the Italian Government. More than twenty-five hundred cantonniers were employed and their services were devoted to the care of all the national roads, except five.

In the Netherlands, as in the countries already mentioned, the principal roads are maintained at the expense of the State.

In Portugal a similar rule is adoped. The State takes the responsibility of the construction, maintenance and service of all important roads connecting the provincial capital and the principal frontier towns. The director of public works and skilled engineers have the principal direction of the Government work, relating to the common roads.

A GREAT ROAD RACE.

THE readers of BICYCLING WORLD have already heard of the great French road race from Paris to Brest and return, which has been organized by the Petit Journal of Paris.

A few details in regard to this, the greatest race in point of entries the cycling world has ever known, may not be without interest to American wheelmen.

It was some months ago, at the time of the great Bordeaux to Paris race, in which the Englishmen carried off all the honors, that the cycling editor of the Petit Journal conceived the idea of a similar race which should be strictly national, and in which no changing of machines should be allowed.

The immense furor caused in French cycling circles by the Paris-Bordeaux race, and the fact that the best Frenchmen had been beaten out of sight, caused the announcement of this new race to be received with great enthusiasm.

The entries simply poured in upon the directors of the Petit Journal, so that in a few days they began to mount up into the hundreds; and this, even before the barest details of the race had been settled upon.

In order to prevent the glory loving Gaulish wheelmen from sending in their entries simply to see their names in print, a fee of five francs, $1.00, was fixed upon, and all who wished to enter seriously were called upon to send in that amount.

Out of a total of entries of 576 there were 176 weak-hearted or parsimonious ones, so that the number of valid entries was exactly 400.

The cycling "400" of France, the self-elected elite of the wheel world, has nothing in common with the 400 of Mr. McAllister in Hawkshawville, as they really paid up the hard cash for the title, while the American contingent calmly scooped it in!

Out of this 400, as the time went on and the smaller details were arranged, 123 have since been disqualified for not having sent in the required information as to the machines they were to ride.

Thus there rests a total of 277 entries qualified to start from the Paris office of the Petit Journal on their long ride of 1200 kilometres, 750 miles, over the Route Nationale number 12, which connects Paris with Brest on the western extremity of Brittany.

What a comment on our boasted American progress! Only a few years ago the proposed race from Boston to Chicago, under the auspices of the BICYCLING WORLD, had to be abandoned because there was no rideable road between the two cities.

Here we have a continuous highway nearly 400 miles long, traversing the wildest and most sterile part of France (Brittany), and which is nevertheless in A1 order and suitable of cycling at high speed the entire distance!

Unless the weather changes very decidedly the race will be run better on water cycles than every day machines, for since July 1st the downpour has been a daily and nightly affair, and the summer of 1891 has been non-existent in France.

All makes of machines are eligible for entry, singles or tandems, and they are classed thus: Ten tricycles, two tandems, one single, solitary ordinary, and all the others safeties.

One of the strict regulations is that no changing of machines or wheels is to be allowed, the principal idea of the promoters of the race being to test the real merit of the various makes and find the weak points of the wheels rather than of the men.

In order to guard against fraud in this matter, each contestant must have his wheel guaranteed by three lead seals, one each on the frame and the hubs respectively.

These seals must be found intact at each of the eight checking stations and at the finish. The wheels must be furnished with lanterns and bells or horns, and thus conform with police rules.

There are several regulations which to Americans or Englishmen would seem finical and unbearable in the last degree.

For instance, at each of the eight checking places, going and returning, the contestants must stop, dismount, sign the checker's book, give up his own route card to be signed and returned to him, and in addition the checker must examine the cycle to see that all three seals are intact and the cycler to see that he bears his number on his arm.

What gay times those checkers are going to have when a horde of seventy-five or a hundred racers descend upon them at the same moment, all struggling to be first attended to and away!

Then again notice the rule in regard to accidents. It says: "The wheelman who cannot repair his wheel on the spot may go to the nearest town by any method of locomotion he pleases, but he must return to the spot the accident occurred at and then resume the race, and then notify the first checker he passes of the details of his accident. He must previously have informed the authorities of the town near which his accident happened of what he has done in the matter.

But if the details are very finical and absurd, the list of prizes is not, for the first man in gets $400 in cash or an object of art given by the paper, besides several medals of gold and silver given by clubs and individuals.

The second man gets $200 cash or various objects of art medals, etc.; the third $100 cash; the fourth $100; the fifth $80; the sixth and seventh each $60; the eighth to seventeenth inclusive, each $40, all of these with option; the eighteenth to twenty-first get various prizes donated by cycling clubs, and finally all contestants who finish the entire route inside of ten days get medals from the Petit Journal. In all these prizes it will be noticed that the cash is for the professionals, and the option of objects of art for the amateurs in every case, although the two classes are allowed to compete in the same race.

The race will start Sunday, Sept. 6, at 6 A.M. from the Paris office of the Petit Journal, and contestants will ride in procession, in squads of 20 each, under charge of an aid to the entrance of the Bois de Boulogne, where Lo

BOSTON, 25 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

THE three great race meetings of the year are now events that have passed into history, and the results have proved beyond a question that Zimmerman and Windle have not a peer among the other racing men. As to which is the best man of these two is still a mooted question. Prior to the great record race at Springfield we had felt that Zimmerman was invincible. The fact that Windle was in no fit condition to ride such a race is offset by the fact that Zimmerman had been doing a tremendous amount of work on the track for three days previous, and also on the day of the great race. In this race it must be also borne in mind that Berlo beat Zimmerman for second place, and yet none will argue from this that Berlo is the faster man of the two. In that race and in swinging into the home stretch Zimmerman and Windle drew away from the field side by side with no one to interfere with their efforts. They did not ride a straight course by any means, which deviation was caused by Zimmerman's riding wild at this point. Berlo, however, held a course as straight as an arrow, and by this means gained considerable of an advantage over his great rivals. Zimmerman's swerve was due no doubt to two causes; first, he was pretty well tired after his hard four days' work, and second, he has not ridden the safety long enough to obtain perfect control over the machine. The race in question is the only race where all started from scratch during the circuit that the "Jarsey" boy was pushed to his utmost, and that he was beaten fair and square every one who saw the race will agree. There are so many elements of uncertainty in a race where a field of eleven men start, that to decide the respective merits of two such fast men as Windle and Zimmerman based on the results of such an event is impossible.

We incline to the belief that this matter will never be satisfactorily settled until the two men are brought together in a series of match races; say one mile, half-mile and quarter-mile. If such a series could be arranged, say on the Springfield track, we believe that public interest would be so great that thousands would pay an admission to see the events run.

ERRATUM—In our editorial last week, commencing "The Howls and Groans * * *," in the fourth line we say, "Judged not by the racing rules, etc." This is a mistake in not carefully correcting proof. The sentence should read, "Judged not only by the racing rules, but by the rules of common sense, etc."

The rules sustain Mr. Bull most distinctly, and we intended it thus to read.

THE New York Sun of Monday last pays a just tribute to the League of American Wheelmen and Mr. Isaac B. Potter, for the issuance and authorship of that valuable pamphlet entitled the "Gospel of Good Roads." Every word of praise printed in the Sun is deserved, and every Division should see that the book is distributed freely among the farmers and the merchants of the rural districts. The facts are presented in such a way that they cannot fail to have a very salutary effect. It takes a genius to present hard facts and dry statistics in a way that will be thoroughly read by the public at large, and Mr. Potter in "The Gospel of Good Roads" has displayed that genius. We hope the pamphlet will be spread broadcast in all sections where missionary work to create a sentiment in favor of good roads is needed. The League will never issue a better book on this subject, and we doubt if it can even be equalled.

GOV. LADD of Rhode Island never lets an opportunity pass to speak a good word for Roads Improvement. In a speech lately delivered at the "South County" fair he says:

"* * * There is another exhibit that the South County is making that, while it cannot be shown on these grounds nor put up for a prize in your buildings, is nevertheless apparent. I refer to the road building you have done recently. You are to be congratulated upon the splendid highways that you have made in a part of your county, and the benefit you will derive from them will doubtless be so evident that you will build more. The value of South Kingstown real estate has grown enormously within the past few years, due in a great measure to your fortunate possession of a famous summer resort. You are to be congratulated that so many people with so much money find it agreeable to come among you and spend their money. * * *

"But I do not believe in good roads alone for the summer visitor. I believe that they are of even greater advantage to the farmer who carts his hay and his produce and works his heavy ox team over them. The fact that the farmer's wagon is made so ponderous is not because it has to carry a heavy load so much as it is that he has to road it over country highways so rough that it would shake the whole thing to pieces if it were reasonably light. * * * In the aggregate, 'millions of dollars are spent annually on the farmers' rolling stock because it is worked on roads that wear and tear it in a wasteful fashion. * * * Our farmers are rapidly finding out that good roads are a paying investment, even in sparsely settled communities. * * *"

Rhode Island is to be congratulated on having a Governor so ardently in favor of good roads and legislation to produce and maintain same. May Gov. Ladd long remain chief magistrate of the enterprising State of Rhode Island.

A COMMON and natural mistake of most towns in this country is that an intelligent farmer must necessarily know how to make a good road, but the reverse is the fact. Road making is a subject requiring study and a knowledge of the nature of soils, not often considered by any but engineers, or those to whom such a knowledge is a necessary adjunct of their business in life, and it is with a full knowledge of this condition of affairs that the L. A. W. aims to place the construction and maintenance of our public roads in the hands of competent and scientific State officials A well made road, even in our climate, and with the wide differences in soil ingredients, will last for years, whereas ordinarily the item of repairs in our roads means an entirely changed thoroughfare; the pitch, watersheds, and general character being more in the way of experiment than scientific and practical renovation.

TO achieve success and to obtain a workmanlike appearance upon the wheel, a woman must possess confidence in her power to control and propel the machine, and it must be the confidence derived from knowledge and skill, and not that born of ignorance and foolhardiness. She must know what to do and how to do it under all circumstances, and this necessitates a thorough comprehension of the sport she is pursuing. She must have a fair practical knowledge of the various vital points of the machine, so she may when alone be able to detect and correct any of the numerous minor accidents which ignorance too often allows to develop into something serious. She must practice "form" which, more than anything else, will win her admiration from onlookers and change their derision into praise. Garments should be in style and texture of the plainest and most unobtrusive shape and color attainable, flying ribbons, bright colors, conspicuous hats, shoes, or gloves should be laid aside for use at some more appropriate time and place. With due attention to these few hints, fair woman will be only the more fair when mounted upon a bicycle.

SELF-LOCOMOTION is as important a problem as trans-continental railways. The old "bone-shaker" would have won a greater victory had not ridicule and prejudice and fools complicated the matter. The bicycle avoided the errors and misfortunes of its predecessor through its being introduced and controlled by shrewd, far-seeing men, who fought its battles and gained its victories for it when defeat meant death. It is to these men that cycling must always owe a debt of gratitude that it can never pay, and recollections of this debt should temper the harsh criticism wheelmen are ever but too ready to visit upon the heads of some of these selfsame fathers of the sport who yet labor for the good of wheeling in an intelligent and energetic manner, sparing neither money, skill nor study to make wheels and the riders of them a credit to each other.

THE introduction of the safety into cycling, and the consequent elimination of headers from the sport has robbed the comic papers of one of their most amusing subjects. To an onlooker, even though he were a wheelman, nothing could be more ludicrous than to see the rider of one of those lofty ordinaries of a few years since, suddenly stop and dive over the head of the machine. After the diver had succeeded in collecting himself and his belongings from various parts of the road, he always seemed to be a changed man. He would look at his wheel reproachfully for a few moments, and then mount and ride away with the sad, resigned expression of one who has been the victim of misplaced confidence. The decadence of the ordinary marks the passing away of the header from the excitements of cycling.

THE cycle thief seems to be getting very active again. There are periods when we hear very little of him, and then again, when the dealers appear to be lulled into a condition of security, the scamp makes himself conspicuous, first by his oily cajoleries, and then alas by his absence with the borrowed or hired wheel.

There are only three ways to prevent this stealing of wheels. One is to be sure you know your man personally; another is when a stranger applies for the loan or to hire a wheel, the dealer insist on proper reference and satisfy himself that the reference is bona fide. The other remedy is to demand a deposit sufficient to cover the value of the hired or loaned wheel.

The threadbare but none the less true axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" comes in very pat in treating of this matter.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

A RECENT cartoon in Puck, in which the artist represented John Bull on a safety defeating Uncle Sam mounted on an ordinary, recalls to mind the fact that several years ago the publishers of that paper refused an offer of $1000 from a prominent manufacturer to insert just such a picture as now ornaments their front page at no expense to anyone. This is a little thing, but it is one of those straws which betoken the great strides cycling has made in public and press opinions.

The cables now used upon car lines are treated to a coating of graphite boiled in tallow, which experience has shown is the best lubricant obtainable. The hint should not be lost upon wheelmen, who may profit by it when lubricating safety chains.

The idea of rapid self-locomotion, which struggled for expression in the fabled centaur, and in the mythical Mercury with winged heels, at length finds practical form and substance in the modern bicycle, and adds to the faculties of man what these fascinating dreams could not do for the plodding wayfarer.

So poor "Sandy" Sellers has run the race with death which sooner or later we all must run and lose as he has done. None of us are so swift or so strong that the grim enemy of man does not in the end meet and defeat us. I knew Sellers quite well during his former triumphant racing experiences in America. It was to me a marvel to see him spend the evening in the questionable conviviality of a bar-room, and on the day that followed show up on the track as "fine as silk" and as "game as a pebble." I do not think that there was ever a man living who could turn into the stretch on even terms with Sellers and beat him across the tape, providing that "Sandy" was in form. The speed he was capable of showing in the last two-hundred yards of a race was something marvellous, and the only man I can recall who seemed to possess anything like his ability in this direction was Percy Furnival. When Sellers, coming to Springfield, gave "our George" Hendee the first real defeat he had experienced, Springfield put on sackcloth and ashes, and the American cycling public were struck dumb at the ease with which the rider from across the seas had overthrown our hitherto invincible George. Incidentally to Hendee's defeat a large amount of American money was transferred from American to English pockets and that did not lessen our sorrow or decrease the Englishmen's joy over their victory. It was decided that the last tournament at which Sellers would appear would be at New Haven, and so a special race of a mile for him and Hendee was arranged. "Sandy" and his friends became over-confident of their ability to beat the American champion, and so in no wise abated their jollification over their victory, nor spared the flowing bowl in its celebration. Hendee went at once to New Haven and trained hard to put himself in shape to win back his lost laurels.

When the day of the race came the Englishmen were loud in their offers to back their champion, even going so far as to parade in front of the grand stand with money in their hands offering to wager it upon Sellers, which performance was something new to American wheelmen. But "sporting blood" was not entirely absent from us, and when the men went to the post, there was more money depending upon the event than there has ever been upon any bicycle race in this country before or since. Those who know the New Haven track will recall the fact that it is a half-mile one intended for trotting, and for a distance of, say three feet from the pole, can be made as fast as any track in the country, beyond that it is always inclined to be soft and sandy. Hendee won the pole and the race started. The first lap found the American leading by a length, and the Englishman well in hand close to his rear wheel. As the two men started to make the first turn on the second lap a shrill whistle was heard from where "Sandy's" friends were gathered, and most of us knew that it meant Leaming, the trainer of Seller, had called on him to come away. Now to do this was no easy job, since he must first get his spurt under way, in which effort he would be met by a corresponding one on Hendee's part, and then he must pull out from the good going into the rougher and softer part of the track so as to pass Hendee. The struggle was as grand a one as ever was seen upon a race track, both men fighting each inch of ground. Slowly but surely the wonderful speed and stamina of Sellers' told, and as the stretch was reached he had forced his wheel full three-quarters of its length in front of the American, but to do this had told upon him. On they came like two wild men, and Sandy spurted till daylight showed between his rear wheel and the American's driver. It looked as if it was all over, but the shouting, when, without a moment's warning, Sellers turned square across the track in front of Hendee and took the pole and smooth going, almost causing Hendee to take a header. It was a howling mob in a moment. Hisses, cries of "foul," "rule 'em off," and such like filled the air. When quiet was finally restored, the judges gave the race to Hendee and disqualified Sellers for foul riding, upon which Mr. Leaming publicly proclaimed that "ye's are all a bloomin' lot of skins," and returned to England to be himself arrested for misappropriating funds intended to be used in defraying Sellers' expenses in America. But for all that, 'twas a race never to be forgotten, and despite his riding on this occasion Sellers always had a warm spot in the hearts of those Americans who met him or saw and admired his grand riding.

AT a meeting of the Hudson County Wheelmen it was voted to admit ladies as active members of the club. It was also decided to enter a team in the N. J. C. A. races, which take place at Elizabeth, Oct. 3.

SEVERAL successful ascensions have recently been made in central New York on Professor Myers' sky bicycle, says the Brooklyn (N. Y.,) Citizen. The machine consists of a hydrogen gas spindle with a very sharp bow and stern, and almost globular amidships. The gas spindle exactly supports the rider in mid-air, sitting on a bicycle seat. Cranks at hands and feet combine to operate a screw sail in front, which draws the whole machine forward. Behind the rider is a frail cloth rudder which can be placed in any angle or upon any plane. On either side of the rider are outspread wings which serve as guiding or buoying surfaces. The weight of the rider himself is another element in the guidance of the craft. If he leans backward the machine goes up; if forward it slides downward; leaning right or left turns the machine in that direction like a circling bird. By placing one wing horizontal and one perpendicular, the course of the vessel is checked on one side and it spins around as on a pivot. All these manœuvres were successfully carried out in mid-air, at distances varying from an elevation of a few feet to one of hundreds of feet.

THE York County Wheelmen of Biddeford, Me., ever ready to originate some new amusement scheme, enjoyed a baked beans supper on Monday evening, Sept. 14. After the substantial menu had been fully discussed they played whist and pool until a late hour, and voted the affair to be a success from beginning to end.

THE cyclers of Philadelphia are making extensive arrangements for a lantern parade on the evening of Oct. 1st. All of the city clubs will participate, and preparations for the event are already being made. Prizes will be offered for the best club display, the largest club turnout, and the best individual display.

ON Tuesday of last week E. Albrecht of the Douglas Cycling Club, Chicago, established a new American ten-mile road record of, 28m. 49 1-2s., supplanting Harry Hall's 29m. 41s., made some weeks ago. The record was made on the Chicago boulevards and the course, when verified, was found to be several hundred feet over the required distance.

LONDON Tid-Bits claims that Mr. Thomas E. Richardson is the oldest member of any cycling club. Mr. Richardson joined the Edinburgh Velocipede Club on March 16, 1870. The name of this club was changed on March 16, 1874, to the Edinburgh Amateur Bicycle Club; but as there was some dispute as to the right of the club to adhere to the old date, the matter was referred to the National Cyclist Union, who held, after having heard evidence, that there was no break in the membership or continuity of its minutes, and that it was entitled to its claim to be called the oldest club in the world. Mr. Richardson is still an active member of the club, and has held office continuously since 1870.

AMONG the many very fine displays at the water carnival in Waltham last week, that of the Waltham Cycle Club ranked very high and took third prize. The club showed its road-racing team on a large float which was covered with lanterns and bunting. The riders had taken the chains from their wheels and pedalled away with great vigor.

THE Newton Cycle Club enjoyed a tally-ho ride to Auburndale last week and ate one of Lee's dinners at the Woodlawn Park Hotel.

SEVERAL ministers of Cleveland, Ohio, are about to form a bicycle club.

THE Riverside Wheelmen have made elaborate arrangements for a meet at the Manhattan Field, October 3d. The crack riders have signified their intention to compete, and the aggregate value of the prizes will be $2500.

THE Chicago Cycling Club gave their last pavilion party on the evening of September 16th. The pavilion was decorated with flags, bunting and Chinese lanterns. The attendance was unusually large, there being present over three hundred couples.

N. D. LOOMIS, of the Southington, Conn., Cutlery Company has applied for a patent on a bicycle which he believes can be ridden a mile in a minute or faster on a track, and a mile in two minutes on an ordinary road. The rider sits inside a wheel nine feet in diameter, on the inside of which gear wheels, propelled by pedals, convey the motive power. The steering wheel is three feet in diameter and follows the big wheel.

THE Business Men's Cycle League of Newark, N. J., will make a century run on September 26th.

THE Albany, N. Y., Bicycle Club enjoyed a banquet at the Fort Orange hotel on the evening of September 15th. About 30 members were present and participated in the festivities. The banquet was followed with songs, recitations and a good time generally.

CHARLES SCHWALBACH of Brooklyn, N. Y., has secured a capitalist who will erect for him a large building devoted entirely to the bicycle business. A riding school for beginners will be attached to the building, and it will be managed by a corps of skilled instructors.

ON Monday evening, September 14th, the Meriden, Conn., Wheel Club had a lantern parade, and the affair was a greater success than the projectors anticipated. The number of wheels in line was 77 and the decorations were profuse and unique.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made to repeat the St. Louis county tour, which was a big success last spring, on Thursday, October 8th. A meeting of the various club officers was held on September 12th to perfect arrangements.

THE French cyclists have signed a petition to the Chambers, complaining that in some places their operations are arbitrarily forbidden. They ask to be placed on the same footing as drivers of other vehicles.

THE annual five mile road race of the Quaker City Wheelmen, of Philadelphia, will take place on Thanksgiving Day.

THE English papers announce the death of Sanders Sellers, who was at one time the champion English amateur. In 1884 Sellers came to this country and was the sensation of the tournaments. He cut the American record from 2.50 to 2.39 at Hartford.

COASTING down Pike's Peak seems to have become a very popular pastime with Western wheelmen. The distance is twenty-two miles, and has been coasted in two hours and twenty minutes.

THE Passaic Wheeling Athletic Association participated in a lantern parade on Saturday evening, September 12th, and the demonstration was successful in every respect. About 300 were in line, in the following order of the clubs: Passaic County Wheelmen and Athletic Association, 40; Passaic Athletic Club, 25; Amity Athletic Association of Brooklyn, 12; Harlem Wheelmen, 7; East Orange Cyclers, 17; Orange Wanderers, 19; Watsessing Wheelmen, 12; Business Men's B. L. of Newark, 15; Atalantas of Brooklyn, 18; Passaic Falls Wheelmen, 19; Tourist Bicycle Club of Paterson, 9; Rutherford Wheelmen, 27; Jersey City Athletic Club, 7; Elizabeth Wheelmen, 23; Prospect Cyclers, 5; Belleville Wheeling Club, 3; total 258. Besides these there were the unattached wheelmen and stragglers, who are estimated at from 50 to 75. At the completion of the parade the cyclers met at the club house of Passaic Wheeling and Athletic Association, where a very enjoyable musicale was given, followed by refreshments.

THE Columbus (Ohio) Cycling Club has undergone an enormous change within the last month, they having incorporated with a capital stock of $3000, and have leased a superb and large brown stone mansion on West Gay street, which has been entirely furnished with fine modern upholstered furniture, piano, pool, billiard and card tables, well equipped bath rooms, a library furnished with all the literature of interest to cyclists, storage for wheels, natural gas, and all the requirements of a modern cycling club, which makes it one of the finest and most comfortable club quarters to be found in the land. Visiting wheelmen are cordially invited to share the comforts found therein.

BOTH the Wanderers and the Press Cycle Clubs of Buffalo have added pool tables to their club rooms during the past week. There is some strong talk of having a combined century run, with as large delegations as possible from all the wheeling clubs in Buffalo and vicinity, to take place shortly. It is sure of being a success.

THE Buckeye Ladies' Cycling Club of Columbus, Ohio, which numbers about 30 members and which attracted so much attention at Detroit during the recent "meet" because of their tasty costumes, took quite an extensive spin to Circleville the other day, returning in the evening. This is the greatest trip of the season reported by them.

WE are pleased to announce that through the medium of a private letter to Secretary Bassett we learn of the improvement of Mr. Sanford Lawton who has been very ill with an attack of peritonitis. His illness was aggravated by the sudden death of his sister in New York, whose remains were taken home to Springfield the day Mr. Lawton was taken down. His family now believe that he is out of danger, news that will be welcomed by Mr. Lawton's many friends.

THE Chicago News, commenting on the subject of bicycles and reform, says there is nothing in the appearance of a man on a bicycle to indicate that he is a reformer, and yet that is what he became when he purchased his wheel. The bicyclist is a wandering advocate of better city pavements and better country roads. Already he has made his influence felt for good in many communities. As the number of bicycles multiply throughout the country and the man in the knee breeches becomes aware of his influence, the wheel will be recognized as a powerful engine of reform. For many years the people of this nation have contented themselves with wretched highways, the farmers because they feared heavy taxation for improvements and the other classes of citizens because they sympathized with the farmers. It is beginning to be understood, however, that the farmers' fears are not well founded; in fact, that they sustain enormous losses as the direct result of bad roads. It is the province of the alert bicyclist, who is brought in contact constantly with the horrible highways, to teach true economy in this matter and to throw his influence on the side of his teaching.

THE Rutherford Wheelmen of Rutherford, N. J., will hold a series of entertainments this winter on the first Tuesday of each month in their club house, for the purpose of raising money to refit it and also to farther improve their track. Very fine talent has been secured, and a pleasant evening's entertainment will be given. The entrance fee will be fifty cents.

CHARLES P. TUCKER and Frank Taylor of the Hudson (Mass.) Cycle Club, who are touring the New England States, have reached the White Mountains. From Boston to Portland they toured the sea coast pleasure resorts. They will spend a few days in the mountain region and follow the Connecticut River down through Massachusetts. They expect to spend about three weeks of their vacation on this tour, and to cover all the New England States.

ON Sunday, September 20, 1891, Miss Alice Waugh, accompanied by Geo. G. Greenburg of the Columbia Wheelmen of Chicago, made a century on the Elgin and Aurora course. The distance from Chicago to Elgin, 38 miles, was made in four hours and a half, and from Elgin to Aurora, 21 miles, in four hours, this last against a very strong head wind. Considering the excessive heat, 90 in the shade, and the wind, the young lady's performance is quite a creditable one. Miss Waugh intends making application for membership in the century road club.

THE young ladies of Dayton, Ohio, who are devotees of the wheel, have made arrangements for a permanent organization. At a meeting held in the Dayton Bicycle Club rooms, Miss Elizabeth Byrne was elected President, and a committee was appointed to draw up a Constitution and By-laws, and report.

ENERGY and concerted action has finally resulted in the formation of a permanent bicycle club in Bayonne, N. J., under very auspicious circumstances. The club will be known as the Bayonne City Wheelmen. At a recent meeting the officers were elected. Twenty-eight active members were enrolled, and a large number of others will soon follow. Captain McAllister was very active in his efforts towards the formation of the club. The club's temporary headquarters will be corner 25th street and Avenue D. Another important meeting was held Thursday evening, September 17, to consider the advisability of joining the B. R. A. in a body, and still retain the name. Those who are desirous of joining the Bayonne City Wheelmen can do so by making application to Captain W McAllister, 25 West 26th street.

MESSRS. Livingston Jacques and Daniel S. Kissam of the Orange (N. J.) Wheelmen, have just completed a tour of eight hundred and fifty miles in twenty days actual wheeling through Long Island, New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The route was through Jamaica, Cold Springs, Huntington, Commac, Smithtown, Stony Brook, Port Jefferson, then via boat to Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford, Springfield, Holyoke, through the Berkshires to Great Barrington, Lakeville, Stockbridge, Lenox, Pittsfield, Williamstown, Bennington, Manchester, Rutland, Cambridge, Troy, Albany, Catskill, Kingston, High Falls, Showangunk Mountains, Lake Mohawk, Lake Minnewaska, Ellenville, Port Jarvis, Milford, Dingman's Ferry, Bushkills, Delaware Water Gap, Portland, Bellvedere, Hackettstown, Stanhope, Morristown, Madison Summit, Milburne to Orange. They speak in the highest terms of the courtesy shown them by all wheelmen and others while en route, no tramps or road hogs encountered. They recommend especially the trip through the Berkshires, Lakeville, to Rutland, also the run along the Delaware River from Ellenville to Bushkills, and for fine roads and beautiful scenery it cannot be excelled. Out of the whole trip they had but fifty miles of poor roads.

ON Friday evening, September 11th, the members of the Irvington (N. J.) Cycle Club assembled at the residence of their president for a watermelon feast. After the watermelons came singing, music, etc, and a good time generally. The club expect to get into their new quarters in about a month. New members are being added at each meeting.

AN L. A. W. CHARM AND ITS POSSIBLE HISTORY.

THE writer has in his possession a beautiful L. A. W. charm which he acquired in quite a curious manner. It was found in the sweepings of the stable of the Pillsbury House at Kezar Falls, Maine, by the proprietor Oliver D. Pillsbury.

At the time Mr. Pillsbury noticed something gleaming in the refuse of the stable at his feet, and procuring a pitchfork he soon turned up the charm mentioned. Upon investigation the charm seemed to have contained a garnet and diamond, but the setting was vacant, and so the stone, whatever it was, must have been lost en route.

On one side of the charm are the letters L. A. W. in relief upon spokes of gold, the reverse contains the letters R. C. C. in a like manner. The supposition arrived upon by Mr. Pillsbury is that the charm must have become detached from the owner, whoever he may be, and falling into the hay or grain thus got into the horse's mouth (an animal who is never known to swallow anything without chewing thoroughly) which, after chewing the charm, spit it out, thereby dislodging the stone, which judging by the setting was a diamond of fair size. As the grain came from the West, presumably Buffalo, might not the letters R. C. C. stand for the Rovers or the Roamers Cycle Club of Buffalo, or the Rochesters, or countless other clubs throughout the West? Be that as it may it had a strange journey.

C. PERCIVAL.

When I write to you about these roads of Europe I know that you are apt to believe that these European countries are more wealthy than ours; that they are more thickly populated; more thoroughly cultivated; and that these splendid roads are built for the accommodation of only those farmers whose lands are highly cultivated; but in this you are wrong. France is divided into eighty-seven "departments" or political divisions, which, in many respects, are not unlike our counties. In eighty-one of these eighty-seven departments the population per square mile is less than that of the State of Rhode Island; in seventy-eight it is less than the population per square mile of Massachusetts; in sixty-six it is less than that of New Jersey, while if you take the combined area of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Jersey it will appear that the average population per square mile of these States exceeds that of seventy out of the eighty-seven departments of France. Many of these departments in France are less populous than the thickly settled counties in our Western States, but the uniform excellence of the roads is everywhere maintained. * * *."

Many years ago the French farmer had the same method of making and repairing the wagon roads that is followed in your country to-day. He quit farming for several days each year and "worked out" his road tax.

Do you think he could be induced to go back to the old style of doing things? In Belgium also the principal roads are built and maintained by the general government, and in 1880 in the nine provinces of Belgium over 79 per cent. of the highroads were of this class, the entire length of high-class roads being 4173 English miles, out of a total of five thousand two hundred and eighty-six of roads of all classes. The best roads of Belgium are in the provinces of Namur, Liege and Luxembourg, and permanent employees are kept on the roads under the direction of the chief engineer of the province, for the purpose of insuring the observance of the regulations and looking after the constant repair of the highways.

In Baden the main roads are under the supervision of the State authorities, and are cared for with a studious regard for the requirements of the farmer and inland travel. Under the law relating to roads in Baden, the duty of maintaining the road falls as follows: One quarter each upon the parish (town) and district (county) in which the road is situated. The remaining one-half upon the State treasury.

In Hesse-Darmstadt the roads are divided into two classes, called State roads and district roads, of which the former are a direct care and charge upon the general government, and when the district roads become so important as to require the attention of the State officers, they can, under direction of the district assembly ("Kreistag") be declared State roads. Every district is bound to appoint the necessary officials connected with the district roads. These officials consist of a skilled person who must be capable of filling the office of district overseer and a proper force of laborers requisite for the work in hand. Annual sums are allotted to each province out of the State budget to pay the cost of making and maintaining the public roads.

In Italy the Minister of Public Works is at the head of the Department of Public Roads. The construction of these roads is, in most cases, undertaken by contracts, the work being carried on under direction of Government engineers. These contracts extend also to the work of maintenance and repair, and include the transport of materials, the cost of earth works, embankments, drainage, masonry, ironwork, stone work, removal of snow, mud and dust and the care of border trees planted along the sides of the highways. The contractor is bound to deposit a fixed sum of money in the hands of the public officials, to insure the performance of his contract, and on the termination of a contract, the road must be delivered up in perfect order and repair to answer the description contained in the specifications, and all defects becoming apparent within one month thereafter, are made good at the cost of the contractor, under an estimate of the chief engineer of the district. The money deposit of the contractor is only returned to him upon the compliance of all the terms of his contract, and in case of his neglect or refusal to execute the orders conveyed to him by the highway officials, the latter have power to direct the necessary work to be carried on at the expense of the contractor. A repetition of such offence or the perpetration of any fault on the part of the contractor, results in the termination of his contract and the confiscation of his money deposit. The Government road laborers are called "Cantonniers" and are selected with great care, special reference being had to character and honesty. They must be of robust constitution and must be able to read and write. Each one of these cantonniers is provided with a full set of tools and implements specified by law. His hours of work are from sunrise to sunset, and each day he is obliged to go over the entire track of road placed in his charge. He must be constantly upon the line of his work in all kinds of weather, and in case of necessity, is bound to work on public holidays. His chief duties are the levelling and repair of the highways; the removal of snow, mud, dust, etc. He must assist travellers in distress and vehicles disabled by accident or by weather, and for any neglect of duty, he may be fined, suspended or dismissed, according to the degree of the offence. The fines accumulated during the year are divided among the deserving cantonniers or given to one of the mutual benefit associations, of which they are members. Cantonniers who serve with credit and distinction for three or more years are promoted and given an increase of monthly wages. In the five years from 1873 to 1878, Italy spent about $16,000,000 on her roads, although before that appropriation was made, many excellent highways existed in all parts of the kingdom. In 1881 Italy constructed about 120 miles of new road, and had then about 11,040 miles in course of construction. Mentioning the policy of the Italian Government with respect to its maintenance of the public roads, Mr. Beauclerk, representing the British Government at Rome in the year 1882, in his official report to the home cabinet, said: "It is therefore evident that the Italian Government are doing their utmost to develop rapidly and extensively the means of communication in the kingdom, and there is little doubt that the large outlay incurred, is fully justified by the increased prosperity and wealth of the country." At that time something more than 5000 miles of roads were in charge of the Italian Government. More than twenty-five hundred cantonniers were employed and their services were devoted to the care of all the national roads, except five.

In the Netherlands, as in the countries already mentioned, the principal roads are maintained at the expense of the State.

In Portugal a similar rule is adoped. The State takes the responsibility of the construction, maintenance and service of all important roads connecting the provincial capital and the principal frontier towns. The director of public works and skilled engineers have the principal direction of the Government work, relating to the common roads.

A GREAT ROAD RACE.

THE readers of BICYCLING WORLD have already heard of the great French road race from Paris to Brest and return, which has been organized by the Petit Journal of Paris.

A few details in regard to this, the greatest race in point of entries the cycling world has ever known, may not be without interest to American wheelmen.

It was some months ago, at the time of the great Bordeaux to Paris race, in which the Englishmen carried off all the honors, that the cycling editor of the Petit Journal conceived the idea of a similar race which should be strictly national, and in which no changing of machines should be allowed.

The immense furor caused in French cycling circles by the Paris-Bordeaux race, and the fact that the best Frenchmen had been beaten out of sight, caused the announcement of this new race to be received with great enthusiasm.

The entries simply poured in upon the directors of the Petit Journal, so that in a few days they began to mount up into the hundreds; and this, even before the barest details of the race had been settled upon.

In order to prevent the glory loving Gaulish wheelmen from sending in their entries simply to see their names in print, a fee of five francs, $1.00, was fixed upon, and all who wished to enter seriously were called upon to send in that amount.

Out of a total of entries of 576 there were 176 weak-hearted or parsimonious ones, so that the number of valid entries was exactly 400.

The cycling "400" of France, the self-elected elite of the wheel world, has nothing in common with the 400 of Mr. McAllister in Hawkshawville, as they really paid up the hard cash for the title, while the American contingent calmly scooped it in!

Out of this 400, as the time went on and the smaller details were arranged, 123 have since been disqualified for not having sent in the required information as to the machines they were to ride.

Thus there rests a total of 277 entries qualified to start from the Paris office of the Petit Journal on their long ride of 1200 kilometres, 750 miles, over the Route Nationale number 12, which connects Paris with Brest on the western extremity of Brittany.

What a comment on our boasted American progress! Only a few years ago the proposed race from Boston to Chicago, under the auspices of the BICYCLING WORLD, had to be abandoned because there was no rideable road between the two cities.

Here we have a continuous highway nearly 400 miles long, traversing the wildest and most sterile part of France (Brittany), and which is nevertheless in A1 order and suitable of cycling at high speed the entire distance!

Unless the weather changes very decidedly the race will be run better on water cycles than every day machines, for since July 1st the downpour has been a daily and nightly affair, and the summer of 1891 has been non-existent in France.

All makes of machines are eligible for entry, singles or tandems, and they are classed thus: Ten tricycles, two tandems, one single, solitary ordinary, and all the others safeties.

One of the strict regulations is that no changing of machines or wheels is to be allowed, the principal idea of the promoters of the race being to test the real merit of the various makes and find the weak points of the wheels rather than of the men.

In order to guard against fraud in this matter, each contestant must have his wheel guaranteed by three lead seals, one each on the frame and the hubs respectively.

These seals must be found intact at each of the eight checking stations and at the finish. The wheels must be furnished with lanterns and bells or horns, and thus conform with police rules.

There are several regulations which to Americans or Englishmen would seem finical and unbearable in the last degree.

For instance, at each of the eight checking places, going and returning, the contestants must stop, dismount, sign the checker's book, give up his own route card to be signed and returned to him, and in addition the checker must examine the cycle to see that all three seals are intact and the cycler to see that he bears his number on his arm.

What gay times those checkers are going to have when a horde of seventy-five or a hundred racers descend upon them at the same moment, all struggling to be first attended to and away!

Then again notice the rule in regard to accidents. It says: "The wheelman who cannot repair his wheel on the spot may go to the nearest town by any method of locomotion he pleases, but he must return to the spot the accident occurred at and then resume the race, and then notify the first checker he passes of the details of his accident. He must previously have informed the authorities of the town near which his accident happened of what he has done in the matter.

But if the details are very finical and absurd, the list of prizes is not, for the first man in gets $400 in cash or an object of art given by the paper, besides several medals of gold and silver given by clubs and individuals.

The second man gets $200 cash or various objects of art medals, etc.; the third $100 cash; the fourth $100; the fifth $80; the sixth and seventh each $60; the eighth to seventeenth inclusive, each $40, all of these with option; the eighteenth to twenty-first get various prizes donated by cycling clubs, and finally all contestants who finish the entire route inside of ten days get medals from the Petit Journal. In all these prizes it will be noticed that the cash is for the professionals, and the option of objects of art for the amateurs in every case, although the two classes are allowed to compete in the same race.

The race will start Sunday, Sept. 6, at 6 A.M. from the Paris office of the Petit Journal, and contestants will ride in procession, in squads of 20 each, under charge of an aid to the entrance of the Bois de Boulogne, where 20

the word being given the processioning will come to an end and the real race begin. You, in the United States of America, can hardly realize how much interest is being taken in this gigantic road race, or how much it will increase the already great body of French cyclers.

The Bordeaux-Paris race last May, at least added a fourth to the existent number of wheelmen, and this race will do much more, as the Petit Journal's daily circulation of 1,087,000, take it into every hamlet in France.

This will be seen to be important when I say that the editors of the paper have become such cycling enthusiasts that for a year past the leading editorials several times a month have been on cycling and its benefits or have mentioned the sport whenever possible.

As all the best French riders are entered, including Jiel-Laval and Coulliboeuf (who were the first Frenchmen in in the Bordeaux race) Dubois, recently reported to have been murdered, Lamberjack, Terront, and others, the pace is going to be hot, and the time made will be close to present records.

Jiel-Laval, Coulliboeuf, or Terront, are among the probable winners.

The race will be the greatest possible test for machines and pneumatics, which will be used almost exclusively. Among the list of entries, I notice one Marquis, which shows how widely spread the sport is in France. Inside two days is the probable time for the winner, and any time before Christmas for the last man.

Long ere this reaches Boston the race will have been run and over, so that next week I can send on an account of how it was lost and won and by whom.

Would that the roads of the United States were such as to enable us to have such a demonstration in America. PEDALS.

THE RESULT.

THE great race, which has engrossed the attention of the entire French people since its start, September 6th, is now finished—that is to say won, for the contestants will continue to come in for six days more.

The winner is Charles Terront, the professional, and his time for the 1196 kilometres (747 1-2 miles) is just twenty-five minutes inside of seventy-two hours, or three days and nights.

Leaving Paris at 6.55 A. M., September 6th, he arrived back at the winning post September 9th, at 6.30 A. M.

The second man turned up at 3.04 P. M., in the person of Jiel-Laval, the Bordeaux amateur, who was fifth in the Paris Bordeaux ride.

The others in order at last advices were Coulliboeuf and Marti, who at 215 kilometres from home were forty minutes behind Jiel-Laval.

Ere this the first dozen or twenty have arrived back at Paris, but as the interest centered in the first two men, the others hardly count.

The story of the race is one to rejoice the hearts of all true lovers of the sport, as the immense excitement and enthusiasm manifested both at Paris and all along the route, augur great things for the advancement of cycling.

The Petit Journal for the past five days has been practically a cycle paper, and as its circulation reaches every hamlet in France, this event will mark a big stride in the popularization of the sport.

The start last Sunday morning from the office of the paper was a great affair. At 6.17 A. M. the ten trumpeters stationed on the balcony of the newspaper building sounded "boots and saddles," and the 207 starters mounted in squads of twenty and slowly rode towards the Bois de Boulogne. Passing the Place de l'Opera a military band was there, and enlivened the march with melody. Another band was stationed on the Place de la Concorde, and still a th' 'n the Avenue des Champs-Elysees. Arrived at the avenue leading ' , the Bois, the president of the race, M. Pierre Giffard, (the cycling ed' of the Petit Journal and the originator of the race), gave the sig' and the men got under way. Four minutes separated the first a' . ast starters, as they were started by squads.

Terront and Jiel-Laval at once took the lead and were never headed. They exchanged places several times during the long ride, however, and the latter lost his chance of winning by taking three hours sleep at Gumgamp on the return, when he had a clear lead of an hour!

Terront, who had just three hours rest in all, arrived in good condition and not over-fatigued. But it is the way in which the machines stood the work which interests us most.

Terront rode a Humber safety with "Michelin" pneumatic tires—a species I never heard of before—but imagine it is of French manufacture.

Jiel-Laval was on a Clement safety with Dunlop pneumatics, and the majority of the others were on the same tires.

Terront burst his tires three times, but managed to get them in order each time.

Jiel-Laval appears to have escaped punctures, but the other riders were not so lucky, notably Jules Dubois, whose tires punctured five or six times, and who finally had to give up the race at two-thirds distance and when in fifth place! All along the route the men kept losing their complicated checking-books (which had to be signed at sixteen different points), their lead seals kept getting lost off the wheels, and altogether the red-tape method of road racing seems a farce to other than Frenchmen.

Several amusing notes by the way were to be found among the daily two pages of telegraphic bulletins.

One rider having burst his pneumatic, repaired it by stuffing in shreds of his rubber cape, so says the despatch. Another lost five hours by an accident to his mud guard. Fancy riding with mud guarded wheels, and spending five hours tinkering it, instead of five seconds tearing it off.

At Alencon, Laval, St. Brieuc, Morlaix and Brest, the entire cities remained up two successive nights to see the racers pass. Houses were all decorated with flags, bands playing, transparencies up, etc.

Special bulletins were up on the Parisian Grand Boulevards the day of the finish, and during the entire day the talk of the multitude was cycles, cyclers, and the race.

In many towns as he approached Paris, Terront was presented with huge bouquets of flowers by young ladies in white, and had his path strewn with flowers. Crowds of from ten to fifty thousand people cheered him as he passed through Alencon, Dreux, and Versailles.

In short, the interest in the sport is at white heat; and as the avowed object of the Petit Journal in promoting the race is to compel the makers to improve the quality of their wheels, a great advance may be counted on.

In closing it is only fair to state that both the leaders had pacemakers and attendants to rub them down and to cut the wind for them, while the others, almost without an exception, rode unaided.

The weather was superb—hot and sunny. This is the first sunny weather we have had since June last, so you see the men were lucky.

The English papers will of course scoff at this race, as they do at everything French, but, all the same, it is more of a test of men and wheels than has ever been seen in England or in America for that matter.

CORRESPONDENCE.

AMATEUR VS. PROFESSIONAL.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I have noticed with some degree of interest the discussion that is being carried on through your columns regarding amateurism and professionalism. In this connection I should like to be allowed to say a few words. The object of that grand organization—the League of American Wheelmen—is for the protection and advancement of the interests of wheelmen. There are in the United States over five hundred wheelmen who are debarred from this order simply because they ride for cash instead of something which has a cash value. An amateur upon winning a race receives something—a piano, bicycle, medal, or what not. Now how many of the fast amateurs would prefer the equivalent in cash.

I noticed a short time ago a letter upon this subject in which the writer stated that men riding for money would resort to most any means to win a race. I do not agree with him. If a man is inclined to use chicanery in racing for money, he would in racing for a prize, and vice versa.

I heartily agree with "Hawkshaw" on this question, and I should like to see the day that the L. A. W. will receive into its fold both professionals and amateurs.

I do not agree with Mr. A. B. Choate of this city that cycling as far as the racing men are concerned, is "a sport pure and simple," but rather work hard and trying. If Mr. Choate would take off his Prince Albert coat and don a sweater and train for a month or two for a race, and enter that race, I do not think he would find it "sport pure and simple," but rather exceedingly hard work.

A racing amateur is necessarily under a considerable expense training himself for races unless he is a member of some large cycling or other athletic club. If in that case he is allowed to receive expense money, why wouldn't it be just as honorable to be allowed to receive cash for winning a race? If he is paid for training for and attending a race, why not for winning?

I should like very much to hear from others on this subject.

THE AMATEUR QUESTION.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: "Hawkshaw" does not seem to understand me much better than he is understood. One would infer from his criticisms of my letter on the amateur question that I supposed that by some mysterious means a professional could be transformed, regenerated, born again as it were, simply by paying him for his labor in clocks or crocks, instead of in money. I do not think that, neither did I say anything of the kind; and I certainly do not think that the gray matter in "Hawkshaw's" "think-box" is very limited in amount because he does not believe it. My remarks were confined to the question raised by "Hawkshaw," as to the justice and reasonableness in L. A. W. circles of treating an amateur racing man as more praiseworthy than a professional racer. And in passing let me observe that "Hawkshaw" does not question my statement that: "It is generally conceded by the great majority of business and professional men, those upon whom the world depends for sound judgment and business prosperity, including the founders of the L. A. W., that one who makes sporting a business profession makes a misuse of sport; that the highest and best use of sport is diversion, recreation."

The application of the terms "amateur" and professional to bicycle racers is, of course, something new. One would scarcely think of calling a young stripling "professor," because he made his living by fast racing on the bicycle; and technically, it probably is incorrect. There is therefore some confusion in the use of the terms in relation to bicycle racers. There is, however, in L. A. W. circles, a pretty well defined meaning of the terms as applied to cycling, but the real question at issue, the one worth discussing, is this: Is it advisable for the L. A. W. to admit to membership men who make a business of racing, think of nothing else, as "Hawkshaw" says, and who race for the money there is in it, thus enabling them to live without doing anything else or thinking of anything else? Is it not better for the L. A. W. to limit its membership to those who do think of something else, occasionally at least, besides racing; who race simply as a pastime and for the pleasure and honor of winning over a competitor of like character. It is immaterial what we call the two classes of men, but for convenience sake, call the former professionals and the latter amateurs, and in justice to the amateur it should be understood that the L. A. W., in accord with the great majority of business and professional men, will more highly esteem, rather then less esteem the amateur, from the fact that he does think of and do something besides race, and let it be understood that at any race managed by the L. A. W., he will come in contact with those only who, like himself, earn their living entirely outside the race track. And to this end a man who accepts money for racing should be put into a class which, for convenience sake, we call professionals. Is it not this course which elevated and has kept the L. A. W. at its present high standing?

"Hawkshaw" thinks that time is wasted alluding to the possibility of five per cent. of the L. A., W. if composed of professionals, controlling the organization. While I believe that the majority in the L. A. W. disagree with "Hawkshaw" on the amateur question, in its application to the members of the L. A. W.; that the ruling sentiment is not in favor of opening the doors to professionals, and that therefore there is no immediate danger of the L. A. W. becoming dominated by professional sporting men; I am not prepared to admit, that if all rules concerning amateurs were abandoned, that the proportionate number of racing men in the L. A. W. would long continue as low as five per cent. of the whole, for I believe that the number of professionals in the organization would rapidly increase while those interested in other business would decrease; but I do know and "Hawkshaw" knows, and everybody who has thought of it knows that in representative organizations active minorities not only sometimes, but do generally, control majorities; that in an organization of the character of the L. A. W., if a small majority of the members thought of but one thing, and did but one thing, and their bread and butter depended upon that one thing, it would not be surprising if while the majority were attending to the business of their offices and shops, the active minority should control the organization to its detriment. If "Hawkshaw" does not know this "his credulity is greater than his experience," and I do not believe that it is. A. B. CHOATE.

A POINTER.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Why would it not be a good idea for wide awake managers of summer boarding houses to advertise the fact of their having good roads about their section of country, if such exist, if they would cater to a good class of people and one that is daily growing larger, viz.: wheelmen and wheelwomen.

A case in point is one at Springdale, near Stamford, Ct., where a lady from New York spent the summer, but owing to sand and stony roads could not use the cycle.

The almost universal neglect of the roads in this part of the State is chiefly due to two causes, dumb-headedness or wilful meanness on the part of the road makers, or a determination to see how little satisfaction they can give for the money expended on roads.

It must be wilful meanness, for there are big beds of the best gravel all over Fairfield County, which would cost less than the sods and sand that is annually farmed on the roads about here, and would give the public permanent and the best of country road surfaces.

Through Sound Beach and portions of Stamford, we have gravel roads that have been the finest wheeling for three years, without a cent's cost for repairs, and which are a telling object lesson for the old-time chuckleheads who continue to heap up sand, stones, and rubbish on some of our roads.

There should be a way of prosecuting any town who, in these days of enlightenment on road making, still keeps in the old senseless ruts and ways as above.

Could not a delegation of the citizens who are intelligent enough to know right from wrong in this matter, bring a suit against the town so ruining the roads, or in some way compel it to make satisfactory use of the public money?

Will the League lawyer give us a few lines on this subject, and at once? It will not only oblige an outraged people all over Fairfield County but throughout these United States.

We fail to see why the stealing of public money is not as punishable as if it belonged to an individual, and the wretched work done on so many roads can be called nothing less than robbery. "STAMSON."

HE SOLVES THE PROBLEM.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: In the edition of your paper dated September 4th I notice in the column signed "Hawkshaw" the following problem, and I take the liberty of sending you my solution of same.

Problem: "A" pursues another wheelman, "B," who is 82 revolutions of his wheel in advance; while "A" makes 9 revolutions of his wheel, "B" makes 13, but 3 revolutions of "A's" wheel, equals 5 of "B's." How many revolutions of his wheel must "A" make to overtake "B."

Answer: If three of A's revolutions equal 5 of B's; when A makes 9 revolutions, B ought to make 15 revolutions, in order to keep the same number of revolutions ahead; but he only makes 13, therefore every time A makes 9 revolutions he (A) gains 2 revolutions on B because B only makes 13. As A has to gain 82 revolutions, he (A) make 9 revolutions 41 times, as he gains only 2 revolutions every time he makes 9, and as 41 times 9 is 369, "A must make 369 revolutions to overtake B."

Yours respectfully, MAURICE COHEN.

ROUGH TREATMENT.

THE following cutting taken from the Manchester, N. H., Union was sent us for publication:

"PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 8.—D. T. Morine and E. L. Bagg, of the Union Bicycle Club of Boston, called at The Union's branch office in this city last evening and wished to make the following statement in The Union:

'Sunday evening we arrived in the city on our wheels and called at the Langdon House to pass the night. The proprietor objected to our having wheels inside, but after some talk, in which he treated us shamefully, he allowed us to bring them in. At about four o'clock Monday morning he arose and put them out on the sidewalk in a heavy rain storm, and when we arose they were covered with rust and it required an hour's hard work to remove it. We have travelled several thousand miles in New England and the Middle States with wheels and never received such treatment before. We were willing to pay for storage of our machines, but he only cursed at every proposition.'

The young men were gentlemanly appearing and have acquaintance in this city. They are both well-to-do and felt injured at the treatment they had received."

OLLA PODRIDA FROM CALIFORNIA.

NOTHING can better demonstrate the transitory nature of human greatness than cycling. The giants of a few years ago are already forgotten. Who, of the new comers remember, for instance, the genial "Jack?" How many ever heard of the eccentric Karl Kron? Nay, there are many wheelmen of the present year who never read of the valiant Van Wagoner. Even in our own locality the names of Elwell and that of our first Chief Consul (neither of whom, by the way, have had any successor) are strange to the ears of the long trousered, high armed, low seated new League riders who obstruct our sidewalks and tumble over each other in the park. How can they know anything of cycling if they do not read cycling papers?

Why is the proportion of League members to bicycle riders so small? Perhaps the answer in many cases can be found in the reason that the writer is not a club member. He is too independent to belong to the smaller clubs, who are jackals to the lion, and he is not sufficiently subservient to "incorporate" himself as a part of the lion.

It seems as though the League should be entirely independent of club control. Otherwise efforts made for its advancement are viewed with suspicion by non-club members, as attempts to "work" the greater organization for the benefit of the lesser.

"What is the advantage of belonging to the League?" is the question which, naturally, is asked by the new rider who is solicited to become one of us. In reply we very properly lay a good deal of stress on the advantages of reading the BICYCLING WORLD, and we lie to him a good deal about road improvement, toward which practically nothing has been done by the League in California, and then we tell him about our League hotels where cyclers who are League members, and drummers who are not League members, and anybody else can procure the best the house affords, including "extra attention," by paying the usual prices. And we particularly mention a hotel down at the end of the Bay of San Francisco, where they ask fifty cents for a cold lunch, and where the cold roast beef looks like a section of odorless excavator hose, and tastes as its appearance would lead one to expect.

For some time after the advent of the safety it was assumed to be a fact that it should be ridden hands-off, and Van Wagoner created considerable comment by wagering that he could do a mile in three minutes with his hands tied behind him. Now every urchin can do as well if he has the speed.

Riding hands-off is a favorite way of "showing off" with some riders, who seem to think that that is the object of cycling. On one of the streets of Oakland a few days ago, the writer encountered one of these gentlemen whose appearance would have made Hawkshaw weep. He was dressed in blue stockings, blue knee breeches and blue jersey, all skin tight. Upon his head he wore a blue cap decorated with a large pair of white wings. As he drew near he dropped his handles and crossed his arms over his breast, with out-spread hands resting upon his shoulders. He made no response to the bow he received, but kept his eyes firmly fixed upon the future, his face wearing an expression resembling that of the small boy who has dined on raw turnips and slaked his thirst with ice water. As he rode by, his back arched as if in the vain endeavor to make both ends meet, the solemn visage and attenuated figure instantly suggested the thought—"The funniest thing is a frog." "MOROT."

TO CENTURY ASPIRANTS.

Go to Staunton, Va., and ride north on the Valley Pike. It would be advisable for you to select the spring, say May or June, that you may avoid the newly broken stone put on the pike during the summer. A. C. Shannon of the Columbia Cycle Club, Washington, D. C., and Al. S. Michener of same city, left Staunton, Va., at 4 A. M., September 18th. Breakfast, Harrisonburg, Va., 26 miles; dinner, Woodstock, Va., 64 miles; supper, Winchester, Va., 93 miles; arrived there at 5.40 P. M.; after supper went on to Martinsburg, W. Va., completing the ride at 9.40 P. M. and covering 115 miles.

Next morning (Sept. 19) Shannon took train for Washington; Michener left Martinsburg, W. Va., at 4.15 A. M.; breakfast, Hagerstown, Md., 22 miles; dinner, New Market, Md., 58 miles; arrived Washington, D. C., 102 miles, at 8.10 P. M., having run the 217 miles in two days.

He reports the country quite hilly, and many miles of the road newly stoned. COLE.

THE CLEVELAND, OHIO, CHURCH CLUB.

WE believe the first cycle club ever formed in this or any other country, composed entirely of clergymen, was that at Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday last. The gentlemen met at the residence of the Rev. J. H. Hartman. The other gentlemen present were as follows: Rev. M. L. Berger, of the Park Congregational Church; Rev. S. L. Darsie, of the Franklin Circle Disciple Church; Rev. H. J. Reutrink, of Calvin College; Rev. G. L. Hart, of the Superior Street Baptist Church: Rev. A. E. Thompson, of the First Congregational Church; Rev. J. D. Corwin, of the South Presbyterian Church; Rev. J. D. Williams, of Beckwith Presbyterian Church; Rev. G. H. Dunning, of Bethany Presbyterian Church, and Rev. H. Brotherton, of Trinity Baptist Church. There will be only two officers and Dr. Hartman was elected Captain and Dr. Berger was elected Orderly, Secretary and Treasurer. Club runs will take place every Monday. Five other clergymen of Cleveland have expressed their intention of joining the club. Long live the church!!

MR. HENRY G. PRIEST of the Quadrant Cycle Co., Birmingham, England, expects to arrive in the United States about the commencement of October.

He will be glad to receive communications from any substantial firms desiring to represent the Quadrant Cycle Co. in any specified territory.

THE BOSTON CENTURY RUN.

CAPTAIN A. D. Peck, Jr., is to be congratulated upon the success of his attempt to give a century run for Boston and Massachusetts wheelmen generally. Ninety-three riders reported and were ready to start from the front of the Boston Athletic Club building at 6.05 last Saturday morning. Among the starters were five ladies, three of whom, Miss M. Kirkwood, and Mrs. G. B. Cooper on singles and Mrs. McArthur on tandem machines, finished. Eighty-three of the party reached Bailey's for breakfast seven minutes ahead of the schedule time, and after breakfast and a short rest they left that place on time, going through Natick to Framingham, at which place they were five minutes behind schedule time. Here they took a fifteen minutes' rest, then continued on to Fayville, at which point a ten minutes' rest was taken. From this on to Northboro the pace was quickened somewhat and they reached this last named place seven minutes ahead of time. From this on, the party continued their route through Clinton to Lancaster, at which point they stopped for dinner. The pare had dropped down by this time to seventy-six. After a rest the return trip was made through Framingham, Wayland, and Weston, and through this section they found the roads the most difficult of any along the route. They reached Waltham five minutes behind schedule time, and at this point supper was taken, seventy of the tourists answering to the roll call. At 8.30 they left Waltham and reached the Club House at 10.30, sixty-eight of them finishing in a bunch, at this time, and three of them coming in an hour later. The roads were found to be very dusty and the discomfort from dust and heat was very great. The pace set was an even one and Captain Peck selected as his assistants, Messrs. Botsford, Chamberlain, Kerrison and McDonald. There were only two accidents on the whole tour, and those occurred through disobedience to orders, which had been given to the effect that every person should preserve their position in line and in both instances the smashup was caused by parties who broke this rule. The success of this ride will no doubt encourage Mr. Peck to organize others, and in fact we are advised by him that he is organizing a Ladies' Run of a similar nature though shorter distance, which is to be held Sept. 30th. The run will start from Back Bay Park at nine o'clock and the distance to be covered will be about thirty-five miles. Bailey's is probably the place where dinner will be taken, from thence Echo Bridge and the beautiful roads and points of interest through the Newtons will be visited and sampled. All ladies and escorts of ladies alone are cordially invited to attend. No gentlemen will be allowed to participate in the run unless accompanied by ladies. The pace will be made probably from five to six miles an hour. For further particulars address A. D. Peck, Jr., 77 Franklin street, Boston.

OCT. 10—ST. LOUIS COUNTY TOUR.—OCT. 10.

Thursday, October 10, is known in St. Louis as Fair Thursday, and is generally made a public holiday, and on this account it has been declared a public holiday, and therefore it has been decided to repeat the St. Louis county tour, which was an unqualified success last spring, on that date. Ballwin willbe the objective point, and mine host Busch will spread himself. The rendezvous for the tour will be Nineteen and Locust streets, where the line will be formed, and headed by competent pace makers will proceed out via the Locust and Pine street asphaltum to the boulevard, and thence to the Manchester road, which reaches the destination, via Forest Park. Every wheelman in St. Louis is invited to be present. Ample refreshments will be provided en route, and an elaborate programme, in which a hill-climbing contest and a road race will be features, is now being arranged. Every participant in the tour will receive a small souvenir, and the usual photograph will also be taken. Seventy-nine men is the record for the largest attendance on a single day at Ballwin, and present indications point to the fact that this will be completely wiped out on October 10. No scorching will be permitted, and the pace will be made to suit the majority. Entries for the hill-climbing contest can be made with Geo. Wilder, 1724 Olive street, and entries close on October 8. It will be a handicap. Fee 25 cents. "LINNEUS."

THE NEW YORK RACE.

EUROPEAN RACING MEN COMING—AUSTRALIA TO BE REPRESENTED.

EVERYTHING points to the International race being a grand success, and Manager T. W. Eck received two cablegrams from Mr. Henry Sturmey, Editor Cyclist, saying Lumsden and Stage of Scotland sailed Tuesday, September 15th, and that Richard Howell, Champion of the World, Arthur and Alfred Robb of Birmingham, Wm. Lamb, New Castle, Willie Wood, North Shields, sailed Wednesday, September 23d in City of Berlin, where they will take part in the great six days' bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, Oct. 18th to 24th, inclusive. M. J. O'Flanagan, the Irish rider, will sail a week later; he is a fast rider and has great powers of endurance. W. J. Morgan, "the Senator," arrived in New York, Saturday, September 19, from Portland, Oregon, and starts into active training Monday following. He feels confident of securing one of the first places in the race. Prince, Ashinger and Schock are training in the West and will come East about two weeks before the race. A report has just reached me that Richard Howell has lowered the one mile world's record held by Osmond of 2m. 16s. to 2m. 15s. on the Coventry track. Entries have also been received from Jack Rolfe of Melbourne, Australia, and John Hogan of Victoria, New South Wales, and the latter is certain to start. Other attractive features will be added, and the management has secured Daniel Canary, the champion fancy and trick rider of the world, who will give exhibitions every afternoon and evening on the safety and ordinary wheels. He will also perform the daring feat of riding his wheel from the top balcony of the garden on a one foot plank run to the floor below, a distance of 200 feet. There is a proposition on foot at this writing for an amateurs' tournament to take place on Saturday night, October 17th, previous to the opening of the professional race, and two well known wheel clubs will have entire charge of the affair. BALL HEAD.

PEORIA.

WELL, the last of the "Big Three" meets has come and gone, and those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Peoria Wheelmen and the Illinois Division, carried away with them the pleasantest recollections and memories of the third annual meet of the Peoria Bicycle Club. The intensely hot weather rather militated against the enjoyment of the visitors, and the runs down on the programme would have been much better attended by the visitors of both sexes had Old Sol been less ardent in his attentions. As it was, the attendance on all the runs was most excellent, and the ladies, "God bless 'em," made a better showing numerically in proportion to those present than did the men. The run to Prospect Point was largely attended, and the visitors enjoyed the magnificent view and the lemonade, the latter thoughtfully provided by the Peoria men. The club house on South Jefferson Avenue was the centre of attraction for the wheelmen when there was nothing particular to do, and the visitor always found a crowd of good fellows to chat with and plenty of tobacco and corn cobs for accompaniment. The music on Friday evening was fine and the dancing by the specially engaged artists was unique and much enjoyed by those who came from sections where the eccentricities of the Simon pure Ethiopian are little known or seen.

THE BALL ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

We need a pretty graphic pen to properly describe the charm and beauty of that event, and the Illinois Division can feel proud of the success of its part of the programme. The stage was a perfect bower of tropical and semi-tropical plants, and behind a hedge of those magnificent plants the orchestra was concealed. In the centre of the hall another specimen of the florist's art towered toward the roof. The centre of this piece was composed of lofty palms and some plant very like the banana, while round the base was banked moss and brilliant plants in pots. The galleries were tastefully draped with bunting, while high up in the prosecnium arch was suspended a safety bicycle beautifully decorated with flowers. The flowers were beautiful, the decorations were tasteful, but the ladies eclipsed even the flowers in their winsome, youthful charm. We had heard of Peoria girls! now we have seen them, and all we have to say in regard to the truth of their reported beauty is that we went, we saw, and we were conquered. But let that pass. The floor management was excellent and the gentlemen in charge of that department were unremitting in their endeavors to make the strangers have a good time. From personal experience we can say they succeeded. The supper was served in the ante-room of the hall, and was most excellent, both as regards quantity, quality, and manner of service.

THE SMOKER ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

The ladies had expressed a desire to be present at the smoker which was given at Rouse Hall, Friday night. They were warned that smoke, noise and general harmless horse play would be in order, but the ladies said all rigat "let her go," and they went. The galleries were about one-half filled with ladies, and after some preliminary skirmishes the real fun began; the Hickory contingent put in an appearance, and for about an hour they were kept busy initiating every man they could lay their hands on, not excepting his honor, Mayor Clarke, and the burly policeman. We all had to take it, and it was a full hour after our initiation before we could forget the vigor of the blow from the Hickory club. Men fled to the gallery and invoked the protection of the fair sex. It was no go, however, for they were quickly followed, and to spare time and trouble, instead of escorting the victims down stairs they were chucked over the gallery rail, and the expectant crowd caught the failing man "on the fly." It was very funny to witness the gallant but fruitless struggles of some of the men, but it was wasted. All had to go over who were tackled. The ladies enjoyed the fun as much as any of the spectators, and why should they not? After this fun had been going on for an hour, the meeting was called to order, and Mayor Clarke welcomed the visitors to Peoria, complimenting the League and wheelmen generally on the success of the meet and the gentlemanly behavior of the visitors. After the Mayor's speech Mr. Patee introduced President Dunn. He feelingly spoke of the reputed beauty of Peoria's fair daughters, and then said the half had not been told. He then got down to the more serious business and spoke earnestly of the condition of feeling existing in certain sections of the West against the President and the Executive Committee. He laid particular stress on the fact that most of the criticisms came to him long after they had been made to others, while he claimed that in all justice to himself he ought to be the first to hear these criticisms. He suggested that in many cases unintentional injustice had been done him by his critics, and in such cases he freely forgave; on the other hand he was free to admit that he had done others injustice, and to such he extended apologies. He asked that all would believe that the Executive Officers were working earnestly for the general good of the League; with this thought in mind he looked to the members to hold up the hands of the administration. The above was the subtance of Mr. Dunn's remarks, on the conclusion of which he presented the prizes to the lucky winners of the two days' racing.

THE PARADE

on Thursday was not the great success that it ought to have been and would have been had the weather not been so intolerably hot. The Peoria men did everything in their power to meet the wants and add to the comfort of their visitors, and for many courtesies received the representative of the WORLD has to especially thank Messrs. Rouse, Patee and Chuse.

FIRST DAY'S RACING.

Under the rays of a scorching sun and amid clouds of dust, a crowd of some 4000 or 5000 people wended their way towards Lake View Park. Some of these went on foot, some on bicycles and some in carriages, but the bulk, however, tested the capacity of the horsecar system to its utmost; neither the dust nor the heat seemed to affect the enthusiasm of the people. The grand stand was filled to its utmost, and Peoria's pretty girls were out in full force, making the picture in the grand stand one of beauty and brilliant coloring. The home stretch on both sides of the track was well lined with those not fortunate enough to get seats in the grand stand. The officials in the small judges' stand suffered intensely from the heat, as did all those who were exposed to the sun's rays. The policing of the track was fairly good, although there were a great many allowed on the track through courtesy who should not have been there. The track was quite good with the exception of the home stretch, which was very dusty and made the riding for those who unfortunately were in the rear almost a torture. Notwithstanding this intensely dusty condition of the track, on the whole it was a fast one, and the back stretch was as hard and free from dust as a floor. In view of the fact that a telegram had been received from Mr. Prial, who had been appointed referee, that he could not be present, the management appointed Mr. R. D. Garden of Chicago to take his place. During the races and prior to same, Spencer's band discoursed sweet music and added to the attractions of the meet. The management were a little slow in getting the men out for the first race, and indeed there was too much delay between the races, although the crowd were very patient. The first race was

One-mile novice, safety—Mr. Hobbs of Aurora cut out a pretty fast pace and was never headed. Henning of Peoria, however, made an effort to catch him, but when within 200 yards of the finish, Hobbs spurted and won easily. Summary:

Y. C. Hobbs, Aurora, first; Frank Henning, Peoria, second; E. J. Wagner, Chicago, third; T. F. Rockwell, Chicago, fourth; E. C. Ronthennberg, Geo. P. Jochew, P. S. Hayes, not placed. Time 2.38 4-5.

One-mile ordinary, novice—The men started out very prettily in a bunch, and on crossing the tape, the conclusion of the first half, it was anybody's race. Wing of Ottawa, however, who had been riding at about fourth place, commenced to spurt, and came home an easy winner. Summary:

Frank Wing, Ottawa, first; C. B. Neilson, Marseilles, second; R. E. Davis, Chicago, third; J. T. Hunter, A. F. Howard, Edw. Schoenheider, not placed. Time 2.55.

Quarter-mile safety, open. Best, second and third heats—This was an unfortunate race for three of the men. Barrett of Chicago, about 300 yards from the finish, swerved badly, and in doing so collided with Zimmerman; both men went down with a crash, and Bode of Chicago was riding so close that he could not avoid the wreck and went down in the heap. Bode and Zimmerman were not much hurt, but Barrett was very badly cut about the face and legs. A protest was entered, but was at once withdrawn as Zimmerman and Bode declined to make a charge against Barrett. This, of course, threw the three men out of the final heats; this accident left G. F. Taylor in the lead and he finished first. Summary:

George F. Taylor, Ipswich, first; L. E. Holton, Omaha, second; A. Helmich, Chicago, third; J. S. Shobe, Chicago, fourth. Time 35 3-5.

In the second heat Berlo won handily; Lumsden of Chicago had the satisfaction of finishing second, beating Hoyland Smith and Worden. Summary:

P. J. Berlo, Boston, first; A. E. Lumsden, Chicago, second; Hoyland Smith, New Bedford, third; G. M. Worden, Boston, fourth. Time 37.

In the final heat a surprise party awaited the cracks and knowing ones by Taylor winning a handsomely contested race from Berlo and Smith. Everybody supposed it would be Berlo's race, but the Ipswich man showed that he had much speed in him, and won by half wheel over the South Boston man. Summary:

G. F. Taylor, first; P. J. Berlo, second; H. Smith, third; Holton, fourth; Helmich, fifth; Shobe, sixth. Time 34 4-5.

One-mile safety, 2.40 class—The referee neglected to place a time limit on this race, and so the men indulged in an exhibition of head work, which did not please the crowd. H. C. Tyler had been leading the men at a slow touring pace until the three-quarter was reached, when he suddenly took a spurt and left his field away in the rear. Bode of Chicago was a poor second, and Van Sicklen of Chicago had to be satisfied with fourth place, Hatfield, the local man, beating him prettily for third position. Summary:

H. C. Tyler, Needham, first; E. C. Bode, Chicago, second; E. A. Hatfield, Peoria, third; W. H. Van Sicklen, Chicago, fourth; L. E. Holton, Omaha, fifth. Time 3.00 4-5.

One mile ordinary, 3.10 class—Wing of Ottawa who had made such a showing in the novice race, was looked upon as a sure winner, but a slight built youth, by the name of Bliss, hailing from Chicago, thought differently. William Long did most of the donkey work until Bliss concluded he would go to the front, which he did in excellent shape, winning he race with plenty to spare. There were twelve starters in this race. ummary:

J. P. Bliss, Chicago, first; E. S. Mockett, Lincoln, Neb., second; Frank Wing, Ottawa, third. Time 2.47.

Two mile safety, handicap, open—This was a grand good race, and it seemed almost impossible that Murphy from scratch would be able to overcome the limit handicap of 375 yards. For the first mile, although all the men were going at a terrific speed, it did not seem possible that Murphy could overhaul his field, but during the last mile he cut them down one by one and came in first in 4.59 3-5, which is a world's record in competition. Dorntge made a desperate effort to win the race, but Murphy was a little too speedy for him and beat him by a few feet. Twenty-eight starters in this race. Summary:

W. F. Murphy, scratch, first; C. W. Dorntge, 80 yards, second; G. F. Taylor, 150 yards, third; A. E. Lumsden, 50 yards, fourth. Time 4.59 3-5, record in competition.

One mile ordinary, open—This was the race for the $500 piano, and as Zimmermaa was entered it was the general foregone conclusion, barring accidents, that he would win the race and take the instrument. Time limit of 2.50 was put on, and as the time limit was not reached, the race was declared off. Barrett of Chicago led in this first heat and finished second, but in the other heats the Chicago man did not appear. Summary of the deciding heats is as follows:

A. Zimmerman, first; J. T. Taylor, second; E. W. Ballard, third, in both heats. Time 2.46 3-5, 2.46? -5.

One mile tandem, open—This was a walkover for A. E. Lumsden and G. K. Barrett of Chicago, there being no other contestants. They did the distance in 2.37 1-5.

One mile Peoria Bicycle Club, handicap—There were only three starters. Hatfield having the five yards, and Henning and Hazard twenty-five yards; all however concluded to start from scratch, which they did. Summary:

E. A. Hatfield, first; F. H. Henning, second; A. B. Hazard, third. Time 2.54. At this point Dan Canary came out and gave one of his excellent exhibitions. Though it must be said in justice to Mr. Canary, that he was not at his best. He was very tired and half sick, but then Dan Canary's second best is an exhibition which would delight every spectator. His work and tricks were loudly applauded and highly appreciated by all.

One mile ordinary, handicap, open—None of the Eastern cracks started in this race, so it was practicaly one for Western "talent." It was one of the best contested races of the day. The finish of Lonn and Bliss at first and second places, was one of the most exciting ones and hotly contested of the day's events Bliss for a small man shows a wonderful burst of speed, and we think with proper training and care, he will astonish the talent. Summary:

William Lonn, 150 yards, first; J. P. Bliss, 100 yards, second; F. Wing, 130 yards, third; J. T. Taylor, Jr., 75 yards, fourth. Time 2.33 1-5.

Five mile safety, open—All of the fast men from the East were in this race, and the West was represented by Shobe, Van Sicklen, Leland and Rockwell. W. F. Murphy, Taylor, Helmich and Rockwell took turns in making the pace for the first four miles. Worden started on a wheel with a damaged pneumatic, and was obliged to stop after making his first mile because the tire burst with him. As usual on turning into the home stretch Zimmerman rushed to the front, Berlo responded very handsomely with a spurt, and though Zimmerman did not have to exert himself in any extraordinary way, the South Boston man made a very pretty finish for second place. Summary:

A. A. Zimmerman, first; P. J. Berlo, second; Hoyland Smith, third; C. W. Dorntge, fourth. Time 14.20 4-5.

SECOND DAY'S RACING.

Saturday dawned clear and hot, and as the day progressed the heat became as intense as it had been on the day previous. The stretch reaching to the track had been sprinkled with more freedom and over larger area than on the previous day, so that the going and coming from the track was more bearable. The track itself, however, was as dusty as on the day before, though an effort had been made by the managers to remove the dust by scraping; this, however, was only partially successful. The attendance the second day at the races exceeded that on the day previous by several hundred. The races were run with more snap, and the waits between were not so long.

One mile ordinary, L. A. W. National championship—As usual in these championship events, the race was a perfect farce, a perfect loafing match, and as one of the reporters for a Chicago paper puts it, "it was a conversation race." Three men came to the pole, Zimmerman, Murphy and Bliss. Bliss claiming to represent Illinois, was not allowed to start, as Githens was the man entitled to that honor, and he was not present. Murphy and Zimmerman rode along side by side, chatting and laughing, which disgusted the crowd, who hissed them roundly. It could not be called a race, but the results were as follows; time, 3.19 3-5, being disgracefully slow. The trouble is that the referee cannot place a time limit on championships, and the only remedy which has been found efficacious to correct such abuses could not be applied in this case. Summary:

A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., first; W. F. Murphy, N. Y. A. C., second. Time, 3.19 3-5.

Two mile safety, 5.40 class—Only four men started in this, and the referee placed time limit of 5.40 on the race. Leland did the pacing for the first mile, but as soon as Bode commenced to ride fast for the lead, Leland quit. Van Sicklen, the Chicago veteran, made a good challenge for the lead on the home stretch, but he could not catch Bode, and he was passed by Hatfield. Summary:

E. C. Bode, C. C. C., first; E. A. Hatfield, P. B. C, second; N. H. Van Sicklen, C. C. C., third. Time, 5.31 2-5. Quarters: First, 45 1-5; second, 1.25 4-5; third, 2.07 3-5; fourth, 2.51 2-5; fifth, 3.34 3-5; sixth, 4.57 1-5; seventh, 5.31 2-5: one mile and one-half was not caught; last quarter was ridden in 33 4-5 seconds.

Half mile safety, open—This had eleven starters, and was really one of the prettiest races of the whole meet, all of the men riding in a bunch, no daylight showing between their wheels any time from start to finish. Berlo made the pace, as he had the pole, and as they swung in on the home stretch, neck and neck, sweeping down like a whirlwind, it seemed as though a collision must take place; this, however, was happily averted, and all the men finished so close that it was a question as to the second and third men; the judges, however, giving it to Berlo, Tyler being the man who ran him so hard for the position. Zimmerman did his little spurt act as usual, winning the race handily. Summary:

A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., first; P. J. Berlo, M. A. C., second; H. C. Tyler, N. Y. A. C, third; G. F. Taylor, Harvard A. C., fourth. Time, 1.12 2-5; last quarter, 33 2-5 seconds.

Two-mile ordinary, handicap, open—There were 12 starters in this race and no scratch men. Wing, who started from the 240 yard mark, shot out like a meteor, evidently intending to make the men who overtook him ride hard if they expected to catch him. Wing held his position as leader for a mile and a half, but on the last half Bliss, Holton, Ballard and Pixley rushed to the front, Bliss finishing first with lots to spare, Ballard, second, and the others a number of yards behind. Summary:

J. P. Bliss, Chicago, first; E. W. Ballard, second; W. A. Pixley, Omaha, third; L. E. Holton, Omaha, fourth. Time 5.17.

One-mile safety handicap, open—There were 29 starters in this race, Murphy being the only scratch man. His appearance on the track was a signal for applause, as the spectators had not forgotten his splendid work in the two-mile handicap of the first day. There is no doubt about it, that the quantities of dust which enveloped the field had much to do in hindering the men in the rear, Murphy, of course, having to breathe the most of it. He rode a good race but did not get a position. His scratch time, however, was 2.26 2-5, a magnificent performance considering the disadvantages he had to cope with. The finish was an exciting one between Taylor, Smith, Holton and Dorntge, these men finishing all close up and the decisions on their positions being very close. The man from Harvard managed to finish first in the scramble. Summary:

G. F. Taylor, first; L. E. Holton, Omaha, second; Hoyland Smith, New Bedford, third; C. W. Dorntge, Buffalo, fourth. Time 2.24 1-5.

One-mile, boys under 16 years of age—This was really a first-class race, in fact, one of the best boys' races we have ever seen. The diminutive Fred Kurtz rode a pneumatic with the judgment of a veteran, and the form and manner of his riding could be copied with advantage by a great many who shine on the bicycle path. Kurtz was the smallest boy of the three that started, but he beat his competitors about as easily and prettily as could be wished. Summary:

Fred Kurtz, Chicago, first; —— Palmer, second; C. Woods, Jacksonville, third. Time 3.07 2-5.

Two-mile ordinary, six minute class—There were six starters in this race, time limit of six minutes being placed thereon. The men loafed along for the first mile and a half, being some seconds outside the limit. On crossing the tape for the final half, Ballard moved up front and continued increasing his speed until the finish, winning the race handily, the other men finishing in a bunch some four or five feet behind the leader. Summary:

E. W. Ballard, C. C. C., first; E. E. Mockett, Lincoln, Neb., second; W. A. Pixley, Y. M. C. A. C., Omaha, third. Time 5.56 4-5.

One-mile safety, open—There was another piano in this race for the prize, so Zimmerman came forth arrayed in his war paint, so to speak. There were several prizes offered for the men making the quarter, half and three-quarter, providing they were made in .37, 1.14 and 1.57, this race to be run in heats, time limit of 2.35 being placed on the mile. Eleven starters came to the post, and G. K. Barrett being among the number was a sight to excite pity from the spectators. He was all bandaged up and his face done up in cotton wool. On the pistol being fired, H. C. Tyler sprinted for the front with Barrett and Lumsden close up. Tyler, however, finished the first quarter in 36 4-5, which was within the time limit. Worden, the old war horse, then came galloping down for the lead in the half mile; he got the lead but was 3-5 of a second outside the special time limit. Dorntge, the Buffalo wonder, took the turn for the three quarter and managed to get that in 1.55 2-5, well within the limit. Zimmerman, Berlo and Smith had their eyes on the piano, and as soon as the other fellows quit their fooling with the fractions of a mile, Zimmerman swung out, closely followed by Berlo, Murphy, Smith and the rest. Berlo made a magnificent effort to catch Zimmerman, but he could not get any nearer than a length or so, Murphy, Smith and Barrett being close up to Berlo. Summary:

A. A. Zimmerman, N. Y. A. C., first; P. J. Berlo, M. A. C., second; W. F. Murphy, N. Y. A. C., third; H. Smith, N. Y. A. C., fourth; G. K. Barrett, C. C. C., fifth. Time 2.32 2-5.

Second heat—Eight men only faced the starter, Barrett being among the missing. Tyler and Taylor making such a fearful rush for the lead gained 50 yards in the first quarter over Zimmerman, Berlo and the rest. Tyler did the distance in 37 1-5, which was not as good as his effort in the first heat; Taylor however took up the running and rushed over the half-mile, making it in 1.14 2-5, which was outside the special prize limit, continuing his speed he went to the three-fourths, doing that distance in 1.57 1-5, which was well within the time limit, and beat Dorntge's time in the former heat. The cry went up from the grand stand that Zimmerman and the rest of the flyers could never catch Taylor, but they reckoned without their host, for Zimmerman commenced to move up, and before he reached the last one-fourth, his speed was simply marvellous; Smith, Murphy, Dorntge, Berlo, followed the New Jersey man, and by the time they were well started for the home stretch, these men had caught up with Taylor. Zimmerman was driven to his utmost by Berlo who was riding a tremendously fast race; at one time it seemed as though Berlo would pass Zimmerman, but the "racing wonder" was equal to the last mad burst of speed put in by Berlo and finished the winner by inches. It was one of the hardest finishes of the meet. Dorntge and Hoyland Smith were well up for third and fourth places. Thus Zimmerman carried away the third piano and established his reputation still further as a marvel on wheels.

A. A. Zimmerman, first; P. J. Berlo, second; C. W. Dorntge, third; H. Smith, fourth. Time 2.29 3-5.

One mile, 3 minute class—There were 12 starters in this race with time limit at 2.55. This was one of the races of the day, and was one of the prettiest and most closely contested. The men all started with the determination to come in within the time limit, and that they did it the following summary will show:

E. A. Hatfield, P. B. C., first; L. E. Holton, Omaha, second; Y. C. Hobbs, A. C. C., third; F. J. Wagner, C. C. C., fourth. Time 2.37 2-5.

Two mile tandem, handicap, open—This was a walkover for Lumsden and Barrett, they being the only entries to start. A. E. Lumsden and G. K. Barrett, C. C. C. Time 5.29 3-5.

The last event of the meet was a one mile consolation. In this ordinaries and safeties were allowed to compete, but none of the ordinaries showed up. There were seven starters, all on safeties. Lafferty won easily.

L. A. Lafferty, Nashville, first; E. H. Paige, Waukesha, second; J. S. Shobe, Chicago, third. Time 2.51.

Hatch got four of the prizes out of the nineteen that went to the Detroit Wheelmen, and did the best of any Michigan man.

The track was used for horse races between the bicycle races, and outside of a foot from the pole the track was cut up terribly.

Clarence Smith of Detroit did some fancy riding after the races, and was awarded a special prize for it.

The management had had no experience in running bicycle races and several mistakes were made, but on the whole the day passed nicely.

E. C. Bode made excellent time considering the shape of the track, and was in charge of his trainer, being the same man who brought out Sandy Sellers, Fred Wood, Percy Furnivall and the other famous racing cracks. "SETAGEC."

AT ST. LOUIS, MO.—Forty-seven entries had been secured for the Missouri Bicycle Club road race, and of this number twenty-one faced the starter on Saturday, September 12, at 5.35 P. M. The course was laid out from top of Nigger Hill in Forest Park, and was two and one-half miles in length, and the finish was at the deer park. The day was an ideal one for road racing, and fully 1000 people witnessed the race. The course was only in fair condition. All the men got away in good shape and the pace was terrific. On the second lap Will Brown, W. L. Nichols, W. F. Saunders and A. E. Diamont dropped out. On the third lap the scratch men, R. Hurck and E. A. Grath, spurted the entire distance, caught and passed the field, and from this on had the race well in hand. It now resolved itself into a desperate struggle between the two named for first place, and it was neck and neck to the finish. In the meantime Tidd, Knapp, Loth, Jno. Hurck, J. W. Bowman and J. H. Borgess came on with a rush and crossed the tape in the order named. The fourth lap showed no material change in the standing of the contestants, and when the final was announced the excitement caused endless confusion at the tape, and R. Hurck claimed to have mistaken the call and rode an extra lap. The order of the finish was: E. A. Grath, scratch, first; time, 47m. 48 1-2s.; R. Hurck, scratch, second; time, 47m. 49s.; R. M. Tidd, scratch, third; time, 47m. 52s.; E. M. Knapp, handicap 1.30, fourth; W. P. Loth, handicap 3.30, fifth; Jno. Hurck, handicap 1.30, sixth; Jno. W. Bowman, handicap 1.30, eighth; J. W. Darnell, handicap 2.30, ninth; W. C. Hutchinson, handicap 4m., tenth; J. B. Burwell, handicap 3.30, eleventh; S. A. Pratt, handicap 4m., twelfth; H. Winsby, handicap 10m., thirteenth; R. J. Madden, handicap 3m., fourteenth; C. Hutton, handicap 2.30, fifteenth; Ed. Collins, handicap 5m., sixteenth; F. F. Bieres, handicap 5m., seventeenth. Edward Grath's actual time, after deducting the handicap of the limit men, 14 minutes, was 33m. 48 1-2s., which won him the first time prize, an elegant gold medal. The second time prize, also a gold medal, was awarded to Richard Hurck, his actual time being 33m. 49s. The affair was voted to be an immense success, and will be an annual fixture. LINNEUS.

THE Riverside Wheelmen of New York, have made two important changes in their list of events for their meet, which is to be held at Manhattan Field on Oct. 3d, to wit.:—The team race to consist of safeties instead of ordinary wheels, and to be open to members of all cycling clubs in place of New York clubs only. This will undoubtedly be the feature of the day's sport. Entries close Sept. 26th, with E. A. Powers, 232 West 104th street, New York.

THE first century run of the Milwaukee (Wis.) Wheelmen, which took place on the 6th of September, was a complete success. The course was from Milwaukee to Watertown and return. The start was made at 5 o'clock A. M. from the club rooms, and the riders were given until 7 o'clock in the evening to finish. Out of 86 riders who started, 66 reached Watertown at 11.30, 21 minutes behind schedule time, which the 59 successful ones made up on the return trip. The riders received quite an ovation by a large number of spectators who had assembled. The wheelmen were very much gratified at the result of the run, and establishes the fact that the Milwaukee riders are among the strongest in the country.

CORRECTION—The races of the Maine Division, report of which appeared in last week's issue, should have been headed "At Portland," and not "At Saco" as it was printed.

THE Park Avenue Wheelmen ran their second annual tournament on the grounds of the Tioga Athletic Association, September 12th. The day was favorable to fast time, and the contests were spirited and exciting. The following is the summary:

IT is currently reported that the famous "Warwick Ghost" had considerable aluminum steel in its makeup. It is wonderfully light and strong.

WE extend our sympathy to Mr. Fred Jenkins in the loss by death of his little daughter, age one year.

THE Warwick racer is well named the "Ghost." It certainly has the speed of a spirit.

THE pictures taken by A. D. Peck, Jr., at Springfield, are most excellent. Copies of any or all can be had by addressing Capt. A. D. Peck, Jr., 77 Franklin street, Boston.

CLARK GILHOUSEN and Miss Rena M. Fouts, both of Colorado Springs, Col., were married Sunday, September 6th.

F. C. GRAVES and P. J. Berlo, both holders of records, ride Warwick Perfections.

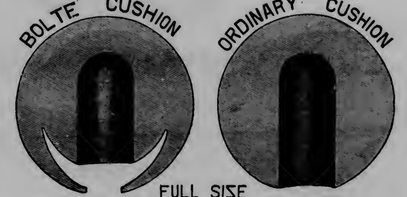
"SENATOR" MORGAN is now in New York, and will aid in making preparations for the big professional tournament next month.

THE Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co. are to be congratulated upon the wonderful performances made on their wheel.

THE Lee (Mass.) Cyclers held a "Flower Parade" last week. Each of the cycles was profusely decorated with flowers and bunting, and the effect it is said was decidedly beautiful and novel.

AT the recent Springfield tournament, the liberality of the Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co. in providing free busses for visiting wheelmen, was the cause of much favorable comment. The Warwick people believe in doing things in good shape.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, September 15th, a young man about 24 years old, smooth face and wearing glasses, height about 5 feet, 9 inches, very slim build, weight about 125 pounds, giving his name as Hamilton from Portland, Me., claiming to be a professional racer and trick rider, rented Columbia safety bicycle No. 4475, pattern of 1889, from the Cataract Wheel and Supply Co., Niagara Falls, an hour. Up to last advice the young man had not shown up.



BROKEN BOW, NEB., has fifty wheelmen who go flying over the prairie. The soil is said to particularly favor good riding.

THE old-time Springfield enthusiasm reached fever heat when the favorite of 1885, Geo. M. Hendee, pushed the Warwick racer to the front and won the mile open. A Springfield man on a wheel made in Springfield, winning against flyers from all parts, was just what suited the crowd, and they cheered to the echo.

THE IMPROVED BOLTE TIRE.

THE Sercombe & Bolte Mfg. Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., send us the following cuts, description and claims of their new cushion tire. They say: "We claim that the improved Bolte cushion tire has more resiliency than any other cushion made, whether applied to an ordinary solid tire rim or to the regular 1 1-4 or 1 1-2 inch rim. Instead of running the hole longitudinally through the tire as heretofore (hose pipe fashion) the holes are put in transversely about 1-8 inch apart, the elastic partition between giving it both strength and softness. We find that it does away with any possibility of cutting through to the inner hole, which would of course happen at times when the tubular tire was used.

"Although these tires were first made to apply to old solid tired wheels only, we are now able to furnish them in regular form for ordinary cushion rims. However, as every mechanic knows, the smaller rims make much more rigid and lighter wheel; and as the best qualities of our improved cushion tire are brought out by using the smaller rim we strongly advise them even in new machines."

ON Thursday evening of last week, the members of the Findlay (Ohio) Cycling Club gave a lantern parade, which included 80 wheels nicely decorated. This is the first parade of the kind ever had in Findlay, and proved to be a success.

MR. AND MRS. L. P. GLOVER of Harrisburg, Pa., recently rode 516 miles in eight days on singles. The route was from Harrisburg to Columbus, Ohio, via Elmira, Niagara Falls, Cleveland, Mansfield and Delaware. Mr. and Mrs. Glover intead to make their future home in Columbus, Ohio.

THE Columbias did their share at the Peoria meet, the riders capturing 23 out of the 71 prizes, as follows: 8 firsts, 3 seconds, 6 thirds, 4 fourths and 2 special time prizes. From this it would seem that the Columbias are still "on deck!"

THE Coventry Machinists' Co. will place a new saddle on the market next season.

MESSRS HOWARD A. SMITH & Co., Newark, N. J., are now appointing agents for next year, for their large line of Bicycles and Bicycle Supplies. Send for their new catalogue and price list. See advertisement on page 721.

NONE of the riders of the new 36 pound model E Swift in the Boston century run had need even of a wrench.

THE Overman Wheel Co. issued some time ago a most excellent little pamphlet entitled "Bicycling and Health for Women," by Lucy M. Hall, M. D. Those ladies who have not already one of these little books should by all means procure one.

THE Fitchburg Railroad are offering exceptionally low rates ($5.00 round trip) for an excursion via Hoosac Tunnel to Albany, Hudson river, day or night boats to New York and Fall River line to Boston. Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October, and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Below we publish a table showing the membership by States. PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN. RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other one wheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a liberal amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.

Jersey Fitting

originated with some sensible ladies for Horse-back riding, to do away with folds and plaits in skirts and drawers, which made a very uncomfortable cushion. Then followed the lady bicycle riders, who made the same complaint. Afterwards came a call for tennis, croquet, boating, yachting and all out-door sports, climbing mountains, and long tramps in the woods.

Then began light to dawn on the minds of some of the more sensible ladies, who said "How foolish we all are to burden ourselves with so many skirts, when one garment weighing only six or eight ounces, is warmer and so much more comfortable every way, giving better protection and perfect freedom to the whole body."

These garments are jersey-fitting, and made to fit, so there will be no more pressure on one part of the body than on the other. Ladies who have worn the Equestrian Trousers are very enthusiastic in their praise. These garments are fast coming into universal use; let every lady try them.

Wear the Equestrian Trousers for "Comfort and Health," and what you like over them to make you fashionable.

Before purchasing, see Holmes & Co's Patent, represented in the accompanying cut, then you will buy no others.

Ladies going abroad are buying them to wear on ship board; and a very wise thing to do.

Only one complaint has reached us and that has been the break away at the fork of the legs.

After a careful study for the best way to avoid this, we have KNIT, (NOT SEWED) in a piece of cloth, just the right shape to give it a proper fullness at the fork, making it heavier just where the strain and wear comes, which prevents it from breaking away.

We have taken out "Letters Patent" on this improvement, under date April 28, 1891, and consider it one of the most indispensable features of the "Equestrian Trousers."

We have them now perfection in every part, and every lady before buying should see and know for themselves how much this new patent adds to the value of the Equestrian Trousers.

The American Cyclist says:

"The second edition of this useful book has been published by the Wheelman Co., 12 Pearl street, Boston, and all users of the wheel will find it a most valuable book. The chapter that relates to the history of wheeling is concise, yet full enough to cover the subject clearly. In the chapter on Practical Points the reader will find valuable instruction, which, if followed only in part, will many times repay the purchase of the book. It is almost indispensable to a wheelman."

HICKORY SHIRTS.

The word Hickory is not as old as the timber it designates. There is some question as to the relative age. There may be parts of the earth and its trimmings which could have been made in 6 days, though we believe this fairy tale is not credited any more by the majority of scholars who are "high forward," but a much longer period is supposed to have elapsed between the separating of the darkness from the light and the completion of a place to put either.

But, be that as it may, we feel sure that the first Hickory tree was not made in 6 days. We are asked if we do not consider that all things are possible and we reply most emphatically that we do not.

Such baby talk is fast taking its proper rank, and in the interest of human advancement is, by most thinking people, being relegated to a place alongside of the old idea that the earth was flat. An idea, by the way, which came quite natural to many of our ancestors.

The grand ongoing of the universe is too sublime a thing to be crammed into the petty pocket of a "creed," or be brought within the limits of any 'amateur rule."

We notice in the current press that the Rochester Presbytery has thrown out the doctrine of predestination.

We believe they have done a good and a wise thing, but what would the Presbytery have said 20 years ago if anyone who should have advocated the admission into Heaven of a man who had not his League ticket? Would they not have wanted him "suspended" by the neck? And yet we are liable to get letters in reply to this blaming us severely for saying that they still hold to "beliefs" which are belittling to, and inconsistant with the idea of an all wise First Cause.

Horrible as was this doctrine of man's predestination we firmly believe in it as applied to bicycles, and to be more explicit we believe that from the beginning of time it was foreordained that bicycle wheels should be made of Hickory. So strongly did we believe in this theory that we made it a part of our creed, and to this day we have seen no cause to regret it.

You may have wondered what possible connection all this has with the above headline. Well, they haven't any real connection and now that we feel easier on the question of predestination, we would say that the following letter is just received:

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18, 1891.
Sterling Elliott, Newton, Mass.:

Dear Sir—In a late novel of Bret Harte's he mentions a "Hickory Shirt," being unable to discover the wherefore of this peculiar name I now write the greatest authority on Hickory in the country for an explanation. Will you kindly enlighten me and oblige,

Yours, MARGERY.

This is a delicate subject for us to approach and we do so in a spirit of benevolence mingled with a desire to maintain the proud eminence of a position so kindly accorded us by "Margery."

We have a suspicion that Margery is a man connected with a prominent Philadelphia paper, but whoever he is, she no doubt wants the information, and we hasten to accommodate her.

So far as we know shirts have not actually been made of Hickory, though wooden overcoats are a very common thing.

The name, as applied to a shirt, indicates a heavy cotton goods woven in narrow stripes of blue and white, and much in vogue for "every-day wear" among the western miners and farmers.

We have worn these shirts, and can confidently recommend them to Margery as being durable. Albeit a little harsh to any one accustomed to silk (as we conclude Margery is, judging by the texture of his note paper.)

A Hickory shirt doesn't puncture easily, the first cost is not too high, they may be worn a long time without washing, and hence in certain circles among workmen in the more highly protected industries they are very popular.

The duty on this kind of cloth is 45 per cent. ad valorem, and the duty of every workman who wears it is to go to the polls early and often and vote for the abolition of all tariff and other duties on that which is used only by the poor man.

Hickory shirts are good, but we don't wear them, though we hope to be able to some day.

ELLIOTT HICKORY CYCLE CO.,
Newton, Mass.

P. S.—Hickory wheels are good too, and we do wear those.

P. P., S. S.—We learn that many of the gentlemen who were initiated into the Hickory Club at Peoria were unable to obtain badges. Several have written us to that effect, and we are pleased to furnish all such with the proper insignia. We have sent one to the mayor of Peoria and advised him to place if on the mantelpiece so that he may see it while he eats.

SYLPH CYCLES RUN EASY.

At least, that is what riders say; but skeptics ask "why should there be any difference in first-class makes?" "Are not the principles the same and the workmanship substantially equal?" We think not. Perfection is yet being sought for, and until found, things will differ. All bearings have friction, be they ball bearings or not, but some have more than others; all catch dirt, but some retain it more than others; all wear, but some faster; all may be cleaned, but some with difficulty, etc., ad. lib. All cycles have weight, but some in the wrong place. It makes a big difference whether you carry a grain of sand in your hat or in your shoe, and married men know that fifty pounds of load is not hard to handle, nor is a like weight of cycle very objectionable, but lugging a feather bed of that weight up three flights of stairs is quite different. If Sylph cycles run easy there is plenty of room for reasons.

THE SUBMARINE BICYCLE.

Although the bulky receivers retarded my progress somewhat, I still managed to make a speed of 150 miles an hour without great exertion. My course lay in the direction of the Pelew Islands, which I judged to be about 1450 miles in a northwesterly direction. Night, which closes in so swiftly in these southern latitudes, was fast approaching, so attaching my mouth piece to the reservoirs, I wound in the air tubes, thus severing all connections with the upper world and sunk sullenly to the bottom between two immense rocks. The pressure gauge registered over 600 yards, at which depth I was in almost total darkness, but when looking upward a dim misty light appeared showing the crags and ragged peaks of the mighty rocks in all their gaunt grandeur. A short search was sufficient to discover the resting place which I was in need of; a cave, whose floor was above the level of the entrance. The bright rays from my electric lamp aroused the slimy denizens of the cave, and several veteran crabs and lobsters of extraordinary appearance scurried down the incline into open water, the unpleasant clinking of their claws and shells being faithfully conveyed by the water to my helmet. Having ejected the tenants, I drew in the air pipes and opened the reservoir. On taking up the newspaper I found that L. Block had won the State championship at Denver, Col.; 5 miles in 14.37 4-5; also one mile safety open on a No. 12 CUSHION TIRED UNION BICYCLE.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

C. W. FOURDRINIER. J. S. DEAN.

Editorial Contributor, F. A. EGAN.

BOSTON, 2 OCTOBER, 1891.

LAST winter and spring the League disturbed a hornet's nest by taking a radical position on the expense question. The A. A. U. took a very decided attitude in favor of a liberal expense rule, and after due discussion and a good deal of noise the liberal expense idea prevailed and peace smiled once more. During that discussion much was said by the A. A. U. men as to the disastrous results to the L. A. W. should the latter organization incorporate with its rules one which would hamper its racing men in the accepting of proper expenses. We were told that all the racing men would desert the League and go over to the association, a prediction which had logic for its basis. Having adopted in harmony a rule governing the expense question, the two leading athletic bodies for a time ceased to be troubled, but alas the slow match has again been lighted by the New England branch of the A. A. U., and unless cold water is thrown upon it at St. Louis this week, an explosion will take place which will shake up the athletic world very considerably. This time it is the A. A. U. which raises its voice in protest against the practice of the managers of the great cycle meets in giving pianos, diamonds, bicycles, gold watches and such trifles as prizes.

WE remarked above that there was some logic in the argument advanced by the A. A. U. men last spring that in case the L. A. W. did not adopt a liberal expense rule the cracks would desert the L. A. W. in a body and go over to the A. A. U. Waiving any discussion as to the merits of the protest raised by the New Englanders, we would ask these gentlemen whether the same line of logical reasoning as to the possible action of the racing men will not apply in the event of the A. A. U. voting to prohibit its members from taking prizes other than of nominal value? At the present writing the position of the L. A. W. on the question of prizes and expenses is more consistent than that of the A. A. U.

SOME years ago the riders of Mobile, Ala., made an effort to force the proprietors of the shell road in that city to permit cyclers the use of the road on the payment of a regular toll. The effort proved futile, and the courts were not appealed to, for the very reason that a similar case had just been decided against the cyclists in North Carolina. In both cases the roads were owned by a private corporation, and in the case cited it was held that as the road was not maintained by public tax, and only those who used it were required to pay toll, the proprietors had the right to say what class of vehicles should be permitted to use it. In view of that decision, the League, which had fought the case cited in North Carolina, declined to take up the Mobile matter in the courts, and at the time much dissatisfaction was evinced by the Mobile members.

By referring to another column it will be seen that the Mobile cyclists have made another attempt and have met with another and most decided rebuff. The editor of this paper spent two years in the city of Mobile, and has enjoyed many a drive over the superb surface of the shell road, and we heartily sympathize with the cyclists of that city in their endeavors to obtain the right to use same, but there is no doubt with the present temper of the citizens of that very conservative city, it would be useless to try and force the corporation to permit cycles on the road, especially as the precedent established would carry great weight in the courts of Alabama.

It must be remembered that the Mobile shell road is not a "public highway" in the usual acceptation of the term, and its uses are almost entirely those devoted to pleasure traffic. In fact, as we remember it, the road led to nowhere in particular, but was simply a road stretching seven miles down the bay, and there was no way to get back to the city except by retracing one's route.

It is none the less distasteful to the present advanced idea of what is just, that the corporation in question exercises the right to exclude cycles from the use of its road, but with the two years' experience we had in Mobile the popular opposition to cycles or any other new idea seems to us entirely consistent with the general character of its citizens. To citizens of more advanced and liberal cities of the North and West this opposition to the cycle seems absurd and unreasonable, and to the riders of Mobile it is a serious thing, inasmuch as the roads of Mobile and vicinity, outside the shell road, are of the poorest kind. If there was the shadow of a chance to open the toll gates of the Mobile shell road through the medium of the courts, we should urge the League to take a hand in the fight; but such an attempt we earnestly believe would only result in a decision upholding the shell road company in its narrow-minded policy.

WE need not dwell upon the necessity of exercise for women further than to say that competent authorities look upon that derived from cycling as the best safeguard against certain diseases peculiar to their sex, the enormous prevalence of which at the present day is no doubt, in great measure, due to the physical indolence which many of them have been taught to consider as a grace rather than a defect—we had almost said vice. In view of this it is gratifying to note the rapidity with which American womanhood is adopting the wheel to secure the exercise they so sadly need.

It is a mistake for women, though, to aim directly at the development of muscle, as their brothers may too often advocate their doing; the Venus of Milo, not the half masculine Amazon, must always be the type of physical perfection for them, and it is from the fact that their exercise should be chiefly hygienic rather than athletic, that the bicycle has been so highly endorsed by physicians when asked concerning the advisability of women riding it.

NO one ever knew a girl who was an enthusiastic wheelwoman who wasn't full of really good and noble possibilities. Such girls are usually overflowing with high spirits and good health, and their indulgence in cycling, which is the cause thereof, should not be checked or frowned down so long as it does not overstep the boundaries of safety and become injurious from its excess. Even an extreme may be overlooked rather than crush out the love of exercise in the open air, the need of which weighs so heavily upon American womanhood. For the making of a healthy, energetic and charming woman no girl has so likely a chance as the cycling girl.

A MAN named Johnson, in Minnesota, claims to have discovered the long-lost art of tempering copper so that it can be made as hard and as elastic as steel. Perhaps the wheelman of the future will ride a wheel of copper.

THE most wonderful part of a cycling woman's experience is the masculine attitude towards her. The wheelman, be he husband, son, or brother, is consumedly glad of her taking to riding, and is ready to maintain against all comers that the cycling girl, since she has gone in for riding, is "that impossible she, the sum of all perfection in a woman."

SOME of our contemporaries have editorially promulgated the belief that the day of the long editorial has passed. While we do not wish to enter into any discussion of the subject, we cannot refrain from publishing the following view of the case from the pen of a writer who, though he signs himself "Scribbler," clearly belies the title he assumes by the force of his reasoning. "A short horse is soon curried, so a minor topic can be easily disposed of. But a topic of pith and moment involving latitude of opinion, and perhaps a questioning of facts, will necessarily take more words of explanation and argument. The most momentous principles may be disposed of in an aphorism or an injunction, provided there be no question as to the premise, but if evidence has to be weighed or principles discussed, a short editorial would be as defective as a long one might be needless in a case of conceded facts. A long article to establish admitted truths is tiresome, a short one on known facts may be dogmatic. It is very much a matter of taste."

THE principle of speed gear, so well known to wheelmen in connection with safety machines, is to be introduced in a modified form into a locomotive now building in Milwaukee. Thus cycling furnishes a useful hint to its dearest foe—the railroad.

THE latter day cycle inventor who makes a statement that he has a mechanical device by which on increasing speed, power is also increased, must be classed among the men who juggle with words without regard to their true meaning. For instance, here comes an inventor who is reported as saying in explaining his invention, "By applying the gear action as in the common safety, the speed is greatly multiplied and the power increased." The veriest tyro knows that increased speed is gained only by loss of power in like ratio. There is a mechanical principle involved in this relative loss or gain of power and speed, which is as fixed as the law which governs the movements of the earth we inhabit.

BY the ordinary rules which govern well behaved weather, and lastly by the almanac, cool fall weather should now be with us. Instead of this we have had for the past three weeks weather which even the tropics would not be ashamed to own as seasonable. We love the summer and all its attendant out of door sports and pleasures, we would rather see summer linger in the lap of fall than have winter do likewise in the lap of spring. If this thing continues, almanac makers will have to move the imaginary line of separation between summer and fall and include September in the family of summer months. It is getting to be very much of a fashion to have September one of the hottest months of the year, and yet by a ridiculous and arbitary rule we are compelled to make believe that fall is with us on the first of September, and consequently cheviot shirts and straw hats are retired, the use of fans is an absolute sin, and willy nilly we must shiver and think that the air is cool and bracing even when the mercury gambols cheerfully among the nineties. The majority of Septembers since we can remember in this latitude, have ranged in temperature from summer heat up into the nineties. With this fact in view, why would it not be a good thing for poor laboring humanity at large to acknowledge that September is likely to be hot, and extend the summer half-holiday on Saturday clean up to October 1st? Also would not the young idea "learn to shoot" just as well if the school season was not commenced until the same date? Americans are getting to appreciate the value of out-door life more and more every year. Now if we will only accept the divisions of the seasons as they really are and not be driven into winter quarters by an arbitary and false ruling of the almanac makers we will be doing ourselves and our posterity a great favor. Let us look on September as it is, i. e., a summer month, and treat it as such. We will make just as much money, our children will learn just as much, even if we prolong the summer holiday season one month.

THE bicycle was not absent from the general rush for lots lately made over the Oklahoma border, and from all accounts the wheel more than held its own in the mad race with the mustang.

SOME of our exchanges have resurrected that mummified joke anent cyclers while riding "looking so solemn and anxious." There was some reason for this charge in the "good old days of the ordinary." A good rider was naturally careful, and this carefulness of manners and expression has been distorted into one of anxiety and misery. Wheelmen do not need to express their pleasure by grinning like a Cheshire cat, although some authorities seemed to think otherwise. The advent and success of the once despised dwarf has changed things, and now a man does not have to look out so sharp for dangerous obstacles in the road as he did when the ordinary was in the heyday of popularity, hence the old expression has disappeared, and he has more time to devote to the general landscape and his immediate surroundings, and he can assume an expression more in keeping with the enjoyment he feels.

SAYS an exchange: "A man who lives within a thousand miles of Hudson, N. Y., mounted his bicycle the other day and went hunting for a domestic. He called upon a certain worthy Irish woman who, after a careful scrutiny of his mode of conveyance, proudly drew herself up and said: "I 'av money of my own, and as long as I have I works for none but as comes for me in carriages"

IN a recent trial in France the question came up as to what a cycle was. The prosecution contended that the bicycle was a carriage, inasmuch as it was an instrument of transportation on wheels. The defendant's counsel argued that the bicyclist was a horseman, the bicycle taking the place of the horse. The judge decided in favor of the latter!!

THE citizens of Buffalo, N. Y., and the better class of wheelmen are complaining bitterly of the abuse of the sidewalk privileges by some of the wheelmen. Steps will be taken to abate the nuisance.

THE officials of the Cleveland Athletic Club are endeavoring to make arrangements to open the new athletic park with a bicycle tournament.

THE Murfreesboro (Tenn.) Bicycle Club will hold a handicap road race next Wednesday, Oct. 7. The route will be from Murfreesboro to Shelbyville.

JAMES BRAY and W. Archer, two Brooklyn, N. Y., riders, while returning from Jamaica, L. I., last week Thursday night, were "held up" by two highwaymen, and a levy of $5 was made and collected before the cyclists were allowed to proceed. The report of the affair in the Times of Brooklyn naively winds up with the statement: "Bray paid the money and thinks of having a warrant issued for the arrest of the parties unless a settlement is satisfactorily made."

WE met Mr. Charles Richards Dodge on School street last Monday. Mr. Dodge still retains his interest in cycling, and is a prominent member of the Capital City Bicycle Club of Washington, D. C. He informed us that this enterprising club has made arrangements to give thirty entertainments during the non-riding season in about all of which the ladies will participate. There are to be eight germans, and the other events will be of a musical and literary nature, a few stag parties, smokers, etc. The Capitals lay low, but it is one of the most active and enterprising clubs in America.

THE (Colored) Capital City Cycle Club of Washington, D. C., were to hold a ten mile handicap road race on the Conduit road, September 30. This club is newly organized, and is anxious to hear from other colored clubs either in the East or the West, and make some arrangements whereby the colored cracks of the country could be brought together at a colored tournament to be held at Washington some time this fall. G. H. Howard is the Captain, but he does not give us his street address in Washington.

WANTED: The name of the wheelman who on the 19th of September put up at the hotel in Monroe, Mich., and then lit out without paying his bill. Undoubtedly he "forgot" (?), but if this item meets his eye we hope it will quicken his memory or conscience as the case may be, and that he will make good the oversight.

ROGER W. POLK, Aaron B. Curry and Edward F. Shaw, members of the Providence (R. I.) Cycling Club, made a century run from Providence to Boston and return Friday, September 25. They started at five o'clock in the morning and returned home about seven in the evening, taking eleven hours for riding, and spending the rest of the time about Boston. They are the first members to undertake the trip.

THE "Chester Cycle Club" was organized in Chester, Orange Co., N. Y., recently with twenty charter members, which is an excellent number for the size of their town. They have enjoyed several club runs, have given a parade, and are comparatively the most active club in the county, notwithstanding the short time they have been organized.

A CORRESPONDENT writes: "Much is said about the mismanagement of the Field day exercises held at Warwick, N. Y., lately. This was due apparently to the lack of experience of the officers and committees."

THE wheelmen and women of Ipswich, Mass., held a lantern parade last week Thursday. The prizes were awarded as follows: first prize, bicycle lamp, Eugene Hills; second prize, luggage carrier, Miss Alice Ward; third prize, bicycle horn, Chas. Haskell. About 100 wheels were in line. The dance at Damon Hall was largely attended, and was a success.

THE Richmond, Va., Bicycle Club is one of the most active in the South. This club numbers 40in membership, and it has secured most comfortable and commodious quarters.

ON October 18, weather permitting, the Belmont Club Wheelmen, Taunton, Mass., will hold a century run, open to all cyclists, to Lexington and back. Start at five A. M., pace eight to nine miles an hour. Entries 50 cents, closing on the 18th with P. L. Hassenforder, Captain. The total amount will be used to buy a suitable souvenir to those who finish.

WE no sooner lay the "expense question" to rest than the "prize question" in all its gaunt unpleasantness rises up to vex our spirit.

THE racing men are all at Springfield trying to make old Father Time take a back seat.

A SERIOUS accident happened to Mr. Abrams of Cambridge, N. Y., while coasting a hill in the neighborhood of Hoosick Falls. He became frightened at the speed he was going and applied the brake too suddenly. Result, a broken nose, a gash in the neck and a severely cut face. It would seem almost an insult to the intelligence of readers to point out the moral, yet we cannot too strongly urge the necessity of keeping the cycle well under control in descending steep grades.

MR. MARION of Hartford has been staying a few days in Quincy, Ill., the guest of Mr. W. M. Brewster.

THE New York ladies' bicycle club propose to make cycling for ladies popular in Gotham. Speaking of the disfavor that lady riders met with in New York one of the members of the ladies' club said: "No wonder people guyed some women when they wore street dresses and big hats surmounted by flower gardens. We intend to have a professional instructor who will be expected to follow the club on its trips. These will be short at first, but will be extended so that we will go to Yonkers and perhaps to Coney Island. We do not think it prudent for women to ride unescorted in the park. The instructor will look out particularly, of course, for the poorer riders and accidents.

JOHN JACOBS of Brooklyn had to pay $50 damages and costs for carelessly running down Miss R. C. Talbot on the evening of August 10 last in Prospect Park.

AN instructor in cycling states that on one evening last week he instructed one man without arms, another with but one leg, a third with but one arm, a fourth with but one hand, and a fifth without any lower jaw. These were all at the school at the same time.

MR. ALLEN W. SWAN, the President of the New Bedford (Mass.) Club, who has recently made the trans-continental tour, arrived at his home last week, and the occasion was made one for a rousing reception to the plucky tourist. The event took the form of a complimentary dinner at which all his club mates and several guests were present. Mr. Swan gave a most interesting account of his tour, and the pleasures and difficulties incidental. He was taken quite ill while going through Illinois, but he kept a-going in spite of his physical condition. At intervals during his remarks he would think of some incident, which told in his informal but entertaining manner would cause applause and laughter. The story of being taken for a bear, of marrying a rich heiress, and how he forded a stream were amusing. Mr. F. Weaver, who made the tour last year, and the account of which appeared in these columns, was a guest.

CHIEF CONSUL ROBINSON of Massachusetts has positively refused to stand for another term of office. Mr. Geo. A. Perkins of Boston will probably be his successor, and a better selection could not be made.

ONE of the favorite runs of the Denver (Col.) cyclers is to Pike's Peak and return. The Denver cycler who hasn't taken this run is looked on as a sort of "tender-foot."

THE Hartford (Ct.) Wheel Club will have another century run on the same lines as that of last year, only the "time limit" of 15 hours will be lowered to 14 hours. The course will be: Hartford to Wethersfield, thence to Holyoke, to Springfield, and back to Holyoke again, thence to Hartford. This completes 100 miles. The club has decided to give a series of four socials in Foot Guard Armory this winter. December 18, January 6 and 15, and February 3 are the dates.

THE Ladies' Cycling Club of New York now numbers 19 members. The ladies will hold a reception early next month, and meantime will endeavor to enlist the services of every woman rider in the city to help make the club a success.

A GOOD story is told by the Ansonia (Ct.) Sentinel, of three Democrats who ran an impromptu race on the Birmingham (Ct.) track the other day. One rode a pneumatic, one a cushion, and the other a solid. The cushion man weakened, but the pneumatic and the solid had it out, and the former won by inches. When the race was over it was found that the rear tire of the pneumatic was fast flattening, and there was a peculiar noise of escaping air. In fact the noise was a whistle and there seemed to be a tune mixed in somewhere; but whether "Fair Harvard," or "Here's to Good Old Yale," neither could say. The solid tire man asked what was the trouble.

"Oh, I ran over a tack," said the owner of the pneumatic, and the escaping air verified his assertion.

One would naturally suppose that under such fortunate circumstances nothing but sympathy would be expressed for the owner; but instead of that the solid tire man sarcastically remarked:

"Well, I'm a Democrat, and I always told you that tax would ruin the Machine."

THE cyclists of Akron, Ohio, gave an illuminated parade last week Friday evening. There were 300 in line, and clubs from Cleveland and Medina were well represented. There were about a score of ladies in the procession, and their appearance was hailed with applause all along the route of parade.

AMONG the thousands that waited on the Oklahoma border for the signal to rush in and present were several who were mounted on bicycles. One man is reported to have ridden from Guthrie to Chandler and back on his wheel, a distance of 95 miles, in eight and a quarter hours. The roads were rough, and a portion of the way he travelled along an Indian trail, but he distanced every horse in the vicinity and proved anew the efficiency of the bicycle in cross-country runs.

MR. AND MRS. W. A. POLK of Providence, R. I., rode from Providence to Boston Saturday, Sept. 26th, each on singles and each with a child on the front of the machine. The children weighed each about 40 pounds. The start was made from Providence at 7 A. M., and arrived in Boston at 7 P. M. The roads were bad all the way to Sharon, and considering the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Polk carried the children through in good shape and without accident, the ride must go down as record of its kind.

PHILADELPHIA Wheelmen will indulge in a century run from Harrisburg to Philadelphia, Oct. 4. The schedule is as follows: Leave Philadelphia for Harrisburg by train on Saturday, Oct. 3d, at 6 P. M., from Broad and Callowhill streets. Lodging and breakfast at Harrisburg. Leave Harrisburg, 4 A. M.; arrive Hummelstown, 9 miles, 5.15 A. M.; arrive Lebanon, 16 miles, 7 A. M.; arrive Reading, 28 miles, 10 A. M.; arrive Pottstown, 16 miles, 12 M. Dinner at Pottstown. Leave Pottstown 1 P. M.; arrive Collegeville, 12 miles, 2.30 P. M.; arrive Norristown, 19 miles, 3.45 P. M.; arrive Centre Square, 5 miles, 4.15 P. M.; arrive Philadelphia, 17 miles, 7 P. M.

HE who hesitates is lost, especially when dodging a bicycle on the sidewalk.—Exchange.

THE following is strange if true: "J. J. Currie of Liverpool, England, is at preset experimenting upon a new patent pneumatic tire that will not burst, and which, though pricked with pins, nails, etc., will not allow the air to escape. It is not fitted with any anti-puncturing patent. In fact, nails have been inserted clean through the tire until reaching the rim, and no air escaped. It is inflated in a similar way to the ordinary pneumatic, and the valve used will admit of the tire being deflated."—Exchange.

MR. H. G. PRIEST arrived in this country last week. He is now in Philadelphia, and will remain here for some time probably.

A CURIOUS accident happened at Bradford, Pa., last week. Two boys conceived the idea of harnessing a pony to a bicycle and having some fun. One boy rode the pony and one the bicycle. The pony got frightened and ran away. The boy on the bicycle jumped and escaped with a few scratches. The bicycle, of course, fell and caught a telegraph pole; the shock threw the other boy off the pony, and he also escaped without injury. The boys have had all they want of that kind of "fun."

P. J. DUKELOW and W. Le Messurier of Rochester, N. Y., made the run from that city to Buffalo and return, a distance of 148 miles, in the actual riding time of 12h. 12m. They left Rochester at 4.07 A. M., and arrived at home at 7.45 P. M.

THE Crescent Century Wheelmen of Washington, D. C., made their first century run on Sunday last, leaving that city at 5.30 A. M. The first 43 miles was over a rough, sandy road, the remainder of the ride being over roads fairly good. The route of the run was from Washington to Ellicott City, to Eatonsville, to Baltimore, by Liberty and Franklin pikes, to Steelton, and return to Baltimore. The distance covered was 103 miles. Time 14 1-2 hours. Deducting time lost waiting for dinner, by taking wrong road and getting lost, and time for supper, the actual riding time was about 11 hours. There were no mishaps on the run, and members of the Crescent Century Wheelmen are all very well satisfied with the success of their first century. Those members who do not now belong to the L. A. W. will be required to file their applications within 60 days from date of run. There will hereafter be semi-annual century runs by this club.

A BIG BALL FOR BOSTON MEMBERS L. A. W.

A BOSTON member of the L. A. W. sends us the following suggestion: "Why would it not be a good idea to have the Boston members of the L. A. W. run a grand invited ball this coming winter in one of the largest halls in the city. Its success would be assured at its inception.

The Secretary could call a Convention, and if decided upon, an Executive Committee be appointed. The many good results financially and socially are self-evident, and such an affair can be made the most brilliant of anything of its kind gotten up in our midst. The BICYCLING WORLD can be a big factor in its accomplishment. Throwing out the suggestion for what it is worth."

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

PERHAPS at no place has athletic training received closer and more scientific attention than at Oxford, where the fitting of athletes for competition on road, path or river has been brought to an exact science. To racing men the following schedule of what an Oxonian is expected to do in regard to his diet may not come amiss, now the strife for supremacy among our racing cracks has brought them to a position where every advantage must be taken to make themselves fit for the contests that demand from them perfect health, condition, and stamina. Your English collegian gets up at 7.15 A. M., and takes a biscuit and a glass of milk before going out for a gentle walk of a mile. Breakfast, at 8.30, consists of tea or cocoa (two cups at the most), sole, or some other kind of fish, chops, with poached eggs upon them, and some form of salad, such as lettuce, water-cress, etc. For luncheon, cold meat with one glass of beer is allowed. At dinner the menu includes fish, chicken, turkey or roast beef, milk-pudding, and stewed fruit, rhubarb preferably; two glasses of beer are allowed, and after dinner one orange and a glass of port may be taken. At 10 P. M. all must be in bed. This seems to me to be a very sensible dietary, with plenty of muscle forming elements in it, but not too carnivorous, and it certainly does not call upon the racing man for any very great self-denials in following it. The breakfast outlined above, though of Homeric abundance, and appalling to a person of indifferent digestion, must give a healthy racing man a solid basis of support to begin the day on. The point in our training system which is at present the least studied, is that pertaining to diet, and the outline as above may serve as a rough guide for the construction of a dietary fitted to the needs and requirements of our own racing men, and for that reason I have given it.

An editorial writer recently replied to the pulpit attacks upon cycling in the following very clever manner: "The pulpit need not fear the competition of the bicycle. The evils with which religion has to deal do not come of health-giving exercise in the open air, for which a vigorous frame, clear head and steady hand are necessary. In England the new mode of travel is used in missionary effort, and 'cyclist church parades' are becoming common." This on the editorial page of a great daily does more to set cycling right before the public than one can well imagine who does not know how great the power wielded by a prominent paper really is.

It is from France that wheelmen are constantly receiving new ideas in relation to the wheel. 'Tis there that ladies disdain the wheel especially constructed for their use, and boldly mount one made for the sterner sex, arraying themselves in a semi-masculine garb the better to conform to the position they assume of equal sharers in the sport. These "amateurs" take their prizes in money, not medals, and when racing array themselves in gorgeous jockey costumes of silks and satins. It remained for a French judge, though, to upset the whole cycling structure in a recent decision, handed down by him in a case where a wheelman was brought before him charged with riding at night without a lamp, in defiance of the strictly enforced French ordinance requiring vehicles after sunset to be provided with lights. The prosecution contended that the bicycle was a carriage, inasmuch as it was an instrument of transportation on wheels. Certainly no one but a Frenchman, it would seem, could attempt to deny this in the light of so many decisions in its favor in this and other countries. But this was where the defendant's counsel was a "Jim dandy," in the flowery language of the West; he argued that the bicycle rider was a horseman, the bicycle taking the place of the horse; and the judge upheld this view so that it remained for France to put the "horse before the cart" in cycling, and give a legal endorsement to that old-time term of "steed of steel."

IT is interesting to note that while some unimportant differences exist among European countries in the details of management and maintenance of the public roads, these countries are practically unanimous in their policy of placing the important roads under the direct management of the general government and of paying the expenses of construction and maintenance out of the general funds of the State. The result has been most salutary. The splendid facilities for the moving of travel and traffic over these improved roads, has proved the wisdom of placing the important roads under the care of skilled engineers and workmen, and the object lesson thus taught has borne fruit in the wonderful improvement of the provincial roads, which are maintained under management of the local authorities. It is no uncommon thing in France, Baden, Germany, Austria or Italy to see loads, weighing in the aggregate from three to four times the load hauled by the ordinary farm team in our country, while the distances frequently travelled by the European draft horse with these immense loads are so much greater than the maximum attempted by the American farmer as to be almost beyond belief.

* * * Thousands of miles of these roads exist in all parts of Europe; and so jealously are they regarded that no policy of State Government seems to be in favor which does not include a proper care for the country roads.

Two-wheeled carts are in very common use among the farmers of Europe, just as they are in some parts of our own country. They hitch their horses one before the other in "tandem" style, and most of their heavy loads are hauled in this way. Now let me show you a picture of an American tandem work team with an American load on an American public highway. Here you have it. [We didn't have plate of this: the picture is of a two-wheeled cart sunk hub deep in the mud of a "road?"—ED.].

This picture was taken within five miles of the public buildings of one of the largest cities in the United States. The load contains only 400 bricks, which is considerably less than a fair load for one horse on a good road. The team has stopped to "blow," and double time is wasted in that way. These are the roads that make business unprofitable. They wear out horses, harnesses and humanity, kill patience, and keep you at the public house, when a better road would enable you to quicken your trip and save expense by dining with your family at home.

Your old friend, Horace Greeley, used to enliven his argument for better roads by relating the story of a farmer who took a drove of hogs a very long way to market, and found the delays and difficulties of his trip to be so expensive that he was compelled to dispose of his hogs at a considerable loss. On reaching home one of his enterprising neighbors, who had some thought of trying the pork-raising business himself, asked him how much he had cleared in his enterprise.

"Well," he replied after some reflection, "I had the company of the hogs." * * *

In lower Austria, near Vienna, where the material for road making is not found to be conveniently at hand, the Government offered a very substantial reward a few years ago for the discovery of a solid and suitable substance, which might be used in the improvement of the roads. The Austrians employ several thousand road cleaners regularly, together with a suitable number of inspectors and maintain a system of continual repair, clearing off the dust and mud as fast as it accumulates, and repairing the slightest defect in the road, so as to prevent the formation of ruts.

In Hungary the State roads are under the management of the ministry of public works, while the country and parish roads are kept up by local management.

In Bavaria the Government roads are made and kept in repair at the expense of the State, the money being voted by the legislative bodies of the Landtag. To prevent these roads being cut up a stringent law is enforced against the use of narrow wheel tires, and the width of tire to be used is laid down as follows: two wheel wagon with two horses, 4 inches; two wheel wagon with three or four horses, 6 inches; four wheel wagon with horses, 2 1-2 inches; four wheel wagon with three or four horses, 4 inches; five wheel wagon with five to eight horses, 6 inches. Carts having more than four horses, and wagons having more than eight are not allowed upon the public roads, except by special permission obtained from the authorities of the province. Fruit trees are planted along the sides of the roads under favorable conditions, and these are given into the care of the roadmen with permission to exhibit at the various fairs, where prizes are awarded for excellence of the samples.

I have heard American farmers say that they were opposed to having the public roads put in charge of civil engineers; that they had no desire to be "scientific" and were opposed to "scientific" management of the public roads. I think I have heard you say this. Let me tell you in the most friendly way in the world that you could not, to save your soul, help being scientific. You are scientific when you paint your house, put tallow on your boots, grease on your wagon-axle, hone your razor, smoke your hams, fumigate your hennery, or take peppermint for the stomach ache. That patent incubator of yours is a perfect marvel of science. It is not wise to think a man is more scientific than you are simply because he may know a thing or two in his particular line of business which you do not. He might object to your knowledge for the same reason, for in many things your superior wisdom makes you more scientific than he is. Besides, your average civil engineer is likely to be one of the best fellows in the world; and if he is worth his salt you will find him wide awake, practical and interesting; democratic in his ways, plain in his dress, and with a head full of good sense. He is always looking for ideas, and he will concede your superior knowledge of farming and be glad to learn of any valuable thing that you may tell him. He may not know the difference between timothy and mullen stalks, but he can show you how to build a road as good as the best in the world and one that will last for forty generations. He will tell you that it needs something besides horse power, axle-grease and profanity to move a loaded wagon from farm to market; that the harder and smoother your road is made the shorter your distance becomes from farm to town, and the less power will be required to haul your produce.

Did you ever wonder why it is that the great railroads of the country are constantly improving their road-beds, adopting improved rails and employing "section gangs" to constantly keep their tracks in the best condition? I will tell you why it is. Years ago it was found that the cost of running a great railroad line was decreased by every improvement which tended to lessen the grades and make the track smooth and hard; and the best engineering talent in the world has been employed to bring these railroads to their present condition of excellence. Twenty-five years ago, before the general adoption of the long, solid-faced steel rail, the power required to move the rolling stock was considerably greater than at present. In 1870 it cost the New York Central Railroad Company about one and one-sixth cents to move each ton of freight over one mile of railroad. This seems a very small sum, but as small as it may appear it was reduced in 1889 to about five mills. Other railroad lines show a corresponding decrease in running expenses, all due to the improvement of the tracks or road-bed.

The practical conclusion is this: A good road-bed pays; it saves power, shortens distance and time, increases speed, insures comfort and safety, and is, in whatever way you state it, a good investment. Now, the wagon by which you haul your loads to market bears the same relation to the road that the railroad car bears to the steel track; the car and the wagon are both vehicles, and in the earlier days of railway traffic, railway cars were drawn by horses just as wagons are drawn upon the common road and just as street cars are now drawn in the cities. The ordinary street car, drawn by two horses, weighs 5000 pounds; the open car used in summer will seat fifty passengers, weighing 7000 pounds; total, 12,000 pounds, or six net tons, and this load is drawn by a team at the rate of six miles an hour without difficulty. The wheels of your wagon are made round and true; they turn upon axles as smooth and well lubricated as those of a car; your horses are as good as those employed in the street car service, and you have every facility for moving large loads quickly and cheaply, except the single requirement of a good road. Of course I do not intend to argue that wagon loads can be hauled upon a high-class road as cheaply as upon the steel railroad track, but I have shown you enough to convince you that the ordinary dirt road is in no way fitted for your business and that a wonderful contrast exists between such a road and the well made highways of other countries.

Another thing which your engineer will teach you is that work to be done cheaply must be done in a systematic way; that the cheapest way to care for a road and to keep it in repair is to place it in charge of some person who will be held responsible for its condition throughout the entire year. In your township the roads are mended or "worked" once, or at the most twice a year, and for the balance of the season are neglected. Even when the warm weather of spring has dried up a considerable portion of the road so as to make it fairly passable, great mud holes are found here and there in which the farmers frequently become stuck with heavy loads, causing no end of delay and trouble.

TO THE GIRLS.

Now that October, one of our most glorious wheeling months has come, and with it a few veritable fall days and nights, which make one think of the time to come when our beloved wheel will have to be laid aside, let me tell you what fun we all had here in the City of the Straits last fall and winter. Some of us wheeled all last winter, and if the coming winter will afford the same opportunity, those same "some" will wheel all this winter, too.

Most of "us girls" who own a "bike" are among the less favored mortals, consequently we have to earn our daily bread (and sometimes that of somebody else, as well) between the hours of 9.00 A. M. and 5.30 or 6. P. M., thus having little or no time to enjoy wheeling during the day. So when our labors were ended, we would sup at some near-by restaurant, thereby saving the time it would take to go home and come back again, jump on our wheels, preparatory to taking flight for some cool, shady spot, frequently making ten to fifteen miles of an evening. Those of us who could not get out much during the week, went on Sunday. Now I hear some horror stricken sister exclaim, "Oh, my! did those girls ride on Sunday?" My dear sister, perhaps you are one of those aforesaid favored mortals, and could ride your wheel any minute during the day, so vary the monotony by laying it aside upon that day. And perhaps you took a "drive" around the city, or out into the country? Do you see a great deal of difference in the two ways of enjoying oneself? I confess I do not; unless the difference is in our favor, as we could not get out much during the week day for a fresh air tonic, so had to take it on Sunday, while you could go during the week, and so ought to stay in the house on Sunday. But I am digressing.

On those Sunday outings, we did not make a "picnic" of our trip, nor did we go in crowds, or anything of that sort; we would make up a very quiet party of two or three couple, and perhaps make a trip to Belle Isle in the morning early, frequently going as early as 5.00 o'clock, making a bee-line for the head of the island, then taking a rest of an hour or more, close by the water's edge, watching the birds take their morning bath. Then when entirely rested we resume our ride, take in another portion of the island, and so on until we had consumed about all the best and coolest portion of the morning. We would then wheel home, eat a tremendous meal, take a short afternoon nap, and be ready for — evening.

You girls who have never arisen as early as five o'clock in the morning, and taken a fresh-air ride of ten to fifteen miles, have certainly lost the chance of getting the best and most beneficial results to be obtained from wheeling. If you do not think so, try it some morning. You will be well repaid for the loss of an hour or more sleep, and wish you had not wasted all summer in getting acquainted with nature in her five o'clock glory. To get up with the birds, take a brisk spin through a park or the country, where the dew glitters on flowers and grass like so many diamonds, constitutes one of the chief pleasures and benefits of cycling. It will ward off a fit of the "blues" quicker than anything else in the world. Try it, girls, and see if I am not right.

CUSHION TIRE LIGHT ROADSTER

It is easy running, a fine hill climber, a fast coaster. It only needs to be tried to be appreciated.

There is a graceful and easy motion in a high wheel that cannot be obtained in a safety. It is motion that exhilarates and gives a charm to a ride which adds tenfold to its pleasure. The only practical high wheel is the Eagle.

AMERICAN DEPOT, 6 and 8 Berkeley Street, BOSTON, MASS.

We have planned a number of very pleasant trips that we intend taking this fall. One of them is to our "Saratoga" of Michigan, Mt. Clemens, a run of twenty miles from Detroit. We start at six o'clock in the morning; will probably make it in three hours; you see we do not intend to hurry, anyway; then we will rest for a few moments, take a light lunch, then rest until it is time for a good big dinner; ah, but won't we be able to eat it, though. It is really quite the fashion for girls of '91 to be possessed of large appetites. In the afternoon we'll probably look about us a little, just to let people know we came from the city, then start for home and get there before dark. What do you think of it? Don't you think we'll have a good time?

Do you know, I pity the girl who does not know how to ride a cycle, and how sorry I feel for the one whose "papa and mamma" won't buy them a wheel. They, the papa and mamma, think it isn't ladylike for those girls to ride a bicycle, much less pedal all over the country, and consequently deny the girl the very thing she needs to make her healthy and a blessing to them. Ah, well, let us hope and pray (I believe that prayer can accomplish almost anything) that God will give those poor benighted souls some good, wholesome, common sense; they surely need it, and meantime I for one will talk cycling for all there is in it. "Go thou, and do likewise," girls.

Yours fraternally,
N. M. H.

METROPOLITAN MUSINGS.

AL BANKER of the Manhattan Athletic Club is spending a goodly portion of his time every day on the new Manhattan Field, by all accounts getting in trim for an onslaught on the long distance track records. It is some time since "Al" has been on the path, and as he is moving quite fast just at present it would not be surprising to see him knock a few seconds off the records from five to twenty-five miles. Only a week ago he rode twenty miles in one hour.

The great increase in bicycle riders this season, as is well known, has been phenomenal. In the upper section of New York it is asserted that riders are making themselves a nuisance. They persist in nightly travelling in squads while taking their outings, and are making themselves generally obnoxious. Riders will persist while travelling in crowds to ride at a reckless rate of speed, and it is this fact that is causing complaints to be made. If they continue disregarding the rights of pedestrians, etc., they will find that some very stringent rules regarding bicyclists will be passed.

The race meet of the Manhattan Bicycle Club held at the Manhattan Field on Saturday last, while a success in view of the fairly good times recorded in the various races, was a dismal failure in point of attendance.

The track at the Manhattan Field is very fine; but although specially adapted to fast time in athletic events, it will have to undergo considerable alteration to be made fast for bicycle racing. The turn coming into the home stretch in its present condition makes it a hazardous undertaking for a cyclist to go around it at a high rate of speed. It was at this turn on Saturday last that Windle took a severe fall.

About 1000 persons witnessed the Manhattan's races.

The Riverside Wheelmen hold their initial race meet to-morrow, and it will prove interesting to note the difference, if there is any, in the attendance at the two meets.

A party of women have banded themselves together in New York for the purpose of keeping up a permanent ladies' cycling club. It is their avowed intention to endeavor to lessen the prejudice which exists against lady cyclers. How they contemplate attaining this object is unknown as they are very reticent about their outlined policy. They propose to hold a cycling meet in the near future in Central Park, but refuse at present to divulge either the date or place at which the meet shall be held.

While publicity is very disadvantageous at times, the refusal to announce any of the proposed movements of this new organization cannot benefit them to any extent.

In spite of the fact that the traffic on the streets of New York, and especially in the lower section of the city, during business hours is tremendous, there is every reason to believe that were the pneumatic tired wheels provided with tires which would not cause momentary anxiety as to their ability to withstand punctures, etc., that they would spring into common use among business men in this city.

Having occasion to traverse Broadway one day last week, I happened across two men at different periods riding pneumatic safeties. I encountered both men above Prince street. They occasioned only a passing notice from the hurrying pedestrians, but I was more than astonished at the sight, being that it was the first time I ever had met riders below Fourteenth street in business hours.

THE MEDFORDS DINE.

ONE of the most pleasant social events of the season is the annual dinner given by the Medford (Mass.) Cycle Club, and it is always a delight to us to be present at their dinner. Last Saturday some thirty odd members sat down at Parker's. The guests were: Chief Consul Arthur W. Robinson, Secretary-Treasurer Abbot Bassett of the L. A. W., Editor C. W. Fourdrinier of the BICYCLING WORLD, Capt. A. D. Peck, Jr., of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club, and Lieut. J. C. Kerrison of the Press Cycling Club. When coffee and cigars were served President Blackmar called on each of the guests to speak a piece; each one did his part and did his duty in calling to the attention of the club members the advisability of joining the League. The President in the course of the evening presented Mr. Robinson with a pistol, and also presented Mr. Peck with a beautiful little instrument to inflate the pneumatic tire of his bicycle. Both gentleman expressed the proper appreciation of the honor.

At the conclusion of the formal speeches the club came to order and nominated Captain H. C. Perry for Representative from the fifth district. The Medford men will now turn in and work, and if Mr. Perry is not elected it will not be their fault.

MR. HENRY G. PRIBST of the Quadrant Cycle Co., Birmingham, England, expects to arrive in the United States about the commencement of October.

He will be glad to receive communications from any substantial firms desiring to represent the Quadrant Cycle Co. in any specified territory.

MR. SHRIVER DESIRES TO EXPRESS HIS GRATITUDE.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: As I have no other way of addressing him, I want to extend my thanks through your columns to the wheelman who so courteously and efficiently aided me in handling my own and my wife's wheel at the railroad station in Elizabeth, N. J., when we were trying to board a Pennsylvania Railroad train yesterday afternoon, to which train no baggage car had been attached. If this is a common practice on these roads (by the way both the Jersey Central and Pennsylvania Railroads were equally at fault in this respect), wheelmen should know it and give the local trains of both roads a wide berth on Sunday afternoons. It came near causing me a very serious inconvenience, not to speak of the actual danger that I was put in by the scramble, and from which only the kindness of my anonymous friend, whose name I had not time afterward to learn, saved my suffering perhaps seriously. Yours truly,

September 26th, 1891. E. J. SHRIVER.

THE MOBILE, ALA., SHELL ROAD QUESTION AGAIN.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Every one who has visited Mobile is familiar with the famous drive, Bay Shell Road, a road bed formed of powdered oyster shells, skirting the western shore of Mobile Bay, a distance of about seven miles.

Ever since cycling became popular in Mobile it has been the hope and dream of every wheelman to test his steed on this most beautiful track. So far but few wheelmen have passed the gate, and those instances by special permit—so prejudiced are the pastime officials and a few livery stable kings against the "horrible machine horse."

An item in the Register lately stated that on September 20th at 8.30 A. M. the two Mobile members of the L. A. W.—L. Bauner and D. R. Lossing would test the validity of the obnoxious regulations by riding through the gate. Accordingly about eight A. M. on that date the two riders rolled out of the city toward the Bay. Near the gate the riders were met by a crowd of noisy would be officials maddened by imaginary visions of ruin and shell road bankruptcy—some claiming to be property owners along the road—declaring themselves ready to prosecute in person if the Road Co. failed. Excitement ran high, and the scene that followed is too shameful for recordance; threats were shouted that the first man that rode a bicycle down the road would be shot. In June last the Mobile Bicycle Club were mobbed at their races in Frascata Park by boys and toughs, but his Honor Mayor Riche decided that such fun was worth something, and the boys paid it. This time, however, their "Pa's" are in it. Eventually the riders reached the gate to find it locked and keeper instructed to pass no bicyclist. Tender was offered for toll but refused, and the riders returned safe and sound to the city without the benefits of a run on the shells, but a stronger hope and determination that they will.

"KOID."

THE NUMBERING OF WHEELS.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I have a suggestion to offer in regard to stolen wheels. I think if the means of detecting stolen wheels were made easier, fewer would be stolen. I would suggest that a uniform plan be adopted by all our manufacturers in regard to putting the number and name of wheel in such a conspicuouous place and so plain that it could be read instantly almost. We all know how difficult it is at present to find the number of a wheel unless you know just where to look for it, as almost every maker numbers in a different place. The numbers are generally too small and indistinct. I would suggest that manufacturers and any one else interested should send you such plans to accomplish this end as suggest themselves, and out of them all something might be devised.

Yours,
Holyoke, Mass. J. C. WILD.

THE WEAR AND TEAR OF SPROCKET WHEELS.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: It is the common experience of "safety" riders that after a few months' use of a wheel something seems to have become "out of kilter" with the gearing. They suddenly awaken to the fact that the chain has gradually lost its original freedom and silence of motion. Upon careful examination it is found that the chain does not fit the sprocket wheels; that the distance between the centres of the spaces in chain links has become greater than the distance between the centres of cogs of the sprocket wheels, and as a result of this change, at the points where the chain leaves or becomes in mesh with sprocket wheels the front or back sides of the cogs rasp against the links with noisy friction.

Here exists the principal imperfection and draw-back of chain gearing. The manufacturers are not to blame for the stretching of a cycle chain nor the misfit resulting. But it seems that they ought to supply what would be an efficient remedy; that they ought to make and furnish to their agents extra sprocket wheels having the same number of cogs as those originally put on the bicycle, but of such larger sizes as would fit the stretched chain. Is there any good reason why this should not be done?

Yours truly,
L. A. W. 12,967.

A. B. RICH & CO. ASSIGN.

THE following telegram, dated September 30, was received at our office just as we went to press: "A. B. Rich & Co. assign to-day to Willard N. Baylis, with $5000 preference to Aquilla Rich, Sr."

LEGAL.

The Strong & Green Cycle Co. of Philadelphia have been attached under the fraudulent debtors' act of 1869 by the Sweeting Cycle Co. The Sweeting Co. claim that the Strong & Green Co. are about to dispose of their property with intent to defraud their creditors. The outcome of the suit will be awaited with interest.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

"Have you ever noticed," says a writer in the Houston (Tex.) Post," the difference in the class of stock now being used on the streets of Houston, compared to that of a few years ago? The improvement most noticeable is in draught horses. The class of horses now being used on our streets have been had but a short while. They have come so quietly, so naturally that scarcely any notice has been taken of them, save maybe a passing glance of admiration. How many years ago was it that the teams seen upon our streets were made up of raw-boned, ill-conditioned little pings? Generally three or five or six were hitched to one poor little wagon. The drays used two burros, or mustangs tandem. Four bales of cotton was a load and the charge was "two bits" a bale. The other day we saw one pair of horses, horses now not plugs, trotting along, drawing seven bales of cotton. Why are these good horses used now and not then? We have paved streets."

"A. WELLS & CO."

Notice.—In our issue of 18th Sept. the following advertisement appeared in our columns:

$50 COLUMBIA Safeties, 1891 pattern; one cushion; one solid tire; accepted for debt; never uncrated; only $50 each. Sent C. O. D. upon receipt of $10 (money order or postal notes) to guarantee express charges. Remit in first letter. A. WELLS & CO., 604 8th avenue, New York City.

We have heard from several sources that Wells & Co. do not exist at the No. given, and that further inquiry as to where they do abide has not met with success. We regret this, as of course we would not allow any advertisement to appear in the World that we knew was not perfectly straight. It must be borne in mind that with the most careful supervision such advertisements will sometimes, though rarely, creep into our columns. We would now warn our readers against the advertisement as above quoted.

BOSTON PRESS CLUB CENTURY RUN.

The open century run to be held under the auspices of the Boston Press Cycling Club on Monday, Oct. 19, to Newburyport and return, promises to be a success, judging by the number of entries already received. This club was organized last June and is taking a lively interest in cycling. It is composed mostly of men connected with the newspapers of Boston, their constitution allowing but one-quarter of its membership to consist of those outside of the profession. The governing board having this run in charge are making every effort to have it a pleasant one, and all who participate may expect to have an enjoyable time.

The entrance fee is placed at fifty cents, and a handsome souvenir of unique design will be presented to each person who completes the run. The pace will not exceed an average of nine miles an hour outside of rests, and any person passing the pace makers will be disqualified. Applications may be made to A. J. Ochs, Secretary-Treasurer, 361 Washington street, Boston, or to any members of the club.

BUFFALO CENTURY RUN.

The Ramblers Club of Buffalo held the postponed century on the 25th September. The Courier of that city says: "The participants had their choice of two courses—the Erie straightaway and the run to Le Roy with a turn. Eight men under Capt. Kane chose the Erie route, and started from that place for Buffalo at 3 A. M., arriving here at 7 P. M.; total time, 16 hours; riding time, about 10 hours. All the riders that started came through, and they were as follows: Capt. Kane, Ernest Cosack, H. J. Pierson, C. B. Callan, W. H. Butler, G. Cutting, G. W. Sugnet, Al Berrick, J. F. Berrick. The roads were hard, but rough and rutty. Breakfast was had at Westfield and dinner was eaten at Angola.

Lieut. F. C. Fuhrman engineered two members over the Le Roy run, F. E. Klipfel and G. J. Hager being his companions. This made 'Klip's' ninth century of the season. Start was made from the clubrooms on Main street at 5.30 A. M. and Le Roy was reached at 11 A. M. After half an hour's rest the return trip was begun, and Buffalo was reached at 7.15 P. M. The total time was 13h. 45m.; riding time, 10h. 15m. The roads were excellent except between Corfu and Batavia. Fred Rick and W. Ottenot of the Roamers, and Messrs. C. Fuhrman, Scully, and Timmins brothers, unattached, accompanied the Ramblers and made the century successfully. E. F. Weinig rode to Le Roy, but his wheel gave out at Batavia on the way back and he was compelled to take the train."

RHODE ISLAND'S CENTURY RUN.

The long-mooted Union Century Run from Providence to Boston and return took place September 27. Fifty started at 5.10 A. M.; thirty-nine reported in Boston about 11.15. Nineteen left Boston on the return at 1.20 P. M.; eight others left at a later hour. Of the nineteen, eighteen came through, fifteen of whom reported at the starting place at eight o'clock, and three between that time and 9.30. The fifteen who first arrived home were Capt. Smith, Lieut. Doe, Brown, Farnham and Cooke of the Rhode Island Wheelmen; Lieut Crandall, S. L. Randall, Webb and Sperry of the Narragansetts; Bowen, Franklin and Germerhausen of the Providence Club; Bedard of the Mt. Pleasants; and J. T. Smith and Champlin, unattached. The other three who arrived before 9 30 were Enos (Narragansett) Moses and Davis (Providence). Of the eight who left Boston later, six came through, arriving about 11 P. M. The day was fine, but the roads showed decidedly the need of rain.

THE CHICAGO CENTURY.

The first formal run of the "National" Century Club took place September 27, and was a grand and glorious success. One hundred and twenty-two finished the run, and will now be entitled to wear the bar which all so covet. Many of the riders had already accomplished the feat of riding 100 miles in the 24 hours, but with many this was the maiden attempt. There were three ladies who made the run, Mrs. F. McEwen of Elgin, Miss M. Clinton and Miss H. S. Peterson. Mr. Thomas W. Davis of Peoria, a gentleman 54 years of age, was the hero of the occasion, and he came through in much better style than some of the younger members of the party. There were representatives from Peoria, Milwaukee and Elgin. Ten from Milwaukee, six from Peoria and three from Elgin.

Clear weather was granted the party, but the roads were very dusty and the sun was a trifle too hot for real comfort. The start was made at 4.28 A. M., and so a lot of riding was got in before the sun became very high. The route was to Elgin via Aurora and return by the same road. Mrs. McEwen's riding was really remarkable, and during the entire trip she was the life of the party. No serious mishaps occurred, although the tumbles were many. At the town pump in Batavia W. Herrick was seen to take a dive into the water trough, a proceeding which seemed to to refresh the gentleman very much. Miss Peterson has only ridden a wheel about three months, and Mr. J. F. Nicholson, one of the "survivors," had never ridden a long distance on the road before. Elgin was reached by noon, and a rest and dinner was taken here. The return trip was begun at 2 07 P. M., and the party all reached Chicago at from 8.05 to 8.15. Thus the Century Club finished one of the most enjoyable and successful long distance runs ever held in this country.

THE PROFESSIONAL TOURNAMENT IN NEW YORK.

It has been decided to give one night at the Madison Square Garden for an amateur race tournament, and Saturday night, Oct. 17th, has been set for the occasion. This will give the racing men a chance to test their speed on a first-class indoor track. Most of the noted cracks have signified their intentions of starting in the several events, which will be both handicap and scratch races for safety and ordinary. Everything is progressing favorably for the great professional six days' race, and the racing cracks are arriving daily. "Senator" Morgan as usual was first on the field from Portland, Oregon. Next came Lumsden and Stage of Scotland, who arrived on the steamer Bothnia, Monday. Chas. Ashinger of Oklahoma arrived here on Tuesday, and seven English and Irish champions are on the ocean at this writing and will land by Thursday night. Patrick Martin of Detroit, Mich., the Irish-American, has sent in his entry, and he is a first-class long-distance man. Martin broke his leg in a six-days' race in Detroit last winter while leading such men as Prince, Reading, Ashinger, Rhodes and others. There is not the least doubt but what this race will do bicycling an immense lot of good in New York, as it will awaken an interest never before reached here. No pains will be spared to maintain good order, and no games of chance or anything that will mar the sport will be tolerated. The management will cater to the very best element. T. W. Eck, who is managing the race, has his hands full. John S. Prince informs the management from Des Moines that he is in good condition, and that he will arrive here about the 8th Oct. America will be well represented with Prince, Morgan, Ashinger, Martin and Reading, and the foreigners will have a chance to test the Americans from start to finish.

THE CHICAGO 50-MILE ROAD RACE.

The handicap 50-mile road race, held under the auspices of the Century Club of Chicago, was successfully run last week Wednesday. Twelve starters showed up at Oak street and Lake Shore drive at one o'clock. The starters and handicaps were as follows: Percy Harris, 10m.; John Erickson, 15m.; A. H. Redell, 20m.; R. G. Betts, 20m.; Welton Flinn, 25m.; H. P. Beers, 25m.; W. Herrick, 30m.; Charles H. Semple, 30m.; H. C. Wilson, 35m.; Harvey L. Pound, 40m.; A. R. Gormully, 50m.; A. W. Harris, 30m.

At 1.30 the limit man, Gormully, was sent off, and then at the proper intervals the others started on their long race. Percy Harris was practically the scratch man, he starting on the 10m. handicap with no one

How He was Converted.

I.

Merit will tell. If winning a race or several of them were a proof of merit, we could cite a recent instance where a cheap $60 affair ran right away from a Rambler and half a dozen other recognized high grades. But the merit of a wheel is not gauged by the number of races it wins. True merit asserts itself in many ways.

II.

He was an old wheelman, but he wasn't fascinated with spring frames. He had frankly told us so. Like many another he either had not tried one at all, or had only ridden it for a brief spell on some sand-papered surface. But one day he rode a Rambler,--took it out on a common every day road. Then he thought better of 'em--of the Rambler's spring frame at any rate---he saw his judgment had been hasty and "acknowledged the corn" like a little man. This is what he wrote: "You will remember our conversation in regard to the spring in the Rambler's frame. Well, I am free to admit that I was wrong, as I had a practical test of its use on Sunday last when, for the first time, I tried a Rambler on the road, and when half way to our destination I was compelled by bad roads to ride the railroad ties for about two miles. In bumping over the ties, the spring was broken. I repaired it by putting a block of wood in the spring, thus making a rigid wheel. Well, I simply wished for that spring a hundred times, and hereafter will know better when I speak of Rambler spring frame and cushion tires. This was the first time I ever rode one on the road, and I consider it the most comfortable wheel I ever sat upon."

behind him. At the ten-mile mark the order was: Wilson, Semple, Herrick, A. W. Harris, Beers, Flinn, Gormully, Betts, Redell, Erickson, Percy Harris. A fast pace was set, but at the turning point the men turned up with Erickson in the lead, and Betts close up. Time 1 31 and 1.34 respectively, which shows that the boys were moving, notwithstanding the poor condition of the roads. Erickson had trouble with his wheel and had to change. Betts' saddle broke and that delayed him considerably. Erickson won the race in 3.17. Betts second, 20m. later; then came Beers. Only one man more finished, the others giving up at different points along the road.

PENN WHEELMEN'S TOURNAMENT.

THE long-looked for race meet of the Penn Wheelmen of Reading, Pa., was run off at that place on Thursday, Sept. 24th, at the Reading Driving Park, three miles outside the city. The track, which is a half-mile trotting oval of clay surface, is of ample width but very uneven, the grade up the home stretch being very heavy. The interest taken in this tournament by the business men of the place and the outside cycling world, has encouraged the Reading cyclers to such an extent that they intend to build a fine three-lap track next year in time for their race meet, which has now become an annual fixture.

3,000 SPECTATORS

witnessed the races, which were the most successful ever given in Reading, and reflect the greatest credit upon the club and its managing committees. Heretofore the road race, which has been held yearly, always finished at the Penn Street Bridge, in the presence of thousands of spectators; but it was thought advisable this year to transfer the finish of the road race to the track and combine with it track events, and the result justified the wisdom of the change. Had better accommodations for getting people to the grounds existed, there would have been double the audience present.

THE HEROES

of the day were Taylor, McDuffee, Taxis and Hoyland Smith; the latter, however, being very much under the weather, and therefore unable to do himself justice. E. A. McDuffee did the best work, not only winning the road race, but also the one mile open, safety, beating Taylor in the latter event, after having ridden in the road race—a fine piece of work.

SUMMARY OF RACES.

One mile ordinary, novice—Four local men started, resulting in an easy win for Ermentrout. F. Ermentrout, first; J. A. McLennan, second; A. Wenrich, third. Time 3.24.

Half-mile safety, Boys—Four youngsters started. Harry Shoup, first; Harry Hassler, second. Time 1.50.

One mile tandem, open—J. H. Draper and V. J. Kelly beat W. W. Taxis and J. C. Donnelly in 3.09 3-5, but as the limit had been declared as 2.55, it was no race. In the run-off Draper and Kelly slipped their pedals, enabling the other team to gain a lead that they could not cut down, Taxis and Donnelly winning in 2.46 4 5.

One mile safety, championship of Reading—W. B. Riegel, first; A. Demorest, second. Time 3.17 3-5.1

Quarter-mile safety, open—Geo. F. Taylor, Harvard, first; S. H. Bilyeu, P. A. W., second; J. C. Donnelly, O. W., third; F. A. Tucker, C. W., fourth. Time 38 2-5.

It was ridden all the way, McDuffee, fresh from the road race, beating Taylor out on the finish in a desparate spurt. F. A. McDuffee, first; G. F. Taylor, second; S. H. Bilyeu, third; H. T. Wunder, fourth. Time 1.43 1-5.

Half-mile, club championship—Wilhelm, Demerest, Allgeier and Ermentrout started, finishing in order named. Time 1.26 2-5.

Twenty-one mile road race, started at Myerstown, finishing on track. E. A. McDuffee, Lynn, first, time 1h. 10m. 1 5s.; P. J. McDuffee, Lynn, second, time 1h. 12m. 1-5s.; C. A. Elliott, Wilmington, third, time 1h. 17m.; F. B. Marriott, Philadelphia, fourth, time 1h. 27m. 1-5s.; W. C. Seeds, Wilmington, no time; Geo. W. Wittich, Reading, sixth, no time; F. M. Dampman, Reading, seventh, no time; R. J. Wilson, Reading, eighth, no time.

The last four men came straggling along at intervals, Seeds having broken two machines during the race, and finally finishing on one borrowed from McDaniel. Dampman also broke down, and thus two of the best men in the race were thrown out of the contest.

A LANTERN PARADE

was very successfully carried out on Wednesday evening, thousands of spectators crowding the streets to witness the novel sight.

At the club house on Thursday evening, a reception was tendered the visitors, refreshments being served during the evening, while later the entire party repaired to Klapperthal, a romantic glen on the mountain side, by the electric railway around Neversink mountain, where, to the strains of the Germania orchestra, dancing was enjoyed until after midnight. Many were the conquests made by Reading's fair damsels, and many a wheelman carried away tender recollections. Reading's tournament will be one of the attractions on next year's circuit. "ARIEL."

Philadelphia, Sept. 28, '91.

AT NEW BEDFORD, MASS.—The New Bedford club members raced for the Sullivan medal Sept. 26. E. B. Hathaway, first; A. L. Bliss, second; C. E. Phinney, third. Time 16m.

WILMINGTON'S EVENT.

THE annual races of the Wilmington Wheel Club came off Saturday afternoon, the weather being intensely hot. They were run as last year, at Hazledell Park, before an audience of 2000 people.

The road race was of course the principal event of the day, and to the surprise of everybody McDuffee was again winner, Seeds having another breakdown, being run into by Jackson, knocking his machine into a cocked hat, thus forestalling the flight to the finish between these two, which was eagerly looked forward to by the crowd.

The Wilmington man is certainly in hard luck. It was not sufficient to have two machines broken at Reading, but he must also be knocked out in his own city. A great many people were of the opinion, however, that McDuffee would have won, even had Seeds ridden to the finish, as the former's race with Hazelton plainly showed his wonderful sparting ability. The winner's time was excellent, the course being very dusty, and it almost equals Seeds' 25-mile record of 1.22.00 2-5, made at Philadelphia, at the Quaker City races.

The road race was started at 3 30 sharp, the contestants riding four laps on the track, and then going out on the causeway to Newcastle. In returning they finished two laps on the track, completing the 25 miles. Summary:

Position.	Name.	Handicap.	Actual Time.
1	E. A. McDuffee	scratch	1 22 02
2	L. T. Jefferis	12m.	1 38.20

6	T. E. Jefferis	10	1.39.17
7	J. S. Lodge	14	1.40.36
8	J. M. Ward	13	1.43 19
9	C. A. Elliott	1 1-2	1.33.12
10	F. M. Dampman	1 1-2	1.33.36

One mile handicap, safety—Won by S. H. Bilyeu, P. A. W., 50 yards, with R. Weir, 2.35 yards, second. Time 2.31 1-2. A pretty race.

Two mile handicap, tandem—J. H. Draper and V. J. Kelly, scratch, first, with S. H. Crawford and S. H. Bilyeu, 180 yards, second. Time 5.28 4-5.

Two mile handicap, safety—Won by E. A. McDuffee, scratch, with J. R. Hazleton, scratch, second. Time 5.34 4-5. This was the track event of the day. McDuffee dropped in behind Hazleton at the start, and the two alternated in pacing. At the close all of Hazleton's spurting powers were of no avail, the New England man beating him by a length, although the plucky little Philadelphian made a gallant fight to the end.

T. R. Finley of Smithville, N. J., and C. F. Cope of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, gave exhibitions of fancy riding which were liberally applauded, the former riding a Star and the latter a safety. ARIEL.

At ELIZABETH, N. J.—The Elizabeth Wheelmen held its fall meet at the Dwyer race track last Saturday, and the New Jersey cyclers had the chance to see their representative, Zimmerman, on the track. There were not more than 3000 people present where there ought to have been double that number, but a pleasant feature of the attendance was the large proportion of ladies. Of course Zimmerman had it all his own way and won everything he started in. The handicapping was such as to make the finishes exciting. The results were:

One-mile novice, ordinary—Jno. R. Bedford, first; A. J. Weise, second; B. Schock, third. Time 3 26.

Quarter-mile open—Zimmerman was in this and he played with Taxis, winning the race by "just enough." A. A. Zimmerman, first; W. W. Taxis, second; E. Miller, third. Time 41 3 4.

One-mile safety, scratch—This was the same old race that Zimmy puts up. He waited until a short distance from home, and then he shot ahead of Smith, who was cutting out great pace, and finished first by about four feet. A. A. Zimmerman, first; Hoyland Smith, second; G. F. Taylor, third. Time 2 42 1-2.

One-mile novice, safety—In this race appeared H. S. Zimmerman, a brother of "the only Zimmy." He showed speed, but the best he could do was to finish fourth in the field of "youngsters." E. F. Van Annam got in a pocket and was prevented from taking the race, as good judges said he would by that feat. C. Huber, first; L. E. Coyte, second; E. F. Van Annam, third. Time 2 55 2-5.

One-mile ordinary, handicap—W. W. Taxis was the back mark man, he starting from 30 yards; the scratch men did not show up. Taxis got a safe position in the front rank after riding half a mile. Here he staid until the run in was reached; he then let out and romped home, a very nice winner. W. W. Taxis, 30 yards, first; E. Miller, 160 yards, second; F. Erick, 160 yards, third. Time 2 50 2 5.

One-mile handicap, safety—There were 22 starters in this race, Zimmerman being the only scratch man, Hoyland Smith starting from the ten yard mark. This was a very pretty race. Zimmerman and Smith caught up with the leaders soon after the half mile was passed. On turning into the stretch, Smith cut loose, and at about 300 yards from the finish he had a strong lead of at least five yards over "the invincible." At this point Zimmerman woke up and put on steam, and not only caught Smith but finished ahead by about five yards. A. A. Zimmerman, scratch, first; H. Smith, 10 yards, second; G. W. Taylor, 60 yards, third; S. B. Bowman, 90 yards, fourth. Time 2.32 2-5, which is record for that track in competition.

Zimmerman, scratch, first; Hoyland Smith, 10 yards, second; S. B. Bowman, 180 yards, third. Time 5 24 1-5. First mile 2 37.

Let there be a general waking up all along the line until we obtain the desired end. Fraternally yours,

Maryland.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Officers of the Maryland Division was held Monday evening, Sept. 21, 1891, at the Centaur Cycle Club. The meeting was called to order at 9.13 P. M. Chief Consul Mott in the chair, with Messrs. Jackson, Mitchell, Cline, Lord, Chism and Unversagt present. The minutes of the last quarterly meeting were read and approved.

REPORT OF SECRETARY-TREASURER.

Cash on hand, June 20, 1891,	$718.16
Receipt for 3 months,	353.85
Total,	$1072.01
Expenses for 3 months,	91.50
Balance on hand Sept. 21, 1891,	$980.51

This report was accepted.

Mr. Warren Search, of the Highway Improvement Committee, reported verbally that he had taken an active part in the late demonstrations made for the better paving of the streets of Baltimore, and he, together with the others, had succeeded in awakening an interest that resulted in the passing of paving ordinances by the City Council, only to be vetoed by the mayor. This action of the city's chief officer appears to have vetoed his chances for even a renomination, much less an election, and there are good prospects of having proper paving ordinances passed after the November election.

There were no further reports from standing committees.

Mr Mitchell, for the special committee on race track, reported that nothing except of a general character had been done, and the members found that their business engagements interfered with a proper pushing of the matter, and asked that the committee be discharged and a new one appointed. On motion, the committee was discharged with the thanks of the Board.

A new committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Jos. T. Chism, Wm. B. Oliver and A. L. Cline.

The following motion of Mr. Chism was carried:

That the Board of Officers request each bicycle club in Baltimore City to appoint at its next meeting one member to represent said club on a committee to consist of one wheelman from each club; said committee to interview the candidates for the mayoralty of Baltimore, to urge the appointment of a bicycler as a member of the Park Board.

Mr. Mitchell made the following motion, which was adopted:

That Article V of the By-Laws be amended by inserting Sec. 1, (a). Any wheeling club in the State which shall have in its By-Laws a provision requiring that at least seventy-five per cent. of its active members shall be also members of the League, the annual dues being paid by the club, shall be a League Club, and entitled to all the privileges accorded League Clubs under the Constitution of the L. A. W.; provided, however, that such club shall be entitled to representation to the extent of its League membership only, and that no action on League matters shall be taken except by the League members of such club.

Meeting adjourned at 10.15 P. M.

The Ten-Foot Law.

To the Pennsylvania Division:

Complaint has been made to me that wheelmen in Fairmount Park, in passing ahead of teams, cross in front of the horses too closely, thereby causing fright in some cases and annoyance. It seems that the rule requiring ten feet in these matters is a reasonable one, and I trust all wheelmen will see that at least this distance intervenes.

ARTHUR ALLEN DEAN, Chief Consul.

Connecticut.

A meeting of the Board of Officers of this Division was held in the parlors of the New Haven Bicycle Club, New Haven, Thursday evening, Sept. 24, 1891.

Meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock P. M., Vice Consul Fisher in the chair, and 15 members present. Reading minutes of previous meeting was dispensed with.

The Secretary-Treasurer's report showed the Division to be in a sound financial condition, with a balance of $1517.23 on hand Sept. 1st.

Mr. C. E. Moore, Chairman of Rights and Privileges Committee, reported that in conjunction with the Division Attorney, they would soon be ready to submit a plan for offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of any person who steals a member's wheel.

Several cases have recently came up where members have been run over and imposed upon by drivers of vehicles, and in their estimation, at least two of them should be prosecuted by the Division.

Mr. Henry Goodman, Chairman of the Racing Board, stated that they had assigned four Championship races, which had been successfully run, although it was not thought advisable to pay expenses of winners to Detroit.

A report of progress from the Rules Committee, through its Chairman, Mr. Calhoun Latham, was accepted.

Mr. F. H. Crygier, Chairman of the Special Detroit Transportation Committee, reported that owing to the limited number of Division members attending the National Meet, a special car was not engaged. Out of the $50 appropriated for the occasion, $15.44 only was expended, and that amount was used solely for the purchase of suitable badges.

On motion of Mr. Post, instructions were given Major Burdett, the Division attorney, to immediately investigate the two cases mentioned by the Rights and Privileges Committee, and either bring suit at once or report at the next meeting of the Board why he had not done so.

Mr. L. A. Miller moved that the sum of $80 be appropriated to cover deficiency at the Hartford meet, Sept. 7 and 8th. Carried.

Nominations for Division Officers was then declared in order, and the following names were proposed:

Chief Consul, Calhoun Latham, Bridgeport; Vice Consul, C. W. King, Meriden; Secretary-Treasurer, A. H. Schumacher, Hartford; Representatives, L. C. Grover, Hartford; Jos. Goodman, Hartford; Henry Goodman, Hartford; D. J. Post, Hartford; C. L. Burdett, Hartford; E. A. De Blois, Hartford; W. H. A. Fenton, Hartford; F. N. Kinney, New Haven; A. G. Fisher, New Haven; Geo. F. Booth, New Haven; Fred Atwater, Bridgeport; C. E. Moore, Bridgeport; F. H. Smith, Bridgeport; P. W. Westlake, Bridgeport; L. A. Miller, Meriden; J. E. Brainard, Meriden; W. H. Hale, Norwich; A. A. Dean, Danielsonville; H. W. Huke, Torrington; F. H. Bissell, Windsor Locks.

As no further business was presented, the meeting was declared adjourned.

E. A. DEBLOIS, Sec.-Treas.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as is is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN, RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other one wheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a limited amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.

AT PHILADELPHIA.—The Century Wheelmen held their annual five-mile handicap road race over the new Park avenue course on Montgomery avenue last Saturday afternoon, Sept. 26, the road being in poor condition. The result of the contest was as follows: C. W. McCue, 3m. handicap, first; N. J. Bailey, 1m., second; L. Geyler, started 30 seconds back of scratch, on pneumatic, third; Geo. Jane, 3m., fourth; C. AT CINCINNATI, OHIO.—On Sept. 27 the Crescent Wheelmen of Cincinnati ran their club championship race on the half-mile track at Chester Park. They had changed it from a 20-mile to a five-mile race. There were seven starters. The track was soft and dusty. The race was a loaf from the start as both Roth and Aszman were saving themselves for the final spurt. When they entered the stretch on the last lap Aszman was third by fully twenty feet, but by making a magnificent spurt he succeeded in crossing the tape first, a wheel's length in front of Roth, last year's champion, Bauers a close third. Time 17.16 1-4. Roth rode a safety geared to 65, and Aszman one geared to 60. Bauers a safety geared to 57. STAR.

AT HOLYOKE, MASS.—The Holyoke Bicycle Club held the second in the series of road races Sept. 18th. The course was a circuit of Dwight, Northampton, South and Maple streets, twice around being 7 3-4 miles. Fully 2000 people witnessed the race, and much enthusiasm was manifested in the handicaps. There were ten starters, but only seven finished. The handicaps, names, time and position at the finish are as follows:

Scratch, Scott Williamson, 27.53; 2m., James Craig, 30.32; 30s., Fred Blakely, 29.11; 1m., Geo. Rackliffe, 30.40; 2m., T. J. McCarthy, 31.52; 5m., Peter Gordon, 35.24; 2m., Chas. Blakely, 33.08.

AT SOMERVILLE, MASS.—The Somerville Cycle Club held its first annual road race last Saturday. There were 18 starters. The start was made from the Boston and Lowell bridge on Medford street at 4 P. M. The distance was ten miles, and the course was Medford street, Walnut street, Highland avenue, through Davis square, Holland street, through Arlington to the turning point at Arlington Heights station, back by way of Main street, Broadway, Medford street, finish at club house. The result was as follows, the men finishing in the order as printed: H. W. Smith, C. Doubleday, George Harvey, F. S. McCausland, Jr., A. C. Fairbanks, N. W. Tucker, S. D. Hilliard, G. A. Tatlin, C. P. Cubberly, H. F. Curtis, C. E. Record, D. R. Harvey, W. A. Wilkins, Mr. Merritt, F. W. Kerr. Smith's time was 41m. 43s.

RECORDS IN AMERICA.

AT PEORIA.—C. W. Dorntge made a big assault on the 20-miles American record at Peoria last week Tuesday. He commenced to cut the records at 8 miles, as follows:

Miles.	Time.	Miles.	Time.
6	16.09 2-5	14	37.44 1-5
7	18.50 4-5	15	40.33 2-5
8	21.33 3-5	16	43.17
9	24 09 2-5	17	45.58
10	26.46 3 5	18	48.38
11	29.27 2-5	19	51.18
12	32.17 4-5	20	53.56 2-5
13	35.59 4-5

WORLD'S RECORD IN COMPETITION.

In the invitation race at Peoria on Monday, Zimmerman put up the world's record in competition to 2.21 4-5. The race was won by C. F. Price, N. H. Van Sicklen (2), C. W. Dorntge (3), G. K. Barrett (4). Zimmerman's time from scratch 2.21 4-5. His time of the 3-4 mile, 1.46 3-5, is also record in competition.

NEW RECORDS AT HERNE HILL.

THE Englishmen have been at the records again. On Sept. 10, N. L. Lambley put up the three, four and five mile records on a safety:

3 Miles,	8.03 2-5
4 "	10.51 1-5
5 "	13.44 1-5

On Sept. 9th R. L. Ede made records on the safety from 64 miles to 100.

64 Miles in	3.31.00 2-5
75 Miles in	4.05.34 2-5
100 Miles in	5.41.04 4-5

Up to the time of Mr. Ede's ride there had been no safety records for the distances from 64 to 100 miles.

THE Illinois Secretary of State issued a license on Sept. 21 for the incorporation of the Cyclone Manufacturing Company of Chicago to manufacture bicycles. Capital stock, $1,000,000; incorporators, F. C. Foster, E. Erskine McMillan and J. H. Breese.

THE Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co. now list pneumatic tires on regular stock wheels of their diamond pattern. They are particularly taking wheels, and riders who are fortunate enough to own them, speak in the highest terms of their lightness and easy running qualities.

THE following we take from the Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal of September 23: "The preliminary steps were taken in Milwaukee to-day to organize a company for the manufacture of bicycles and the general remodeling, under new patents, of machines already built. For this purpose a stock company is now being formed with a paid up capital of $100,000, half of which was subscribed to-day. An organization will be perfected at once, and inside of thirty days the company will be ready for work, as a factory building will be rented for the start. The proposed manufactory is one of the children of the Advancement association, which has been instrumental in making it a possibility. Machines will be manufactured under the Sercombe-Bolte patents, which include the valuable pneumatic tire, of which Mr. Bolte is the inventor. Old machines will also be remodeled and equipped with the new inventions. * * *."

MESSRS. HOWARD A SMITH & Co., Newark, N. J., are busily receiving their late imports of bicycle sundries, of which we give partial list on page 749.

"NOTHING succeeds like success." Since Berlo made his record mile on the Warwick racer, the makers have been besieged by would-be record breakers, all anxious to beg, borrow or steal a Ghost.

THERE is a great deal of local interest in the new Keating Wheel Co., whose large factory is rapidly going up in Holyoke, Mass. The wheel weighs but 37 pounds, is very simple in construction, and has been thoroughly tested this season on the road with entire satisfaction. The company had a number of wheels on exhibition and trial at the recent tournament in Springfield, and experienced riders were loud in its praise.

THE New York Bicycle Club has decided to go into voluntary liquidation. The rumor that the club was in the sheriff's hands is not true, but was founded no doubt on the club's voluntary action in the matter.

DURING the recent Springfield races the Warwick Co.'s new shop was visited by many wheelmen. We have wondered much whether it was a pardonable curiosity to see the "building of a great shop," or the adjacent orchard of particularly fine apples, that attracted the crowd. We are cynical.

COLUMBIAS always come to the front when real tests come and meets of prominence are held. This was very noticeable at the recent large meets at Hartford, Springfield, Providence and Peoria; in the latter place taking 32 4-10 per cent of all the prizes awarded, notwithstanding there were 16 different makes of bicycles on the track. Also at Reading, Pa., and at Wilmington, Del., they bore off a large proportion of the prizes given. Nor are they behind in local races, in one case winning 85 per cent. of all the prizes awarded. A prominent wheelman very truthfully remarks, "that the painstaking of the Pope Mfg. Co. is bearing its usual fruit."

IT seems as though the mile of Berlo's, 2.18 1-5, will stand in spite of the many attempts to break it. It requires a combination not always to hand, to make records in these days.

THE Cohoes (N.Y.) Wheelmen is a new bicycle club formed Sept. 29 by 25 active riders. The club starts off under most favorable circumstances, and will next season apply for membership in the League of American Wheelmen. Rooms are to be secured and fitted up and the membership trebled. Meets and club runs will be arranged from time to time. Prizes offered for the member making the best record at all around cycling and attending the greatest number of club runs. William K. Munro has been chosen temporary chairman until permanent officers are elected.

THE Metropolitan Hardware Company, of 32 and 34 Vesey street, New York, have added to their general hardware business a bicycle department, under the direct management of H. J. Hall, Jr.

The American Cyclist says:

"The second edition of this useful book has been published by the Wheelman Co., 12 Pearl street, Boston, and all users of the wheel will find it a most valuable book. The chapter that relates to the history of wheeling is concise, yet full enough to cover the subject clearly. In the chapter on Practical Points the reader will find valuable instruction, which, if followed only in part, will many times repay the purchase of the book. It is almost indispensable to a wheelman."

Volume XXII. Number 24. BOSTON, 9 OCTOBER, 1891 $1.00 a Year. 5 cents a copy

HARD or EASY?

A safety bicycle with a rigid fork is like a trotting sulky—good on a smooth road or track.

It's the common roads—more or less rough—that tell the story; where 90 per cent. of the riding is done.

It's the thump, thump that wears out a bicycle—the jump and jar that bruises the anatomy.

But you can get along without the Victor Spring Fork.

So can the bicycle without oil;

In reading our ad. in this space Sept. 25, 1891, the reader might infer that we were not in favor of a high tariff, and one of our readers sends the following letter:

NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1891.

Dear Sirs:—The party writing the enclosed alleged humorous article regarding the tariff must evidently be continually under the influence of the "enemy he takes into his mouth to steal away his brains;" or else he was born that way, as otherwise he would be aware that it is not generally considered good business methods to air private or political opinions on occasions where they are entirely uncalled for.

Possibly he is of the belief that the enclosed and similar effusions will increase the demand for the Hickory Bicycle.

Did he never hear of "cut downs," "strikes," "lock outs," etc., in any other country? For instance in England, the pride of the heart of the average free trader.

The condition of the American workman when compared with the workman of any other country is sufficient to prove in itself the idocy of the language used in the enclosed article. "PROTECTION."

It is not necessary that all men should think alike, indeed such a condition of things would be nothing less than a calamity, as all progress in that direction stops with the universal belief in any given thing.

But it is obviously the duty of every man to think something and if he is in earnest, and believes that the thing he thinks is of importance, he is not worthy to be known as an American if he allows his fears of "what somebody might say," to stand in the way of expressing his opinion.

There is another point that has meat in it, and that is that a man should not expect others to take too much stock in his opinions if he himself has not the courage to own them.

Our country has too many citizens whose blood flows in a cautious, roundabout sort of a way lest it might cause a visible beating of the pulse.

Millions of men who have little rudimentary half-formed opinions on matters of Church, State or Bicycles refrain from expressing them until the tide shall have turned in some direction, and then they come to the front with all the assurance of men who had helped to win the victory.

The barnacles on a ship's bottom may assist it in sailing, but we doubt it.

How many people do you suppose there are who have faith in the future of Hickory Bicycles now, and yet who laughed with the multitude at first, and when the time comes, as it must, that Hickory is universally admitted to be the stuff for Bicycles (as it has always been for all other vehicles) how many opinions will come to the front that are now lying dormant in the rear?

"Protection" is not the first one who has advised us that we might lose trade by having opinions on other matters, particularly on the subject of what the world has come to know as religion.

Of course we would not feel that we could afford to lose too many of those dishonest 70 cent coins (which are circulating an embossed lie on their faces by proclaiming to the world that they are "one dollar," and then trying to condone the offence by adding in an undertone: 'In God We Trust.")

But we are not certain that any grist is diverted from our mill for any such reason though as we would like to know for certain we make the following "unparalleled offer." We will give one dozen Hickory badges for any well authenticated case where anyone would have bought a Hickory bicycle had we been cowardly enough to hold down our safety valve, and who didn't buy it because we happened to disagree with him on a matter about which neither of us knows anything.

A few years ago a very estimable gentleman was dragged through some of the more thickly settled streets of Boston with a rope around his valuable neck because he had suggested that human slavery was not quite the acme of modern civilization.

Within a few years Boston has set up a bronze statute of the man without the rope, indicating that, possibly he was right.

Of course that was an extreme case, but a very mild one compared with some of the massacres that have been committed in olden times "for Christ's sake."

Though now the world has reached that lofty height where "infant damnation" is not considered necessary (i.e. not by the more humane), and even the blessings of a high tariff are beginning to lose the rosy hue they were once claimed to possess.

The loudest shouter that "protection" ever had. The man whose snuff taking was the signal for a sneeze on the part of the average tariffite and who was looked to to furnish arguments and ideas for the ninety-and-nine.

This educated gentleman has, as you may have noticed got it into his magnificent head that free trade (still freer trade because it makes the other fellow have free trade too) is a good thing, and now such of his followers as the cautious party above, who is so careful of his good name as not to give it away, are stricken with a peculiar kind of humor which breaks out variously.

We believe the world cannot have too much "reciprocity."

Let each man do the work he is best fitted for and swap his product to those who are best fitted to do for him what he cannot so well do for himself, whether they live in the same or different countries.

Give us honest money and let us as individuals try to earn what we spend. Give us a rational religion that will educate and uplift man without spoiling the whole effect by belittling the Deity, and the time may yet come when the expressions "brotherly love" and "human happiness" will be something more than "sounding brass on a tinkling cymbal."

P. S.—For the benefit of "Protection" et al., I would say that other members of the Elliott Hickory Cycle Co. need not necessarily be held responsible for my views except as they apply to Hickory wheels, and on that question at least, we are a unit.

These utterances on politics and religion I am willing to stand by as a personal matter.

AUTUMN.

"The withered banners of the corn are still,
And gathered fields are growing strangely wan,
And death, poetic death, with hands that color
What e'er they touch, weaves in the Autumn woods,
His tapestries of gold and brown."

There is no more pleasant season of the year than autumn for enjoying the pleasures of cycling on a UNION bicycle.

The air is cool and bracing, and the leaves rustle pleasantly under the 1 1-4 inch reversible UNION Cushion Tires, which are the greatest coasters known. Though there may be narrow bye-paths to follow, or gullies to cross, no mishaps need be feared, the UNION steering is so perfect that safe riding is assured with the minimum of care. The pleasures of cycling are enjoyed to the fullest extent by he who rides the UNION.

P. S.---To riders of Solid Tired Bicycles. Owing to an advantageous purchase of 30 and 31-inch solid tires, we can now fit them to Bicycles or supply at reduced rates. Repairers are requested to communicate with us.

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

Editorial Contributor, F. A. EGAN.

BOSTON, 9 OCTOBER, 1891.

THEORY and practice are often at variance, and sometimes so much so that we are tempted to doubt the conclusions of what appears to be the soundest logic. We have before us an article from an exchange, which on the face of it bears the stamp of good logic in stating that the day of the light, active, quick, scientific rider has passed and given place to the heavy, muscular riders of the high geared safety. In other words the light racing man would have no chance against the heavy, muscular man on the high geared chain wheel.

To what extent is this theory correct? Taking a few of the fastest men on the track in this country and England as examples, we find that Osmond, Zimmerman, Windle and Berlo are men who vary in classification from middle to heavy weights, and again among these first class men we find Ede of England and Hoyland Smith of America, both men who are remarkable for their slight figures and apparent absence of muscular development. We have had a late instance in the Boston Athletic Association road race, where men of conspicuous muscle had to give way to one whose physique is such as suggests anything but the powerful athlete. We refer to D. W. Caswell, who is a man of very slight build and short stature, and yet this man outrode many of his competitors who were to all appearance his superiors physically. In this same race that wonder, Hoyland Smith, showed more endurance and speed for long distance than any one of his ninety-three competitors, a large majority of whom appeared to possess, and in many cases did possess, far greater physical development. It is in such races as this which we notice, that muscle and brute force would apparently best tell, and yet this idea receives a set back when we see the Hoyland Smiths and the Caswells of the cycling world doing better in a long, hard road race than their confreres more lavishly endowed with muscular tissue.

WHAT, then, is the explanation of this? We think it proves beyond a doubt that with good lung capacity, skill, plenty of nervous force and pluck, the light, apparently unmuscular cycler is more than a match for the man who has ample muscles, but who lacks skill and pluck to give his strength full play. Muscle backed by skill and pluck is indomitable, but actual practice has shown that the theory advanced by our exchange is not correct, founded though it is on apparently good logic; for be it noticed there are no exceptions made in the statement that on the appearance and general use of the high geared safety, muscle alone is necessary to win races.

HOW shall we improve the proxy system? This is one of the problems that the League will have to solve, as the present system of proxy voting in a Constitutional Convention and also in the National Assembly is not satisfactory, since it does not produce the good results that should come from any scheme which aims to give absent members an influence in the convention. We are familiar with the criticisms that have been made, and there is no need to repeat them at this time. The last Constitutional Convention gave us a view of the proxy system that we do not care to look upon again.

TO our mind, the best solution of the problem, so far as the Convention goes, is to go right to the root of the matter and do away with the Constitutional Convention altogether. It is too cumbersome a body, and we believe no proxy system can be made that will give entirely satisfactory results. The only province of the Convention is to amend the Constitution. The National Assembly is a representative body and could safely be trusted with that work.

MR. CHARLES H. LUSCOMB has suggested the following Constitutional amendment to remedy the evils:

"At all Constitutional Conventions, Divisions, Subdivisions and Consulates may cast the vote of their entire membership, excepting such of their members as are personally present or otherwise represented by proxy.

Provided, That at a meeting duly called, either of the general membership of such Division, Sub-division or Consulate, or at a meeting duly called of the Board of Officers of the Division, a resolution be adopted, specially delegating one or more members of the L. A. W. at such meeting named to represent such Division, Sub-division or Consulate at the Convention."

READING the above carefully, and what do we find? Nothing more nor less than a new form of National Assembly in which individuals would have extraordinary voting powers. We believe the interests of the League would be better conserved by giving the power to amend the Constitution into the hands of the National Assembly.

BUT while the evil exists in the Convention it is not absent from the Assembly. The far-away members get no voice in the meetings of this body, and their influence is felt only as far as the "hustlers" can gather proxies and use them to the advantage of some candidate or measure. It is well known that trades and dickers are a feature of every National Assembly meeting, and "hustlers" will gather in the proxies and dictate terms to candidates. One man has been known to boast that he carried a certain remote section of the county in his pocket, and it is well known that the West always votes through the proxy system.

THERE are two solutions to the proxy problem in the National Assembly, and both of these look to giving a direct vote to the distant members.

LET the members of remote Divisions send to the Secretary of the meeting instructed proxies on every candidate, and so far as possible on every measure. The Secretary to cast the proxies to any number, but only as instructed, and to have no control of the votes represented by the proxies except as instructed. An agenda of the meeting could be published in advance, and this would allow far away men to know upon what questions they would be called upon to vote, and to vote accordingly. Below we give Mr. E. J. Shriver's views on this proposition, the same having been submitted to him by the Secretary:

"A meeting is presumed to be held for deliberate purposes and the arriving at a decision which shall fairly represent the average of all views held after all have been freely exchanged, and as a matter of fact the result on questions of policy in League affairs as to which there is any real division at the outset, is almost just such a compromise as is assumed on this theory. Yet you would subject a meeting to the probability of being made powerless to take any deliberate action because of votes which had been instructed in advance of the discussion which might quite likely have changed the views of those giving them, had they been present. The New York rule sent you (ratification by mail vote of members) reverses this and causes the verdict to be given by the absentees after they have had full opportunity to inform themselves as to the merits on either side of the question, as brought out in discussion at the meeting, and is nothing more than the mode of constitutional amendment in use in every State in the Union. Your objection on the score of cumbersomeness I might meet with the charge of laziness on the part of the Secretary, but will be gentle, and simply point out that I left entirely open in my proposition whether National amendments should be ratified by mail vote or by section at Division meeting (or even by Division Boards, thus carrying still farther the analogy to real politics), and that its idea is to have all the machinery of voting in Division hands. As to elections, the only way you can get rid of trading and wirepulling in this, is to make your electorate so wide and broad that it is practically impossible for the wirepullers to see them all. A large convention is always harder to boss than a small one—I can run a District or County Convention myself to the Queen's taste—and it is in the handful of men who attend primaries rather than at the polls that the fine work is got in. Of course this means direct voting for League officers, which you are not sufficiently enlightened to accept as yet, but I may as well utilize the chance to preach the gospel of true democracy to those even who are still embedded in the depths of heathenism."

IN the above Mr. Shriver comes back to his idea that the Executive Officers should be elected by the Division, and protests against what is practically a mail vote of the National Assembly in the case of elections. The Assembly rarely deliberates in the choice of officers.

ANOTHER remedy has been suggested. It is an enactment that shall allow a Division to select its delegates to the Assembly from among non-resident members, or else to allow resident delegates to appoint proxies who are not members of the National Assembly. This would give distant Divisions a direct representation, or an approximate to it, and not affect the deliberative feature of the Assembly.

IT is a fact not to be gainsaid that such remote States as California and Oregon cannot hope to have delegates to the National Assembly answer "present" when the roll is called in Conventions or Assemblies held in the Middle or Eastern States, and unless we make some provision to give the delegates from such States some power over their proxies, they can never hope to exert any influence in the government of the League.

WE recently had occasion to call attention to the duty parents owe to their children in seeing that they take a proper amount of physical exercise, like cycling, in their youth, so that their growing muscles, bones and bodies may be benefitted thereby. Perhaps it may be well to advise the parents themselves to partake of the medicine they should prescribe for their offspring. A man at forty is in the prime of life, yet it is at this period that the morbid consequences of lack of nutrition manifest themselves—for obesity, gout and diabetes are ascribed to lack of assimilation of food, not to excess—and at once a remedy is demanded, one that will tone up the system and burn up the rejected nutriment that he has taken in. Cycling is that remedy.

Knowing the forms of exercise to be avoided, namely, those which call for sudden strains and exertions of force, we leave it pretty plain that exercise for the elderly should be of the protracted order like cycling, and it may safely be adopted by every one. It is the most hygienic of all kinds for the elderly man, as for the young one, provided it is prolonged enough to represent a sufficient amount of work. The elderly man who lets the street car carry somebody else, while he rides upon a wheel, not only serves the company right but benefits himself.

TO ride one mile twenty times produces better results to the rider than to ride twenty miles at one time. To ride an hour and feel all the while the pleasure and exhilaration of doing so is better than to scorch until you are exhausted. Exercise which produces high spirits is preferable to exercise which ends in fatigue. The moment the rider feels in any degree exhausted he should stop instantly, for from that moment riding is an injury rather than a benefit. An hour's ride every morning or evening is better than five hours two or three times a week. Nature is exceedingly jealous in this matter. Two horses may find it hard to start a loaded car, but once started it is kept going very easily. It is not well therefore, to ride a great deal one day and very little the next. The rider who wishes to keep himself in trim, to maintain the proper poise between body and mind, must ride as regularly as he washes his hands or sits down to breakfast.

It is well to keep this idea of constant and regular riding before wheelmen, for somehow the prevailing tendency is to neglect it. Some men have too little respect for their bodies and too little fear of the resulting ill effects of their indifference. An hour's ride each day is not a large demand, and yet many riders say they cannot spare the time for it, and in consequence suffer the tortures of ill health, and the expense of doctor's bills, when the pleasant remedy of persistent and regular cycling would save them both.

AN eminent authority upon physical culture for women, and who is a warm adherent of the bicycle as the most perfect form of exercise for the fair sex says, that if women keep on cycling and ride regularly and understandingly we shall have a nation of Dianas. Whatever will become of the pale faced pigmies who look upon the bicycle as an instrument of danger is a problem. Distanced physically as well as intellectually, they may have to go abroad for their wives, as their sisters do for husbands.

THE cycle thief is rampant in St. Louis and has caused no little trouble during the past few months. It has only been a few weeks ago that $500 was lifted from Will Laing's safe and the same party stole a wheel. Secretary Rule, of the Cycling Club, was the latest victim. His club mates watched closely, and on September 26 discovered the wheel near the Exposition, securely locked. After a long wait the man who left it came out and he was nabbed and taken to the police station and locked up. When the owner of the wheel heard of it, he investigated the case and concluded to drop the prosecution on account of the young man's family. So ends another case of this nature, and the police have determined to let bicycle cases severely alone in future. A few convictions would settle the whole thing.

CHICAGO'S many bicycle clubs will have indoor base ball teams in the field this year. A cyclists league is not at all improbable.

"VERNON," of Minneapolis, writes us: "The following ticket appears among the wheelmen of Minnesota in their election of League officers for the ensuing term: A. B. Choate of Minneapolis, Consul; Colie Bell of Minneapolis, Vice Consul; E. S. Gregory of Winona, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Choate is the President of the Business Men's Bicycle Association of Minneapolis. He is a lawyer of great ability and would make a good Consul. Colie Bell hardly needs an introduction to the wheelmen, as he is well known throughout the Northwest as a man who can always be depended on doing just as he says he will do. He is probably as well posted on League politics as any man in the State. E. S. Gregory of Winona is also another good man. He has held the office of Secretary and Treasurer for the last three or four years, and is the right man in the right place."

WE were startled the other day by reading an item which stated that W. Windle was a dangerous lunatic, and that he had thrice escaped his keepers! A more careful reading showed us that the lunatic under discussion hailed from Staunton, Va., and our mind was set at rest that the "fair haired Millbury boy" is not a raving, tearing lunatic by any means.

TWENTY-ONE employees of the immense granger supply house, Montgomery, Ward & Co. of Chicago, will engage in a ten mile handicap road race Sunday morning, October 11th. The course will be the one on which the American ten mile record was made.

THE Cincinnati Post offers a prize of $25 cash for the best design for a lady rider's cycling costume. At the end of the article making the offer the Post says: * * * "Anyone may compete. Set your wits to work, fair inventors, and send in your designs. Woman has always been called a designing creature. Perhaps it wasn't intended as a slander, after all—just a nice little compliment in recognition of her taste and genius. Anyway, if it wasn't it should have been. If any class of women is capable of engineering the most radical of dress reforms it should be the bicyclers. They are such a grand success at working revolutions."

A BOWLING ALLEY, built by a stock company composed of members of the Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago, has been formed. Only club members will be eligible to its privileges.

THE 19-year-old lad, Ferris, alias Jackson, alias Sherman, who stole Charles Fellen's bicycle at Elmira, N. Y., has been caught. He evidently is a bad one, as it is proven that he escaped from the State Industrial School, and on his person was found a key of the rear door of Charles Stevens' bicycle store.

SAYS Linneus: "Recently severe accidents have been caused by bicycle riders colliding with horses and carriages, and the latest one happened to E. N. Broughton, who was run into by a skittish horse on Locust street, bruising him severely and throwing the occupant of the buggy out into the street. Now a citizen has written to a local paper, urging that bicycle riders be forced to pay a tax for the use of the roadways and that the lamp question as well as the one of bells be again brought before the Municipal Assembly. I perfectly agree with 'Hawkshaw' that every rider should be compelled to carry a light, and the necessity for this was forcibly presented to me the other evening where I came within an ace of having the severest collision of my riding career with a damphool who was scorching down the asphaltum."

MR. A. J. MARRETT, the Chicago representative of the Coventry Machinists' Co., is now East. He reported the trip between Chicago and Boston as being very irksome on account of the intense heat.

THE century run epidemic is almost as bad as the grippe in its prevalence. The Hartford Wheel Club and the Colt Wheel Club, also of Hartford, Ct., have been planning century runs to take place within a week or two.

THE Chicago Cycling Club will continue its Saturday evening stag parties and lunches of coffee and "Sinkers." There was great rejoicing at the first of these last Saturday evening over the great list of Chicago Club victories at Parkside last week.

THE Springfield, Mass., Bicycle Club will move into the new club house sometime during the latter part of this week. The club has 50 names to act upon at the next meeting, which means that the club will reach the limit of 200, with a few to spare. The non-resident and life membership number about 25. The Springfield Club has entered on a new lease of prosperity and activity. Long may it live!

ON Chicago's great annual century run September 27th, 21 of the Lincoln Club finished and 4 failed, 17 of the Columbia Wheelmen finished, 6 failed, 12 of the Illinois Cycling Club finished, 2 failed, 9 of the Chicago Club finished and 4 failed, and of the great body of unattached, 30 finished, and 28 failed.

COUNCILMAN BECKS, of Michigan City, Ind., has introduced an ordinance in the Council requiring bicyclers to procure a license to ride on the streets from the city at a cost of $5. Here is a matter for the League to take up and show the unlawfulness of the proposed action.

MR. A. FEATHERSTONE returned to Chicago the first of last week, and was interviewed by Chicago papers.

THE rumor that the Remington Co. of Ilion, N. Y., would engage in the manufacture of cycles turn out to be false. The company denies the soft impeachment.

"PREPARATIONS are being made for a gay winter season in St. Louis, and the lantern slides, hops and smokers will follow each other in rapid succession at both of the local clubs. Beginning to-morrow the Missouris adopt a new plan of having the billiard and card rooms thrown open on Sunday for the benefit of those wishing to play. This has not been done for five years, yet I think it a move in the right direction, as the members certainly are better taken care of at the club house than in billiard halls, which were formerly patronized extensively on Sunday."—LINNEUS.

WASHINGTON now boasts of a Chinese Cycle Club. Wo Sing is the captain, and eye witnesses do say that when Wo gets on his cycle toggery he presents a sight which brings jealousy and despair to the hearts of his white and colored "brethren of the wheel."

"MAKE the best you can this pleasant weather of your bicycles and tricycles. It will soon be icicles."—Er.

IT is the purpose of the Cleveland (Ohio) Clerical Club at an early date to discuss the question of Sunday cycling.

THE Fall River (Mass.) Cycle Club will open the social season by a dance at Music Hall early in November.

MASSACHUSETTS is likely to have a contest in the coming election for Chief Consul, and perhaps for other officers on the ticket.

W. IRVING WILHELM and Dr. Early, of Philadelphia, were riding their bicycles on Eleventh street, near Chestnut, the other day, when a milk team became frightened and ran away. Some of the bystanders thereupon stoned the bicycle riders. The funny side of the episode was that the cyclers were not in any way responsible for the accident.

MR. HAROLD R. LEWIS of Philadelphia, Pa., has returned from Japan, in which country he toured on the wheel four thousand miles. Mr. Lewis ought to write up his experiences for publication; they would prove of great interest.

SAYS Linneus of St. Louis: "The A. A. U. championships were held in St. Louis on October 3, and, as usual, the bicycle event was dwarfed into insignificance by a mountain of athletics. As far as I know, W. F. Murphy is the only Eastern crack present, and to make it a race Bert Harding was influenced to ride with him. What a farce that race was anyway, and if it is not of enough importance to bring out the fast men, what is the use of announcing that they will be present?"

THE regular winter season of ladies' nights—"Little Pennsylvania"—began at the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club Monday night.

THE Stanley Show of England will be held during the last part of November and the first of December.

A NUMBER of Baltimore (Md.) wheelmen went over to Washington last Sunday and were the guests of the Columbia Club.

THE Brookline (Mass.) Bicycle Club have hired quarters in the Post-office building, and will fit them in a suitable manner for meeting rooms.

DURING the past season but few long runs have been taken by St. Louis wheelmen, but they are now making up for lost time. On September 20, Captain Wolzendorf took four of the Cycling Club members on a round trip to Pacific, over hills and grades that would paralyze the average road rider; 79 miles is the reading of the cyclometer, and it is but the second time that any club has undertaken this run.

THE Columbus (Ohio) C. C. gave a formal opening of the new club house October 1st. It took the form of a stag party and smoker. At intervals during the evening the celebrated Apollo Quartet rendered selections that were greatly enjoyed, as well as the mandolin and guitar duets of Messrs. Schneider and Duncan. The billiard, pool and card tables were constantly in use, Havanas were plentiful, and last but not least was the punch bowl.

IT seems that Road Improvement will henceforth be pushed in Missouri as it never was before, now that Secretary Chubbuck of the Board of Agriculture has taken hold of the matter. Another road convention, which will be attended by every road commissioner in the State, will be held at Fulton during November. Mr. Potter's work, "The Gospel of Good Roads," is in big demand, and is mainly responsible for the renewed interest in this matter.

NEXT Friday evening three members of the Douglas Cycling Club of Chicago will engage in a clam contest, and the club members will be amused thereat. J. Langbein, Henry Slaoik and Frank Ladendorf are the contestants.

W. F. MURPHY has been in St. Louis for the past few weeks, and has made numerous friends among St. Louis cyclists. Billy's quiet ways and his smile seem to have captured everybody, and it is safe to say that St. Louis is gone "daft" on Murphy.

C. A. SEBYOSS, Vice President of the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, was the hundredth member of the Century Road Club and the one hundredth man to finish on the annual run.

THE Associated Clubs of Philadelphia will hold another cycle exhibition during March, 1892. Much larger accommodations will be provided so that the crowded condition of last year's exhibition will be avoided.

THE French Government has raised the duty on cycles 100 per cent. over the former figures.

THE opposition to road racing in England seems to be growing in strength.

THE Syracuse (N. Y.) C. C. held a theatre party last week.

CAPT. A. D. PECK, JR., is off on a ten days' tour through the Shenandoah Valley.

MR. GORMULLY, of the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co., returned from Europe last week.

ATLAS Imperial safety No. 3021 has been stolen from Ames, Frost & Co.'s of 302-304 Wabash avenue, Chicago. Reward will be paid for the return of the wheel.

WE hear that President James R. Dunn is going to Europe. In fact we hear that he will sail from New York this week.

A CHICAGO correspondent writes: "I notice in your 'Here and There' column of the issue of Sept. 25th that you mention Emil Ullbrecht as a member of the Douglas Club. On behalf of the members of our club wish you would correct error in next issue. Emil is a member of the Columbia Wheelmen, and his record is 28.42 1-5."

THE Phenix (R. I.) Bicycle Club held its annual election of officers Sept. 30th. After the election a smoker was held. The club now numbers twenty-four.

THE next summer's State meet of the Kentucky Division will be held at Lexington in that State.

A SUCCESSFUL church run with forty men in line was given by the Oak Park Cycling Club of Chicago Sunday evening, September 27th. The Ridgeland Congregational Church gave a special service.

"IN his pamphlet, 'The Gospel of Good Roads,' a 'letter to the American farmer,' Mr. Isaac B. Potter has performed a public service. The address is not too long, and is couched in the easy, familiar style of one who perfectly understands his subject and is quite used to handling it. In his argument for better country roads Mr. Potter presents not only dry-as-dust statistics to show that good roads are as necessary as tools in a factory in this modern day and generation, but resorts to the object method as well, and by means of reproductions of photographs of some of the worst American and of other typical American country roads as well as of ordinary country roadways in Europe, proceeds to leave the reader, whoever he or she may be, no alternative but to join the ranks of advocates of good roads, because they are cheapest as well for the teamster as another. The interesting style in which the work is written, the confidential yet critical relationship of the author with 'the American farmer,' and as much as anything else the contrasts shown in the subject matter of the illustrations make the publication exceptionally readable." —Bradstreet.

Up to Sept. 30, Capt. J. H. Welch of the Wissahickon Wheelmen of Germantown, Pa., had ridden 9,800 miles, including 28 century runs. As an "all round" record can this be beaten?

AN exchange thus describes the trial of Myers' air bicycle at Little Valley, N. Y. "* * * Just in line with the air ship was a hill several hundred feet high, with very abrupt, steep sides. It was a startling and beautiful sight to see Belknap climbing heavenward only a few feet above the hillside, with the screw-sail facing the wind and the elevating planes and rudder kite buoying the vessel up like a kite upraised by the wind. Above the crest of the hill he mounted into quiet air, where for some time he described various evolutions, turning around and going up and down and from side to side. Finally he went out of sight over the crest of the hill. Later he landed in a strong wind near Ellicottville, tearing his anchor of soft steel to pieces, and breaking every weak feature of the bicycle and steering and propelling apparatus, so that everything except the air ship proper seemed a complete wreck. It was, however, completely restored at Professor Myers' workshop."

THE new home of the Narragansett Wheelmen of Providence, R. I., was formally opened with a grand house warming one evening last week. Over 300 persons were present, including representatives from every club in Providence and some out of town clubs. An orchestra of seven pieces rendered selections during the evening, and other entertainment was afforded. Early in the evening, Capt. Smith, of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, presented the Narragansetts, on behalf of the Rhode Islands, a beautiful French marble clock. The lady friends of the club sent down a handsome basket of flowers. The club will hold a ladies' night in the near future as a compliment for their efforts in making the affair a success.

"THE bicyclist is a wandering advocate of better city pavements and better country roads. Already he has made his influence felt for good in many communities. As the number of bicycles multiplies throughout the country and the man in the knee breeches becomes aware of his influence, the wheel will be recognized as a powerful engine of reform. For many years the people of this nation have contented themselves with wretched highways, the farmers because they feared heavy taxation for improvements, and the other classes of citizens because they sympathized with the farmers. It is beginning to be understood, however, that the farmers' fears are not well founded; in fact, that they sustain enormous losses as the direct result of bad roads. It is the province of the alert bicyclist in the short trousers and long stockings, who is brought in contact constantly with the horrible highways, to teach true economy in this matter and to throw his influence on the side of his teaching."—Shelbyville, Ohio, Republican.

IF the men can find pleasure in horrid, hateful "stag parties" the ladies can also have a good time at an entertainment, even if the men are excluded; witness the following from the Chicago Sun: "The Ladies' Cycling Club of Englewood enjoyed a social and musicale at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Smith of 6544 Yale street, no gentlemen present. An informal musical programme was rendered, in which Miss Sadie Lawrence, contralto, and Miss Grace Edgerton, pianist, officiated. The President, Mrs. Smith, was presented with a miniature safety bicycle, decorated with the club colors, as a token of esteem. Dancing (by ladies alone) occupied a portion of the time."

Members of the New Bedford (Mass.) Club were the guests of the Cambridgeport (Mass.) Club last week. Now it is the intention of the Cambridgeport riders to return the visit at an early date.

A sort of a "Dandy-Horse" way of going: "A new way of bicycling was seen in Saco, Me., yesterday. A young fellow lengthened his legs out with sticks strapped to them so that they touched the ground, and in this way he propelled his machine instead of using the pedals."—Exchange.

A curious accident is reported by English Bicycling News: A Mr. Gray while riding in the neighborhood of Careston, Eng., was thrown to the ground by a flash of lightning. The wheel was twisted all out of shape, but Mr. Gray escaped without serious injury.

George Westfall of the Syracuse (N. Y.) C. C. stands a pretty sure winner of the medal for the best club mileage. He closed September with a record of 4000 miles. His nearest competitor, Chapin, has a mileage of 3290 miles.

"There is a noted character in Washington," says the Boston Traveller, "who rides about on a bicycle which he manufactured himself with wooden wheels, and carries about with him a tin sign on a pole bearing the words "debt collector." His method of operation, when given a job, is to go to the house of the debtor, and if the payment is refused, to take up his position conspicuously in front of the residence. After he has remained long enough to get the man well advertised, he leaves with the remark that he will come again in a short time. In that way he worries the amount out of them. If any object to his peculiar method of operation he asserts that it's his business, and that he has just as much right to advertise it as any other business man. But his calling has its drawbacks, for I suppose he gets licked on an average of about twice a day."

The York (Pa.) Cycle Club formally opened its new club rooms on the evening of Oct. 1st. The fittings are sumptuous and in excellent taste. Tropical and evergreen plants added to the cosey effect of the rooms. Profs. Harry Link and Harry Kain enlivened the gathering with instrumental music in the fore part of the evening, and toward the middle part dancing was begun. It was a bright scene that was visible—the whirling, shuffling groups moving about in the brilliant light, stepping to the music of the latest airs and everybody smiling and happy. Later in the evening the party was entertained by fine vocal solos. A fine banquet was served, and at a late hour the festivities ceased and the party left for home.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

The country road builder or repairer usually proceeds at his task by heaping up the material at hand in the centre, with such a slope as too often interferes with locomotion, and which heap the first heavy team resolves into deep ruts, vitiating its usefulness for any but a similar heavy team, and for it only with constantly increasing strain on the horses. Yankee ingenuity has done much for the ease of building good roads by inventing capital road-making tools, which need but intelligent application to develop such thoroughfares as would make them admired, in place of being a reproach and a shame. It is this much needed intelligence that the L. A. W. is laboring to supply by agitation and education. Certain it is that this country is rich enough to place the roads in the hands of such government as will insure their perfection, instead of leaving them to town officials without education, experience or interest necessary to an accomplishment of this object. Perhaps no better time for the successful accomplishment of this much needed reform could be desired than the present. With crops of the entire world a failure, America is blessed with such a harvest of plenty as it has never had before, and the farmer would be rich, could he find a ready and inexpensive method of transporting his grain to shipping or selling points, but right here is where he is made to suffer for his ignorance and parsimony in fighting against any and all forms of road improvement. The railroads are unable to transport the vast store of grain the farmers have produced, and the farmer, having no road fit to haul it over, finds himself condemned to sit helplessly by and all the world clamor for his grain and offer in exchange therefore the money he so much needs, while he, from lack of transportation, is unable to make the exchange. The farmer loses and the world hungers because of the narrow-minded policy that denies us decent roads. If the farmer really thinks he is not "biting off his own nose to spite his face" in fighting against the wheelmen who are trying to give him decent roads, he is wiser than the remainder of the world, and very few are aware of the fact.

From the point of view of that still somewhat numerous and respectable part of the community which does not ride bicycles, complaints against the latest outrage on the rights of our daddies are still by no means uncommon. The complaints bear, for the most part, a striking resemblance to those made in the already dim past against such innovations as, for instance, the railroad,—and even the first brave man who carried an umbrella on the king's highway was made a martyr of in the interests of horseflesh. Even in these liberal days I would not speak too leniently of the umbrella fiend; but it must be admitted that the rain-shedder has survived the ban of conservatism, and as for railroads, they go where they will. The chief objection encountered by the umbrella, the railway, and other similar shocks to the equanimity of our highly respectable but short-sighted ancestors was the frightening of horses. But equine nature seems to have improved fully as fast as human nature, and horses have learned to look with philosophical composure on sights which would have astonished Bucephalus—perhaps annoyed him beyond endurance. I am sorry to say that there are still some horses that make no effort to conceal the fact that they are "natural fools,"—dammed and sired such, and therefore incurable. They take fright at many objects which could not reasonably be expected to have that effect on them. A bit of paper in the street, a shawl blown by the wind, the swinging of a door, a pile of bricks by the wayside, even the every-day rattle of the melodious lumber wagon, have shaken many a wheelman's faith in horse sense. Some of these asses of horses will go to the length of seeking out opportunities for terror with a delicacy of solicitude and shrewdness of perception worthy of a worthier cause. It is not an occasion for surprise, then, that there are yet horses which still see in the bicycle an opportunity not to be neglected. But the question of shall this means of locomotion forego its rights on the road because certain persons desire to drive horses which are dangerously timid, has long since been answered in the negative, and the courts and fairer minded public have upheld the decision against the horse fiends. The horse-frightening objection, in the case of the railroad, has been overcome, and no one now thinks of objecting to railroads, on that account; and the law of expediency is fast settling the controversy of horse versus bicycle.

A man can fall off a safety, when he is learning to ride it, in a greater variety than he can do anything else. He can go down in two times and fifty motions, and when he gets down at last, and the smiling attendant helps him to his feet, he is right where he started, and fifty feet from where he expected to be. This element of uncertainty, in the days before riding was taught in padded halls with instructors who do not allow the clumsiest of beginners to fall, used to make the wheelman's novitiate both exciting and fascinating.

The speed and comfort the inflated tire has introduced into cycling has turned the eyes of the world towards utilizing the principle in other ways for the comfort and welfare of such as are not wheelmen. The latest effort in this direction is a pneumatic inner sole for boots, whereby the concussion and fatigue of walking is greatly reduced. What next I wonder!

HENRY GEORGE AND THE WHEEL.

An exchange thus pleasantly tells the story of how Mr. Henry George first had his attention drawn to cycling, and how he finally became a convert:

"Henry George was riding in a fiacre across the Place de la Concorde, Paris, in the summer of 1889, when a French wheelman went whirling by. The American philosopher gazed admiringly after the shining bicycle, and then said to his companion:

"'If I could manage one of those things I would ride to Versailles with you this afternoon.'

"His companion, who was an American cyclist touring Europe awheel, was about to leave Paris for Marseilles. All the way home he tried to induce Mr. George to join him in the ride into Southern France.

"'How far is it?' asked Mr. George.

"'About 500 miles, but it's all down hill after striking the River Rhone, and you can come back by rail or boat.'

"Mr. George was much impressed with the benefit to be derived from such a ride, and mentioned it when he returned to his hotel. A French friend, a distinguished publicist, was present and said:

"'What becomes of zee dignity weech ees so necessaire for a public man?'

"'Bosh!' said Mr. George.'

"'Ah! now, cher Albert, do not laugh at the idea,' said the Frenchman's wife. 'You need such a ride very much. I fear you are breaking down.'

"'I break down? Why, I am only 50. Besides, I couldn't sacrifice my dignity,' and he went through a laughable pantomime of how he might look on a wheel.'

"Mr. George went back to England and plunged into a speech-making canvass of the English cities. Then he returned to New York. The bicycle scheme had faded from his mind until one day he received this cablegram from Paris:

"'Albert died to-day.'

"'Ah, so my poor French friend did need the exercise of wheeling after all,' said Mr. George, but still he plunged into work more deeply than ever. He went to Australia, being gone from February to September, 1890. Though the steady drain on his vitality occasioned by a speaking tour of the colonies was bringing him perilously near his French friend's condition he didn't notice it. Nor did his family nor friends, except one, the European cyclist. He saw the wheel was more than ever necessary, and on Mr. George's return from Australia in September a year ago, he again urged that he learn. But the indefatigable reformer was off again on another wearing lecture tour, this time through Texas. When he returned he met his cycling friend and said:

"'Well, I've more time now; I'll learn to ride a wheel.'

"But winter had come and cycles had disappeared from track and road. A few days later came the news that Mr. George had been struck down with nervous prostration. For weeks he had a hard struggle, and his friends were not sure that he would ever regain his old-time vigor.

"During his convalescence in January he again encountered the companion of his ride across the Place de la Concorde.

"'As soon as spring comes I'll ride,' he said.

"'You have found out the danger of delay,' said the cyclist; 'don't put it off any longer. Go to Bermuda where the roads are splendid. Learn now. Had you ridden to Marseilles you wouldn't be ill now.'

"This time Mr. George listened to what the wheelman said. He went to Bermuda that month, and when he came back in March he was a good rider. Every road of any importance in the islands he had traversed awheel.

"'I sleep and eat as I haven't for years. I guess I'll keep it up,' he said on his return. He has kept his word.' * * *

"All of Mr. George's family now ride except Mrs. George. With two daughters and two sons to make up the party, Mr George's household, when out on Riverside drive or in Central Park, makes quite an imposing display. The elder daughter, Miss Jennie, is one of the most graceful of the large contingent of lady riders this summer has brought out, while little Miss Anna, scarcely a dozen years old, is well known along the smooth avenues, where her golden hair is often seen flying behind her as she dashes along to and from school. * * *"

THIS IS ESPECIALLY TRUE OF THE

It is easy running, a fine hill climber, a fast coaster. It only needs to be tried to be appreciated.

There is a graceful and easy motion in a high wheel that cannot be obtained in a safety. It is motion that exhilarates and gives a charm to a ride which adds tenfold to its pleasure. The only practical high wheel is the Eagle.

You know that the great volume of internal trade in every State is the common road trade. It exceeds by millions of tons the entire carrying trade of the railroads; for, in addition to the fact that the great volume of freight carried by the railroad is, in the first instance, carted in one form or another over the common highways of the country, you know that enormous quantities of produce of all kinds are wheeled over the common roads under the requirements of local trade in rural sections, and that these vast quantities of produce consumed in the local market have no connection whatever with the railroad traffic. And so it becomes important to inquire in what manner this great carrying trade which is constantly going on over the common roads, and which supplies not only the immense freighting business of the great railroads, but the more important inter-communication between neighbors in the local market, can be carried on with best facilities and with least cost. I have tried to show you that upon this question of economy the great railroad corporations of the country have established a valuable precedent. Each of these corporations is in the business to make money. Their one object is to give little and get much, and yet, in spite of the gradually reduced rates charged by the great trunk lines to the general public, they have steadily increased in prosperity till the enormous wealth of many of these companies has become the wonder of the century. These railroad corporations began business in a crude, undeveloped, and in some cases unsystematic way. Their desire for gain sharpened their wits, they experimented, and by experiments they found that the greatest saving of expense in the management of their railroads was to be attained by the adoption of easy grades, and by adding to the smoothness and hardness of the roadbed. These two qualities of smoothness and hardness are the essentials of a good wagon road. You cannot have and keep such roads without good laws and intelligent supervision. Here is another picture, showing one of the roads of Brittany. Did you ever see a road like that?

It is made to last for all time, and is kept in repair at half the cost and labor expended on the average dirt road of this country. It is looked after with the same system and care that are bestowed in the management of the other departments of government, and every farmer living on the long line of that splendid roadway is happy and independent in the consciousness that he is every day and every way in touch with the great world of business and society.

It may be interesting for you to know that the exact difference in power required to move a given load over different kinds of road surface, has been determined many times, and so often verified as to be well settled. From these experiments you may know that on the smooth surface of a macadam road one horse will haul twice the load that the same horse could haul on the best dirt road, and from five to ten times as much as can be hauled by a single horse when the dirt road is covered with soft mud and ruts. From this you will understand that the value even of a dirt road depends very largely upon its condition and the care with which it is kept in good repair.

And right here, I must say to you, that the great destroyers of the common earth roads are water and narrow wheel tires. In the first place, these roads are, as a rule, wretchedly drained, or in many cases not drained at all. If a deep side ditch could be maintained on each side of the ordinary dirt road, and kept clear so as to receive and carry off the running water, the quality of the road would be improved, in most cases hundred per cent. This is a point which farmers seem to meagerly understand, or, at all events, one which they rarely put to practical use. Water has no place in any road, good or bad. It is more hurtful than any other agent of destruction. It should be carried off and out of every road as soon as it falls if possible. Now, as to wheel tires, let me remind you that you said a little while ago that a road was good enough for your purpose whenever the mud would roll and pack under the wheel; and by this I understand that you look upon your wheel as a roller. So it is. Every road becomes smooth by the application of a roller, and this smoothing process is hastened or retarded by the quality of the roller itself. If you have a wheel tire 1 1-2 inches wide, like those upon your farm wagon, every time you go down the road with a ton of produce, your wagon wheels sink into the soft mud, form ruts and tend to keep the road in a rough condition. Your 1 1-2 inch "roller" will not profitably exert its rolling qualities until the mud becomes nearly dry. A wider wheel tire would serve your purpose much better; and if the farmers of your county would use wheel tires 3 or 4 inches wide, as are used abroad, your dirt road would be rolled into passable condition in half the time that is now required to accomplish this result.

Next to water, nothing is so destructive of a good road surface as a heavy vehicle running on narrow wheels. It has been proven over and over again that wheels with 4 1-2 inch tires cause only one-half the wear on a road that results from the use of wheels with 2 1-2 inch tires. It used to be the rule in England to make the tire 1 inch wide for every 500 pounds of load or vehicle; that is, if the vehicle and load weighed 2 tons, 4 inch tires would be used; but it was not found profitable to increase the width much beyond 4 1-2 inches, except in cases where wagons were used without springs, when they were sometimes made as wide as 6 inches.

You ought to treat this matter of wheel tires as you do other things in which you are interested, and give it the same sensible consideration that you apply to the things about your home. When you built your house you commenced by putting down a 16-inch stone foundation, and on that you built the framework of the superstructure. You made the foundation broad to prevent the settling of a load which was intended to remain unmoved as long as it should last, and yet you should know that the weight per inch upon that foundation is less than one-quarter the weight per inch upon your narrow wheel tires when you go to market with a heavy load, to say nothing of the fact that your wagon carries a moving load, and is therefore much more likely to disturb the foundation than though it remained quiet. Your wheel tire is designed to touch the ground at one point only, and when it is pressed into the earth so as to increase this point of contact, the power required to move a wagon and its load increases very rapidly. You should use wide wheel tires, and should encourage your neighbors to use them also.

Another thing in connection with the use of dirt roads is this: The ruts in every dirt road are multiplied and made deeper and more troublesome simply because the hind wheels of the ordinary farm wagon "track" the front ones; that is, when the wagon goes straight ahead a small rut is made by the front wheels, and the hind wheels coming along in the same track enlarge and deepen the rut. Now you may easily see that if the hind wheels were placed a couple of inches farther apart than the front wheels, they would tend to rub out or wear off the edges of the ruts made by the front wheels, and the result would be that the roads would sooner become smooth and passable. You never saw wagon ruts at a turn in the road, did you? The reason of this is that when a wagon is turning the hind wheels do not follow in the tracks made by the front wheels. On these three points of bad drainage, narrow wheel tires and "tracking" wheels hang many of the miseries and defects of a dirt road.

Two years ago the people living in the suburbs of a Pennsylvania town put down a mile or two of material intended for "Macadam." It was a fairly good substance, but wholly unlike macadam in form and finish, and, worst of all, it was left to settle and harden under the wagon wheels of passing traffic. In a short time the narrow wheel tires worked the usual result, and several lines of deep ruts were formed, running throughout the entire length of the new roadway.

OSMOND'S METHODS.

T. A. EDGE writes a very interesting article in British Sport as to Osmond's methods of training and form in riding. The following are excerpts:

"* * * Osmond at first rides twice a day, mostly going five or six fast miles. For those who know anything about training will tell you that such work would kill most men, but he has the physique to stand a great deal of real hard work. After the first few weeks' preliminary training, he varies his work by practicing speed or sprinting. In private at Herne Hill this season he has beaten the best quarter-mile time, so that it will be seen he has not neglected cultivating his 'speed qualities.' I have spoken to many men during the last few years on the subject of training, and I find that all our modern champions have discarded the old system of dieting. Osmond is an exception to the rule. There is nothing particularly striking in his method of 'getting fit.' He is a man who can stand a lot of hard work, and he does it.

No subject has caused more controversy than the correct position to sit upon a safety bicycle. Mecredy last year was a believer in sitting much more over his work than had been the habit of our English 'cracks;' Osmond favors the English position, and his machine is built with the peak of the saddle from eight to nine inches behind the centre of the crank bracket. You must get behind your work to pedal correctly, he argues; it enables you to drop your heel more and claw back; in a word, your ankles are of much more use to you. He is not yet a convert to sitting between the two wheels of the safety. He sits forward an inch or two only over the centre of the back wheel. There are many good riders who may think eight or nine inches behind the crank bracket is a long way back, and so it would be for a rider of small stature, but it must be remembered that Osmond is very tall, so that it will not do for small men to adopt his position.

Osmond's method of sitting upon his machine naturally brings us to the question as to the length of wheel base. Now, if he sits an inch over the centre of the front wheel, with the crank axle nine inches forward from the peak of the saddle, it is not necessary to say that the machine he rides has a long wheel base. He pins his faith in the lengthy safety which, he says, on the path, is faster, also better for the negotiating of corners. The position of the front wheel of his safety is such that his feet, when on the pedals, clear, whichever way the wheel is turned. From the above it can be gleaned that the tall rider requires a machine with a longer wheel base than the small rider. Osmond holds this opinion.

The safety upon which Osmond rode this year was geared to sixty-eight inches. He is a convert in favor of high gear, but to get the best results from it practice is required. High gears want a deal of training for, but after you gain the necessary amount of physical strength to push them, he thinks men can ride faster. It must be remembered, however, that Osmond speaks only of the path, and the fastest of paths, so that provincial racing cyclists who ride on all classes of tracks should read between the lines. Then, again, what suits Osmond may not afford the best results to other riders, for he admits himself that he is suited by hard plugging, and thinks that if tricycle racing were more popular than it is he would demonstrate that the three wheeler was the machine which he could shine on more than any other cycle.

A subject which has not received the attention from riders which it deserves is length of crank. So thinks Osmond. His idea is that a tall man, even on a safety, has an advantage over a small rider, because he can use a longer crank and thus obtain more power. If a man be possessed of short legs he cannot use long cranks; the tall rider can. A longer throw naturally obtains more power, consequently a higher gear can be propelled. * * *"

METROPOLITAN MUSINGS.

It is only a short time ago when everyone was deploring the little interest being manifested in cycling affairs in this city, viz: the absence of race meets, etc. Affairs are now changed. It is nothing but tournaments just at present.

The Riverside Wheelmen gave a very successful meet on Saturday last, which was far in advance of the Manhattan Athletic Club meeting on the previous Saturday. The Manhattan Bicycle Club are now arranging for an amateur meet on October 17 at the Madison Square Garden, and during the following week the professionals will hold forth. Then again on September 24, the Staten Island Athletic Club will hold races.

Verily things bicyclical around Gotham are very active at present. But the question is, will this activity be of only a few weeks duration, after which everything will fall into its old way, or will the city clubs bestir themselves and strive to maintain the popularity the sport is fast gaining hereabouts. It seems strange how some organizations can meet with success, while others are always at a standstill or even in distress.

The Gotham Wheelmen, one of the youngest clubs in New York, have since their organization a little over twelve months ago, been steadily building up a strong club. They have during the last eight months occupied a comfortable two-story and basement house on the East side of the city, but finding the place inadequate for their rapidly increasing membership they have secured a new home at 54 East 76th street. They propose occupying their new house about October 15, when they will entertain all the city clubs.

Much regret is expressed at the rumored intention of the Hudson County Wheelmen in concluding to retire from the Wheelmen's Bowling League. This Jersey club is one of the charter clubs of the organization, and their retirement will be deplored by all the old clubs in the League who have enjoyed the hospitality of the Ki-Yippy Club during the bowling season. THE NEW YORK BICYCLE CLUB.

Editor Bicycling World: To track a newspaper lie is always something of a Sisyphean labor, and to ventilate private club matters is never a very welcome task. But inasmuch as the New York Club has unluckily got into a position where it cannot well avoid a certain amount of publicity as to its affairs, I may as well add to the talk so far as will correct the gross misstatements of the New York Sun. Most of the papers have been very fairly correct in their accounts of the club's recent troubles; but the Sun's cycling reporter, while quite a nice young man, has fallen victim latterly to a vice unfortunately common to journalism of the minor class, and in striving to tell a picturesque story, is too apt to forget all about the truth of it. Without going into all his smaller inaccuracies, I would quote some of the more important ones as follows:

"Landlord Conklin (sic) was compelled to come down on the club with a writ." "The interest on the bonds was unpaid." "Their unpaid rent amounts to $2300." "Their entire indebtedness is unknown." "The club cafe has always been a severe loss." "The active membership * * * a yearlago reached nearly 200." All these are the kind of falsehoods that are due more to recklessness than malice, but if the cycling department of the Sun is to be run in such style, wheelmen will do well to discount its news.

The truth as to these various matters is that there were no suits against us even, but that we simply determined on taking heroic measures before we had really got into "a hole." On entering our new house we spent some $3000 on furnishing it, for which we went into debt and have never been able to even get this debt reduced. We were not such bad managers, however, as to go on piling up more, but just managed to keep about even until the last six months, when we found we had begun to run behind, and at once decided to call a halt, as any prudent business man would do with his private affairs. The cafe has been a steady source of income, and if our membership had ever reached such figures as the Sun says, would have long since cleared off all we owed. But the highest number, resident and non-resident that we ever had enrolled, was about 140, from which we have now declined less than one-fourth (instead of from 200 to 77). The worst of the Sun's errors is that they are inexcusable, the facts having been perfectly accessible to anyone who would take the trouble to read the official reports regularly issued to the members, with the sole exception that since the latest of these was issued at the beginning of the current fiscal year, we did not gain members as we had hoped for, and that an unexpected deficit in running expenses had occurred. It was this that led us to pull up before any really serious difficulty had occured, and having done so, there is no doubt that the club will go on, adjusted to a more economical basis. Yours truly, E. J. Shriver.

TRACK BUILDING.

Editor Bicycling World: Quite a number of riders in this vicinity have formed a club and are now desirous of owning a track. They have in their possession a perfectly level clover field, which they dare not scrape on account of making it lower than the field and thereby allowing it to hold water. The next best and cheapest method is what we are after, and we come to you for advice on the subject of what to use and how to pack it so as to make a first-class wheel track. We hope you will publish this information in the World, as it will no doubt be interesting to many other readers. I might add that we have cinders and clay in abundance if they can be used to an advantage. I am sincerely one of the "Five Hundred and Twenty-Five."

Easton, Pa. Sam'l. K. Green, Local Consul, L. A. W. 18,346.

[Our correspondent at Easton puts rather a difficult problem to us for solution. He is right in discarding the idea of scraping the natural surface without making proper provision for good drainage. Taking the proposition as presented that the field is perfectly level, a very good (not first-class) track might be made by scraping as suggested, ditching both sides well with a good plank curbing on the inner edges of the track, while the outside edges be left of the natural soil. Then spread carefully clay coatings of an inch or so at a time, and rolling each coat down smooth and hard until the lowest level of the track is as high as the natural level of the field. The corners should be banked from two to three feet, according to the size and shape of track. Cinders are not good for track building unless a fine loose surface is desired. Cinders will not pack, and unless very carefully used a very loose treacherous surface would be the result. Clay properly laid, packed, graded and drained, makes an excellent surface for cycling under most all circumstances except in extreme wet; therefore in building a track of clay, the greatest care should be exercised in making the surface of an even grade from edge to edge and absolutely free from small depressions. At the corners the banking will give ample incline for proper freeing of the surface from water, and on the back stretch and the home stretch the outer edge should be about six or eight inches higher than the inner edge, so as to give sufficient fall for the surface to be quickly freed from water. Of course there is only one way to build a first-class track, and that is on the lines and methods of the Telford or Macadam systems, employed by the builders of our highest grade park and pleasure roads. Still, with a little extra care and skill in ditching and grading, a track built of clay makes a very fast surface under favorable conditions.—Ed.]

WHY NOT A THIRD CLASS?

Editor Bicycling World: "Hawkshaw" and Choate are letting in a world of light on bicycle racing by their friendly and gentlemanly tit tats with each other.

"It is generally conceded by business and professional men * * * that one who makes sporting a business (or spends his time training and thinking of little else than far and fast bicycling) makes a misuse of the sport." For such it is no longer recreation, though it may be diversion, but has become controlling; they are sport makers for the crowd.

Why is it that three, instead of two, classes of bicycle riders are not acknowledged in our rules. Every rider sees and accepts in his own mind three classes among bicyclists: the amateur, the professional and another, distinctly demarked, everywhere categorically distinguished and mentioned. This third status is something more than a pure and simple amateur and something less than a real professional.

Why not give him a distinct status? separate rules? It will be kinder to him, and more beneficial to racing, and more honorable to the L. A. W. than this constant bickering over the amateur rule, a rule that inately includes the professional but openly includes the amateur sailing under conglomerated charts.

Is there anything degrading in open, fair professionalism?
Is there anything debasing in honest, manly, fast or far bicycling?
Is there any special advantage in amateurism?
If not, we are of the vast number who love racing, and would love to be as expert bicyclers as Windle et al, and wish our bicycle "professed sports" a status of their own. Horace M. Darling, M. D.

'TWAS THE MANHATTAN ATHLETIC CLUB.

Editor Bicycling World: Your correspondent who signs himself "Spec" is in error when he says that the Manhattan Bicycle Club held a race meet on Manhattan Field on September 26th. The meet was held there by the bicycle department of the Manhattan Athletic Club. Kindly make this correction in your next issue and oblige,

Yours very truly, F. H. Howland, Captain-Secretary.

JUSTICE TO THE WISSAHICKONS.

Editor Bicycling World: There has been a mistake in the published account of the Harrisburg trip which I think is not in justice to the Wissahickon Wheelmen. In the first place it was a general road race to Pottstown, Frank Welsh of the club above mentioned came in first. Only three of our men started from Harrisburg. Welsh arrived at the club at 5.35, followed one hour afterward by D. Howard and E. Manger, who rode all the hills from Collegeville down. Trusting that you will give this space, I remain, yours very truly, Philadelphia League Member.

THE . . . REASON WHY . . .

Of what use is a Spring Frame on a Cushioned or Pneumatic Tired machine?

It makes a luxurious wheel all the more luxurious. A tire, it matters not what its construction, absorbs but the lesser vibration. It requires a Spring Frame to neutralize the greater shocks and concussions, and a combination of both tire and frame to make the ideal wheel.

This is one way of answering that question, but the man who has ridden a rigid pneumatic or cushion over a "wavy" road, and been bounced or tossed about in the saddle like a light boat in choppy sea will hardly require the information. For those who enjoy similes, the one question can be answered with another:

Of what value are springs under a palatial railway parlor car, which has not only spring trucks, but is fitted with spring seats and plush cushions as well, and has uniformly smooth and even rails to run upon?

The answer is the same in both cases.

The car builders are constantly adopting every means which will tend to make railway travel more pleasurable and luxurious, and same is true of the makers of the American Rambler in a bicycle sense.

"Luxurious cycling" is one of their very by-words.

PHILADELPHIA'S LANTERN PARADE.

Thursday evening of last week witnessed the second annual lantern parade of the Philadelphia clubs, all of whom turned out with the exception of the Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, and one or two others, the club houses of these organizations being so far away that they could not reach the scene of the display with any decorations remaining on their wheels. Last year when the Pennsylvania Club reached the scene of the start, they had no lighted lanterns left. No less than 50,000 people witnessed the parade. Broad street for a mile north from Columbia avenue was so densely packed that locomotion was almost impossible; while on Diamond street the crowds were equally as great. The clubs formed at Montgomery avenue and 18th street, moving at nine o'clock, the route of the parade being down Montgomery avenue to Broad, to Lehigh avenue, countermarch on Broad to Diamond, out Diamond to Twenty-second, countermarch to Broad, and thence to Columbia avenue, where they were dismissed.

Capt. Simmons, of the Park Avenue Wheelmen, was chief marshal, riding at the head of the column, which was led by the Perseverance band in a wagon.

The order of the parade was as follows: Frankford Bicycle Club, Captain Dyson, 20 men; Century Wheelmen, Capt. Dalsen, 39 men; Camden Wheelmen, Capt. Buzby, 15 men; South End Wheelmen, Capt. Dimon, 45 men, taking the prize for the largest number in line; Mt. Vernon Wheelmen, Capt French, 38 men; Columbia Cyclers, Capt. Fontaine, 38 men; North End Wheelmen, Capt. Krose, 41 men; Oxford Wheelmen, Capt. Garrison, 35 men; West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A., Capt. Shee, 15 men; Park Avenue Wheelmen, Lieut. Oakford, 38 men; Quaker City Wheelmen, Capt. Chapman, 40 men; Belmont Club, Capt. Conly, 8 men; North West Wheelmen, Capt. Keeler, 24 men; North East Wheelmen, Capt. Gibson, 18 men; Ormonde Cyclers, Capt. McNally, 12 men; Alpha Wheelmen, Capt. Guthapfel, 20 men; American Wheelmen, Capt. Hockstadter, 24 men.

There were in addition a large number of individual cyclers, bringing the total number up to about 800 wheels.

Many of the decorations were on the most elaborate scale, and a number of the riders were gotten up in masquerade costume of every conceivable description, representing Indians, clowns, Chinamen, Revolutionary soldiers, cow-boys, ballet girls, and the deuce knows what else; some, it must be confessed, being more grotesque than elegant.

The Quaker City Wheelmen had by far the handsomest general display, each machine being decorated with a heavy cluster of lights, while they were headed by a beautifully constructed Chinese pagoda drawn by cycle power.

The Columbia Cyclers also had a handsome float with characters representing Columbia, George Washington and Wm. Penn, the whole being illuminated by incandescent lights supplied by a storage battery.

The Americus Wheelmen had an Indian wigwam on a float.

The West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. showed a yacht, while the Oxford Club had a model of a locomotive built of cardboard, which was a unique get-up.

Mr. E. Shaw, of the South End Wheelmen, whose safety was handsomely made up to represent a yacht, was awarded the prize for the best individual display.

The parade attracted as much attention from the outside public as one of the presidential campaign affairs; and while a great deal of individual effort was expended in the decoration of the machines, yet the riders undoubtedly felt more than repaid for their work at the hearty applause bestowed upon them by the thronging thousands. STATEN ISLAND TOURNAMENT.

The Staten Island Athletic Club is making a determined effort to boom cycling on Staten Island. A race meet has been arranged on the club's fine quarter-mile cinder track for Saturday, October 24th next, in such a way as to draw out the fullest local interest, and yet allow all the fastest riders of the country to be present. The team race tournament—one mile for three men in each team—is intended to be a genuine tournament in which all the leading athletic clubs and bicycle clubs are expected to engage. The contests will be two by two, athletic club against athletic club, and bicycle club against bicycle club, until the final heat, in which the victorious athletic club will meet the victorious bicycle club. The beginners' race, the back numbers' race and the medley or ride, run and carry, offer an opportunity to every one, whether a rider or not, to win a prize, and are bound to cause an endless amount of merriment.

The list of events is as follows: Novice race; one mile safety, closed; championship of Staten Island; one mile safety; back numbers' race; half-mile, closed; first invitation, two mile safety, handicap; quarter-mile dash, safety, closed; beginners' race, 125 yards, closed, open only to those who have never been in the saddle before; ordinaries or "bish wheelers," one mile handicap, closed; second invitation, one mile safety, scratch; medley, half-mile ride, run and carry, ride 220 yards, run 100 yards, ride 120 yards, carry wheel 25 yards, ride one lap to finish; one mile safety, handicap closed; open team race, final one mile winning athletic club against winning bicycle club team. Messrs. Berlo, Murphy brothers, Rich, Tabis, Windle, Worden, Zimmerman and others have been invited to compete.

THE NEW YORK RACE.

The bicyclists who are entered as sure starters in the Madison Square Garden 142 hour contest, October 19—24, are doing some fine work in training for the event, and many old riders are of the opinion that the race will be the finest struggle on wheels that the cycling world has ever seen. The entries embrace every noted champion and record breaker in Europe and America, and this fact alone will tend to make the contest a bitter and thoroughly International one. France will rely on Jules Dubois and Charles Terront, who are training at Bordeaux, and who will leave for New York this week, accompanied by a French journalist who assisted in the great Petit Journal road race of 740 miles, which Terront won from 200 starters. England sends the flower of her professionals, and the names of W. Wood, George Edlin, Arthur and Alfred Robb, W. Lamb, and Richard Howell are known the world over, and are all record breakers on the wheel. Good Old Ireland relies on M. J. O'Flanagan of Tipperary County, who has done some splendid work for two years in Ireland and England, P. Martin of Windsor, Canada, is another Canadian-Irishman who has entered, and as he rode second in Detroit last winter in the 48 hour race, finishing with a broken collar bone received in a bad fall two hours before the finish, as his backers could not prevent him continuing and finishing the race. Bonnie Scotland sends two of her most trusted and true wheelmen in John Dunlap Lumsden of Aberdeen and Wallace stage of Glasgow, who arrived in New York last Saturday. Lumsden is the hero of the Edingburgh International six day's race of 1888, which he won from the Frenchman Dubuis by a foot, defeating American, English and French competitors. The race closed in the presence of fifteen thousand spectators, and the finish was the most desperate ever seen in any country. Will America hold her own in the question? Many who have seen the magnificent struggles of John S. Prince, the 72-hour World's Champion, "Senator" Morgan, the 48 hour champion, Charles Ashinger, the Ohio boy, Albert Schock, the German-American Chicago rider, and Edward McDowell, believe that one of the Americans can win the big race, and prove that Cycling America can and must lead. Prince writes from Omaha, his training quarters, that he is in the pink of condition.

FIRST INTER-CLUB CENTURY OF THE PHILADELPHIA CLUBS.

Upwards of sixty Philadelphia riders—members of the various local clubs—went by train to Harrisburg on Saturday evening to take part in the first inter-club century run from that city to this place. The start was made as scheduled at four o'clock from Harrisburg, the first man reaching Reading at twenty minutes of ten, where the thirsty wheelmen found refreshments in the shape of lemonade and sandwiches awaiting them, the donors being the Penn Wheelmen of that city. Dinner was taken at Pottstown at half past twelve, fifty-four men who came straggling along at intervals sitting down to table at the Shuler House, immediately after which the run was resumed, Philadelphia being sighted at about half past six o'clock by the first detachment, although stragglers kept coming for the next three hours. The first to register were Drs. M. N. Keim and M. N. Keim, Jr., of the Century Wheelmen, and Walter Bilyeu, Park Avenue, followed shortly by Capt C. W. Dalsen and Messrs. Bilyeu and Scheil of Century. The weather was warm and the roads stony and dusty owing to the recent drought, and altogether the ride was a hard one. The following clubs were represented: Park Avenue, Century, Oxford, Pennsylvania, Quaker City, Alpha, Mt. Vernon, South End, Lehigh, North End, Eclipse, North West, Wissahickon and Time Wheelmen, Captain Chapman of the Quaker City Wheelmen being in charge of the run. There was a lack of system in the arrangements that made itself felt at a very early stage of the run. From the start the pace was more befitting a road race than a regularly scheduled run, and it was no doubt due to this fact that the number of stragglers gradually strung out along the road, all the way at intervals of from ten minutes to two hours and more part of the journey. In fact several riders went astray at various points along the route, while others finished by train. Some twenty-five men came through the entire one hundred and twelve miles. "Ariel."

THE ALBANIANS' CENTURY.

On Sept. 27th, Messrs. Henry Gallien, J. S. Righter, Percy and Ernest Nicholson and Howard Watson, members of the Albany (N. Y.) Wheelmen, started to accomplish a century run, and they have the honor of being the first Albanians who have succeeded in accomplishing same over the roads in the vicinity of Albany. The start was made at 4.15 A. M. The only man on an ordinary came to grief before Troy was reached, and broke the handle of his machine, the temporary repairs of which took about half an hour. The route was to Troy, Hoosick Falls, Cambridge and Salem, which latter place was reached at noon. This was the turning point, and after a very brief rest the wheels were again mounted, and Cambridge was made for dinner. Here a rest of an hour and a half was taken, and then the back trip was continued over excellent roads to Eagle Bridge. Darkness overtook the centurions at a point some 12 miles from Troy, but the party continued on and reached Albany at 9 10 P. M. Distance ridden 105 miles, and actual riding time 13h. 30m. Elapsed time 17 hours. It was a hard ride over hard roads, and the party of five are to be congratulated on their successful accomplishment of same.

THE BELMONT CYCLE CLUB CENTURY.

Notice to the wheelmen of Taunton, Mass., and vicinity. The proposed century ride to take place October 18, will start from Taunton, Mass., at five A. M. Arrive Stoughton 7, stop 25 minutes for lunch at Stoughton, arrive Mattapan 8.35, stop 5 minutes, arrive Brighton 9.40, stop 25 minutes, lunch at Brighton, arrive Lexington 11.40, stop 15 minutes; return, arrive Brighton 1.30, stop 50 minutes, dinner at Brighton, arrive Mattapan 3.20, stop 5 minutes, arrive Stoughton 6.35. Pace eight to nine miles per hour. There will be a full moon that night, so that those who are unable to finish by daylight can take it easy. Each participant will be presented with a silk badge by the B. C. W., besides an elegant souvenir to all who finish and conform with the pacemaking. Entries will close October 15, and not the 18th, as erroneously printed in last issue of this paper. P. L. Bassenfordes, Capt.

CENTURY RUN OF BUFFALO, N. Y., WHEELMEN.

"The bustling Press Cyclers broke the century record yesterday by bringing 37 members of the club through from Erie. Considering that it was the first century run several riders made, that the roads were in bad condition, and that the heat was stifling, the performance is remarkable. The first division of 22 men, with Lieut. Newell at the head, left Erie at 4.45 A. M., and at 5 o'clock the remaining 17 started. A stop was made at Bladell at 5 10 P. M. to wait for the tail-enders. The first division arrived at the Press club room at 10.10 P. M., but several cracks reached home an hour before. On the trip four wheels broke down, but their riders were provided with others at Eighteen Mile Creek."—Exchange.

CENTURY RUN OF LAWRENCE, MASS., CYCLERS.

"Sept. 27, at five o'clock A. M., eleven of the Lawrence wheelmen met in front of Dyer Bros.' store, and began a 100-mile run, which was completed at 7.15 in the evening at Reading, the two cyclometers with the party, showing that a distance of 100 miles had been covered, with a quarter-mile over thrown in.

The run was through North Andover, Boxford, Georgetown, Rowley and Ipswich, where the wheelmen had breakfast, then through Hamilton, Wenham, Beverly, Salem Lynn to Wakefield, where dinner was in order. The route was then taken through Melrose, Malden, Medford, Somerville and Cambridge to Chestnut hill reservoir, then to Dedham, where supper was eaten, after which the riders retraced their route previously covered to Wakefield, and then homeward turned, arriving at Reading in season to take the cars to Lawrence, having covered the distance allotted.

Of the eleven starters nine finished. The names follow: T. S. Webb, Edgar M. Bryant, Richard P. Idding, Morris Barker, L. M. Tillinghast, Herbert Craven, Eugene Irnos, Robert Holburn and Robert Corkhill."

THE BOSTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION 25-MILE ROAD RACE.

"The record is gone" shouted an enthusiastic individual, as Hoyland Smith, the first scratch man to finish, shot across the tape. Subsequent developments showed this to be true, as the time credited to Smith, 1.19.13, stands as the world's record in competition, and is the fastest 25 miles ever ridden in America, either in competition or against time. The atmospheric conditions were favorable to fast time, though the roads were not in the best condition, owing to the prolonged drought. Ninety-three starters out of the 102 entries. The notable absentees were Van Sicklen, Van Wagoner and Geo. F. Taylor.

Clerk of the course, Lawrence Tucker, and his assistants, worked like beavers to get the men in line, and with one trifling exception all the men were sent off on time. Fully 2000 spectators lined the streets at the starting line, and the officials and police had all they could do to keep a space clear enough for the men to ride. All the contestants started off at a terrific speed, so fast indeed that many wiseacres shook their heads and said that the time would be slow, "the men were riding too fast at the start." By the time the reservoir was reached many of the weak or unfortunate brothers had had enough. Several bad accidents which disabled them, notable among these was the bursting of Burnham's pneumatic tire when he had gone but a short distance. G. A. Keening, a 4m. man, did some splendid pacing as far as Newton street, and then R. W. Taylor, 12m., who had caught up with the procession forged to the front in spite of the plucky efforts of Keening, and was never passed during the remainder of the race. He was the first man to reach the turning point.

In the meantime a surprise was in waiting for the men in the shape of a dark horse, D. W. Caswell by name. Mr. Caswell has only been riding a few months; he is very slight built and short in stature; his age is about 28 years. He proved himself to be a perfect wonder and rode the race in a manner which proves that he is a bundle of pluck and muscle. He rode with excellent judgment, and by the time he had reached the Back Bay Park on his return there were only three men in front of him, Clark, Seeley and Taylor. A balk was made here by Taylor, Clark and Seeley, which unfortunately put the two latter men back. Taylor made the mistake of riding about 300 to 400 yards of the course on a wrong street, and a protest was entered in consequence. This was disallowed, on the ground that he was misdirected by one of the flagmen and the distance so traveled wrong being so trivial. It is a trifle longer than the proper course, hence he really lost distance by the error. The position and time of the first twenty men was as follows:

Position.	Name.	Handicap. M. S.	Actual Time. H.M S.	Tire.
1.	R. W. Taylor	12.00	1.30.50	Cushion
2.	D. W. Caswell	8.30	1.27.21	Pneumatic
3.	C. F. Seeley	7.00	1.25.58	Pneumatic

19.	J. E. Martin	9 00	1.36.13	Pneumatic
20.	A. M. Beers	6.00	1.28 17	Pneumatic

*All within the best previous record of 1.25.11.

The checkers at the finish tallied fifty men, and then left the stragglers to come in as they might. The handicapping was most excellent, the first eight men finishing within the minute, and eight men broke the previous best record of 1 25.11 made by Van Sicklen at Detroit last July.

The first thirteen men got prizes, and in addition to that the following men took special medals.

Gold medal, Hoyland Smith for best 25 miles record.

Gold medal to H. C. Tyler; second fastest time within previous record.

Gold medal, E. A. McDuffee for third fastest time, also within previous record.

Silver medals, P. J. Berlo and F. C. Graves tied for fourth fastest time, also within previous record.

Bronze medal, W. C. Rands for fifth fastest time, also within previous record.

Silver medals were: J. W. Robertson, fastest solid; A. W. Porter, fastest cushion; C. F. Seeley, pneumatic fastest time outside best previous.

The race was a success, and an honor to its enterprising promoters.

THE CHICAGO MEET.

[We desire to make an explanation as to the reason this paper omitted to report in its last issue the results of such an important meet as that held in Chicago on the 25th and 26th of September. We have a correspondent in Chicago on whom we rely for reports of events taking place in the Western metropolis; but for some reason not known at this writing, a report from him of the Parkside events never reached us from his hands.—Ed.]

Later.—Since writing above this telegram was received:

"Mailed report of Chicago races Sunday noon in full. Look out for your interests in Chicago. "The Lounger."

We did not receive the report.—Ed.

The first day of the races at the Parkside track was a disappointment as regards the number of spectators, barely 1500 being in attendance. This result, in the face of liberal advertising and general hustling on the part of the promoters, was not encouraging. The second day, however, the public showed a better appreciation of the efforts of the management to give good sport, and about 4200 people passed the gates. The meet was remarkable for the absence of all the Eastern cracks except Dorntge of Buffalo, and perhaps this fact helped to dull public interest in the affair. There is no doubt but that the dear public do like to gaze on celebrities; and though all the Chicago flyers were there, the interest would have been increased had it been possible for the Eastern Athletic Clubs' teams to have been present. The only records established were made by Dorntge, who made in competition three miles in 8.17; four miles in 11.04; and five miles in 13 57.

Bodie's fall at Peoria evidently had shaken him out of condition for speed, while Barrett, who also got a bad tumble at Peoria, seemed to have entirely recovered and did some excellent work.

Results of first day's racing, Sept. 25:

One-mile novice, safety, heats—First and second men in final. First heat—H. P. Berlo, first; G. Brandenburg, second. Time 3 02 4-5.

Second heat—F. Nessell, first; W. Scott, second. Time 2 55 2-5.

Final heat—Nessell cut out the pace in this heat, and won quite within himself. F. Nessell, first; W. Scott, second; G. Brandenburg, third. Time 2.55 3-5.

One-mile novice, ordinary—Davis, the winner, showed his undoubted superiority, as he ran his competitors clean off their feet. C. Davis, first; J. Clark, second; J. Brandenburg, third. Time 3.00 2-5.

Half-mile safety, handicap. Heats. First heat—D. B. Southern, 70 yards, first; G. K. Barrett, scatch, second; H. A. Githens, 20 yards, third. Time 1.16 4 5.

Second heat—C. Knisely, 30 yards, first; F. J. Wagner, 80 yards, second; A. E. Lumsden, scratch, third. Time 1.12 3-5.

Final heat—A. E. Lumsden, scratch, first; C. W. Knisely, 30 yards, second; G. K. Barrett, scratch, third. Time 1.14. In this race a good many of the men rode very wide on turning into the home stretch, and Lumsden took advantage of this wild riding to slip in at the pole and win handily.

Quarter-mile open, ordinary—Barrett broke his handle bar at the last turn, and thus lost a good fighting chance of getting a position. E. W. Ballard, first; H. A. Githens, second; J. P. Bliss, third. Time 39 1-5.

Quarter-mile, boys—Fred Kurtz, first; Gus Steele, second; A. M. Symand, third. Time 44s.

One-mile ordinary, handicap—C. W. Davis, the limit man, was caught at the home stretch, but he evidently had been reserving himself, for he outspurted the others on the home stretch, making a very pretty finish. C. W. Davis, 100 yards, first; E. W. Ballard, 35 yards, second; J. P. Bliss, 35 yards, third. Time 2.46 3-5.

One-mile open, safety—Time limit of 2.50 and special time prizes for the quarter, half and three-quarters were offered, and though an attempt was made by Young for the quarter and half, he did not get it, and the time limit was only beaten by 1-5s. G. K. Barrett, first; A. E. Lumsden, second; C. W. Dorntge, third. Time 2.49 4-5.

Two-mile lap, ordinary—Githens had this race practically all his own way. Ballard, who on the first few laps looked like a dangerous rival, dropped out practically after a few rounds. The finishes between Bliss and Githens were very close, the latter evidently played with his man. H. A. Githens, 24 points, first; J. A. Bliss, 15 points, second; E. W. Ballard, 10 points, third. Time 6. 32 2-5.

Three-mile handicap, safety—Dorntge and Barrett from scratch watched each other very closely, in fact, so closely that they lost sight of the fact that the other fellows were spurting for the finish, hence they got left. Had Dorntge spurted sooner, he undoubtedly would have won the race. His riding for the last mile was excellent, but he ought to have gathered in his field earlier in the race. Austin Webb, 350 yards, first; F. Nessell, 400 yards, second; C. W. Dorntge, scratch, third. Barrett did not finish. Time 8.18 2-5.

Second day, Sept. 26. One-mile safety, handicap. Heats—First heat—C. W. Dorntge, scratch, first; C. P. Root, 90 yards, second. Time 2.36.

Second heat—N. H. Van Sicklen, 60 yards, first; A. E. Lumsden, scratch, second. Time 2 39.

Third heat—G. K. Barrett, scratch, first; C. D. Cutting, 80 yards, second. Time 2 38 1-5.

Fourth heat—C. W. Knisely, 55 yards, first; I. D. Wilson, 130 yards, second. Time 2.42.

Final—This was one of the prettiest and best contested races of the meet, Barrett winning neatly first place over Dorntge. There was not daylight between any of the first three men. G. K. Barrett, scratch, first; C. W. Dorntge, scratch, second; N. H. Van Sicklen, 60 yards, third; C. W. Knisely, 55 yards, fourth. Time 2.32 2-5.

Half-mile ordinary, handicap. Heats. First heat—C. W. Davis, 20 yards, first; E. W. Ballard, 10 yards, second; J. J. Clark, 45 yards, third. Time 1.22.

Second heat—H. N. White, 70 yards, first; H. A. Githens, scratch, second; J. P. Bliss, 15 yards, third. Time 1 19 2-5.

Final heat—H. A. Githens, scratch, first; E. W. Ballard, 10 yards, second; J. P. Bliss, 15 yards, third. Time 1 18.

Half-mile, boys, handicap—F. Kurtz, scratch, first; W. H. Kane, 20 yards, second. C. A. Pratt also rode, who was disqualified, being over age, 16 years. Time 1.36

Two-mile safety, handicap. Heats. First heat—W. F. Berman, 270 yards, first; Walter Rea, 280 yards, second; A. Webb, 210 yards, third. Time 5.25.

Second heat—C. W. Dorntge, scratch, first; C. D. Cutting, 150 yards, second; F. S. Wagner, 280 yards, third. Time 5.26.

Final—C. W. Dorntge, scratch, first; W. Rea, 280 yards, second; F. S. Wagner, 260 yards, third. Time 5.16 2-5. Dorntge had the field at his

The Second Half.

The second half of the League year, during which the dues are $1.50, begins November 1. All applications published this month will be at the two dollar rate, but the Secretary will receive and hold any that may be accompanied with $1.50 and publish them in issue of November 6th. This notice is published in order that there may be no dissatisfaction arising from the fact that applicants pay the extra fifty cents for membership of but a few weeks. A name once published cannot be withdrawn and carried to another issue. Those who are published up to and including October 30, will have the right to vote in the election of this year, provided the Divisions in which they are located hold the polls open till November 15th, as they are allowed to under the Constitution.

Uniform Cloth and Buttons.

The regulation League uniform is made of a steel gray cloth manufactured for the League exclusively. This cloth and the regulation League Buttons may be had of any League tailor or of the Secretary at the following prices: Cloth, 54 inches wide, $2.10 per yard. Metal buttons: large, five cents each; small, three cents each. Rubber buttons, either size, three cents each. Uniform has six large and ten small buttons. As the Secretary keeps no book of credit, all orders sent to him must have cash accompanying. No cloth supplied to tailors or to non-League men.

Members of Tennessee Division

Will take notice that in accordance with Constitution of the League, election of the Division Officers must be held between October 15th and November 15th. You will cast your vote for the following officers: Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Sec.-Treasurer and one Representative.

The Secretary will furnish each member with a voting blank, which must be returned to him before November 15th. It is hoped that our members will select energetic and pushing men to represent them in their various positions, for on these mainly depends the success of your Division. Don't fail to vote. Respectfully,

CHARLES J. SCHERER.

Rhode Island—Election.

I have appointed Wm D. Barton, Hermann F. Morlock and Charles W. Day a committee to receive and count the ballots to be cast at the coming annual election of Division officers. A Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer, and six Representatives are to be voted for. The Secretary-Treasurer will send to each member of the Division a blank ballot with a list of the officials to be voted for thereon. Each ballot must be signed by the members voting the same, who must also write thereon his or her League number, and must be mailed to Wm. D. Barton (Box 163, Providence, R. I.) some time between October 15 and November 15. Every member of the Division is entitled to a vote, whose name has been published in the L. A. W. BULLETIN prior to October 30th, 1891.

* League clubs must also elect their Representatives between October 15 and November 15.

GEO. L. COOKE, Chief Consul.

New League Clubs.

The following clubs have qualified as League clubs and filed the certificate required in the office of the Secretary:

362—Grand Ledge Bicycle Club, Mich.
363—Press Cycling Club, Boston, Mass.
364—Akron Bicycle Club, Ohio.

457—Missouri—500.

To Members:

We are plodding along slowly but surely towards the 500 mark, and now only 43 names are needed to fill the gap. It is an "aching void" to be sure, but still it will not last long if sharp recruiting is kept up. We have at last succeeded in getting the subject of Road Improvement recognized by our State Board of Agriculture through the medium of Mr. Potter's excellent work, "The Gospel of Good Roads." One of the first remarks made by a member of this Board was: "You should be able to gather every rider of a bicycle under your banner and thus by your numbers, as well as superior organization, solve the Road Improvement problem in Missouri." This hits the nail squarely on the head; therefore, do your share in obtaining recruits.

Fraternally yours,

ROBT. HOLM, C. C.

Attention, New Hampshire Members.

Persuant to article 5, section 5 of the By-laws of this Division, I appointed during the month of September a Nominating Committee. They have reported to me for Division Officers of 1891-2 the following names, viz.: For Chief Consul Geo. A. Place of Concord; for Vice Consul, H. E. Dodge of Manchester; for Secretary-Treasurer F. E. Gale of Concord; for Representatives, F. A. McMaster of Nashua, C. A. Hazlett of Portsmouth and R. H. Scott of Manchester, N. H. According to Section 1 of above article, elections must be held between October 15 and November 15th. The Secretary-Treasurer will mail you printed tickets in a few days, and I trust every member will show his interest by voting. It may not be out of place here to state that neither Mr. Scott nor myself will accept an office this year.

Yours very truly, FRANK A. MCMASTER, C. C.

Pennsylvania Division.

I have to-day appointed the nominating Committee to suggest the officers of the Division for the ensuing year as follows:

O. S. Bunnell, Chairman, 533 Chestnut street, Philadelphia; W. R. Tucker, Board of Trade, Philadelphia; H. C. Wallace, 535 Washington st., Scranton, Pa.; Seward H. Murray, Keystone Bicycle Club, Pittsburg, Pa.; Chas. P. Lusk, Lochiel Hotel, Harrisburg, Pa.

There are to be nominated and elected a Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer, and twenty-three representatives.

Members are invited to send suggestions to Mr. Bunnell, the Chairman, or to any member of the Committee before 15th October, 1891.

SAMUEL A. BOYLE, Chief Consul.

The Annual Election.

The annual election of Division and Subdivision Officers is provided for in the following extracts from the Constitution:

Art. V, Sec. I. Each Division shall elect annually a Chief Consul, Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer; and shall also elect one Representative for each 100 League members on its roll October 1st.

Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October, and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Sec. IV. The President shall appoint annually between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November, a Chief Consul for each Consulate.

DIVISIONS.

A State or Territory having one hundred members or more shall organize a Division, and may elect in its own way a Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer, and one Representative for each 100 resident League members.

Each Division must make its own rules for the canvass, casting and counting of votes. Chief Consuls should take immediate steps preparatory to the election and should publish in the BULLETIN the rules of their respective Divisions, and the full plan of election at as early a date as possible. Below we publish a table showing the membership by States. The Secretary will provide mail lists to Division officers for the conduct of the vote, but these mail lists should not be used as check-lists at the time of counting, since they are not and cannot be so accurate as the list of Division members kept by the Secretary-Treasurer.

Below we give a list of Divisions, the total membership October 1st, and the number of Representatives each is entitled to:

	Members.	Reps.		Members.	Reps.
California,	484	4	Missouri,	450	4
Connecticut,	2051	20	Nebraska,	194	1
D. of Columbia,	180	1	N. Hampshire,	350	3
Illinois,	1991	19	New Jersey,	1307	13

Massachusetts,	3147	31	Virgina,	111	1

SUBDIVISIONS.

Sub-divisions may elect a Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer. Members in Subdivisions should prepare their ballots and send them to the Secretary of the League in envelopes marked "mail vote" on the outside. Put nothing else in these envelopes. Polls will close at Secretary's office at six P. M., November 15. Nominations made by any club or by any five members will be published in BULLETIN. Below we give list of Subdivisions: Colorado, 60; Delaware, 47; West Virginia, 82; Utah, 50.

CONSULATES.

A State or Territory having twenty-five members is recognized as a Consulate. Its Chief Consul will be appointed by President Dunn, who will be glad to receive nominations from clubs or individuals.

Georgia, 25; Montana, 35.

LEAGUE CLUBS.

Article V. Sect. 1 (b) Each League club located under the jurisdiction of a Division shall be entitled upon joining the League, and annually thereafter, to elect one Representative for the first twenty members on its roll, and an additional Representative for each fifty members thereafter.

League Clubs must elect Representatives in the manner provided by the Constitution of the Divisions in which they are located.

Minnesota Division Election.

In response to the notice published in the BULLETIN of September 4th the following nominations for officers of this Division have been received. From the Flour City Cyclists of Minneapolis, for Chief Consul H. B. Choate of Minneapolis, for Vice Consul K. F. Lott of St Paul, for Secretary-Treasurer, E. S. Gregory of Winona; for Representative, G. H. Lewis of Mankato. From the St. Paul Cycle Club, for Chief Consul, K. F. Lott of St. Paul; for Vice Consul, Colie Bell of Minneapolis; for Secretary-Treasurer, E. S. Gregory; for Representative, G. H. Lewis.

The official ballot will be a postal card with the names of the candidates for each office printed thereon, addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer. Not later than November 1st each member will be furnished with a ballot on which he will indicate his choice for each office by marking a cross (X) with a pen opposite the name of the candidate for whom he wishes to vote and signing his name and League number in the spaces provided therefor. Ballots with the names of two candidates for the same office marked, or with no names marked or received by the Secretary-Treasurer later than the last mail arriving Nov. 15th will not be counted. If two ballots signed by the same member are received, neither will be counted.

League clubs may elect their representatives in such manner as they deem best, and their Secretaries shall certify the result to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Division who will publish the names of club representatives in the BULLETIN with the names of the Division officers.

A committee to canvas the vote for Division Officers will be appointed and announced hereafter. T. M. SLOSSON, Chief Consul.

Minneapolis, September 29, 1891.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN, RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other one wheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a limited amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.

ALBERT SCHOCK, the professional six day, twenty-four hours a day champion, left his home in Chicago Wednesday last for New York, where he will race at Madison Square Garden. His many acquaintances in Chicago wish him well.

A FAST PERFORMANCE.

L. B. NORTON, Local Consul of New Britain, Conn., rode to Savin Rock, last Sunday, a distance of 34 miles, making the round trip 68 miles. The trip going was with R. A. Moore, Jr., Local Consul of Berlin. Mr. Norton returned alone, covering the entire distance in two hours and fifty minutes. He made the first 14 miles on the homdward trip in 52 minutes. Sandy roads and the mountains east of Cheshire delayed him some after this spurt, but he arrived at the club rooms of the Meriden Wheel Club in good condition, having covered 24 miles in two hours and five minutes without a dismount. Mr. Norton rode a Featherstone Pneumatic geared to 64 inches. His weight is 192 pounds when stripped for riding. This run is considered by far the best exhibition of road riding recorded lately in Connecticut, and several race men are anxious to put Mr. Norton on the track. Mr. Norton is secretary of the Herald Publishing Co., publishers of the Herald, and is actively engaged as manager of the business department.

THE Coventry Machinists' Co., Limited, have placed a safety stand, suitable for either cushion or pneumatic tires, on the market. Price, $1.50.

"MR. FRANK HODGMAN, assistant manager of the Lozier & Yost bicycle works, will go to Shelby, O., as soon as the factory buildings are up and ready for the machinery, and will undertake the general management of the new factory which is to be built by the Shelby Cycle Manufacturing Company, in which Lozier & Yost are interested. The contract for the factory at Shelby will be awarded next week. The main building of the new plant will be 200x45 feet in size, with all the necessary shops, engine rooms and storehouses in the rear. 'We are now making models of the safety to be built at Shelby,' said Mr. Hodgman. 'The wheel will be a high grade, equal to anything in the market. Mr. John Ridley, assistant superintendent of the factory here, will go to Shelby with me as superintendent of the new work. Lozier & Yost have shipped over ten thousand bicycles this year and are under contract to build four thousand five hundred more before January 1, three thousand of which are sold.'"—Toledo Blade.

EVERY pneumatic rider should have a Swift pneumatic tool-bag.

A. H. OVERMAN is visiting on the Pacific Coast.

W. B. CURTIS and Eugene Long of Pomeroy, Ohio, have invented a neat bicycle attachment, called a "Lubricator and Cleaner for Sprocket Chains," and have sent on the necessary papers for a patent, having had advices from Washington to the effect that the invention is patentable. This invention consists of a revolving brush, inside of which is a metal cavity in which is placed the lubricating powder. This powder sifts through the bristles of the brush on to the chain, the flow being regulated by a damper. It can be applied to any safety bicycle, and is thought by experts to be just the thing to keep chains properly cleaned and lubricated.

A CORRESPONDENT from San Francisco writes: "Will you kindly announce to your "Five Hundred and Twenty-Five Readers," and such in excess of that number as care to hear it, that at the fair held in San Francisco, at the Mechanics' Pavilion, the display of bicycles was very creditable. All the leading makes were represented, and all the dealers, with one exception, had creditable displays. The importance of the wheel interests in a business way, as evidenced by these displays, has been the occasion of much remark among people who have never before thought about bicycles. The present year has been a memorable one in a trade way among those interested in cycles and a very marked improvement in the establishments of San Francisco, where bicycles have been sold, has been the rule. The display of Victor bicycles at the above fair has just been awarded the first premium in the shape of a silver medal."

The chapter that relates to the history of wheeling is concise, yet full enough to cover the subject clearly. No, Solomon Isaac, we don't make summer frames. We only make Spring Frames, but they are always in season. They smooth down the dust covered rocks of the dry months, and the frozen ruts of winter, not with equal facility; no, no, comparisons don't express it, but with perfect facility. There is always a best, Solomon, always; and while there are usually others that are good, still if you really want the best and are willing to pay for it, you will have to get a Sylph. It has a three-part spring frame. No others have. And, hist, Solomon, just remember that wheel-barrows don't have springs.

THE SUBMARINE BICYCLE.

In a short time the upper part of the cave was full of air and before the second reservoir was half exhausted the water was entirely driven out. I was weary, weary of everything; disappointed with everything; hated everything; stay, I am rash! I did not hate everything; I still had one ember of my former life burning, one little beam which the whole ocean had not quenched. Where is she? Where is she? I muttered, and with these words on my lips I closed my eyes in that unconsciousness which we call sleep.

A slightly stifling sensation awoke me. The reservoir was getting empty and I detected a small fissure in the rocky roof, through which the air was slowly escaping and allowing the water to creep stealthily back again to the cave. Tightening my helmet. I made my way to the exit and looked upward. All was dark as Hades. I felt a dull concussion every few minutes, which gradually increased in severity until it was positively painful to the tender membranes of the ear. What the cause was I knew not, but curiosity impelled me to investigate. Hastily getting my machine in order, I threw off the ballast and rose to the surface. What a sight met my gaze! There, within a quarter of a mile, were three large

FEATHERSTONE'S PNEUMATICS.

It has taken the best mechanics of Great Britain three years to bring the Dunlop Pneumatic Tire to its present state of perfection. In view of this, it is not reasonable to suppose that any one can bring out a satisfactory Pneumatic Tire that will stand up in much less time than this, unless they copy substantially the Dunlop patent construction, in which case we shall certainly look to the courts for a redress against the manufacturers, sellers and users.

We advised the trade some time ago that the price on our improved Dunlop Pneumatic Tire will be much less for 1892 than 1891, and we shall stand ready to supply the trade at these figures.

Our Dunlop Tire for 1892 will be as near perfect as it is possible to make a Pneumatic Tire. A great many valuable and new features enter into its construction.

The Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have tested at least 100 different kinds of patent and other valves, none of which have proven satisfactory, with the exception of the one we have adopted.

We are advised that another house is now on the point of making Pneumatic Tires, the greater part of which is copied identically from the Dunlop construction, which is patented, and we advise all persons interested in the making, selling and using of Pneumatic Tires to buy nothing that is substantially like the Dunlop construction, as we shall proceed to protect our rights in every way.

It probably will not be necessary to do this, however, as the Pneumatic Tire Co. and ourselves have rejected one after another of the experimental tires that are continually being patented and brought out, as being unsatisfactory and worthless for the purpose. We call your attention to these facts, as these infringing tires may fall into the hands of those who are not acquainted with the Pneumatic Tire and condemn the Dunlop without seeing it.

Be sure the Dunlop Pneumatic trade mark is on every tire you use, and you will not be compelled to pay for experiments which you will find either unsatisfactory or an infringement of our patents.

BOSTON, 16 OCTOBER, 1891.

FROM present indications we doubt very much whether the question of value of prizes will be seriously taken up by the A. A. U., notwithstanding the action taken by the New Englanders and the formal instructions given to their representative, Mr. Taylor, to force the question to an issue. We think that the matter will be duly tabled, and not again be resurrected to disturb the present pleasant and amicable relations between the two organizations.

THE Sporting Times of New York comes out boldly in favor of cash prizes, and sums up its argument with the following words:

"Let us have one thing or the other—cash prizes or red, white and blue ribbons. Let there be no more of this weak-kneed, stultifying policy upon the part of an organization which boasts a membership of 20,000 American wheelmen. If the present administration is unable to handle and decide the question, then the sooner it steps down and out and gives way to an administration that can decide it, the better. A continuation of the present silly state of things will make a laughing stock of the organization and bring down upon it the derision it will deserve."

THE above is all very pretty, and on the face of it very logical; but the Times makes a bull when it puts the blame on the administration, either past, present, or future. It is the Constitution of the L. A. W. which says that an amateur is one who has never competed for a cash prize. The administration is in no wise responsible for this definition, and should not be held accountable therefor.

Notwithstanding the charged incongruities, nothing can be done unless the League at a Constitutional Convention changes this rule. We doubt very much whether the members of the League would vote to allow the payment of cash prizes.

The League Officials must be consistent and enforce the letter and intent of the rule in an earnest effort to prevent winners of these valuable prizes from realizing cash on same. That they do make this effort, none but the most perverse and unreasonable will admit. It may seem ridiculous to some, that while the amateur is permitted to exchange one article for another he is not permitted to exchange his prize for cash.

THE answers to this apparent inconsistency is that a man with $135 in cash will have no trouble in exchanging his winnings into articles of necessity or luxury, while a man with a $135 bicycle may find great difficulty in exchanging his prize for $135 worth of other goods, and yet it actually represents $135 in cash value. If this conditions of things was not so, then there would be no use for currency. The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker will not as a rule take bicycles, watches or pianos in exchange for their goods; they demand payment in the currency of the country, and not in articles of merchandize. Herein lies the subtle difference complained of by writers such as the Times man. To come back to the original proposition we think that administration should not be blamed for carrying out the rules as given them by the League members; in fact they have no power to do otherwise.

THERE is no doubt but the experiment of flying start for races will not be repeated; the trial of this method at Springfield last month was by no means satisfactory. There is no reason, however, why trials against time should not be made with a flying start simply as a matter for comparison with the time made by trotters. There is no law against such trials, and we would like to see a series of flying start records established from scratch for the quarter, half, three-quarters and one mile.

THE amateurs of New York are lending their earnest influence towards making the professional tournament in that city a great success. We are glad of it, and we hope the results will justify the cordial support of all good wheelmen. Professionals will themselves admit that they have been very much under a cloud during the past few years. They have now a good chance to get from under that cloud of distrust, a chance which we hope and believe they will honestly improve.

THE cycling editor of the Providence Journal has a happy faculty of getting in beyond his depth, and discussing and commenting matters the true inwardness of which he is as ignorant of as a babe unborn. Here is an instance of his misplaced criticism.

"The members of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club have come out in strong opposition to road racing, and express their willingness to unite with the authorities in checking the practice. Why should they? There is surely nothing to be condemned in the sport."

Now if this sapient scribe had only posted himself before making his comment he would have learned that there was just cause for the action of the Pennsylvania Club in the fact that serious protest had been made by the patrons of the Lancaster Pike against the use of that road for cycle road racing purposes. We have always held that so long as the authorities and the public sanctioned road racing there was no possible harm in the indulgence thereof, but the moment authorities or public called a halt, that moment road racing in that particular locality should be discontinued. Road racing is allowed through courtesy, and is not a right which cyclers have the power to enforce. It is such comments as the above quoted from the pen of thoughtless penny-a-liners that hurts the cause of cycling in the eyes of the public at large.

WHEELMEN should be the apostles of good roads, not for their own use simply, but on the broad ground of political economy. They must remind the tax payer that the highway tax, his share of which may be one dollar, will save him ten dollars in repairs on wear and tear to carriages and horses, provided always that the tax so paid by him is properly expended in constructing good roads, and in keeping them in proper repair after they are built. We must show that while the first cost of a good road is large, it costs less in a series of years to have good roads than it does to have poor ones. A poor road is like a poor wheel; you may get it cheaply, but the repairs will raise its cost above that of the best. More wheelmen will make better roads, and better roads will make more wheelmen.

CYCLING has, as every other sport has, an element of hazard in it, and if pursued recklessly may be attended with ill consequences, but experience has shown that in it recklessness and daring can be carried to an extreme with less disastrous result than in any other form of sport. The art of riding once acquired, places the control of the machine completely in the hands of the rider. To encounter danger he must seek it. When we see men ride day after day, and month after month many miles of country roads, through crowded streets and parks, upon slippery pavements and greasy roads, and up and down steep hills without even a fall, it seems difficult to understand how ignorant prejudice has so far overlooked the evidence of these facts as to make the element of danger in the sport assume a major in place of a decided minor position in it.

HOW few are the riders who cannot, when turning over the leaves of memory's log book, find a record of a few rough experiences which did no harm, and yet filled them with apprehension for others that may have to go through such experiences. At the time the rider felt nothing more than annoyance, or perhaps if he received a bruise or two, regarded his punishment for carelessness about as seriously as he would a cut finger or a cold in the head. But as time passes, and he becomes a careful and capable rider, he looks at his past mishaps through the magnifying glass of memory colored by imagination, and they seem to his hearers as he narrates them, to be wonderful adventures and miraculous escapes, that is if his listeners believe all he tells them, which usually they do not.

THE average wheel club usually has too many officers. It is not an uncommon thing for a club of say nine members to have a president vice-president, captain, two lieutenants, secretary, treasurer and bugler. Eight officers and one private, and he usually devotes his time to scheming to supplant one of the eight officials who govern him. In a small club, a captain and a secretary can do all that devolves upon several officers in a large club. With these two well chosen a club can be properly governed. The captain's office ranks highest in importance, and upon the man chosen for it depends much of a club's success. He should be a capable rider, a thorough gentleman, and be possessed of enough decision and firmness to repress any infraction of club or road rules. While he should try to preserve popularity by genial and considerate treatment of his fellow members, he should exact obedience to club rules. He should be active in whatever promotes the good of his club, attentive to new members, a prominent figure upon the road and path events in which his club may be interested. His personal conduct and his government of the club will, more than any other member's efforts, make it a success or a failure. Second in importance to the captain's office is that of the secretary. In many clubs, the finances of the club are in this officer's charge as well as the business management. It is the most onerous, and usually the least honored of any club position. Considerable tact and delicacy are required in dealing with men on the question of finance, and the secretary has to combine a courteous demeanor with a promptness and vigor of action in dealing with careless or non-paying members. Given a good captain and an energetic and efficient secretary, any club of ordinary membership is sufficiently officered to make it a successful organization. Let quality, not quantity, be the rule to govern the filling of club offices, and all will be well.

IN almost every place where wheelmen have shown themselves amenable to law and discipline, and the rights of others, there has been granted them a public respect; and in most instances they are not only accepted now as an established fact, but are regarded with interest by a class of people whose respect is worth possessing. Without public opinion in their favor, wheelmen are subject to much unfair criticism, both from the people and the press, but this once gained, all else becomes easy of attainment.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

DEMOCRATIC equality is the only basis on which a wheel club can establish social relations between members. When the discordant elements, caste and cliques, enter a club, they bring with them a discomfort that robs club life of its principal charm. The desire to "run the thing" gets possession of a certain class of members, and if they are allowed to follow out their lofty aspirations they invariably run the thing into the ground. Business meetings and discussions undo much of the pleasant ties formed on the road, and often induce enmity, where before was staunch friendship. This is merely because the men who take the front rank in wheeling have to take a back seat when the tongue-lashing begins, and the men who are imaginary club leaders in business affairs get badly left when the mileage sheets are made up for the year. There is nothing better than a little philosophic resignation in one case, and a little democratic courtesy in the other.

The wretched habit of riding with the body inclined forward, which has produced the "bicycle back," and brought abuse and discredit upon cycling in consequence, is still on the increase, despite all that has been said and written against it. Nearly all oarsmen have this form of back, and while it has not proved detrimental in the hundreds of years that men have propelled boats by means of a "white ash breeze," yet certainly it is ungainly, and as far as wheelmen go, entirely uncalled for, as the methods it is acquired by on a bicycle are entirely unnecessary. Erect riding is more graceful, develops the chest, and adds an exercise to the muscles of the throat and chest that are greatly diminished in the case of the "grasshopper" style of wheel propulsion.

The exposure to out-of-door air, the constant employment of the mind by the delight of changing scenery or agreeable companionship, all contribute to make cycling, to those who have tried practically every other sport, the most enjoyable, healthful and useful exercise known.

Most wheelmen become, through riding, sound, well-made, evenly balanced, healthy men, and bid fair to leave to their descendants some such heritage of health and vigor as descended from the hardy old Pilgrim Fathers to the men who made this country what it is.

In the gentle swinging motion of the wheel, there is nothing to disturb the muscular or nervous system, once accustomed to it; indeed, it is the experience of most wheelmen that the motion is at first tranquillizing to the nerves, and eventually becomes a refreshing stimulus. The man who goes through ten hours daily mental fret and worry will, in an hour of pleasant road riding, throw off all its ill effects and prepare himself for the effectual accomplishment of another day's brain work. The steady and active employment of all of his muscles, until they are well heated and healthily tired, clears the blood from his brain, sharpens his appetite and insures him a night's refreshing sleep.

When a patient of a celebrated physician said to him, "Doctor, when I hold up one of my arms straight over my head, it hurts me very much." He received from the doctor the reply: "Then what in the devil do you do it for?" The reply would be still more appropriate to those who complain of the terrors of hill climbing. Locomotive engines "have sinews of steel and thighs of brass," yet railway engineers regard a grade of one in one hundred heavy work. Road hills vary from three or four times to ten times as steep; they can, therefore, only be ridden at a great mechanical disadvantage. Then why ride them if the exertion be unpleasant or exhausting to the rider? What does it matter to you whether Tom, Dick or Harry does ride up the same hill without a dismount? Hill-climbing on wheels is harder work than running, and should, as a rule, be avoided as much as possible by the young, the old, and the female portion of cycling's admirers.

The art of fencing has been wittily described as the art of killing your adversary without being killed yourself. The art of cycling, at any rate when road riding, might, I think, be defined as the art of getting all you can out of your wheel and taking as little as possible out of yourself. By this it is not to be understood that the rider should avoid fatigue, labor and discomfort by showing no attention to the welfare and saving of his wheel, but rather that he should try to cover the most ground with the least expenditure of power for speed produced.

THREE Phillips students paid the penalty of $3 each for bicycle riding on the sidewalks of Andover, Mass., last Saturday afternoon.

THE Boston Bulletin gets off these two jokes of dubious quality: "The bicycle rider is one of the few men who know when they are well off.

Bicycles riders used to be very numerous, but they seem to be falling off now."

THE Bay States of Worcester run a 10-mile handicap road race to-morrow at four P. M. The start will be from Park avenue and Highland street out 5 miles and return, finishing at the point of starting.

AT a meeting of the Long Island Wheelmen held on the evening of October 5, the 24-hour record medal was presented to William H. Best, who rode 183 miles on October 4th in that time. His riding was done in Brooklyn and New Jersey.

THE Newburgh, N. Y., Wheelmen held their first annual banquet on Friday evening, October 2d, at the Merchants' Hotel, and the affair was a complete success in every respect. The members, 35 in number, assembled at their rooms, and after disposing of some business marched to the hotel, where they enjoyed an excellent repast, which was followed by pleasing after dinner speeches by the officers and members. At midnight the festivities were brought to a close with three hearty cheers and the wish of many happy returns.

THE Sandusky, Ohio, Bicycle Club gave a lantern parade on the evening of October 3d, and the novel event proved to be an attraction that will long be remembered by the large and admiring concourse that witnessed it. Many beautiful and original designs were presented, and prizes were given to the best and unique displays. Among those worthy of special mention was that of Mr. L. W. Les who represented a full rigged ship, and Mr. F. M. Woolsey, who carried sixty-six lanterns.

THE Puritan Bicycle Club of Salem, Mass., observed its eleventh anniversary on the evening of October 6th. The exercises consisted of a banquet and literary entertainment.

HARRY CHISHOLM is the winner of the medal or medals offered to the members of the Illinois Cycling Club, Chicago, who attended the greatest number of runs this season. He missed but two and attended six more than his nearest competitor. One run he attended alone.

THE champion bicyclists of England, Richard Howell, Wm. Wood, Arthur and Alfred Robb, George Edlin, William Lamb and M. J. O'Flannagan, the Irish champion, have arrived to take part in the six days' international race at Madison Square Garden. Howell and the two Robbs went to Springfield to do their training.

FRANK MILLER of Stamford, Conn., has received a patent for a novel spring frame for bicycles. The rear axle is journalled in carriers. The side bars are arched over the axle, and one end of each carrier pivoted thereto, the other end of the carrier being grooved and engaging the opposite side of the arch to the side bar. Springs are interposed between the carriers and side bars to take up the vibration.

THE bicycling department of the Staten Island Athletic Club will hold a tournament at their club grounds, West Brighton, on Saturday, Oct. 24th.

MISS E. BRIGHTON of Philadelphia, has recently ridden 100 miles on a bicycle in 12 hours 22 1-2 minutes.

A PARTY of Chicago Cyclists are expected to visit St. Louis next Sunday to try conclusions with the famous De Soto road, and in anticipation of their coming, both St. Louis clubs have called runs to this point on October 18. The ride has never been attempted by a party of Chicagoans, and it remains to be seen how they will stand the ride.

HENRY GEORGE is now, of course, an enthusiastic believer in bicycling, and it is said that he urges its health-giving properties with much more persistency than he shows in the propagation of his own social theories. Many of his friends have been induced by his example to practice the art, and he has persuaded his whole family to learn to ride.

UNDER the auspices of the Rovers Cycle Club of Charlestown, Mass., Mr. Carle P. Cubberly is to give a series of lessons in the latest and most fashionable dances on Thursday evenings the coming winter.

G. H. TAYLOR, the Ipswich (Mass.) rider, has returned home with about $1000 worth of prizes won at the Grand Circuit.

WE hear it rumored that Peoria will not be likely to have another meet. We hope the rumor is without foundation, as with the prestige they have secured as a racing centre it would be too bad to drop off now.

THE following item of interest appears in a late issue of the News of Jersey City. We give it literatim. Italics ours. "* * * Messrs. Berio, Murphy, Rich, Toxis, Wurdle, Zimmermann, Worden, and other professional riders have been invited to attend and participate in the events.* * *"

SEVEN members of the Englewood Cycling Club, Chicago, registered at Joliet at 7.30 Sunday morning, October 4th, for breakfast. They had ridden from Chicago, forty miles, since 1.20 in the morning, through darkness, rain and mud, along the tow path of the canal and with but one lantern in the crowd. They reached home by 12.30, well pleased with their novel experience.

MESSRS. SHERMAN and R. D. Bourland, of Peoria, Ill., rode 100 miles Oct. 6, going to Buda and return in 14 hours and 15 minutes, and this in spite of the fact that 15 miles were walked in the mud.

IN the recent century run of the Boston Wheelmen, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. McArthur rode a tandem 113 miles. The course of the "Century" route was really 105 miles, and after the finish Mr. and Mrs. McArthur rode home, a distance of 8 miles. We think this is record for the country on a tandem, both lady and gentleman.

FRANK W. GEROULD, President of the Lincoln Cycling Club, and also of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Chicago, will be the popular choice for Chief Consul with the Chicago and a large section of outside voters.

STREET Sprinkling Superintendent Bill Johnson, of St. Louis, evidently has no use for weeelmen who have made it hot for him the last few months on account of the excessive sprinkling on all our streets. Says he: "Out of 147 complaints entered, a majority were made by bicycle riders. Those wheelmen are the hardest class of people in the city to get along with. They have really the least right to complain, and yet make the most fuss. If things were run as they ought to be, every wheelman in town should be made to pay a license. If the truth was known, they are really more dangerous for pedestrians and drivers of conveyances than any other kind of a vehicle. Take them on a dark evening for instance; they coast down hills like flashes of greased lightning and as silent as ghosts. The cyclist dashes into you, perhaps hurts you,"—here's richness—"and lames your horse. Then if his old wheel is damaged, he sues you for the cost of repairs. That is exactly what happened to me not long ago. The cyclist bursted into me in that fashion, broke his wheel, and sued me according to rule. I paid the cost of repair rather than go through the bother of a suit."

BUFFALO (N. Y.) wheelmen are discussing the idea of forming an association of bicycle clubs on a similar plan as those existing in Philadelphia and Chicago. The ultimate object, however, of this organization would be to build a race track and foster the racing interest. The successes of Dorntge, Peneyres, Banker and Brinker are largely responsible for this rising interest in racing.

INDOOR base ball will again be the popular winter pastime with the cycling clubs of Chicago this winter, nearly a score of whom will place teams in the field, some of them two.

VICE-CONSUL CHAS. W. WOOD, of New York, is receiving congratulations upon his engagement to Miss Carrie Judson of Brooklyn. Mr. Wood will please note that we looks towards him and we likewise bows.

MANY of the older riders of St. Louis will doubtless be sorry to hear of the death of Hy. Dieterich at Manchester, Mo., last Tuesday. During the early days when Manchester was the terminus of all the runs out from St. Louis, Dieterich catered to the wants of the cyclists, and made many warm friends among them.

ADOLPH ROTH, for many years a salesman in the employ of the John Wilkinson Co., Chicago, has embarked in the tailoring business with his brother under the firm name of Roth Bros.

THE Century Road Club of Chicago now has 225 members, and applications are being received daily.

THE Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago will undoubtedly become a League club at their October meeting.

ILLINOIS is entitled to nineteen representatives, nine of them being from Chicago.

THE St. Louis County Court has ordered that no more work shall be done upon the dirt roads because of a scarcity of funds. "Gentlemen," says the Clayton, Mo., Argus, "good roads are what we pay taxes for, and the demand has gone up that the taxes for which the people are sued shall be expended upon the roads instead of being squandered upon the thrifty contractors, road overseers and a few favorites." Pretty strong language, that.

A SAD and fatal result of over-exertion is recorded in the case of A. Wingfield in a late 25-mile road race in England. The Cyclist says: "Wingfield, who was scratch man, reached Doncaster in an exhausted condition, and was carried in an unconscious state into the Reindeer Hotel. A doctor was called in and remained with him all Saturday night, during which time the unfortunate rider never regained consciousness, and he died at six o'clock on Sunday evening. It is supposed that he broke a blood vessel in the head, and an inquest will be held.

NOVELTY! Novelty! and the Englewood Club of Chicago has it. Saturday evening, October 10th, twenty of them will attend the theatre, after which they will lunch heartily, and at midnight start for a century run to Elgin, Aurora and return.

MR. E. H. WILCOX, of the Stover Bicycle Co., was in Boston last week and called at the office. Mr. Wilcox's reports are excellent for the past year.

"Good old Ned" Oliver visited the Hub last week, and made us a call while in the city.

SUNDAY, October 4th, S. T. Kimbell of Chicago rode 150 miles on the road in 17.15, breaking the previous local record over the course. This record was previously 19.20. The course was to Elgin, Aurora, Joliet, Blue Island, Pullman and Chicago. The day was cloudy and showery. The start was made at three o'clock. He was caught in the rain. His actual riding time was 14.30. From Elgin he rode all alone for 110 miles. A good ride.

THE Norwalk (N. J.) Wheel Club will take a century run, Oct. 18, to Jersey City, N. J., and return, 100 miles. Start at 5.45 A. M. sharp. Breakfast at Port Chester, N. Y. Dinner at Jersey City, N. J. Supper at Stamford, Conn.

MISS ALICE WAUGH, of Chicago, has the distinction of being the first lady of that city to make a century run under the recently adopted sixteen hour limit. Miss Waugh made the run to Aurora and return against a strong wind in 15 hours, 15 minutes. She is only twenty-one years of age, and in view of the fact that she has only been riding four months, her performance was a remarkable one.

AN order has been issued in Russia for the speedy organization of a bicycle corps. The work of the wheelmen will be scouting and delivering dispatches. Russia's military experiments with bicycles have been continued for a considerable time, and this order was not issued till the War Department was satisfied there was no doubt as to the superiority of the courier wheelmen over the courier horsemen.

OCTOBER 4TH Chicago men rode centuries as follows: John Erickson to Wheeling, Niles, Libertyville, Harlem avenue and return, time 12 hours; Frank Gulliford to Elgin, Aurora, Joliet, Blue Island, 170 miles in all; G. D. Moffat and Jole Stennett, a seventeen year old boy riding but five months, to Elgin, Aurora and return, time 12.18.

THE New Bedford (Mass.) Cycle Club will hold a lantern parade in the near future. A strong effort will be made to induce the lady riders to participate.

THE first annual lantern parade of the Yonkers (N. Y.) Wheelmen took place Oct. 9, under the auspices of the Yonkers' Bicycle Club. Over 100 wheels were in line, and the wheels were tastefully decorated. The club entertained the participants at the close of the parade.

THE third anniversary of the Columbia Cyclers of Philadelphia, Pa., at their club house, No. 1511 Montgomery avenue, on the evening of Oct. 6, was attended by a large number of the members and their friends. The interior of the club house was prettily decorated with orange and brown, flags and lanterns, and presented an attractive appearance. A literary and musical programme was given, in which the members generally participated, at the conclusion of which a banquet was served.

THE Chicago Cycling Club has resumed its usual Saturday evening smokers, with coffee and sinkers on the side, so popular last season."

MR. A. S. HILL and Mr. A. J. Marratt, of the Coventry Machinists' Co., will sail for England on the 24th or 28th of this month.

THE Gloucester (Mass.) wheelmen, Messrs. Frank P. Wonson and Edgar Blinn, who are touring Massachusetts and New York, have reached Albany. They have enjoyed the trip much and speak in high terms of the people they have met, express many thanks to Francis H. Williams, consul of Springfield; Mr. McKeen of N. Adams and Mr. Meeker of Troy, N. Y., for courtesies rendered them on the trip. They will go down the Hudson to New York City and take boat to Fall River and wheel to Gloucester.

THE W. S. W. of Providence, R. I. is the name of a bicycle club formed by young men of that city between the ages of 14 and 20. It was organized last spring and reorganized this fall. The club has a limit of 25 members and has 15 already. They propose having a road race, eight miles in length, November 6. There is to be a gold medal for first and other prizes for second and third. It will presumably be a prosperous young club.

A "BICYCLE SERMON" will be preached next Sunday by the Rev. Geo. B. Reiman of Twentieth Street Baptist Church of Oakland, Cal. Seats will be reserved for wheelmen.

PARTICULARS in the English papers of Mills' great record ride from Lands End to John o' Groat's have not come to hand, but an item is floating round in the papers to the effect that while riding "he fell fast asleep when only four miles from his journey's end, and in spite of all efforts he could not be awakened for seven hours." Imagine a man riding a bicycle four miles, or four yards, for that matter, when he was sound asleep!

"HERNE HILL is considered at home and abroad the model track. We have already received letters from Cape Colony, Australia and the States, asking for information as to its measurements, banking and construction. At the present moment there is 'no possible shadow of doubt' that it is the best track in existence, though whether it will have to play second fiddle to the ground to be installed by the Associated Cycling Clubs of Chicago in time for the world's fair in '93 remains to be seen. * * *."—Cyclist.

CLARENCE A. WESCHELER a Brooklyn, N. Y., lad, eight years of age, is credited with having ridden 60 miles within the 24 hours.

P. C. STIRE of Fort Dodge, Iowa, was suspended by the Methodist Episcopal conference for keeping fast horses. Mr. Stire a few days ago sold his horses, and bought a safety bicycle. He will now apply for reinstatement. Will the conference draw a line at bicycles?

A LADY correspondent from Brooklyn, N. Y., writes and asks us for the name of some ladies' club in the City of Churches. There is no club of that description in Brooklyn. One was formed and for a short time it existed, but it disbanded after a very brief career.

SOMETIMES I hear it charged by thoughtless farmers that the railroads are largely responsible for the existing misfortunes of farm life, and that the freighting of grain and similar products from the immense and fertile farms bordering along railroad lines at low rates, has killed the business of farmers who own smaller and less productive farms, and shut them out of competition. I have also heard the opposite view maintained by other farmers, who assert that the railway freights are altogether too high, and that if these were reduced a farmer could ship his produce to distant points and still realize a comfortable profit. The railroad is the best friend the farmer ever had. It has enriched this country beyond a limit that could possibly have been attained before railroads were constructed. Your grandfather used to haul wheat 200 miles in a farm wagon and sell it for thirty-five cents a bushel. His farm had no fence to inclose it; his stock were protected by only a most primitive shed, and everything about his home life was conducted on a miserable and undeveloped scale. If you are living six miles from a railroad on an upland farm with gravelly soil, you cannot expect to raise corn and wheat as cheaply as the farmer who plants his crops in the black loam of the prairie and reaps a thousand acres at every harvest. His farm is perhaps close to the railroad station, and the railroad will haul his grain from Chicago to New York at twenty cents per 100 pounds, and make a handsome profit by the operation. With that sort of competition you will never grow rich at farming. Don't concern yourself too much about through freights. Look out for local freights and the cost of trasportation right at home in your own county. It costs you more money to haul a ton of produce from your farm to the railroad station than it costs the railroad company to haul the same amount 1500 miles. You are both using the same power. The main difference is in the track. When you are about to buy a steam engine to perform a given service, the manufacturer tells you that you need an engine of say ten "horse power." Steam tugs, passenger boats, steam pumps, steam locomotives, and all kinds of steam engines are rated according to the "horse-power" which they develop. All this came from the old custom of ascertaining the exact amount of work which a horse could do under certain conditions and comparing it with the steam engine. You haul your loads to market by horse-power; and if you give your horse-power the same chance to work its results to the best advantage, you will find that local expenses and home freights will be diminished in a wonderful degree.

Another thing: If you find it unprofitable to raise wheat and oats, try garden vegetables or dairy farming; raise fruits and berries and sell them at home at the nearest market. The distant farmer who works the mellow soil of the prairie cannot deliver fresh fruits and vegetables, eggs, butter and milk at your county seat as cheaply as you can do it, nor in most cases can he do so at all. Study the capacity of your farm and see if your soil and other conditions are not adapted to this kind of industry. One thing you must remember, however: it is an indispensable condition to the successful market gardener and dairy farmer that he should deliver his goods in the local market regularly at all seasons of the year, without regard to weather or the condition of the roads. Wherever a large town is found in which any sort of thrift has been established, there is a demand for the best quality of farm produce. Fresh butter, eggs, vegetables and fruits, if raised close at hand, command a much better price than those brought from a distance and subjected to the trials of railroad freighting, delays and repeated handling. The distant farmer cannot compete with you in these lines, and if your town customers can be made to see that the home supply is reliable and constant, the home farmers will control that market.

Last March, 1891, the Government at Washington issued a very interesting census bulletin on the subject of "Truck Farming." Every farmer should read it. I will quote from the last paragraph of this bulletin, just enough to show you a bit of enlightened opinion on the point which I have just been urging. The author says:

"Taken in its entirety, this comparatively new industry is found to be in a healthy, prosperous condition. New sections are being developed from year to year that to a certain extent affect the prosperity of some of the older ones, and there is likely to be more or less shifting of trucking centres every few years, all upon advancing lines, however. New and better methods of culture, with the future invention of labor-saving machinery, must of necessity reduce the cost of production. Better transportation facilities will place the products of these farms in cities and towns more promptly, in better condition, and at less cost, while the ever increasing population and wealth of the cities and towns insure a greatly increased consumption at satisfactory prices for first-class productions."

Of course you know that the distance of any farm from the nearest market affects its value. If located within a short distance of the town, it is worth much more than a farm of the same quality six miles distant. The reason of this is that the farmer nearest the town has many advantages which the more remote farmer has not. He can haul his load to market in a shorter time and save much labor in marketing his crops. His social advantages are increased and he is possessed of many oportunities which would have been denied him had his farm been located any considerable distance from the town. But you know also that nothing shortens distance and saves time to the traveler as improved methods of quickening traffic and the means of transit upon which the traveller relies. It used to be a long week's journey for the American farmer to travel two hundred miles by wagon road to the nearest city, and since the railroad enables him to cover the same distance in five hours, he feels that his farm and home are so much nearer to the great centre of trade, and that its value has been enhanced accordingly. If you could drive over the six miles of wagon road between your house and the village in one hour at all times of the year, and haul a full load of farm produce into the bargain, you would feel your farm has been moved considerably nearer the market than it now seems to be and its value would feel the benefit of that difference. There is no guess work about this statement. It is a result which has always followed the construction of good roads. I could tell you of a hundred instances, but one or two will answer our purpose here.

Not very many years ago, in the State of New Jersey, there were three or four small towns in which the community was made up of a plodding population in moderate circumstances, doing business on a low scale, in accordance with their poor facilities for communication. When the mud was hub deep the patient New Jersey farmer who lived in those towns stayed at home and waited for the roads to dry up. No matter what might be the prevailing prices in town, he had no means of taking substantial advantage of them. Meanwhile the consumers in the cities and villages depended in a measure upon the supply of country produce raised in that vicinity, and in times when the farmers were tied up by the bondage of bad roads, they were oppressed by a slack supply and consequently by enhanced prices. Trade was uncertain and farming was carried on with indifferent success. If you could go with me to those towns to-day you would find a marvelous transformation. From a collection of farms at one time connected by dirt roads, there has, in the last few years, sprung up one of the richest farming and residence localities in the United States. Many rich people have moved their homes to these towns, and a flourishing condition of things has taken the place of the easy-going and slip-shod methods which existed in the days of the dirt roads. The prime reason of all this improvement is familiar to every resident who lives in those towns to-day. The beginning of prosperity began with the construction of the first improved road. Land values increased, traffic was quickened and enlarged, social communication became more easy and more frequent, schools, churches, shops, market places and railroad stations became more accessible and the country in consequence more attractive as a place of residence.

One of the oldest inhabitants of that section, in an interview relating to the roads in his county, a short time ago, made a practical explanation which his long residence and familiar knowledge makes worthy to be repeated. He stated that the common idea that the roads of these towns are well paved because rich people had come there was erroneous, and declared that rich men had come there simply because the roads were well paved; that it had been found by the New Jersey people of his town that a team could pull twice as much over a smooth road as over the average dirt road and pull it twice as rapidly; that he himself had teams at the time of that interview hauling stone to the new "Prudential Building," and that these teams were drawing 6500 pounds to a load; that he knew by experience that the roads which they were using were hard and smooth and that these teams could not draw more than 3000 pounds over the dirt road. Speaking of the general increase of land values brought about by the adoption of improved roads in the State of New Jersey, the same gentleman went on to mention the result of good roads in Union County, New Jersey, and stated that a few years ago certain lands belonging to his own brother (about 123 acres) was valued at from $50 to $75 an acre, but that the owner was unable to sell it at even that price. The farm was unprofitable, bad roads made it difficult and expensive to get the farm products to market, and the profits were insufficient to pay a fair rate of interest on the estimated value of the land. Every day that he owned that farm he became poorer.

One day the "road improvement craze" took hold of the people in Union County, and about sixty miles of Telford roads were put down. The result was that his brother had just received an offer of $200 an acre for the old farm which he had vainly offered to sell for from $50 to $75 per acre. Moreover, the farm became profitable. To be sure, there was a little increase of taxes, but the owner of a farm the value of which had been increased $125 per acre could hardly complain of the slight increase of taxes, which was after all quite inconsiderable. The whole subject was summed up by a statement in these words: "Why, there are fully 600 miles of Telford roads in the State of New Jersey, and I know what I am talking about when I say that the increase in land values brought about in Union County alone would pay six times over the cost of every foot of stone road put down in the State."

ST. LOUIS COUNTY TOUR.

SUCCESS crowned the efforts of the managers of the St. Louis County tour on October 8. The roads were perfection, but the weather was threatening and doubtless keep many away. The start was made from 19th and Locust streets at 9.30 A. M., thence west to Forest Park, where the photograph was taken, and right here it must be stated that the negative is an excellent one. Numerous accessions were made to the party at this point, and when the Manchester road was reached the column was fully 800 feet long. No dismount was made until the party reached Des Peres, and here instructions were given in regard to coasting Solomon's Hill, which were heeded by all but one of the unattached, and he came to grief. Ballwin was reached by 12.15 P. M., and after dispatching an excellent dinner, the participants repaired to the road in front of the hotel to witness the athletic contests. They resulted as follows:

One hundred yards dash, run in two heats—A. H. Hitchings won the first heat, W. P. Loth, second. Time, 11s. J. H. Pomarede won the second heat, W. C. Hutchinson, second. Time, 12s. The final heat was won by A. H. Hitchings, M. B. and A. C.; J. H. Pomarede, St. L. C. C., second. Time, 10 3-4s.

The 100 yards slow bicycle race furnished a great deal of amusement for the spectators and was full of excitement. Richard Hurck, the champion at this business, was expected to start, but was unable to be present. Eight men entered and the event was run in two heats. E. M. Knapp won the first heat in 2 40; Bert Harding won the second heat, and the final was won by E. M. Knapp, M. B. and A. C., in 2m. 45s.

The hop, step and jump had fourteen entries, and was won by A. H. Hitchings, M. B. and A. C., who covered 34 feet 7 inches; W. J. Cox, St. L. C. C., 32 feet 9 1-2 inches, second.

The 220 yards handicap also brought out a large field of starters, with handicaps ranging from one to ten yards, and was won by J. R. Pomarede, St. L. C. C., from the three yards mark, in 27 seconds. G. E. Tivy, 6 yards, second.

At the conclusion of the sports the wheels were remounted and headed for Manchester, where the hill climbing contest took place on Undertaker Hill. It was the first contest ever held on this hill, and it was climbed by all the entries save one. The entries were: G. E. Tivy, St. L. C. C.; E. M. Knapp, M. B. and A. C.; A. G. Harding, St. L. C. C.; and W. J. Cox, St. L. C. C. Tivy was the first man to essay the climb, but he died while ploughing through the loose gravel near the top. E. M. Knapp crossed the summit amidst great cheering, in 1m. 15 1-2s.; A. G. Harding was the next man and he crossed the line in 1m. 31s.; W. J. Cox, the winner of last spring's contest on Son-of-a-Gun Hill, crossed the line in 1m. 28s. First place was accordingly given to E. M. Knapp, M. B. and A. C., and his time, 1m. 15 1-2s., is the record for the hill. Knapp rode a pneumatic tired wheel and all the others were mounted on cushion safeties. After the contest the line was again formed and all the participants arrived back in the city at 6 P. M. The success of the tour will doubtless cause it to be made an annual fixture hereafter.

It is easy running, a fine hill climber, a fast coaster. It only needs to be tried to be appreciated.

WHEN you find the bicycle that is the best, the one that runs easier and wears longer than all others, BUY IT. But how can you tell? Can you depend upon the maker to tell you? If you believe one you must believe all, and you will hardly find one honest enough to tell you that his rival's wheel is better than his own.

The drollery of a certain comparatively small manufacturer declaring that his machine "acknowledges no rival," never seems to strike the said manufacturer. ROVERS have rivals, formidable rivals, too, but so long as we can continue to convince our customers that we give them the full value of their money, we expect to be able to pull through. Without any undue boasting we can say that our business this year shows an increase of more than 300 per cent. over our last year's business. Next year we shall be able to look after another increase of the same size.

"SIERRA" REPLIES TO MOROT.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: There appeared in a recent issue of your paper an article by a correspondent signing himself "Morot," and supposed to be news of the California Division but which principally conveys to the reader the idea that the writer is too independent to join a club.

It is such men as this who have done so much to injure the California Division in the eyes of unattached wheelman by representing the disadvantages, more or less exaggerated, and none of the advantages to be gained by the possession of a League ticket. The statement is made that there has never been a successor to F. D. Elwell, who holds the coast ordinary record for one mile (2.48). True Mr. Elwell's record has never been touched because the fastest men on this coast have given up the high wheel and are riding safeties, so that Mr. Elwell bids fair to be without a successor for some time to come.

The safety records, however, have dropped away below the old marks, which sort of evens things up a little. In a twenty-five mile road race a while ago, seven men broke the coast record, formerly held by Mr. Elwell, which ought to show that men or machines or something are improving, "Morot" to the contrary notwithstanding.

I have the honor of belonging to a club, the uniform of which is blue stockings, blue knee breeches, blue jersey and blue cap decorated with white wings, and whose members sometimes ride in Oakland, and sometimes ride hands off. I hope "Morot" will be gratified to learn that the color of the uniform has been changed to black since he last saw us, but the white wings are still in use, and those same wings will always be seen in front, whether on road or track, in spite of all such independent soreheads as "Morot."

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Having recently set the Pennsylvania Railroad in the pillory of condemnation through your columns for its failure to properly equip a train at Elizabeth with a baggage car, I feel as if I should in justice give the sequel to the affair through the same medium. A complaint filed with the officers of the road, I am very glad to say, received the courteous attention that usually characterizes its management, so far as my experience goes, and I have to-day received a letter which says that "as a result of your complaint arrangements have been made to place a combined car on this train hereafter." Corporations are not always so bad as they are painted, but yet this kind of careful attention to the correcting of abuses is not so common that it ought to be passed over without due acknowledgement. Yours truly,

THE MICHIGAN CHIEF CONSULSHIP.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I have received from an unknown source a circular regarding the coming election of a Chief Consul in this State. This circular is such a masterpiece of rhetorical reasoning that I append it to this communication. Here is the circular:

"To the L. A. W. wheelmen of Michigan! We are nearing the time of election for State Division Officers of the L. A. W.

The question invariably put when you ask a wheelman to join the L. A. W. is, "what good will it do me?" This question is easy to answer if you have the right men for officers, and have them in the right place.

The Chief Consul should be located in Detroit—why? Because he can do the most good there.

Ask any wheelman who has passed through Canada in the last two years how much he has been helped by the State Officers.

Detroit is the starting point of many tours East, West and South. It is the route for every wheelman who visits the lake region.

Don't you think it is about time to elect a Chief Consul residing in Detroit, the place where he can be of the most service?"

The election of any officers of the League brings forth the usual crop of aspiring lambs, ready for the sacrifice. Detroit is apparently making a supereminent endeavor in this election and after the Chief Consulship. The wheelmen, unmindful of the musty odor pervading the memories of the past, are seeming anxious to have a real live officer there for the purpose of attracting the unsuspicious wheelman who has not before suffered their entertaining endeavors.

The candidate from that temporarily active catacomb, though a gentleman in every sense of the word, and one of the really few good men in wheeling interests in the village, is hardly the proper one for a position so important in League matters; the aforesaid gentleman has, I think, been a member of the League but three years. In that time he has hardly been able to prepare himself for such a position as the Chief Consulship. He would undoubtedly do all possible to further the interests of the Division in all matters, but something more than good intentions are necessary. If it were at all necessary to make a change in the officials of the Division at present, there are other wheelmen who have far more claim to it than our friend. There is no doubt but Detroit feels badly at the success so hard earned by the present officers, and wants a finger in the pie, but it is apparent that there are others in the State who will have the solution of the matter, at the time of the election, and who are as anxious that Detroit should not add further failure to the State Division than she has already done in her imbecile efforts at entertainment in the past.

The present incumbent of the office of Chief Consul has had the honor to be appointed to one of the most important committees of the League, Committee of Rules and Regulations, and new members of the Michigan Division should not forget that if his services are valuable enough to be so utilized, they are still more valuable to the Division. The membership has largely increased since his election two years ago, and many have joined at his personal solicitation. While he can be induced to serve as Consul, the present members of the Division should support him and his associates in their endeavors to bring this Division into the prominence it deserves.

The location of the Consulship has nothing to do with the matter of laws; they are not changed, eased or modified for or by him, and it is not a question where the best location exists, but who is the best possible man for the position. The Division is at present in its most prosperous condition, but is not yet safe enough to have its affairs placed in the hands of any inexperienced board. Members, in casting their votes, will do well to consider the matter as it stands, and elect the man who has and can do as much for the interests of one and all, as any one in the State. I think his past work is sufficiently well known so that there is no necessity to send wheelmen through the State to canvass for votes, or send circulars to which the writer is ashamed to put his name, as in the case of the above mentioned circular.

THE PROPOSED BALL FOR THE BOSTON MEMBERS L. A. W.

EDITORS BICYCLING WORLD: In my communication suggesting a grand united ball by the Boston members of the L. A. W., it is printed "an invited ball." If you deem the idea of any importance I hope it will receive your sanction. I have talked to many members and they are very enthusiastic over the matter; but the organization of the League is such that individual members cannot do much towards that end.

Such a ball got up on the scale it might be, can be the means of greatly increasing the membership, and may place some thousands of dollars annually in the League treasury. It will also, in my opinion, bind the members more closely together, and I sincerely trust that in the interests of the above objects the matter will not be let drop.

LEAGUE MEMBER.

SOMEBODY IS WRONG?

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: I never care to enter into controversy in print, but wish to stamp the statement made by one who signs himself "Phila. League Member" as false, for Mr. Welsh, of the Wissahickon Wheelmen, was not the first to reach Pottstown. The first two were members of the North End Wheelmen; then came at racing gait Dalsen, W. Bilyeu, Keim, Jr., Welsh, Garrigues, in the order named. Also that the Drs Keim whom finished first at Philadelphia end covered the scheduled route, which many others did not.

"ONE WHO KNOWS."

A LESSON FROM AMERICA.

"A LONG and careful study of the literature of trade catalogues, as issued in this country and America, has led us to the conclusion that Brother Jonathan is far ahead of us in this respect at least. Doubtless the different circumstances under which the trade was commenced in the States to that which was the case with our manufacturers has had something to do with it, but generally speaking, the American manufacturer treats the reader of his catalogue as an entire novice—indeed, as one who is not even a cyclist, and hardly wants to be—whilst the British manufacturer, on the other hand, approaches the public apparently from the point of view that all are anxious to buy, if not his goods, at least goods of the class which he supplies; thus, whilst most American catalogues contain some amount of persuasive matter in the way of a description of the advantages and uses of the cycle, together with careful and exact directions as to how to adjust, take care of, and ride the machine when purchased, the British tradesman either goes straight to the point which he wishes to emphasize, viz., that his machines are better than anybody else's, or else disregarding anything of this character at all, confines himself to a bare and technical descriptive specification of the machine. In one or two instances of late years some of our catalogues have certainly contained something in the shape of literary matter in the direction of pointing out the mechanical advantages of the systems used, and advising the purchaser from the point of view of the practical rider; but very few indeed contain anything like useful instructions as to the care and management of the machine when purchased. We know that to one unaccustomed to prepare matter for the press, the getting out of a price list is a thing to be avoided, rather than otherwise, and great are the rejoicings when the matter is settled for the season, but one of the questions which we are very frequently asked is how to adjust some part or other of a particular pattern of a maker who is specified, and which differs very probably from the method of construction used by other houses. If makers, therefore, would devote, say, a couple or three pages of their price lists to a concise and clear description—if possible accompanied by sketches—of the adjustment of the particular designs which they themselves manufacture, it would, we feel sure, be largely appreciated by their customers, and not only so, but would very materially assist the lasting qualities of their machines, as, whilst all practical men know that a machine, if kept up in its bearings and adjustments generally, will last far longer than one which is not, the beginner is ignorant of this fact, and in very many instances simply permits his machine to get as near falling to pieces as it can before any attempt at adjustment is made. As within the next two months our manufacturers will be busily engaged upon the compilation of their trade literature for the ensuing season, we give this hint to all who care to avail themselves of it."—Cyclist.

CYCLING IN JAPAN.

"Harold R. Lewis of the Philadelphia Bicycle Club, last week returned from a bicycle trip in Japan, having spent two months in that country, during which time he rode 1080 miles.

Mr. Lewis, who has gained quite a reputation as a bicycle tourist in foreign countries, is very enthusiastic over his trip, which he speaks of as one of the most delightful bicycle tours ever taken.

In relating yesterday some of the experiences of his novel trip, he said: 'With but few exceptions the roads of Japan are superb, being made of a fine quality of gravel, beaten as hard and smooth as a floor. These roads, which are about eight feet in width, are traveled only by pedestrians and by native conveyances, having broad wheels and drawn by men. There are but very few horses in the country, and the highways are, therefore, kept in the best repair. The roads are generally level, though I met with a few stiff hills, and enjoyed some fine coasts.

While in Tokio I met a young Japanese who, two or three years ago, was a resident of Philadelphia and a member of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club. This young native proved a most agreeable companion, and we took several very pleasant rides together. One of these rides was on a beautiful moonlight night, when each of us was obliged to carry a lighted Japanese lantern in one hand to warn people of our approach.

With but few exceptions I rode thr ugh the country districts alone, meeting with universal courtesy and kindness from the natives. In many of these country places the inhabitants had never seen a bicycle, and their curiosity and surprise at this odd machine, which apparently violated all laws of equilibrium, were very amusing.

I usually rode from six in the morning until six in the evening, riding slowly and stopping as often as my fancy dictated.

The only place in which I saw any number of bicycles was in Yokohama, where there were about fifty, though a majority of them were ridden by Europeans, the natives not taking kindly to them on account of the peculiarity of their dress.

On the days when I rode I usually covered from forty to sixty miles, my longest ride being 83 miles in ten hours. I wore my regular club suit and a cork helmet, the latter proving very comfortable, as the thermometer generally ranged from 80 to 90 degrees.'

An informal supper and reception was tendered Mr. Lewis by his fellow club members upon his return to the city.

A few years ago Mr. Lewis took a tandem tour through Europe, covering over 230 miles."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A CYCLIST'S DREAM

"It was about the middle of a warm day in July. The burning rays of the summer sun were pouring fiercely down, and the earth was parched and gaping for want of rain. The air was full of the drowsy hum of many insects, and the varied songs of the forest choirs resounded through the trees. Weary with hard and long riding over rough and dusty roads, I leaned my bicycle against the trunk of a tree, the leafy boughs of which cast a cool, refreshing shade, lit my pipe, and threw myself on the grass. I had travelled many miles that morning, and my tired limbs were sadly in want of rest. Everything around me was suggestive of indolence and repose, and even nature herself seemed to droop under the oppresive heat of the atmosphere. I had not lain there long before my eyelids grew very heavy. Do what I would I could not keep them open. My pipe dropped from my mouth, my head fell gently back, my eyes closed for the last time, and with a confused murmuring in my ears, I fell fast asleep. And as I slept I dreamed a curious dream. Methought I was riding through a strange and lovely place. Overhead the sky was of a deep and azure blue. Cool breezes fanned my temples as I rode along through avenues of high and lofty trees, thick with foliage. Flowers of every shape and hue, such as I had never seen before, blossomed on either side of me and cast their fragrance all around. Strange and beautiful birds flew through the scent-laden air, and watched me with curious eyes as I sped along, methought on the wings of the wind, over roads smooth and regular as sheets of glass; and the sun was shining brightly over all, flooding the place with a golden glory. I had never seen such a grand and heavenly place; my heart seemed filled with gladness, and my whole being to partake of the happiness that was about me. Then as I rode my eyes were drawn by some irresistible power towards a certain spot in the sky, where the deep blue seemed deeper and streaked with golden shafts of light. As I gazed the heavens seemed to me to open, and I saw the form of a man emerge from behind and come down through the air as if to meet me. Then I grew afraid, and my body trembled greatly as, with a voice that was not like unto the voices of earth, the mysterious being spake—'Stay, mortal, I would speak with thee.' I stopped quickly and, without dismounting from the saddle, remained motionless. 'Tell me, O cyclist,' again spake the strange being, 'what thinkest thou of this place?' 'In truth, good sir or angel,' I replied, it is to me a perfect paradise.' 'Thou speakest well, it is a paradise; but come, and I will show thee strange things.' Then methought I was propelled over the smooth roads with the speed of a lightning's flash, my strange guide keeping ever at my side. Away, away on aerial wings, faster and still more fast, through places that grew in splendor as we past on, until we came to a spot where two roads met. There we stopped, and my guide said, pointing to one of the roads, 'That is the way back to earth. This,' pointing to the other road, 'leads to the place that I would show to thee. Say, mortal, which way wilt thou take?' 'I would travel,' I answered, 'by the road that will lead me to the place of which you speak; for I desire not to return to earth.' 'Thy answer pleaseth me, and as a reward for thy good faith I will tell thee the story of my life when I did live with mortals,' replied my strange guide. Continuing, 'Thou hast heard, maybe, of a man who, when on earth, was called Macadam?' 'That I have,' I returned him answer, 'and the name is not a loved one amongst cyclists.'

'Ah!' and as I dreamed methought a shade of sadness came over the face of the being as he spoke, 'little dost thou know of the truth. I was the man who was named Macadam, and deeply did it grieve me to see how men made use of my method of road-making after I had left the earth. I looked, from my home in spiritland, on the trials of the poor mortals who went about on wheels, even as you do, until I could bear it no longer, but went and constructed a place of my own. That place I called the Cyclists' Heaven, and thou art in it now.' I was amazed and confounded at the strange things I saw and heard, and looked with wonder on the strange being before me, who was standing now with his head turned in the direction of the road that he had told me led to earth, with a frown of displeasure on his face and a look of anger in his eyes, as though he saw things that were disagreeable in his sight. Then methought he turned quickly to me and said, 'Come, I have something more to show thee.' We sped on again until we came to what seemed to me to be a large enclosure, and as we entered a strange sight met my eyes. I saw a great crowd of people all riding in and out and round and round on bicycles and tricycles of every description. Their faces were bright and full of happiness, and as they caught sight of my companion they all with one accord set up a mighty shout of 'Welcome!' 'These,' said my guide, 'are all cyclists who have died when on earth in consequence of the bad state of the roads. They are happy now, as you can see. Stay thou here and watch them till I return to thee. Be sure not to let them see thee, for, being mortal, thou wouldst remind them of the earth they have left behind, the recollection of which fills them ever with fory. Farewell till I return,' and he vanished into air. Then methought that, as I stood there watching, a strange excitement took possession of my senses. Never heeding the warning I had received, I joined the throng of riders, and was soon whirling with them through places of enchanting beauty with such rapidity that I lost my balance and fell with a crash to the ground. Then all the other riders stopped and gathered round me, with clamoring tongues and looks of deep and threatening wrath. 'He has fallen, and is not one of us!' they cried. 'See,' said one, 'he is a mortal, for he has the marks of earth upon his clothes.' 'Yes, he is a mortal, send him forth,' they all cried, and, picking me up, they ran with me to what seemed like a vast ocean of space. Raising me in their arms, they lifted me high in the air and then threw me out. I felt myself falling through miles upon miles of space, with a sickening feeling of dread at my heart, and a great cry for help escaped my lips. I seemed to hear a burst of mocking laughter coming from above me, and awaking a thousand soul-piercing echoes on every hand, and then—I awoke. Awoke to find myself in the same field, with the same humdrum noise filling the air, the same bursts of song from the neighboring trees, and the same sun shining over all. And I was glad after all—very glad—to find myself once more on dear old mother earth, notwithstanding the fact that I had still a journey of more than one hundred miles to make, over roads that were decidedly earthly, before I reached my destination."—Bicycling News.

PICKED UP ON BROADWAY.

The following is curious, principally from the fact that it was actually picked up on Broadway, New York, by a League member. He sent it to us with the suggestion that possibly it contained merit enough to print. As we rigidly cut out any items received from correspondents which border on the pun, and as we also carefully scan the Official Department every week to prevent our good friend Bassett from indulging his only weakness, we think we are perhaps justified in printing the picked up article. The writer will be astonished to see it turn up in the columns of the World.

"There is no telling what Mott have been Dunn had Burley Big Ayres tried to elope with Mrs. Brown Potter. But when he looked Seward Atwater (being a Brewster—perhaps I should say of a Brew-ding nature), he subjected himself to a cate-Chism in regard to the Law (t) on the subject and concluded he would not, because the Pennell-ty might Cossum thing. This conclusion, which was of course the wisest—not only for his own honor but that of his Ayres (heirs)—also that he began to Savage-ly pound the Clay at his feet until it presently resembled a big Brown Miller dressed in a suit of clothes that were almost Shee(han)ny in appearance. You could see he was not a Richmon-d. This seemed to displease Burley's esthetic taste, so, it being Sunday, he betook himself to the Kirk (where) Patrick Bassett, the Abbot, was delivering a sermon, or lecture, rather, to a small dog which had barked at him in discharging his duty. By the way, the Collie-ister be named George, next week, by Widow Perkins. Burley stopped and listened a moment. Then the thought that some official of the LAW might B-owen his dues, and so he hurried back to the office to look it up; and as he hurried away he heard the Abbot say "Dodd bless you." Upon his arrival at his office, he found it filled, not with the boodle of the Leaguers, but with a Mott led crowd which was listening to Burdett, the humorist—who is not funny at all—in one of his famous lectures on "Rule G." Burley seeing at a glance the state of affairs gave a yell that even the Dean of Harvard or Yale might have envied. He forthwith appointed himself a Committee of one to transport all the occupants to other worlds than this, which was promptly Dunn, after which he locked the door and sat down on a pile of "coats and arms"—left rather hastily by the aforesaid occupants—to muse upon the events of the day, and musing thus, we left him.

BOSTON PRESS CLUB CENTURY RUN.

Century souvenirs appear to be in great demand. A large number of prominent cyclists have already entered for the open century run, to Newburyport and return, to be held under the auspices of the Press Cycling Club on Monday, Oct. 19. It simply remains for Old Prob. to furnish bright skies; all other arrangements have been completed by the committee having the run in charge.

Leaving the Copley Square Hotel on Exeter street, corner of Huntington avenue at 6 A. M., the run will be over route 3, L. A. W. road book, except that, instead of turning left from City Square, Malden, a turn will be made right, taking Main street; cross railroad track on Main street; then take first left, Eastern avenue; go whole length of Eastern avenue, then left, Broadway, right Salem street, resuming regular route 3. The return trip will be made over same route.

Arrangements have been made for a lunch at the Copley Square Hotel half an hour before starting. Breakfast and supper will be had at the Essex House, Salem.

A delegation from the Haverhill Bicycle Club will meet the wheelmen at Ipswich, and accompany them to Parker's bridge. Here a committee from the Newburyport Bicycle Club will receive the party, and escort them to the rooms of the local club. From there the party will proceed to the Wolfe Tavern for dinner.

A time table has been prepared and will be strictly adhered to. The pace will be limited to nine miles an hour, and any one passing the pacemakers will be disqualified.

In case of rain on Monday, the run will be held the next day, Tuesday.

Secretary-Treasurer A. J. Ochs, 361 Washington street, is receiving entries, and has authorized Messrs. W. W. Stall, Sidwell & Saben, Overman Wheel Co., Wright & Ditson, and the Bicycle Inn to do the same. Entrance fee, 50 cents.

The souvenir will be in gold, and consist of a cycle wheel, on the face of which will be a facsimile of the club pennant in garnet and blue enamel, with word "Press" on pennant. A gold bar will bear the inscription, "Century Run, Oct. 19, 1891."

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN PROFESSIONAL RACE NOTES.

The entries for the International six days' bicycle race have come so fast to Manager Tom Eck, that he has now pulled down the blinds and the list is closed. Five entries received the past week were refused for the reason that it will be impossible to score a larger number than fifteen, correctly, and riders without at least a national reputation and some records, would not improve the race, and might cause accidents to the champions, who will race from the word "Go" until the week is ended.

The riders who will be allowed to start are Howell, A. H. and A. A. Robb, W. Wood, J. W. Lamb, George Edlin, all of England; M. J. O'Flanagan, of Ireland; P. Martin, the Irish-Canadian, who is a Dubliner by birth; J. D. Lumsden and Wallace Stage, of Scotland; C. Terront and Jules Dubois, of France; and the following American riders: Prince, Morgan, Ashinger, McDowell, and Schock, the German-American. All are now here except the two Frenchmen, who are expected daily.

The scoring arrangements will be the best ever seen in a race, and Slevin's automatic clock recorders will do the work without a hitch. The entire arrangements of the scoring, judging and refereeing have been placed by the competitors in the hands fo Mr. T. W. Eck, who has selected the leading gentlemen representing the various athletic and cycling organizations of New York.

No competitor will be allowed on the track without a complete costume, and a sash representing the various nationalities will be worn by the riders, corresponding to that on the programme.

Jules Levy, the famous cornetist, is arranging a week's musical programme for himself and his American band, which with the short races, trick and scientific cycling by the two champions, Canary and Maltby, will be special features outside the big race.

The management to accommodate cyclists, will place the new stalls used for the horse show underneath the garden, as free storage room, which convenience the riders who will ride nightly to watch the progress of the race, will appreciate.

THE KENWOOD ROAD CLUB'S CENTURY.

Saturday, October 10th—The Kenwood Road Club held their first century run. At 4.45 A. M. seven young riders left Kenwood for a run over the Elgin and Aurora course. Five of them reached Elgin at 10, the roads this far being very bad. They reached Aurora at 1.30, and left at 2.30, after having a good dinner. At 7.45 P. M. they were back to their starting point, having covered 116 miles in just 15 hours, the riding time being 11 hours 55 minutes. Those who finished were R. J. Thorne, G. A. Leonard, A. A. Braymer, A. D. Lord and R. T. Richardson. In the party were two cushion safeties and three ordinaries. Two accidents happened, and the ride was thoroughly enjoyed by all but the two who dropped out. Yours respectfully,

L. A. W. 26,970.

THE CENTAUR CENTURY RUN.

The Centaur Cycle Club of Baltimore made a century run October 11. Fourteen of the members left the club house in Baltimore at five A. M. The route was to Hanover, Pa., via Westminster and Littleton. The first stop was made at Westminster. The principal object of the run was to try and break the existing local 24-hour record of 123 miles made by Mr. Cato of the Maryland Club. Mr. J. Brookes covered a distance of 141 miles, and Mr. E. J. Codd, 131 miles. The next best was Mr. Eusenbrandt, who made 117. The Centaurs now hold the local record.

THE HARTFORD CENTURY.

At five o'clock Saturday morning, October 3d, fifteen members of the Hartford Wheel Club left that city for the annual century run of the club. The route was to Wethersfield, thence to Holyoke, to Enfield, Springfield, and back to Hartford. The finish was made at 6.30 P. M., the total running time being 12.40, fourteen hours limit. Actual running time about ten hours. Twelve members finished within the time limit, viz: Kohn, Woodtilton, Cook, Patz, Starkie, Fowler, Fahy, DeBlois, Potter, Main and Bubser. The day was an excellent one, and the roads were in good condition.

AT KANSAS CITY.—Kansas City is at last waking up again in a cycling way; and to boom the sport a race meeting was held on Oct. 3 at the exposition park track. The races were interfered with by rain after four of the nine events had been given, and the balance were run off last Monday. Saturday evening the club gave a theatre party and saw Patti Rosa in "Dolly Varden." The surprise of the races was the defeat of Nelson T. Haynes by H. R. Warren. Campbell gives promise of being a good man if he had the benefit of training. Vice Consul U. M. Jaccord is conceded to be the fastest man there. The following is the summary:

One-mile ordinary, novice—W. R. Gray, Holden, Mo., first; G. M. Moore, Kansas City, second; E. P. Moriarty, Kansas City, third. Time 3.28.

One mile safety, novice—E. M. Harris, Fort Scott, Kansas, first; Hardin, Kansas City, second; Kindervatter, Kansas City, third. Time 3.22.

One mile ordinary club championship—W. M. Jaccord, first; H. R. Warren, second; N. T. Haynes, third. Time 3.31 3 4.

One mile safety, open—E. M. Harris, first; Campbell, second; Kindervatter, third. Time 3.24 3-4.

Two mile ordinary, handicap—W. D. Gray, Holden, 150 yards, first; W. M. Jaccord, scratch, second; H. R. Warren, 75 yards, third. Time 7.44 1-4.

Half-mile, boys' race—Fred Bratty, first; Frank Rogers, second. Time 1.37 1-2.

One mile safety, club championship—H. R. Warren, first; Campbell, second; Jaccord, third. Time 3.17 1-4, which won the special time prize.

One mile ordinary, open—Gray, first; Moriarity, second; Martin, third. Time 3.27 3-4.

Two mile safety, handicap—Hardin, 200 yards, first; Kindervatter, 200 yards, second; Linton, 100 yards, third. Time 7.42. In this race Kindervatter took a tumble, but mounted and finished second. The very slow time is accounted for by the rough condition of the track. The attendance was good, and the contests were hotly contested, and proved that more interest is being manifested in the sport in Kansas City than for several years.

"Linneus."

AT ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The races held at the Rochester Driving Park, Friday, Oct. 9, under the auspices of the Ramblers Bicycle Club, were well attended. The absence of the Buffalo team, which was expected to be present and take place in the 25-miles race, was much regretted. The starters in that race were C. J. and W. M. Connolly, Wm. Le Mesurier, Fred Smith, P. J. Dukelow, Jno. H. Graham and C. J. Iven. A strong, cold wind and a muddy track prevented fast time; but the contestants hung well together and alternated in making pace. It was thought that the race—barring accidents—would go to W. M. Connolly or C. J. Iven, and the result proved the unsoundness of this judgment. C. J. Iven rode the fastest mile in the race, 3.05, but C. J. Connolly landed himself a winner, much to the surprise of himself and his friends. The time was 1.25.41. The others finished as follows: W. M, Connolly, Iven, Graham, Dukelow, Le Meserier and Smith. The other events:

One mile novice, mixed—E. Fulton, first; A. E. Ladd, second; T. W. Trenaman, third. Time 3.45.

One mile, boys—A. Hughes, first; J. Dukelow, second; K. Buchanan, third. Time 3.46.

One mile club championship, mixed—P. J. Dukelow, first; A. E. Ladd, second; E. Fulton, third. Time 3.12.

Two-miles, club, handicap, mixed—W. Zimmerman, 440 yards, first; J. Wolf, 440 yards, second; J. J. Dukelow, scratch, third. Time 6.10.

One mile luck race—Time selected 4.17. J. McTaggart won in 4.16; N. F. Foote, second.

AT PHILADELPHIA, PA.—On Saturday afternoon over the Park avenue course, on Montgomery avenue, was run the inter-club ten mile road race, promoted by the new Captains' Association. Four o'clock was to have been the hour for starting, but it was nearly half-past when the men got away.

The teams entering were made up as follows: Columbia Cyclers, E. O. Roe, J. Pierson, A. Gracey, G. High; South End, F. B. Marriott, J. Dixson, O. McCurdy, J. Group; Park Avenue, W. Bilyeu, H. Bilyeu, I. Van Deusen, H. Gill; Century, L. Geyler, C. W. Dalsen, M. J. Bailey, M. N. Keim; Frankford, G. Cocker, H. Crankshaw.

Marriott was the first man to finish, his time being 35.51. This time is slow for the course, but the road was in poor condition. The first ten men were all closely bunched, not 20 feet separating first and last. The South End Wheelmen, scoring the greatest number of points, were awarded first place, followed by the Park Avenue and Columbia Clubs in the order named. Following Marriott came Gill, Dalsen, Geyler, Group, Van Deusen, Gracey, Roe, Pierson, W. Bilyeu, McCurdy, High, Dixon, Bailey, Cocker and Keim.

The points were as follows: South End Wheelmen, 42; Park Avenue Wheelmen, 36; Columbia Cyclers, 36; Century Wheelmen, 35; Frankford Bicycle Club, 3.

The Park Avenue Wheelmen would have taken first place had their four entrants ridden, but H. Bilyeu did not start, leaving but three men for that club to compete against the four-men teams of the others. The Frankfords also were unfortunate, having but two riders, one of whom did not finish.

"Ariel."

AT CHESTER, PA., Oct. 3.—Five mile race for members of Chester Bi. Club. Fred Rumford, first; E. S. Burk, second. Time 19.22.

Roy Donaldson, seventh; time 45.20 3-4. In the evening the club held a "smoker" and general jollification at the club rooms.

AT CHELSEA, MASS.—The Winnisimmet Cycle Club of Chelsea held a very successful road race on Saturday, Oct. 10. The course was a little over 3 1-2 miles, starting from Chelsea street, Everett, thence Ferry street, Eastern avenue, Lebanon street, to Forest street, and return over same course. The men finished as follows: Geo. Quinn, first; time 28.58. Henry Chamberlain, second; time 29.59. Guy Geary, third; time 30.00. Emerson, fourth; Hancock, fifth; Taylor, sixth; Harris, seventh; Forbush, eighth; Rogers, ninth; White, tenth; Fielding, eleventh; Johnson, twelfth; Patten, thirteenth; Whitney, fourteenth; Gallison, fifteenth; Gray, sixteenth; McLaughlin, seventeenth; Adams, eighteenth; Dennis, nineteenth.

NOTICE.

For some time past our business has been gradually changing its character from a general to a special line of manufacture.

The demand for our Eclipse bicycles has been so great as to largely monopolize the capacity of our plant. In view of this fact we have decided to devote our energies entirely to the manufacture of bicycles, and therefore change our business name from "Steel Pulley and Machine Works" to the more appropriate one of "Eclipse Bicycle Works."

This involves no change whatever in the ownership or conduct of the business.

Thanking our patrons for past favors, we trust our future relations may be mutually pleasant and profitable.

MERIT WILL TELL.

This is what is usually said in print when a wheel scores a win of any importance. Winning a race, however, is not necessarily a proof of merit. If it was, some dreadfully cheap affairs, as we once before remarked, could claim equal merit with recognized high grades. Still, if winning races goes for anything, the above is in evidence that Ramblers can win 'em.

THE AMERICAN ORMONDE CYCLE COMPANY.

This is the title of a new company incorporated last week under the laws of the State of New Jersey, and which succeeds to the business of the United States branch of the Ormonde Cycle Company of London, Eng., located at 25 Murray street, New York. The new company will manufacture the Ormonde Cycles for next year's trade in this country, and for that purpose have leased a very large factory at New Brighton, S. I., formerly occupied by the Manchester Plush Company, and will give employment to a large number of workmen. The Ormonde Company have been forced to take this move, owing to their very rapidly increasing business, and also in order to better be in shape to supply the wheels promptly in the season when wheels are needed, as under the present system of importing goods, the delays at the Custom House and delays caused by a large proportion of goods going in to the appraisers' hands for examination caused great loss of time, and in the end caused the loss of a large number of sales. The company will also be enabled to put out a better machine for the money than if importing, as the very heavy duty assessed as it is at present upon what the Government officials have chosen to style the market value, eats heavily into the profit. The company will also divide a portion of its increased earnings with its agents by giving them fair and living prices upon which they can sell the goods and exist, as the cause of many failures in the trade has been the low discounts given by manufacturers in this country. It is not the intention of the company to greatly increase its out-put this coming season above the number of machines sold by them the last year, but to furnish them at seasons when they can be sold readily by the agent, and when they are wanted. The company has several improvements to be made on the Ormonde wheels, among them being a patent wheel, a new patent crank, which is said to be of marvellous strength and lightness, also a new design dust proof ball head and a number of minor improvements, and several other new styles of machines will be also placed on the market, among them being the handsomest ladies' wheel in existence. The principal wheel will be of entirely new design in frame, having a new bottom bracket which, it is claimed, is a radical improvement over any previously used. Another leading machine will be a $100 cushion tired machine, which is much superior to many machines listing at $135. This machine will have many of the features of its higher priced companion. The company will also pay particular attention to the development of their already heavy trade in lamps, bells, pedals, forksides, and other cycling sundries, of which they have the agency for H. Harrison & Sons, and several Birmingham, Eng., houses. The Ormonde Company is welcomed among the list of manufacturers in the United States more heartily as being the first English company to give American skilled labor a chance to duplicate the fine work of their English cousins, and hold in this country the money spent by the purchasing public. The machines made by the American Ormonde Company will continue to be the same models and weight as those constructed in the English factory. The works will be under the control of the superintendent of the home factory, thus insuring that the high standard of the machines will remain, and that the first year's machines will not be, as so many cycling companies' first productions are, experiments. The company have already received applications from over 600 agents throughout the United States for control of territory for next season, and their prospects are by far the brightest of any concern in the trade to-day. During this season and late into the fall, the Ormonde Company have been steadily importing to meet the constantly growing demand, and up to the 10th of September were still behind on their orders, although the Government records show them to have been the heaviest importers of bicycles into the port of New York this year.

The officers the new company are E. J. Willis, President; James R. Maloney, Treasurer; and Geo. S. Macdonald, Secretary, Mr. Maloney being the new comer among the members of the concern.

THE BOLTE TIRES.

We take pleasure in calling attention to, page 782 of this issue, on which will be found the advertisement of the Sercombe & Bolte pneumatic and cushion tires. It will be observed that these tires can be applied to old solid tire wheels, a great advantage and one that the riding public will appreciate. The claim is that these pneumatic tires are absolutely non-puncturable. The finger is not strong enough to drive a tack through the tire, the only way to get a tack through is to hammer it. The valve is strong and neat. By all means communicate with Messrs. Sercombe & Bolte, and get your old solid tire made over. Now is the time to have it done, don't wait until the opening of the riding season next year. "Apply early and avoid the rush." A word to the wise.

Dr. Whiting, a Chicago physician, has invented a new bicycle. The leading feature in the new construction is the absence of all springs either on seat or frame. The purpose of the invention is the construction of a wheel which will take up vibration and render possible the use of a rigid frame and obtain all the advantages of a spring frame in ease and comfort to the rider. This invention is claimed to be an improvement over other combinations, being a double tire, between which are attached a sleeve and a pivot or buffer, and the insertion of a rubber ball as a cushion next the inner tire, against which the buffer plays, forming a perfect spring tire. In passing over obstructions the lower tire is forced against the rubber ball cushion, permitting full spring action, thus absorbing the vibration entirely. Dr. Whiting, being a medical man, says that the use of the "ball cushion tire, not only lessens perineal pressure, but also spinal vibration, and reduces fatigue after long riding. "This invention not only consists of novel features in its construction," says he, "but does away with all pneumatic tires and spring saddles. All bicycles should have solid tires and firm saddles, and the spring to lessen vibration should be between the pedals and tires, which has been accomplished in my invention, and will prove an inestimable boon to the ladies." Whether the doctor's wheel will bear out the theory when put on the road is a matter yet to be demonstrated.

The Hirsh Aluminum Bicycle Co. has been incorporated at Chicago with a capital stock of $250,000. Incorporators, Orrin M. Wells, Elias H. Holmes and Gottlob Wischack.

Recently, Bert Galbraith and P. Hester, members of the Milton (Penn.) Wheelmen, started out to do a century run. The following shows how well they succeeded. Starting at 5.10 A. M. they reached Danville, 15 miles, at 6.35; Bloomsbury, 25 miles, at 7.35; and Berwick, 38 miles, at 9.05. Twenty-nine miles of this road was awful muddy. At 9.48 the start was made for the return trip, and at 2.05 they arrived at the starting point, distance 76 miles. After a stop of 30 minutes they set out for Mifflinburg, 14 miles, which was reached at 3.50. At 4 o'clock the start was made for the return trip, arriving at Milton at 5.20, having covered 104 miles in 12 hours and 10 minutes, the actual riding time being 9 hours and 35 minutes. Both men finished fresh, Galbraith going out after supper, doing 14 miles more up to 8 o'clock.

A Chicago inventor has designs perfected for a bicycle lamp, which will successfully burn kerosene, not smoke, and present a much handsomer appearance than the present styles in lamps.

We call special attention to the advertisement of the Premier Cycle Co., on page 797. The "Holophote" King of the Road Lamp therein illustrated and briefly described is to our knowledge the finest lamp ever placed on the market. A trial of this marvelous lamp is convincing proof that the claims made for it are well founded.

"The plea which has gone forth from a member of the League of American Wheelmen for better country roads, because the present highways are largely responsible for the unprofitable farming that is to be found everywhere in the east, looks like a clear case of speaking one word for the farmer and two for the wheelmen; but, however much of self-interest there may be in the plea, there is certainly a large amount of truth in the assertion that a general condition of poor farming is almost sure to be accompanied by poor roads, though it is probably nearer the truth to affirm that poor farming is rather responsible for poor highways than are the latter for a poor system of agriculture. The shiftlessness that is content with an indifferent tilling of the soil is usually willing to wear out horses, carriages, harnesses and time on inferior roads rather than use any exertion in attempting to make them better."—Exchange.

The new cork bicycle handles manufactured by Messrs. Howard A. Smith & Co., Newark, N. J., are the finest of their kind yet placed on the market. They are cut from specially selected cork, have extra deep ferules stamped from first-class stock to protect the ends. This enterprising firm is very generally recognized as headquarters for bicycle sundries and specialties. Messrs. Smith & Co. are undoubtedly better equipped for reconstructing and repairing pneumatic tires than any establishment east of Chicago. See their advertisement on page 805.

The American Bicycle Co. of Chicago will place on the market this season a racing safety weighing fourteen pounds and a road wheel weighing but thirty pounds. In these wheels aluminum bears an important part. Sample wheels seen present a handsome appearance.

"Under the heading, 'Velocipedemania,' M. Emile Gouden has some amusing remarks in La France, from which we extract the following: 'What are most dreaded by us, said a bicyclist to me, are dogs. These animals do not understand our signals, and, as we run without noise, the dog, not hearing us, throws himself in our way; sometimes we break something belonging to him, but more often it is we who fall and bite the dust. Gentlemen, the dog has some right to the road. He pays ten francs duty, he is proud of it, and will laugh at you till you pay at least as much as him. In the meantime ride a little less quickly through the crowded streets, ride less quickly in the interests of inoffensive passers by, in the first place, and also much more in your own, if I may judge by the number of martyrs already numbered in your corporation, your church, the velocipede cult. But what can we do? Excited by the exercise, by the speed, they ride fanatically. It matters little where they go, provided that, in the frenzy, they cover ground. If they be asked what object they wished to attain, through what landscapes they pass, what they have seen, they know nothing about it. But, like Galileo, who was reproached for profitlessly upsetting everything with his new theory, the bicyclist proudly mounts his machine and cries: 'E pur si muove.' It turns! It turns!"—Bicycling News.

A favorite wheel with the Chicago public the past season was the Kenwood, than which a finer wheel in workmanship and material was never made. The Kenwood Co. will place on the market this year a safety weighing not over thirty-four pounds all on. The Bicycling World bespeaks for it a hearty reception and ready sale.

Prince Wells, the well known cyclist, was married yesterday, Oct. 15, to a young lady of the Falls City. We congratulate Mr. Wells.

The members of the Colt Club, of Hartford, Ct., to the number of 13, rode a century and one mile over, Oct. 11th.

AGENTS OF EASTERN, MIDDLE AND SOUTHERN STATES.

"Birdie" Munger, the announcer of fog horn voice, is now manager of the bicycle department of the Ames & Frost Manufacturing Co. "Birdie" was formerly with the Chicago Bicycle Co.

Here is a morsel taken from from an exchange which the advocates of the humpback style of riding will do well to chew on. It is said a cyclist, who was touring through the south of England, thought he would essay a trip round the Isle of Wight. He accordingly crossed over, and after some amount of wandering, asked a native while riding past: "Is that the way to Ryde?"

"No," responded that individual, "yer too much doubled up over yer machine."

Ames & Frost of Chicago will put on the market this year a high grade, diamond frame safety of the very best material and workmanship.

The Moffat cycles still continue to increase in popularity with Chicago riders. E. C. Bode, formerly advertising manager of the Bearings, has entered the employ of the Moffat Cycle Co., and together with F. Howard Tuttle, will represent that firm on the road.

L. W. Conkling, for many years manager of A. G. Spalding & Bros. Chicago bicycle department, lately on the road for the Sweeting Cycle Co., is now employed by the Coventry Machinists' Co., Chicago, and will travel for them this season.

The Secretary of State of Illinois has issued a license to the Hirsh Aluminum Bicycle Company at Chicago, to make bicycles; capital stock, $250,000; incorporators, O. M. Wells, E. A. Holmes and G. Wissback.

Jas. Josephi took a flying trip across Michigan on a Moffat Model B in the firm's interests, and had no difficulty in booking numerous orders along the line for Moffats.

E. C. Stearns of Syracuse, N. Y., large manufacturers of hardware specialties, will embark in the bicycle manufacturing business. They will be in the market next season.

The Overman Wheel Co., Chicopee Falls, Mass., are building a new addition to their already extensive plant, and many new changes and additions in several departments will be made before the close of the year. The enormous growth of the business has necessitated more factory room.

The Spooner-Peterson Co., Chicago, have taken the agency for X L cycles for all territory west of Buffalo from Colcott Bros. & West, Coventry, England. This firm have also the local agency for Moffat cycles. They have lately added a complete repair shop to their store under charge of the expert repairer, A. Adams, lately in the employ of J. Hoyle.

"The abandoned farms of New England afford a topic of discussion in many quarters. Some attribute the abandonment to bad roads, and this affords an argument made use of extensively by bicyclists in their endeavor to gain better roads. Others declare that high protection has made manufacturing so much more profitable than agriculture that young men forsake the latter. Still others assert that the New England lands are worn out, and yet others urge that Western competition has driven the East out of all the better lines of agriculture. The seeker for light can take his choice between these theories, but possibly a better plan is to unite all of them into one explanation of the matter."—Exchange.

The Shelby, Ohio, Tubing Co. is now firmly and successfully established, and is turning out quantities of cold drawn steel tubing of a quality which is giving the greatest satisfaction to those manufacturers who have used and tested same. We congratulate the country for having one factory which possesses the secret of producing cold drawn steel tubing.

Thos. W. Davis, of Peoria, Ill., who finished the Chicago century run two weeks ago, rode a Credenda Victor, cushion tires. Mr. Davis is 64 years of age, and made the trip in 14 hours, finishing fortieth in a field of 180 starters and 132 finishers. He is a wonderful old man, and the wheel acted splendidly.

Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October, and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Chief Consuls should take immediate steps preparatory to the election and should publish in the Bulletin the rules of their respective Divisions, and the full plan of election at as early a date as possible. Below we publish a table showing the membership by States. The Secretary will provide mail lists to Division officers for the conduct of the vote, but these mail lists should not be used as check-lists at the time of counting, since they are not and cannot be so accurate as the list of Division members kept by the Secretary-Treasurer.

Article V. Sect. 1 (b) Each League club located under the jurisdiction of a Division shall be entitled upon joining the League, and annually thereafter, to elect one Representative for the first twenty members on its roll, and an additional Representative for each fifty members thereafter.

League Clubs must elect Representatives in the manner provided by the Constitution of the Divisions in which they are located.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN. RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other one wheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a limited amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.

For ease the harrassed cyclist prays,
When rock and road uneven raise
His soul's deep seated ire.
When speeding o'er the street he feels
The shock directly from his wheels,
Despite the latest tire.

No saddle that the sage can bring,
Can supersede the perfect spring,
Which here alone is found.
There are pneumatics by the score,
Spring wheels and seats and forks galore,
Are lying all around.

BUT

When brains and cash together go,
(Heaven knows this is not always so)
But we've observed ourselves,
The wisest riders in the land,
The happiest and the brainiest band,

If it had not been for the general excellence of these machines in their vibration destroying attachments, they would have been rightly consigned to that oblivion which is fast getting filled with the fantastic emanations of non-mechanical cranks. BOSTON, 23 OCTOBER, 1891.

ONE OF MANY.

A SPECIMEN of unsolicited testimonials we are constantly getting: "I desire to testify to the value of the BICYCLING WORLD as an advertising medium. In response to a three-line advertisement stating that I had a camera for sale I received a large number of inquiries, one of which was from a subsequent puchaser at my own figure.

Respectfully yours, GEORGE CHINN."

15 Vandewater street, New York, October 13, 1891.

THE political pot in Massachusetts is boiling. The factions are hard at work for their different candidates. Some pretty hard words are being spoken; a good many ridiculous charges are flying round; and the campaign has all the regular flavor of a national affair, in that personalities are by no means ignored. In the heat of the battle a good many things are said which in cooler moments would be left unsaid. We would therefore caution our Massachusetts' readers to take all wild statements or charges with due consideration from the fact that all methods seem to be considered fair in love, war and politics. We hope every member in the Division will show enough interest to vote.

A MOVEMENT seems to be on foot in Baltimore and Philadelphia to form a Junior League of American Wheelmen, to be composed of boys under the age of 18, and who are not eligible to membership in the League. As we understand the idea, a member after he becomes 18 could no longer hold membership in the 'Juniors," but would have to graduate into the National parent body. It is proposed to adopt a Constitution and By-laws exactly the same as the National League, with the exception that the eligible age would be changed. This is not a bad idea if it is practical. The Junior League would be a recruiting school for the senior and parent National body.

THE cudgels laid away apparently by our esteemed contemporary, Sporting Review, and so vigorously used against the trade controlling the L. A. W., and the general worthlessness and inefficiency of the present administration, have been taken up by the Sporting Times of New York. The seat of war of "our friend the enemy" has been removed from Chicago to New York.

NOW that the amateur question, the prize question, and the dear old Rule G controversy, seem to be laid peacefully to rest, the proxy problem rises in its majesty and demands attention.

SOME correspondents in the English papers are protesting against the practice of certain promoters of race meetings in overvaluing the prizes they award.

NO sport has ever increased so rapidly in public favor as cycling; but a few years ago had any one dared to predict that it would, in the short space of time intervening, reach its present magnitude the prophet would have been looked upon by all who heard him as a wool-gathering enthusiast. To be ever in the first flight of such an army as now bestrides the bicycle is no mean honor, but to stand out alone as the greatest rider of the day is a fact that must be the envy and desire of every person at all interested in the sporting world. Two kings of equal speed and prowess sit upon the single throne of cycling supremacy in America—Windle and Zimmerman—both are men of such speed, experience and gameness, as to lift them above all their competitors. Each has his admirers and supporters who proclaim him the better man of the two. What a pity it is, that before the racing season closed, a series of championship races between these two mighty racers could not have been arranged to determine to which of them the honor of being supreme in American racing belonged. Any association shrewd enough to have brought about a match would have conferred a boon upon cycling, and would have made many a dollar by doing so. If it be true that "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," how much more so must it be when there is only one crown and two heads to wear it, as in the present instance.

WHILE the wheel, as an instrument of propulsion, aside from some tricks of freakishness, is almost perfect, and is pleasurable rather than laborious so long as the surface ridden does not particularly resist the wheel, the rider has no large surplus reservoir of power to draw upon; if we must work our passage in downright earnest, why, like the Irishman who earned his passage by driving the canal team on the tow-path, we might as well work, barring the name of the thing. Too stony, the road beats us; soft, it meanly grabs our wheels. The wheel "skims the ground" when the surface is suitable; when either too rough or too soft, it "skims" too deeply to be either pleasant or profitable to the rider.

THE wheel, to be a permanent and common vehicle in this country, depends upon the number of the rideable roads. The barriers of statute and even of prejudice we have broken down; the barriers in the roads themselves are far more serious, and it is upon them that all the weight of our hitherto victorious energies must be concentrated. True, there is an incredulous raising of eyebrows at the League's suggestion that the public—the taxpayers, be it remembered—should provide smooth roads for the pleasure of "a few boys and young men." But this suggests two observations: First, the large fact is not yet learned in this country that such roads would not be made for the wheelman's pleasure and convenience alone, but for general advantage, because bad roads are an hourly tax, and are miserably uneconomical; next: That the wheelmen are not "a few boys and young men," but an intelligent army much more numerous and influential than many of those who oppose them think them to be. Let riders remember that good roads will make wheelmen, and wheelmen should prove that this is a good rule, and hence will work both ways, by demonstrating that wheelmen will cause good roads to be made.

THE last issue of Wheeling has some very common sense remarks to make on the folly, not to use a stronger word, of these long distance record rides, and as a case in point has this to say about Mills' late ride from Lands End to John o' Groats:

"Is it not about time that such struggles with nature as the Land's End to John o' Groat's ride of G. P. Mills or of Terront in France should be discouraged by the cycling world? Are they not becoming much of a class with the ghastly entertainment of Jacques, the fasting man, at the Aquarium? Nature, more than ordinarily generous to some of her children, finds them drawing the heaviest cheeques upon her. Fancy the condition of that grand athlete, G. P. Mills, ridden to a standstill, hopelessly overcome by sleep, with only four miles to complete his great end to end ride! It is not nice to think about this revolt of outraged nature, and we are of opinion that now, when these tremendous distance records have reached a point taxing every effort, not only of the rider, but of his friends to get him through, they might well be dropped. We shall be having them called 'Lives o' men' by 'wives and mithers maist lamentin,'' as the old song has it, if they are carried much further. The world has learnt its lesson as to what the modern cycle can do, and no number of game but played-out riders between Land's End to John o' Groat's will teach it much now."

A TOURIST who has ridden across the continent says that some of the finest riding be experienced in his long journey was in the early fall, when a season of dry weather had existed long enough to efface the perilous line of demarcation which separates the chasm worn by the wagon wheels and the narrow path in which the farm horses passed along. All teams upon these prairie roads use the same track, and on either side is an eruption of clods and stones which strikes blank terror into the breast of a timid rider (and "blank" words into his soliloquies) when he meets or overtakes a team, and is compelled to turn out to go by. Sometimes, he says, you overtake a man who is "just mean enough" to refuse to let you pass. That settles it. You can plug along behind him, until he turns off into another road. But you can remember that man, and somehow his name does not enter into the list of those for whose welfare and preservation you pray.

A BICYCLE tour of any length is not all sunshine and delight, but means the overcoming of many obstacles, making the best of rainy weather and head winds, putting up with the peculiarities of other people, and above all the exercise of pluck, patience and consideration; traits which must be possessed in an extended degree by any rider who aspires to become a tourist of any other than local localities.

A QUESTION has arisen in England as to whether pneumatics on the ordinary do not last much longer than on the safety? A few cases which have come under the notice of experts would seem to indicate that they do, though just why, is a question we cannot quite understand.

IT is rather amusing to notice that Manager Eck of the professional racing tournament, now taking place in New York, lays much stress on the fact that the men in the six days' race will make a flying start. This seems a bit absurd that he should do so from the fact of the long distance to be travelled. A flying start on such a race does not count for much.

NEW YORK seems to take to six day's cycling as naturally as it did to six days' walking matches in the days when Rowell was king.

CENTURY RUNS are becoming as common as club meetings. A regular craze has struck the country. We use the word "craze" advisedly, because we believe that it is just that and nothing more.

IN Windle's successful effort to get the better of Father Time last Saturday, it will be noticed that he rode the quarters in 36 2-5, 31 3-5, 33, 34. Now it is safe to say that with a good flying start he could have bettered the first quarter by three seconds. We therefore would say that the time for a mile was equal to 2.12, with a flying start.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Atlanta, Ga., Journal writes a long letter to that paper describing a flying machine invented by Mr. John Saunders of Rome, Ga. It is described as follows:

"The machine looked like an immense umbrella ten feet in diameter. The top was raised some six feet from the ground, and in place of the stick was a framework supporting a seat which Mr. Saunders informed us was the place for the rider. At the bottom of the machine, on either side, stretch long wings, broad at the base and tapering towards the extremities. A short distance from their inner ends these wings pass through rests, and their inner ends project under the seat. These ends are attached to treadles which move up and down on the familiar principle of a sewing machine, so that when the treadles are worked, the wings move up and down beating the air. The umbrella-like top supports the machine somewhat like a parachute and the wings, beating the air, propel it upwards."

Mr. Clement, the correspondent of the Journal, not only states that he saw Mr. Saunders fly, but that he himself mounted the machine and soared through the air with the greatest of ease. We are inclined to think that the whole matter is a clever hoax. Like the 72 miles an hour bicycle that was to be, it is very pleasant reading.

MISS LILLIAN M. MCKELVEY was the first one to receive to license from the City of Rochester under the new ordinance governing the use of cycles on the streets of that city. One man in applying for a number said his wheel was over 24 inches in diameter. In making further inquiry the city clerk learned that the wheel was one of two on a hand cart. He was surprised to find that he would not require a number and replaced his 35 cents in his pocket.

KEEP a lookout for a ladies' Columbia safety bicycle, No. 2176, model 1891. Same was stolen from the hall of the second story of 266 E. Huron street, either late Saturday night, the 10th inst., or early Sunday morning. The left coaster was missing and the left handle had been put on with paper, which showed a little; otherwise the wheel was in good condition. Any information regarding above will be received with thanks by Mabel F. Doly, No. 266 E. Huron street, Chicago.

LAST Sunday a dozen members of the Somerville Cycle Club, in command of Capt. McCausland, enjoyed a run to North Weymouth, dinner being served at Anderson cafe, Fort Point. Colonel Lovell, in company with his brother, Henry Lovell, made his appearance in season to take dinner, and at its close opened a box of cigars for the guests. An offer of payment for dinner was met with the reply, "That is all paid for," and it is said that "the Colonel" was the cause of it. The club is appreciative of Col. Lovell's thoughtfulness and generosity, and of his cordial greeting.

MESSRS. Stillman, Englewood Wheelmen, and Magee, Queens County Wheelmen, put up a century October 18, starting from Closter, N. J., at 8.10 A. M, riding to Plainfield and return, distance 101 miles, finishing at 7.50 P. M. Actual riding time, 8 hours and 40 minutes. This is the second century for each of the men this season. Two other riders started with them, but were obliged to drop out as the pace was too hot.

DURING Mr. Stringer's (of the Singer Co.) visit to this country this fall, he was induced to take a trip into the Adirondack region and spend a week. Mrs. Stringer accompanied him, and the novel experience of living in the "Wilds of America" was much enjoyed by both. Mr. and Mrs. Stringer also visited Niagara Falls before they sailed away for Old England.

"THE lady riders of Michigan City (Ind.) ride their cycles on the roads, while the gentlemen of the same locality make themselves disagreeable by riding on the sidewalks." So says an exchange.

JACK ROBBINS, of the Sporting Review, was in Boston this week.

MR. RICHARD HOWELL, the well-known English professional, while on a recent visit to Holyoke, Mass., was dared to jump from the high level of the canal at that point into the lower level. He was preparing to accomplish the feat when he was interrupted by a bad, bold policeman.

"FROM Berlin there comes a story that the ladies of that town, who have been used to wear silk tights during their practice in the riding school, have desired to wear the same comfortable dress in the Kingarten, and have petitioned for the authority to do so, and to ride after the fashion of our favored sex. This petition was refused by the chief of police, Baron Ritthofen. The petitioners, who numbered among themselves some of the leaders of Berlin society, wives and daughters of generals of the army, and women of high social position, are indignant at the refusal, and intend still to have their own way, if it can be secured. They have made an appeal to the Empress to support their cause, and it is said there are good grounds for believing she is likely to grant their wishes. If this radical dress reform really does take place, it is confidently expected that the new costume will be extended to cycling."—Bicycling News.

THE Fitchburg (Mass.) Wheelman took a run by the fair moonlight to Clinton last week Friday.

INDOOR ball teams will be put in the field by the following Chicago clubs: Chicago Cycling Club, Oak Park Cycling Club, Æolus Cycling Club, Douglas Cycling Club, Plzen Cycling Club, Columbia Wheelmen, Cook County Wheelmen, Jackson Club and others. No cycling League will be formed, however.

IF Zimmerman has carefully watched the papers lately he will have observed that the "aggregate value of his winnings so far this season are $6590."

THE proposed match race between Seeds of Wilmington, Del., and McDuffee of Lynn, Mass, has been declared off.

A BOWLING league of cycling clubs is liable to be a feature this winter in Chicago.

THE city of Rochester, N. Y., has lately passed an ordinance which directs the Chief of Police to issue a licence and number to be attached to the wheel to all cyclers who desire to use certain sidewalks in the city. The fee is ten cents for each day covered by the said permit or licences. From this we infer it will cost the riders who desires the privilege for the whole year, the sum or $36.50.

THE Rockville (Ct.) Club will give a ball at the town hall, November 6.

NOMINATIONS for Illinois Division Officers by the Chicago contingent are as follows: F. W. Gerould for Chief Consul; A. A. Billingsley of Springfield, Ill., for Vice Consul; Burton F. White of Chicago for Vice Consul, and nine representatives as follows: North side, R. G. Betts, Lincoln Club, F. R. McDonald, Lake View Club; South Side, C. E. Randall and S. A. Miles, Chicago Club, W. A. Fletcher, Farragut Club; West Side, C. L. Steen, Illinois Club, J. M. Stimpson, Oak Park Club, Dr. J. C. Wachter, Douglas Club, and L. W. Conkling, Washington Club. These nominations will be elected without a doubt. Fred Patee may be placed in nomination by Peoria.

FIFTEEN cyclers of Phœnixville, Pa., on Thursday, October 8th, formed a club to be known as the "Phœnix Wheelmen." Lady riders are to be admitted as members. The prospect of a membership of twenty to twenty-five is very good. It is the intention to make it an L. A. W. club.

GREAT was the astonishment of the members of the St. Louis Cycling Club when they found out that Secretary Rule, one of the speediest of their coterie of fast riders, had joined the Pastime A. C. On investigation it was found that he has simply done so to take advantage of the gymnasium privilege, and that he has no intention of forsaking his first love. He will ride under the blue and white colors of the St. Louis Club next year as heretofore.

THE members of the Providence (R. I.) Cycling Club are busy endeavoring to perfect plans whereby they can build a new club house.

SATURDAY evening, Oct. 17, the Englewood Cycling Club of Chicago gave a stag party, after which seventeen men started out for a moonlight century run over the Elgin-Aurora course.

A SCARLET sash around the waist is the insignia of the Century Road Club of America.

TOURS of discovery are all the go in St. Louis at present, and the local clubs vie with each other in discovering new places hitherto left unvisited by wheelmen on account of the unsettled condition of the dirt roads. During this season of the year these roads are at their best, and generally afford fine wheeling. A ride of this nature was the Cycling Club's trip to Columbia, Ill., last Sunday, and to say that Capt. Wolzendorf's men surprised the natives is putting it mildly. A tandem tricycle ridden by Bob Laing and Jno. Weaver was the cynosure of all eyes and the many questions asked by the people of the town would fill a book. The road is reached via the Davis street ferry at Carondelet, and is reported as being in good condition during a long dry spell, but is transformed into moist perdition for weeks after a rain.

MR. E. A. BINNEY, of the Somerville (Mass.) Club, is touring through the White and Green Mountain district. He will visit Lake Champlain, Ausable Chasm, Montreal, thence by boat to Quebec, and from Montreal he will tour a-wheel home. The trip will cover about 1000 miles.

THE Ladies' National Bicycle Club, of Rochester, numbers 30 members, and it is acknowledged to be one of the most active cycling organizations of that city.

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., a mining town some 13 miles north east of St. Louis, was the destination of the Missouris', of St. Louis, run on Sunday, Oct. 18. Rain spoilt the dirt road and a diversion was made to the Vandalia railway road bed, which was found to be in excellent condition the entire distance, enabling the club to maintain a pace of ten miles per hour over it. The road to discourage walking on the track does not fill up the entire space over the ties as is usually done in ballasting, but in place of this maintains an excellent side path which furnishes splendi t wheeling one day after a hard rain. If all the railroads in the country did as the Vandalia road, the road problem as far as it refers to cycling would be speedily solved.

"CYCLIST—'A thousand pardons, dear sir and madam, but I trust my approach has caused no unnecessary alarm. May I beg the favor of being permitted to pass.'

Pedestrians—'Certainly, certainly! And allow us to apologize if we have rendered you the slightest inconvenience.'"—Cycling.

THE Asbury Park (N. J.) Wheelmen have placed themselves on record against sidewalk riding, and have asked the authorities to enforce stringent rules against the use of sidewalks by wheelmen.

FOOTBALL, cross country runs, three nights of gymnasium classes, and a dancing class is what will attract the attention of the members of the Missouri Club of St. Louis during the coming month, and in addition there will be at least one monthly entertainment and pool tournament.

E. F. LE CATO, A. Featherstone, Dia Lewis and Fred McEwen, all joined the Lincoln Cycling Club, Chicago, this month.

THE Missouri Division hand book will soon be out. It contains the new Constitution and By-laws adopted at Carthage, and an appeal to the members at large to lend the officers better support in building up the Division.

AT the funeral of L. A. Hudson, a well known cycler of Cortland, N. Y., the seventy members of the club of which he was a member, escorted the body to the grave. This was done on the special request of Mr. Hudson just before his death.

THE Lincoln Cycling Club and Douglas Cycling Club, both of Chicago became League organizations at their last meetings.

A BOULEVARD system of immense proportions has been decided on for St. Louis by the Board of Public Improvements. It will embrace some 200 miles when completed, and no doubt will have a big influence in largely increasing our cycling population.

THE wheelmen of St. Louis will doubtless be pleased to hear that their interests are being closely watched by Chairman J. R. Bettis of the sprinkling committee, and we are told that the terrific slopping of the streets will be stopped. The asphaltum streets will be sprinkled by special contract, and an effort will be made to have a specially constructed sprinkler do the work.

CHICAGO'S wheelmen have postponed their De Soto road, St. Louis trip until October 24 and 25.

DURING autumn some of the most enjoyable runs of the year are taken, but there is one drawback, and that is that riders too seldom take precautions against catching cold. It would be well, in fact it is a necessity for all club captains who have the good health of their members at heart to insist that upon reaching the destination of a run the members divest themselves of their damp clothing, hang it near a stove to dry, and in the meantime take a tepid sponge bath and a rub down. Then get back into their dry clothes, and you will feel like a new man. Even pure wool has a decided wet feeling on a cycler's back during the cold days of autumn, and should be guarded against.

IKE HUTCHINSON is manager, and Arthur E. Lumsden, Captain of the Chicago Cycling Club indoor base ball team.

WE have on our desk, through the courtesy of Mr. F. E. Peck, late o the Livingston Cycle Co., a tobacco box which was used by J. Purvis-Bruce. The design is not a cheerful one, being that of a human skull, life size, and colored in exact imitation of the real thing. The box contains a lot of tobacco just as old "Jack" left it, and also his favorite bull dog pipe. While it is rather dolefully suggestive, we prize it as an article which that brilliantly original and warm-hearted fellow once used.

THE Memphis (Tenn.) Cycle Club held a lantern parade on the evening of October 16. There were about 70 men in line, and 1000 lanterns. After the parade the club invited all visiting wheelmen to the club rooms where a lunch was served and enjoyed by the visitors. The promised introduction of brick pavements in Memphis will do much to give cycling a boom. Memphis is not devoid of racing talent, and now holds the road records for 10, 25 and 100 miles, and she is prepared to hold same against all comers.

WITH the Chicago Clubs protection against imposition is provided this way. The name of the man expelled from the club for any cause is black listed, sent to the Secretary of the Associated Cycling Clubs, and by him sent to all club Secretaries in the city.

WAY back in the eighties when Ducker was king, he and Lacy Hillier had some pretty spicy correspondence on the question of certain expenses Mr. Ducker claimed he offered Mr. Hillier if the latter would come to this country. Ducker said Hillier promised to come to this country for $100 as expenses, and Hillier denied it and demanded that the letter containing the offer be produced. Ducker didn't produce, and now after weary years, Mr. Hillier announces that he is coming to this country and will call on Mr. Ducker and ask him to bring forth the document. Hillier says that the report in the American papers that Ede and Osmond agreed to take expenses if they come over to the fall tournament is another "Duckerian" falsehood, and he advises Ede and Osmond to "deny the alligation and defy the alligator." Well, all right, let her go!!

SUCH trials as lately made by G. P. Mills in his ride from Land's End to John o' Groats do border too closely on the brutal. It is plucky and all that, but such exhibitions do not help the sport.

THE Lincoln Cycling Club of Chicago have a bowling alley secured for one night each week for the winter, perhaps two each week. Land was too high, and the association disbanded, which had organized to build.

THE late General Boulanger was one of the first to recognize the value of the cycle for courier duties. After a trial made in 1886 the General addressed the cyclers as follows: Gentlemen, for carrying messages I prefer you to the optical telegraph up to eight miles, and to cavalry at any time."

THE Ladies' Oak Park Cycling Club of Chicago has sixty members, and is very flourishing.

IF "A Scorcher" writing from Philadelphia, will send his name (not for publication) we shall be pleased to print his communication.

"BUFFALO bicyclers, by the way, are all torn up over a threatened ordinance requiring them to carry bells at all times and lighted lamps after dark. The objection is that good lamps cost $10, and that bells are less effective at a pinch than the wheelman's voice. They omit to say that dodging bicycles helps to make the people of Buffalo active and alert, and gives the great principle of the survival of the fittest a chance to operate."—Rochester Union.

CYCLERS in Munich, Bavaria, are not allowed to ride a bicycle in that city until they procure a permit from the police, and they cannot get a permit until they have demonstrated that they can ride. Each applicant has to pass an examination and ride before the officials.

THE San Antonio (Tex.) Wheelmen held a lantern parade on the evening of Oct. 8th. "San Antone" has never had a cycle club, but at the close of the parade there was a meeting at France & Thiele's store to organize a League club, and twenty-four members were placed on the roll.

THERE are two clubs in Washington, D. C., which bear the name of "Capital." One is a club of whites and one of the most active and aristocratic in the country, and the other is a new but active club of colored men. It would be a good plan to get the latter club to change its name. The clubs are apt to get mixed in reporting their doings.

SOME half a dozen members of the Lake View Cycle Club, of Cleveland, Ohio, were pretty rudely handled by a party of roughs while riding through Dover the other day. The cyclists were outnumbered and one or two of them got pretty badly smashed. The miscreants will be arrested.

THE Ocean-side Cycle Club of Gloucester, Mass., held their third annual "symposium," Oct. 11th, at Wolf Hill-on-the-square. Cyclists were present from Cambridge, Allston, Malden, Everett, Lynn and Boston. Among the clubs represented were the Charlestown Rovers, Mystic Wheel Club and Massachusetts Pneumatic Cycle Club. After an elegant spread, the party was photographed. A most enjoyable day was spent by all; but owing to the rain they were obliged to train home.

THE Bedford Wheelmen, of Brooklyn, paid a visit to the Staten Island Athletic Club's cycling department a few days ago, and spoke very highly of the club's track and of the bowling alleys. In a quarter mile scrub dash among themselves, W. P. Seward won in 47 seconds; J. K. Smith a good second. Some match games of bowling are talked of between the Bedford Wheelmen and a team from the cycling department of the Staten Island Athletic Club. The Bedford Wheelmen is one of the youngest of the bicycle clubs of Brooklyn, being less than a year old, and already numbers 100 members, and as like a lot of young gentlemen as one would care to meet. [The correspondent who sent us the above item in re the Bedford Club, wants to know if the cycling contingent of an athletic club can join the League as a League club? We answer: Yes, they can.—ED.]

A GOOD PERFORMANCE.

DR. GRIFFIN of the Business Men's Bicycle Club of Detroit, Mich., rode one hundred miles from Detroit to Ann Arbor via Salem and return in 9 hours 30 minutes from start to finish. This time is exceptionally good when it is considered that the doctor has been riding only about 4 months, and the day was damp and chilly, and the roads very heavy with several miles of new gravel. Furthermore the wheel ridden was a heavy one, and one that the doctor had never ridden before. C. J. LOWRIE,

Secretary Business Men's Cycle Club.

HAWKSHAW'S COLUMN.

The funerealistic costume of our racing men, since the majority o them have seen fit to adopt black for the color of their racing suits, has done much to rob racing of some of its picturesqueness. A young lady expresses an opinion that racing men should wear colors in their races, on somewhat the same plan as the jockeys sport the colors of the stable they are riding for. She herself has failed to know which rider was which, through the uniform appearance of many, and she felt sure the same confusion was experienced by others besides ladies. Then, she maintained, the effect would be charming, and certainly a greater amount of fair patronage might be relied upon. There is some logic in the suggestions proffered by racing's fair critic, and once more Australia teaches us a lesson that we may follow with profit to ourselves. It is obligatory upon all contestants in the big handicaps there to wear caps and sashes of distinctive colors, so that each may be readily known and recognized by his colors. The appearance of the field of men is thus greatly improved, the duties of the scorers, judges and timers simplified, while the onlooker, by aid of his programme, is able to watch the riding of any particular rider at all times and with a knowledge of who he is, not, as is too frequently the case in large fields of starters here, of being able to tell one contestant from another, unless able to decipher a fluttering number pinned upon the rider's back as he flashes past the stand.

Malcolm W. Ford, the champion all round athlete of America, lies dangerously and perhaps fatally ill from the effects, primarily, of overtraining. A proposition is best demonstrated by an example. No better proof than the above can be furnished to show that over-training has an exceedingly deleterious effect upon the human constitution. I have often before denounced the excessive training of racing men in over enthusiastic attempts on their part to bring themselves to what they consider the highest degree of physical perfection. Up to the day that this champion of champions was laid low by a wasting and deadly fever, he appeared to be in perfect, robust health. A casual glance at his physique would have evoked nothing but admiration for his muscular development and envy of his apparently hardy condition. He is stricken down by disease, and the doctors declare that his efforts to produce muscular strength and development have been successful at the cost of his nervous and vital strength, and typhoid marks him as a victim in consequence. Where is the profit of this? In a healthy man, where there is a gradual and normal increase of the body's bulk, nature provides a pro rata increase in the size and strength of the thoracic and abdominal viscera. If the man's total weight be suddenly and naturally lowered, as it is done in hard training, the heart and other organs, remaining the same, are in consequence doing more work than is necessary. Herein lies one of the greatest dangers of excessive training. Paradoxically speaking, civilized man is the only animal whose normal condition is one of disease. For centuries he has lived improperly, and seldom dies simply because he cannot live any longer. It is on this account that vigorous and continuous training is injurious and often fatal to him. Were he in the physical condition which, presumably, the primitive forerunners of his race enjoyed, he would need no training at all. A young Indian straight from his native wilds, whose father's forefathers died from the tomahawk, the scalping knife, or sheer old age, might be a fit subject for long continued "training," even if it would benefit him, which is doubtful; but a nineteenth century son of civilization, whose father died perhaps from apoplexy brought on by a prodigality of good cheer, and a parsimony of proper exercise, is scarcely prepared by physical inheritance for such a suicidal strain upon his system. In a few years, perhaps, the fast-increasing dissemination of knowledge and the constant instances of evil results from over-training, will bring about a much needed reformation in this respect; but before this greatly desired change in public ideas on training takes place, a halt should be called, or else we may see our whilom Hercules, if his candle of life is not summarily snuffed out by over training, a mere physical wreck with wheezy lungs, damaged heart and palsied limbs. Like you the picture? 'Tis an honest one, if it be a gruesome.

HENRY GEORGE HEADS A BICYCLE CLUB.

"The Single Tax Bicycle Club has been organized. Among the members are Henry George, Mrs. George, Misses Jennie and Anna George, Henry George, Jr., Louis F. Post, Benj. Doblin, A. J. Steers, T. Powers, G. W. Everett, A. Bastida, John Anderson, Dr. Walter Mendelsson, Misses Mary and Athal Crawford, George St. John Leavens, E. J. Shriver, W. J. Atkinson, Lawrence Dunham, L. O. Macdaniel, Miss Marian Dana Macdaniel and Miss Vaux. Mr. Post, editor of the Standard, says: 'We will go into the National League of Wheelmen as the Single Tax Group. As wheelmen we want to see good roads, and are willing to do all we can to help along an association that has them for i s object. We expect to find in the League a very fertile field for the spread of single tax doctrine.' The Club's headquarters will be at 73 Lexington avenue, New York."—Recorder.

A RELAY RUN FROM HARTFORD TO NEW YORK.

The distance from Hartford to New York is 126 miles, and an experiment is about to be tried to see if by a system of relays the distance cannot be covered on bicycles in eight hours. Mr. Joseph Goodman is the originator of the idea, and his efforts have been earnestly seconded by other wheelmen. The start will be made from the office of the American Cyclist at seven A. M., Saturday, October 31st, and will finish at the uptown office of the New York Sun, Thirty-third street and Broadway. There will be nine relays of two men each from town to town, so that in case of the breaking down of one man the other can carry the message on to his destination. The men who will act as relays have not yet been decided on, neither has the distance between each relay station. The particulars will be decided on early next week, and we shall take pleasure in giving further particulars as to the arrangements for this very interesting experiment.

MR. J. W. BEAN.

Editor Bicycling World: I desire to present this week a good picture of Mr. James William Bean, of Somerville, who is a candidate for Chief Consul of the Massachusetts Division L. A. W., and also a sketch of his life. Mr. Bean was born in Somerville 25 years ago, and received his education in the grammar and high schools of that city. Upon graduating from the Somerville high school in 1884, he entered the Somerville Journal office, where he continued for two years. He then joined the reportorial staff of the Boston Post, remaining there two years, leaving to accept a position on the editorial staff of the Boston Daily Advertiser, and has remained there ever since.

Mr Bean has been a cyclist for eight years. He was formerly a member of the Somerville Club, but for the past four years has taken an active interest in the Cambridgeport Club, which he joined shortly after its organization Appreciating his ability, that club elected him President in 1889, re-electing him without opposition in 1890.

He was elected a representative from District Two last year, and he has been a hard worker in the Board of Officers during this term. Mr. Bean has attended all the leading meets for the past few years, and is well known among wheelmen all over the country. Mr. Bean was elected to the Somerville Common Council at the last election, and has been a prominent member of that body. He is also a member of the Boston Press Club, Citizens' Trade Association of Cambridge, and is a Red Man.

Mr. Bean is a ready and earnest debater, and a good speaker, and is in every way qualified for the position for which he has been nominated.

WISCONSIN DIVISION POLITICS.

Editor Bicycling World: "Division politics are getting lively everywhere," quoted from the last issue of The Bearings, forms a good text for a sermon, as it pleases me to call it, on the methods of conducting elections in the Wisconsin Division.

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the present officers of this Division in whose hands the elections are placed and ruled, by virtue of a very slack rule of the League, are unequalled.

[The League makes no rule for the election of Division officers. The Divisions make their own rules.—Ed.]

An example of the political work of Simonds, Morawetz et al. appears in the manner in which the election "now in progress," was rushed through, in order, I firmly believe to prevent any possibility of Secretary Morawetz, who is decidedly unpopular in Northern Wisconsin, from being defeated for Secretary and Treasurer

At the League "meet" held in Green Bay in July, Morawetz and Local Consul W. J. Carey were nominated for Secretary and Treasurer, T. E. Hutchings being the next highest candidate. The Green Bay contingent, knowing that Casey could not be elected Secretary and Treasurer against a Milwaukee man, urged Mr. Casey for First Representative. He received the nomination. Mr. Casey was not present at the meeting, and no one had authority to withdraw his name as a candidate for Secretary and Treasurer, but it was understood by Chief Consul Simonds that he would send a written withdrawal. Such a document was forwarded to Mr. Simonds by Mr. Casey, but immediately following came the ballots to hand with Casey as candidate for Secretary and Treasurer, and with instructions to fill up the ballots and send them in before Sept. 15, at which time the ballot would close.

[In our issue of Sept. 4th members of Wisconsin Division were notified that ballots must be received before Nov. 16.—Ed.]

A petition was sent in asking that T. E. Hutching's name be substituted for that of Mr. Casey, and after some time postal cards were received, announcing that he, Chief Consul Simonds, had decided to "allow" the name of Mr. Hutchings to go before the League Division as a candidate for this office.

[In our issue of Sept. 4th the nomination of Mr. Hutchings was published in conjunction with Morawetz.—Ed.]

To members of the League who had voted and asked that their ballots be returned that a change could be made in their vote in view of Mr. Hutching's candidacy, the Czar of the Division said "no."

The strangest part of the whole proceeding is that after September 15th, when the ballot was ordered closed, an edict went forth to the effect that under a rule made at the Hartford meet in 1890, the ballot would remain open until November 15.

[This rule was not made at Hartford; it was made in Washington in February. The Division officers made a mistake and called election for September under old rule. When attention was called to the mistake the polls were continued open.—Ed.]

"What kind of political fine work is this?" asked many Division men. It looks very much like a move to save Morawetz's scalp, for Hutchings is a much more popular man in Milwaukee than he, and will poll over one-half the city vote, and would have carried the outside if the members had an opportunity to vote.

MINNESOTA LEAGUE POLITICS.

Your Minneapolis correspondent, "Vernon," appears to have written without a full understanding of the situation in regard to the coming election of officers in this Division. By reference to the Official Department of the Oct. 9th Bulletin, it will be seen that there are two tickets before the Minnesota members, on one of which the name of K. P. Lott is mentioned for Chief Consul, and on the other for Vice Consul. St. Paul is next to Minneapolis in the number of League members, and I should regard it as very unfortunate and unfair if that city were not accorded a representation in the Board of Officers.

ROVERS

WHEN you find the bicycle that is the best, the one that runs easier and wears longer than all others, BUY IT. But how can you tell? Can you depend upon the maker to tell you? If you believe one you must believe all, and you will hardly find one honest enough to tell you that his rival's wheel is better than his own.

The drollery of a certain comparatively small manufacturer declaring that his machine "acknowledges no rival," never seems to strike the said manufacturer. ROVERS have rivals, formidable rivals, too, but so long as we can continue to convince our customers that we give them the full value of their money, we expect to be able to pull through. Without any undue boasting we can say that our business this year shows an increase of more than 300 per cent. over our last year's business. Next year we shall be able to look after another increase of the same size.

THE BOSTON PRESS CLUB CENTURY.

AT 6 A. M. Monday last, 105 cyclers reported at Copley Square for an attempt to make a century run, which was held under the auspices of the Press Club of Boston. The route lay through Cambridge, Maplewood, Saugus and Lynn, at which latter place the first stop was made, and after a short rest the road was taken for Salem, which place was reached at 9.10 A. M., and rest and breakfast was taken by 88 of the original starters. Before a start was made a few of the stragglers caught up and the tour was continued at 10.32 and Newburyport was reached. The Newburyport Wheelman met the party a short distance out of town and escorted them into the city, and while there the local riders did everything in their power to make the visitors comfortable. Dinner was taken here by about 90 of the tourists, and the return trip then began, the Newburyport men escorting the tourists as far as Ipswich. At Malden the citizens and wheelmen had prepared quite an illumination of Japanese lanterns, and the riders received a rousing welcome. The ride from there was quiet and uneventful, and Copley Square was reached at 11 P. M., 75 of the riders having covered the distance. The only ladies to start, Miss Kirkwood and Mrs. Norman, finished also, and both in fine condition. The heaviest and oldest man in the party, Mr. J. B. McCune, 54 years of age and weighing 210 pounds, also went through O. K. The whole trip was a bang-up success, and the Press Club desire to extend thanks for courtesies received from wheelmen and others along the entire route.

There being some doubt about a few riders finishing over the official course, a correct list of those entitled to souvenirs will be published next week.

Miss Margaret Kirkwood rode in from Maplewood to the point of starting in the morning and back again at night, thus making her mileage for the day 126 miles.

CENTURY RIDING CHICAGOANS.

SUNDAY, October 11th, was a great day for century rides in and around Chicago. Independent centuries were ridden, and nearly two score finished. A half dozen different courses were used. Over the Elgin-Aurora and return course, G. Greenburg of the Columbia Wheelmen went alone, Charlie Schye of the same club, and Joe Korn rode together; Miss Lizzie Haggerty and Miss L. G. Porter, both on solid tired machines accompanion by Ed. J. Porter and F. S. Crocker made a small and select party over the same course. Geo. and J. C. Brandenberg, R. M. Barwise and two others of the Chicago Cycling Club finished: in another party, a sixteen year old boy and a man finished. Arthur Bronson, Pritchard Stewart and Gus Hartman, all unattached riders, completed the Elgin, Aurora, Joliet and return, 130 mile circuit, in 15.30. John Schneider of the Columbia Wheelmen rode a century, going to Joliet and return and fifteen miles over the boulevard. Chief Centurion Herrick, Geo. H. Pratt, Jule Schoeninger and Forst completed a dead easy century, over the boulevards. J. Schiffman of the Chicago Cycling Club completed just the opposite a dead hard century. Both tires off and his saddle post broken off, he walked, straddled the hind guard and rode, and rode over forty miles, the complete century being in 15.45, just in time for the bar, of which he is justly proud. E. F. LeCato, R. G. Betts, Wilson and A. E. Powell finished a century from Milwaukee to Chicago; C. W. Davis, H. E. Githens and C. P. Root also rode over the same course; J. F. Nicholson completed one hundred miles during the day. Robert Thorne and two other Kenwood men were over the Elgin-Aurora course. W. Gordon Boxby also gained a bar, and E. M. Newman gained his eleventh bar, getting his twelfth on Tuesday. Newman is a Lieutenant of the Lincoln Cycling Club. The members are elated over his landing of the Johnson medal in the Lincoln Club. This was the prize for the first Century Road Club man getting twelve bars. Erickson, his nearest competitor, had nine. Newman rode four centuries in six days. Thus the Chicago riders reel them off.

THE "LOUNGER."

BELMONT CYCLE CLUB CENTURY.

THE first annual century run of the B. C. W. of Taunton, Mass., was held on Sunday, Oct. 18, to Lexington and return, and was a success in every way. There were 26 entries, of whom 25 started, as follows: Frank O. Dean, P. L. Hassenforder, Arthur Totten, J. W. Robertson, W. H. Pendleton, H. C. Bearse, Chas. E. Strange, Chas. A. Lawrence, members of the B. C. W.; Frank Whitman, Raynham; C. M. Snow, Brockton; H. G. Batchelder, Boston; Wm. A. Nichols, R. B. Deane and H. E. Renches, Fall River Ramblers; L. W. Pratt, Wm. Simms, L. H. Benton, John Irving, Wm. McIsaacs, Peter Smith, Blanche Cole, Abba Weld and E. B. Duffee, all of Taunton, and Hugh Copeland and C. F. Briggs, of the Apollo Club of Taunton. The most remarkable part was that every man finished, the last man finishing within 35 minutes of the first man in. W. H. Pendleton, H. G. Batchelder and P. L. Hassenforder alternated in making the pace. H. G. Batchelder rode down from Boston Saturday afternoon, rode the century Sunday, and was also entered for the Press Cycling Club century on Monday. The actual riding time of the first men was nine hours and a half, stopping time 3 hours 55 minutes; total time, 13 hours 25 minutes.

The roads were as fine as could be desired, and the weather was splendid. The start was made at 5.15 A. M., or fifteen minutes behind schedule time, and finished at 6.40 P. M., or five minutes ahead of schedule time. Each participant will receive a souvenir. The club provided hot coffee and sandwiches in the morning and gave each participant a silk badge with glit inscription. Lunches were provided at Stoughton and Brighton, and dinner at Brighton.

SIXTEEN MEMBERS of the Cambridgeport Cycle Club paid a return visit to the New Bedford Cycle Club last Saturday and Sunday, and were right royally entertained by the members of that club. Saturday evening the two clubs knocked shins in a game of polo at the rink, honors being about even, after which foot racing, etc., was indulged in, followed by refreshments. At ten o'clock Sunday, 65 wheelmen, 46 on wheels, the balance in teams, visited Sisson's, about 7 miles out of New Bedford, and enjoyed one of his famous clam bakes, and beguiled themselves after the wheelmens innocent fashion. The return to New Bedford was made through the sightly parts of the town, and after a lunch at the club rooms, the Cambridgeport boys returned home much pleased with the trip, and voted the New Bedford boys "white" men one and all. Hoyland Smith in everyday [illegible] and stand up collar rode with the men, managing to keep up pretty well, considering the fast company he was in. Roads were good. Day excellent, fun "galore."

PAT.

2.[illegible].

AFTER several efforts and [illegible]s for proper conditions, W. W. Windle last Saturday, October 17th, put the mile record at 2.15, just one second below Osmond's time. Over 500 people were present to witness the trial, and the conditions were all that could be asked. The track was in perfect form, the air was still and warm. At about three P. M., all was in readiness, and Windle was started with G. F. Taylor, as pacemaker for the first quarter. The Millbury boy got under way very quickly, and went flying round the turn and reached the quarter pole in 36 2-5. H. P. Arnold then took him on the half-mile mark, covering that distance in 1.08. Here the fast pace was maintained, and under the wing of H. C. Tyler, who took him the next quarter, the 3-4 was reached in 1.41, which is world's record. E. A. McDuffee took Windle the last quarter, and right nobly did he pull the big little man along as he came tearing down the homestretch at a 34 clip, coming under the wire in 2.15 flat. The timers were E. C. Robinson, one of the most expert timers in the country, and he was assisted by O. McGarrett, C. T. Shean and F. M. Coe, also men who understand handling the stop watch. The times by quarters, 36 2-5, 31 3-5, 33, 34.

HALF-MILE RECORD.

H. C. Tyler then went for the half-mile record, and handsomely paced by Arnold, McDuffee and Taylor, he landed the record at 1.06 flat, just 4-5 s. quicker than previous best.

INTERCOLLEGIATE MILE.

G. F. Taylor of Harvard then went for the intercollegiate mile record, and handily placed it 2.21 1-5. Time by quarters, 36 1-5, 1.10 4-5, 1.46.

ANNUAL CENTURY RUN OF CHARLESTOWN ROVERS.

THE Rovers' Cycle Club of Charlestown, Mass., had their annual century run on Sunday, Oct. 18. Under command of Capt. H. W. Robinson the start was made at 6.30 A. M., and a lively pace was set throughout the run, the distance, 102 miles, being covered in 8 hours and 40 minutes. Ex-Chief Consul C. D. Place of New Hampshire, and Secretary-Treasurer Scott of New Hampshire accompanied the club.

THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN TOURNAMENT.

AMID the plaudits of 5000 spectators and the playing of national airs, at midnight Sunday last, fourteen representative professional cyclers swung into position at the starting point and received their instructions and cautions from the referee before starting on their six days' ride. The men who lined up were as follows:

Alf. Robb, Red (E.); Willie Wood, Union Jack (E.); Eddie McDowell, Pink (A.); J. S. Prince, Stars and Stripes (A.); Chas. Ashinger, Blue (A.) J. D. Lumsden, Scotch plaid (S.); Wm. Lamb, red, white and blue (E.); Geo. Edlin, British blue ensign (E.); M. J. O'Flanagan, Green with harp (I.); Albert Schock, black, white and red (G.); Wm. Martin, green and red (A.); J. Albert, black and orange (A.); Wallace Stage, red and yellow (S.); W. M. Boyst, purple (A.)

"E." English; "A." American; "I." Irish; "G." German; "S." Scotland.

The men were instructed to ride round twice, and on the second time they would be given the word to go. This was done, and the men dashed away in a bunch to the time of Harum-Scarum polka and the voices of the cheering thousands. The first mile was made in 2.21, and Edlin was credited with taking first place on the first mile, although O'Flanagan rode very close to a dead heat with the Englishman. Away they whirled and, as the speed was kept up, the enthusiasm was quite like the old times when six days' pedestrian contests were all the rage in New York. The first ten miles was made by Wood, Lumsden, Prince, Ashinger, Robb, McDowell and Edlin in 32.23. At 1 A. M., 47 minutes from the start, the score was: McDowell, 14 miles, 5 laps; Prince, 14, 5; Wood, 14, 5; Robb, 14, 5; Lumsden, 14, 5; Ashinger, 14, 5; Lamb, 14, 3; O'Flanagan, 14, 13; Edlin, 14, 4; Stage, 13, 9; Shock, 13, 6; Martin, 13, 5; Albert, 13, 2; Boyst, 12, 0.

The system of checking the laps by means of the deals was most satisfactory as the audience can see at a glance just how each contestant stands. The arrangement of the Garden itself is most commendable to the management, all the objectionable features so prominent at the pedestrian exhibitions are missing. The contestants are compelled to appear in decent dress, and the tents of the riders are carefully screened from the public view. Smoking is not allowed on the ground floor or the first gallery, and the riders will not be annoyed with the thick fumes of tobacco. The first man to weaken was McDowell, the "pretty youth" from Philadelphia. He complained that his legs were tired, and so at 3.19 Tuesday A. M. he withdrew. In the afternoon of Tuesday the first spill took place, Robb taking a bad header near the judges' stand; he was picked up insensible, but came to after a short time and appeared on the track, apparently none the worse for the shaking up. Martin's riding during the day was a feature, and from being fourth or fifth man he braced up and took first position. Ashinger had been leading, but he retired for a short rest, and Martin took advantage of his absence to roll up a lead on him. Martin, however, did not hold the lead long, as he in turn retired and Ashinger took first place again. The score at 1 A. M. Tuesday was: Ashinger, 323 miles, 6 laps; Edlin, 320, 1; Martin, 316, 6; Lamb, 313, 0; Schock, 298, 0; Robb, 282, 6; Albert, 270, 0; Prince, 264 1; Boyst, 240, 6; Lumsden, 238, 0; Stage, 227, 0; Wood, 194, 6; O'Flanagan, 138, 0.

On Tuesday afternoon, Arthur Robb and R. Howell had a five mile race. Robb won by a few feet in 15.53.

Maltby gave a very good exhibition of fancy and character riding, which pleased the audience immensely.

It is discovered that Albert is riding under an assumed name. It seems that one of his names is Leonard, that he is a member of the A.A.U., and that his real name is Crozier.

Three more men dropped out of the race on Tuesday. These were Prince, Lumsden, and O'Flanagan. The attendance during the afternoon was excellent as to numbers and quality. Martin did some phenomenal riding, and at 12.13, midnight, Wednesday, he had a lead of 25 miles over his nearest competitor, Ashinger. At midnight there were five men on the track; the others had gone into quarters to rest. By to-morrow, midnight, it is expected that some more weak ones will be weeded out. The score at 12.13, forty-eight hours after the start, was: Martin, 591 miles, 9 laps; Ashinger, 566, 3; Lamb, 539, 1; Schock, 532, 0; Robb, 500, 8; Edlin, 500, 3; Boyst, 471, 6; Albert, 435, 8; Stage, 407, 2; Wood, 303, 9.

On Tuesday afternoon, O'Flanagan and Lumsden raced five miles. The Scotchman won by five yards in 17m. 41s. The second race, at half-past four P. M., was between Howell and Robb, at the same distance, Robb winning in 15m. 53s. The third five mile race was at half-past eight P. M. between O'Flanagan and Lumsden. This time O'Flanagan won in 16m. 3s.

As a Minneapolis man, I am very much in favor of Mr. Choate for Chief Consul, and I also heartily endorse "Vernon's" remarks concerning Mr. Bell and his qualifications for Vice Consul, but do not deem it for the best interests of the Division that Minneapolis should have both Consuls, and sincerely hope the members will not overlook the claims of St. Paul.

The following ticket would, in my opinion, be about the fair thing: Chief Consul, A. B. Choate, Minneapolis; Vice Consul, K. F. Lott, St. Paul; Secretary-Treasurer, E. S. Gregory, Winona; Representative, G. A. Lewis, Mankato.

"FAIR PLAY."

A PROTEST FROM THE SOUTH END WHEELMEN.

EDITOR BICYCLING WORLD: Your Philadelphia correspondent, with his usual spirit of unfairness which he exhibits, except to certain clubs and riders, puts the South End Wheelmen in a very compromising light by his account of the 10-mile inter-club team race. To any one not conversant with the facts of the case, it would appear that the South End won the race unfairly, and only by the absence of a member of the Park Avenue team.

While the incompleteness of the team was to be regretted, it was no fault of the South End, which not only had the men who could ride, but could also produce them at the proper time; and then victory should not be qualified or discredited, because something else "might have been." In addition to this, it was only necessary to count the points of three of the South End team to give them the race.

Our only reason for making this complaint is that this faculty of your correspondent crops out in all of his accounts where this club is interested. While we do not care to dictate the duties of a correspondent, the writer cannot help thinking that his duties are to chronicle facts as they happened, not as they might have happened. Yours truly,

"FAIRNESS."

THE POLITICAL POT IN MICHIGAN.

OUR friend "Papa" (by the way of what is he papa) seems to have shouldered the chips for Grand Rapids; now this is all right, only his anger seems to have run away with his judgment.

Mr. Bresler's L. A. W. membership extends over five years instead of three; so much for "Papa's" knowledge, and anyway we should prefer a man who knows nothing to a man who does nothing. Perhaps, however, when he simmers down he will feel like the boy who tried to hold the jackass by the tail; he will not be so good looking, but he will know more. It seems that the innocent litte circular created a great stir in the Grand Rapids camp, and every man trotted out every old shooting iron in that metropolis, and blazed away at it. In every bicycling paper we see the fluttering of the wounded birds.

Our worthy Chief Consul himself comes out with a long letter defending his position. The story he tellsof how he would squawk and have our charter taken away, is all rot of the worst sort; he blames Secretary Abbot Bassett for his own shortcomings and wants proof; well here it is:

Geo. Braun joined the L. A. W. the first week in July, received his road book in September. Ed Hines and F. S. Depue joined the first week in July, and have not received their road books up to date, though both have written and received no reply.

The present Local Consul of Charlotte, Mich., Mr. Harry Hooker, is an L. A.W. member (and while we are talking about it, who is Local Consul at Detroit, and when was he appointed?)

He stated that we are iguorant of Division affairs; so we are except as the Chief Consul sees fit to enlighten us; our statements of $10.18 for stationery, etc., was from the Secretary-Treasurer's report published September 25, 1891. If there is another report please let us have it; there might be something else we would like to know.

They seem to think that we have had trouble to make up our ticket; how often have they changed their own? and even now they are running a man for Vice Consul who has repeatedly told them he would not run, and would not serve if elected, and to our positive knowledge he voted against their ticket.

There are many other points which might be ventilated, but the above will show the weakness; we believe we have the right men, and that no sort of blackguarding will change the feeling; that while Mr. Richmond means well, he is not that man. Yours truly,

A FEW OF THE VILLAGERS AND THE DETROIT WHEELMEN.

TO WHEELMEN—A CARD.

STATEN ISLAND ATHLETIC CLUB,
WEST NEW BRIGHTON, S. I., Oct. 14th, 1891.

IT is with regret sincere and most profound, such as race promoters only can probably appreciate, that I have been compelled to refund some cold cash in returning some entries not in accordance with the specifications of our little race meet at Staten Island, October 24th next.

It seems that the first notices sent out were not sufficiently plain, and in the joy of discovering that we had sufficient cycling members in the Staten Island Athletic Club to give a race meet at all, rushed into print too fast. A word of explanation is necessary.

Cycling has been dead on Staten Island since the first "Ordinary" boom. Our old riders have forgotten how to ride; "Quilile" Rich, as I found last Saturday everybody on Staten Island calls him, possibly excepted, The doubt comes from his expressed desire to enter the Back Number Race.

The large crop of young riders we have are too timid almost to come inside the same enclosure with the cracks. We have therefore put up the bars on eight closed races, and put a prohibitive tariff on outside riders except in three races.

All the "cracks," according to their records, have been invited to enter the one mile safety scratch, and two mile handicap race. If any "crack" has not received his invitation it is from lack of address or fault of post office, and we would take it as a favor if notified of the same by friends whose favorites have seemingly been neglected.

Not to be too mean, the members of teams entered to the number of five men each, three principals and two substitutes, are also invited to take part in these two races.

While we thus endeavor this time to steal acquaintance with outside wheelmen on this "blocks of five" method, next time rest assured we shall imitate that larger island, Australia, and adopt the blanket ballot system with room for all. Bear with us, then, brother wheelmen, till we shake up the dry bones and fatten the calves on Staten Island against our next meet.

EDWIN L. JOHNSON,
Chairman Cycling Department S. I. A. C.

A CYCLING ANNEX OF THE STATEN ISLAND ATHLETIC CLUB AT ST. GEORGE.

THE Staten Island Athletic Club is the liviest institution on Staten Island. They never do anything by halves, whether it is a midwinter athletic festival, a Labor Day show, or a bicycle tournament.

Announcement was made a short time ago of the absorption by the Athletic Club of the Staten Island Wheelmen, a small but vigorous body of wheelmen. With these riders as a nucleus, a cycling department has been added to the club, a cycle house fitted up on the grounds, the quarter-mile cinder track put in first class shape, and a stock of first class wheels, including pneumatics, provided to rent at reasonable rates on the grounds.

The last stroke is the most popular with the wheelmen, and is unique with this club. This is a cycling annex near the ferry landing at St. George, which has been fitted up for wheels and lockers provided for all the riders. Cycling members who have business in the city can now take a pleasant ride to the ferry in the morning, leave their wheels at the annex, and go home in the same manner in the evening.

The opportunity of the Athletic Club comes from the fact that no other ferry that lands passengers in the business portion of New York, except the Staten Island Ferry, has good macadamized roads leading to it on the other side from New York.

By riding to and from this annex, members can keep in pretty good condition without other training for the approaching race meet of the Staten Island Athletic Club on October 24th.

Mr. A. B. Rich, who now holds the world's record for two miles, and who has resided on Staten Island for twenty years, has been added to the Race Committe, and with Mr. A. A. Zimmerman will train on the Staten Island Athletic Club's track next week for the races.

The Elizabeth Wheelmen at the request of the Staten Islanders attended the ball game at the Staten Island Athletic Club last Saturday, and indulged in some scrub races on the track afterwards.

The Athletics after keeping the visitors in terror for a half-hour for fear they would put Mr. A. B. Rich, who happened unexpectedly to be present, on their team, considerately made Mr. Rich referee, and were beaten out of sight, 28 to 14, in a half-mile team race.

It is fair to state, however, that the Athletic's best riders were not in the team, and that one of the riders slipped a pedal and took an inglorious tumble in the first lap. The Elizabeth Wheelmen made a most favorable impression. It is not every bicycle club that turn out ten such worthy representatives on short notice.

FELIX.

A SECOND BOSTON LADIES' RUN.

CAPT. A. D. PECK, JR., who has returned from a tour through the Shenandoah Valley, announces a second ladies' run to be held on Wednesday next, October 28th, weather permitting, starting from bridge in Back Bay Park promptly at 9 o'clock. The route will be over the Beacon street boulevard, following a similar course as the first run, dining at Bailey's Hotel, South Natick, where dancing, singing, etc., will be indulged in, arriving back at starting point about 5.30 P. M.

The total distance for the entire day will not be over thirty-two miles, and the pace will not be over five miles an hour, with frequent rests.

The event, it is expected, will number many participants, as the first run proved such a grand success.

Invitation to join the party is extended to the lady riders of Boston and vicinity, and their escorts. Gentlemen, unless accompanying some lady as escort, will be debarred from the affair.

All who wish to join in the run should notify A. D. Peck, Jr., 77 Franklin street, not later than Tuesday, the 27th inst.

The entire party on the first run kept well together and covered the full distance, although the party numbered some who had not previously ridden more than 12 miles in one day. All who wish to join a jolly good day's outing should join the party.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

IN the BICYCLING WORLD of October 9, 1891, we read the challenge of Messrs. Chas. E. Salisbury and Harry A. Cossitt of Owosso, Mich., to ride any tandem team in the State of Michigan for the one mile State championship, and we hereby accept said challenge, provided solid tired tandems are used, and name the half-mile track at Belle Isle (Detroit) as the place of meeting, and the race to be for two fifteen ($15) dollar gold medals to be paid for by losers. Very respectfully,

WILLIAM C. RANDS.
WILLIAM A. MORTON.

Detroit, Mich., October 13, 1891.

A MICHIGAN RACING ASSOCIATION.

ON Oct. 10 and 11, at Athens, Mich., the wheelmen and business men held a very successful race meet open to wheelmen from the counties of Calhoun, Branch, St. Joseph and Kalamazoo, at which time an association of the four counties was organized for the promotion of bicycle riding and athletic training, to be known as the Big Four Bicycle and Athletic Association. The following were elected as officers for coming season: President, M. J. Wood, Athens; Vice President, J. E. Lehr, Marshall; Secretary, Will D. Bennett, Coldwater; Treasurer, C. W. Wilcox, Three Rivers. The next meeting will be held under the auspices of the Marshall Athletic Club. All wheelmen residing within the counties named are cordially invited to join the Big Four. For any further information address the Secretary, Will D. Bennett, Coldwater, Mich.

MR. HENRY G. PRIEST of the Quadrant Cycle Co., Birmingham, England, expects to arrive in the United States about the commencement of October.

He will be glad to receive communications from any substantial firms desiring to represent the Quadrant Cycle Co. in any specified territory.

All letters to be addressed to Box 2225, General Post Office, New York, N. Y.

A rose by any other name would smell as sweet, but try to palm a poppy for a rose and what a howl would reach the heavens.

"But is this wheel fast?" queries the prospective purchaser.

"Fast?" responds the anxious agent, "well, I should say it was. It won forty-seven races in one day at the Springfield tournament, forty-three at Hartford and sixty-seven at Peoria; it holds the record for 2 7-16 miles, for 5 1-5 miles, for 23 1-8 miles and for all intermediate eighths. Pretty good evidence of its speed—eh?"

And this is about the way it goes. The purchaser may, or may not be posted; if so, may not "stop to consider"; the agent may be no better off as regards the true whenceness of the whyfore, and may not therefore be to blame, but could many of these same purchasers and same agents but see the wheel on which these same races were won and records established they would look at their own road wheels of the same make—the wheel which on the one side, at least, was purchased for its "fastness"—and rub their eyes in astonishment for it is a fact—and especially is this true of American makers—that the racing wheels and road wheels are no more alike than chalk is like cheese—not as much in some instances. They are not only not of the same gauge of material, but are not built on the same lines or principles; do not look alike, feel alike, ride alike and one might with equal justness term a poppy a rose as to call some of these racers and road wheels by the same general title. And it is just possible, too, that when you bought your road wheel, you asked that is-it-fast query, and were dazzled by the array of records and races which were given you. It is no uncommon sight to see a man dismount from this make of racing wheel to mount an entirely different make for his road riding.

Not a great while since some advertiser raised a cry of "no sailing under false colors," but of course he wasn't a bicycle maker, for, oh! dear no, not one of them would fly a false color in any way, shape or manner!

We do not build racing wheels. We are hardly likely to build 'em. We could, if we would, but we do not care to, yet at the same time, we do not urge against others building them. But there is such talk of "merit"; the merit of this wheel's performance; the merit of that one's, and et cetera. Just how much merit the winning of a race signifies, no one, however, can logically reason.

As our ad. of last week goes to show, the Rambler wins an occasional important race.

Other wheels do the same thing.

The Rambler wins its share of club events, and of Fourth of July events and county fair events.

But many wheels of many makes do the same thing.

So, then,

Every Rambler is a road wheel—a luxurious road wheel; everyone of them guaranteed; every one of them unexcelled in strength, in durability, in ease of running and riding, in point of material used and in care of design and construction. On these merits the Rambler has won its way and on these merits will remain at the top.

KANSAS DIVISION MEET.

THE fifth annual meet of the Kansas Division, L. A. W., at Parsons, Kan., came to a successful close October 17. Business meetings were held in the forenoons of yesterday and to-day in the parlors of the Matthewson House at which Chief Consul Chas. S. Davis of Junction City presided. His report was a comprehensive and interesting document which, by unanimous vote, was ordered published in the Official Organ. It summarized the progress of the work of the organization in this State, particularly in the matter of creating a healthy public sentiment in favor of good roads, and the spread of needful information in regard to the improvement of highways. The report of Secretary-Treasurer Lydecker covered the period of two years, and ever since the Division meet at Ottawa, and showed the sum of $154.08 in the treasury, an amount which, all things considered, is very satisfactory.

The election of a new Racing Board resulted as follows: C. H. Baltzell of Parsons (chairman), Austin Hawley of Girard, O. S. Townsend of Topeka, Thomas Shaw of Wichita and Thomas Stevens of Hiawatha.

For Division officers, to be elected by subsequent mail vote, both members of the Board who were present, Chief Consul Davis and Secretary-Treasurer Lydecker received the unanimous endorsement of a renomination. In addition to the present incumbent, W. C. F. Riechenbach of Topeka for the Vice Consulship, C. W. Penniman of Fort Scott was also nominated, and William Taylor, the present incumbent, and O. S. Townsend, both of Topeka, were put in nomination for Representative. The following members were elected to serve as Touring Committee for the ensuing year: H. E. Harris of Fort Scott (chairman), F. B. Miner of Ness City, Park B. Pulsifer of Concordia, William Goding of Fort Riley, Dr. A. Leigh of Hiawatha, J. M. Hill of Topeka, and A. J. Henley of Wichita.

A proposition received from Wichita to entertain the next annual meet was referred to the Board of Officers.

THE RACES.

In the afternoon of each day there were cycling, speed and other contests on the half-mile track of the Parsons Fair Association under the auspices of the Parsons Cycle Club, of which C. H. Baltzell is Secretary. These were witnessed by an immense concourse of people. The arduous duties of referee were faithfully discharged by Hiram S. Hale of Junction City, whose former successful career upon the path has been the means fo making him well up in the rules and "ever ready" when a prompt decision is required.

The one-mile novice race, safety, was contested be J. C. Finch of Parsons, Alec Glass of Wichita, and Thomas Vogel of Topeka. They finished in the order named. Time, 3.30 1-2.

Half-mile, safety—State championship gold medal was won by Henry E. Harris of Fort Scott in 1.30, the other contestants being A. J. Henley of Wichita, O. S. Townsend of Topeka, and J. C. Finch of Parsons.

Two-mile, ordinary, State championship, was won by S. F. Barton of Moran, in 7.35, over Henley, who dropped out at end of third lap.

The half-mile safety, open, was won by Harris (with Townsend second, and Baltzell third) in 1.29.

In the one mile State championship for ordinaries, A. J. Henley of Wichita was winner over S. F. Barton, of Moran. Time 3.22 1-2.

One mile safety, for the State championship, brought out a greater field of contestants than any other event of the meet. The finish was as follows: H. E. Harris, first; A. J. Henley, second; James C. Finch, third. Time 3.19.

For the gold medal prize for best lady rider, grace and ability to manage the wheel being the test; there were three contestants: Miss Frankie Hall of Parsons, Mrs. Mary Glass of Wichita, and Mrs. S. B. Kramer of Junction City. The three judges, Thomas Stevens of Hiawatha, Jesse Barker of Humboldt, and George E. Shumway of Boston unanimously awarded the trophy to Miss Hall.

Two mile, safety, State championship was contested by H. E. Harris, A. J. Henley and O. S. Townsend, who finished in the order named. No time given.

RACING AND MEET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

AT CARTHAGE, OHIO.—The races of the Ohio Humane Society were run as advertised at the Carthage (O.) Fair Grounds, on the afternoon of Friday, Oct. 16, 1891.

The day was bright and clear, but the temperature was low, ranging from 28 to 37 degrees according to the signal service reports. The track officials wore overcoats, while Zimmerman, Doratge, Barrett and others rode in heavy sweaters.

The track was very rough and lumpy, in spite of the fact that it had been scraped just before the races.

The first race, the one-mile safety, novice, was a very pretty race, and was won by Fred Bender of Hamilton, O.; C. W. Casper of Springfield, O., second; Victor C. Muehlberg, Cincinnati, third; J. W. Hager, Columbus, O., fourth. Time, 2.57 1-5.

The second race, one-mile safety, local wheelmen, was a surprise and a disappointment. Although the first prize was a $135 safety, and there were three other prizes ranging in value from $50, $10 and $5, yet there were only five starters. A great many thought that this was Aszman's race, but it wasn't, for he rode a strange wheel, and was unable to spurt just where he usually does. The race was won in 2.51 1-5 by Chas Roth of Cincinnati; Geo. H. Bauers, Cincinnati, a very close second; Chas. M. Croninger, Covington, Ky., third; and Aszman, fourth.

The third race, the half-mile safety, for boys under 15, was remarkable for the time made. The little fellows went at it with a vim and determination that was gratifying. It was nip and tuck between Fred Brachman and Jos. A. Bauers, the former winning by less than a length, in 1 30 4-5; Holden Crane, third; Charlie Poorman, fourth; and Wm. McNees, fifth. Five prizes and six starters out of 13 entries, all of Cincinnati.

The fourth race, the one-mile safety, open, was the one on which the principal interest centered, partly because the first prize was a $500 piano, but largely on account of the fact that the only Zimmerman was entered. The referee placed a time limit of 2.45 on this race, as we do not often put up $500 pianos as prizes, and when we do we propose to make "them cracks" earn them if they get them. Chas. Croninger of Covington, Ky., took the lead and kept it till they entered the stretch, when Zimmerman dashed past him, closely followed by C. W. Dorntge of Buffalo, N. Y., and George K. Barrett of Chicago. Zimmerman rode in "just as easy," watching Barrett over his left shoulder, and crossed the tape in 2.53 3-5; Barrett, second; Dorntge, third; and the plucky Croninger fourth. The referee decided "no race," and ordered it run over again after the ninth race.

The fifth race, the one-mile ordinary, three-minute class, was not remarkable as to time, but had a decidedly pretty finish; Charles Tudor finishing first in 3.06; R. A. Rahe, a very close second; H. E. Anderson, third; and Ed. Foss, fourth. Just after crossing the 30-foot mark, Walter Schueler of Cincinnati and O. W. Nisewonger of Oran, O., collided and fell, smashing Schueler's wheel, and cracking the head of Nisewonger's wheel.

In the sixth race, the one-mile handicap, there were 19 entries, but only 10 starters. The limit was 200 yards, and Zimmerman was at scratch. At the pistol shot Zimmerman made a rush and caught Barrett and Dorntge before they reached the 200 yards mark, and in leading and watching them he must have forgotten all about Baumann at the 125 yards mark, at least he did not catch him, for Baumann finished first in 2.25 2-5; Zimmerman, second, in 2.35 2-5; Barrett, third, (20 yds.); and Dorntge, (35 yds.) fourth.

The seventh race, the one-mile safety, championship of Hamilton county, brought out only four starters out of a large field of entries. It was won easily by George H. Bauers in 2.59 3-5; Aszman, second; and Chas. Beuttel, third. Aszman gave up the "ghost" at the end of this race

The eighth race, the one-mile ordinary, open, was a rank loaf from the start. Barrett, who rode a 59 pneumatic ordinary, refused to take the lead, and as a result he got into a pocket and came near not getting a place, but when within a very short distance of the finish he broke through and beat Tudor by less than a yard; H. E. Anderson, third; and R. Rahe, fourth. Time, 3.19. Five starters.

The ninth race, the one-mile safety, 2.50 class, was a very lively one indeed. It was business from the start. They were well bunched all the way and finished very close together. R. O. Bauman of Dayton, O., first in 2.49 4-5; A. L. Baker, Columbus, O., second; Chas. Croninger, Covington, Ky., third; and C. A. Roth, Cincinnati, fourth. Five starters.

At the conclusion of the ninth race the fourth was run over again. The second attempt was a repetition of the first as to order of finish, the time limit 2.45, still being exceeded, the time made being 2.51.

There was a great deal of unfavorable comment on the part of those who had come out to see Zimmy do some fast riding, and who thought that if the 2.50 class race could be won in 2.49 4-5, this race ought surely to have been won within the time limit. The referee, however, decided that as it was growing cold and late he would call it a race. So Zimmy gets our piano. (Is he in that business?)

The two mile ordinary, lap race, was another farce as to time. They almost did the stand-still on the back stretch, but they made up for it on the home stretch. Zimmerman was in the lead, and when Barrett's wheel would begin to lap his he would push those levers real hard a time or two, and look back at Barrett with a smile which seemed to say, "no use Georgie." They crossed the tape at the end of the first lap in the following order: Zimmy, Barrett, Tudor, Rahe, Anderson. The second, third and fourth laps were a repetition of the first, except in the position of the fourth and fifth men, which were reversed. The result was: A. A. Zimmerman, 21 points; Geo. K. Barrett, 17 points; Chas. Tudor, 13 points; H. E. Anderson, 8 points; R. H. Rahe, 6 points. Time, 7.14 2-5. Another record gone!

Roth, who won the second race, has won three wheels this season.

Tudor, who won the sewing machine in the fifth race, is looking for some young lady to use it.

Aszman will hardly ride a strange wheel in another race when the prizes are so valuable as they were in these races.

When Zimmy came out on the track to start in the fourth race a hayseed in the grand stand exclaimed: "That fellow won't do anything; he's scared already;" but when he was told who it was he said "Gosh," and shut up like a clam.

"STAR."

THOMAS PNEUMATIC TIRE.

We are now prepared to furnish pneumatic tires in any quantities made entirely from material manufactured in this country, made in our own moulds and by our own specially designed machinery, and under patents that we alone control; the value of these features cannot be over-estimated by manufacturers, dealers or consumers. Having our source of supplies close at hand and under our immediate control enables us to oversee the manufacture of every part, thereby reducing the danger of delay to a minimum.

Every tire is put together in our own factory by experienced and skilled workmen, and we claim the THOMAS PNEUMATIC TIRE to be the most complete, perfect and desirable tire ever put on the market, and the Pneumatic Tire for the season of 1892, and with reasonable care will give more service with less attention than any other tire in existence. Below we give, under several headings, some of the leading features of the Thomas Pneumatic Tire, and call special attention to the seamless linen jacket, endless outside cover and deflatable valve, features never before embraced in Pneumatic Tires.

Features of the Thomas Pneumatic Tire.

The Air Tube. This is the one part of a pneumatic tire that causes the most trouble, and has been the subject of considerable experimenting. To confine and retain air under pressure in a rubber tube and guarantee the tube against bursting, was the object sought and accomplished. Our air tube is constructed of pure Para Gum, and treated with a compound that closes all the "blow" holes which exist in rubber, and which causes the leakage in most pneumatic tires. We guarantee our air tube against bursting and leakage of any kind not caused by puncture through the outside covering.

Non-Expansible Tube. This is next in importance as it protects the air tube and prevents the expansion of the rubber tube to a bursting point. In all other pneumatic tires this tube is made from two pieces of linen canvas and consequently the fabric tube has a seam on each side. It is the parting of this seam that generally causes the bursting and collapse of the Air Tube. In the Thomas tire the non-expansible tube is made SEAMLESS to an exact diameter and by a machine designed and constructed especially for the purpose.

The Valve. In most all pneumatic tires the valve is a crude affair composed of a simple rubber tube CEMENTED to the air tube by ordinary rubber cement. It is well known that a proper joint cannot be made in this way, and as a result most all tires leak at the junction of the air tube and valve. Our valve is constructed of brass, is automatic, admitting the air and closing at each stroke of the pump, and is VULCANIZED to the air tube BY THE RUBBER MAKERS while making the tube; thus the valve actually becomes by the vulcanizing process a part of the air tube, rendering leaks about its junction impossible.

Another feature we claim is the very important one of DEFLATING THE TIRE. With the ordinary valve it is impossible to deflate the tire except by puncturing the air tube. With our valve, by simply unscrewing the inside cap the air is permitted to escape, thus deflating the tire, and greatly facilitating any repairs that may be necessary, at the same time rendering the tires safe for storage or shipping.

The Outside Cover is of pure Para Gum with sufficient compound to render it strong and pliable. Our cover is molded under hydraulic pressure and reinforced on its inner surface by an elastic fabric or braid, and made endless, no splice. This braid will allow the cover to stretch lengthwise, but not sidewise, and like the seamless tube, is made on especially designed machines for our use.

Supply. We are now prepared to fit the Thomas tire with our special construction, as noted above, to bicycles in any quantity and with promptness. We desire to place the tire within reach of every bicycle manufacturer and importer, therefore our price is not prohibitory.

Patents. The Thomas Inflatable Tire Co. of Philadelphia, who own the patents under which we are the sole licensees, believe that their patents cover any and all forms of inflated tires, and are the foundation patents; and, furthermore, stand ready to maintain their and our rights under these patents, as well as to protect all users of the Thomas tire against suit for infringement.

Puncture. The defect in pneumatic tires heretofore furnished has been the bursting or breaking of the air tube. Actual puncturing does not often occur, and would not be as frequent as it is if the same care was exercised in riding with a pneumatic tire as is used with a solid or cushion. But the temptation to test the merits of the tire causes the rider to select the worst roads, and especially where the surface presented seems covered with sharp stones. Use the tire with reasonable care, and KEEP THE AIR TUBE WELL INFLATED.

CHICAGO.

AT CHICAGO, ILL.—Wm. C. Thorne, from scratch, gained second place in the ten mile handicap road race of the employees of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s immense Granger Supply house in Chicago. Twenty-two men were entered. The race was run over the West Side "record" course. C. E. Griffiths, 6.30, won first place, on the only solid tired ordinary in the race, in 33.45; W. C. Thorne, scratch, second; time 30.03, and stopped one and one-half minutes by trains. Chas. Thorne, (2m.) second, in 32.03 1-5; F. M. Brown, fourth. Four medals were given. Another race will be run over a course not crossed so often by trains.

AT UTICA, N. Y.—The Utica Cycling Club gave their fall championship races, Saturday October 10, '91, at Reynolds' Park. The following is list of events and winners:

Mile safety, championship Utica—G. W. Chadwick, first; F. P. Hammes, second. Time, 3.32.

Mile safety, championship of New York Mills—Emmet Smith, first. Time, 3.23.

Mile safety, championship Chadwick's Mills—G. W. Chadwick, first; L. D. Dexter, second Time, 3.55.

One mile safety, championship Utica Free Academy—Nellis Foster, first; B. M. Morris, second. Time, 3.24.

No time limit was placed upon the events, consequently each race was a decided "loaf." The only event of any exciting character was the race for the championship of Chadwick's Mills, which ended in a struggle from the three-quarter pole. Mr. P. C. Hammes took a header in the ordinary event, which caused the loss of some skin. After the races, F. P. and P. C. Hammes rode a trial half, finishing in 1.25 1-4 and 1.25 3-4 respectively.

AT WILMINGTON, DEL.—The Warren Athletic Club, of Wilmington, Del., gave a very successful 10-mile handicap race at Wilmington, Oct. 17. The event was entirely a club affair. The positions of the first ten men were as follows:

AT HOLYOKE, MASS.—The twelve miles handicap road race held under the auspices of the Holyoke Bicycle Club took place last Friday, and was witnessed by a large crowd. The race was an excellent one, and the men finished in such a way as to cast credit on the handicapping. The finish between the scratch men, Williamson and Nelson, was very close, there being only one second difference in time. The summary of the race follows: John D. Cronin, Chicopee, handicap 9m., 44.40; C. H. Smith, West Springfield, 7m., 44.12; Philip Lambert, Holyoke, 8m., 45 25; E. H. Smith, Holyoke, 7m., 45.19; R. S. Williamson, Holyoke, scratch, 38.35; E. A. Nelson, Springfield, scratch, 38.36; Geo. W. Holden, Springfield, 1m., 41.33; E. F. Rolloff, Springfield, 6m., 46.36; W. H. Pierce, West Springfield, 4 1-2, 45.15; W. H. Lowdy, Springfield, 1m., 41.59; H. W. Borden, Holyoke, 9m., 50.13; W. R. Norton, Holyoke, 9m., 56.13; Fred Merriam, Holyoke, 2 1-2, 43.44.

AT WORCESTER, MASS.—The ten mile handicap road race of the Bay State Bicycle Club took place last Saturday afternoon, the start and finish being on Park avenue. There were six starters. T. J. Kearns and James Wilson, Jr., were scratch men; Burt R. Livermore and F. L. Adams, two minutes start; and J. F. Thompson and G. W. Hubbard three minutes. Thompson's handicap was too great to be overcome, and he won first prize; Livermore, second prize. The actual riding time of each man follows: Thompson, 34.46; Livermore, 32.45; Wilson, 33.30; Adams, 34.1; Hubbard, 33.31; Kearns, 34.51.

AT BARRE, VT.—The first annual 25-mile handicap road race of the Barre Bicycle Club occurred September 22, and resulted as follows. Seven prizes: Geo. Burgess, handicap 10m. (cushion), first, time 2h. 00m. 45s; F. W. Sherburne, scratch, (cushion), second, time .51 40; J. E. Walsh, 10m., (cushion), third, time 2.02.26; W. Morse, 8m. (cushion), fourth, time, 2 01 46; Geo. Wheeler, scratch, (cushion), fifth, time, 1.54.25; A. Bradford, 13m. (solid), sixth, 2.11.45; F. C. Gurley, 12m. (solid), seventh, time, 2.12 35; H. C. White, scratch, (pneumatic), did not finish, owing to the bursting of his pneumatic tire. A result of the race was a match race between White and Sherburne, the winner of the time prize, over the same course, October 15, for a prize of a $100 value, in which Sherburne defeated White, time 1.40.30. The race was close until within a half-mile of the finish when White fell from his wheel and did not finish. Both races were followed by an observation train, which followed the contestants from start to finish.

William Le Messurier, of Rochester, succeeded in reducing the bicycle road record between Buffalo and Rochester Saturday, Oct. 17. His time for the distance, 74 miles, was 4.55 00. The previous record was 5.45.00, made Oct. 29, 1889, by C. J. Iven, in the big Buffalo-Rochester road race.

Zimmerman, Hoyland Smith, and probably A. B. Rich will probably go to England this winter in time to train for the spring events in that country.

Oct. 17, L. D. Dexter and G. W. Chadwick broke the 100 mile road record of the Utica (N. Y.) Cycle Club, covering 104 miles in nine hours and fifteen minutes actual riding time, the former record being nine hours and fifty-five minutes.

A NEW FACTORY.

The Geo. R. Bidwell Cycle Co. of New York have leased a part of the Colt Company's works at Hartford, and will at once commence work on the 1892 model of the Tourist. The wheel will be high grade pneumatic, and every part of it will be made in the factory.

The Premier Cycle Company have received advices from President L. H. Johnson, who is now in England, that many valuable changes and improvements have been made in the famous King of the Road lamps for 1892, and a number of novelties for cyclers' use in Lucas's "Cyclealities." The Premier Cycle Company will continue their present arrangement with Messrs. Lucas & Son, to represent them exclusively in America, and the Company's travellers will call upon the trade with a full line of samples in due season. A pocket hand book entitled "Wrinkles for Riders" is in course of preparation. It will contain articles of touring, dress, racing, tips to cyclers, L. A. W., and a list of King of the Road Lamps and Lucas's Cyclealities, fully illustrated. Safety cycling for ladies, photo-cycling and choice and care of the machine will also be fully treated.

On Saturday, October 17, at Hampden Park, Springfield, William Windle of Millbury, Mass., made the astonishing time for one mile of 2 minutes 15 seconds, establishing a new world's record. This is all the more gratifying since it brings back to America the record which our English cousins have held the past year. This was accomplished, too, on an American machine, one of the Pope Manufacturing Co.'s pneumatic Columbias having the honor. At the same time and place H. W. Tyler of Highlandville, Mass., on a Pneumatic Columbia made a half mile in 1m. 6s., which is the best time yet for this distance. The Pope Manufacturing Co. should certainly feel gratified at the wonderful showing their machines have made during the past year, this last grand effort of Windle's being a fitting climax.

The Second Half.

The second half of the League year, during which the dues are $1 50, begins November 1. All applications published this month will be at the two dollar rate, but the Secretary will receive and hold any that may be accompanied with $1.50 and publish them in issue of November 6th. This notice is published in order that there may be no dissatisfaction arising from the fact that applicants pay the extra fifty cents for membership of but a few weeks. A name once published cannot be withdrawn and carried to another issue. Those who are published up to and including October 30, will have the right to vote in the election of this year, provided the Divisions in which they are located hold the polls open till November 15th, as they are allowed to under the Constitution.

Uniform Cloth and Buttons.

The regulation League uniform is made of a steel gray cloth manufactured for the League exclusively. This cloth and the regulation League Buttons may be had of any League tailor or of the Secretary at the following prices: Cloth, 54 inches wide, $2.10 per yard. Metal buttons: large, five cents each; small, three cents each. Rubber buttons, either size, three cents each. Uniform has six large and ten small buttons. As the Secretary keeps no book of credit, all orders sent to him must have cash accompanying. No cloth supplied to tailors or to non-League men.

Racing Board.

The charges against Messrs. Arthur Bernhard, Robert Dreghorn and H. M. Copeland, all of Taunton, Mass., for violation of track rule 12 have been fully sustained. They are hereby suspended from the race tracks for a period of 90 days, and all amateurs are warned not to compete with them.

For violation of clause 3, rule F, Mr. Geo. Brewster of Newburgh, N. Y., W. Whitehill and Frank Becraft are hereby suspended for 90 days, and all amateurs are warned not to compete with them.

For violation of Clause D of the amateur rule, Messrs. W. H. Senter, of Campello, Mass., and H. I. Shepard, of Charlotte, Mich., are hereby declared professionals and all amateurs are warned not to compete with them.

For violation of Clause 3, Rule F, Messrs. W. B. Riegel and A. Demers, of Reading, Pa., are hereby suspended for a period of 60 days, and all amateurs are warned not to compete with them.

Roads Improvement.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am compelled to ask the patient indulgence of many members of the League and others, whose letters, relating to this branch of League work, have remained unanswered, and whose applications for pamphlets and information have not been responded to. Several hundred of these letters have accumulated within the past three weeks, and these letters are so diverse in character as to demand personal attention, and in many cases, extended answers. The opening of the courts on Oct. 1st has naturally demanded my increased attention to professional work, and a consequent reduction of the time given each day to roads improvement matters, which I was able to push more zealously during the summer months. I can only say here that all official letters received from officers of the League or of the State Divisions will be answered promptly, and that all other letters will be answered in the order in which they are received and as promptly as circumstances will permit.

Touching matters of general interest, it gives me pleasure to say that the movement for better roads has taken a strong impetus, and that cheering intelligence is received from all parts of the country. The pamphlets recently issued by the League are being reproduced in the columns of several of our largest agricultural papers, and in some periodicals devoted to other industrial pursuits. The publishers of some of the most popular magazines have written us, stating their intention to publish illustrated articles as auxiliary to the League roads improvement work, and some of these articles are now in course of preparation. One of the most popular agricultural journals has applied to our committee for special articles and for practical answers to questions asked by its subscribers on subjects relating to road construction. Several county agricultural societies have written for special quantities of pamphlets to be distributed among the farmers at county fairs, etc. Manufacturers of special machinery for road making have applied for large numbers of these pamphlets and letters of inquiry are now received from companies interested in suburban development in different parts of the country, asking for terms upon which these pamphlets can be supplied. Several of the State Divisions have applied for extra quantities, and the Canadian Wheelmen's Association is negotiating for a sufficient number of pamphlets to be used in the encouragement of roads improvement in the Canadian provinces. Letters are received from Nebraska asking for prices at which these pamphlets can be supplied to members of the Farmers Alliance in that State. In Missouri the State Board of Agriculture has taken up the subject of roads improvement with exceptional energy, and a series of meetings will be held at early dates for the purpose of carrying the movement to a successful end. Governor Francis of that State is taking a strong lead in the work, and it is not improbable that a special session of the Legislature will be called January next to consider the single question of better roads. The chairman of this committee has been invited by the Missouri State Board of Agriculture to attend its opening meeting at Fulton, Mo., and assist in the inauguration of its systematic work for better road laws and better roads in that State, and it is not improbable that that Board will make special appropriation for the purchase of League roads improvement pamphlets. Our committee has already received letters asking for estimate of cost of a large number of pamphlets for special distribution among the farmers of Missouri.

Altogether, the roads improvement work of the League is enlivened by the most cheering outlook, and it only needs a zealous co-operation on the part of all our friends to bring our present efforts to the attainment of substantial results by legislation during the coming winter.

Fraternally, ISAAC B. POTTER, Chairman.

Massachusetts Election.

I have mailed to every member of the Massachusetts Division an official ballot containing the names of every candidate nominated for office.

I began to mail these on Saturday, October 17, and all were in the Post Office by the morning of October 20. If any member has failed to receive his official ballot he can be supplied upon notifying me of the fact.

A typographical error on the ballots calls for their return before October 10. I have changed this in ink on, so far as I know, all the ballots. The date should be November 10.

No rule obliges the use of the official ballot. Members can write ballots as they please, or use those issued by others.

A ballot on a postal card has been mailed to many members by friends of certain of the candidates.

Another ballot on a slip has been sent out by the friends of other candidates. While both of these ballots are legal, and may be voted with perfect propriety, I wish to call attention to a statement on the "slip" ballot which is misleading. The ballot says, "This ticket has the support of a majority of the present Board of Officers of this Division." The Board of Officers has in no official way indicated its choice of men. No meeting of the Board has been held since the nominations were made, and no one has a right to thus voice its opinion.

This "slip ballot" is further wrong in that it gives my address as "48 Chester square, Boston." My correct address is Townsend street, Roxbury, Mass., as printed on the official ballot.

Ohio Road Improvement Literature.

The undersigned has a very limited supply of the following pamphlets: "Roads Improvement" and the "Gospel of Good Roads." We wish to get them into the hands of influential farmers. Therefore, Local Consuls and others will confer a favor by sending to the undersigned the names of any farmers in Ohio who are influential, and whose names and addresses they may know. These pamphlets are expensive and we cannot afford to waste any of them.

With the ballots there will be sent to each member a new Constitution and By-Laws, for adoption or rejection.

On the ballot will be printed, "Upon the adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws as printed." Yes; No; and the members will mark an X opposite yes or no, as they desire to vote.

The name of Mr. Choate was printed in the BULLETIN of Oct. 9 H. B. It should have been A. B.

Missouri.

JOE H. KELLY, Sedalia, Mo., Dear Sir: Please accept this as my withdrawal as candidate for the position of Chief Consul in the coming Division election. My reason for doing this is that my business duties are such as to occupy my entire attention to the exclusion of almost everything else, and under the circumstances I could not give the position the attention it requires.

Yours respectfully, W. P. LAING.

Missouri Division—Good Speakers Wanted.

The agitation for improved roads is becoming more widespread in Missouri every day and I have received the following letter from Levi Chubbuck, Esq., Secretary State Board of Agriculture: The State Board is trying to develop a public sentiment in favor of improved roads in Missouri, and as a means to that end will make this one the leading subject for discussion at a series of farmer's institutes to be held this fall and winter. Our first meeting will be at Fulton, Mo., during the first week in November. Mr. J. L. Erwin, a prominent citizen of that place, President of the State Dairy Association, is especially active in behalf of the Fulton meeting and is much interested in the subject of road improvement. He has done much work in that line. Now we would like to have the co-operation of your organization in this feature of our meetings. Could you arrange to have a representative of the L. A. W. present at the Fulton and subsequent meetings to present a paper on the subject of "Roads." The Board of Agriculture will meet the expenses incurred." Who can go? A good speaker would do an immense amount of good, and could in a few weeks turn sentiment so as to make good roads a certainty. Nor is this all that is being done. A special session of the Legislature will be called this winter to redistrict the State into Congressional districts. Governor Francis will mention road improvement in his call if the people of the State show an interest in the question. Mr. Chubbuck proposes to send to his 600 correspondents blank petitions for them to obtain signatures to; and he desires wheelmen everywhere in Missouri to do the same—petitions requesting Governor Francis to include the road improvement question in his call of the extra session, as only such business can be transacted as is stated in the call. That much secured, the Board of Agriculture, with what outside help it can summon, will draft a bill that Governor Francis will present to the legislature with his endorsement, and this bill as an administrative measure is bound to go through. Now the wheelmen of Missouri have the question in their hands and blank petitions will be mailed to them as soon as printed, which must be signed and returned addressed to Gov. Francis, Jefferson City, Mo., on or before Nov. 10. At no time in the history of the Division has good, prompt, active work been as necessary as now, and every wheelman, local consul and believer in good roads is asked to help pull Missouri's roads out of their present condition. Fraternally yours,

RON'S. HOLM, Chief Consul.

P.S.—Don't forget that the last half of the League year is now here, and that membership will only cost your friends $1.50 to April 30 next. We still need some 30 members to reach the 500 mark.

Michigan, Attention!

In order to correct a misunderstanding which seems to exist among some members of Michigan Division, in regard to the amount of the expenses of the offices of Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer, I wish to say that at the time I made my report in the BULLETIN of Sept. 25, there was a bill for office expenses in the hands of the Executive and Finance Committee, which they had not yet reported on, and also a bill in my hands which had not yet been presented. This will account for the seemingly small amount paid for office expenses, compared with the work done during the year. It might have been construed from my report that very little had been done for the Division, but this is not the case, I assure you.

Fraternally,
C. A. CONOVER, Sec.-Treas.

Vermont Election.

The time for the election of officers is at hand. The officers to be elected are Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasury, and one Representative.

Voting blanks have been mailed to every member of the Division, which must be filled out and returned to E. D. Whitney, secretary and Treasurer, in time to reach him Nov. 15th. Ballots received after that date will not be counted.

The votes will be counted by a committee of three, to be appointed by me hereafter, who will report the result in the BULLETIN as soon as possible after the 15th of Nov.

This will be our first election of Vice Consul and Representative, and I hope there will be interest enough taken to give a full vote.

There have not been any nominations as yet, so the ballots are furnished blank, each member filling the blank with the name of his choice.

The Annual Election.

The annual election of Division and Subdivision Officers is provided for in the following extracts from the Constitution:

Art. V, Sec. I. Each Division shall elect annually a Chief Consul, Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer; and shall also elect one Representative for each 100 League members on its roll October 1st.

Sec. III. These officers shall constitute the Division and Subdivision Boards of Officers, and shall be elected between the 15th day of October, and the 15th day of November at such time and place, and in such manner as is provided by the Constitution and By-laws of the Division and the Rules and Regulations of the Subdivision.

Sec. IV. The President shall appoint annually between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November, a Chief Consul for each Consulate.

DIVISIONS.

A State or Territory having one hundred members or more shall organize a Division, and may elect in its own way a Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer, and one Representative for each 100 resident League members.

Each Division must make its own rules for the canvass, casting and counting of votes. Chief Consuls should take immediate steps preparatory to the election and should publish in the BULLETIN the rules of their respective Divisions, and the full plan of election at as early a date as possible. Below we publish a table showing the membership by States. The Secretary will provide mail lists to Division officers for the conduct of the vote, but these mail lists should not be used as check-lists at the time of counting, since they are not and cannot be so accurate as the list of Division members kept by the Secretary-Treasurer.

Below we give a list of Divisions, the total membership October 1st, and the number of Representatives each is entitled to:

	Members.	Reps.		Members.	Reps

League Clubs must elect Representatives in the manner provided by the Constitution of the Divisions in which they are located.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

PERFECTION BICYCLES. "Built on Honor."

Last Week was a Great Week for WARWICKS.

RECORDS BROKEN, RACES WON.

And the Result? The other fellows all green with envy.

AS A RULE we believe in simply advertising our goods, but we must be pardoned if we take this opportunity to refer to the events of the past few days. "The Ghost" (well named, isn't it?) created a great sensation at Hartford and Springfield among racing men and wheelmen generally. AND WELL IT MIGHT. World record, 1-4, 1-2, 3-4 and mile. A winner in the great 20-mile road race. It carried George Hendee to victory; and Hendee pronounced it the finest machine he had ever ridden. In Friday's races it won for its riders more prizes than did any other crewheel. The Warwick stock machine—42 lb. Diamond Frames carried off some good prizes.

We have not expended a large amount of time, energy and money in "shouting our wares." THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. All things being equal, we prefer to put a limited amount of money into advertising in order to be able to pay for good material, and workmanship. You know a manufacturer cannot expend two-thirds the value of a given article, in advertising it, without causing the purchaser of that article to suffer, for we all know the labor and material must be paid for. We shall continue in the old way, ADVERTISING INTELLIGENTLY AND HONESTLY, and every working day making the best bicycle that can be produced.

Warwick Cycle Mfg. Co., · Springfield, Mass.

When you have received tuition from experience, don't forget to graduate.—Heartsfield.

A good bicycle is a desirable thing to have, and if you bought a cheap machine from an agent who told you that it was "just as good" and you did not find it satisfactory, don't be discouraged; sell your crock and buy a PARAGON.
